There is no art to headline writing, nor does it take any special expertise. It's sheer luck. The headline writer has a certain space which will accommodate a certain number of letters and spaces. He has several sizes of type to work with and other than that he's on his own. The headline is supposed to briefly tell what it's all about and fit the allotted space. Some days heads just fall into place with no effort whatsoever. Other days you can re-write a head fifteen times and if it fits, it doesn't make sense, or if it makes sense, it doesn't fit. No amount of practice or training seems to change these facts, so have pity on the poor headline writer the next time you spot something really strange.

There are some strange things going on with the telephones around here for the past week. If you dial the right number, you get the wrong number. This seems to be going on all over town and nobody knows the cause. It hasn't rained in months, so that's not the culprit. I have an idea the gremlins faded into the telephone system when we quit using the linotype, but I doubt anyone in official telephone circles would agree with that.

For several weeks we've been carrying stories written by Mr. Vic Pierce, and they have been so well received, he decided to put them all in a book, along with pictures. When he decides to do something, he really follows through. He arranged for Elmer Kelton, well-known western story writer, to write his book from material he furnished. As of Monday, he had already received the manuscript to proof. So the book will go to the publishers and copies will be available to the public in some five or six weeks from this date.

Mr. Pierce says the hard bound book with western designed cover will sell for around five dollars. It will contain several more stories than those printed in the Stockman. We will keep you informed on the book's progress. We hope to have an autograph party with Mr. Pierce signing the books sold in Ozona. However, with his speed he might have the entire first run of 500 books sold before we complete plans for the party.

It's several weeks before 1980, but the political pot is already boiling, around here as well as around the country. Unofficially, we understand Bill Mason will run for 112th District Attorney. Dixon Mahon, who has been D.A. for many years, will run for Crockett County Attorney. We received a press release from J.F. Urias, Fort Stockton attorney, that he will be a candidate for the D.A.'s post. Tom Stokes, appointed Crockett County Tax Assessor-Collector when that office was separated from the sheriff's office, has indicated he will be a candidate for that post in the Democratic Primary. Also, another appointee, David Weant, District and County Clerk, will file and run for that office in the Primary. Several other county offices will be on the ticket, including commissioners in two precincts. We've had so many commissioners elections, I can't remember which two are up, but I'm sure we'll be informed.

Coahoma wins tourney

Coahoma won the varsity division championship and Wall won the junior varsity division in Ozona's 46th Annual Basketball Tournament held Thursday through Saturday last week.

Coahoma also had the tournament's most valuable player in Phillip Ritchey. Named to the all-tournament team were Robert Morales and Charlie Barnes, both of Menard; Kevin Neihues of Wall; David Creek and Eddie Favila, both of Sonora; Derrick Looney and Curtis Williams, both of Stanton; Randy Morrison of Eldorado, R.J. Everett of Ozona and Ron Belew of Coahoma.

Man found hanged in jail

A Michigan state man was found hanged last week in Crockett County jail.

Candelario Agüero, 43, was brought in by Michigan authorities late Wednesday afternoon and placed in jail for an overnight stay. He had been picked up in San Antonio earlier the same day by Michigan law personnel.

Agüero was found hanged late that afternoon by jail officials. He had apparently torn a strip from a blanket and hanged himself in his cell. Unofficial cause of death was strangulation. An autopsy followed in Midland.

In the varsity division, Sonora took second place. Coahoma beat the Broncos 51-33 for the championship. Wall and Stanton played for third place with Stanton coming out on top 52-34. Menard won the consolation trophy by a 42-31 win over Eldorado. The host Lions were eliminated early in the tournament, going down 77-38 to Coahoma the opening night of the tournament and eliminated by Menard 65-52 in the consolation the following day.

The Ozona Junior Varsity got the second place trophy in the JV division after battling it out with Wall 64-42. Sonora JV downed Eldorado 56-33 for third place and the Big Lake JV won the consolation after a 53-17 win over Iraan. The MVP and all-tournament trophies were presented following the championship game Saturday night, along with the team trophies.

Poll shows 21st Dist. conservative

Congressman Tom Loeffler, U.S. Representative from the 21st District of Texas of which Crockett County is a part, released the results of a poll taken in the summer from residents in the district.

The questionnaires were tabulated and results released last week. Loeffler feels the poll has given him a clearer understanding of the positions taken by the residents of the 21st district. The questionnaire covered the economy, energy, national defense, foreign policy, education, domestic policy and U.S. leadership.

On U.S. economy, 71.8 percent favored a Constitutional Amendment balancing the federal budget, while 22 percent did not, with 6.2 percent having no opinion. In favoring a Constitutional Convention for a balanced budget, 62.6 percent were against with 26.9 being for, and 10.6 with no opinion.

In a multiple choice question asking what areas respondents would lower spending in an effort to balance the budget, foreign spending was the choice of 81.6 percent of those being polled, followed closely by government spending with 77.7 percent. Social services came in for 65.8 percent voting for cuts. Cuts in defense spending received the lowest rating with only 7.9 percent voting for.

Of those polled, 54.5 percent expects the nation to experience a mild depression this year while 23.8 expects a bad recession. 21.7 percent expect things to remain the same or had no opinion.

Deficit spending by the Federal Government was thought to be the primary cause of inflation by 79.9 percent of those polled. Labor wages received the next highest rating with 60.1 percent.

A total of 51.8 percent said revenue sharing should be discontinued completely, while 20.9 percent thought it should be continued to state and local government.

On energy, 82.3 percent of those polled felt private business would be better able to provide the country with sufficient energy than the federal government. Only 12.9 felt the opposite.

Windfall profits was considered bad by 64.3 percent and good by 23.7 percent.

Coal should receive the highest priority in future energy supply, those polled said. Coal was followed with Solar, Synthetic, Oil and Gas decontrol, in that order. Nuclear, Geotherman, Wind and other, followed in that order.

Of possible energy options in the future, 46.5 percent preferred higher price with adequate supply and 45.4 percent wanted more conservation, and shortages but restraints in price increases.

On defense, 70 percent of those polled felt U.S. military preparedness is inadequate and defense spending should be increased to prevent Soviet superiority. A total of 16 percent felt current defense is adequate. Ten percent felt defense is more than adequate and spending should be reduced.

In the area of military manpower levels, the majority, 39.4 percent, felt the U.S. should reinstate peacetime classification, in addition to registration and a 44.1 percent thought any steps should include women as well as men.

