VOLUME 67 OZONA, CROCKETT COUNTY, TEXAS 76943 25c Per Copy WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1980 NUMBER 47

Water bills increase this month

Water, sewer and sanitation bills will be increased this month for Ozona users. Directors of the Crockett County Water Control and Improvement District #1 authorized the rate increase and gave increased costs, inflation and fuel adjustment charges on power bills as the primary reasons for the increase.

The rate increase does not apply to the first 5,000 gallons of water used. This rate will remain the same, $6.24. All consumption above the 5,000 will be increased to 35c per thousand for meters not on a booster pump, the rate was 28c; 45c per thousand for meters on the booster pump, previously 33c. The rate for Crockett Heights and other rural areas will be increased to 47c per thousand.

Sewer rates for residential users will be increased $1 across the board from $2.50, the present rate. Rates for commercial users will be increased approximately 25% of the present $3 rate.

Sanitation rates will be increased $1 across the board for residential users, from $3 per month to $4.

Commercial rate increase for sanitation will be based on the amount of time involved to collect trash on a monthly basis.

The new rates are in effect and will be shown on this month's bills.

Incumbents returned in election

The two incumbents were returned to the Water District Board of Directors in a light turnout of only 20 voters Saturday in an election at the courthouse.

J.W. Johnigan received 20 votes and Lowell Littleton received 19, in the balloting. There was no opposition.

PREDATOR TRAPPED by government trapper H.M. Palmer last week on the Massee West Ranch southwest of Ozona. The male congar weighed 94 pounds and was 88 inches in length. Most commonly called a Mexican panther, the population has grown by leaps and bounds the past few years in south and southwest Crockett County. The giant cats are said to wipe out a flock of sheep in the space of only a few hours.

Banquet ticket sales are brisk

Ticket sales have been brisk for the upcoming Annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet, in spite of the increased price tag, according to chamber manager Beth Boyd. The banquet is scheduled for February 14, at the Civic Center with Tumbleweed Smith as guest speaker.

When the C of C Board of Directors met to elect officers Jan. 10, they also scheduled a calendar of events planned for the coming year.

The annual banquet will kick off the year of events. On March 28, the chamber will play host to a bus load of senior citizens who want to visit the Crockett County Museum and other points of interest in the county.

A group from Camden,

Alabama, has scheduled a visit June 11. They will consist of two busloads of church people who want to eat a "real" cowboy dinner and hear a "real" cowboy band. Tom Mitchell has offered to serve dinner in the bunk house on the Mitchell Ranch and Jamie Knox and his band will furnish the cowboy music.

The annual all-denomination "Church in the Park," which the chamber started last year, will be held in the downtown park June 29. All churches are invited to take part.

The second Annual Open Tennis Tournament, will be held July 19-20, with all tennis players invited to participate. The chamber will sponsor the Annual Junior Rodeo August 1-2, with the Lions Club.

Another "Pet Show" for all boys and girls through 12 years of age is scheduled for August 23. Trophies will be given for the biggest, smallest, most unusual and best dressed pets.

The chamber will sponsor the annual Halloween Carnival in the downtown park Oct. 31. The first Halloween Carnival in years for Ozona was held last year with the chamber as sponsor and various groups having booths. It was a big success and it is expected to be larger and even more successful this year.

The final event on the calendar for this year's activities will be an open turkey shoot Nov. 1, with the entire community invited to participate.

tion, he must register before the close of business Feb. 6.

In the first referendum vote in 1977, most cattle producers across the nation favored the program with Crockett County producers voting "for" at a rate of about 97%. However, the measure failed because the favorable vote across the nation did not reach the required two-thirds majority. This time the approval only requires a simple majority.

The program if passed would promote beef research, foreign market development, the nutritional value of beef, combat beef substitutes, counter the extremes of the cattle cycle and in-

Onofre infant's services

The child was born Sept. 24, 1979, in San Angelo. Survivors include his parents and a brother, Jonathan, of Sonora; his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Santiago Onofre and Mrs. Alfredo Lopez, all of Ozona.

In record time- Ozona officers solve burglaries

Ozona Sheriff's Department personnel broke up a burglary ring almost before it got started here Monday. The first break-in occurred last Thursday night, and by Monday afternoon the participants were arrested and most of the stolen goods recovered.

Seven burglaries which occurred in Ozona last week were cleared up Monday with the arrest of four local men, and the recovery of almost all the stolen items.

