Several of us have been toying with the idea of a senior citizens baseball team, just for women, of course. Since they have a team for everyone and everything else, we thought we might get together and start our own team for women over 50. I guess I automatically became a senior citizen when I turned 50 years of age, because I began getting all this senior citizen literature. I about halfway resent it, since there is a 20-year-old looking out of this 50-year-old body, but I guess whoever thought up the idea felt 50 was a nice age to become a senior citizen. I prefer "middle-age" myself.

Anyway, back to the baseball team. Jean North will be the pitcher, simply because she pitched in high school some 30-odd years ago and qualifies by being over 50. Lib Applewhite will play first base, same qualifications. We haven't contacted Velma Cooke or Wanda Stuart. However, we feel sure they will be interested since they have played most recently, at least in the last ten years, and we know they qualify by age eligibility.

I am going to go up against Mary Bess Harris for the boss's or coaches' job. Our arthritis rules out active play. I don't know what position Bess played, but I was the pig-tail. Since they have backstops, they no longer have a pig-tail to play behind the catcher. Anyway one of us will be the boss and the other will take up donations for knee pads, arm pads, eyeglasses holders, crutches, and things most any senior citizen's baseball team might need.

We're going to let Leota Cox, Doris Moore, Bernice Jones, Dorothy Friend, and anyone else who is interested, pick their place to play. If they prefer to sit on the bench, that's o.k. too. So let us know if you are interested. The only rule for eligibility is proof of being past 50 years of age. It might be necessary to bring a birth certificate because we are expecting more than the 18 players any team can carry on its roster.

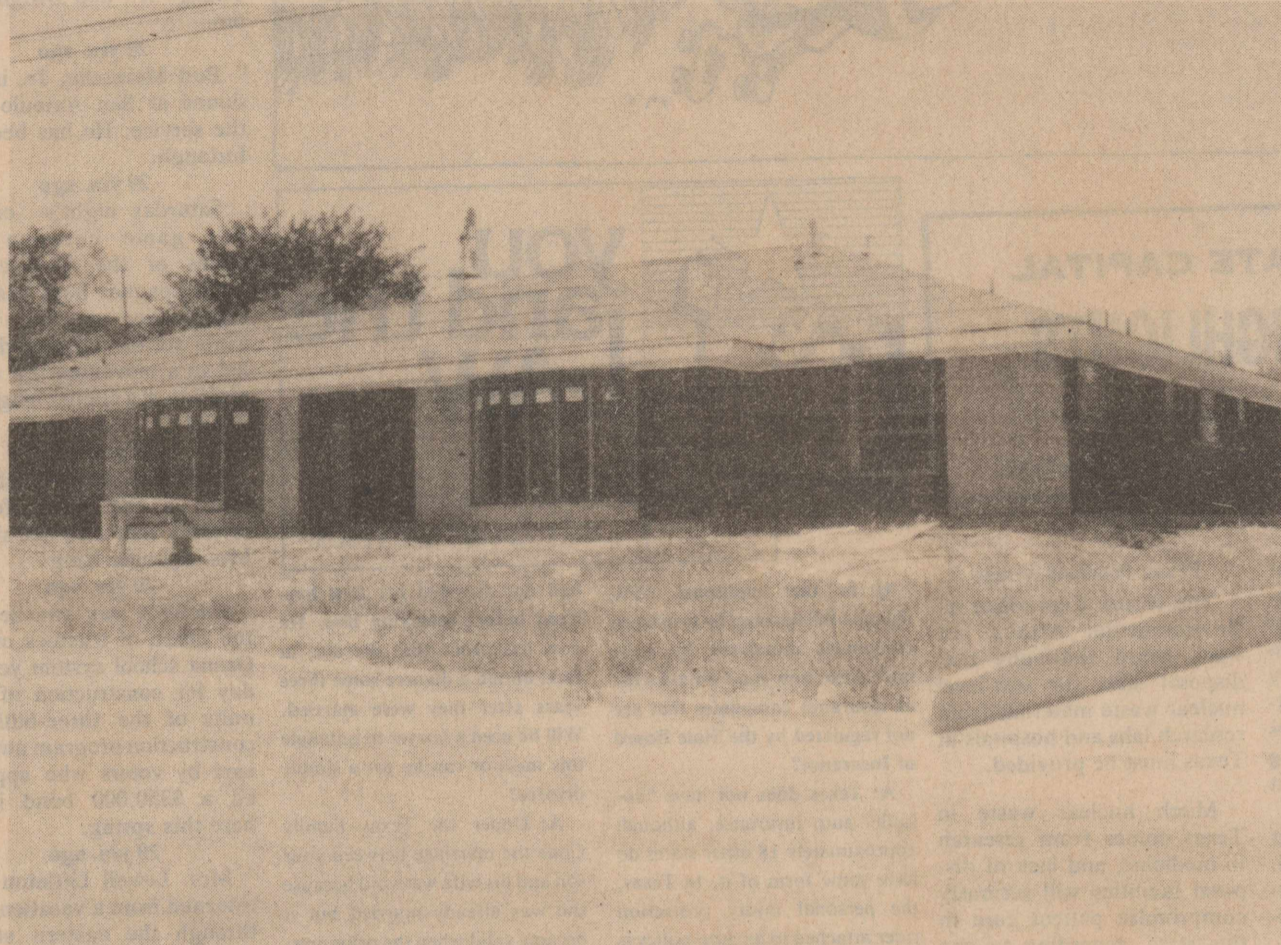

Tom thinks this is a perfectly stupid idea and says we will all get killed, but then he never heard of a pig-tail, so he doesn't know everything about girls' baseball.

However, we are going to be choosy about the teams we play. We will absolutely not, and I repeat "not" play the Blue Demons. They are very good and we don't want to sully their record, it certainly is not that we are afraid of them. We might consider some of the newly formed softball teams. We'll just have the check them out.

Anyway, if you meet the eligibility rule and want on the team we'll make a place for you. There will be no try-outs and talent is not necessary, but you must meet the required age limit.

Roy Glenn Sutton, who is border patrolling in the state of Washington, sent me a package of ash from the Mount St. Helens volcano. It is from the first eruption, May 18. We have it here at the office if you want to come by and look at it and feel of it. It looks like dirty sand, but feels much heavier. Can't imagine miles of country being covered with it.

Mr. and Mrs. Evert White returned home Monday from Oklahoma City where Mrs. White went for a check-up at Southwest Eye Clinic.

CONSTRUCTION NEARS COMPLETION on the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted White on Eleventh Street. Home construction is down nationwide, but seems to be enjoying a healthy boom in Ozona. Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Jones recently moved into their newly completed home on Circle Drive. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mason atop Mitchell Hill is also ready for occupancy. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cameron plan to begin construction of a new home on the west hill soon.

Energy crunch affects local service stations

Since the nationwide energy crisis began with the oil embargo in the late 70's four Ozona service stations have closed doors.