Considering the SALT treaty, 49.1 percent of those polled felt the treaty should be amended to make it more favorable to the U.S. then ratify it. 9.4 percent felt the treaty should be ratified, while 31.7 thought the senate

Final meeting of year-

Commissioners in routine meeting

The Crockett County Commissioners court met in regular session Monday with all members present. A brief agenda and routine matters allowed the court a short meeting for the final session of 1979.

Bill Savell met with the court to ask that something be done about county roads, reporting roads in such bad shape vehicles were suffering damage just by driving them over the roads in their present condition.

Von Parker, road department head, told Savell and the court the only solution to road conditions will be rain. He said without rain it was impossible to keep the roads in good condition. He said to keep all roads in shape would require another complete crew and many more water trucks, which would increase the county budget to unreasonable limits.

Parker said working the roads now would only make bad matters worse, mainly because they would have to be watered ever few days to avoid making dust beds of them.

Bill Cooper of the Crockett County Water Department appeared before the court and discussed with Parker cooperation between the two county services in the matter of billing. It was decided there will be no charges for services between the two departments, but the road department will pay for water used in road work. Sammie Pierce presented plans for a hanger at the airport, which Joe Pierce and Dennis Clark wish to build. As plans met with specifications, the hanger was approved.

After hearing a report on the new IBM copying machine requested by the County Clerk's office, the court approved the purchase. The Xerox machines now in use will be replaced with the IBM. The cost of copying goes up to 20 cents a copy effective this month.

Bids on a tractor and blade for the road department were opened. Several bids from San Angelo and Odessa were received. The low bid of $6,400 from Lawn and Leisure Equipment of San Angelo was accepted. It is a complete John Deere outfit with a 10-day delivery.

Some discussion was held on county retirement. It was decided to accept a plan which would divide benefits about equally between older and younger employees of the county.

The court asked the county attorney to look into the lease on the fair grounds and determine if the county is entitled to any damages for the well which was drilled on fair ground property.

The court voted to transfer $50,000 to the hospital and $25,000 to the care center to carry them for the rest of the year.

E.L. Kirklen, hospital administrator, requested a posting machine for the hospital which would ease the load of the bookkeeping department. He was instructed to get several estimates and present them at a future meeting.

The hospital salary schedule was discussed. Kirklen was instructed to purchase a stove for the hospital kitchen.

The court agreed to cancel the financial agreements made with Dr. Owensby as of January 1, 1980, and re-establish janitor services for the doctors if desired.

Dudley McCary reported work on the 4-H barns and rest rooms going well and the ambulance sheds and store-room for the hospital finished.

Water Dist. Election set

Kicking off what will be a busy election year, will be an election for two directors for the Crockett County Water District Saturday, January 19, 1980.

Directors whose terms are up include Lowell Littleton and J.W. Johnigan, both of whom have filed for reelection. The filing deadline is December 30, 1979.

Absentee voting begins January 9 and ends January 15, and will be held at the Water District office. On election day, voters will cast ballots in the law library on the ground floor of the courthouse.

Santa to visit Ozona

Santa has scheduled his pre-Christmas visit to Ozona. He will be picked up at the airport by an Ozona fire truck and be transported downtown, where he will set up shop between the courthouse annex and the courthouse.

Santa is supposed to arrive shortly after school classes dismiss for the holidays Friday, Dec. 21. He will visit with children and pass out bags of candy before returning to his workshop at the North Pole.

Santa's visit is sponsored jointly by the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department and the Ozona Lions Club.

TREATY DECISION A GOOD ONE

By Edwin Feulner

It is not often that reason and logic win out over politics. So chalk one up for Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) and the able attorneys at the Washington Legal Foundation, who came away victorious in the first round of their lawsuit challenging President Carter's decision to terminate America's defense treaty with Taiwan without seeking Senate approval.

The President announced his decision on December 15 of last year, calling termination of the 25-year-old defense pact a necessary step in the "normalization" process with Communist China.

Senator Goldwater and two dozen House and Senate colleagues quickly filed suit, claiming that the President can not unilaterally cancel a treaty any more than a President, with a simple stroke of his pen, can enter into a binding treaty.

The Constitution is very clear on the matter, saying that the U.S. Senate by a two thirds vote must concur in the making of all treaties.

Armed with both the logic and language of the Constitution, a brilliantly persuasive case was prepared by attorneys at the non-profit legal foundation, one of the country's new-breed of conservative public interest law firms.

And on October 17, word came from the chamber of U.S. District Court Judge Oliver Gasch that the judge had ruled in favor of Senator Goldwater and his colleagues.

In his decision, Judge Gasch said that one thing was clear: that in order to alter the basic law of the land, a President needs the approval of Congress. Since treaty termination is somewhat a gray area, the judge offered two courses the President could have followed.

1) He could have sought the approval of two thirds of the Senate, as he must in entering into a treaty commitment; or

2) He could have sought the approval of a simple majority of both Houses of Congress, as he must in seeking to repeal any other law of the land.

The President, of course, chose neither, opting instead to act as a majority of one.

"The important point is that treaty termination generally is a shared power, which cannot be exercised by the President acting alone," the judge wrote. "Neither the Executive nor Legislative branch has exclusive power to terminate treaties."

"At least under the circumstances of this case — involving a significant mutual defense treaty with a faithful ally, who has not violated the terms of the agreement, and the validity of which has not otherwise been destroyed — any decision of the United States to terminate that treaty must be made with the advice and consent of the Senate or the approval of both Houses of Congress. That decision cannot be made by the President alone."

Judge Gasch's decision came none too soon, since the treaty was set to terminate on December 31.

The next step is up to the court of appeals, which began its deliberations on November 13. We'll keep our eyes on this one, since it is sure to land squarely in the lap of the Supreme Court. It will be the first time in 200 years of Constitutional history that the federal courts have been called upon to rule on this question.

In the meantime, you can be sure the issue will heat up again in both the House and the Senate.

(Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public research organization.)

This is it folks, the count down has already begun. It's only 13 days until Christmas! The annual Christmas dance is coming up Saturday. We hope all of you guys got a date so all of us girls can go. The Lions Roar is dedicating this week's column to Santa Claus. This week we are putting the letters to Santa Claus that were written to him by the students in OHS.