Arrested were Donald E. Miller, described as the ringleader, John Franklin Sessom, Jr., Robert Ogle, and Johnny Edwards Hollingsworth, II. All four are in Crockett County Jail charged with burglary. Besides the seven counts of burglary, Miller is charged with 1 count of possession of dangerous drugs. Bond for Miller has been set at $40,000. Bond for the other three has been set at $5,000 each.

The first break-in came during the night of Jan. 17, Thursday, when the Little O Club was relieved of 12 quarts of various liquors, 30 cases of beer and $225 in change from the pool table, juke box and cigarette machine.

Five break-ins and three attempted break-ins were perpetrated between dusk and dawn Saturday night or early Sunday morning. The Quick Steak, which is now a disco, lost some strobe lights to the burglars; KRCT radio station lost an undetermined amount of money out of a Coke box and an 8-track tape player; The Sports Shack lost several Puma knives, a pair of binoculars, and $40 in cash. Ozona Primary School was missing a wall clock, a cassette tape player, and a coffee pot. At the Inn of the West, several boxes of T-bones and fillets, several dozen eggs, two hams and a peach cobbler were filched. There was also an attempt, on the same night, to break into White Auto, The Teacher Store and the Highway Department, all in the Village Shopping Center.

The other burglary was that of the burned house of Lupe and Tony Gomez at 1108 Ave. C. This burglary was not discovered until officers searched the apartment where the four were living and found it furnished with household goods from the burned house.

After obtaining a search warrant, officers made the arrests in the living quarters at 103 Besente. They found the stolen alcohol stashed in the ceiling, recovered the stolen meat from the refrigerator and confiscated some illegal drugs. According to Chief Deputy Wayne Wahl, almost all the stolen goods were recovered with the exception of some of the beer and whiskey and some of the money.

The arrests came about after two of the suspects ran from a deputy Sunday night. After they were rounded up, officers found them with some of the stolen goods. They confessed to the burglaries and implicated the other two.

Cold weather invades Ozona

Weekend drizzle failed to deposit much rain on Ozona, but parts of the county benefited from up to .7 of an inch of moisture. However, an early morning thunderstorm Tuesday left .53 of an inch of rain on Ozona, bringing the total rainfall for the first month in the year to .90, almost three times that of January, 1979.

After a week of summer temperatures, highs for the day in the upper 70s and low 80s, a cold front blew in Saturday night and sent temperatures plummeting. At 4:00 p.m. Sunday, the high for downtown Ozona was a chilly 38 degrees. The high for Tuesday was 40 degrees at 3:00 p.m. with snow reported as near as Big Lake. More cold weather and possible freezing participation was forecast for Tuesday night.

Total moisture for the year

1979 was a respectable 16.73 inches for Ozona. This total still did not take into account the drought from an unusually hot, dry September and October and the month of November when no rainfall was recorded. September had been among the months of heavy rainfall in previous years, but only .85 of an inch was recorded in the month last year. October rainfall amounted to only .06 of an inch and when November passed without a trace, the specter of drought reared its head in these parts.

Rangelands went into winter in very poor condition with no early fall weeds or pasture to fall back on, causing unusually early feeding of livestock by ranchers.

Although a harsh winter had been forecast for the area, an unusually mild winter has been the case so far.

HOSPITAL IMPROVEMENTS recently completed include this covered canopy at the emergency entrance to the Crockett County Hospital, along with the lighted sign. The cover is designed to protect both ambulances when they are not in use for emergency service. A new policy initiated by Hospital Administrator Edwin Kirken, has the vehicles permanently stationed at the hospital and Emergency Medical Technicians are on call 24 hours to operate the vehicles and equipment. County employees did the construction work.

Beef Referendum called for 1980

Another beef referendum election has been called for 1980. Registration for cattle producers in Crockett County begins January 28 at the local ASCS office and will continue through Feb. 6. The election will be held February 19-22 also at the ASCS Office. In order for a producer to vote in the election, he must register before the close of business Feb. 6.

In the first referendum vote in 1977, most cattle producers across the nation favored the program with Crockett County producers voting "for" at a rate of about 97%. However, the measure failed because the favorable vote across the increase demand for beef. It would be financed by every cattleman along the production chain. The producer would automatically invest 2/10 of 1% (20c per $100). At the end of the chain the packer will collect and remit the combined assessments to the Beef Board.

