Lamblast judges selected

Judges for the third Annual Lamblast, World's Championship Lamb Cook-off, have been named, according to cookoff chairman Bob Childress of Ozona.

Cookoff officials said several other judges have been invited to participate in the cookoff, but letters of acceptance have not been received.

The Lamblast, created to promote lamb and publicize the sheep industry, will have several new contests and demonstrations this year, in addition to the championship sheep dog trials and fun contests staged during past shows.

New events will be the wool sack toss, lamb roping and tying for youngsters, and a blindman's wheel barrow race. Demonstrations will include square dancing and sheep shearing.

Other events are horse-shoe and washer pitching, a Leg of Lamb contest for men and a Lamb Chop contest for women.

The Sheep Dog Trails, limited to the top 15 dogs in Texas competing for trophies, will be conducted on Saturday. Al Denard of Dublin will be dog show judge.

The Miss Lamblast contest, to select the Belle of the Blast, will be conducted on Friday with the winner to be announced at the Friday night country and western dance.

The dance, to be held from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Exhibit Building, will feature the Texas Time Machine. Tickets are priced at $3.50 each.

The Lamblast, slated for Saturday, will begin at 10 a.m. and continue until 6 p.m. Admission to the grounds will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children 12 year and under.

Cookoff teams will be furnished a cut of meat as in past years. The available meat cuts are included on the entry blank. Entry fee is $20 per team, and if a cooking team needs an electrical hookup an additional $5 will be required at the time of registration.

Entry blanks and other information is available from the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce office, San Angelo Convention Center, 500 Rio Concho Drive, 76901, or by calling 915-653-9577.

4-H grooming school for youngsters

The 4-H Clothing Leaders and the Extension Service will sponsor a grooming school for all interested youth on April 14 and April 28, 7:00 to 9:00 at the Civic Center. All interested youth 9-19 are welcome to participate.

4-H members that are enrolled in clothing projects are especially encouraged to attend both sessions. Participants attending both sessions will receive a completion certificate.

Mary Helen Parks and Linda Lee will be co-ordinating the school. The school will include skin care, hair care, nail care, walking, sitting, standing, poise, and much more.

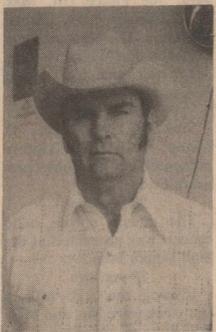

Youth that are not currently enrolled in a 4-H Clothing Project but want to attend the series should call Debra Price at 2-2721 to enroll.

EASTER EGG HUNTS were the highlight of the day Thursday for Ozona Primary students just before classes dismissed for the Easter holidays. This is the first graders scrambling for eggs in the park just after getting the "go" sign. Other egg hunts were scheduled in various places for Kindergarteners and second graders.

Three new school trustees elected

Voters turned out in droves Saturday to elect three members of the Crockett County School Board of Trustees. A total of 510 ballots were cast at the courthouse Saturday and 116 were counted in the absentee ballot for a total vote count of 626.

JOE COUCH

CECIL BUCKNER

GEORGE YBARRA

Joe Couch, Cecil Buckner and George Ybarra polled the most votes out of a field of eight to win the election. Couch led the ticket with 357 votes, Buckner was next with 329, and Ybarra polled the third highest number with 279.

The only incumbent running was R.J. Everett, who came in fourth with a vote count of 257. Henry (Hank)

Sellers was close behind Everett with 235 votes, followed by Dick Webster with 202, and Fred Buie with 100 votes even. Suzie Everett received a total of 30 votes.

The three will replace John L. (Sonny) Henderson who declined to run after serving for many years on the board; Gene Perry, who did not file for re-election after serving one term, and Everett, who was unsuccessful in his bid for another term.

Voters should be reminded that to be eligible, they must have registered to vote at least 30 days before an election. Several were not allowed to vote in Saturday's election due to waiting too late to register at the tax assessor's office.

Boy drowns in Easter outing

An Easter weekend outing ended in tragedy for an Odessa family near Pandale Sunday afternoon when six-year-old Terry Dwayne Thompson of Odessa was drowned near Pandale on the Pecos River.

Young Thompson was playing with a friend on a rock near the river's edge when he slipped into the water. Stanley Najar, III, of Odessa was fishing nearby. When he saw the young boy was in trouble, he ran for help.

The boy disappeared in the river about 4:30 p.m. He was found by Stanley Najar, Jr., also of Odessa, about an hour and a half later after around 15 men had been dragging the river. Najar said he pulled the lad from a hole of water about 15 feet deep.

All attempts at revival failed, and he was pronounced dead by Justice of the Peace A.O. Fields at Sheppard Funeral Home, after being transferred there.

Funeral services were pending Monday at Hubbard-Kelly Funeral Home in Odessa.

Cattlemen's meeting in San Angelo Mon.

Cattlemen in more than 20 West Texas counties will have the opportunity to attend a get-together sponsored by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association and Producers Livestock Auction Company, Monday, April 14, at Producers Livestock Auction in San Angelo, Texas, according to John S. Cargile, TSCRA president and PLA owner.

