Kitty's Korner

by
Kitty Montgomery

What began as a bad week turned out to be a riot by last week's end, at least in the Montgomery household. It all started with a chain letter, which instructed me to bundle Tom up and send him to the first woman on the list, and send a copy of the letter to six of my friends. It said to place my name at the bottom of the list and when it reached the top, I in turn would receive some 180 men. It also warned not to break the chain, one woman did and got her own husband back.

Well, I had no qualms about sending Tom to the first woman on the list. However, since I had no desire to be the recipient of so many men, I broke the chain and sent no letters. Just as the letter foretold, I got him back before night-fall. Oh well, I was used to him anyway.

Halloween was another strange day. Rick Whitworth and I fell heir to judging the costume contest. Something like that always bothers me, since I always want all the kids who participate to get a prize. The pre-schoolers were so darling it was impossible to pick three winners so we just picked the first three we found standing still. Of course, after that it was "trick or treat" time. This is the most important night of the year for Tom and he is always ready for the little goblins, and of course we always have a bunch of them. Now we have the kids of the kids who used to trick or treat us, so through the years it has multiplied.

About 10:00 o'clock I had retired to the television in the bedroom when a group of grown spooks visited. I started in to see what the commotion was, and was attacked by Count Dracula himself. We sort of collided in the hall and he stepped on my foot, sort of took the fun out of the other full-grown spooks who were visiting.

As I limped around the next day, not a soul believed me when I told them Dracula broke my toe.

Saturday had to be the highlight of my week. A group of my friends (?) with Tom's assistance, gave me a surprise birthday party. And, what a surprise. I had just finished washing my hair and bathing when the first guest arrived. There I was, head wrapped in a towel, clothed in an old bathrobe and with cream on my face. It was Donna Beth Davidson and as she often pops in, I didn't suspect a thing. Of course, when everyone else showed up, I got the point. It was too late then, so I just made the best of it and believe it or not it turned out a fun thing.

The cake was a masterpiece. A perfect reproduction of the front page of the Ozona Stockman, year 2027, all done in black and white. I learned later that Dilly and Shannon Dockery along with Cathy Dawn Moore had it made in Lubbock and had sat up half the night designing it. It is reproduced in this week's paper. I didn't want to cut it, but what else can you do with a cake. It was as good as it was clever and a good time was had by all.

DORRIS HAIRE RECEIVES AWARD

Dorris Haire received his 25-year service award, a diamond ring with the Pioneer emblem, during the annual service award ceremonies of Pioneer Natural Gas Company at the Midland Country Club in Midland.

GARAGE FIRE TUESDAY MORNING at 604 Ave. G turned into a 3-alarm fire. The alarm came in at 1:58, but by the time firemen arrived on the scene the gas tank of the automobile, which is still inside the burned out shell, had exploded and the resulting fire lit up half the town. Firemen had the blaze extinguished in a matter of minutes after arriving on the scene, but the garage and everything in it was totally destroyed. They were able to prevent the roof of the house next to it from catching on fire.

Crockett County gets big share of travel receipts

Crockett County received $2,636,000 of the State's $7,032,369,000 travel receipts in 1978, a national study commissioned by the Texas Tourist Development Agency has disclosed.

The 1978 figures reflect an increase of 12 percent in travel receipts over 1977 for Crockett County.

In addition to gross receipts, the study found that Crockett County in 1978 had 111 of the state's 243,887 travel-related jobs, with an annual payroll of $658,000.

It also estimated $106,000 in state and $13,000 in local taxes were paid by county visitors in 1978.

The study was done by the U.S. Travel Data Center in Washington, D.C., an independent travel research organization funded jointly by public and private sectors.

It was based on the Center's Travel Economic Impact Model which breaks out a state's share of the national travel market on a county-by-county basis.

The model measures the economic impact of all travel involving overnight trips away from home, and day trips at least 100 miles or more from home. Thus it includes travel by Texans as well as out-of-state visitors, for all purposes.

It includes estimates of the traveler's spending at home in preparation for the trip, his spending en route, and that at his destination.

Basic data for the model comes from the National Travel Survey, conducted every five years by the U.S. Census Bureau, and from the Center's own National Travel Expenditure Model.