The latest to close was Ozona Fina, for many years Ozona Oil Co. Ozona Oil Co. was purchased by Circle Bar last year and the name of the service station on Hwy 290 was changed to Ozona Fina and bought by Bruce Mayfield. The station was closed June 1, with no reason given, leaving Ozonans to speculate it was another victim of the energy crunch.

First to close was the Shamrock Service Station about two years ago. Al Ramirez owned the station and gave lack of ability to get gasoline deliveries and lack of help as the reason. The Shamrock is located on Hwy. 163.

W.C. McKinney, doing business for years on Hwy. 290 as Southwest '66' Service, closed his doors last year and frankly said the reason was "We just couldn't get enough gasoline."

Broadway Gulf fell by the way early this year, following a succession of new owners after Bud Harrison, longtime owner of the sta-

Senior citizens party Fri.

A senior citizens social and dance will be held at the Civic Center Friday, June 20, from 8:00 p.m. until midnight.

Everyone age 50 and over is invited to come and enjoy the music and refreshments. You may visit and dance if you would like.

The affair is very informal and there is no admission charge.

tion, sold out some years ago. The station, on Hwy 290 near the downtown area was for years the busiest station in town.

The opening of I-10 through Ozona and self-service stations could have played a part in the closing of the stations in town, but the energy crunch seems to be the biggest culprit.

The increase in gasoline prices has sent many residents and tourists as well rushing to self-service stations where they pump their own gas and pay less.

There are five self-service stations in town, two located on I-10. I-10 Gulf service catches most of the westbound travelers and Ozona Quick Stop is convenient for eastbound motorists. Maness Texaco self-service will soon open at Hwy 163 and I-10 access road.

Although it is reported there is a glut of gasoline, service stations are getting the same allotment as last year in most parts of the country. Claude Montya, local Exxon service station owner and operator, said he was in good shape this month for gasoline with only 88% of his allotment for the same month last year. However, he said supplies might tighten up next month. He does not plan to close for any part of the summer months and will buy from an independent if necessary to service his customers.

According to Montya, business has picked up for the remaining stations on 290, especially with the closing of the Gulf and Fina stations in that area.

Higginbottom services here Monday Eve.

Funeral services for William Walter Higginbottom, 71, were held Monday afternoon at 4 p.m. at Temple Jerusalem Baptist Church, with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Higginbottom died at 12:45 p.m. Saturday at Crockett County Hospital. He was born May 23, 1909, in Jonesboro, Ark. He was married to Elvira Garcia in Ozona April 27, 1954. He worked for Crockett County until his retirement in 1972. He had been a resident of Ozona for 32 years.

Survivors include his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Patsy Funties and Mrs. Janell Tambunga, both of Ozona, and Mrs. Elva Navarro of Odessa; six sons, Ronald Higginbottom of Copperas Cove, Donald Higginbottom, Robert Flores and Oscar Flores, all of Ozona, Henry Sanchez of Fort Polk, La., and Valentin Gonzales of Rocksprings; four sisters, Mrs. Viola Linvegod of Wynne, Ark., Mrs. Vera Northington of San Diego, Calif., Mrs. Roberta Ethridge of Imperial Beach, Calif.; and Mrs. Lila Mae West of Corona, Calif.; eight grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Historians O.K. newspaper marker

Final approval was given by the Crockett County Historical Commission for the inscription on the historical marker for The Ozona Stockman, when they met Monday afternoon in the courthouse library.

Delivery of such markers can take up to four months and sometimes longer. A significant dedication ceremony is being planned for such time as the marker arrives and is put in place.

The inscription on the marker will read as follows, beneath the title "The Ozona Stockman:"

"In 1892 Claude B. Hudspeth (1877-1941) began publication of a weekly newspaper called the 'Ozona Kicker.' Following his three-year ownership, Hudspeth entered politics, serving first in the Texas Legislature and later as Representative from the Sixteenth Texas District to the United States Congress.

"The newspaper was published by later owners as the 'Enterprise,' 'Courier,' and 'Optimist.' When County Judge Charles E. Davidson purchased the operation in 1913, he changed the name to 'Ozona Stockman' to reflect the important role of cattlemen and the ranching industry in the development of Crockett County and the surrounding area.

"W. Evert White took over as publisher and editor in 1926. A native of Tom Green County, he had served on newspaper staffs in Austin, San Angelo, San Antonio, and Cuero before purchasing the 'Stockman.' Under his leadership the content and format of the paper were changed to match the style of leading daily publications. In 1941 White directed the work on an 88-page special edition. Printed to commemorate Crockett County's 50th Anniversary, it was considered a major achievement for the staff of a weekly paper. White retired in 1972 after 46 years with the 'Stockman'.

The group also approved research for a marker to commemorate the arrival of the W.P. Hoover family in Crockett County in 1881. This will be a project to be completed in 1981. The Hoovers were the first permanent settlers in the county and the only family to have owned and operated the same land for 100 years.

Members of the Commission expressed deep concern over the broken window panes in the vacant former Junior High School Building. This building was awarded an Historical Marker a number of years ago, and such distinction carries an obligation to keep the building in good repair. Ozona history buffs have been concerned about the building since it was vacated after the school renovation program was completed. After rumors circulated the building was to be torn down, The Historical Commission and Society met with the school board and asked that the building be made available for a museum and library. Although there is plenty of state money available for the necessary remodeling, the board declined to make a decision at that time, but did promise the building would not be torn down. Although the building is presently being used for storage, members of the commission are concerned at the lack of upkeep and the state of repair.

Census winding up here

The final phase of the 1980 Census is in the process of getting underway in the 12-district Crockett County area, according to Janet Faulkner of Pecos, head of the Census for this district.

Mrs. Faulkner said Monday enumerator reports from all 12 districts were in her office and 10 had been processed. All that remains to do is follow up work which will take from ten days to three weeks.

Also, anyone in Crockett County who feels they have not been counted may leave their name and address at the Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Perry receives scholarship grant

