The fall malady called "football" has again gripped the nation from the largest metropolitan area to the smallest hamlet. From the pros to the six-man team at Podunk High, fans are getting set for the season.

Women don't seem to be as badly afflicted as men, unless, of course, they have a kid playing on the junior high, junior varsity or high school varsity. In this case, they probably suffer more from the disease than the male gender. If the kid plays, the mother lives in fear her offspring will be injured. Even when the opposing team is equal in size and weight, to a mother they look ever bit as formidable as a Mean Joe Green or a Too Tall Jones. Mothers are funny this way. If the kid sits on the bench, she suffers equally. It hurts the kid if he doesn't get to play, and what hurts the kid hurts the mother. All mothers know their kid is the most talented player on the team and if the coach can't see that, he should have his head examined.

On the other hand fathers never consider the possibility of injury to their offspring. The father wants the kid on the field giving it his all; never mind the broken collar bone, the leg in a cast or the sprained thumb. Winning is everything to football fathers, and a loss is always the fault of the coach. It doesn't matter if father never had a football helmet on, he knows how to coach the team.

Then there's the poor coach. His very survival depends on a winning team. This is true from the pros on down. Past records never save a coach. Never mind that he's taken his team to the Super Bowl for the past ten years, one losing season and he's out. As one football fan put it, when discussing past seasons, "Yeah, Custer had a pretty good record too, up to the battle of the Little Big Horn."

When Kipling penned "it matters not if you win or lose, it's how you play the game," he wasn't talking about football. If he was, you would never get a football fan to believe it. No sir, winning is not everything, it's the only thing. Anyone who's ever been around a rabid football fan know's this to be a fact.

The season seems to start earlier every year, at least on television, and there seems to be more of it. There's Saturday afternoon football, Saturday night football, more of the same on Sunday, followed by Monday night football. There is no doubt in my mind, we can look forward to football every night and games scheduled year round.

Storm batters Ozona

Ozona was hit by another thunderstorm accompanied by high winds late Monday evening. Some pea-size hail was reported in the downtown area and falling limbs again littered the streets.

Lightning shorted some electrical wires in the 1200 block of Eleventh St., but rain kept the tree from catching fire. Firemen were called to the scene about 9:50 p.m.

Rainfall recorded in the official gauge at the Water District office amounted to .85 of an inch.

School student numbers down

At the end of the first day of school which began the fall term Tuesday, enrollment figures were down 20 students from the first day last year. A total of 1005 students were enrolled in all schools Tuesday, however, that number is expected to increase as the week wears on.

Primary students started classes in the portable classrooms and the kindergarten building at the burned school site. The total number of students attending class the first day of school was 235. Of this number 74 were kindergartners, 76 were first graders and 85 were second grade students.

Starting school in the new intermediate school were 249 students. Third graders numbered 89 and the exact same number applied to fourth graders. There were 71 students in fifth grade.

Students enrolling in junior high numbered 227. Classes convened in the former intermediate school building. There were 65 sixth graders, 70 students enrolled in seventh grade and 92, in eighth grade.

High school enrollment figures were up from last year's 286 students. As of noon Tuesday there were 294 students enrolled in high school. Ninth graders numbered 95; tenth graders, 82; eleventh graders, 57, and seniors numbered 60.

Superintendent Foy Moody expects enrollment in all schools to increase by next Monday. In past years up to 50 students have enrolled late and missed the first day's count.

Baptist revival scheduled

Ozona First Baptist Church will begin its fall revival Sunday evening, Sept. 9, at 7:30 p.m. with services to continue through Friday night, Sept. 14.

The evangelist will be Rev. Tom Clawson of Conroe. He pastored Southern Baptist Churches for twenty-four years before moving into the field of revival and Bible conference. He is a graduate of a Baptist college and two Baptist seminaries.

Director of music for the revival will be Bill Denton, former minister of music for the Harris Ave. Baptist Church in San Angelo.

He is presently involved with the College and Career Department of the First Baptist Church in San Angelo.

To host Big Lake Owls

Lions to launch '79 season Fri.

King Football will begin his reign here Friday night when the Lions play host to the Big Lake Owls at Lion Stadium in the season opener.

