Mr. Odom buried here today

Funeral services for Worth Odom, 74, were held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in Ozona United Methodist Church with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery under the direction of Sizemore Funeral Home.

Mr. Odom died Monday at 3:30 a.m. in Baptist Memorial Geriatrics Hospital following an illness of several months.

Mr. Odom was born in Ozona November 20, 1905, the son of Paschal and Effie Sowell Odom, early Crockett County settlers. He was married to Margaret Bailey, December 19, 1924 in Ozona.

He ranched in Crockett, Pecos and Terrell counties and 17 years at Las Vegas, N.M. He was a member of the Iraan School Board, serving as president for several years; a member of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers

Survivors include his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Bob Jennings of La Plata, N.M.; Mrs. E.B. Holland, Jr., of Fort Stockton, and Jean Easley of San Angelo; a brother, Paschal Odom of El Paso, a sister, Elizabeth Cooper of San Antonio; ten grandchildren, and six great grandchildren.

KIDS MAKE SHORT WORK of a large pinata in the shape of a fish, depicting the Devil's River minnow at the all-day barbecue held Sunday at the Hudspeth River Ranch. The event, hosted by landowners in the area, was in appreciation to those who assisted in getting the proposal for "Critical Habitat" status for the minnow dismissed.

Minnow warriors claim victory

A large crowd gathered at the Hudspeth River Ranch Sunday to celebrate the winning of the "Minnow War," a name given to the confrontation of "people versus government," which came about when the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service submitted plans to place the Devil's River Minnow on the Endangered Species list and thereby place the Devil's River and all its tributaries under federal regulation. A move which would have affected all drainage into the Devil's River and San Felipe Creek from Sutton, Val Verde, Crockett and parts of Reagan counties.

At a public hearing in Del Rio July 23, landowners, businessmen and other interested persons voiced objections. State Representative Susan McBee and U.S. Congressman Tom Loeffler went to bat for the people. Senator John Tower also assisted.

The end result was the withdrawing of the proposal by the department on August 13.

Over 350 persons attended the all-day barbecue victory celebration. All landowners in the area hosted the event and it was reminiscent of an old-fashioned Labor Day political picnic.

Before dinner, Mrs. Claudia Bell, whose ranch home was the site of the event, welcomed guests and introduced Susan McBee and Tom Loeffler. Both spoke briefly. Following the meal, Mrs. Jay Thompson spoke on the events leading up to that day, after thanking members of the news media for their assistance. She was interrupted by applause several times. Especially as she pointed out the evils of the malignant bureaucracy which is spelling the doom of freedom in the United States. She also pointed out the true cause for the celebration was the fact the people won out over the faceless, mindless regulators who make up the ever-expanding bureaucracy.

Guests enjoyed visiting and an abundant meal of barbecued goat and beef, beans, camp bread made at the site, and all the trimmings. A huge table of deserts wrecked many diets that day. All kinds of cakes, pies and cobbler were offered. A mariachi band furnished music during the day and gave all the old favorites, country-western and Mexican music. They were an outstanding group and the crowd was well entertained.

Youngsters had a field day too, and a special treat was the breaking of the pinata. The huge, candy-filled, fish was decimated in a matter of seconds and not a scrap of treasure was left on the ground.

Graveside services for Mr. Black

Graveside services for Maurice W. Black, 75, were held Monday at 3 p.m. in Cedar Hill Cemetery directed by Masonic Lodge No. 747.

Mr. Black died at 1:10 p.m. Sunday in Odessa Medical Center after a long illness.

He was born Nov. 18, 1904, in Kerens. He was married to Clafflin Cooke in 1930 in Del Rio. He was a rancher and Past Master of Masonic Lodge No. 1251 in Rankin.

Survivors include his wife; a daughter, Dixie Glasscock of Abilene; a son, Maurice W. Black, Jr. of Odessa; two sisters, Jean Rehm of Brownwood and Lola Belle McShan of Brady; four brothers, Pat Black of Quemado, C.B. Black of Marfa, Kay Black of Roby, and Ed Black of Brady; three grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Drought stunts deer population

Recent rains resulting from hurricane activity will have little effect on deer herds in Southwest Texas and the Rio Grande Plains, according to Dr. Dwight Guynn, area wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Some new plant growth will be generated from the moisture received, but most of the damage has already been done by the extended drought, he points out.