It was the latter which estimated that in 1975 Texas had dislodged New York for third place in the nation's travel industry. The 1978 figures, however, show Texas back in fourth place behind California, Florida, and New York.

"We're pleased that travel research techniques have finally developed to the point that states can determine where, within their boundaries, travel dollars are spent and travel-related jobs exist," said Frank Hildebrand, executive director of the Texas Tourist Development Agency.

"Now we can trace travel's considerable economic impact on a county-by-county basis, observe changing patterns annually, and help direct the rapid growth of this burgeoning industry."

Ozona High gets new UIL rating

Ozona High School officials and coaches are delighted with the new University Interscholastic League realignment which places the school in a new district for the next two years. The Lions will join Junction, Wall, Eldorado, Mason, Menard and Big Lake. The district will be 9-AA. The present district 7-AA members will scatter. Sonora will be in District 8-3A with Ballinger, Brady, Coleman and Comanche; Kermit, Alpine, Cautillo and Fabens will make up District 5-3A and Crane will enter 6-3A with Coahoma, Denver City and Seminole.

The realignment includes football and other sports and is based on enrollment limits. Class 2-A is figured on enrollment of 135 to 264 students based on the past two years enrollment figures. Ozona High School was just on the line, averaging 264 students. Present enrollment is 295, but new districts will not be drawn for another two years.

The schedule for the Lions season for 1980 has been tentatively set for pre-district games and is firm for district games. Tentatively the Lions will have four non-conference games: Sonora here, Sept. 5; Crane there, Sept. 12; Brackett here, Sept. 19, and Alpine there Sept. 26. District play will begin Oct. 3, with Junction here. October 10, the Lions will play Wall there; Oct. 17, Eldorado, here; Oct. 24, Mason there, and Oct. 31, an open date. They will close out the season with Menard here Nov. 7 and Big Lake there, Nov. 14.

The new district realignment will become effective January 1, 1980 and continue in effect through 1981, when UIL officials will review all Texas high school districts.

Halloween Contest winners announced

Girl Scout Troop #50 sponsored a Halloween contest in the park Wednesday afternoon with three prizes given in three divisions. Judging the contest were Rick Whitworth of KRCT Radio and Kitty Montgomery of the Ozona Stockman. Cynthia Ramos coordinated the affair.

Winners in the pre-school division were Abby Maldonado, who was made up as a Holly Hobby doll, first; John Clark Childress as Casper the Ghost took second place, and Aimee Galvan dressed as a space creature won third.

In the primary division Kelly Porter, dressed as the cat and the mouse won first place. Second place went to Kim McBrier as a ballerina, and third went to John Flores, who was dressed as Satan.

Intermediate division winners were Abel Lara, dressed as the Hunchback of Notre Dame, first; Lilly Tobar, dressed as a clown, second and Kris Layman, the balloon girl, third.

Freezing weather is on the way

Freezing weather is on the way. The big question is when the first freeze will hit Crockett County, and the most important for local residents.

Cattlemen must prepare for feeding livestock as freezing weather approaches and many homeowners are concerned about protecting tender vegetation from cold weather. And, of course, all types of motor vehicles and equipment must be winterized. Furnaces must be checked and pilot lights readied.

So some knowledge of when to expect freezing temperatures can be helpful to many people. Agricultural meteorologists with the Environmental Studies Service Center at Texas A&M University have compiled probability levels for freezing temperatures for various regions of the state, based on historical data.

Crockett County falls in the Southwest area of Texas, where according to the chart, the chance for an early freeze is November 5, which is already past. The average freeze for the area occurs on or around November 28, and the latest first freeze was December 22.

Based on this information, chances of an early freeze are already past for much of Texas. So freezing temperatures will likely occur by "average" dates, or they may even be late this year, since unseasonably warm weather has prevailed so far this fall.

Some frost has already been reported in Ozona.

However, Van Wilson of the ASC Service, reminds that light frost must not be confused with a killing frost or freeze.

With the National Weather Service predicting near normal temperatures through mid-November, "average" freeze dates will likely be the rule this fall.