With two scrimmages under their belt, the Lions are looking forward to their first game under the direction of new Head Coach Don Sessom.

The team has really made progress since beginning practice and coaches are highly optimistic. The Lions' offense failed to score in the first scrimmage with Bronte, but also held the Bronte team scoreless, giving a high mark to the defense. In Friday night's scrimmage against the Stanton Buffaloes, the Lion offense managed two scores.

Coach Sessom expects some good performances from his nucleus of returning lettermen. The team is blessed with a total of 21 experienced varsity players, possibly a record number of returnees.

Starting at quarterback will be Shane Fenton, who saw a lot of action on last year's team. He is a 168-pound senior. Other returning lettermen include R.J. Everett, 6 ft. 141 pound junior; Aldo Delgado, 147 pound junior halfback; Johnny Rodriguez, 120 pound junior split end; Freddy Garza, 138 pound senior halfback; Louis Bunker, 163 pound junior fullback; Robert Buckner, 158 pound senior halfback; Robert Tambunga, 167 pound junior fullback; Will Black, 158 pound junior center; Rudy Martinez, 144 pound junior center and Joe Rebele, 185 pound senior center.

Returning ends include Eric Fierro, 140 pound junior; Jeffrey Young, 178 pound senior and Ramon Maldonado, 172 pound senior.

Court tries to fill vacancy

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met in a called session Tuesday morning to consider applications for the position of County Clerk.

The action became necessary when Mrs. Jean North, who was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Miss Leta Powell at a called meeting July 16, resigned following the regular monthly Commissioner's Court meeting August 13. Mrs. North had served as deputy clerk for twelve years before moving to the County Treasurer's office early this year.

The court met to appoint a clerk for the unexpired term, but since some applications were not received until Tuesday morning, another meeting was called for Friday morning at 8 a.m. in order that members of the court could have more time to go over the applications.

Applying for the position so far are Pam Cooke, Armand Gene Reina, Becky Sizemore, Edna Tambunga, Johnny Rae Wahl and David Weant.

Whoever is appointed will serve until the end of 1980. However, the position will be up for election next year. Anyone desiring to run for the office must file before the primary and be elected in the general election.

New to the varsity at guard and tackle positions will be Hector DeLaGarza, 165 pound senior; Caterino Villarreal, 204 pound sophomore; Santiago Lopez, 185 pound sophomore, and Gary Adcock, 180 pound junior. Chad Buie, 132 pound senior will see duty at tight end.

The Owls are slightly favored in Friday night's opener, having the Lions outweighed by about 20 pounds per man, but the Lions hope to make up for that with quickness and speed. Kick off time is 8 p.m. and will be the same for all games this season, both pre-district and district. Fans are urged to be in their seats early and do their part to help the Lions down the Owls.

Crockett County Hospital marks 23rd year

The Crockett County Hospital celebrates its 23rd anniversary in its present location this month. It has had many ups and downs in its 23-year history and its very existence has been threatened by lack of medical doctors and rising hospital costs. However, things seem to be looking up for the future of the hospital. For the first time since the early 1960's the hospital staff has three qualified medical doctors, with the addition this week of Dr. Pat Dwyer, who was scheduled to arrive in Ozona Monday. The other two doctors on the staff are Dr. Don Carlisle and Dr. R.M. Owensby.

When the new hospital opened in September, 1956, the staff consisted of Dr. H.B. Tandy, Dr. Ralph Simon and Dr. Lloyd Sherrill.

In April, 1955, Crockett County residents voted a $200,000 bond issue for the new hospital. The result was 256 voting "for" and 57, "against."

The Commissioners Court was searching for a site, when Dick and Ethel Henderson donated part of their ranch for construction of the hospital and clinic, the present location of the medical complex.

Construction was nearing completion in March, 1956, when a drive began to furnish the building and landscape the grounds. Individuals and civic groups gave generously. Families furnished entire rooms and while groups and individuals donated other furnishings and equipment. The now disbanded Ozona Woman's Club landscaped the grounds under the direction of Mrs. Bailey Post and Mrs. Evert White. Other clubs donated shrubs and trees.