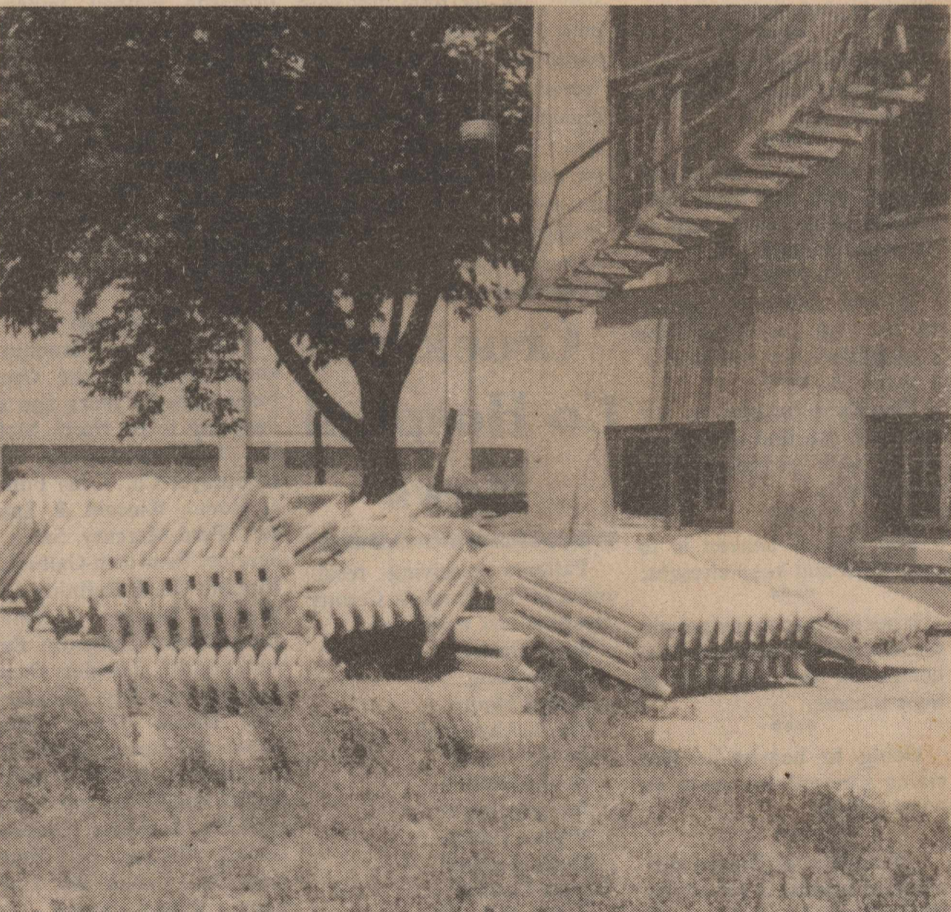

Jeannine Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Perry, was recipient of the Fisk-Perry scholarship grant, presented by the Heart of Texas Federated Clubs in Llano, June 14.

The applications are judged on scholastic achievement, extra curricular activity, and personal honors in high school and college, moral character, church affiliation, participation in community affairs and future ambitions.

Receiving the grant along with Miss Perry was Sharon Brininstall of San Angelo. Both girls are students at Angelo State University. Jeannine is a senior, elementary education major.

Mrs. W.L. Bankston, district president, complimented the young women on their achievements and expressed pride in presenting the honor to them.

Among the 72 delegates attending the meeting were Mrs. T.J. Bailey, State Trustee, Texas Federation Women's Clubs and Bonnie Warth, Heart of Texas District, treasurer.

OLD GIVES WAY TO NEW-The pile of steam radiators stacked behind the old Ozona Hotel caught the eye of many this week. Some of the younger set had no idea what they were. Obsolete now, they warmed the rooms of the hotel for many years. The building has been purchased by J.B. Miller & Co. and so far workmen have been clearing the inside of the building. Hopefully, its former glory will be restored. It was the site of all important social gatherings a half a century ago.

DESERTED SHAMROCK STATION was the first of four service stations to close up due to the energy crunch. The other three, all located on Hwy 290 were Broadway Gulf, Ozona Fina and Southwest '66'.

LABOR SECRETARY NEEDS ACCOUNTING HELP

By Edwin Feulner

When Labor Secretary Ray Marshall announced recently that a million jobs would be available this summer under the department's $745 million summer youth employment program, I decided to pull out the old abacus.

Something, my friends, just didn't sound kosher.

The program is aimed at providing jobs to "economically disadvantaged" youths between the ages of 14 and 21. This category includes youngsters from welfare families; those whose family incomes (for a family of four) is less than $12,500; those receiving community care; and those who are substantially handicapped, confined to an institution or a "client" in a sheltered workshop (government jibberish for foster homes, etc.).

Under the summer youth program, state, county and local governments operating CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) programs provide ten-week job opportunities, paying a minimum of $3.10 an hour, the federal minimum wage.

The young people — dedicated, conscientious, intelligent workers all — are hired (Heaven help me if I get sick this summer) as X-ray, laboratory, medical and dental assistants; library, teacher, museum, and legal aides; maintenance workers; lifeguards; clerical workers, and so forth. It all sounds hunky-dory.

Until, of course, you get out the trusty abacus.

According to the Labor Department, one million jobs will be funded. Assuming the youngsters work a standard eight-hour day, that is eight million man-hours per day. At $3.10 an hour, we are talking about $24.8 million per day just in wages.

If each youngster works a five day week for ten weeks, we are talking about 50 days of work during the summer, at $24.8 million per day.

This comes to $1,240,000 — $495,000 more than the Labor Department says is available for the program.

And this is just wages. This assumes that there is no overhead built into the program for administration, paper-pushing, and the like — which is like saying you can bake a cake without flour, or build a car without an engine. Administrative costs are always there.

Perhaps there's another explanation. Perhaps the $745 million is just seed money, strictly for putting the program into motion and administering it...and the $24.8 million in daily wages is going to come out of the treasuries of the state, county and local governments providing the jobs. This would mean total cost of the program is $745 million, plus $1.24 billion — or nearly two billion dollars.

Either way, I think we deserve an accounting and explanation. I'd even be willing to lend Secretary Marshall my abacus.

(Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research organization.)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

June 10, 1980

Dear Mrs. Montgomery:

Enclosed is my check in the amount of $10.50 to cover the renewal of my subscription to the Stockman for another year.