Lack of moisture the last two months in this area has created a bad situation for rangelands when a freeze does occur. Less than an inch of rainfall was recorded for both September and October this year where for the past few years moisture amounts for the two months has been five inches and up.

Drivers Ed students experiment

The Drivers Education Department of Ozona High School under the supervision of Rip Sewell has been provided some sophisticated equipment to use in the driving portion of the course this semester. A trailer containing 16 simulated driving units arrived Monday and was put into use immediately by drivers ed students who have already completed 32 hours of classroom instruction.

The unit will be used here for 12 days, during this period of simulated driving students will view 16 films which will expose the student to many traffic situations in different environments, giving him experience in making decisions based on traffic evaluation.

Sewell said the training in the simulator would cut the regular on the road driving time for the course in half. The simulator is designed to simulate the driver's department of an automobile, including the controls and instrument panel.

Ozona debate team wins third in meet

Two Ozona High School students took third place honors at the Odessa Speech Tournament Saturday at Odessa High School.

Gregg Perry and Gary Smith were awarded the third place medals in Debate. The pair posted a record of five wins and one loss. The loss came in the semi-final round against Midland High School. The Ozona duo was the only team entered from a Class AA school. All other students were from Class

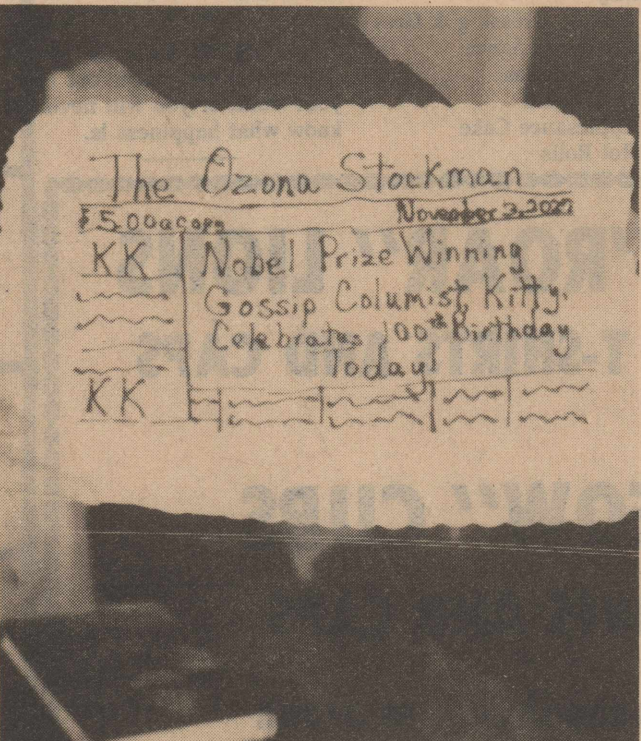

AAA or AAAA schools.

Wins for the local team in the preliminary rounds came over Andrews, Lake View, Amarillo, Tascosa and Lubbock Coronado. In the quarter-finals, Gregg and Gary defeated Lubbock Coronado for a second time by a 3-0 decision by the panel of judges.

Three other Ozona students attended the meet as observers. They were Robert Massey, Jacinda Marley and Allen Dews.

OZONA HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE TEAM wins third place medal at Odessa Speech Meet. The boys, Gary Smith and Gregg Perry, won debates with five 3-A and 4-A teams before dropping one in the finals.

The cake was designed by Dilly Dockery, Shannon Dockery and Cathy Dawn Moore, and presented to Kitty Montgomery at a surprise happening Saturday morning, the day after her 52nd birthday.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Again the rain skirted Ozona last week, but we can still look and hope for a good general soaker before too long. I notice many shrubs and trees are suffering from no rain, so do water your evergreens and small newly set plants well before a hard freeze comes our way.

If you grow container plants, the roots are more exposed than they are in the ground, so are more susceptible to cold injury. The easiest way to protect plants is to plunge the pots in the ground. Dig a hole large enough for the container, place the container in the hole, and fill in around it with soil. In the spring, dig the plant up and return it to its original location.

Consider planting plums if you are going to plant fruit trees this winter. Plums are the most pest resistant of the stone fruits and can begin bearing heavily in 4 or 5 years. Among the best varieties for the entire state are Methley and Bruce.