"It's a classic case of too little rain received too late to be a great deal of help," Guynn says. "Some deer on the brink of starvation will be saved, but the number won't be significant."

Guynn continues to emphasize that overpopulation of deer in certain areas has resulted in large starvation deaths, up to 60 percent in some parts of the Hill Country and South Texas. Even with such losses, Guynn says ample deer will be available in most areas of Texas for hunting this fall.

"There should be plenty around, but hunters will be confronted with more smaller, inferior deer which have survived the drought but suffered its effects," he explains. "Antlers may be somewhat smaller this year due to the lack of nutrition which occurred this summer when bucks were developing them."

Guynn stresses that good antler development is directly associated with proper nutrition, a luxury that deer and other wildlife species have been virtually without most of the year.

This year Guynn is encouraging landowners and ranchers to harvest more deer than in recent hunting seasons. These "reproductive factories" of the deer herd, if left untouched, will continue to re-populate, continuing the cycle and resulting in more deer than ranches can support. Guynn suggests that a significant doe harvest in most areas this fall is the only measure outside starvation that can keep deer numbers in balance with deer food sources.

The wildlife expert looks upon the approaching hunting season as a true test for many landowners and wild game hunting operators.

"They must decide if their deer should be harvested this fall through sport or be subjected to endure the winter, quite possibly without sufficient food. We encourage more doe harvesting where necessary so this critical deer-forage balance can be achieved," he says.

Those in question should check with the local county Extension agent for methods that can be used to help determine deer populations.

L.B.T. Sikes named Educator of Month

[Ed. note-Former Ozonan L.B.T. Sikes was honored as Educator of the Month by Texas educators and the following write up appeared in the TSB August publication.]

L.B.T. SIKES by Raymond Trotter, Superintendent Hardin I.S.D.

Before Texas gained statehood, a newcomer arrived in what is now the city of Texarkana.

He asked an older local resident, "How far is it to El Paso?" With a stern and serious facial expression, the older Texan replied, "A life time, son. A life time."

Leonard, Texas is not too far from Texarkana. Ozona is just a little farther from El Paso.

L.B.T. Sikes, Executive Director, Texas Association of Community Schools has devoted most of his professional career to his journey from Leonard to Ozona-by way of Paris, College Station, Rosebud, Wortham, Calvert and Austin.

After a successful coaching career and subsequently as Ozona High School Principal, Sikes was offered the Superintendent job in Wortham. A brief 3 years later, the school board in Calvert selected him as their Superintendent. Only 2 years transpired when once again he was on his way back to Ozona--this time to be Superintendent of the Crockett County Consolidated CSD (Ozona). Sikes put his moving van in mothballs for 22 years after arriving in Ozona the second time.

Upon a moment's notice (often, without notice), he will affectionately recall at length any one or all of those 22 years as Superintendent of the Crockett County Consolidated CSD.

In his own inimitable and candid manner, he has been heard to say on more than a few occasions, "We had the best school system in Texas."

Sikes' explanation of why Ozona had the best system in Texas is rather convincing. "The first thing we did was to attract and retain some of the best teachers in Texas," he states.

"We kept the student-teacher ratio relatively low-no more than 1-24 most of the time. We believe that school is a place to learn and to enjoy," he quickly affirms.

Not even the disastrous flood in 1954 could thwart Sikes' enthusiastic spirit for the school system and the community. "That flood," he recalls, "almost wiped us out, but the community rallied and came back stronger than ever. They (Ozona citizens) are wonderful people," says Sikes.

The youngest of 8 children growing up on a small farm near Leonard with his widowed mother, Sikes learned first hand about team work, self discipline, hard work and the worth and dignity of every individual. These character traits carried over into his days as a college athlete in Paris Junior College and at Texas A&M College. He is a graduate of each institution.

Then, in his professional career, it seemed only natural for him to evoke the very best from those he coached, taught and those with whom he worked and led.

Numerous testimonies from former athletes, students, and colleagues attest and confirm that L.B.T. Sikes is a natural teacher from his first day in the classroom. With pride, Sikes proclaims, "I've been a teacher all my life."

LEADING THE CHEERING SECTION for the Ozona

right, they are Mylene Najar, Marla Wilson, Teresa Lee, Tammy Cooke and Irma To-bar.

Barker receives promotion

Ed Barker, police communications officer with the Department of Public Safety here for the past seven years, has been promoted to Regional Adjutant for the DPS, and will move to Midland September 15.

