Well finally the President stood up on his two feet and took a stand. This is unusual in this vacillating administration, however, commendable. I think the decision to stop buying oil from Iran was probably the first positive thing President Carter has done in his three and a half years in office.

Now, if he would just follow through and deport all the Iranians, stop shipping grain to Iran and take their embassy staff hostage, we just might see some positive results. When one is dealing with a tyrant it is almost always necessary to be tyrannical.

It might also improve his standing in the ratings if he got rid of the pussyfooting State Department, starting with the Secretary. The department's foreign policy these past years has earned the United States nothing but contempt.

Much has been said about the Cambodian refugees and this week, because of Veteran's Day or a Louis Harris Poll on Vietnam, the Vietnam veteran is back in the news. My heart bleeds for the refugees and for the maimed, dead and mentally injured veterans who were sent to fight, but not to win the Vietnamese war.

One can't help but wonder what the results would have been if the government had undertaken to give our fighting men the support and backing they needed and allow them to win that war in the early days.

What do those who scoffed at the "domino theory" think now. The communists are in full control of Vietnam and are fighting each other in Cambodia. They are a very real threat to Thailand and South Korea is in very real danger. Think of the influx of refugees the rest of the world will have to deal with when they manage to overrun the whole of southeast Asia. The suffering we see now, deplorable as it is, may just be the tip of the iceberg.

MOHAIR COUNCIL OF AMERICA held its executive board meeting here Thursday at the new 7-U Ranch Co. offices on Ave. B. Following the two-hour meeting Thursday morning, members had lunch at the Ozona Steak House. Present at the meeting were Bob Childress, president; Herman Moore of Brownwood, Robert Pfuger, Fred Campbell and Patricia Ferguson, all of San Angelo; Noel C. Fry of Del Rio; Norm Rousselot and James Hunt, both of Sonora; Sid Harkins of Sanderson, Dan Davis of Uvalde, Wayne Rogers of Kerrville, James Leo Greer, Jr. of Rocksprings, Jeffrey Sutton, and Kenny Neal of Abilene.

Election results announced

Of the 2,659 registered voters in Crockett County, only 129 went to the polls Nov. 6, to vote overwhelmingly against the three proposed amendments. Crockett County Clerk David Weant said the election cost approximately $6 per vote locally.

Statewide voters approved Proposals 1 and 3, but turned down 2. The first proposal will give the Secretary of State authority to appoint notaries public and all correspondence will go through the state office rather than county clerks' offices as in the past. The second amendment, which failed, would have allowed the Legislature to oversee state agencies. Amendment 3, will allow the state to secure loans for qualified land purchases.

Locally, voters cast 46 ballots for #1 and 83 against; 44 went for #2 and 84 voted against; 54 cast ballots for #3 and 79 against. Precinct 1 had 44 voters; Precinct 2, 21; Precinct 3, 38, and Precinct 4, 14. There were 4 absentee ballots cast and 8 persons voted at the Power Plant

Public invited to program-

Historical Society to present slides

Ozonans will have an opportunity on November 26 for a quick look at many points of historic interest throughout Crockett County by means of a series of color slides to be presented by Mrs. Charlie Black, Jr. at the civic center beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The occasion will be a joint meeting of the Crockett County chapter of the Texas Historical Commission. It will be the annual meeting of the Historical Society and for the Historical Commission, its part in celebration of the Silver Anniversary of the Texas Historical Commission.

Mrs. Black accepted an assignment from the Historical Commission to make photographs of all the historical markers so far erected in the county, marking points of historical interest. Mrs. Black, an accomplished photographer, will have some interesting views of these spots with appropriate commentary. The general public is invited to the event.

Bill Baggett is president of the Historical Society and Mrs. R.A. Harrell is chairman of the Crockett County chapter of the Texas Historical Commission.

Established "for the purpose of providing leadership and coordinating services in the field of historical preservation," the THC has grown in size and in service. The agency acts as a clearinghouse for preservation information, sponsors educational and consultation programs, and publishes preservation related materials. It administers the National Historic Preservation Act on the state level and manages an archeological program designed to inventory, evaluate and preserve archeological sites. In addition, the Commission awards and writes inscriptions for official Texas Historical Markers and designates Recorded Texas Historic Landmarks.

County hospital board meeting

The Board of Directors of Crockett County Hospital met in regular session Thursday evening at the care center.

Hospital Administrator Edwin Kirklen reported Dr. Pat Dwyer had been in Ozona and informed him he planned to move here around Nov. 15, to open his medical practice. He told Kirklen his equipment had been purchased and would be shipped directly to Ozona. Dr. and Mrs. Dwyer have purchased a home in Crockett Heights. Work on the doctor's office in the clinic building has been completed.

Kirklen told the board about several areas of concern in the care center, including some deficiencies found by the State Department of Health. The deficiencies have been corrected, Kirklen reported, but a recent letter from HEW advised the hospital 24-hour RN coverage by February 15, 1980, was a must if Medicare and Medicaid certification are to be retained. Kirklen assured the board that every effort was being made to hire registered nurses.

Updating the accounting system at the hospital was discussed at some length. Kirklen presented some bids for a computer system for the facility with purchase prices running from $39,888.50 to $44,955.50. After some discussion, it was recommended that additional areas and avenues be examined.

Bills and financial statements of the hospital and care center were reviewed. Kirklen pointed out the hospital had enjoyed a very good month with an occupancy of 48%, and had only a slight loss of $6,020.91, which is down considerably from past months. The loss at the care center was also down to $7,989.

Mason services

Funeral services for James L. (Jim) Mason, 73, were held Monday at 2:00 p.m. in Ozona Church of Christ with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Mason died at 2:35 p.m. Saturday in Crockett County Hospital after a lengthy illness.

He was born July 5, 1906, in Kerrville. He was married to Rosa Lee Cox, Nov. 20, 1933, in Brady. He was a member of the Ozona Church of Christ.

Survivors include his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Della Mae Durham of Roswell, N.M.; five grandchildren; and three grandchildren.

In regular monthly meeting-

Court attends to County business

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met Monday with all members present and a full agenda. Several proposals were tabled for further investigation, but the court did vote to take the low bids on a pickup and truck for the road department, canvassed and approved the election results and passed a resolution prohibiting the shooting or handling of firearms at the dump ground.

Monthly bills were approved for payment and reports heard from the various department heads.

Von Parker introduced Richard Patrick, who discussed road striping with the court. He said his firm had done about 4-million feet of striping in the San Angelo area and offered thermo-plastic marking or conventional paint marking. He recommended the thermo-plastic marking. The cost is higher than conventional marking, but give longer lasting results. Prices range from 15c to 30c per foot. Patrick also told the court there is government money available for this work and he would look into it and report back. He also left an information booklet for the commissioners to study.

Parker told the court he felt it was necessary to center stripe all county roads in order to preserve them. He said people invariably drive in the center of an unmarked road, leaving the sides to grow up and the pavement die. If a road is marked, he claims, it is just human nature for a motorist to stay on his side of the road. He said approximately 90 miles of county roads need striping, plus some in-town streets.