Christmas Eve. Bye!
Love,
Rea Lynn D.
P.S. Give my regards to Mrs. Claus

Dear Santa Claus,
I've been real good(???) this year, so I want a bunch of presents. Mostly a mechanical doll that is 6'2" and has blue eyes, blonde hair, and a big smile. Also I want to know how to ski real good so when I go skiing at Christmas, I won't kill myself so that I will be around so you can bring me something new next Christmas. My little (big) sister has been good too, and if you don't bring me these things, she said that she'd make it so nobody else got any presents from you either. I guess you know what that means.

I've been good and lots of love,
Jennifer M.

Dear Santa,
I want lots of things but what I really need is an elf to do my Geometry homework because I stay totally confused. In class I never know the answers and then I get embarrassed. Thanks a lot!
I love you,
Gail H.

Dear Santa,
All I want for Christmas is a girlfriend, a new car, and a way out of Typing II!
Your favorite juvenile delinquent
Dave Z.

Dear Santa,
Me and my friend want two baby alive dolls and we have been real good girls. We also want two cars. I want a Z-28 and my friend wants a Trans Am. Well, I guess that's all. We will have cookies and milk for you!

Love you,
Leti T. and Yvette M.
P.S. We saw you at the Mall in San Angelo.

Dear Santa,
I would like a toy truck and a gun. I've been a sweet little boy as always.
I love you Santa,
Kelly B.

Dear Santa,
I want a new pair of basketball shoes. Please send me a new sense of humor also!!
Love,
Gay B.

Dear Santa,
I want my two front teeth for Christmas--this time without the wires.
Thanks, Glenda C.
P.S. Throw in some molars too.

Dearest Santa Claus,
For Christmas I would like a better brain! So then I could discuss matters in Civics with Mr. Moore along with Gregg P. and Jody N. I also need a new MEAN Vega but instead of an orange stripe, could you make it green this time?! Well I guess that about rounds it up for me this year. See you

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The Iranian hostage crisis was brought closer to Texans last week when the Shah moved to Lackland AFB in San Antonio to recuperate from his medical problems.

His temporary residence here brought strong reactions from several groups, as one might expect. Iranians living in San Antonio, immediately applied for a demonstration permit in that city—they wanted to protest the Shah's asylum in the U.S. by marching around the gates of Lackland San Antonio officials denied the permit.

Gov. Clements also stirred up a bit of controversy with his welcome statement to the Shah. The governor said the state wouldn't tolerate any demonstrations, pro or con. "Out-of-state agitators will not be tolerated, and I have already so directed the DPS."

Following reactions by some citizens that the governor's ban might be an infringement on the Bill of Rights, Clements clarified his statement, saying the state wouldn't tolerate any violent demonstrations.

His warning may have deterred several Ku Klux Klan groups who had planned to meet the Iranians outside Lackland. As of last week, no violence was reported in connection with the Shah's residency.

The Texas Republican Executive Committee officially passed a resolution endorsing the deportation of Iranian students who endorse "actions of an enemy of this country."

Carter Visit Cancelled
President Jimmy Carter did not come to his Austin fundraiser because of the Iranian situation, but he sent several Texans in his administration. In attendance were Robert Strauss, chairman of the Carter-Mondale campaign; Energy Secretary Charles Duncan; Labor Secretary Ray Marshall; U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen; and Sarah Weddington, assistant to the president.

Also on hand were Special Mexico Ambassador Bob Krueger, Lady Bird Johnson, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, House Speaker Bill Clayton, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong and Treasurer Warren C. Harding.

Oil Spill Bigger
The runaway oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico still has not been capped, witnesses told a U.S. Senate hearing last week.

Texas officials now fear that the oil tar which blackened Texas beaches last summer will return this spring with prevailing Gulf of Mexico currents.

The Ixtoc I well that blew out June 3 has been gushing between 30,000 to 100,000 barrels of oil daily, the Senate committee was told.

State Surplus Dispute
Clements and State Comptroller Bob Bullock have different versions of the amount of money available in the state surplus. Clements said last week there is a "several hundred million dollar surplus" which will be available for his plans for tax relief in two years.

Bullock contradicted his optimism, saying he sees no windfall surplus over the next biennium. "We're going to be lucky to fill our own cup," Bullock said.

Bullock said a $300 million surplus would be his top dollar guess, and that two-thirds of that is dedicated by the appropriations bill.

Texas Nuclear Waste
House Speaker Bill Clayton came out in opposition to storing nuclear wastes in Texas and said the issue may be one of the "hottest potatoes tossed into the hands" of the officials who may select such a dump site.

Clayton said he didn't think much of State Sen. Babe Schwartz' recent idea of building a nuclear waste dump somewhere in West Texas.

He also said last week the 1981 Legislature will take a hard look at tenure for college and university professors in Texas.

Tenure gives professors, in effect, a lifetime contract if they satisfactorily complete a trial period. Opponents of tenure believe such guarantees stifle academic competition and allows teachers to become complacent and lazy.

Of those polled, 45 percent felt the U.S. should lift trade sanctions against Rhodesia, 28.3 were against and 26.7 had no opinion. On Middle East peace, 44.9 thought the U.S. should continue its present role while 37.4 percent felt the U.S. should stay out of all future negotiations.

In the field of education, 67.2 percent favored tuition tax credits for students attending college while 29.3 percent did not. In other categories, 75.3 percent were against impact aid to local schools and 15.1 were for. 88.4 percent thought the local school system should have more authority than the Federal government while 8.5 did not.

In the field of agriculture, 38.4 percent felt the Congress should have more restrictions on beef imports while 49.2 felt it should not. On increasing parity supports, 64.5 percent said "no" while 21 percent said yes. Over 50 percent thought Texas land should be prohibited from sale to foreigners and a full 76.3 percent felt farmers and ranchers should be allowed more freedom to protect their lands and herds from predators.

On Domestic policy, an overwhelming 75.3 percent were against a national health insurance program. On help for persons deemed "unemployable," most approved providing tax incentives for private businesses to encourage training and employment. On Social Security, the majority, 43.1 percent, were against reducing Social Security taxes. The majority also said all public employees, including federal workers, should be included in the Social Security system, 58.7 percent to 37.2 percent.

The percentage against gun control and restrictions was 59.6 to 46.9. Taxpayer funding for candidates ran 74.6 against with 17.9 giving approval.