The program would be administered by the Beef

Board. Cattleman will be nominated to the Board by state or regional cattle industry organizations and appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture. The number of Board members from various states will be determined by the cattle population of the states. Based on the 1979 cattle inventory, the Board would initially have 60 members and elect an 11-member Executive Committee.

The Board will have ultimate responsibility for managing the program. The Secretary of Agriculture's role is limited to two basic functions, confirm the appointments to the Beef Board and audit expenditures and review programs to assure they are in accordance with the law. He cannot nominate members to the Board.

George Bunker, Jr. is heading up the referendum in Crockett County and will shortly send fact sheets to each producer in the county. In the meantime, anyone wishing further information may contact the ASCS office.

MAKING NEW FRIENDS AT EXPENSE OF OLD

By Herb Berkowitz

TAIPEI, Taiwan — For the 17 million free Chinese of the Republic of China 1980 will be a turning point. It will be the first time in 30 years — since the Chinese government fled the Mainland in 1949 — that they have stood alone.

And they intend to survive, with or without the help of the United States.

The U.S., for its part, appears intent on making things as difficult as possible. Just over a year ago — in December 1978 — the Carter Administration declared the Republic of China an international pariah, and broke diplomatic relations with this loyal friend and ally.

As if this shock was not enough, the Administration also announced its intention to terminate the U.S.-ROC Mutual Defense Treaty. The treaty thus expired a few days ago, at midnight on December 31.

To further please the Mainland, the Administration has starved the ROC military of needed equipment for the past year. The embargo — aimed at cementing our relationship with the Communist regime — is reportedly being lifted, however, and arms sales were to resume on January 1 — with the exception, of course, of the sophisticated F-16 fighter aircraft and anti-submarine (ASW) missiles, ships and aircraft the Taiwan defense forces need to ensure the security of the Taiwan Straits.

Moreover, despite a pledge by the Administration not to alter any of the other existing treaties and formal agreements between the U.S. and Taiwan, the Administration now says it will terminate the air transport agreement between our two countries (at the insistence of the Mainland regime.)

The military isolation of Taiwan, and the general shabby treatment accorded this long-time ally cuts to the very heart of U.S. foreign policy, and brings into question the meaning of friendship and honor in the international arena.

Dr. Fredrick Chien, the articulate Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Hon. Sun Yun-Suan, the ROC Prime Minister, discussed this with us, and left us with the feeling that the United States is perhaps in need of some serious soul-searching.

To wit, Chien said, American policymakers seem to believe that in order to make new friends "you have to sacrifice old ones."

The Yale-educated Chien added: "I think that making a friend out of an enemy is a worthy effort, but to make an enemy out of a friend is not worth it."

It is unlikely the Republic of China on Taiwan will ever be an enemy of the United States. We have too much in common. Despite having sand kicked in their faces by U.S. policymakers, the Chinese still hold America in high regard, are very thankful for the help we have given them, and are still willing to stand at our side on the field of battle.

I wonder how many such friends the United States still has around the world — and whether there is any way we could have treated the Republic of China more badly.

(Berkowitz is editor of the Heritage Foundation news forum. He recently spent two weeks in the Far East, visiting with government and military officials in Taiwan and Hong Kong.)

Lighter fatalities

Two fatal accidents occurred this year at Union Pacific Railroad. Both of these accidental deaths were caused by butane lighters exploding because of welding sparks.