Parker asked the four commissioners to give him an idea of where they would use their three miles of pavement in each precinct, to be completed next year. Stostenes DeHoyos had not decided for Precinct 1, B.W. Stuart designated the Bailey Road (north of Taylor Box) for Precinct 2; Jack Williams designated a portion of road between Jeff Owens and Amos Owens which would complete paving all the way to Hwy. 190, in Precinct 3; and Jesus Castro approved Miller Lane for precinct 4.

Bill Cooper, Mrs. Roy Alvin Harrell and Joe Everett, an employee of the Harrell Ranch, met with the court about the proposed donation of more land for the dump ground in exchange for a road off Taylor Box to the Harrell ranch house. Mrs. Harrell told the court she was only present as an observer, but the Harrells would insist that whatever agreement was reached must be done in writing.

B.W. Stuart, who had been appointed to look into the matter on behalf of the court, said investigation by the road department revealed the property offered was not useful for fill or dump ground use because of lack of dirt, but would be useful for junked car storage and fill had been offered from a caliche pit nearby.

The property offered was reportedly 500 feet running the length of the present dump ground. Bill Cooper, when asked, estimated that the present site with enough fill would last at least 25 years with the present rate of disposal, but it was hard to anticipate future needs.

Mrs. Harrell said she felt sure her people would not sign a contract for more than three years with an option, so she saw no point in discussing 25 years from now. She brought up the shooting of firearms at the dump ground which has become more a danger than an annoyance of late, and asked the court to pass a resolution and publish it in the Ozona Stockman, to the effect that persons bringing firearms to the dump grounds would be subject to prosecution.

Judge Johnny Jones said shooting firearms at the dump ground was the same violation as shooting on other county property or from public roads and was enforceable by county law enforcement officers. He also said the act was subject to the same fine and prosecution.

However, the full court passed and adopted a resolution to prohibit all shooting of firearms at the dump grounds and all violators will be subject to prosecution and fine.

Parker reminded members of the court the road in the agreement would cost around $10,000 and they might want to take this into consideration when signing a contract for a short period of time.

The court felt before any progress could be made a contract must be drawn up. They asked all concerned parties to get together with the Harrells and give them some kind of agreement to consider at the December meeting.

Some lengthy discussion was held on the Water District and the County Road Department billing each other for community work. Bill Cooper and Von Parker were asked to get together and

Accident fatal to 9-year old

A nine-year-old Arlington boy was killed near here Saturday afternoon when a camper-pickup overturned after a car it was towing broke loose. Two other children riding in the camper part of the pickup were injured. The accident occurred at 6:45 about 13 miles east of Ozona on I-10.

Kenneth John McGown died at 7:53 Saturday evening in Crockett County Hospital. Two other children riding in the camper with the boy were also injured. Teria Marie Nasset, 7, and Lisa Annette Nasset, 4, both of Arlington, were treated and released from the hospital.

The three children were riding in the camper part of a pickup driven by Floyd C. Jones of Arlington, which was towing a four-door sedan. The towed vehicle apparently began to whip back and forth and the driver overcompensated and ran onto the shoulder of the road. The towed vehicle broke loose and the pickup overturned.

NEW SIGN WELCOMES visitors to Lion Stadium. The sign was made by Karl Vancil's vocational agriculture classes and installed Friday at the stadium at the north end. The gold sign with purple letters carries out the Ozona school colors.

MEMBERS OF THE LOCAL VFW POST observed Veterans Day Monday by placing American flags on the graves of veterans buried in Lima and Cedar Hill Cemeteries. The post office and bank were closed in observance of the holiday. Otherwise there was no fanfare locally.

Comm. Court

Bids were opened for a pickup, a dump truck and a dump bed for the County Road Department at 11:00 a.m. Bids for a 3/4 ton pickup were received from Carlisle Motor Co., $7,475, and from L-B Motor Co., $7,400. On the dump truck bids included $11,749 from L-B Motor Co. and $10,646.98 from Carlisle Motor Co. The only bid on a dump bed came from Commercial Body Co. of San Antonio and was $3,080. The court accepted the two low bids on the vehicles and the one bid for the dump bed, provided all specifications were met.

The county's various maintenance departments were discussed at length with the judge asking the court to set up a policy to clearly define the duties of each. The only action to come out of this discussion was to cut the labor force at the cemetery, mostly due to the fact that the cemetery budget was used up in the first nine months of this year, and to declare the Parks Department should be responsible for all parks including baseball parks. Summer help will be hired each year for both.

Commissioner DeHoyos was appointed to inform Mrs. Jack Baggett, who is head of the Cemetery Association, and County Auditor Dick Kirby was appointed to instruct the cemetery foreman on the action.

The court agreed to split the cost of a radio for the Probation officer's car with Sutton County at the request of Tommy Lee, probation officer. Crockett County's part would be $750.

E.L. Kirklen appeared to give the hospital report. He reported Dr. Patrick Dwyer expected to open offices in Ozona around Nov. 15. He had been informed the doctor had ordered equipment and requested it be sent to Ozona, he also reported work at the doctor's office had been finished. County Clerk David Weant reported to the court the new doctor had registered with his office.

The election returns from the Nov. 7 election were canvassed and approved. It was decided to pay election clerks and judges $3 an hour and to pay judges $20 for bringing in the returns.

The Law Library fee, which is paid each time an instrument is filed at the County Clerk's office, was raised from $5 to $10.

believe in but never do anything about.

We, being a very small portion of the population of America, feel that other countries have dictated our future long enough.

We feel that it is time for Americans to take up for themselves and quit worrying about what the other countries think. America is suppose to be the "Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave." Through the years this saying is just that-a saying.

We think the government should take a positive and appropriate stand at this time to bring our citizens back home from Iran. Being that we get them back by military force or by arresting and imprisoning the Iranians that are now living in the United States.

How can you, our ruling government, permit the Iranians, who are not even citizens, to stage marches and demonstrations? Even here in Lubbock, when the Shah's son lived here we permitted them to march down our streets, tie-up traffic and let them pass out propaganda and a judge elsewhere said in so many words "Sure, let them do as they please."

We think the United States is in trouble now, but what shape will we be in a few months or years from now?

Give the Americans a chance. Don't worry about if the oil is shut off because we retaliate about our people in Iran. Chances are they would find something else to use as an excuse to shut the oil off.

Our forefathers fought hard for America and during the ages we have gotten soft and spoiled.

Let us go down in history as a Nation that fought and took pride in what we always had.

Dr. Dwyer certified by ABFP

Dr. Patrick D. Dwyer of Houston, has been named a diplomate of the American Board of Family Practice (ABFP) as a result of passing a certification examination offered by the ABFP. He is now certified in the medical specialty of family practice.

The intensive 2-day written examination is designed to prove the candidate's ability in the areas of internal medicine, surgery, obstetrics, gynecology, pediatrics, psychiatry and community medicine.

To qualify for the examination a physician must have successfully completed three years of residency training in practice. There are some 375 such training programs in teaching hospitals and university medical centers across the United States.

ABFP diplomates also must continue to show proof of competence in the field of comprehensive, continuing care of the family by being recertified every six years.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Voters approved two constitutional amendments last Tuesday and rejected one which would have authorized the Legislature to override rules made by state agencies on certain matters. Favored solidly were amendments changing the method of appointing notaries public and creating guaranteed loans for family farms and ranches. Boosters of the farm and ranch loan amendment were fearful that the low turnout in rural areas would defeat the proposal, but urban voters in Houston, Austin and Dallas-Fort Worth voted its passage. The bill's sponsor, State Rep. Luther Jones, D-El Paso, had traveled the state seeking editorial backing and was not disappointed.