The purpose of the meeting is to acquaint area cattlemen and their guests with the latest electronic marketing systems, feeder cattle grading standards and the recently adopted brucellosis eradication program for Texas. The program will also update cattlemen with the new programs and services TSCRA has undertaken in recent months.

Guest speakers for the program include Dr. Ernest Davis, livestock market-economist with Texas A&M University; Don C. King, TSCRA secretary-general manager; Gene Newman, rancher/feeder/order buyer from San Angelo; and John S. Cargile.

The program will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. with a dutch treat lunch served at noon. The meeting is free and is similar to other membership programs TSCRA has co-sponsored recently across Texas and in Oklahoma.

Royals to open season

The Ozona Royals, Ozona's semi-pro baseball team, will open the 1980 season Sunday, April 13, against one of the toughest teams on their schedule, the San Angelo South Side Lions. The Royals had a 33-9 season record for 1979.

The Royals expect a good crowd for their season opener and expect to give fans an exciting afternoon.

Russell services Monday

Funeral services for Claude Lewis Russell, 79, were held at graveside Monday at 4:00 p.m. in Cedar Hill Cemetery under the direction of Sheppard Funeral Home.

Mr. Russell died at 12:45 a.m. Sunday.

He was born March 25, 1901, in Ozona. He was married to Lucille Rogers Henderson Dec. 21, 1951, in Hobbs, N.M. He was a World War II veteran.

Survivors include his wife; a sister, Sadie Evans of Ballinger, and a brother, Frank Russell of Odessa.

District finals set

UIL District finals are coming up Friday and Saturday for Ozona High School athletes in track, golf and tennis.

All district track for boys and girls will be held in McCamey Friday.

Golf for boys and girls teams, will have the final district meet in Crane Friday.

Ms. Henderson to direct her script

Jan Henderson, senior journalism major at Angelo State University in San Angelo will be among Texas university students to present dramatic and interpretative work at a speech festival April 17-19 in Wichita Falls.

Cancer Crusade to begin

Mrs. Wesley West, Crusade Chairman of the Crockett County Unit of the American Cancer Society, has announced that April is Cancer Crusade month. The crusade will begin Monday, April 14, with the residential drive, sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

Mrs. West will head the committee sponsoring the business drive, which will continue through the end of the month. Proceeds will be used to finance the work of the American Cancer Society in the areas of research, public education, service and rehabilitation.

Keep census forms handy—

Census takers to collect forms

Conflicting information on the 1980 Census has led to a great deal of confusion in Crockett County and surrounding counties. Many residents just do not know what to do with the completed form, although on page 4, item 3, it plainly says "Do not mail this form. A Census Taker will visit your household to pick up the form; please keep it in a safe convenient place until then."

Apparently television and newspapers in metropolitan areas have led to this confusion. Also, the stress on "April 1, is Census Day," has added to it. Many residents, and understandably so, thought a census taker would be by to pick up their completed form on that day. However this was the day forms should have been mailed in mail-back areas.

Janet Faulkner, head of the Census for the Pecos District which includes Crockett County, notified the Stockman late Tuesday that there will be a training meeting for enumerators from 6 to 8 counties in the district at the Civic Center Thursday morning, April 10, at 9:00 o'clock. Anyone wishing to help with the census may take the test at that time.

Crockett County residents are not the only ones confused. Conflicting news releases have tended to confuse members of the Stockman staff. Apparently a great deal of work went into news packets and press releases, and not enough in hiring competent personnel to run the census, and publicize the testing and hiring of local workers.

Crockett County is in the Pecos district, which comprises the largest non-mail back district in the state. Residents should be advised to hang on to their completed census forms until a

Ms. Henderson to direct her script

Among reader's theatre productions to be presented at the festival will be a script written by Mrs. Henderson as a speech class project. The script, entitled "Men seldom make Passes at Girls Who Wear Glasses," is based on the life and literature of writer Dorothy Parker.

Mrs. Henderson's script was selected from thirteen scripts written by class members.

She will choose the cast from tryouts, and will direct the production...also compete in prose interpretation reading at the festival.

Sales tax Rep. to visit here

State Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his San Angelo office in Ozona on April 17, to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Steve Mercer will meet with local taxpayers in the Law Library of the Crockett County Courthouse Annex from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m. census taker comes by to pick them up. Do not place them in a door or inside a screen. Place them in a secure safe place.

It may be months before a census taker gets by your residence to pick up your form. There are not enough people in Crockett County to make a dent in collecting the forms. Although tests have been given three times,

Telephone solicitation a hoax

A telephone solicitation for advertisements in a "law enforcement journal," conducted in Ozona Monday was apparently a hoax, according to Chief Deputy Sheriff Wayne Wahl.

It is a policy of the Stockman staff to never buy anything over the telephone, so we failed to pay much attention to the telephone call which came before noon Monday. However, those business houses who did buy the so-called advertisement should be aware local law enforcement officers know nothing of this drive and did not endorse it.