On the subject of illegal aliens, a big majority thought Federal laws should be passed making it illegal for an employer to hire illegal aliens, favored documented worker status and felt the federal government should be more strict in enforcing current controls.

In general, 82.6 percent said they had lost confidence in the Carter Administration rather than the nation; 85.6 percent expected a new president to be elected in 1980, but only 59.6 percent thought a change in Administration would solve the nation's problems.

Tips for Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Baily Post

As usual our December weather is very unpredictable, so this is a good month for spading especially now that our soil is not wet. Turn in the large cloddy chunks which mean large cracks, so the deep freezes reach well into the earth to do their mellowing and texturing work, and to kill insects. The gardener who does much spading will have the best soil in town. Later add your compost, manure and fertilizer and spade well again.

Since we haven't had a good hard rain to wash the dust etc. off the trees and shrubs, and now that it is time to gather holly or other evergreen branches, you may want to use this recipe for cleansing and brightening the greenery. Lay out and connect the garden hose and nozzle for action. Then in the pump-up sprayer put tepid water and enough detergent to make a soapy solution. With this solution spray the holly, yew, etc. bush that will supply the greens, top to bottom. Before the spray dries, hose it off. This removes all the scum of air pollution that has dulled the leaves, twigs and fruit. After the plant dries prune off the now glistening branches you want for decorating, split the stems, and put them to soak in water indoors. This method leaves most of the mess outdoors and cleans out the sprayer. Oil it afterward though, because detergent takes all the oil out.

Another method is to submerge the branches of evergreens in tepid water for at least 24 hours. This will hold their freshness for almost two weeks and some longer. Pine cones, sweet gum balls, seed pods of many plants such as redbud, will add a natural touch to the glitter of commercial Christmas decorations.

Go by the museum if you want to see a beautiful wreath made by Mrs. Lee Graves. The dried material is our native artemisia, zinnias and grasses.

This year you may have learned some new things, too. Keep these experiences for the future because seldom are two years the same in our area.

The sperm whale has the largest brain in the animal kingdom—a brain that has been weighed at more than 20 pounds, seven times greater than that of a human, says National Wildlife magazine.

Garden Club luncheon

The Ozona Garden Club met Monday at the Inn of the West for a Dutch treat luncheon.

Mrs. Glenn Sutton presented the monthly plant study on Iris.

Guests attending were Mrs. Roy Alvin Harrell, Mrs. Dwight Childress, Mrs. Deene Holden, Mrs. Cheryl

Window greenhouses give a new, exciting "lift" to plants and home decor.

They're emerging as one of the most colorful, popular window treatments since traversing draperies.

"Sprouting up" in bathrooms, kitchens, dining rooms and utility rooms, the window greenhouse is a cross between a bay window and a miniature greenhouse.

They also make an eye-catching focal point for a non-descript living space—if you make sure they feature small-scale plants in colors and containers that blend or harmonize with other elements in the room.

Design-wise, most units resemble half a glass box with a slanting roof.

They come equipped with adjustable shelves, screened vents and a tray for water and pebbles at the bottom.

Greenhouse windows are far more than good places to grow plants.

They're showcases for healthy, well-groomed plants, and they enhance both the interior and exterior appearance of houses, apartment buildings and mobile homes.

CRUSE FAMILY IN CONCERT TONIGHT

The Cruse family will be in concert at First Baptist Church tonight at 7:30. The public is invited to attend. A nursery will be provided for young children.

The popular gospel-singing family has been in Ozona many times and the entire community has enjoyed the performance of these family members.

Clayton, Mrs. Sadie Whitehurst, Mrs. W.T. Stokes and Mrs. George Cox.

Others present included Mrs. Earl Berry, Mrs. Larry Braden, Mrs. Bailey Post, Mrs. Steve Kenley, Mrs. George Bean, Mrs. O.D. West, Mrs. Johnny Hokit, Mrs. Frank Justiss, Mrs. A.S. Lock, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. James Montgomery, Mrs. Fleet Coates, Mrs. L.B. Cox, Jr., Mrs. Lee Graves and Mrs. J.B. Miller.

Debra Says

New-home builders aren't their only customers, either. Remodelers and renovators of older homes are eager clients, too.

Because window greenhouses let light into a room from top, front and sides, they create a spacious "outdoor feeling," even in small rooms.

All of these decorating advantages make their uses almost limitless and their popularity ever-growing.

In deciding on location for a greenhouse window, think "outside" and "inside."

Outside, select locations where plants won't cook. A poor choice, for example, would probably be the home's west side, if that side is unprotected from the hot afternoon sun.

Inside, look at the kitchen, bathroom or utility room as strong possibilities.

Location over a sink in the kitchen or utility room is ideal for both the plants and the worker.

Additional light helps in doing work at the sink, while extra humidity from the running water will benefit the plants.

When privacy is a factor, the greenhouse can be covered as any other window since it projects from the outside, so don't let that interfere with your location choices.

Decoratively speaking about location, treat a greenhouse window as part of the room's overall design.

Its location should balance with the furniture arrangement.

Its presence should enhance the total room.

Kitten up a tree

Puffy has a problem. She's much better at climbing trees than she is at getting down again. Usually someone has to get a ladder and bring poor Puffy back to earth.

People share Puffy's problem. Their fears are forever driving them to do what they can't undo. They run away from reality only to wish they hadn't. We have even coined the idiom "up a tree" to denote the dilemma of a situation from which we cannot free ourselves.

With people, it takes more than a ladder to solve the problem.

Through the centuries men have found Faith an answer to fear. Our churches cultivate courageous Christians. For with confidence in God comes confidence in ourselves.

The man who knows he's never alone doesn't run away.

Loeffler receives appointment

Congressman Tom Loeffler has been appointed to the House-Senate Conference Committee which will be considering the Energy Mobilization Board, one controversial element of the President's broad energy package submitted to the Congress. Loeffler is the only Freshman so appointed, not usually the practice in appointments to conferences. The Conference Committee has set no date as yet when it will begin its deliberations.

Weather is key to winter pastures

How much winter pasture stockmen will have available for livestock grazing in the weeks ahead will depend on three key factors--sunlight, temperature and moisture.

And the way things are going so far, at least one of these factors--moisture--has been at a deficit and has kept production down.

"Winter pastures are generally poor over the state due to the dry fall weather," points out Don Dorsett, a forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "This will put more pressure on stockmen to feed their herds more or to cull heavier."