Legalizing Aliens Gov. Bill Clements said he thinks the United States and Mexican governments will act soon to remove "illegal" from the term "illegal alien."

The reason: the large population of undocumented Mexican workers in the U.S.—estimated at 3 million—should be documented. Clements said he expects the aliens to be given visas or work permits for three, six, nine and 12 months.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TO: JAMES LEROY SAUERWEIN GREETINGS:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear and answer before the Honorable District Court, Crockett County, Texas, at the courthouse of said county in Ozona, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock a.m. of the Monday next after the expiration of 20 days from the date of service of this citation, then and there to answer the petition of BETTY JEAN ELLEDGE, Petitioner, filed in said Court on the 23rd day of October, 1979, against JAMES LEROY SAUERWEIN, Respondent, and said suit being number 4147 on the docket of said Court, and entitled "In the Interest of RICHARD G. SAUERWEIN, a child," the nature of which suit is a request to terminate the parent-child relationship. Said child was born the 28th day of April, 1971, in Conroe, Texas.

The Court has authority in this suit to enter any judgment or decree in the child's interest which will be binding upon you, including, but not necessarily limited to, the termination of the parent-child relationship, the determination of paternity, and the appointment of a conservator with authority to consent to the child's adoption.

Issued and given under my hand and seal of said Court at Ozona, Texas, this 23 day of October, 1979.

PHONE NEWS TO THE STOCKMAN.

They would be given a Social Security number, pay taxes, be protected under the law, enjoy municipal benefits, and be paid a fair wage," Clements said. Such documentation may also take the guesswork out of the problem of educating the children of illegal aliens, an issue recently complicated by a Justice Department brief charging the Texas Education Code is unconstitutional.

The code was amended in 1975 so that only citizens and legal aliens have the right to a free education in the public school system. It's the Texas practice of charging tuition to illegal aliens that is said to be unconstitutional, a matter under scrutiny with the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Special Session Postponed Clements is keeping legislators guessing again as to exactly when he will call his promised special session of the Legislature to pass his favorite bills. Last week Clements said he has ruled out next January and will call lawmakers back to Austin for 30 days in either March or September of 1980. Most legislators seem to be expecting a September call, right before the November elections. Since most incumbents are Democrats, a special session then would keep them busy in Austin while their Republican opponents are campaigning back home. And of course, any vote an incumbent might cast during the Legislature is a fair target for an opponent stumping back home. Clements, a Republican, has listed initiative and referendum, wiretapping in narcotics cases, and tax relief as his main subjects for a special session.

Radioactive Waste Low-level radioactive wastes from other states are accumulating in Texas because there is no place in the nation to store them permanently. Recent shutdowns of radioactive waste dumps in Washington and Nevada have caused the pipes to back up, so to speak, and about 2,000 drums of waste per month now arrive in Texas. Texas Health Department officials say the waste generated from hospitals and labs does not constitute an immediate problem; it may be stored from six months to a year. Last spring the Legislature defeated a bill which would have created a low-level radioactive dump in Texas because of the small penalty included for illegal dumping. Some Capitol insiders are now saying such a bill will crop up again in the Governor's Special Session. It may be needed to eliminate the waste already in Texas, and Clements long ago gave his approval for the creation of such a dump.

This week was a practice filled week for the band. The band went to Brady last Saturday. They left at 11:00 and performed at 5:15. This is the annual Marching Contest that is held every year by the U.I.L. The band received a 2 rating for their marching show. Congratulations! The 1980 annuals for next year went on sale November 7 and will go off sale on November 17. Anyone wishing to purchase an annual may do so from any annual staff member, but hurry, they're only on sale for ten days. It's getting colder now and football season is coming to an end. However, now OHS is moving into basketball season. This week the Fighting Lions will play their final district game against Sonora there at 8:00. Last Friday night the Lions lost their game against Kermit with a score of 35-0. Freddy Garza was injured in the third quarter and was taken to the hospital. Freddy suffered 2 sprained ankles and is now doing fine. Beat Sonora! The J.V. lost their last game of the season against Sonora with a score of 16 to 13. Harvey Huereca made the first touchdown with Will Mason kicking the extra point. Carlos Borrego scored the second one. The spirit awards for the Crane game went to Kim Bebee and Sue Ellen Black, given by the cheerleaders and Philip Zapata received the spirit mug given by the band. Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

As I have said before, to me Fall is our best season usually, week after week of crisp, mild days and cool nights, bright, clear skies and maybe days that bring rains. Anyway, we love the season changes each year, rather than one continuous cold or hot temperature, wet or dry days and months. Change probably is the most enjoyable thing about gardening. The seasons dictate the emphasis we put on planting, fertilizing, pruning, spraying, and cultivation. November is the time for finishing up and starting over again.

Now that the growing ends, and the dormant season begins with a new calendar of things to do, we should all be busy this month.

November is an ideal time to start helping our soils. First use the leaves that fall from the trees, and second, plant a cover crop in those areas where you have completed the fall harvest.

Leaves can be handled in a number of ways. The most common way is the compost pile. In your dug out or built-up pit, place a one foot layer of leaves, add a layer of compost activator, cow manure, or commercial fertilizer, then a layer of top soil. Wet down and then add another layer of leaves, fertilizer and soil. Continue until full or all leaves are used. Keep sprinkled through the winter if no rain. By spring you will have a pile of rich, black humus for flower beds or garden.

A short cut for leaf-pile the leaves over the garden then run a rotary mower back and forth over them until they are thoroughly ground up. Allow the leaves to lie on the soil until spring. Turn under about six weeks ahead of planting for a rich useful additive to your soil. After the first hard freeze kills the hardier annual and perennial tops, remove them to the compost pile for more humus. This is especially important when every type of insect seems to be more plentiful. Removing their overwintering homes will help in controlling them next year. A clean winter garden is not only much more pleasant to look at, but a healthier place for plants.

Duplicate bridge

Winners in Duplicate Bridge Club play Saturday afternoon at the Country Club were Mrs. Evert White and Mrs. Sidney Millsbaugh, first, and Mrs. Gene Williams and Mrs. John Childress, second.

Sunday winners were again Mrs. White and Mrs. Millsbaugh. Tied for second were Mrs. J.B. Parker and Mrs. Sherman Taylor and Mrs. J.J. Marley.

ITEMS FOR GIFT BAZAAR-Mrs. Steve Kenley's home was the gathering place for the Ozona Woman's League bazaar items Tuesday afternoon. The Bazaar will be held Tuesday at the Civic Center at 4 p.m. Meanwhile, potential shoppers may see items in the various business houses around town.

Hospital Auxiliary elects new officers

The Crockett Hospital and Care Center Auxiliary held a regular meeting on Monday, November 12, in the Care Center Day Room. Officers for the coming year were elected and installed and plans for activities of the auxiliary were discussed.

Officers are Liz Mary Pipes, president; Georgia Kirby, treasurer; Doris Karr, secretary; and Memorials Chairman is Beth Boyd.