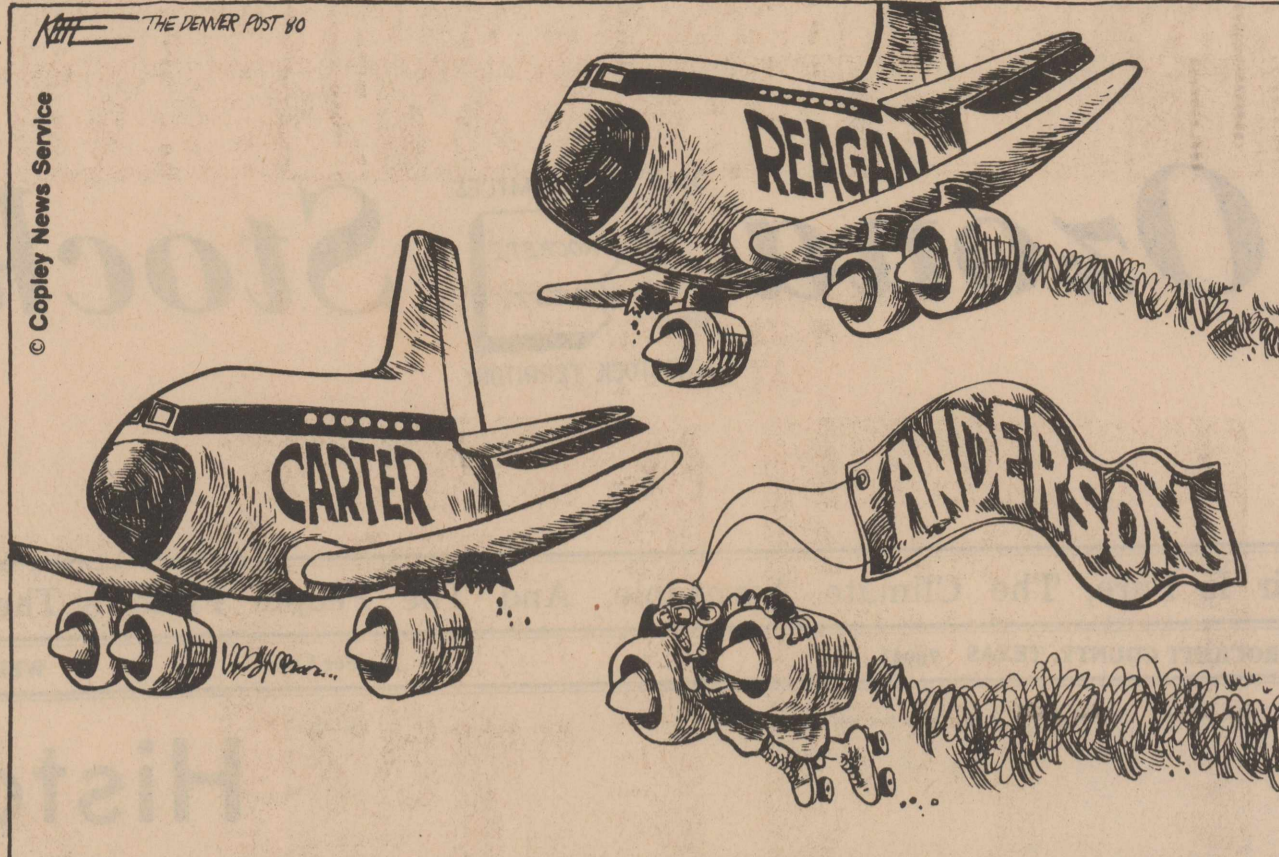

Also, I would like to inquire about the possibility of running an ad in the Stockman. We are working on a book with updated information regarding the members of the class which graduated from Ozona High School in 1940. At the present time, we are lacking information regarding two of the members of the class and one faculty member.

We are thinking of taking an ad in the paper to list these people to see if we could obtain the information we need in that way. Please let me know what such an ad would cost. And I would appreciate your recommendation as to what kind of ad would be the most effective.

We are using the theme of "Whatever Happened to the Good Ole Class of 1940," and the three people for whom we need the additional information are Mr. R.L. Springer who was the Principal and class members, Mertis Luther and Naomi Collard.

We look forward to hearing from you.
Sincerely,
Mrs. Joe W. McMakin
2305 Duval Drive
Monroe, Louisiana 71201
P.S. We need the married names and addresses for the two ladies listed above, and we need the address of Mr. Springer.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

you and the LAW
PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

AUSTIN — The other shoe in the Brilab investigation dropped with commotion Thursday when a Houston federal grand jury indicted Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton on six charges including fraud, racketeering and conspiracy to commit extortion.

Also indicted were Deer Park labor official L. G. Moore, and Austin law partners Donald Ray and Randall Wood.

The defendants were accused of plotting to use cash payments to Clayton and fraud to obtain a lucrative state insurance contract for a Los Angeles insurance firm, which actually was an FBI dummy firm and did not exist.

Clayton allegedly received $5,000 from Moore in his Capitol office. Present during that transaction was Joseph Hauser, a twice-convicted California insurance man who was actually cooperating with the FBI.

Clayton has said the money was offered as a campaign contribution which he accepted to avoid embarrassing Moore. The money was kept several months in a credenza in Clayton's offices until the Brilab scam broke into headlines. Clayton told reporters then he kept the money to return to Moore when he returned to the Capitol.

Hot Speaker's Race
The indictment came as no surprise to Clayton and other legislators: the campaign to replace Clayton heated up considerably the day before the grand jury's decision.

In a flurry of morning press conferences, the two leading Speaker candidates, Rep. Gib Lewis of Fort Worth and Rep. John Bryant of Dallas, claimed the advantage.

Lewis released a list of 92 names which he claims are pledged to vote for him in the event Clayton is not a candidate in January, 1981.

(A majority of 76 votes is needed to win the speaker's platform.) Lewis claimed victory.

Bryant disputed Lewis' claim, saying several on Lewis' list were persons yet to be re-elected. Bryant kept the names of his supporters a secret, saying that to expose them would leave them vulnerable to election defeat at the hands of his political foes.

Threats of Interference

Bryant's reference to danger for any legislator who publicly commits to a speaker's candidate is well-founded, but both sides are guilty of applying that same political pressure, Bryant as well as Lewis. A rule of thumb passing around the Capitol halls is that any legislator who pledges for Lewis can expect Bryant to meddle in his district elections, and vice versa.

While Capitol veterans are accepting this pressure as a political fact of life, many legislators are growing fed up with the threats of blood-letting... and so are voters back home as they become aware of it.

Texas Nuclear Waste
The House Committee on Environmental Affairs last week heard testimony that disposal sites for low-level nuclear waste materials from research labs and hospitals in Texas must be provided.

Much nuclear waste in Texas comes from research in medicine, and lack of disposal facilities will seriously compromise patient care in this state, according to one witness.

Currently, there are only three waste dumps in the U.S. and the Legislature was under pressure last session to create a Texas dump. That issue will undoubtedly undergo hot debate when the Legislature convenes in the spring.

Bullock Rebuffed
State Comptroller Bob Bullock does not have the authority to initiate audits and probes of how state agencies spend their funds, Attorney General Mark White ruled last week.

In a legal opinion, White ruled Bullock has ample authority to investigate and audit private taxpayers, but not state agencies. White upheld former Atty. Gen. John Hill's ruling on the matter two years ago.

Speeders and Funds

The State of Texas received a reprimand from the U.S. Department of Transportation for inadequate compliance with the 55-mile-per-hour speed law.

Coupled with the rebuke was a warning that Texas could lose up to $8 million in federal highway assistance.

The "nursing-bottle syndrome" or condition is a result of parents putting infants to bed with a bottle of sweetened beverage or milk. Saliva flows more slowly during sleep, and food sticks readily to the teeth. Bacteria produces acids which help decay the teeth.

Q: Is the additional 15% charged for no-fault by insurance companies mandated by state law? Also, how can I obtain a list of insurance companies that are not regulated by the State Board of Insurance?

A: Texas does not have "no-fault" auto insurance, although approximately 18 other states do have some form of it. In Texas, the personal injury protection rider attached to an auto policy is sometimes called "no-fault", but the rider may be rejected by the insured. Rates of all auto insurance companies except one are regulated by the State Board of Insurance. All insurance companies admitted to Texas are regulated, and you can request a list of these companies from the Board.

Q: My son married 20 years ago in Philadelphia. Just before his wife left him, six years ago, she informed him that they were not legally married because she had not divorced her first husband before marrying him. He now has proof that she did, in fact, obtain a divorce some three years after they were married. Will he need a lawyer to untangle this mess or can he get a simple divorce?