Care should be exercised when purchasing anything from someone who calls on the telephone. Nine times out of ten it is money wasted. Check with the Sheriff's office or your Chamber of Commerce before getting involved with any telephone solicitation.

First Baptists set spring revival Sun.

The First Baptist Church of Ozona has announced special revival services for the week of April 13 through 18. The community will enjoy the unique ministries of guest evangelists, Jerry and Peggy Young.

The Youngs have been serving churches across America for 27 years, and have appeared in hundreds of schools and civic clubs.

They have also been on numerous radio and television interview shows where they have shared their testimonies and discussed their work.

Jerry is a ventriloquist who, with his friend "Tom-no publicity was sent in time to get the testing time and place in the newspaper. The last test was conducted yesterday afternoon at 3:00 at the Civic Center. Results were not known at press time. The second time the test was given, only one applicant appeared.

All county residents should have received a form in their mail box Friday, March 28. If a household did not receive the short form, more than likely the census taker will have an extra one when he or she comes by. Also, in Ozona, every sixth household will be required to answer additional questions in addition to filling out the form already received.

The census, which is taken every 10 years, is a vital part of the nation's statistics on population. It is the basis for fair apportionment among the states for seats in the House of Representatives. It is used to direct the distribution of millions of dollars in Federal funds to state and local governments. An undercount could result in lost representation for this district and a loss of federal dollars. So, hang on to your census forms. It may be some time before a census taker gets around to collect the forms, but they will be around within the next few months. They have already begun collecting the forms here, but do not have enough personnel for a speedy job.

Also, last but not least, the law provides for a fine of $100 or more for those who refuse to answer the census.

UNCLE SAM(TA) CLAUS

By Edwin Feulner

If Uncle Sam wants you — get there as fast as you can. He might just want to give you a pat on the back and a few thousand dollars, as he has during the past year to 125,000 hard-working federal employees.

It's all part of the federal government's incentive awards program, and it cost U.S. taxpayers an estimated $25 million last year.

Instead of being curtailed, the incentives program currently is being expanded under the Administration's 1978 Civil Service Reform Act. From all appearances, it's turned out to be another costly waste of public funds.

To be fair, I might go along with a program that gives cash awards to federal employees who come up with ideas that save American taxpayers money. But that's not how it works. According to Richard Brengel, director of the program for the federal Office of Personnel Management, about 90 percent of the awards were given to employees who are thought by their supervisors to have done a good job — which, after all, is what they are paid to do. (I will not indulge in any jokes about showing up on time, keeping pencils sharp, or the other qualities that go into making a good bureaucrat.)

Only ten percent of the awards were given to people who actually weighed in with an innovative money-saving idea.

One small agency, the Federal Pension Benefit Guaranty Corp., gave $48,000 in bonuses to nine senior employees. One employee, the agency's "office services chief," received $1,500 for "sustained superior performance." His accomplishments, according to the award, included (now get this!) realigning "office space to reflect new organizational relationships," taking care of Xerox requests "on very tight deadlines," and overall superior performance as an executive go-fer — written up as "personal responsiveness to all administrative service needs."

In another agency, the Pennsylvania Avenue Development Corporation (which oversees construction along this historic avenue leading from the White House to the Capitol), 14 of the agency's 38 employees received awards.

The agency's executive director headed the list with $5,000. His award was given at his own request. After all, he had complained earlier, his $47,500 federal salary was not enough to sustain his standard of living.

After a Florida law firm inquired into his self-sustaining largesse, the PADC honcho decided to spread the good cheer — authorizing two $3,500 awards, a $3,000 award, and a $1,700 award for some of his senior staffers.

Patrick Tyler of The Washington Post reports that in 1979 "about seven of every 100 federal employees got some such cash award."

Electric Energy Research And Development

The Electric Power Research Institute (EPRI) has authorized a key project to develop and test a multiple-function meter for measuring electricity used at customers' premises. This electronic meter is a potential replacement for the conventional induction watt-hour meter presently installed in millions of homes and businesses throughout the country.

The so-called smart meter will contain programmable logic that will help utilities to control electricity loads automatically. Among other functions, the meter will measure how much energy is used per hour, how many hours it was used and at what time of day, and the total energy consumption. In fossil fuel research, EPRI authorized nearly $6 million to design and construct the nation's first facility to test new coal-cleaning technologies. The facility will allow testing of many different fully integrated coal-cleaning processes with relative ease. It is hoped that data from the facility will help utilities meet air emission requirements for coal-fired power plants, while improving boiler reliability. EPRI, supported by more than 500 of the nation's electric utilities, funds and manages electric energy research and development. The group has budgeted $234 million for its 1979 quests for progress.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

We want to express our appreciation to you and your staff of the Stockman, for the publicity and coverage that you gave us before and after the T.F.W.C. Heart of Texas District Convention held in Ozona the last of March. We hosted one of the largest conventions to be held in the district. Every delegate carried home a good report of the town and its people, and expressed a sincere desire to return to Ozona.

Thank you also for reporting our bi-monthly meetings for us. Since we are a civic organization, our projects are always things for the good of the community.