All interested persons, both men and women are invited to become a part of the auxiliary and can get more information by contact-

Monday meeting for Garden Club

The Ozona Garden Club met Monday afternoon at the Civic Center with Mrs. J.B. Miller and Mrs. O.D. West co-hostesses.

A report on the District VIII Fall Meeting which was held in Coleman Thursday was given by Mrs. Lee Graves. Mrs. Charles Williams and Mrs. Bailey Post

Ms. Davidson hostess for bridge club

Mrs. Cuatro Davidson was hostess for bridge at the Country Club Thursday.

Winning high was Mrs. J.B. Parker. Second high went to Mrs. George Bunker and low to Mrs. Charlie Black.

Others playing were Mrs. Clay Adams, Mrs. Bob Bailey, Mrs. Larry Braden, Mrs. Billy Carson, Mrs. Dwight Childress, Mrs. John Childress, Mrs. James Dockery, Mrs. Joe Friend, Mrs. Arthur Kyle, Mrs. Beecher Montgomery, Mrs. Douglas Moore, Mrs. Hillery Phillips, Mrs. Jake Short, Mrs. Sherman Taylor, Mrs. Evert White, Mrs. Byron Williams, Mrs. Gene Williams, Evert White and Mrs. Jack Williams.

ing the president, Mrs. Herbert Pipes, Mrs. M.E. Nicholas, Activities Director at the Care Center, or any auxiliary member.

There is a special need for volunteers who are willing to do mending for the residents, read to them, or write letters for them. There are also some very good domino players who would welcome competition from some of the players in town. Just a visit now and then brings a great deal of pleasure to residents who aren't able to get out now and visit with old and new friends.

also attended the meeting. Mrs. Steve Kenley reported on the Fall Placement Show, a new project in which 80% of the club participated.

Mrs. J.W. Howell presented the monthly plant study on irises.

Others present were Mrs. Earl Berry, Mrs. Larry Braden, Mrs. Fleet Coates, Mrs. L.B. Cox, Jr., Mrs. James Haire, Mrs. Frank Justiss, Mrs. James Montgomery, Mrs. Bailey Post, Mrs. Glenn Sutton, and Mrs. Charles Williams.

Mrs. White hosts Fri. Bridge

Mrs. Evert White was hostess to the Friday Bridge Club at her home. High score award went to Mrs. Sid Millsbaugh, guest high to Mrs. Jake Short, low to Mrs. J.B. Miller, and tying for bingo were Mrs. George Bunker and Mrs. O.D. West.

Others attending were Mrs. Eddie Arnold, Mrs. Sherman Taylor, Mrs. Sterling Baker, Mrs. Hillery Phillips, Mrs. Eldred Roach, and Mrs. L.D. Kirby.

Thanksgiving services set for Tuesday

Ozonans are invited to attend the Annual Community Thanksgiving Worship Tuesday night, Nov. 20, at 7:30 p.m. at First Baptist Church.

Three Ozona pastors will bring messages, Rev. Nelson Lanham, pastor of First Baptist; Rev. Larry Droll, pastor of the Catholic Church, and Rev. Larry Bailey, pastor of Ozona United Methodist.

Host pastor Rev. Lanham says refreshments will be served following the service. An offering will be received and used to aid people of the community in special times of need.

Supper bridge meets

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Miller were hosts for the Supper Bridge Club at the Civic Center Saturday night.

Winning high score prize were Mr. and Mrs. L.B. Cox III, and low went to Mr. and Mrs. Dick Kirby. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kost won the bingo.

Others playing were Mr. and Mrs. Billy Carson, Mr. and Mrs. L.D. Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. O.D. West, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Wester, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Evert White, and a guest couple, Mrs. Arthur Kyle and Mrs. Buddy Russell.

Lt. and Mrs. Danny Wade of Del Rio were recent visitors in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Evert White.

Learn and practice sound feeding habits for infants. The idea that a fat baby is a healthy baby is a misconception.

The American Board of Pediatrics advocates the following infant feeding practices:

Infants should stop eating when they indicate they are ready to stop eating—not when the bottle or bowl is empty.

The infant should be breast fed or bottle fed the first six months. Breast-fed infants should receive daily supplements of seven mg. of ferrous sulfate or other high-bioavailable iron supplement, vitamin D (400 I.U.) and fluoride (0.25 mg.).

Feed bottle-fed infants commercially prepared, iron-fortified formulas. These require no supplements except for fluoride if the local drinking water contains none.

Evaporated milk formulas are satisfactory substitutes if daily feedings are supplemented with 20 mg. of ascorbic acid and seven mg. of iron.

Foods other than milk or formula are not recommended until the infant is five or six months of age. Use more frequent feedings of formula as the infant requires more calories instead of introducing cereal or other foods to help the infant sleep through the night.

Allergic disorders have been linked to introducing foods too early in the infant's diet.

During the fifth or sixth months, introduce and feed iron-fortified dry cereals until the child is eighteen months of age to assure adequate iron intakes. After cereal is well accepted, introduce other foods, commercially or home prepared, one at a time.

Introduce only one or two foods in the same week. Fruits or vegetables can be introduced interchangeably.

No evidence exists that supports the misconception that fruits before vegetables influences the acceptance of the taste of vegetables.

During this time, the milk or formula still supplies the protein.

The mother may continue breast feeding as long as 18-24 months, but she should include other foods by five or six months. Partially breast- or formula-fed infants need some foods high in protein.

As the intake of foods other than formula amounts to 200 mg. (seven and one-half to eight ounces) daily, homogenized, vitamin D-fortified whole milk may replace the formula. The amount of milk should not exceed 900 ml. (30 ounces) a day.

Low-fat and skimmed milk are not recommended.

When milk replaces formula, include a source of ascorbic acid or vitamin C (strained juices with vitamin C added or fresh or frozen orange juice--1.5 ounces).

Never feed juice by bottle. Feeding sweet juices by bottle can lead to dental problems.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED-Mr. and Mrs. Winston Koerth announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Carla, to Mr. Tony James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilmer James of Jal, N.M. The couple will be married December 2, in Faith Lutheran Church. He is an employee of McVean and Barlow and a graduate of Merton High School. The bride-elect is a senior in Ozona High School and will transfer to Jal High School at mid-term.

The Lighthouse Principle

Maybe few of us landlubbers ever thought about it, but those graceful old lighthouses were built on a firm and logical principle.

They assumed their light would be seen and understood. In fog ships did not see the light and many foundered on the shoals. Occasionally captains mistook the light for that of another vessel and sailing across its bow or stern they came to grief upon the rocks. Yet despite hazards of nature and blunders of man, lighthouses became the landmarks of our coasts.

Whenever in your travels, work or play, you see a church think of it as a lighthouse. Its gleam may not reach every soul. But it's there for those who see and understand.

It lights our way to port while keeping us off the shoals.

BAND BOOSTERS TO MEET THURSDAY

There will be a Band Booster Club meeting Thursday, November 15, at 7:00 o'clock in the Band Hall. All band member parents are urged to attend.

Hunting records help in deer management

What can a landowner do to improve deer quality on his property? Where have all the big bucks gone? Why are all the deer smaller than they used to be?