A: Under the Texas Family Code the marriage between your son and his wife was void because she was already married but it became valid when the prior marriage was dissolved. If your son can prove that after his wife's earlier divorce, the couple lived together and represented themselves as married, they may have created a common-law marriage. In that case, a divorce must be obtained to dissolve that marriage.

Q: If a father pays his court-ordered child support payments on time but is constantly denied his visitation rights, what actions may he take to insure that his rights are protected and what, if anything, will happen to his ex-wife?

A: A father's payment of court-ordered child support on time is not a pre-condition to visitation rights. If the specific terms and conditions for visitation are not complied with, the father can file a Motion for Contempt and request the Court to fine or imprison the ex-wife for her failure to comply with a previous order. At the hearing on a First Motion for Contempt, it is common for any such punishment to be suspended on the condition the person complies with the court's visitation order.

Q: When I was filling out a credit application recently, I noticed that the form included a question on whether I was single, divorced or married. Isn't there a new law prohibiting discrimination based on marital status in the granting of credit?

A: The new Equal Credit Opportunity Act does not prohibit a lender from asking about marital status, but the form may have only three categories: married, unmarried, and separated. The federal law does prohibit discrimination in the granting of credit. This means that the creditor may not withhold favorable treatment of your application simply because of your answer to the marital status question.

Gossip is one form of crime for which the law provides no punishment.

Did you hear about the grouch who had three telephones so he could hang up on more people?

If you can't be grateful for what you receive, be grateful for what you escape.

There's a fortune for the man who can find something to do with gossip besides repeating it.

The way to heaven is to turn right and keep straight.

It seems that many people these days are building new homes on the outskirts of their income.

Going to heaven is like riding a bicycle—you must go on or get off.

When Mother Nature distributed brains, a lot of her children must have been absent.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

The teasing showers around again left us with very little moisture, but its great that some area's received good measurements. What a difference in the beauty of our landscape since the rains began last month. To quote our State President, Mrs. Mickie of Ft. Worth "Little do we realize the Power of Beauty in our lives. Suppose there were no color in beauty. What a drab outlook it would be! No green grass, no colorful leaves, shrubs, flowers, sky, or bird plumage. The beauty of nature is all around us but what is needed is a keener awareness of it on our part."

I have often commented on the many beautiful shrubs, trees and wild flowers growing in Crockett County and I still think it one of the prettiest in Texas when we have good rains to fall.

Even the vegetable gardens make a beautiful picture in design and shades of green. That is one thing I miss, not having a little plot to dig in and try out new varieties of both flowers and vegetable.

Try a flowerbed without flowers. Now is the time to notice many yards in our city featuring caladiums in colorful groupings. Coleus is another plant well suited for shady gardens along with shade-loving annuals, such as impatiens, browallia and begonias. Copperleaf is a tropical shrub tolerant of most soils and needs full sun for best results. Leaves vary in color from dull bronze to reddish brown. In the fall, make cuttings of plants to grow indoors for the winter.

Daylilies are beginning to bloom over town so watch for the colors you may want next year. They take less care than most any perennial you can plant. Try some Queen Anne's lace with your daylilies next year to create a stunning effect in your garden. You will be seeing it along the roadsides now through June. Seeds are rarely found in garden catalogs, so make a note of where you see the plants in bloom, and return during July or August to collect seed from the dried stems. They can be sown outdoors in March or April or indoors 3 months before the last expected frost.

At the time, many insects, diseases, and nutrition problems can be easily solved if detected early, so check your vegetables, flowers and shrubs frequently for indications of trouble. If you wait until the damage becomes extensive, it may be too late for remedies.

CAKE OF THE MONTH-This groom's cake, created by Kaleta Shepperson was named cake of the month and appeared on the cover of a monthly magazine in full color. Three tiers high, it is topped with a brass cup filled with marzipan strawberries and leaves cascade down the side of the cake and white blossoms are placed here and there. Fresh ivy surrounds the cake board.

Cake of the month award to Ozonan

Kaleta Shepperson was awarded "Cake of the Month" by Mail Box News and her winning cake appears on the cover of the magazine for June. She was also awarded a $25 gift certificate.

Kaleta started decorating cakes late in life. She has always loved to cook, especially desserts, cakes and pies, but had never done any kind of wedding type cake. Some years ago she was asked to do a wedding cake because the mother of the bride-to-be did not want a commercial-tasting cake. Kaleta refused but the woman persisted and Kaleta finally gave in.

She sent for the materials and ordered a book on the art of cake decoration. For a solid month she studied and practiced the various techniques required for the cake. However, despite her worry, her first cake was a huge success and she was on her way to a new career. About a year after decorating her first successful wedding cake, she was able to take a cake decorating course. She has been turning out beautifully decorated cakes since that time.

The winning cake was a bridegroom's cake, chocolate with chocolate fudge icing. The cake is three hexagonal-shaped tiers, each two layers high. The chocolate frosting is decorated with shell borders at the bottom of each tier. She made marzipan strawberries and gum paste leaves and filled a brass cup, which she placed on top of the cake. These were allowed to cascade down the sides to the base board of the cake. She added a few white royal icing blossoms and finished the cake by placing fresh green ivy around the base on the cake board.

A Friend At Headquarters

sents millions of responsible people enjoying that common good.

Respect for Law and the desire for Order must be gained in childhood. Having a "friend at headquarters" helps.

But the heart of the matter is our early discovery of God. His love for us... His expectations of us... the hopes and promises that give life its highest meaning.

Headquarters for moral and spiritual growth is the Church, with its program of religious education. There can be found our most enriching friendships.

Independent Cattleman convene in S.A.

The Independent Cattleman's Association is having its 6th annual convention and trade show in San Antonio June 26, 27 and 28.

The theme of the convention is, "1980-A New Decade for Independent Cattlemen."

Former Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe, U.S. Sen. John Tower, Texas Animal Health Commission Executive Director Dr. John Holcombe and KTRH-Radio Farm Show personality Ben Oldag are among the top dignitaries who will attend the convention.

The headquarters hotel is the Hilton Palacio del Rio. All meetings and activities will take place at the San Antonio Convention Center near the Hilton.

"We have outstanding programs planned for all who attend and we encourage everyone interested in the future of the ranching and farming industry to come hear our speakers," said ICA President Roy Wheeler of Pleasanton.

Registration for the convention will be held from 2-6 p.m. at the Convention Center on Thursday, June 26.

Those who register are invited to attend a cocktail party at the Fiesta Room and River Court at the Convention Center from 6 to 8 p.m. Friday, June 27, at 10:15 a.m., Briscoe will address the first general session. He will be followed by Sen. Tower at 10:45 a.m.

ICA Executive Secretary Donald Hoffman and Legislative Director Charles Carter will give reports and Oldag, from the KTRH-Farm Show in Houston, will lead off the luncheon hour with his light-hearted perspective of the agriculture industry.