Sincerely,
The Woman's Forum
The Woman's League

Dear Kitty,

First, I want to congratulate you and your staff on your new place of business.

Second, last Thursday, Jean North, Yeva Vargas and I were asked to judge the Easter Hat Parade held by the Senior Citizens at the Care Center.

To begin with I want to commend Joan Nicholas, Director of Activities, for her untiring efforts in putting on such a successful show. The models were just great. Although some could not see, walk or talk, they all had a smile for us and it just made our hearts melt. Everytime one of them came by with such determination. Believe me, it was hard to pick only four winners out of the 27, because, in my estimation they were all winners.

I'm sure Joan will tell you in her column who the winners were. She took a lot of pictures and it would be worth anyone's time to have a look at them when they go to the Care Center.

Linda Skaggs was the best-dressed Easter Bunny I've ever seen. She came a 'hop-in' in delivering Easter eggs to all, and everyone had a great time.

Sincerely,
Alma James

NEWS OF SAFETY

The Chemical De-Icer

In combatting the build up of snow and ice on the nation's roadways each year, many state and municipal highway departments have turned to chemicals for help. Specifically, calcium chloride used in conjunction with sodium chloride.

According to Allied Chemical Corporation, a leading manufacturer of calcium chloride, a premixture of calcium chloride and sodium chloride is extremely effective because the chemical properties of each ingredient complement each other. Whereas salt requires moisture to melt rapidly and takes on heat as it dissolves, calcium chloride attracts moisture, dissolves quickly and generates heat. The fast melting action of calcium chloride produces a brine which starts and sustains the melting action of the rock salt forming a mealy or wet pavement condition. The result is a quick, efficient method of snow and ice removal.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Governor Bill Clements last week predicted the Legislature will increase the state gasoline tax next session to make up for some $300 million taken out of general revenues in 1979.

Clements is already on record, along with Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, in favor of increasing the state's nickel-per-gallon excise tax, currently the lowest in the nation.

Speaking to a Dallas convention of the Texas Oil Marketers Association, Clements also surprised gasohol advocates with his endorsement of increased production of alcohol fuels, and said he hopes that gasohol will be exempted from the increased tax.

The Texas Oil Marketers Association represents about 900 company-owned service station chains in the state.

Undocumented Workers

The Governor also said last week he favors giving legal status to undocumented workers from Mexico, at least for limited periods for temporary work permits.

"They would be paid a fair wage and most of all be guaranteed the protection of our laws and decent living conditions," Clements said.

He plans to meet in June with Mexican President Lopez Portillo and four Mexican governors at El Paso and Juarez.

Taiwan-Texas Pacts

Republic of China (Taiwan) officials signed contracts with several Texas firms to buy industrial, power generating and oil drilling equipment and cotton—close to $1.34 million in trade value.

The final agreement was about $10 million more than was expected to be bought by Taiwan's touring trade officials.

Presidential Politics

The chairman of the State Republican Executive Committee said a majority of committee members have endorsed Ronald Reagan for the Republican presidential nomination.

Chairman Ernest Angelo said 36 of the 62 members support Reagan. He did not say how many favored Texas George Bush.

Meanwhile, Texas Democrats did not rush to alter their respective game plans when California Gov. Jerry Brown dropped out of the presidential race. His campaigning in Texas was regarded as minimal, far behind the support for Jimmy Carter and Ted Kennedy.

AG Opinions

Attorney General Mark White released several legal opinions last week. Among his rulings:

—the state can declare a person who has successfully completed felony probation ineligible to be a peace officer.

—prohibitions of political activity by employees of the Department of Public Safety are constitutional.

—the trustees of the Teacher Retirement System may invest funds in mortgage certificates secured by real property, but a constitutional amendment will be necessary to allow investment in realty.

—a junior college may pay for employee enrollment in a health maintenance organization in lieu of the college's health insurance program, if the state approves.

Fighting For Funds

The federal government's attempts to trim funds from certain programs brought a reaction from several Texas political groups and figures last week.

The Governor, fighting to keep a $37 million federal law enforcement grant program, was joined by Supreme Court Chief Justice Joe Greenhill, Court of Criminal Appeals Presiding Judge John F. Onion, DPS head Col. Jim Adams, and Texas A&M University president Jarvis Miller and several chiefs of police, sheriffs, and other citizens across the state. The program involved curbing drug traffic and fighting organized crime.

And a coalition of Texas women's and activist groups urged Congress not to cut funds for social programs for women, minorities, senior citizens and children. The groups included the Texas Women's Political Caucus, the Abortion Rights Action League, the Gray Panthers, the Women's Equity Action League and others.

Among the budget cutting proposals is one to lower the number of persons eligible for food stamps.

Snips, Quips and Lifts

By Lottie Lee Baker

A lot of people go through life standing at the complaint counter.

Many things are worse than defeat, and compromise with evil is one of them.

If you think you are important. Just remember that a lot of famous men of a century ago have weeds growing on their graves today.

Most people have plenty of speed, but they don't know what direction they are going.

With the world in such a confused state, no wonder babies cry when they come into it.

If this world becomes any more confused than it is now, don't be surprised to see monkeys tossing peanuts to people.