With winter approaching, the odds for substantial growth from winter pastures continues to decline due to sunlight and temperature factors. Winter means shorter days and less sunlight for plants to make their own food for growth. Cloudy days during winter further restrict plant growth, explains Dorsett.

Temperatures also will be dropping in the coming weeks, thus restricting plant growth. Severe winter temperatures will stop plant growth completely and may even cause freeze damage. Milder winter temperatures would allow pastures to make normal growth, but again, sunlight and moisture must be present.

"Livestock producers need to look at sunlight, moisture and temperature factors in gauging the grazing potential of their winter pastures in the weeks ahead," points out Dorsett. "If weather conditions are favorable for growth, and if adequate amounts of fertilizer have been applied, then winter pastures should provide high quality grazing. This would take the pressure off supplemental feeding and culling of cow herds."

House operating costs up

Costs for operating a new home rose five percent faster than the new-home-buying costs over the past 10 years, says Dr. Jane Berry.

Citing a report by a major title insurance company, she says operating costs rose 140 percent, while home-buying costs rose 135 percent.

Dr. Berry is a housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Surprisingly enough, the smallest single increase in operating cost was heating and utility cost," she says.

"This 123 percent increase likely reflects the improved energy efficiency of new houses."

Operating costs for maintenance and repairs spiraled to a 181 percent increase--the highest increase in operating costs, Dr. Berry added. Monthly cost of operating a new home in 1968 was $90.

By 1978, the cost rose to $223 per month.

During the same 10-year period, the average price for a new home climbed from $26,600 to $62,400. Operating costs include real estate taxes, maintenance and repairs, insurance and heating and utilities, the specialist said.

Control personal inflation

Feel poorer in spite of earning the highest income of your life?

You're not alone--and there is something you can do about it, says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist.

One reason we feel poorer comes from the tax squeeze, she says. "Inflation has helped push our incomes to higher levels, but because of the way our tax system works, our wage-increase dollars are taxed at a higher rate than our pre-wage-increase dollars," she explains.

"And changes in the social security laws also take a bigger bite than they did before."

Controlling personal inflation involves choice-making, Mrs. Granovsky says.

How we spend our after-tax dollars is the key, she stresses.

One thing we can do is fight the rate of inflation. For example, if prices increase at the rate of 1.1 percent each month, consumers can:

1. Cut back spending by 1.1 percent.
2. Substitute for--or change-- the mix of things you buy so your total bill is 1.1 percent less.

3. Don't change anything, but pay 1.1 percent less through careful buying.

4. Find alternative, non-economic means of satisfying your needs.

Fighting the rate of inflation will take specific "impact" steps, Mrs. Granovsky says.

Here are five "impact" steps to accomplish some of the four plans listed above: Use credit prudently, not for spreading out the cost of everyday living.

Unpaid charge accounts take an added 1.5 percent per month from your spending money.

Some merchants may be willing to give a five-to-seven percent discount to cash-paying customers.

Save five cents on every dollar you spend for a total five percent savings.

Coupons for food purchases can save money if the price does not exceed that for another product of similar quality.

Buying on sales can show dramatic results, if the items meet real needs, not imagined needs.

A 20 percent markdown can mean important savings.

Drive fewer miles for sure savings on gasoline. Carpool with someone to cut gas bills. Plan shopping trips carefully before driving--to cut down total miles. Set realistic personal goals for trimming down the miles you drive.

"Economizing doesn't mean sacrificing our quality of life," Mrs. Granovsky stresses.

"It simply means more effective use of the resources we already have."

Est. tax installment due soon

Corporations having expected tax liabilities of at least $40 for 1979 and operating on a calendar year tax basis must make a payment of 1979 estimated tax by Monday, December 17, 1979, the Internal Revenue Service said.

The amount of the payment can be computed on Form 1120-W, a worksheet for computing corporation estimated tax. This form should not be filed with the corporation's records.

When the payments are deposited in authorized commercial banks or Federal Reserve Banks, they must be accompanied by Federal Tax Deposit Form 503, the IRS said.

Supplies of Form 1120-W and a helpful pamphlet, IRS Publication 542, "Corporations and the Federal Income Tax," are available free from local IRS offices.

Ear problems and air travel go together

Ear problems and air travel go together, but there are helpful "do's" for unblocking ears, says Carla Shearer, a health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

1. Swallow--to equalize pressure. Chew gum or eat mints so you'll swallow more often.

2. Yawn--for the same reason.

A word to the wise: Descents are dreadful for sleepyheads--since slumbering passengers cannot swallow enough to keep up with pressure changes.

3. A more powerful way to ease pressure--if swallowing or yawning won't work--requires caution and care.

Here it is: pinch your nostrils shut, take in a mouthful of air and force the air into the back of your nose, using only your cheek and throat muscles.

Do not use air from your lungs or diaphragm.

4. If you still have problems after landing--or if the pain persists, you may need to ask the help of a physician experienced in the care of ear disorders.

Child's self esteem depends on family

A child's self-esteem greatly depends on his family, says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist.

Reactions that children receive from people around them, especially those at home, make the difference between positive self-images and negative ones, she says. Early caregivers make the greatest impact. Their responses to a child send him messages about who he is and whether he's worthwhile.

A child's development of trust has a strong bearing on his ability to build relationships with others throughout his life.

During infancy, a baby is totally dependent on a primary person for fulfillment of his needs.

The baby develops a sense of trust based on the way his needs are met—a consistent meeting of needs will increase trust.

Children enlarge their sense of self as they become less dependent on their early caregivers. They do this through contacts with others and with their environment.

Parents can help again by recognizing successful experiences—and by minimizing failures.

Here are some suggestions on how:
Respond to children—they need verbal responses when they're trying to communicate.

When parents ignore a child, the child feels worth-

Use family resources to solve money woes

Families can muster all of their resourcefulness to meet today's money problems—and they may become closer in the process, says Lillian Chenoweth.

Of course, this becomes more of a challenge as prices rise and budgets stretch, but the results can mean several major benefits.

Mrs. Chenoweth is a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Focus on resources within the family—and new ways to less and undeserving of attention.

Respect Children—Treat a child with the same respect you would give another adult.

State messages to the child in a positive way—with empathy and sensitivity for his feelings.