Afternoon sessions Friday will be highlighted by Dr. Holcombe, who will give a brucellosis overview. Larry D. White, Dr. Dennis Herd, Dr. Rex Jones and Dr. H.C. Lloyd will give two interest sessions each on pasture improvement and brush control, animal nutrition and cattle implants.

Denise Phelan of the Texas Rice Council will give cooking demonstrations using beef and rice.

An alcohol fuel symposium on "Small Scale Production of Ethanol from Grain" is scheduled July 1-2 at Texas A&M University.

Advance registration for the symposium, to be held at the Rudder Theatre, is underway now and will be accepted through June 23, says Billy Reager, County Extension Agent. Registration is limited, and people are encouraged to register early by contacting the county Extension office for registration forms and more details.

"Many organizations of The Texas A&M University System—including both the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Agricultural Extension Service—have joined forces to explore the various aspects of the ethanol issues," explained Reager.

Friday will be capped by a hospitality hour from 4:15 to 6 p.m. and a dance at the Hilton from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Saturday, June 28, the morning general session will feature Terry Stark, legislative assistant to Sen. Tower and Marty Clayton, legisla-

A Family Trip-A $20,000 Nightmare

by Gregory R. DeVore, M.D. and Helen Kuykendall DeVore

It is estimated that 30 million Americans will travel abroad during the coming 12 months for business or pleasure. Of these, an estimated 12,000 will die, 1 million will suffer some illness or injury, and an untold number will require emergency medical evacuation back to the United States.

Although billions of dollars will be spent for transportation, hotel accommodations, sightseeing tours and souvenirs, few Americans have considered the astronomical personal cost should they become seriously ill, or even die while abroad. Last year alone, the cost exceeded 120 million dollars for those requiring evacuation because of illness, injury or death. Equally disconcerting is the realization that often neither the United States government, nor other governments, for that matter, can be of assistance to the "stranded" traveler. The following story illustrates what might await the stricken voyager who is unprepared for a major medical emergency abroad. The events are true and did not happen to a friend or colleague, but to our family in late 1979.

The phone rang at 6 a.m. I answered it, wondering which patient was calling. The voice was barely audible: "Greg, it's Mom, how are you?" "Fine," I replied as my thoughts quickly came into focus. My parents had left for Tahiti three days before for their dream vacation. I wondered why she was calling, and then, before the words were uttered, I knew something was seriously wrong. "Your father had a massive heart attack a few hours ago and was flown from a small island to Tahiti. He is in a French hospital. I would like you to call the doctor and speak to him since you speak French. Your dad is in a lot of pain, and they are not giving him much pain medication." "Mom," I replied, "I'll catch the next flight from New York to Tahiti and be there as soon as possible."

The DC-10 landed at 2:30 a.m. in Pepee, Tahiti, less than twenty hours from our first telephone conversation. I met my mother who looked ashen, for she had not slept in days. As I entered my father's room, it reminded me of many pictures I had seen of hospitals at the turn of the century in the United States. The room had an odor of musty alcohol. It was dark gray. A pitcher, smelling of old urine, was lying open on the tray next to a glass of water. There was an antiquated cardiac monitor with no alarm in one corner of the room and a portable cardiac defibrillator in the other. I beheld a once-healthy 55-year-old man lying in bed with sunken eyes and an aura of impending death on his face, agonizing in pain, pleading for me to do something. It was a pitiful sight. I was his son, and yet I was a physician and could not let my emotions interfere.

I quickly turned to the nurse in the dimly lighted room and asked her in French what he was receiving for pain medication and when it had last been given. She replied that his last medication had been five hours earlier and that it was similar to codeine. I suggested that she give him a stronger narcotic, which she reluctantly did. In a short while he began to relax and finally dozed off to sleep. A few hours later I met with my father's physician, discussed the diagnosis and his plans for management. Although we entertained some management alternatives, I did not want to offend him, knowing that I would only make things difficult and would accomplish nothing at the moment.

I asked for permission to read the medical record and examine my father. This was granted. I noted that his blood pressure was 200/130. He had evidence of an inferior wall myocardial infarction on the ECG. On examination of his heart and lungs, I found that he was in florid congestive heart failure. This explained why he was so short of breath. I asked for the doctor, but he was not available. I asked to review the chest x-ray taken on admission, but was told that one had never been obtained. I then requested that the nurse contact the doctor and tell him of my findings so that adequate medical treatment could begin. A few hours passed. While I was out of the room the doctor returned with an interpreter and told my mother, "Tell your son that this is my hospital, my patient, and that he will not tell me what to do." My mother's reply... "Tell him yourself."

I was angered because this had taken place in front of my father. I found the doctor in the hallway and had a "long talk" about appropriate conversation in front of a patient as well as the management of congestive heart failure. After we resolved our "cultural and professional differences," we returned to my father's room where the French physician examined my father and concurred with the diagnosis. He then ordered the appropriate medication.

My father's condition improved slowly. He remained for 12 days in the "intensive care room" and another 18 days in a "private room." During the first part of his confinement his toilet consisted of a rusted bucket. My mother tidied up the room, bought some toilet paper, towels and soap, washed his eating utensils, (since they were not always cleaned), and covered the open urinal with plastic so the smell would not be so unbearable.

Attempts to arrange for medical evacuation of my father with the assistance of the State Department were met with frustration. They informed us that (1) air-ambulance transportation to the United States would cost $2,000, then $4,000 and finally $10,400, (2) the evacuation had to be in the "National Interest" and (3) an airplane would fly from Tahiti-Hawaii-San Francisco over a two day period. It was propeller driven, flew at 10,000 feet and was less pressurized than a commercial airliner. When a request for direct jet transportation from Tahiti to San Francisco was pursued because the flying time would only be 8 hours instead of 24 hours via Hawaii, we were informed that the cost would be $72,000, paid in full prior to departure. Frustrated with the "assistance" from the federal government, arrangements were made for my father to return home on a stretcher by commercial airliner to Los Angeles and then by air-ambulance to San Francisco at a cost of over $8,000. Although this was less than optimal because of the unavailability of cardiac monitoring or resuscitation equipment, we took the chance because no other alternatives were reasonable.

After finally returning home, my father was hospitalized at a local hospital in northern California for another two weeks. My mother had exhausted most of their personal savings in making arrangements for her husband's safe return to the United States. The total cost for hotels, phone calls, transportation, hospital and doctor bills approached $20,000.

After reading the account of one family's struggle to bring a severely ill father home safely, most people can imagine how their family and friends might respond in a similar situation. Not all travelers have a son who is a physician or speaks a foreign tongue. Many do not have the financial resources to draw upon in such an emergency.

What can be done to prevent this story from repeating itself thousands of times during the coming year? The following information has been compiled so that future travelers might avoid our harrowing experience.

Medical Tips-Carry a pocket copy of your most recent electro-cardiogram which can be obtained from your doctor.

Know the medications you are taking by both the trade and generic names as well as the actual dosage in milligrams, grams, etc.

Maintain an updated abbreviated summary of your medical history which details (1) all surgical procedures and their outcome, (2) all medical problems such as hypertension, diabetes, heart attacks, etc., (3) drug allergies, (4) current treatments for active medical problems and (5) the name and telephone number of your doctor.