Sometimes a man with a clear conscience only has a poor memory.

Enough is that which would make us content if the neighbors did not have more.

Courage is the quality it takes to look at yourself with candor, your adversaries with kindness, and your setbacks with serenity.

It is getting harder and harder to find a courteous person who isn't trying to sell you something.

Money talks, but most of us can't hang on to it long enough to hear what it says.

Crockett County Care Center News

by Joan Nicholas — Director of Activities & Social Care

My goodness! This is the week that was!

On Wednesday night the Ybarras, Joe, Santiago Sr. and Jr. came with some zippy music and we had a big crowd that didn't want to go to bed! Lib Applewhite, Jean North and Leota Cox provided the dancing entertainment and there's nothing that pleases our residents more than to see a little action along with the music. Residents Frances Borrego and Bertha Miller also joined in the dancing. We had such a good time. Grace Cotter was having a ball clapping in time to the music nearly all evening and Gordon Smith was sitting up so straight in his chair not wanting to miss a wee bit of the action.

Had a call from Charlie Baird the day before wanting to bring his band from Big Lake, but we already had arrangements made with the Ybarras. Also the Jack Williford band of Sheffield will be here this Thursday, so I am hoping that Charlie and the "Broken Strings" can come the following week, and then Jamie Knox and company, I hope. I am beginning to feel like a theatrical booking agent, but isn't it absolutely terrific? I bet there are not many nursing homes in Texas that have four bands knocking on their doors! You people are wonderful. I do thank the gals for coming to dance, and we all invite you back again as the different bands come by.

The very next night, more high jinks were in store. The Second Annual Easter Bonnet Contest went off with a bang. Judges were Alma James, Veva Vargas, and Jean North. They say they had a very difficult time deciding who the winners of the four trophies should be but, as I told everyone, all our residents were winners for being such good sports and for getting into the spirit of the thing. The trophy for the prettiest hat went to Leona (Granny) Carter, mother of Lottie Davis, and her creation was the prettiest parade for any bunny to inhabit! The most original hat category was won by Louise McWilliams, and Nila Turnell won the award for the craziest hat, (high fashion from outer space!), and Frances Borrego received the honors for being the best model. We had several who modelled with a flair. Each contestant was numbered and came to center stage to do their thing; pictures are in the album. Baker Jewelers donated the trophies.

We especially thank Katharine Russell for playing background music on the piano, and resident Leona Harris who also contributed some tuneful melodies. That wasn't all--about halfway through the contest we had a visit from a white, fluffy Easter Bunny, alias Linda Skaggs, N.A. Her make-up was delightful and I am sure the suit was stiffing but she hopped around and distributed colored eggs to residents. That was a sweet thought, Linda. Other volunteers helping were Mattie Cooper and Alice Ross and Ann Mayo came back to the Center to help also.

Our fondest get-well wishes go to Verna Talley, Alma Wilson's mother, who unfortunately fell on Wednesday afternoon and is in a San Angelo hospital having had surgery over the weekend. We are all so happy that the reports indicate that she came through very well and will be back with us in no time at all.

Mrs. Ivy Smith sent over a beautiful Easter lily plant for all to enjoy. The Rev. Larry Bailey was in charge of the Easter service on Sunday afternoon, accompanied by several church members, and I hear that L.D. Kirby played the organ, and did some visiting.

The Lillian Henderson Sunday School class has donated a large bulletin, or display board that has been custom built to fit the north wall in the lobby. It should be erected any day now. The two ends have peg board and the center can be used for pin-up art, etc; we hope to have a colorful display on there before too long.

I have also purchased two humming bird feeders with monies from our Activities Fund; one for the front patio and one for the back, and they should also be in place very soon.

This Monday afternoon we welcomed two new residents: Serefino Garcia who is the father of Maria Viltela, and Lydia Patrick who only son Henry lives in Chama, N.M. She has a grandson, Don Patrick, who lives in Ozona. As I am writing this she is busy finding familiar faces and making new friends.

Bingo winner last week was Louise McWilliams and Tomasa Ramos won second prize.

I was delighted to have Mary Pender accompany me to my church, St. John's, in Sonora on Easter Sunday. We also had a church luncheon that day...m-m-m a gourmet's delight!

Seed catalogs are great temptation

Attractive and colorful seed catalogs and seed packets on store shelves are great temptations to the impulsive garden buyer, but vegetable varieties and seed must be selected with great care.

Often the success or failure of a home vegetable garden depends on the kind and variety of vegetables selected, emphasizes Billy Reager, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Varieties differ in time of maturity, quality and disease resistance. Such information is usually noted on most seed packets. Some companies also indicate which vegetable varieties are best suited for preservation by canning or freezing.

Choose varieties with built-in resistance to diseases, advises the agent. This added protection can prevent many problems and insure a better crop.

New disease-resistant varieties are continually being developed by universities and private companies. Current listings are available through the county Extension office.

When buying seed, purchase only the amount needed for the current year. This will save money, and you can buy fresh seed next year.