Bailey Post was the first hospital administrator. He and Mrs. Post moved here from Stamford a year prior to the opening and he supervised the move from the old hospital which is now the courthouse annex. Mr. Post served fifteen years as hospital administrator before his retirement at the end of 1970. Since that time, the hospital has employed several administrators. At the present time E.L. Kirken is hospital administrator. He resumed duties there earlier this year after retiring from the job several years ago to go into private business.

When the new hospital opened Jonesy Williams was Director of Nurses, a position she carried over from the old hospital. Except for a brief hiatus in the late 1960's Mrs. Williams held the position until her retirement recently.

Julia Longoria headed the kitchen staff when the facility opened and Romelo Vela was the custodian. Charlotte Montgomery was in charge of the lab.

Babies were delivered here and various surgery was performed in a spotless operating room. The hospital was a going concern until Dr. Tandy died Nov. 1960. Dr. Simon left Ozona in 1964 and Dr. Sherrill died in 1969. A number of physicians came and went during the years which followed. At one time the hospital was leased to Medica-Diversified, a large concern which operated hospitals throughout the state. Following this time, the hospital was without a doctor much of the time, or at best had only one doctor serving the community.

During the worst of the bad times, the hospital was never forced to close its doors and excellent nursing care continued. Conditions at the hospital improved over the past few years, with more physicians available and the opening of the Care Center, July, 1975.

The patient load has increased dramatically at the hospital and the center is filled to capacity most of the time. The care center has evolved into a first class facility and was recently given a "superior" rating by state inspectors.

Inflation seems to be the biggest problem facing the hospital at the moment. Financed entirely by county taxes, the hospital and care center place a larger drain on the county budget than any other entity. However, other hospitals in the area face the same problems. Those with hospital districts, with taxing power, place an even greater drain on the community's finances. The losses incurred by the local facility are financed entirely out of the county's general fund. Fortunately for Crockett County, the taxes generated by gas and oil reserves, enable public financing for the hospital to continue.

For the first time in many years, the facility is well-staffed in all areas. Competent office employees are getting the books up to date, a physician is always available, the kitchen staff is adequate and the nursing staffs in both the hospital and care center are competent and able.

So after the ups and downs of the past 23 years the hospital has come full circle and can compare with any medical and health center in any town of comparable size in West Texas.

Max Schneemann, Mary Lea Jones, Mrs. John Bailey, Bailey Post, hospital administrator; Charles Ratliff, Mrs. Max Schneemann, Ralph Jones and Rusty Smith, County Commissioners, and Houston Smith, County Judge.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

September is one of the most important months of the year for gardeners. A few hours spent weeding, mulching, and fertilizing can bring new life to the garden. Marigolds, sage, impatiens, petunias, geraniums and other bedding plants can be revitalized if they are attended to early in the month. Also, similar attention to warm-season vegetables can keep producing until frost. Too, be sure to get the fall and winter vegetable garden planted.

Early September is the last time in the growing season that an application of fertilizer will benefit warm-season lawn grasses. Fertilizer applied after this time may be wasted if a killing frost or cool weather causes the grass to turn brown, and go dormant, when in doubt as to how much to use, apply fertilizer at one-half the label recommendation this late in the season. After the application, water the lawn thoroughly to wash fertilizer into the root as the growing season moves into fall, survey the plants you have in hanging baskets to determine their needs. Are plants getting the amount of light they need? Ferns want indirect sunlight, while geraniums will tolerate full sunlight. Turn baskets occasionally if necessary to allow light to reach all the foliage. As temperatures cool, less water will be required. So water less frequently but continue to do a good job of watering thoroughly when water is applied. Continue to feed hanging baskets with a water-soluble fertilizer.

Keep plants groomed to encourage compact new growth and a profusion of bloom. Pinch off dead flowers and discolored leaves at least once a week.

Keep a close watch for insects and disease problems. Remove infected plant parts and spray if needed.

If you have hedges to prune, this should be done this month to allow time for new growth to mature before freezing weather. Be sure the bottom of the hedge is broader than the top to allow adequate sunshine.