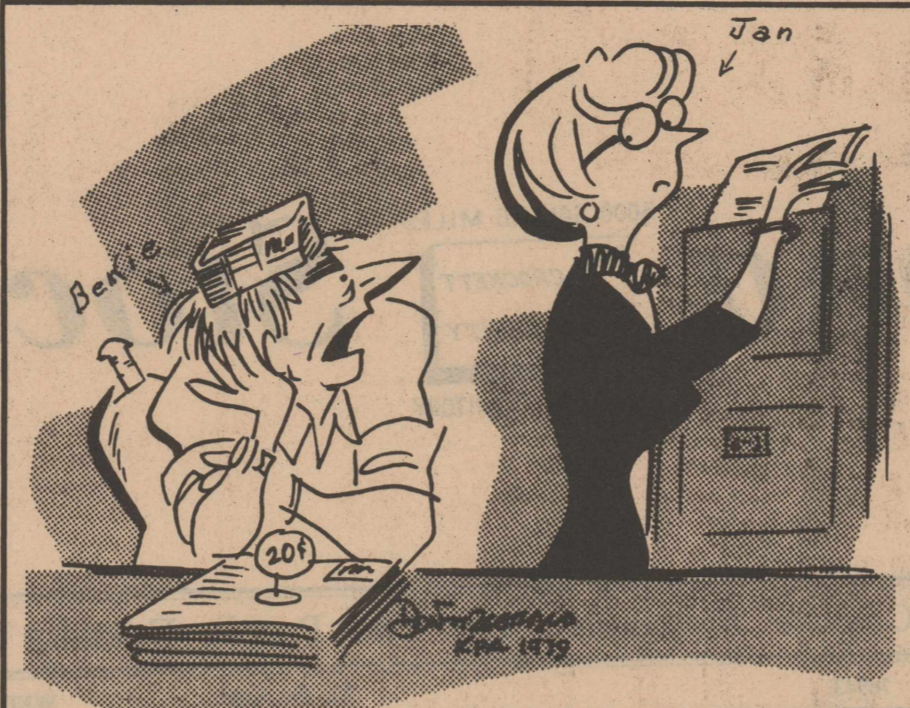

The first accident involved a lighter in a shirt pocket. The individual was killed instantly.

In the second accident the butane lighter was in a pants pocket. An amputation was made but the man later died. An exploding butane lighter has the same amount of force as three sticks of dynamite.

Certainium Alloys & Research Company strongly recommends that all welding area personnel and people entering welding areas be warned of this potential hazard.

All workers and visitors should set their butane lighters aside in a safe place prior to entering welding areas.

Gems from 20 minerals
Only about 20 or so different mineral species are cut for circulation in the commercial gem trade. Possibly 35 others are sometimes cut for collectors or connoisseurs.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texans are going to have to wait at least until August, maybe later, to watch their Legislature debate tax relief, initiative and referendum, and wiretapping . . . and possibly a few other issues thrown in a la carte.
Governor Bill Clements last week announced he will wait until next fall to call his promised special session.
Clements wants to spend a state surplus for tax relief in the special session, but, he said no one really knows right now how much surplus will be available.

The governor has estimated there will be some $600-$700 million he can turn back to taxpayers, but State Comptroller Bob Bullock recently predicted a biennial surplus of only $124 million. Clements said he is putting the issue on the back burner until he and Bullock get a clearer picture.
Others say there is more to the postponement than meets the eye. One view is that Clements is waiting until right before the general election in November to give Republican challengers an advantage over incumbent Democrats in the Legislature. However, Clements has recently angered rural Democrats and he may be afraid of losing Senate confirmation of some of his new appointees. The Senate may vote to confirm in any session meeting longer than ten days.

Hunger Strike

A Central Texas farmer continued his hunger strike outside the governor's office last week to symbolize his disillusionment with Clements' agricultural policy.

Charlie Fitts of Milam County vowed he would stay at Clements' door until he can personally apologize to Clements' 1978 opponent, former Attorney General John Hill, for voting for Clements.

Fitts was irritated by the dismissal of the Texas farmers' liaison in Washington DC, and for Clements' failure to keep campaign promises to farmers.

Clements v. White?

Attorney General Mark White says the Texas Department of Human Resources can build its planned $40 million office building and the governor says it can't.
Clements vetoed the project in June 1979, but White said then that the governor lacked the power of veto in that issue. Clements then raised 31 questions of illegality in the project.

White came back again last week and ruled down the governor's objections. Clements has threatened to take the issue to the Texas Supreme Court.

Teacher Pay Hikes

House Speaker Bill Clayton said the Texas Legislature will be inviting unionization of the state's public school teachers if they don't receive a bigger pay raise in the 1981 session.
Teachers received a 5.1 percent pay increase last spring at Clements' recommendation. They had wanted a 7 percent hike.
Clayton said he will fight unionization and make the pay raises a priority issue.

Presidential Polls
President Jimmy Carter and former Texas governor John Connally have moved out front in their parties in this state, a recent poll showed.

The Texas Monthly magazine poll showed Carter leading Ted Kennedy 52.7 percent to 20.6 percent among Democrats. California Gov. Jerry Brown registered 5.9 percent in the poll.

Carter led Kennedy in virtually all areas of the state and other categories, except among Mexican-Americans and Blacks where Kennedy led by some 15 points.