Planting season for vines is here. A number of interesting vines are adapted to Texas growing conditions. Some of the best are Virginia creeper, Confederate Jasmine, Trumpet Vine, Coral Vine, Sweet Autumn Clematis, Trumpet Honeysuckle, and Yellow Jessamine. Most are grown as climbers, but Confederate Jasmine also makes a good ground cover.

If you feel like you can't grow indoor plants, try the popular Philodendrons. They survive and anyone can grow them, from the most experienced plant lover to the least experienced. One of the best features of this tropical looking plant is range of plant sizes and textures, and can serve a number of decorative functions. Among the more popular philodendrons are heart-leaf, velvet-leaf, spade-leaf, Burgundy, and saddle-leaf. A novel way to display the small-leaved plants is to let them climb, which is their nature. The medium-size include immature forms of saddle-leaf and split-leaf philodendron. All make table-top plants, either alone or with other plants grouped in a collection. The large-leaved species are at their best when used as specimens to anchor a corner of a large room, to fill an empty space along the wall, or accent a large piece of furniture.

Most types of philodendrons will adopt to nearly any lighting situation, but avoid locations with extremely bright or low light. Water frequently enough to keep the soil moist, but never wet.

A standard mixture of equal parts of garden loam, peat moss, and sand is adequate. Most packaged soil mixes are fine for them.

To discourage insects and to keep the large leaved species looking their glossy best, wipe the leaves with a dry soft cloth at least once a month.

Debra Says

Consider holiday gifts that save resources and celebrate life.

After you've made your list of receivers and given thought to their ages, "likes" and needs, let "Consume with Care" be your watchword for the 1979 holiday season.

Here are ideas for this kind of gift-giving: Give a gift of energy--your own.

Visit an elderly friend or babysit for a young mother so many times during 1980. Or volunteer your time and talents to a community agency that needs help.

Make your own gifts, such as children's stuffed toys, doll clothes, wooden blocks, knitted or crocheted items, baked goods or jams and jellies. Or give a plant that you grew from a cutting.

In buying, select items discriminately. Ask yourself if it's useful--will it be used? Is it made of durable materials: Can it be recycled, repaired or reused in the future?

In addition, save resources in other ways. Use last year's wrapping paper and ribbons or the comics from Sunday newspapers or butcher paper decorated with potato block prints or finger painting.

Or use leftover fabrics cut with pinking shears. Decorate with pine cones, acorns and other natural materials.

For the tree, buy a live tree and plant it later. Gifts that save resources and celebrate life will reflect the giving spirit year after year.

Pens of Power

"Wow... what a story." "Wow, there's a real article." So go our reactions to writing that stimulates. But, before a word is written, a good writer must first have something to say and know how best to say it.

Poe, Shakespeare and Margaret Mitchell... they had something in common... pens of power. They had the rare gift of being able to transport readers into another world of beauty, drama, or history itself. Passing years cannot dim the luster of their immortal works.

Yet, long before the days of these great authors, four other writers spoke to a needy world through their pens. They wrote about a man from Nazareth whose life changed the world. Divinely inspired, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John still testify today to the truth of the risen Savior.

Share the experience of the Holy Word of God this Sunday.

Crockett County Care Center News

by Joan Nicholas — Director of Activities & Social Care

Eleanor Bradford, long-time resident of the Care Center, passed away on Friday.

This lovely, gracious lady will be missed so much, with her sense of humor, her enchanting spells of laughter which, at times, she couldn't control and which were so infectious to us all, her amazing growth in loving and caring about others as she became an important member of our family. Our sympathy is extended to her family, from all over Texas and who have stayed so close during these last days. Eleanor would have celebrated her 93rd birthday on November 16. When she first came to us, she wanted to sleep away the hours in her chair in her room, but gradually became one of the most active residents, participating in everything offered.