Acknowledge Feelings—Let your child know you recognize the feelings—and the child's right to have them.

Help the child work on self-control and on expressing feelings in positive ways.

Maintain Limits—Children look to adults for control.

They feel more secure when consistent limits are set and followed.

They need to know and understand their behavioral boundaries.

They need to be guided by discipline that includes love and respect for each child.

Allow Independence with Limits—Allow each child experiences with independence, but make sure it's in keeping with his ability and within clearly defined limits.

Use them.

Encourage each family member to look within himself instead of always outside.

Recognize the abilities and skills of each person.

All together, those resources will increase the family's resourcefulness.

Resourcefulness also means looking at things you already own instead of only new things you want to buy.

And it means new ways of "making do"—to keep from "doing without."

Ideas are limitless, and many can foster new excitement.

Take entertainment, for example.

A family may gather together and type a letter to the grandparents.

Or they could go on "penny hikes." Take a walk in the neighborhood and flip a coin at each corner to see which direction to go in next. This kind of hike provides entertainment as well as exercise.

Or plant a fall garden together. Contact the County Extension Office for information on what will grow in the space available.

All family members can share in the preparation and the harvesting—as well as the eating.

Socializing can "go creative," too.

Try a "progressive dinner party." Each part of the meal occurs at a different home—maybe all the homes can be within walking distance so everyone can walk from place to place.

Plan simple foods that children can enjoy so no one needs a babysitter.

Protect against credit card loss

Protect against credit card loss to avoid problems and financial burdens.

Millions of credit cards are lost or stolen each year with millions of dollars of unauthorized purchases made on these cards, says Claudia Kerbel, a consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Consumers are partially protected against financial losses when credit cards are lost or stolen. The federal Truth-in-Lending Act provides that the maximum liability of a credit card holder is $50 for unauthorized charges made on a credit card.

However, many consumers carry a number of credit cards and if, for example, they lose 10 cards, they are liable for $500, the specialist points out.

To avoid problems and financial burdens of credit card loss, follow these tips:

Cut up and throw away all cards not needed or used regularly.

Maintain in a safe place a list of all credit cards and their numbers.

Keep a list of the toll-free numbers to contact if cards are lost.

Most companies that provide credit cards will provide a postage-paid postcard to send in the event that the credit card is lost or stolen. Keep this in a safe place because it usually shows the credit card number as well as a toll-free number to call. Notify the issuer of a lost card immediately.

Upon receiving a new card, sign it immediately. Never loan a credit card to anyone who hasn't been authorized to use it by the issuer—this is a violation of contract.

To recognize the possible signs of credit card theft, check the monthly bill closely, Ms. Kerbel advises.

If an expected monthly bill doesn't arrive, someone may have stolen the card and sent in an address change.

Care for aluminum cookware

Keep aluminumware clean by washing after use and following manufacturer's instructions for different finishes, a family resource management specialist says.

Generally, aluminum cookware will come clean using hot suds and a sponge or plastic scouring pad followed by rinsing and thorough drying, explains Bonnie Piernot with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

However, aluminum cookware will darken from contact with alkaline or pit from prolonged contact with salty or acid foods—or from not drying completely.

Automatic dishwashing may increase the amount of staining on aluminum when the high heat of the drying cycle is added to minerals present in water, she cautions.

However, a dishwasher may be used if it is turned off before the drying cycle begins. Washing in an automatic dishwasher may affect anodized aluminum (electrolytic action to coat with a protective or decorative film).

Allow aluminum pans to cool before soaking or washing to avoid warping.

To remove burned-on food particles, fill the aluminum pan with water, cover and simmer, scraping occasionally with a wooden spoon.

Then wash normally, rinse and dry. Always use wooden, plastic or smooth-edge metal utensils and protect aluminum surfaces from sharp-edged tools such as knives and beaters, Mrs. Piernot recommends. A soap-filled scouring pad can be used on aluminum (except coated, polished or anodized) and on stainless steel interiors.

To restore luster on the exterior of an aluminum utensil, use an aluminum cleaner and follow directions.

Aluminum utensils with enamel-coated exteriors and non-stick interiors do not need polishing.

Permanent press, how to buy and sew Greek sidedishes and desserts

Easy-care permanent press fabrics need special buying and sewing "know-how" to avoid possible problems, Becky Culp advises.

Ms. Culp is a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

For permanent press-or durable press-fabrics, choose a pattern with few seams and details.

Avoid those with topstitching or pleats--or sharp creases or long zippers in straight seams. Consider designs with button closures instead of zippers.

Also, since these fabrics are difficult to ease, choose styles with little fullness. Soft gathers and folds give better results.

Bias darts and seams look better than straight ones which tend to pucker.

Buy only fabrics that are on-grain, since permanent press fabrics cannot be straightened.

Make sure the crosswise grain is at a right angle to the selvage.

Avoid fabrics with uneven color or strong chemical odor.

Examine the fold made when the fabric was rolled onto the bolt. Since the fold may be impossible to press out, be sure the garment design avoids using the fold.

Also, look for fabrics with soil-release finishes, since permanent press fabrics attract-and tend to hold-stains. Soil-release finishes aid stain removal in laundering.

Finally, ask for care labels with the fabric. Sew them to the garment for reference.

Select permanent press interfacing and trims, washable buttons and notions with the same easy-care qualities as the fabric.

Before cutting, preshrink all fabrics, trims and zippers by following the fabric's washing and drying instructions.

If a plaid or repeat design is off-grain, place the pattern so it follows the design rather than the grainline.

Otherwise, lay out the pattern as usual.

Pin only in seam allowance using fine, sharp pins--since pin holes may remain.

Make as many fitting alterations as possible before cutting.

Once pressed, adjustments may show.

"Test stitch" a fabric scrap, and adjust machine to avoid puckered seams.

For most fabric weights, use a loose but balanced tension, a medium or medium-long stitch length, a size 11 (80) or 14 (90) sharp needle and an all-purpose synthetic thread.

For straight stitching, use a small hole throat plate--or use a right or left needle position for a multi-purpose throat plate.

Stitch at a consistent medium rate of speed.

To double-check for seam puckering, wash and dry the test seam first.

If you must topstitch, stitch as close to the edge as possible for best results.

Select plain seams instead of double-stitched ones.

Pink or zigzag seams and raw edges, such as facings or hems.

Keep hem allowances narrow to reduce easing, especially in flared hems.