Barker received the promotion after an examination and going before an oral interview board. He was selected from several applicants.

He will be supervising the clerical pool and be over the maintenance budget for the entire region. The Midland region is bounded by El Paso, Abilene, Brownwood, San Angelo and Del Rio. Barker moved to Ozona in June of 1973 with his wife, June, and son, Charles. The Ozona DPS was Barker's first assignment with the department and he has been here since that time.

R.B. Babbitt, who heads up the local DPS communications organization, said the department hoped to fill the position with a local person.

Area golfers take honors

Several Ozona golfers were among the winners in the Del Rio Labor Day Golf Tournament held over the holiday weekend at the San Felipe Country Club.

Mike Williams won the championship consolation flight. He was also medalist on Friday.

Duane Childress won the first flight consolation. Billy Carson took first place in the third flight and Randy Upham came in third. P.L. Childress placed 4th in the fifth flight.

A professional career is a relative matter--many years for some, not so many for others.

For L.B.T. Sikes, the number of years in a professional career seem to be of least significance. His unselfish leadership, dedication and devotion to the teaching profession seem to be of greatest importance. "Of such," wrote a poet, "is the essence of life."

Close friends and colleagues of L.B.T. Sikes agree that a professional career of moving upward should add credibility to his position.

At one of the milestones between Leonard-Ozona-Austin and other points, he married the prettiest girl in Rosebud--Geraldine Thrasher.

Along the way, they added David, Richard, and Betsy. Richard is Assistant Business Manager in the San Angelo I.S.D.

David lives in Rockwall and is employed with E Systems in Greenville.

Betsy is soon to earn her Masters Degree from Sul Ross State University. She plans a teaching and coaching career.

"A leader--an educational leader in that order," is the one liner expressed by a long-time friend and professional associate of Sikes.

What's in It for Me?

by John W. Fisher

Americans are busy people. And in the rush of our day-to-day lives, it is sometimes hard to find the time to sit down to think. Issues grow more and more complex, adversarial points of view are more forcefully stated. One such issue is profit. What's in it for the average person when a company reports a profit? How does it benefit the consumer when a factory in the community announces an increase in productivity or a business improves work efficiency?

When we take time to think these things through, we see that there is indeed a community of interest between companies and employees and, moreover, between companies and the communities in which they operate. This means that the basic issues of business and industry are consumer issues. The consumer evaluates the products and services that a business provides. The consumer determines by marketplace choices whether or not that business will continue. And all of us are consumers. In that regard, we together decide the fate of various companies each time we make purchasing decisions.

Thus, it is clearly in the interest of business to produce goods and services that the consumer prefers and at a price and quality that are competitive. At the same time, too, businesses have responsibilities to their employees and to their shareholders.

More than any other single group, employees determine whether or not a business will succeed in the marketplace. Their dedication, enthusiasm, innovation, vigor and productivity make businesses flourish. When employees become unhappy, unmotivated or otherwise dissatisfied at work, that fact shows up in decreased productivity, poor quality, and decreased profitability. When this occurs, two immediate negative results follow: the business is less sound and jobs are less secure.

All of us instinctively understand the importance of job security to individual employees and their families. But it is not always so clear what happens to the community as a whole when a business begins to decline.

When a business earns less money, it pays less taxes, not only to the federal government, but to the town or city in which it is operating. Locally, the number of jobs, the amount of payroll, and business purchases inevitably decline. An unprofitable business is also unlikely to be a competitive business. As American business becomes less competitive in the international marketplace, consumers purchase more goods produced abroad. Additional American jobs may disappear in this process.

A good workplace means a profitable company as well as happy employees and greater and freer choice for consumers. In this instance, business and the consumer are inevitably and closely tied together, and those people who would divide business from the consumer perform a disservice to both. It is the partnership of business and the consumer that has brought America to her leadership position in the world and this continued interdependence will make it possible to face the future with her traditional spirit of confidence, optimism and adventure.

Mr. Fisher is chairman of the National Association of Manufacturers.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

September 2, 1980
Dear Kitty:

I would like to comment on the hospital problem. In my letter I hope not to make people more angry about it.