Catholic women in meeting

4-H offers variety for young people

Young people with a desire to learn more about their world have the opportunity to participate in a fast-growing organization--4-H.

The 4-H program offers a variety of activities for youth between the ages of 9 and 19, points out Debra Price, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Young people can get involved in project groups, special interest groups or service groups that appeal to their interests.

While 4-H meetings cover a variety of subjects and activities and are held periodically, project groups work on one specific subject and last only as long as the project lasts.

Project subjects may include gardening, auto repair, raising and caring for an animal, safety and clothing. These project groups are usually directed by a volunteer leader, explains County Extension Agents Debra Price and Billy Reager.

Special interest groups are a vital part of the 4-H program and may deal with such subjects as drugs, dating, etiquette and ecology. These group studies help youth learn more about the world in which they live and help them to better adapt to changing environments.

Service groups work to help improve the community and may engage in fund-raising projects for the needy and disadvantaged or work on neighborhood beautification or with underprivileged.

BY DEBRA PRICE

"Rev" up your ingenuity for brown-bag lunches--with nutrition, safety and enjoyment in mind.

Enjoyment depends on nutrition, safety and taste--so basic guidelines and imagination are all you need.

A nutritious lunch includes foods from the basic-four food groups. They are milk, meat, fruit-vegetable and bread-cereal. Milk-group foods can be milk or milk products.

Meat-group foods can be meat, fish, poultry, eggs, beans or nuts.

First, be sure to wash your hands before preparing the foods, and use clean table-tops, chopboards, utensils and other equipment.

Then, make sure to keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold to insure safety. Foods to keep cold include milk, meat, fish, poultry and eggs.

Also, to retain "appetite appeal," some fruits and vegetables and other foods should stay cold--such as crunchy-cold carrot or celery sticks, along with cheese cubes.

To keep foods cold, use a freeze-gel packet or margarine tub filled with frozen water. These items will keep foods cold even in an ordinary brown bag.

Also, you can freeze some foods--such as sandwiches--and pack them frozen. By lunchtime, they'll be thawed and ready to eat.

Try this idea for a tasty brown-bag lunch: a ham-and-cheese sandwich with lettuce, carrot strips, an apple and an oatmeal cookie.

Keep the ham-and-cheese sandwich cold for safety, and keep the lettuce and carrots cold for crispness.

Here's another idea--this one needs no refrigeration: a peanut butter-and-jelly sandwich, cheese straws, an orange or a banana and a slice of carrot cake.

Texas Sheep & Goat News.....

Bobcat pelt tagging regulations have become more and more restrictive since the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department was first forced into the cat governing racket a little over a year and a half ago. They're about to become tighter still, and the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association feels it's time to stop. In fact, TS&GRA would like to see the Department take a couple or three giant steps backward.

The new proposals would, among other things, have fur buyers do the tagging, a common-sense idea that would relieve TP&W game wardens of a heavy burden during the very time when hunting season pressures are keeping them busy anyway. Also on the plus side is deletion of earlier distasteful requirements that skulls be presented with each pelt to be tagged.

Another change, but not necessarily so advisable, would require all dealers to be registered with the Department and would also define anyone who ever buys a pelt as a dealer. We can see the point in registering those who are authorized to tag pelts, but the new regulations would effectively prohibit any individual from buying a single pelt for any reason unless he registers as a dealer. This rules out the fellow who might once or twice during his lifetime buy a pelt from any source for personal or decorative purposes. There are doubtless other potential consequences, but the one should be sufficient to carry the point.

One new provision has even drawn admissions of surprise from TP&W spokesmen when brought to their attention. It concerns a form that trappers must fill out on each pelt. The rules are very definite when they state that pelts must be tagged prior to sale and the form must be filled out prior to tagging. Unfortunately, one of the questions on the form deals with the permit number of the dealer to whom the pelt has been sold. Let's run that by again—you can't fill out the form until you've sold the pelt, but you can't sell the pelt until it's tagged, and you can't get it tagged until you've filled out the form. Make sense? Department personnel don't think so either, but it's in the new proposals nevertheless.