Take with you enough medication should you develop "travelers diarrhea." Most medications are by prescription only.

Travel Insurance-After evaluating the experience and difficulties encountered in the above story, the following points are of utmost importance in purchasing a policy:

Make sure that it pays not only for transportation to the nearest medical facility, but to a hospital near the individual's home in the United States so that he or she can return as soon as possible with medical assistance. This alleviates the possibility of having to care for a loved one for a month or longer in another country while awaiting clearance to return home by a commercial airliner. This also insures that the medical care rendered will not be inferior to that which is available in the United States.

Inquire if the company providing the coverage is underwritten. This protects the individual should the company not be able to honor their commitments because of bankruptcy, etc.

If death should occur, make certain that the company not only provides assistance with making the necessary arrangements for transportation of the body, but will incur all expenses for the transportation as well.

Is the cost of the policy affordable for the average tourist. Beware of coverage which is too "inexpensive." You always "get what you pay for."

Does the company provide a 24 hour message center so that relatives and friends can telephone toll-free for the latest "health care information." This can save the stricken family thousands of dollars and phone calls to keep family members and friends posted during the critical time period.

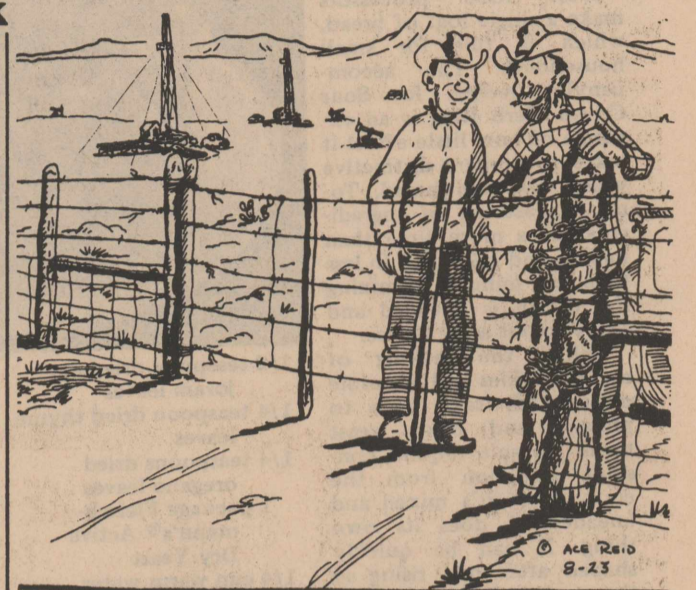

Does the company offering the above benefits also provide, under a separate package, insurance which will cover all hospital expenses while abroad and pay for them before leaving to return home. This is important because most major health insurance companies in the United States only reimburse the patient after they or the hospital have submitted the bill. Hospitals in foreign countries do not honor this method of payment and demand that all hospital and doctor bills be paid in full prior to release of the patient.

After much inquiry and investigation, the only company which provides all of the above services is NEAR, INC., 1900 N. MacArthur Boulevard, Suite 210, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73127. Telephone Number (405) 949-2500. According to Mr. Joseph Travis, Chairman of the Board, NEAR, INC. will pay for all costs incurred for transportation of the ill or injured home by air-ambulance; is underwritten by Lloyd's of London worldwide; Pays for and makes arrangements for the transportation of the body should death occur; has memberships which range from a single individual to an entire family (A family, for example, is covered for one full year regardless of where they travel throughout the world for $48.00); and has a

Wildcats slated for county fields

Marshall R. Young Oil Co., Fort Worth, will drill the No. 1 Dudley, et al, a 11,500-foot wildcat in Crockett County, two miles west and slightly south of the opener of the two-well Dudley (Devonian gas) field, five miles northwest of the Cox (Canyon and Strawn gas) field, separated by a 10,200-foot failure, 2 7/8 mile north of a 12,400-foot failure and 30 miles southwest of Ozona.

Location is 1,320 feet from the north and 3,910 feet from the east lines of 26-1-I&GNRR. Ground elevation is 2,519 feet.

The Dudley field produces at 9,408 feet; the Cox field produces from the Strawn at 9,584 feet and the Canyon at 6,477 feet.

The failure, Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1 Hoover, was abandoned in July 1977.

Grayburg gas production was extended 5/8-mile southeast in the Crockett County portion of the Onlaw (Grayburg and Queen gas) field with completion of C.F. Lawrence & Associates, Midland, No. 3-64-W Half, six miles south of Iran, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 1.5 million cubic feet of gas daily. Production was through perforations at 1,349-416 feet, which had been acidized with 1,200 gallons and fractured with 20,000 gallons.

Drilled to 1,525 feet, where 5/2-inch casing was set, it is plugged back to 1,463 feet.

Location is 990 feet from the north and 6,400 feet from the west half of 64-1-I&GNRR (Midland Map Co. shows the west half of the section to measure only 5,400 feet).

The field was opened in Pecos County and production is assigned to District 8.

LABOR-SAVER BREADS

Growth to the convenience food industry is an indication that time and labor-saving meals have considerable appeal for modern cooks. And the sales of small appliances, such as food processors, appear to confirm it. How much time and work new products save is actually up to the user. Savvy cooks may not be tempted to change their ways, but adventurous cooks seem to welcome innovations. One of the recent ones is making yeast bread in a food processor.

Most food processors make a single loaf of bread, which is fine for small households. The accompanying recipe, for Sour Cream Herb Ring, is an example of how little effort it takes to prepare distinctive yeast rolls and bread. Today, measuring of ingredients takes more time than mixing and kneading. In less than two minutes of mixing the dough is kneaded and ready to put aside to rise.

Unlike the making of cakes, cookies and casserole dishes that take time to prepare and bake, yeast bread doesn't require constant attention from the cook. Once it's mixed and kneaded, it does its own thing. It can be quickly shaped after one rising so the cook is free to perform other kitchen tasks. The aromatic blend of herb and sour cream flavor makes the following recipe a superb accompaniment for soups and salads and summer meals.

HERB SOUR CREAM RING

Makes 1 loaf

2-3/4 cups unsifted flour
5 tablespoons Fleischmann's® Margarine
3 tablespoons sugar

1/2 teaspoon dried marjoram leaves
1/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
1/4 teaspoon dried oregano leaves
1 package Fleischmann's® Active Dry Yeast
1/4 cup warm water (105° F.-115° F.)
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 cup milk

Food Processor Preparation
With metal blade in place combine flour, 3 tablespoons margarine, sugar, marjoram, thyme and oregano in bowl; process 5-10 seconds to combine. Dissolve yeast in warm water; pour through feed tube. Add sour cream and begin processing. Pour milk through feed tube in a fast stream until ball forms, about 10-15 seconds. Continue processing for 60 seconds to knead dough.