Republican Connally with 35 percent had a nice lead over Ronald Reagan's 26.6 percent. Fellow Texan George Bush received 12.1 percent approval and Tenn. Sen. Howard Baker got 5.7 percent.

Like the Democratic front-runner, Connally led his party in all areas of the state, with Reagan showing a lead among blacks and senior citizens.

Tips for Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club

by Mrs. Bailly Post

A rose is a rose--but it becomes a very special rose when it is selected for an All-American Award.

This year's All-American Rose selections are Love, Honor and Cherish, and for the first time in 40-year history of the AARS, one person, William Warriner who has been director of Plant Research for the Jackson and Perkins Co. of Medford, Oregon since 1963, was the hybridizer of all three. This is no small trick. The AARS trials take 4 years, then they spend 2 years in test gardens located throughout the country. Once a plant is chosen, it takes 2 more years to produce enough rootstock for the market. These three were first hybridized nine years ago.

Love is a brilliant grand-flora which flowers continuously throughout the entire growing season. It furnishes long stemmed blooms for cutting, and has a delicate spicy perfume. Its beautifully shaped blooms are in a brilliant crimson with contrasting silvery-white petal reverses. The plants remain at average height, bushy and compact, and with medium dark green foliage. It has shown great resistance to mildew.

Honor, is described as a tall, stately, formal white hybrid tea. Its long, pointed 1 1/2 inch buds, held on straight, stiff stems and opens beautifully in all weather, four to five-inch blooms of pure white. The bush is vigorous, mildew resistant, with upright habit and fairly large olive green, leathery leaves. Really good white hybrid tea roses are a rarity and it is likely that this AARS winner will take its place among the leaders in white.

Cherish is a floribunda AARS that is as close to being trouble-free as a rose can be. It has form, color, fragrance, all in abundance, on a plant that gets very little mildew and blooms constantly. An early bloomer, it blooms all season long with its high pointed, shapely buds. The softly colored shell-pink flowers are much larger than those generally found on floribunda. The blooms last very well and has a pleasing fragrance.

Most of our best roses for this area come from Wasco, California. Three of the country's largest rose growers have settled here. Armstrong, Jackson and Perkins, and Weeks--all for the same reason. Wasco has sandy soil, good water and weather. Together they harvest 20 million rose plants each year, the very plants available at retailers this month.

When you shop for roses, make sure you buy them bare root. This is the best possible way to plant them, and they're only available bare root during January and February. There's more variety now, they cost less than when potted later in the year, and they become better established planted without soil around their roots. If already potted ask to have it taken out, or take it out yourself and shake the soil from the roots. Plant the next day, but to be sure the roots haven't dried out, soak them overnight in a pail of water. Dig an ample hole and add a slow-acting fertilizer in to the soil at the bottom of the hole. Form a cone of the soil and other amendments at the bottom of the hole and spread the roots over it so they are well supported by the soil. Make sure the rose is at the proper depth. Spot the old soil line at the base of the rose. Fill in with amended soil and tamp it down to bring the roots firmly in contact with the soil. Mound up a watering basin with any excess soil, then water. Keep just damp enough that the roots won't dry out. There are many old roses that do well in Ozona.

Houseguests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Higginbottom were his three sisters and a brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James West of Gautier, Miss.; Mrs. Vera Worthington of San Diego, Calif. and Mrs. Viola Liven-good of Wynne, Ark.

Replace plants to control disease

Replacing a diseased plant in the home landscape may be less expensive and more effective than trying to pamper the plant back to health, says Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

It is not unusual for an individual to spend twice as much money pampering a diseased plant than would be required to replace it with a healthy one.

Occasionally it becomes obvious that a poor initial choice was made in plant and site selection. One good example of this is eunymous which is susceptible to powdery mildew. This fungus causes white patches of mold growth on leaves. Plants located near structures where air circulation is poor are often severely affected by powdery mildew, and constant spraying would be necessary to prevent it. Under such conditions, it's best to remove the plant and replace it with something like wax leaf ligustrum that is not susceptible to powdery mildew.

Root knot nematodes often make it difficult, if not impossible, to grow certain plants, points out the agent. Once these microscopic worms are present in soil, they are generally there to stay. Boxwood is especially susceptible and will be doomed to a slow and agonizing death if root knot nematodes are present. Pulling them out and replacing them with resistant plants such as dwarf yaupons is a realistic approach.