Tuesday, in crafts, we started thinking about Thanksgiving and made some turkeys for our decor, using pine cones. These will take the place of the Halloween owls and pussy cats that drew a lot of comment from visitors. In the afternoon, it was the first weekly session of Bingo and Vera Miller said "I don't think I am going to play—I never win." My reply was "Oh, Vera, you'll probably go in there and win one game after another," and managed to talk her into it. Well! It was almost embarrassing! Vera won five games and broke all records for any one sitting... it really looked sorta fishy, but so help me, there's no way I can control those little balls as they come out of the cage! She topped it off on Friday, her 89th birthday, with two more games winning the gift certificate from Watson's Department Store. Second prizes went to Pop Bonnell and Paul Cavin.

Wednesday was Halloween, of course. Jeannie Thompson said she would call some mothers and see that some little ones came out between 6 and 7:30 p.m. in costume, to visit our residents. We had cookies and candy ready, donated by Jim's Foodway and Willie Tooke. We had a Brownie group that sang a couple of cute songs. Mrs. Larry Bailey had a children's party going on at her house and brought the group over to the Center, and they also sang a most original Halloween song and visited around. Vickie Cooper brought some kiddoes and she looked so gross (if I may borrow the expression), I didn't recognize her. (Jeannie looked pretty scary, too). Then Sara Hignight arrived, looking very strange, bringing the cutest little clown you ever saw. There were many other small groups. Judy Reager came by and promised that she is going to come and sing for us very soon. I would say we had about fifty spooks and goblins and other creatures that called, in all. Pictures are on view in our album.

On Friday afternoon some friends of Vera Miller's brought over a surprise birthday party for her.

On Sunday afternoon a group of youth, approximately thirty-five in number, came over from the First Baptist Church in Big Lake. They repeated the program they had done at church that morning for Youth Day. There was a choral number with the whole group, and a trio of Shawna Van Deman, Sheri Tucker and Tamie Short singing "For These Tears I Died", and the accompanist was Karen Short. Debbie Noland sang a solo. Vicky Fisher, the director of the group was accompanied by five other adult sponsors. In addition, a reading was given, and bananas were passed out among our residents as the youth visited with them on an individual basis. This is the second time these young people have come over and shown so much interest.

There are more "thank-yous" and such, but Kitty will cut me off about here for sure, so we'll include them next week! We do all congratulate our co-worker, Ann Mayo, and her husband on their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Lions to host Kermit Friday

The Ozona Lions will host Kermit Friday night after taking a 14-22 loss at Crane last Friday night in their first district game of the season. Kermit beat Sonora 13-7, and is in a tie for the district 7-AA lead with Crane.

Crane scored first Friday night, putting 7 points on the board in the first quarter. The second period was a defensive battle and the 7-0 lead held at the half.

A fired up Ozona team came back to take the lead in the third quarter. Fred Garza scored on a two-yard run for the Lions and then added the two points, giving the Lions an 8-7 lead over the Golden Cranes. Later in the same quarter, Varlyn Albridge plunged in from a yard out and although the PAT failed, Ozona had a 14-7 lead which held until the fourth quarter when Crane put it all together and added 15 points to their end of the score.

Ozona Lion Eric Fierro suffered a head injury during the game and was taken to Medical Center Hospital in Odessa where he was treated and released. He was back in school Monday.

Defensive standouts for the Lions were Rudy Martinez and Ernie Borrego.

The Lions fell short of the Cranes in the statistics department as well. They had 8 first downs to 12 for Crane. The Lions had 60 yards rushing to 177 for the Cranes and 64 yards passing to 42 for Crane. The Lions attempted 11 passes, connected for 4 and had one interception. Crane was 4 for 10 with 1 interception. Crane lost two fumbles while the Lions lost none. Ozona was forced to punt 9 times for an average of 38 yards and Crane punted 6 times for an average of 25 yards per punt.

Sports Fans

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

What man played in more pro football games than anyone else in history?... Answer is George Blanda who played pro football for an amazing 26 years...from 1949 to 1975. He played in 340 games, and is the only man ever to have played pro football in 4 different decades--the 1940s, 1950s, 1960s and 1970s.

Here's an oddity...The 3 teams with the highest payrolls in major league baseball in 1979 all failed to win the pennant this year...The 3 teams with the highest payroll in 1979 were the Yankees, Phils and Red Sox.

One of the great oddities in sports is how many great players never achieved major championships--for instance, O.J. Simpson and Fran Tarkenton never played on a team that won the National Football League title...Golfer Sam Snead never won the U.S. Open. Baseball immortals Ty Cobb and Ted Williams, unbelievably, never played on a team that won the World Series, and so it goes.