That takes care of the funny stuff—now for more serious matters. One of the most serious is a provision prohibiting the tagging of pelts taken outside the Nov. 15 to Feb. 15 tagging period. This is the first time such a restriction has surfaced, and it's in total variance with earlier TP&W claims that they had no intention of establishing a "season" on bobcats. That "no-season" assurance was even spelled out in black and white in the most recent previous regulation adopted on Jan. 22. That regulation changed the term "harvest year" to "tagging period" and explained the change thusly: "It is not the intention of these rules to establish a season on bobcat."

This apparent major switch in attitude goes to the heart of TS&GRA's complaints about the bobcat pelt program. The Association feels that TP&W has gone beyond both the program's needs and legal authority. The only reason the program exists at all is to satisfy federal demands, which, by the Washington boys' own admissions, do not go as far as even existing TP&W regulations. For instance, the federals have recommended that all bobcat pelts taken within a state be tagged, but they don't require it—TP&W does. The federals are officially concerned only with pelts that are destined for the international market. Admittedly, almost all bobcat pelts taken and sold in Texas go overseas, but some invariably don't, and they shouldn't have to be tagged by law. Nor is there any reason why pelts taken outside the tagging period should be prohibited from being tagged later. If quality of out-of-season pelts is in question, the problem and solutions are matters for trappers and pelt dealers to work out among themselves.

Then there's the question of authority, and it could be a sticky one. Boiled down, the only authority TP&W has to conduct any type of bobcat program comes from an executive order signed by former Governor Dolph Briscoe. That order, however, gives the department the authority only to meet federal demands, not to go beyond them. It has been speculated that the department is attempting to operate under non-game provisions of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Code, but the law that established the non-game section included, in no uncertain terms, an exemption on several predators and pests, including bobcats.

TS&GRA executive secretary Bill Sims will testify as to the Association's position during a public hearing in Austin Friday, Aug. 31. TP&W will also accept written comments on its new proposals through the first of October. Interested persons should write to William C. Brownlee, program leader, TP&W, 4200 Smith School Rd., Austin, Tx 78744.

Sales tax rep. to visit here

State Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his San Angelo office in Ozona on September 20, 1979 to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Steve Mercer will meet with local taxpayers in the Crockett County Courthouse Annex from 9:30 to 11:00 a.m.

"If Ozona area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing state tax forms, Mr. Mercer will be there to assist them," Bullock said. "We're trying to cut the red tape in this office, and we believe these face to face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

The San Angelo office, headed by Thomas M. Goff, serves San Angelo and surrounding counties.

Mrs. Bailey Post is spending some time in Houston with her children and grandchildren. She returned with her grandson and his family Sunday. Dr. and Mrs. Nick Bryan, Nicole and Bobbie, came out to spend the holiday weekend and Mrs. Post accompanied them home.

Bingo winner of the weekly gift certificate was Ruby Cooksey, donated by the Auxiliary. The end of the month game was won by Nila Turnell who received the Baker Jewelers' certificate. Opal Eversole left Thursday evening to spend a few days in Iraan with her daughter who arrived just as we finished in reading and discussion. We had an excellent turnout with a packed day room. The first story was taken from "Mature Years" about a man who always wore his hat, indoors and out, since he became prematurely bald while he was still a school boy. This kept him from marriage and led to many amusing situations good for many laughs in the group.

We then turned to "Grit" to which Lela Bunger has kindly subscribed for us. This little paper has a wealth of interesting articles in it, and humor, and will be enjoyed for weeks to come. We read about the 74-yr. old TV personality, Marlin Perkins, who is preparing for yet another season with "Wild Kingdom" and will be traveling on location to Gambia, Kenya, Madagascar, and places in the U.S. It was interesting to learn how he started his early career. We also read about the possible raising of an old Civil War era ship sunk off Cape Hatteras, N.C.

We shared some jokes and even tried some of tongue twisters suggested in this paper. Nila Turnell proved to be quite clever with these. On Wednesday, after Bible class, we experimented with a new exercise routine with movements done only on words beginning with "B" as we sang "My Bonnie Lies over the Ocean." This served a triple purpose inasmuch as it made us think, exercise, and sing; it also caused some merriment. Later, as I played the piano, we played "Name that Tune" which caused some interest as the group recalled titles of songs of the twenties, thirties, and forties.