These questions and others are frequently asked by deer hunters and landowners, and there are no simple answers, says Billy Reager county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Changes seen in deer herd quality may be due to a variety of reasons. Whatever these may be, any management changes should be monitored to see if they are having the desired effects.

This is where records come in. The hunter and landowner are partners in deer management, and one important partnership element to determine the effects of management is a good set of records on animals harvested. Records kept on a year-to-year basis are valuable tools which the hunter can help provide, points out Reager.

While records need not be elaborate, certain items should be included to make the information useful. For example, all deer should be weighed. Usually weights are recorded on field dressed animals (internal organs removed). In addition to weight, the general body condition (good, fair, poor) should be recorded based on some predetermined criteria. Antler characteristics of males are important to note. For example, the hunter might record the number of points on each beam, circumference of the antlers at the base above the burr, and the inside spread at the widest point of the main beam. A small steel tape is all that is necessary to accomplish this.

Probably the most important information to record is the age of the deer, notes Reager. Without this, other data tell little about the input of management on a herd. We wouldn't know if we had young animals doing well on good range or older animals doing "fair to middlin'" on poor to marginal range.

Deer are aged on the basis of replacement and wear of jaw teeth (not on incisors or front teeth). A publication, L-782, "To Age a Deer," is available from the local county Extension office to help both landowners and hunters learn how to determine a deer's age. The agent has jaw boards and will be glad to assist ranchmen in making them one for aging. Once all information is gathered on harvested deer, data can be broken down by age classes and sex. For example, the hunter or landowner can see at a glance what the average weight of 1½-year-old bucks is and what the average antler characteristics are in that age class, the agent explains.

The agent has worked closely with Pen Baggett and Sonny Henderson in collecting this kind of data. By maintaining these and other records (deer density figures, range conditions, livestock stocking rates, brush control practices) hunters and landowners can accurately evaluate results of their management efforts on the deer herd.

Christmas program

A Christmas Program will be presented Thursday, November 15, 10:00 a.m. at the Civic Center. The demonstration will be presented by Doris Richards, Home Economist with West Texas Utilities Company. The program will include home decorating ideas, gift ideas, and new recipes for the holidays. Cookbooks will be available. The program is sponsored by West Texas Utilities Company and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Williams named trustee

Troy D. Williams, Ozona, district judge, was elected to the board of trustees of Baptist Memorial Geriatric Center during the annual meeting of the 2.1-million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas (BGCT) here Oct. 30-Nov. 1.

Williams, whose term expires in 1982, is a member of First Baptist Church, Ozona. The BGCT owns and operates eight colleges and universities, an academy, eight hospitals and four children's homes.

This work is supported by the Convention's 4,400 churches and missions, which will give more than $31 million this year through the Cooperative Program to help share Christ's love throughout the world.

Besides the institutions, the Convention helps support the work of more than 5,000 missionaries in the United States and 94 foreign countries.

Wade Garlitz and Helen McDaniel, both students at Trinity University, were here over the weekend to visit his grandmother, Mrs. Clay Adams.

Ozonans attend meeting

Debra Price, Beth Boyd, and Sam Emanuel attended a training meeting on "Designing Recreational Training Programs for Older Adults," in Fort Stockton. The training was presented by Don Buzzingham, Extension Recreation Specialist from Texas A&M University. Some excellent ideas and training materials were received at the meeting. Debra Price, explained the materials are in the County Extension Office and available as a resource for our community.

Sales tax rep. to visit Ozona

State Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his San Angelo office in Ozona on November 16, to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Steve Mercer will meet with local taxpayers in the Crockett County Courthouse Annex from 9:30 to 11:00 a.m.

"If Ozona area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing state tax forms, Mr. Mercer will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office, and we believe these face to face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added. The San Angelo office, headed by Thomas M. Goff, serves San Angelo and surrounding counties.

Calvary Baptist Revival

The Calvary Baptist Church of Ozona will hold revival services November 18-21. Evangelist David Garrett will lead the series of meetings. Rev. Garrett will be preaching and singing in each service. He has been in evangelistic work for a number of years.

Livestock reports now due

From mid-November to early January, many Texas farmers and ranchers will receive a crop or livestock questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service or will be personally interviewed by the Service's field staff. All of the estimates published by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service are based on the data provided by Texas farmers and ranchers, County Extension Agents, ASCS offices, and many others in agriculture.

This cooperation provides the necessary data which is, in turn, returned to farmers and ranchers and others in the form of accurate estimates, which are so essential in making the wisest production and marketing decisions. Each farmer or rancher receiving a questionnaire is urged to fill it out carefully and return it promptly to the Agricultural Statistician in Austin. Individual reports are confidential and used only for state and county estimates.

Crockett County Care Center News

by Joan Nicholas — Director of Activities & Social Care

First, I would like to thank the Senior Girl Scouts, Troop 189, and leaders Thelma Janes and Terri Adams for hosting a lovely birthday party for the November honorees: Sterling Baker, Ramona Lugo, Dolly Coates, Vera Miller and Floy Clare Short.

The first two named received congratulatory letters from the Governor of Texas on reaching ages 91 and 92 respectively. The girls lit candles on individually baked large and attractively decorated cupcakes; "Happy Birthday" was sung naming each resident personally; pictures were made, and the large cake, baked by the girls (I'd love to lay my hands on that recipe) was sliced and served with a delicious punch. The scouts visiting with residents on their special day were Cynthia Hartnett, Jennifer and Jacinda Marley, and Tami Adams.

Visiting family members were Shirley Kirby, Dorothy Millsbaugh, Mrs. Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Tijerina.

Mrs. Ray Baker has loaned a variety of easily made items for us to consider copying in crafts for gifts, or fun. Mattie Cooper brought a jar of popcorn, and Dorothy Jones gave us some artificial flowers for crafts or some of our other projects, and Martha Flores donated some make-up. We thank you all. Tuesday, a week ago, Ann Mayo and her daughter, Jan Robertson, treated residents to cake and punch during Bingo which was enjoyed by all.

Winners of the weekly bingo certificate (given by Watson's) and second prize were Gertrude Daniels and Vera Miller.

It was good to see W.T. Goodson visiting in the Center the other day. We always enjoy gentlemen to come and see everyone, particularly as our few gentlemen get lonely for a little male companionship in our world of women out there!

In reading and discussion we concentrated on Vic Pierce's two-part series about the 1929 Crash and Depression. This of course started many tongues wagging and how this particular time in American history affected each one. Evelyn Bryant described how she went to the bank to withdraw her savings accompanied by a girl friend, and the banker talked her out of it, but her friend took her money placing it down the front of her dress for safety. As Evelyn put it, she wasn't exactly blessed up front, and the money fell straight through and was lost forever! We also enjoyed Grit. We were happy to have Jessie Deaton and Della Tinsley with us.

On Tuesday I attended the quarterly meeting of our Activities Directors' organization and workshop. It was hosted by the nursing home in Sonora. Three staff members of the State Long Term Care Health Unit from Abilene and San Angelo were with us in the morning, and after a good lunch served in the home, Dr. Charles F. Browne, Sonora physician, addressed the group giving an informative program concerning physical and mental changes, effects, and/or reactions from various causes that we are in a position to note as we work with residents, and should report on.