I bet you didn't know... L-B Motor Co. can help you in your selection of the car or pickup right for you. Thanksgiving is near and if you are planning on an out-of-town visit to be with family or friends you will want to leave town in one of our 1980 cars. We're sure we have the one you are looking for. An offering will be received, the proceeds of which are used to aid people of Crockett County in special times of need. Three pastors will bring messages, Rev. Lanham, Rev. Larry Droll of the Catholic Church and Rev. Larry Bailey of the Methodist Church.

Run on banks in West Texas on black Tuesday

Great depression

Part 2

[Mr. Pierce continues his story about the run on banks during the 1929 Depression. Last week the story left off with an account how the banks tried to re-assure depositors and in some cases failed.]

By Victor I. Pierce

They would draw it out and we were paying them. Ira Swope, who was really the head of the bank when Roy wasn't there, told me, "We can't stay open much longer." You know if a bank takes one deposit, when there are one dollar not solvent, or there has been one check they couldn't pay-why, its a penitentiary offense for the officials that are running that bank and anybody thats in there, even a director if he is there on the grounds. I said, "Well, we'll send up to the Central National and see if we can get some money up there."

I sent Herman Perry. Judge Blanks was president of the bank whom I knew pretty well. All of the directors were up there, sitting around, and Herman went in, told them we had plenty of money in Fort Worth, but Roy hadn't got back, and asked if they would let us have $50,000.00 They turned him down-so he came back and told me, and I said, "Well, lets go back, I know Judge Blanks pretty well. Lets go back and see what we can do." Well, when we stepped in the office, all the directors were sitting in there, and I could see the coldest look on their faces. "No" was written on all their faces. I thought, I can't afford to say anything in front of this bunch, and I said "Judge, I'd like to see you back here in your private office a minute." So we went back there and I said, "Of course, you know we're having a run on the bank, and you all turned us down for some money. I had never heard this in my life." I don't know where I got it or why I said it, and didn't know what I was going to say, but anyway, I said, "You know its a fact, whenever they close 2 banks in one town they close them all and they are going to close us pretty quick, now if we don't get $50,000.00. He said, "You're right, you're sure right." I told him we had the money in Fort Worth. All we had to do was to get the Fort Worth National or the First National on the line and they'll transfer the money to your account and that he could let me have the money there. He said, "Well, we'll do it nearly that way, we'll get the bank on the line, and you tell them to carry, or take that money out of the bank and take it over to another bank, and whenever they say they'll do that, then I'll give you the $50,000.00. It wasn't five minutes until they had the bank on the line and I talked to them.

So, we got the $50,000.00. We got an old rusty six-shooter, the streets were crowded, and gave the money to Herman Perry. I bet the old gun hadn't fired in 25 years. I walked along behind Herman with this six-shooter and if anybody had tried to take it, I would have shot them. I stuck it in my pocket, went along up there, and in a little while we had that all used up. I phoned Judge Blanks, and said, "We've got to have some more money, another $50,000.00 He said, "All right, send the six-shooter and the carrier up here." That time I sent Arthur Phillips with the six shooter to guard him. Arthur Phillips said, "You know what they're doing with that money when they are drawing it out? They are taking it over to the Post Office and depositing it." Well, I told Herman Perry, and he said, "Well, the law is that whenever the Post Office gets $2,500.00 in cash they've got to stop right then and take that and deposit it in a bank." "They're depositing that money, and they are depositing it over with Webb, in the First National. You call Mr. Webb and see if that isn't right." So I called him and he said that they were bringing it there, and asked if we needed it. I said, "Boy, how we need it." So he said he would send it right down-and we were just paying them the same money!