For sleeves, set-in sleeves may look more attractive--and be easier to stitch--if they are set in using the "skirt method."

To do that, leave underarm seams open, stitch sleeve to armhole, trim and press toward sleeve. Stitch underarm seam in one continuous seam.

Do not final press seams until they are correct--since they will not press out.

Test all heat settings on a fabric scrap before pressing the garment.

During construction, use steam and a low-synthetic setting to press seams.

For final pressing, use a high-heat setting (cotton) and steam.

Once complete, the garment should require little or no ironing--or just "touch ups."

and desserts

Sidedishes and desserts complete the perfect Greek dinner, says Mary K. Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Greeks eat very few canned or processed fruits and vegetables, she continues.

Fresh vegetables are used cooked plain or as an ingredient in meat dishes.

Favorite vegetables include cauliflower, artichokes, eggplant, okra, potatoes, spinach, tomatoes and zucchini. They may be fried, stuffed and combined with cheeses and other vegetables in a casserole.

Salads usually are a part of every Greek meal.

The most popular Greek or peasant salad includes tomatoes cut in wedges, crumbled feta cheese, Greek olives, capers, oregano, olive oil and lemon juice or vinegar.

Tree problems identified

Construction damage, Dutch elm disease, pine bark beetles, scale insects and oak decline kill more city trees than anything else, according to a survey of 17 southern states.

More than 1,700 practicing urban foresters, university professors, arborists and others were polled in the 1979 survey by the University of Georgia's Department of Entomology. They were asked to identify the most difficult tree problems in their locations to determine areas for research.

In Texas, respondents rated oak decline, elm leaf beetles, southern pine beetles, hardwood borers and construction damage as the five most important problems, points out Alan D. Dreessen, area forestry specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Trees in urban areas are valuable for energy savings, esthetics, erosion control and a multitude of other uses.

Millions of dollars are spent each year by city officials and homeowners to protect yard trees, according to the specialist, and this survey is aimed at identifying where research dollars may best be spent.

Teenage parenthood and consequences

Teenage parenthood usually leads to lower levels of education, employment and marriage satisfaction, says Patricia Lamson, a family life education specialist.

Women bear the greatest brunt--with pregnancy the number-one reason for female school drop-outs.

Effects of teenage pregnancy--as reported by a recent study of 30-year-old men and women who had children as teenagers--are the following:

Education--Quitting school is the most immediate result of teenage parenting.

Employment--Jobs depend on education levels. Among the men and women in the study, only three held professional positions.

The others held low-level, low-paying positions.

Marriage Satisfaction--Having children at a young age also appears to cut short the period of teenage courtship.

That leaves little time for the teen to adjust from the role of spouse to the role of parent.

Teenage couples experience frequent marital problems and a higher divorce rate than older couples.

Children--Adolescent parents start having children at an earlier age--and they have more children than older parents.

Further studies report that mothers under age 18 are less likely to stay with their children than older mothers.

Asked how the above effects of teen pregnancy could be minimized, the couples in the study recommended that counseling or courses in sex education and family living would have helped them learn how to maintain a satisfying marriage and home.

They also suggested the establishment of programs to support young parents and make it possible for young mothers to finish school and learn skills needed for keeping a "good" job.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Why are post-season football games called "bowl" games?...The phrase "bowl game" came into our language in 1923 when Pasadena's originally-named Tournament of Roses game moved to a newly-built, circular, bowl-shaped stadium. A California publicity man named both the stadium and the game the "Rose Bowl". After that, other post-season games called themselves "bowl games", even though many of them--oddly enough--aren't played in circular bowl-like stadiums.

Here's a tough question..Pete Rozelle is well-known as the commissioner of the National Football League, but can you name the 2 previous NFL commissioners before Rozelle?..They were Bert Bell, who was commissioner from 1946 to 1960, and Elmer Layden--one of the Notre Dame 4 Horsemen--who was NFL commissioner from 1941 to 1946.

Here's one hard to believe, but it's true..In the National Football League in 1944, the Chicago Bears played the whole season without ever attempting a field goal..The Bears Never tried a field goal in any game that season..They had a good kicker too, Pete Gaudas, who hit on 97% of his extra point tries.

Crockett County Care Center News

by Joan Nicholas — Director of Activities & Social Care

First of all, want to thank Kitty Montgomery for making complimentary copies of The Stockman available for our residents, this is really nice.

Just after I handed in my column a week ago Tuesday, we were honored with a visit from "The Followers", the gospel-singing group from Fort Worth that had performed the night before at the Calvary Baptist Church.

As they travel, they usually try to get their rest in the mornings, but they came to sing for us at the Center since we couldn't go to them the night before.

They brought a meaningful Christian message to us through the medium of happy music and we were thrilled to have them. We thank the Rev. Russ Tolson and Billie Kiser for thinking of us. Tomasa Ramos requested to sing with them when she recognized a familiar tune, and sang in Spanish with their pianist, and the help of some of our Spanish-speaking staff.

They gave us three of their stereo records which included the songs they sang, and many more, for our future enjoyment.

Want to thank Liz Mary Pipes for calling Bingo for me on Friday morning during my absence. I had dashed off to Midland to see long-time friend and former employer of a quarter of a century ago, (I believe twenty-five years sounds shorter!) Lucius D. Bunton, III, sworn in at the Federal Courthouse in Midland as a United States judge. The reception following was at the Odessa Country Club where I bumped into old Marfa friends I hadn't seen in twenty years. My friends at the Care Center forgave me, I hope, because I was with them for several hours on Sunday, instead.

I had the pleasure of hearing Brother Lanham bring us the Christmas message and song, with his guitar. Now I know why our residents welcome his appearance each month! Also on Sunday evening the Senior Girl Scouts and three adult leaders (Thelma Janes, Terry Adams, and Colene Stevens) came to erect our Christmas tree and trim it. Some of the girls also assisted me in hanging the Christmas socks.

They sang as they worked, and then visited with the residents afterwards. Thanks go to: Tilly and Leana Kramer, Jennifer and Jacinda Marley, Lori Clayton, Melinda Stevens, Donna Tomlinson, Tammy Adams, Cynthia Hartnett, Kim Sinclair, Lisa Hohertz, Glenda Capps, and Molly Womack. Don't know what I would do without all these helpers. To give you an idea of how things have been with me the last few days...I decided we needed a couple more telephone books so called the 'phone company's office in San Angelo. When giving the address I ended up with the zip code 473801. The lady said "what was that?" and I repeated it then realized I had given her my R.A.F. service number! Where, after all these years, that came from I can't commence to imagine!