Plan your garden carefully. Measure the length of row to be planted of each vegetable and purchase seed accordingly. Plant sufficient seed to insure a good stand. For a larger planting of a particular vegetable, buy larger, more economical packages of seed.

Homeowners have stronger ties to the community

Homeowners do have stronger community ties than renters, a recent study says. Recent home-ownership-and-voting-practices comparisons show home owners voting at twice the rate of renters--which now proves a belief that many held but couldn't support as true, reports Jane Berry, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

The difference in voting occurred regardless of age or race and apparently reflects homeowners' stronger community ties and interest in government decisions, she explains.

Dr. Berry is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Length of residency was a factor in voting, with long-time residents more likely to make the trip to the polls, she continues.

Sixty percent of the people who had lived in the same house for at least six years voted compared to 26 of those who had resided there for less than a year.

Voting was especially low among new residents age 18 to 24, with only 15 percent voting, Dr. Berry points out.

Another study comparing mobile home owners suggests that rental or ownership of the mobile home site also makes a difference in voting practices among mobile home owners, the specialist says.

This study, conducted with a 10 percent random sample of mobile home owners, reports that those who own the land or site on which the unit is located were more likely than homeowners in rental parks to have voted in the last presidential election as well as in the last local election.

Sixty-nine percent of the site owners voted in the presidential election compared with 58 percent of the site renters.

Fifty percent of the site owners voted in the last local election compared to 30 percent of their site-renter counterparts, Dr. Berry adds.

Texans have chance to see Magna Carta

Texans are invited to see the Magna Carta, one of the world's most important documents, in a majestic exhibition that will tour the state March 29-April 27.

The original charter, sealed in 1215 by King John and the basis of the U.S. Constitution, is being brought from England's Lincoln Cathedral for display in Austin, San Antonio, Houston and Dallas. The exhibit includes a display specially created for the charter's five-week tour of Texas. Highlights are a writ sealed in 1072 by William the Conqueror authorizing Lincoln as the seat of the bishop, and massive panels of pictures and text tracing the history of the 900-year-old Lincoln Cathedral and landmark dates in historically. Historically, the U.S. Constitution is a child of the Magna Carta. In 1215, after a harsh and arbitrary reign, King John was forced to reaffirm customary feudal rights of his barons by consenting to the Great Charter.

The charter is full of future law, and one passage appears in free constitutions everywhere, including the fifth amendment of the Constitution in the Bill of Rights: "No free man shall be taken or imprisoned or dispossessed or outlawed or exiled or in any way destroyed, save by the lawful judgment of his peers or the law of the land."

After initial agreement to the document at Runnymede, some twenty original working copies in court hand (exemplars) were distributed to the major towns of the kingdom. The Lincoln exemplar is one of the four remaining copies of the Great Charter. Read aloud in the cathedral city in 1215, the charter was then entrusted to the cathedral, where it has remained ever since.

The Magna Carta resides in its own humidity- and temperature-controlled glass envelope and will travel in a specially designed packing case that is fire proof, water proof and bullet proof.

The trip to Texas will be only the fourth time the ancient document has been abroad. It was on view in California in 1976 and New Zealand in 1978. It was at the 1939 New York World's Fair and spent the years of World War II in Fort Knox until it could be safely returned to England in 1947.

The entire tour schedule of Magna Carta in Texas is as follows:

Austin: March 29-April 5,

LBJ Library and Museum at the University of Texas

San Antonio: April 7-11, Texas Military Institute Library; April 12, Institute of Texan Cultures

Houston: April 14-19, Palmer Memorial Episcopal Church

Dallas: April 21-25, Thanks-Giving Square; April 26-27, Belo Mansion (2101 Ross Avenue).

Admission is free at each of the exhibit sites. Facsimiles of the Magna Carta in its original medieval Latin and English translation will be available for purchase.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED-Mr. and Mrs. Fred Valdez, former Ozonans, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rosa, to John L. Pocian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Pocian. Miss Valdez is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Molina of Ozona. She is a 1977 graduate of Cass High School and is employed with a carpet company in Cartersville, Ga. Her fiance is a graduate of Swansboro High School, Swansboro, North Carolina, and is also employed with the carpet company. The couple will be married April 19, at Cartersville Church of God.

Fertilize shade trees properly

Shade trees seldom need to be fertilized more than once every three years except in extremely sandy soils or where poor lawn maintenance is followed, says Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Reagor says fertilizer recommendations are usually based on trunk diameter, making no allowances for confined root zones. This can result in overfertilization, damaging some trees.

The safest method of computing fertilizer amount is to determine the number of square feet in the tree's branch spread. Then apply two pounds of actual nitrogen for every 1,000 square feet of branch spread.

For example, a 36-foot branch spread covers about 1,000 square feet. Therefore, 24 pounds of 8-8-8 are required to supply the necessary actual nitrogen amount (24x.08 is 1.92). If 16-20-0 is used, 12 pounds would be needed (12x.16 is 1.92).

However, if the root zone is confined due to buildings, curbs, walks or streets, compute fertilizer application on actual root zone area.