The afternoon coffee get-togethers seem to be growing as residents meet to chat, either on the patios or in the dining room.

The crafts group met on Tuesday morning and mainly worked on the paper flowers which we are now attaching to a posterboard tree. Others finished working on the dough items with various colored paints, and others finished work on the plaques with further coats of Mod-Podge and spray, and attaching the hangers at the top. Alma Wilson has provided me with all kinds of ideas for future weeks and I received a box of items from my crafts catalog order, so I feel as if we have many interesting fields to explore during the coming weeks.

Gertrude Daniels has had me fix a box for her to save items she makes to give at Christmas time. Elvira Pena and Ruby Cooksey continue to be busy with their needlework and crochet which is where their principal talents lie.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Carola Vilalareal who passed away suddenly this weekend while she was at home for a visit. She was a lovely little lady with a pretty smile for everyone.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED-Mr. and Mrs. Pete Gomez announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Gloria Ann, to Hector Perez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isreal Perez of Sonora. Wildlife seminar set for next week

A Wildlife seminar will be held at the Civic Center in Ozona at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, September 12.

Experts in the field of wildlife and wildlife management will present the program. Tommie Hailey, Extension Biologist, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, will discuss the nutritional and genetic aspects of producing quality whitetailed deer.

Willard Richter, Biologist, Soil Conservation Service, will cover brush management, range management, deer food habits and judging vegetative use as related to deer densities and population control.

Dr. Milo Shult, wildlife specialist with Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will discuss the economic aspects of wildlife enterprises, deer herd management with respect to buck/doe ratios, reproductive potentials and age classes. Also part of Dr. Shult's presentation will touch on result demonstration work conducted here in the county on Sonny Henderson Ranch.

Since deer hunting in Crockett County is big business, and the revenues received from it goes into the hundreds of thousands dollars, the agencies involved decided this meeting would benefit all ranchmen in the county. Even if you don't lease your hunting, the management of range and deer would be valuable. This seminar is sponsored by the cooperative efforts of the Crockett County Extension Service, Texas Parks and Wildlife, Soil Conservation Service, and Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service.

Reminders to students receiving SS benefits

About 850,000 students 18 to 22 receive $1.6 billion a year from social security because a parent is getting retirement or disability benefits or has died. If you are one, here are some important reminders.

If you will soon start your first job and don't have a social security card, apply for one at any social security office. This must be done in person since you are at least 18. Apply early as it takes about 6 weeks to receive the card.

Bring your original birth certificate (or church record of birth or baptism recorded before age 5) as proof of your age and place of birth. If you were born outside the United States, call the social security office before you come to find out what additional proof is needed. You also will need some current identification, such as a student I.D. card or a driver's license. If you had a social security card but lost it, you can get a duplicate with the same number. Bring the stub that came with the original card, if you have it, and proof of identity when you apply for the replacement card. If your job will start before the card arrives and your employer wants proof that you applied, you can get a receipt from the social security office.

You can work and earn up to $3,480 in 1979 and receive all your social security checks. If you earn more than this amount, $1 in benefits generally will be withheld for each $2 in earnings over $3,480. Earnings for the entire year must be counted, including earnings in months before your benefits started and in months after they ended.

You can receive social security payments for the summer months as long as you plan to return to school full time next fall. If you aren't sure, it's a good idea to have your checks stopped so you won't be overpaid. Should you go back to school, back payments then will be made for the months checks were stopped. It is important to let social security know immediately whenever you stop attending school full time or if you switch schools. You must also promptly complete and return the reporting forms sent to you twice a year. The reporting forms have a place at the bottom for the school registrar to verify that you have been enrolled in school. Your benefits will stop if you do not send back the form. And, an investigation will be made to determine if all past payments were correct. The reporting form is called "Report of Student Beneficiary at End of School Year". If you have any questions concerning this procedure, call the San Angelo Social Security Office at 949-4608. The office is located at 2214 Sherwood Way.