Bingo winner, receiving the gift certificate donated by The Teacher Store was Gertrude Daniels. Second prize winners were Juana Hernandez, Blanche Fortune and Verna Talley. Of course, everyone that has one or more bingos during the week gets a little something, too.

Dominoes players Monday morning were Verna Talley, Mary Pender, Blanche Fortune and Ruby Cooksey. Mary Pender won, but all scores were very close.

The ceramic manger scene is behind glass in the lobby and looks quite attractive against the red backdrop which really shows up the creamy-white figures.

Also Monday, Jeannie Thompson hosted the birthday for December bringing two lovely cakes. Her grandmother was one of the honorees—Grace Cotter, another hostess was Liz Mary Pipes serving punch assisted by Mattie Cooper. Other honorees were Mary Seelye, Gertrude Daniels, and Delina Lara. Maxine's Flowers, as usual, provided the lovely corsages. Guests attending were Leota Cox and Cherie Davis.

Must mention the surprise Walter Tinsley gave every member of the staff. He had prepared, all by himself, pecan pralines which he had wrapped in individual packages with each person's name on them for identification! We receive so many goodies around this time it would be impossible to name each donor, but since this gentleman, going on ninety years of age, fixed these delicious morsels, wanted to say thank you right here! Along with Della, we love you Walter!

Monday night forty-five 4-H carolers came by with Debra Price and Billy Reager. Thank you so much for thinking of us. We are also grateful to the family of Mrs. Amelia Guerra for sharing two beautiful Poinsettias, adding seasonal color to our decor.

Circle Bar in nation's top ten

The Circle Bar Truck Corral of Ozona was picked second in the top ten truck stops in American Trucker Magazine's December issue. The top pick was Boomtown in Verdi, Nevada.

The selections were taken from a nationwide poll of professional truck drivers. In the same poll, Texas ranked first in states most cooperative with truckers. Texas was not listed in the states most unfair, where California led the ten selections.

Former Ozonan L.B.T. Sikes now of Austin was here with friends over the weekend for deer hunting.

PHONE NEWS TO THE STOCKMAN.

Prevent holiday fires with simple safety steps, cautions Claudia Kerbel.

Here are the safety steps to remember:

Keep the Christmas tree away from fireplaces, radiators and heaters. Place it in a water stand and water it daily.

Dispose of the tree when needles begin to fall off in large quantities—a sign it is dangerously dry.

Use only flameproof decorations.

Consider characteristics when selecting trees

When selecting trees for the home landscape this fall and winter, a whole host of characteristics must be considered, says Billy Reager, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Among tree characteristics that affect their desirability are these:

Longevity: Long-lived trees are much more desirable than short-lived ones. Among long-lived trees are honeylocust, pecan, oaks, red maple, Sabinal maple, cedar elm and Southern magnolia.

Resistance to breakage: Trees with strong wood that are most resistant to breakage include crabapple, beech, blackgum, pecan, oaks, honeylocust and Sabinal maple.

Freedom from insect and disease problems: Trees with little disease or insect problems include ailanthus, coffee tree, ginkgo, maples, oaks and tallow.

Autumn color: Those with outstanding fall color include blackgum, sweetgum, Texas oak, sumac, tallow, Sabinal maple and Chinese pistachio.

Attractive or fragrant flowers or fruit: Trees with an outstanding display of flowers or fruit include redbud, flowering peach, flowering crab, flowering dogwood, magnolia and crepemyrtle.

Handsome or unusual bark color or pattern: Among trees with handsome or distinctive bark are cork oak, Japanese crepemyrtle, eucalyptus, sycamore, Texas madrone and Chinese parasol tree.

Cleanliness: Those that are clean and require little cleaning up include basswood, beech, oaks and Sabinal maple.

Distinctive form: Trees with distinctive form include willow oak, pines, deodar cedar, American elm, Bolleana poplar, Lombardy poplar, weeping willow and sweetgum.

Distinctive foliage color: Trees with distinctive leaf color add variety and interest to the landscape and include Sunburst honeylocust, silver poplar, fraser photinia, Texas madrone, Japanese maple, Russian-olive and purpleleaf plum.

Interesting or unusual leaf shape: Those with unusual leaf shapes include ailanthus, buckeye, honeylocust, Texas oak, sumac, sassafras, coffeetree, Chinese parasol tree, ginkgo, sweetgum, tulip-poplar and loquat.

Distinctive and handsome bud, twig or branch arrangement, shape or color: During winter months, some trees are attractive due to unusual patterns of buds, twigs or branches, including beech, blackgum, coffeetree, dogwood, sassafras, bur oak, corkscrew willow, ginkgo and Southern magnolia.

Surficial root system: Trees with root systems near the surface are more subject to damage and cause lawn problems. These include cottonwood, silver poplar, weeping willow and tallow.

Thorniness: Thorny trees are a safety hazard and include Russian-olive, huisache, black locust, mesquite, hawthorn, honeylocust, osage-orange and trifoliolate orange.

Incompatible root system: Some trees have roots that enter and clog water pipes, drain pipes and waste pipes. These include red maple, silver maple, pecan, sycamore, cottonwoods, poplars and willows.

Suckering root system: Some trees send up sprouts from roots, which is undesirable. These include flowering crab, Lombardy poplar, tallow, jujube, ailanthus, Bolleana poplar, silver poplar, sassafras and persimmon.

Toxic properties or offensive odors: A few trees have properties toxic to humans or have offensive odors, such as poison sumac and the female ginkgo.

When selecting a tree for landscaping, look at the sum of its many parts—roots, bark, trunk, branches, twigs, buds, flowers, leaves and fruit, suggests the Agent.

Local men named for Connally

Two prominent Crockett County residents, Joe Couch and John Held, have been named to the John Connally for President Steering Committee as announced by State Organization Director Jim Campbell.

The local group is part of a massive statewide delegation of more than 2,700 citizens who have voiced their approval of Governor Connally's effort.

"We are extremely proud that these outstanding Texans have joined the growing list of persons nationwide who recognize the leadership qualities of John Connally, and the need for that leadership in the White House at this time," Campbell said.