Early Baggett was out at the Airport with 2 or 3 fellows with 30-30 rifles to guard Roy when he got there with the money. He finally got in with the money, in the suitcases. Roy was like Claude, he was always itching to make a speech anyway. We had some tables in the Lobby, and it was jammed full. So Roy sat these two suitcases down and stepped up on the table to talk to the people, to tell them that when the hour came to close, we would close at 12 noon, but that we were not going to close until 10 that night, and not to push and rush, we had the money and we would pay everyone of them off. In the meantime, Ira Swope picked up the suitcases and went back inside the bank with this money, Roy didn't see him. He looked down and they were gone, you never saw a fellow jump off a table so fast, a hollering "Where is that money?" After the people found out that we were not going to close when we could have closed, why, they began to lighten up.

During the run, before Roy got there, we had a truck driver that lived in Barnhart, that came in with a check for $285.00 to be deposited. He was kind of a timid fellow, and they pushed him away, nearly out the door. Finally he made the deposit and got back to the door. I was standing there, I was the only one he knew, and he said "Say, I just deposited $285.00 over there and I didn't get a checkbook." I got it for him and he said, "Well, I've got to be going, I've got a long ways to go; I've got to go to Juno and get a load of wool I'll swear you fellow do a big business here on Saturday, don't you."

While the run was going on in the bank, about when it first started-there was a fellow that lived in San Angelo who was a brother to a famous outlaw. He had $2,750.00 in there and the story goes that he'd beaten somebody, he was a pretty bad character, and he came in that morning and wanted to draw that $2,750.00 out. Herman Perry talked him out of it. Well, along late that evening, that fellow came back in there, and I saw Herman go get some money and take over and give it to him. I said, "What's the matter?" "Did he want his money?" Herman said, "No, he didn't want it exactly, but this morning when he told me he was going to leave it here, he said, "Young man, I'm not going to take my money out, I'm going to leave it here, but if this bank goes broke and I don't get it, I'm going to kill you." Herman said, "I thought I'd better just give him his money!"

Deer Hunting provides venison for Texans

Deer hunting provides both outdoor recreation and table fare-venison-for Texas sportsmen each year.

Some 11 million pounds of boneless deer meat are harvested annually in Texas, points out Dr. Milo Shult, wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The hunter is the key person responsible for the quality and edibility of the venison he brings home," Shult emphasizes. "The entire process of handling the carcass from field to table can add or detract from the desirability of the final product. The hunter plays an important role in determining whether a deer steak is tender and tasty or tough and bad-flavored."

Based on studies regarding the effects of handling on deer meat quality, Shult gives these recommendations:

Whenever a choice is available, select a female animal for less flavor intensity (gaminess). This does not mean that male animals provide undesirable meat, but rather that most consumers may prefer the less intense flavor of the female.

Whenever possible, place the shot in the neck or head to insure clean, rapid kill. This prevents post-shot stress and also reduces tissue damage considerably.

Field dress the animal as soon as possible. If contents of the intestine or paunch have been spilled, rinse the carcass with water. A publication, L-634 entitled "Field Dressing Big Game," is available from any county Extension office and provides more information.

If weather permits, leave the skin on the carcass to help conserve moisture. However, in hot weather, skin and cover the carcass with a fly proof bag if a cooler is not accessible. Also, a male in the rut may have a strong urine odor on the hind legs and probably should be skinned prior to storage.

If the family prefers a somewhat more intense flavor or similar to aged beef, hang the carcass in a locker for about a week before final

WTU increase wholesale rate

West Texas Utilities Co. has filed for an increase in wholesale rates for electric energy it supplies to 14 rural electric cooperatives and one municipality. The action will have no effect on WTU retail customers.

The increase would average 10.6 per cent, and for most of the co-ops would be the first increase in base rates in 15 years. Most of them have been buying power from WTU under contract initiated in 1965.

WTU, in its filing with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission in Washington, estimated that the increase would amount to $2,261,349 in additional revenue for the

The increase would be effective January 1, 1980. All of the existing co-op contracts expire on December 31, 1979. The contract with Sonora, which is the municipality involved, expires December 31, 1983, but contains provisions for rate changes.

W.P. (Bill) Sayles, WTU's vice president for customer services, said rising costs of providing service made the increase necessary. "Fifteen years without an increase is a long time," he said, "especially in a period of inflation."

He said the proposed rate structure is designed not only to bring charges to wholesale customers more in line with WTU's increased cost of service, but to encourage the co-ops to level their loads.