If the root zone is 12 feet by 20 feet, or 240 square feet, only ¼ as much fertilizer is needed as in the above example.

To compensate for the reduced root area, make one fertilizer application in late winter or early spring and a second application in late fall.

The agent recommends spreading the fertilizer evenly beneath the branch spread. There is seldom any need for drilling holes into the soil if fertilizer is thoroughly watered in after application.

For more information, obtain a copy of the fact sheet L-1097, "Fertilizing Woody Ornamentals," available at the county Extension office.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED-Mr. and Mrs. Cruz Tambaunga announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Sandra, to Randy Ramos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Ramos. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride-to-be Saturday, April 12, at 6:30 p.m. All friends and relatives are invited. A dinner reception will follow.

Discipline gives guidelines

"I don't care what everyone else is doing!"

"Just go to your room until you can behave!"

"Can't you share with your brother?"

"You're grounded!"

Are these familiar phrases around your household?

They are all "strong" doses of discipline, Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist, says.

She admits there's no magical rule by which to raise children, but there are guidelines that research has found most effective:

Love your children and let them know you do.

Be a model for your child by disciplining yourself.

Insist on good conduct, but understand your child's real feelings and talk to him about them.

Criticize a child's behavior, but do not tear down the child.

Have limits and enforce them, but let the child know what they are.

Most important-and most overlooked by parents, be consistent.

Kids get confused when a house rule is right sometimes and wrong others, or when it's right with dad and wrong with mother.

Miss Taylor describes discipline as the set of guidelines your family uses to control behavior acceptable in your family.

It teaches character and provides guidance for self control.

To have responsible, productive children who have satisfying self-images is the goal of most parents, but parents and experts don't always agree on the best route to that goal.

There are many theories of discipline that work, the specialist agrees.

Some disciplinarians stress preventive tactics for keeping children in tow.

Others emphasize ways of handling misbehavior immediately after it happens.

Preventive discipline requires close supervision and constant tuning in. It's often referred to as the "no-lose" method of discipline between parents and their children.

In preventive discipline, parents may have to alter the home or environment to head off misbehavior.

This may mean keeping breakables out of a small child's reach or alcoholic beverages out of the house during the time that pre-teens and teens might experiment with it.

Logical consequences is another method of discipline used by some parents.

If certain warnings are not heeded by the child, he knows a penalty will occur.

For example, if a child is determined to be late for the bus, he must walk to school. Behavior modification is another popular method.

Parents try to change a child's behavior by immediately rewarding desired behavior.

For example, these parents believe you should ignore tantrums and obscenities but praise the child or teen when you haven't heard them for an hour, half-day or while they were under stress.

No matter which method you choose, discipline that helps children grow into self-satisfying, responsible adults is discipline that exhibits love and understanding and a spirit of working together toward the child's adulthood.

Discipline is not punishment or beating.

When discipline is overpowered by punishment, a child becomes insecure, resentful and rebellious, because he has no workable guidelines to know what you expect of him.

Threats, bribes, sarcasm and ridicule, backing down on a promise and losing your temper are ways parents show children they cannot discipline themselves-and ways they can expect their children to disobey.

Ed Collett was back at work Tuesday afternoon after undergoing medical tests in a San Angelo hospital, which gave him a clean bill of health.

Cooler attics mean cooler houses. An attic-ventilating fan installed near the roof peak-with air intakes in the eaves or in the gable side-wall-will reduce attic temperatures and ultimately the interior of the home.

Time to gear up for spring gardening

It's time to gear up for that spring vegetable garden. And two major steps are getting the right varieties and planting at the right time.

Proper planting time is important if maximum quality and production are expected, points out Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Since such warm-season crops as tomatoes, peppers, corn, eggplants, beans, squash, cucumbers, okra, watermelon, sweet potatoes, pumpkins and muskmelons (cantaloupes) are sensitive to cold temperatures and will be killed by even the lightest frost, gardeners must be aware of the average date of the last frost for their particular areas.

According to the National Weather Service, the average dates of last frosts for this region of Texas is March 29.

It's also wise to wait until the soil has warmed before planting seeds of warm-season crops. Soil temperature at the four-inch depth should be in the upper 60s or into the 70s before planting to increase seed germination.

Some vegetable crops are cold-hardy and can tolerate light frosts or freezes. These include beets, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, peas, lettuce, onions, parsley, radishes, spinach, cauliflower, collards, mustard, potatoes, kale and turnips. These can be planted now.

The agent suggests planting warm-season crops in late spring as they will produce more high-quality produce. During the hot summer such heat-tolerant crops as southern peas, okra, eggplant, sweet potatoes, squash and small-fruited tomatoes do best.

Reagor advises planting the best adapted varieties that are available as this can mean the difference between success and failure of the garden. Current vegetable variety recommendations by the Extension Service are as follows:

Bean, Bush--Contender, Topcrop, Wade, Greencrop, Tendercrop.

Bean, Pole--Stringless Blue Lake, Kentucky Wonder, Dade, Romano.

Bean, Lima bush--Jackson Wonder, Henderson Bush, Fordhook 242.