We will be starting a new program, by request, for Spanish speaking residents to learn or add to their knowledge of English, very shortly. Don't know where I can fit this in, but I'll find a spot somewhere! One resident, Juana Hernandez, is very excited about this.

Our turkeys are out! They are nesting in beds of straw here and there; actually, it is some hay that Ranch Feed were nice enough to give me to help decorate.

Thanks to all for another good week.

LOCAL PHOTOGRAPHER ATTENDS WORKSHOP.—Mrs. P.L. Childress, III, was in San Antonio last week to attend the Donald Jack Workshop of Modern-Portraiture. Mr. Jack, the instructor, right, has received over 200 national merits from the Professional Photographers of America and holds the Master and Craftsman of Photography degrees. Mrs. Childress is co-owner with Chris Weant of the Cameras Two in Ozona.

Hunting brings good income

In the past ten years income from hunting enterprises has made dramatic increases year after year for participating landowners in Texas. Increased demand by the hunting public has made it a seller's market. Income from a hunting enterprise has become a significant portion of the annual income. This has caused more and more landowners to apply management to their wildlife resources.

Management of a wild population is a complicated system usually covering an extended period of time. It is complicated because it involves the landowner and it must conform to the legal limits of the state laws and in many cases the limits imposed by local governing bodies. Also, it must in most cases, be compatible with an established domestic livestock operation. The wildlife species that is most often subjected to management in Texas is naturally the biggest money-maker, the white-tailed deer.

Questions most often asked by the landowners are; what shape is my deer herd in? Do I have too many deer? Could I have more deer on my place? How can I improve the quality of my deer? These questions can all be answered, however, the answers won't come quickly nor easily. Conclusions can be drawn and recommendations can be made only after conditions such as the following have been determined.

1. What is the average body size and antler development of the deer herd on a particular ranch?
2. What is the buck to doe ratio of the herd?
3. What are the percentages of the various age classes in the herd?
4. What is the quality and quantity of the deer food plants available on the range?

How much competition for food is occurring between the domestic livestock and deer? The answers to these questions will give a landowner sufficient data to draw conclusions about his deer herd. How are these answers obtained? Body size, antler development and age classes in the deer herd can only be obtained from accurate records of the animals harvested. Each deer should be weighed, measured and aged at time of harvest.

The buck/doe ratio can only be determined from valid census data gathered each year prior to the hunting season. The quantity and quality of deer food plants and the competition between domestic livestock and wildlife can only be determined by close examination on the ground.

What are some of the standards to measure a deer herd against? 1. Fawns are born in a 50/50 sex ratio, 1/2 males, 1/2 females. 2. A white-tailed deer is not fully matured until it reaches 3 1/2-4 1/2 years of age. 3. The ideal buck/doe ratio in a herd is 1/1, however 1/2.5 or 3 is an acceptable ratio. 4. In Texas a healthy white-tail deer on good nutrition has the potential at maturity, to attain a weight of 100-140 lbs. for bucks and 90-120 lbs. for does. 5. Deer prefer to eat, first forbs and weeds, second woody browse and they eat very little grasses. 6.

usually economically feasible. Initiating a management program on a deer herd will not require a large capital investment. It will require the labor necessary to gather data during certain times of the year, and provide closer supervision during the hunting season. The cooperation of the hunter is necessary for a successful program.

A wildlife enterprise is no different from any other business. An improved product allows the producer to demand a higher return for each dollar of capital input.

Wildlife populations of large animals such as deer, generally do not deteriorate in a sudden crash. Declines usually occur over a period of years. After management is applied to a wildlife population such as a deer herd, it usually takes four to five years before a marked improvement in herd characteristics such as age classes, buck/doe ratios and the quality of individual animals can be expected. The Texas deer herd deserves the best management that can be provided. Good management can provide a better product that will bring added income to landowners and provide a better quality recreation to the hunting public for generations to come.

How to appeal an IRS audit

Fewer things cause more discomfort than the prospect of an Internal Revenue Service examination of your tax return. One of the most unsettling apprehensions is that the IRS holds all the cards—that you can only agree with the findings or make an ineffectual protest.

Of course, if your examination ends with no change or a refund to you (about 30-35% of audits are in this category), you'll probably think no more of it. But what if the IRS examiner proposes additional tax due, and you disagree? Writing the check is not your only alternative; you have the right to appeal the examiner's finding within IRS and even through the federal courts, or both.

Suppose your examination takes place in an IRS office. You may be able to settle the disagreement immediately by explaining your position to the examiner's supervisor. But if you and the IRS still can't agree, you have the choice of continuing your appeal through the IRS and, if needed, the federal courts, or you can go directly to the courts. Most taxpayers use the IRS system first. In 1977, for example, 54,000 out of 62,000 disagreements were appealed through the IRS and most were settled there.

Starting an appeal is not difficult. When you and the IRS disagree, the IRS will mail you a copy of the examination report explaining the proposed adjustments in your tax, and include a letter telling you of your right to appeal within 30 days and providing you with instructions on how to appeal.

An agreement form and a copy of IRS Publication 5,

"Appeal Rights and Preparation of Protests for Unagreed Cases" also will be provided.

If a written protest is required (not necessary if the amount in dispute does not exceed $2,500 or if the examination is conducted as part of the Individual Office Examination program or by correspondence), you must make it within the 30-day period granted in the letter. And remember that you may, at any time, decide to agree with the examiner's findings by signing the waiver form provided.

If you have decided to use the IRS appeals system, an Appeals Officer in your particular IRS region will arrange a conference with you at a convenient time and place. Conferences are conducted on an informal basis, but you or your representative should be prepared to discuss all disputed issues and present your views. Coming prepared will save the time and expense of more meetings. Chances are that you and the IRS will be able to reach an agreement here.

The IRS instituted a new appeals system in 1978 in which all taxpayers disputing a tax question would have a single administrative hearing before an appeals officer, who acts independently of the district office. The hearing officer now has full authority to settle a case regardless of the dollar amount involved, taking into account such elements as the hazards of litigation.

Boy's First Trip to Big City-----

Big City and Buffalo Bill

By V.I. Pierce

My Mother was sick practically all her life and was taken from one hospital to another and we took her to San Antonio from the ranch to Comstock. It was a 60 mile trip, and 60 miles is a long ways to drive one pair of horses to a hack in a day. We would leave the ranch about 4 in the morning and carry our dinner and a keg of water. We would stop at noon and eat and let the horses graze and then get on into Comstock. A train came through there going to San Antonio about 9 p.m., and we could make that train. The first trip I ever made, well I don't know whether I really said this or not, but we hadn't been gone very long until I wanted to get the job of opening the gates for the train. They never did quit kidding me about it. We got to San Antonio and had an electrical storm and all the lights were out. I had never seen a paved street before. The streets were paved with-they called them cobblestones-but looked like to me they were just sawed off pieces of round trees and tar put over it. We stayed at the Old Southern Hotel on Main Plaza and my Mother was in the Santa Rosa Hospital. My sister was going to school there at the time. She was in what they called Harrison's Female College-afterwards they changed the name of it to some Methodist School. I guess it's still there, isn't it? Trinity-and it was all new to me. I had never been to a city. One thing that happened, I had a bicycle and went from one bicycle shop to another. At one shop I saw a man selling some wire-stretchers in front of the Old Southern Hotel and they were the kind of wire stretchers that were like a brace and bit. Have you ever seen them, where you just crank it and it stretches the wire? Well, he had a whole bunch of them and he was demonstrating them. There wasn't anything to them, but like a brace with a hole bored through it. You just put the wire in there and turned it over and that twists the wire, and put a loop through it-very simple outfit. He said this was very easily made but that he had sent one man to the penitentiary for 3 years for infringing' on his patent. I never forgot how those things were made. I sat there and watched him. I have one at the ranch-still use it-made it myself.