Sometimes people develop emotional attachments to plants received from a friend or relative. In this case an individual will want to invest the time and energy required to spray or pamper the plant. The county Extension office can provide information on effective procedures.

When a plant becomes diseased, take action. Either try to cure it or find an appropriate replacement.

Mrs. Friend hostess for Friday bridge

GIRL TO SCHAUERS

Mr. and Mrs. Cody Schauer of Comstock are the parents of a daughter, born January 10, at 9:40 p.m. in a Del Rio hospital. The baby girl weighed 7 pounds and 3 1/2 ounces and has been named Jody Kae.

Mrs. Schauer is the former Sharron Barbee of Ozona.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Schauer of Comstock and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Barbee of Fort Stockton.

Causes of marital disruption are often multi-problematic involving psychological, social and economic factors.

Debra Says

by Debra Price

Individual eating habits may be the reason for overweight and obesity.

It's true that the only way to lose weight is to cut down on calories consumed--but many times changing eating habits makes it easier to cut down calories.

First, know what and when you eat. An "eating diary" is one way to do this. List in detail every food and drink you put in your mouth (including amounts and how it was cooked), the time of day and what you were doing over a 24-hour period. Then look at the record and analyze it.

Figure total calories. Remember you must reduce calories by 500 daily to lose one pound a week, and to lose two pounds a week, reduce daily calorie intake by 1,000.

Check your weight and post it on a graph. Set a realistic goal based on losing one to two pounds a week. Record weight every two to three days, being sure to weigh at the same time each day.

Look at your eating patterns--when and where you ate. Did you eat when you were bored, angry, tired or happy? Following these preliminary steps, you are ready to embark on a new venture to control your own eating habits.

Here are some suggestions: Always eat sitting down in the same place at home. Try to leave several bites on your plate at the end of the meal.

Serve your plate in the kitchen with small portions and avoid seconds. Have someone else put away leftovers at end of the meal.

Serve food in a slightly smaller plate and spread food out so portions look larger.

Eat slowly and enjoy eating. Put your fork down after each bite until you have finished chewing.

Shop for groceries after a meal--never when you are hungry.

Arthur Phillips returned to his home here Saturday after recuperating from surgery performed over a week ago in a San Angelo hospital.

"Thank you for my doll and our other toys," exclaimed Mary. "And take care of Mommy and Daddy," added Janie. "Help Billy not to be lonely in the hospital," offered Bobby for his little school friend.

Children believe in prayer. They believe their prayers are heard in exactly the words they use. They say simply what is in their hearts, trusting Mom's promise that they can talk to God and be heard.

But sometimes the adult heart is skeptical. We wonder if prayer really does any good--whether it is heard. It is then we need the simple trust of a child. We must remember that, through the ages, men have found answers through the Church. There God speaks with perfect wisdom to the hearts of His children. Attend church this Sunday.

When U.S. Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus turned thumbs down on further research into predicide 1080, the livestock industry may have been a little uncharitable in its assessment of his motives. We say may because some incredible new information has come to light that we have yet to completely sort out.

It gets somewhat complicated from here on out, so please be patient. Andrus' decision, we assumed, was based on all available evidence about 1080—including some studies that shot gaping holes in the environmentalists' claim that the compound posed secondary poisoning hazards.

This secondary poisoning business is generally accepted to be the sole surviving objection against 1080. Old myths that the toxicant caused a painful death (undoubtedly based on the fact that victims go into convulsions) were long ago dispelled by researchers who tied 1080's actions to the effects of an epileptic seizure, of which the victim is totally unaware. The clincher came when at least two humans who experienced every phase of poisoning short of death reported having felt nothing but "slight itching of the skin."

Likewise the popular myth about a long, drawn-out death—the long lag-time noted between exposure and expiration is attributed to the fact that 1080 is slow to take effect. Then there were the claims that 1080 is non-selective, taking all species indiscriminately. Researchers have known since at least the early 1970s that susceptibility varies greatly—coyotes, for instance, are roughly twice as susceptible as house cats, nearly three times as susceptible as a fox, more than six times as susceptible as a bobcat. The differences get even wider—man is seven to 21 times as resistant as a coyote, golden eagles 12.5 to 50 times as resistant, hawks and owls about 100 times, and turkey vultures an incredible 200 times! Even greater selectivity can be gained by administering the compound in species-specific baits, and the toxic collar is accepted by even the most virulent anti-1080 types as absolutely and totally specific to the individual doing the killing.