Residents of Ballinger, Big Lake, Brady, Junction, Mason, Ozona, Sonora, and

Winters may call toll free by dialing "Operator" and asking for "Enterprise 2058."

Pierce shares memories of early west

By Victor I. Pierce PART II

(Cont'd From Last Week)

Ranch men only paid their grocery bill once a year which was when they sold their steers or their wool.

Feed for livestock was unheard of on a ranch. Ranch men would gather mesquite beans and soto seed in the summer and use it for horse feed in the winter.

Every ranch kept a lot of saddle horses and one boy got them up every morning while the others milked the cows. The cows we milked were just cows we got up out of the pasture; wild as could be. We would have to tie their heads to a post and hobble their back legs to milk them. Some got gentle, some never did, but we got the milk. We made our own butter, cheese, etc. from the milk. Everyone had something they did as their job and they did it without any arguments.

The school term was short and the teachers tough. We had three buildings. One teacher for each building, but many classes.

There were no janitors. The first boys there on a cold morning built the fires and cleaned up the room. They also chopped the wood and stacked it in a wood shed.

You were supposed to stay home and study after supper on school nights. The men teachers walked the streets after dark to see that you did.

On Saturday, nearly every kid either played on a baseball team or went to see the games. Baseball was more popular then, than football is today!

In the summer we had a 4th of July celebration that included steer roping, which lasted a full week. There were dances at night at the new courthouse (built in 1902.)

They had a fence around the park and kept some antelope in it for years. An antelope can't jump at all. When they had steer roping, I have seen so many saddled horses tied to the fence around the park that you could not edge one more in to tie to the fence. They were tied like this when the riders went into the saloons to get a drink.

Crockett County had a business firm here in Ozona that was unequalled at that time in the state of Texas or any other place! "Carmichael Perner and Co." If they sold you a windmill or gasoline engine, they erected it on your ranch. Anything you needed-they had it.

They had a wood yard. If you needed wood for your cookstove, fireplace, or iron heater, you would just send them a note and they would deliver it to your house. They had a machine shop and they could make any repairs you needed for windmills, wagons, or gasoline engines. They ordered nothing; they had men that could make it. They had a tin shop if you needed a water tank, any size, they made it, took it to your ranch and erected it for you.

They had a wagon yard where you could put your horses and feed them or they would feed them for you. This wagon yard also had a big camphouse where you could cook your meals if you wanted to. They also had a saloon where they would cash your check for you. At that time, Ozona had no banks and all five of the saloons kept a lot of cash to cash the cowboys' checks. Later on, Carmichael Perner Co. also had a big building with things made with leather. Saddles with their name stamped on them; they were known as the best saddles you could buy. They also made light harness. This harness business took a lot of time and good leather. The stage hacks alone kept about four harness men busy repairing and making new harnesses.

The main store itself had anything you wanted and when you bought a bill of goods they would arrange credit for it as long as you wanted.

They had a dry goods department that kept mostly men's work clothes. They also had a department for women's clothing. If they had ready made women clothes, it was just calico wrappers.

All the dress up clothes for girls and women were made by women dressmakers who selected the material from bolts of cloth. Carmichael Perner had long shelves in a big room full of the best material money would buy. A big counter, the length of the room, was used to unroll a bolt of cloth for you to see it and select the material for your dress.

Ozona had a lot of women dressmakers that made their living by sewing, making any kind of dress you wanted. They had patterns galore. Most wives made their men shirts, underwear, and anything else he wore. I often wonder how the women did all the work they did in a day. They had lots of children and each kid had a job to do each day; they did it and were happy.

Window shades save energy

Window shades overcome "fuelish" windows to save energy during hot-weather months, says Pat Seaman, housing and home furnishings specialist.

One-fourth of the energy used for heating and cooling in the United States--the equivalent of 1.7 million barrels of oil per day--is squandered through windows.

Only an uninsulated attic wastes more energy, she explains.

What does this mean in dollars and cents?

Between 40 cents and $1.40 is added to fuel and utility bills each year, according to government experts, for each square foot of single-pane glass in a typical home.

For a home with fifteen three by five foot windows, this can add up to as much as $315 each year that is spent on energy--but lost.