Carefully remove dough from processor bowl. Shape into a ball and place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Divide into 10 pieces and shape each into a ball. Arrange balls in a circle in a greased 6-1/2 cup ring mold. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour, 10 minutes.

Melt remaining margarine; pour over dough. Bake at 375° F. for 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from pan and cool on wire rack.

Annual vines in landscape

Annual vines are often overlooked as a method of dressing up a landscape, according to Dr. William Welch, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Annual vines do not have the tearing habit often associated with their perennial counterparts. They will not damage brick, mortar or wood, points out Welch.

C of C annual events

Annual Chamber of Commerce sponsored events get under way Sunday, June 29, with city-wide church in the park at 7:00 p.m. Everyone is invited to bring supper and enjoy the music, singing and a "bit of preaching," according to chamber manager Beth Boyd.

Entry forms for the second annual Ozona Tennis Tournament are ready and may be picked up at the chamber office. Last year there were 36 entries with 16 out of town teams. The Tournament will be held the middle of July.

August 1-2 will be the annual Junior Rodeo. Entry blanks will be available at the chamber office next month.

The annual pet show will be held August 23, for children under the age of 12 years. Trophies will be awarded for the largest, smallest, best dressed and most unusual pets.

The annual Halloween carnival will be held Oct. 31 in the park. All organizations are welcome to have a booth. Information on prizes and new games may be obtained at the chamber office.

The chamber will sponsor an open Turkey Shoot November 1, at the rifle range with everyone invited to take part.

Justin Wilson has been engaged as guest entertainer for the 1981 banquet.

What's the difference between scissors and shears? There is one. Scissors are usually made with two ring handles—each large enough for one finger. Shears have one ring for the thumb and one long ring for two or more fingers.

Crockett County Care Center News

by Joan Nicholas - Director of Activities & Social Care

On Friday morning we had a very, very happy lady in our midst!

I mentioned last week that Dorothy Doll had given us a beautifully crocheted afghan to be given as a bingo prize. Well, after our regular weekly contest was completed, we played a "blackout" game (covering all numbers on card) to see who would win the special prize. Gertrude Daniels was the first to cover her card. She was thrilled and said she had always wanted one.

Many of our ladies have these brightly colored additions to dress up their beds, and now Gertrude has one, too. Everyone was happy for her. And we thank Dorothy again.

We had to have a play-off for the gift certificate between Bernarda Aguirre and Frances Borrego; the former won the certificate donated by Watson's Department Store, and Frances won second prize.

In dominoes, Mary Pender was winner and Maude Pettit runner up playing with Paul Cavin and Louise McWilliams. At another table playing with Evelyn Bryant, Seferino Garcia was the winner.

In Bible class we read a Psalm with each member of the class participating. Maudie read a daily inspirational and I included the Corrie ten Boom devotional for the day before passing on to our regularly planned lesson. Then we did our exercises together.

When I was playing the piano later, I noticed there was a sudden exodus onto the front patio, and I thought to myself, "good gracious, I must be murdering this piano today" then I saw what the attraction was--great-grandma Louise McWilliams' twin babies, Amber and Autumn, had come to call and were holding court out front. Of course, I joined the throng to admire these darling baby girls brought over by their mother, and took a picture of the proud great-grandparent with the little girls for our album.

I want to thank Mrs. Viola Stanton for the up-to-date magazines she brings us regularly; also we really enjoyed the flowers brought to us from the Max Schneeman's party and would like to offer our congratulations to this fine couple.

A few weeks ago Sadie Whitehurst brought over patterns for an owl and a poodle, so in crafts last week we cut felt pieces for the owls and furry material to make poodles. We will probably continue with this project this week. They will have little magnets on the back.

I have scheduled Tuesday evening, July 8th, for our informal ice cream party to honor our volunteers and to say thank you to the people who make our full program possible. Families and friends of residents are invited to come and join us. There will be more details about this Volunteer Appreciation night later.

The Knox band will be making a return visit this Thursday evening, and we have been invited to the Senior Citizen Dance at the Civic Center on Friday evening. I have an appointment in San Angelo late in the afternoon that day, and two or three have indicated a desire to go to the social and dance, so possibly I can make arrangements for them to go if I am not back in time.

During our reading and discussion group we took material from the Good Old Days magazine which led to a discussion of how, if at all, W.W. I affected members of the group.

Terrell Co. diamond jubilee

The residents of Sander-son are planning a truly unique celebration. On the 4th and 5th of July they are going to celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of Terrell County.

Some of the various events for the two day celebration are still tentative-Run for Fun, etc.

The celebration will begin on the 4th with a parade down main street with Tom Loeffler, US Congressman serving as Grand Marshall. The parade will end at Terrell County Courthouse where various individuals, including Tom Loeffler will speak. At noon the world famous Odessa Chuck Wag-on gang will serve barbeque on the Courthouse lawn.

The Terrell County Historical Commission will register individuals and will be in charge of the Old Timers Reunion at the Courthouse lawn from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Various organizations and individuals will have food for sale, raffles and arts and crafts sales. At the high school library there will be more arts and crafts, photographic and organizational displays. At the county courthouse there will be antique displays. Also during the afternoon, winners of the beard growing contest and best period costumes contest will be recognized.

Sanderson High School class reunions will begin at 4 p.m. in the high school building.

A street dance with Charlie Cook's band from El Paso will begin at 9 p.m. and later that evening the Sanderson Jaycees will have a fireworks display.

There will be two days of roping with events beginning at 2 p.m. each day.

On Saturday along with the roping at the Sanderson Arena there will be more activities at the Courthouse. Sheep pill throwing, frisbee throwing, arts and crafts sale and a domino tournament are just a few of the activities that will begin at 1 p.m. There will be another dance that evening at St. James Hall sponsored by the Jaycees.

Residents of Ozona are urged to attend. Local artists are invited to display and sell their wares at the Courthouse. Individuals must bring their own tables but will not be charged any fee whatsoever.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay
Talk about courage in sports--did you know there was a man with just one leg who played major league baseball?...Bert Shepard lost his right leg in World War II, but he learned to walk and run on an artificial leg--and he made the majors as a pitcher with the Washington Senators...Shepard played big league baseball in the 1945 season.

Of all the big league baseball parks in this century, which one had the shortest distance from home plate to an outfield fence?...It was the Los Angeles Coliseum, which the Dodgers used as their home field from 1958 through 1961...Home plate to left field was only 251 feet.

Do you know that outfielder Dave Kingman of the Chicago Cubs has one of the highest frequencies of striking out in big league baseball history?... Going into this season, Kingman had 3,584 career at bats and struck out 1,095 times--meaning he has struck out almost one out of every 3 times up...Other current regular players who have a high career strike out ratio are Reggie Jackson, Bobby Bonds and Willie Stargell who have all averaged about one strike out every 4 times up.

I bet you didn't know... L-B Motor Co. has the car or pickup you are looking for. Come by and get that new vehicle for the big summer trip you are planning. We have many Oldsmobiles, Pontiacs, Chevrolets, Buicks, Oldsmobiles and Cadillacs to choose from.