In short, the only objection left was the unfounded suspicion that 1080 residue in the body of its intended victim could be hazardous to scavengers that fed on the carcass.

That's where things stood until Dr. Guy Connolly of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Denver Research Center office fed 14 lethal doses of 1080 to a coyote, then in turn fed the carcass to a flock of magpies. He chose magpies because they are notoriously unfussy about what they scavenge (earlier work had shown that almost nothing wants to eat a dead coyote) and because magpies are probably the most susceptible of scavengers to 1080. The idea was that if anything would eat a poisoned coyote, it would be a magpie, and if 1080 residue would kill anything, it would be a magpie. None of his magpies died.

In fact, Connolly's tests on 1080 residue in the coyote showed that, even though the critter was the "hottest" carcass ever recorded, (because of the 140-dose concentration) it would take roughly two and three-quarter pounds of its flesh to kill a magpie. At known consumption rates, it would take 17-18 days for a magpie to eat that much. Meanwhile, he would constantly be excreting 1080 and thus could not possibly build up a lethal dose.

This work was announced at least as early as the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Assn. directors meeting in Eldorado Sept. 29. Small wonder then, that when Andrus announced his ban on further 1080 research in early November, the livestock industry interpreted the move as an attempt by an environmentalist-dominated Interior Department to suppress further embarrassing evidence. Andrus, went the reasoning, was obviously aware of Connolly's work—he'd had plenty of time, Connolly was one of his own employees, and the work had a direct bearing on the predator control policy-making then very much under way.

Well, that may not have been the case.

On Tuesday, Jan. 15, Andrus met in Austin with industry and environmentalist spokesmen for a predator control "summit" conference. During a breakfast get-together prior to the meeting, Andrus professed surprise at general statements about Connolly's work. His address during the meeting also indicated total ignorance about the findings, as did his answer to a pointed question during a noon press conference.

Connolly himself was at the meeting and described his work, but Andrus was already gone by that time, so did not hear it. In fact, environmentalists and industry observers alike seemed to agree by the end of the meeting that Andrus might well still be unaware of the Connolly evidence.

How could a man charged with the final decision about 1080 not be aware of dramatic evidence bearing on that decision at least three and a half months after other interested parties had heard about it, and a good two and a half months after he'd made the decision negatively?

All jokes about bureaucratic inefficiency and weak links in the chain of command aside, something is desperately wrong here. Is it possible that someone within Interior's maze of channels deliberately suppressed this crucial information? It's not our place to say. That question may eventually be answered by a Congressional investigation. In fact, that may be the only way we'll ever know.

Meanwhile, it seems essential that Andrus' decision to ban future 1080 research be reversed. It is also apparent that, had Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown not arranged for the "predator summit," this glaring error might never have been exposed. If indeed someone did withhold the Connolly work from Andrus, they might just as easily have insulated him from subsequent questions about it.

Thank you, Commissioner Brown!

Some safe driving tips

Turn on your lights as soon as daylight fades. Wearing until other motorists do so is not accurate enough when it comes to seeing and being seen by pedestrians and other motorists.

Slow down at school crosswalks and near school playgrounds. Because many children linger on playgrounds after school, a crosswalk guard is not always on duty. It's up to you to watch for children at crossings.

Make sure that you can see through the windshield and the back window. Children moving around in the back seat can obstruct your view in the rearview mirror and make driving more hazardous.

Check windshield wipers. Wipers in good condition can aid visibility. Worn or improperly installed wipers can spell trouble in a sudden rainstorm.

Check the windshield washer fluid reservoir. Use of proper washer fluid will enhance visibility by cutting road grime. As soon as rain starts, turn on your wipers and squirt washer fluid on the windshield to remove dirt.

Switch to snow tires and snowblades. If you drive in a northern state where winter quickly follows fall, switch to snow tires and replace regular windshield wipers with snowblades.

Crockett County Care Center News

by Joan Nicholas — Director of Activities & Social Care

Mrs. Leon Dowdy has made four lap robes and Mrs. Violine Stanton donated some of the materials for them. They are so pretty, and we are happy to receive these. Mrs. Dowdy puts meticulous work into all projects she takes on for our residents.