This incentive is provided in a demand charge, based on a ratchet clause which allows WTU to bill these wholesalers for up to 80 per cent of their peak demands over a 12-month period and helps level costs over the year. It also gives them the opportunity to actually decrease the unit cost of electric energy and minimize costs to their customers by shifting load to off-peak periods.

"We chose the demand charge because we feel it will be beneficial to the co-ops and their customers, and to the overall efforts to conserve energy," Sayles said. "Without such a provision there is no incentive or benefit for the wholesale customers to implement load management programs."

Sayles said the proposed new contract had been discussed with all of the co-op managers and their engineering consultants before the filing was made with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

Students participate in V.F.W. Program

Ozona High School students are participating in the V.F.W. Voice of Democracy Scholarship Program. The program is open to all high school students and is specially emphasized here by speech students under David Porter.

In the eighteen years the Veterans of Foreign Wars has been sole sponsor of the Voice of Democracy Program, more than 3,000,000 high school students have participated. In the five years the local post has sponsored the program here, there has been one District winner. Karen Warren won the honor last year.

The program is a broadcast scriptwriting program conducted annually by the V.F.W. Participants write and then tape-record a three to five minute broadcast script expressing their views on their role in America's future. The contest is conducted on the local level, the district level and the state level with various scholarships for the winners. For the state winners, along with the scholarships, they are given a five-day tour of Washington D.C., and the opportunity to make lasting friendships with other state winners. From among the state winners, five national winners are chosen to receive a total of $22,500 in scholarships.

One of the greatest benefits to young people who take part in the program, is that by thinking, writing and speaking up for their country, they gain a better appreciation of their obligation to maintain our nation's freedom heritage.

JV defeats Annual Fall Garden Crane 19-6 Club meeting set

The Lion J.V. has moved their record to 6-3 after victories over Menard, Iraan, Junction and last week, Crane, 19-6.

Against Crane, the half-time saw a 0-0 scoreboard, although both teams threatened, each driving inside the opponents 20 yard line. The third and fourth quarters went to Ozona, outscoring Crane 19-6. The first touchdown was a pass from Harvey Huereca to Les Hale. Huereca scored the next two touchdowns on the ground with Will Mason adding the P.A.T. after one of the scores.

Providing the blocking for the offense included Mike Couch, Santiago Lopez, Ismael Castro, David Tijerina, Dan Bean, Stanley Najjar, Dennis DeHoyos, and Fernando Galvan.

Defensive players who helped stop Crane's offense were Allen Dews, Will Mason, Robert Massey, Simon Hernandez, and Gregory Fierro in the secondary. The front four and linebackers included Rudy Martinez, Willie Payne, Ramon Cedillo, Joe Villarreal, Joe Vasquez, Kelly Buckner, Carlos Borrego, Randy DeHoyos, and Zeke Martinez.

Thursday the Ozona J.V. will take on the Sonora Bronco J.V. at 7:00 p.m. in Sonora.

The Annual Fall Meeting of District VIII Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., will be held November 8 in Coleman at the Junior High School. Cross Plains Garden Club, Mountain City Garden Club-Santa Anna, Civic Garden Club, Ballinger, and Town and Country Garden Club, Coleman, are host clubs.

Ozona's Jr. High football teams traveled to Crane last Thursday to play the Golden Cranes. The 8th Grade Cubs defeated the Crane team by a score of 12-6 but the 7th graders were defeated by a 34-0 count.

Eighth grade scores came on a 4 yard run by Diego Leal and a 40 yard pass interception by linebacker Lupe Castro. The Cub's completed 3 of 3 passes for 106 yards. Robert Flores caught 2 passes for 101 yards.

Numerous penalties marred the offensive efforts of the Cubs but Diego Leal led rushers with 39 yards and Rowdy Holmsley followed with 36 yards.

Johnny Rodriguez had 9 tackles, Adrian Tijerina had 9 tackles, Curt McPherson, 7 tackles.

Manuel Perez was credited with 3 tackles and a pass interception and Kevin Miller 5 tackles and a fumble recovery. They led the defensive effort by the Cubs.

This Thursday the Cubs host the Sonora 7th grade beginning at 4:30 p.m. and the 8th grade game will follow at 5:45 p.m.