Old man Birdwell from Wichita Falls, who was supposed to be about the biggest oil operator, individual operator, in the state, maybe the nation, and also a Hereford man, made several trips to the ranch and one day he was down there and was interested in everything. We were riding around looking at the cattle and we went by where a Mexican was tightening some wire over a water gap and he had the thing cranking it. He stopped and said wait a minute, said, "Where did you get that." I said that I had made it. "Where did you see it?" I told him when I was a little kid I saw a man in front of the Old Southern Hotel demonstrating them, and I never forgot it, and I made one of them. He said, "I'm that man!" He said that's the first job I ever had and said he sold the things for several years.

The Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, in 1910, came to San Antonio. It was not just a small bronco bustin' show like you would expect, but more like the circuses of today. With Buffalo Bill's reputation they had advanced agents that sold all tickets a month before the show got there. They had their own trains and stopped just on the edge of town where they had several railroad tracks. They carried everything-three or four train loads of it, and they had real Indians. In between the arena and the tents these Indians had Teepee Tents, and of course I guess it was for advertising, but they said most of them slept on the Pullman cars, and they had a lot of people with them, but said these Indians would take cold and die with pneumonia if they slept in something as close as a Pullman car.

We took it for granted that this was all advertising. To me it has been something that I have always remembered.

I don't know whether I can tell it like it happened or not, but Buffalo Bill was an accident! When they were killing all the buffalo in the 80's, well there was an editorial writer in the east that was clamoring for news of the west. Everything that happened seemed to be happening in the west, and he had decided that he would go west and find a man that he had heard a lot about-one that could kill more buffalo than any hunter in the west. These buffalo hunters, some one individual would finance the deal, and they would get some expert shots, they would go along and get a position where there were a lot of buffalo, probably kill a hundred in one spot. They had studied the habits of the buffalo until they would know which one to shoot first. Like the fellow that was killing the turkeys, you know he'd kill one behind all the time until he got to the first one-the others didn't know he had killed them. So, they had something similar to that in this buffalo hunt. There was a fellow, very much advertised, that he could kill more buffalo than anybody, and this newspaper man went out there to talk to him, and to live with him a while and get some stories.

When he got there, he found this fellow to be a little bitty ole hunchback, crippled-up fellow. He told him what he wanted and the little fellow said, "You don't want me, I've got a young man with me that can do anything I can do, and can do it better-can do anything. He's a natural, and he can kill more buffalo than I can, and he is just a young man-why he is the best Indian Scout in existence, and besides he's a perfect specimen of humanity. And he said, now we're goin' on a buffalo hunt and you can go with us."

So he went with them and he found out that this Buffalo Bill was a young man, and was just a natural. If he had been an athlete in the time of football he would have been an "All American."

At that time they didn't have movie actors to idolize in the paper, so this fellow went to writing these stories on Buffalo Bill, and was such a success and he made him such a hero that he had to quit hunting buffalo and go on the show circuit-the people wanted to see him so badly. Well then, some fellow in St. Louis decided that he would finance a show and call it the "Buffalo Bill Show," and go in partners with him. They did, and they made a lot of money. They went to Europe and the expenses of traveling over there, with all that equipment, broke them. When they came back here they didn't last but just a little while.

One of the last shows he ever put on was in San Antonio, the show I'm talking about. They had everything out at the edge of town, and they had an arena that was about, I'd say, the size of this race track that they use to have here in Ozona at the fairgrounds, about a mile probably in circumference. Their arena was enclosed with thick, heavy canvas on steel posts driven in the ground. Then they would have two more you would call pens, where they kept their livestock and other things. They had seats just about the height of this canvas and was probably seven or eight feet high. They started off with Buffalo Bill doing some shooting. He came out on the 'ole gray horse and he had a long gray beard. The way he sat on the horse, you'd know that he was a perfect horseman. Another fellow would lope in front of him and throw balls up in the air and Buffalo Bill broke them. Of course, I didn't know it then, but he was bound to have been shootin' with a shot. But he broke these balls all around this arena, then he did a lot of riding sideways, backwards and everything else on that horse. He kept shooting those balls, even with a shotgun-it was wonderful shooting.

In every act there was something to glamorize Buffalo Bill. They came out with a stagecoach and pulled up to a Wells Fargo building where they loaded the stagecoach. I wondered then why they were taking on passengers, but I found out afterwards that each one of the wheels on the stagecoach had steering gears on them. The passengers duty, after they got the stagecoach drawn by six horses on the run, was to guide the coach while circling. They had a driver and a shotgun man on top and those horses were really running, and then here came a bunch of Indians attacking the stagecoach, shooting with bows and arrows. These arrows I guess, had vacuum cups on them, they were sticking on the horses and the stagecoach. They went nearly all the way around that thing, and they were running. They weren't just loping along, they were running. Then here came the United States Cavalry after these Indians, shooting at them, and ran them off.

The next thing they had was a bunch of Buffalo that came out there. I don't know how they brought them out so fast, but they were really running. Then these Indians came out shooting them with arrows, and by the time they got around the Buffalos and Indians were really running and the Buffalos were covered with arrows.

The next thing they had, you've heard about the Indians that could take the mane of a horse and twist it and get on that side with just a knee hanging over the horses' withers and shoot underneath his chin-well, they had Indians doing that, shooting at the Cavalry with arrows and those arrows would stick on them.

I can't remember all the things they did, all of it was western stuff like that. They had a lot of Spaniards there that did things, but Buffalo Bill would come in between acts and do some shooting or something. To me that was the best show I ever saw.

4-H theme is energy saving

The Texas 4-H Congress on "energy" last July produced more than just a good time for 4-H'ers and their adult sponsors. Those attending came up with some basic no-cost energy conservation hints that youth and adults can use as winter weather approaches and energy demands increase.

For example, young people should walk or ride bikes to school or ride school buses instead of using the family car, points out Debra Price, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This saves gas and mom's energy. Electric hair care appliances and electric toothbrushes should be retired and air-dried, hand rolled hairdos and the "arm-strong" toothbrush should gain popularity. Turning off lights when leaving a room should become a reflex unless, of course, someone else is still using the light.

Two district 4-H groups actually recommend that youngsters could conserve energy by not only turning off the TV when not in use but also viewing fewer television shows.

As we move into the pleasant fall days, why not use the outdoors more? Try cooking on the grill, entertaining outside, (no need of lights or air-conditioners), or scheduling formal group meetings outside, suggests Debra Price.

When you are dressed appropriately for the weather and are practicing these conservation techniques, don't forget to give recognition to those young people who recognize there is an energy problem and are trying to do something about it.