Resident, Leona Harris, made a cash donation to the Activities Fund for the express purpose of purchasing more fish for our aquarium. She made this gift in memory of all her friends from the Center who have passed on. A lovely gesture that the living may enjoy.

Della Tinsley passed away after my column went in last week. She was unable to get up for the birthday party in her honor, but enjoyed her corsage. She would have been ninety four years of age; she was a sweet lady who was so fortunate in having as devoted and loving a partner in life as Walter certainly was to her. Our thoughts are with him and other family members.

Now a word from the Auxiliary. The officers this year are Liz Mary Pipes, president, Doris Karr, secretary, and Georgia Kirby, treasurer. Beth Boyd is Memorials Chairman. Georgia will be happy to receive the dues of volunteers not yet paid, or new members, addressed to Mrs. L.D. Kirby, Box 717, Ozona. Dues are $1.50 a year.

Another volunteer service that has been started is the minor repairs needed on clothing and Liz Mary and Sadie Whitehurst have taken on this task. Any hours spent on projects done at home for residents' benefit should be listed on the volunteer cards, so don't forget this counts, too!

We thank the following volunteers for their service in the past several weeks: Jane Black, Mattie Cooper, Grace Dorsey Madye Jo Humphreys, Berniece Jones, Mary Lee Jones, Doris Karr, Georgia Kirby, Sophie Kyle, Billy Kiser, Lupe Longoria, Ann McCartney, Velma Marley, Gloria Moran, Robilen Miller, Liz Mary Pipes, Jim Payne, Debra Price, Berniece Phillips, Alice Ross, Madeline Stokes, Thelma Schneider (Iraan), Maria Vitela, Blanche Walker, Alma Wilson, Bonnie Warth, Sadie Whitehurst, and our church ministers, Larry Droll, Larry Bailey, Bill Morrison, Charlie Fuantoz, Russ Polson, and Nelson Lanham. If there are others, then I don't know about them if their names are not entered on an index card in the volunteer record box.. but we thank you all for helping including the programs and band entertainments already mentioned previously.

This past Thursday evening we had a return visit from the Jamie Knox band and everyone enjoyed the music. We had several visitors, too, including Joe Tom and Donna Beth Davidson, Leota Cox and Juanita Ramos from Del Rio.

Bingo winners for last week were lucky Gertrude Daniels winning the gift certificate donated by the Auxiliary and second prizes went to Paul Cavin, Bernarda Aguirre, Pop Bonnell and Frances Borrego. Dominoes winners were Paul Cavin at one table and Frieda Hill at the other. Frieda said she hadn't played in twenty years, but she certainly had not forgotten how!

We have received a book of wallpaper samples from South Texas Lumber and will welcome any ideas on their use in addition to the ones we have already come up with. This week I have added three more fish to the aquarium; one female and two male swordtails and, so far, they appear to be compatible with the others. Our main fishwatchers are Dollye Coates, Delfina Lara, and Grace Cotter who are happy to sit and reflect on some of nature's wonders for long periods of time. Others come by at various times. The new lights and top, along with a floral decoration have really helped the aquarium take on a new look, and I will be adding more by degrees.

In Bible class we had a special prayer for two members, not named, who were feeling special needs. We also continued our studies in John and the Issues of Life and Death. We discussed the joy that awaited us, and how we may help others through periods of stress and grief at times of loss, without embarrassment of not knowing what to say.

In reading and discussion we took various topics including a study taken from "Texas Highways" on the Roadrunner, (or Paisano or Chaparral as this bird is also known).

Movies were enjoyed Monday afternoon since they were too late arriving for a Wednesday showing.

Did you know that—unbelievably almost 1 out of every 3 major-college basketball teams this season will go to a post-season tournament?.. There are 261 schools who play major-college basketball in America, and the NCAA tournament will have a field of 48 teams this year, while the National Invitation Tournament will have 32 teams..That means 80 schools out of 261 will receive a post-season tournament bid.

Oddly enough, in the 13 years that the St. Louis Blues of the National Hockey League have been in existence, they've had 12 different head coaches..It's doubtful that any team in the history of big league sports ever changed coaches as often as the Blues..They've averaged almost one new coach every year for 13 years.

What was the quickest fight in boxing history?..The record was set in a Golden Gloves bout in Minneapolis on Nov. 4, 1947 when Mike Collins floored Pat Brownson with his first punch, and the fight was stopped without a count—4 seconds after the starting bell.