Beets--Detroit Dark Red, Green Top Bunching, Asgrow Wonder.

Broccoli--Green Comet, Bravo.

Cantaloupe--Perlita, Rio Gold, TAM Uvalde, Golden Perfection.

Carrot--Imperator, Danvers 126, Nantes, Red Core Chantenay.

Corn, Sweet--Calumet, Bonanza, Merit, (white) Silver Queen, Country Gentleman.

Cucumbers (Pickling)--National Pickling, Liberty, Crispy, Salty.

Cucumbers (slicers)--Palomar, Ashley, Poinsett, Straight 8, Cherokee.

Eggplant--Florida Market, Black Beauty, Highbush.

Lettuce (Head)--Great Lakes strains, Valverde.

Lettuce (Leaf)--Black Seeded Simpson, Salad Bowl, Ruby, Oakleaf.

Lettuce (Butterhead)--Summer Bibb, Tendercrisp.

Lettuce (Romaine)--Valmaine.

Okra--Clemson Spineless, Louisiana Green Velvet, Dwarf Green, Emerald.

Peas, Southern--Blackeye No. 5, Burgundy, Cream 40, Knuckle Purple Hull.

Pepper, Sweet--Yolo Wonder, Keystone Giant.

Squash--Early Prolific Straightneck, Goldneck, Dixie Hybrid Crookneck, White Squash (Winter) Bush Scallop, Zucco, Zucchini, Acorn, Butternut

Tomato--Spring Giant, (nematode resistant) Terrific, Better Boy, Bonus, Big Set, Monte Carlo.

For further information on growing a successful spring vegetable garden, contact the county Extension office.

Disaster number toll free

Texas farmers and ranchers who want information about the disaster recovery loan program of the U.S. Small Business Administration now have a toll-free number they may call, says Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

SBA has already assisted more than 10,000 agricultural producers in Texas, and this toll-free number will make it easier for farmers throughout Texas to receive information about the SBA program.

Farmers who have questions about being eligible or how to apply for an agricultural disaster loan may receive a brief explanation by calling, 800-692-4296, toll-free, from anywhere within Texas. If a farmer has already applied to SBA for assistance, he may leave his name, address and phone number with the receptionist and a loan officer familiar with the application will call back at once using another line rather than tying up the toll-free number for any length of time.

SBA physical disaster loans are available in counties recommended by the governor and subsequently designated by the SBA administrator. Loans are made only for crop losses not already covered by insurance or other disaster or deficiency payments.

Pay taxes but not with cash

When paying your Federal income tax, send either a personal check or money order, but never cash, the Internal Revenue Service warned. Using a check or money order is safer from two standpoints, the IRS explained. First, a check or money order is harder to steal; second, the cancelled check or money order will serve as a record that the payment was made.

The IRS also advised taxpayers to put their social security number on the check or money order directly below the signature. That way the taxpayer will be certain to get credit for the payment should the check or money order be detached from the return.

The IRS noted that no matter what type of check is used, the tax is not considered paid until the draft is honored by the bank on which it is drawn.

NOW'S THE TIME TO CALL YOUR AIR CONDITIONING SERVICEMAN

(Get a checkup before the heat's on.)

Right now your air conditioning serviceman can easily work your call into his schedule and get your unit ready to deliver dependable cooling through the summer ahead. We know that many people wait until the heat's on to install electric air conditioning or have their units serviced. Later on, your dealer or serviceman may have a waiting list.

PROPER INSULATION... Keeps in the Cool Air You've Paid For Insulation comes in rolls, loose-fill or batts. Insulation is labeled with a R value showing its ability to resist heat. The better its insulating value, the higher the number. R values up to R 30 in the ceiling and R 18 in the walls are recommended for this area.

Check Caulking and Weatherstripping!

Check all windows and doors, install weatherstripping and caulking where needed. It will save on both heating and cooling costs. An almost invisible 1/4" gap at the base of a standard 36" outside door is equal to a nine-square-inch hole in the side of your house. There are a number of easy-to-install felt and foam rubber products on the market to draft-proof doorways.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay

There's only been one game in big league baseball history when every player on one team had the same batting average after the game as he had before the game. How did that happen? On opening day in 1940, Cleveland pitcher Bob Feller threw a no-hitter against the Chicago White Sox, in the only no-hitter ever pitched on Opening Day. Since all White Sox players had a .000 batting average going into the game, and got no hits during the game, all their averages after the game were still .000. That's the only time it's happened.

Who were the 9 greatest baseball players of all-time? To try to answer that question, baseball conducted a poll of sports writers and broadcasters a few years ago, and these players were selected. (1B) Lou Gehrig (2B) Rogers Hornsby. (SS) Honus Wagner. (3B) Pie Traynor. (Outfield) Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb and Joe DiMaggio. (C) Mickey Cochrane. and (P) Walter Johnson.

I bet you didn't know. Summer is almost here and you want to be prepared for that vacation you will be taking. Come by and let Pogue or Jerry Lay help you select a new Oldsmobile, Cadillac, Chevrolet, Buick or Pontiac. You are sure to find the car with comfort and beauty for that special vacation.