That's like throwing money out the window, Ms. Seaman points out.

The problem is that glass is an excellent conductor of heat.

In summer, the blistering sun penetrates through the glass causing heat build-up in the home.

Heat build-up equals more air conditioning equals more energy to cool a home.

Window shades form a barrier against heat flow--substantially more so than venetian blinds or draperies, the other two common interior window coverings.

Standard, inexpensive, light-colored, opaque window shades can "barricade" the flow of heat, the specialist continues.

During the summer, sunlight is deflected by a drawn shade and kept out of the room resulting in dramatic energy savings--all summer long.

During the hot, sunny part of the day, pull the shades down, particularly in windows along the southern and western side of the house, which receive the potent concentration of sun.

This will deflect the sun's rays out of the house and keep solar heat from building up inside.

Window shades are a smart dollar-and-cents investment in these energy-conscious times. They are inexpensive, virtually maintenance-free, have long service life, and perform their energy-saving chores with a minimum of effort.

Equally important, energy-wise window shades can fashionably complement any room decor, Ms. Seaman adds.

For a colorful lift, decorate window shades with fringes, tassels, or glued-on stripes or bright-colored fabric.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

How did the custom of cheering and cheer leaders start in football?.. When the first intercollegiate game was played in 1869 between Princeton and Rutgers, Princeton players got the idea of trying to upset Rutgers players by yelling every time Rutgers put the ball in play..But there was one thing wrong with this plan..Although the yelling did upset Rutgers, at the same time, it bothered the Princeton players because they had to use too much effort in yelling and it distracted them from their own play..So, for the second game against Rutgers, a Princeton man got the great idea of having some of the students along the sideline do the yelling instead of the players.. And that's how the tradition was born.

Can you guess who is the only player in football history to make the official All-America football team as both a lineman and a back?..This unusual record is held by Bronko Nagurski..He was picked as an All-American at tackle and also at fullback when he played for Minnesota in the late 1920s.

4-H Congress briefed on energy picture

As far as the energy situation in the United States is concerned, "we can't have our cake and eat it too." That was the overriding thought that seemed to flow throughout discussions at the 1979 Texas 4-H Congress at the Shamrock Hilton Hotel in Houston recently.

More than 500 4-H members from throughout Texas as well as a host of adult leaders and county agents

Motel fire here Sun. morning

Ozona firemen were called to the Ozona Inn of the West around 6:00 a.m. Sunday to extinguish a fire in the kitchen area of the facility.

Some 21 guests were routed from their sleep and evacuated from the upstairs rooms in the main building while the manager was turning in the alarm.

The fire started in some stored supplies in the water heater room and burned through the ceiling. Cause of the blaze was unknown, but local firemen made short work of getting the blaze under control and out.

The fire had apparently been smoldering for some time, as guests checking into the motel at 2:30 noticed smoke coming from the kitchen area, but thought it was normal cooking smoke.

At 6 o'clock the cook noticed smoke and called the night auditor to turn on a vent-a-hood. However, by the time the night clerk returned to the front desk the building was rapidly filling with smoke.

with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service heard a number of officials give their views on our nation's energy situation. And for the most part, they painted a rather dim picture.

Dr. John McKetta, an engineer at the University of Texas who served on several energy policy committees under the Nixon and Ford Administrations, said that "we are facing a great upheaval in our society due to the energy situation. We want plenty of energy but we don't want to make some of the sacrifices that go with this condition. For instance, we don't want pollution--we demand air quality that we can't attain. We could save one and one-half billion gallons of oil per day if we would decide to live with a less purified air."

McKetta called for a number of conservation measures that could save some three and one-half billion barrels of oil a day. These include reducing auto and home air-conditioning and heating, drying clothes outdoors rather than in dryers, shutting down escalators when they are not being used, driving smaller cars, car pooling, mass transportation, abiding by the 55 mph speed limit, reducing weekend driving, raising the legal driving age to 18, recycling solid wastes, constructing more energy-conserving buildings and using rerefinned lubes.

"At the same time, government should take some steps to match this same saving of three and one-half billion barrels of oil per day," he emphasized.