Nancy Pride, 4-H energy assistant with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says, "If people became more energy aware, as many 4-H'ers have, substantial financial savings may result along with a reduction of wasteful uses of precious energy."

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay
Did you know that of all the 28 teams in the National Football League today, only 3 of them were in the league when it started?...Can you name them?...They are the Bears, Cardinals and Packers. All the other current NFL teams came in later.

What are the most games in a row any college football team ever won?...The all-time record was set by Oklahoma. They won 47 straight games between 1953 and 1957--and no other team has ever come close to that record in the 111 years of college football history.

Here's an amazing sports oddity...A pro boxing bout once lasted an incredible 7 hours and 19 minutes...Imagine 2 fighters slugging it out that long...It happened when there was no limit on rounds, in 1893, as Andy Bowen and Jack Burke fought 110 rounds in New Orleans...That's the longest fight in boxing history.

I bet you didn't know... L-B Motor Co. is ready to serve you by helping you when you need automobile parts or we have mechanics to keep your automobile or pickup in tip-top shape. When you are ready to trade for a new or used car we can provide you with the car of your dreams. Come by and look over our new Oldsmobiles, Pontiacs, Cadillacs, Buicks and Chevrolets. OZONA MAN RECEIVES JUSTICE AWARD-Roy Glenn Sutton, center, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sutton recently received a Department of Justice Special Achievement Award for his participation in a successful anti-smuggling operation involving the arrests of several smugglers and a large group of aliens traveling from Laredo to Chicago, Ill. The Laredo Anti-Smuggling Agents, of which Sutton is a member, conducted the longest mobile surveillance actions in the Immigration and Naturalization Service history.

As of Friday, Nov. 9, the federal government has essentially written off the domestic sheep and goat industry. That's the message incorporated in Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus' long-awaited announcement on predator control policy.

Andrus announced his decision effective Friday afternoon. Industry spokesmen, aghast at the tenor of the policy, were at the time of this writing still struggling to formulate a national statement adequate to express their amazement at this most recent example of gross bureaucratic stupidity.

Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' executive secretary Bill Sims, meanwhile, has called Andrus "completely unrealistic," adding, "we feel his statement is a direct contradiction of the Predator Control Act of 1931. There is little doubt if a program as he outlined is implemented, it will cause complete cessation of sheep production on the public lands. In Texas, which is primarily a private property state, this would certainly cause producers deep concern about whether or not they could continue to cooperate with the Fish & Wildlife Service on predator control."

The entirety of Andrus' position is still not available for review (his own F&WS people had not heard a word until advised by TS&GRA), but a summary from Interior headquarters calls for total cessation of all research into Compound 1080, prohibition against denning, further restrictions on the use of traps and aerial gunning, and a general emphasis on protecting rather than controlling predator.

Preventative control, for instance, will be limited to "specific situations where unacceptably high levels of losses have been documented during the preceding 12 months." Proponents of this approach have suggested that stockmen be forced to swallow losses of up to 10 percent of their entire numbers before receiving assistance.

The capsulation of Andrus' announcement calls for an end to lethal control entirely. Instead, the focus will be on forcing the livestock industry to adapt to predators instead of controlling predators to allow the survival of livestock. Not spelled out in the basic announcement but included in the environmentalists' demands from which Andrus' position has been copied are requirements that livestock owners follow federally-imposed husbandry practices. An even more outrageous violation of private property rights is an accompanying demand that livestock simply be outlawed from areas where predation is most severe.

It is safe to say, however, based on the information available, that Andrus has totally surrendered to the cult of ignorance fostered by environmental extremists. His policy, as delineated so far, is apparently lifted directly from the recommendations of the Council on Environmental Quality, even down to the precise order in which policy components were laid out.

One of the most disturbing aspects of the announcement is its outright ban on 1080 research. The rush to abandon study on the toxicant is an obvious admission that research is on the verge of exposing the truth about government-fomented lies relating to 1080's mythical secondary poisoning characteristics.

Unfortunately, the public will never know the true story of political manipulations on the subject, any more than they will ever learn about other socialistic, utopian attempts to undermine the livestock industry and, indeed, almost all other useful, productive enterprises.

ASCS asks emergency feed program for county

Due to drought conditions, the extremely poor nutritional quality of warm season perennial grasses and the absence of any winter grasses, forbs and weeds, the Crockett County ASCS Committee has requested the Texas State ASCS Committee to approve Crockett County for the Emergency Feed Program to be administered through the local ASCS Office.

If approved, ASCS will be cost-sharing the price of eligible livestock feed up to 50% of the cost, not to exceed 2c a pound.

In order to be approved, a rancher must be feeding an amount which is above his normal management and feeding operation. In addition to this, the pasture conditions on his ranch must be at least 40% below normal.

If a rancher feels that he is eligible, he should come by the Crockett County ASCS Office in Ozona and make an application. At the time of application, the rancher should have his livestock count and receipts for any feed he may have on hand at the time of application. The receipts must have the purchase date and be signed by the seller.

The objective of this program is to provide assistance to eligible livestock owners by sharing the cost of feed for eligible livestock when such feed must be bought in quantities above normal. The assistance is for the preservation and maintenance of livestock in any area of the United States.

This will help insure a more orderly marketing of livestock in order to keep down the boom and bust cycle which so often affects ranchers when droughts occur. The meat buying customer is helped by this because of the age old economic law of supply and demand which comes into play during times of drought.

Kermit downs Lions

Kermit rolled over Ozona to the tune of 35-0 Friday night and cinched the district 7-2-A title. The Lions will be in Sonora for the final game of the season Friday night. Crane fell to Sonora 14-6 last Friday night, so the title belongs to Kermit regardless of the outcome of Friday night's games between the Lions and Broncos and the Cranes and Yellowjackets.

Kermit won over Sonora in the first district game of the season and Crane downed the Lions. If Sonora prevails over the Lions Friday night and Crane manages to topple Kermit, the Broncos and Cranes will wind up in a tie for second place. Friday night will mark the end of District 7-2A, with the four teams going their separate ways in separate districts at least for the next two years.

A fumbled punt in the end zone got Kermit on the scoreboard early in the first quarter here Friday night, and a 50-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter gave them a 14-0 halftime lead over the Lions.

The third quarter was a defensive battle with neither team scoring, but Kermit broke it open in the fourth quarter for three touchdowns and the victory.

Kitty's Korner-

McGovern troops have flocked to his support. Next year will be interesting to say the least. If Kennedy manages to wrest the nomination from President Carter, we will see a rabid liberal in opposition to what almost certainly will be a conservative Republican. The voters in Massachusetts may return this man to the U.S. Senate term after term, but I don't believe the voters of America will elect a man with such a corrupt personal background to lead their nation. Yes, this should be very interesting.

Youth rally is Saturday

Saturday night, November 17, the Calvary Baptist Church of Ozona will host a Youth Rally for the Castle Gap Baptist Association. This group consists of churches from Big Lake, Iraan, Rankin, McCamey, Crane, Imperial, Sheffield and Ozona.

The program will feature a gospel music concert by David Garrett, evangelistic preacher and singer. Starting time is scheduled for seven o'clock. Following the concert there will be a time of fellowship and refreshments. A special invitation is extended to all junior high and high school students from Ozona. Admission is free and the refreshments, too.