Some say the hospital is not used. Actually, the first six months of 1980, I have had 335 patient admissions to the hospital. This is more than all admissions several years ago. In my active file which extends back five years, I have 6288 patients, so there has been the possibility of that number using the hospital. We have patients from Sanderson, Sonora, Mertzon, Big Lake, Sheffield, and Iraan here frequently. There are a few, about two a year, who refuse to go to this hospital. Some of those make use of the outpatient services. The hospital is used.

"You can't get good medical care there." "It's just a first-aid station." These are two very common statements.

awarding a lucrative state employee insurance contract.

Clayton, himself, is optimistic he will be found innocent, and, in fact, he pushed hard for this early trial date to clear his name before the general election on Nov. 4. He is seeking an unprecedented fourth term as Texas House Speaker.

The millionaire farmer-businessman from the Panhandle does not lack for supporters in the Legislature. If he is cleared early, he can probably count on that support and nail down his fourth term.

Should the trial linger on, Clayton may become a political liability to those supporters. Clayton's opposition may well try to make him an issue in the last few weeks of the campaign season.

The Texas House seems to have recovered from the initial shock of the indictment announcements, and business goes on as usual. Speculation on the trial's outcome is not a wide or loud topic. Clayton's faction fully expects him to be acquitted, his opposition expects him to fail.

Medicaid Dispute

The dispute over who will receive the state's lucrative Medicaid contract will cost the taxpayers an additional $100 million. The Texas Department of Human Resources board will spend that much on an independent consulting firm to evaluate controversial bids.

The Medicaid saga, short but not sweet, began this summer when the board voted to give the contract to low-bidder Bradford National Co. of New York instead of Texas millionaire H. Ross Perot's Austin-based company (which held the 1980 contract).

Perot then met privately with each board member and asked the bid be reconsidered. The board did reconsider it, but Bradford threatened to sue and took full page ads in several major newspapers in a public plea. Perot's company threatened a lawsuit and the board found itself between a rock and a hard place. The independent consulting firm it hopes to hire should supply data the board will need to avoid a lawsuit from either direction.

Tuition Hike Sought

A legislative panel last week recommended higher faculty pay and double minimum tuition rates for college and university students.

If approved by the 1981 Legislature, the recommendations would raise faculty salaries by 40 percent and raise tuition at medical schools by 90 percent — from $400 to $3,600 a year.

The Special Committee on Higher Education Financing in Texas, which formed the recommendations, is headed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Clayton. Texas ranks 46th in the nation in tuition rates.

State and Religion

A Texas House committee upheld the state's Child Care Licensing Act, the main bone of contention in the running battle between the state and evangelist Lester Roloff over regulation of his children's schools.

The committee found no constitutional problems with the act which requires all such school facilities to be licensed by the state. Roloff had refused to seek the license, calling it a state invasion into the domain of his church. He was forced to temporarily close his facilities.

The committee did recommend the Legislature clarify its intent with respect to religious liberty and religious education.

Garcia Testifies

Texas representative Matt Garcia of San Antonio faced tough questioning from the U.S. Senate Judiciary Committee holding confirmation hearings on his appointment as head of the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Republican members of the committee appeared ready to stall the confirmation of Garcia, a Democrat and longtime supporter of President Carter, until after the Nov. 4 election.

Four more years?

What will happen if we have four more years of the government policies now in effect?

One doesn't need a crystal ball to understand that economic deterioration will be widespread if fundamental changes aren't made in the months ahead.

The U.S. automobile industry is likely to be a state of collapse if the regulatory burden isn't reduced. The Chrysler Corp. already is a virtual ward of the U.S. government. If the other giants continue to suffer, demands will be heard for more Chrysler-type financial aid. In any case, a weakening of the industry would affect thousands of suppliers and distributors of auto parts, equipment and materials.

The nation's steel industry is declining in size and vigor. Four more years of federal demands for massive investments in anti-pollution devices would strip the industry of resources for rebuilding plants and regaining a competitive position. In the year past, one steel-maker was compelled to agree to spending $400 million for anti-pollution devices. That's $400 million taken away from investment in productive equipment.

Four more years of current energy policies will mean no growth in nuclear power generation and only marginal growth in coal production. The federal Department of Energy will be bigger and more costlier than ever. Raids on the treasuries of energy companies will be more frequent, as earnings necessary for energy exploration and produc-

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

If the inflation rate could be brought down to 5.9 percent this year, everyone would be delighted. Politicians would stampede to take credit for the near-miraculous feat. But in 1970, when that WAS the inflation rate, the figure caused alarm and indignation. People feared for the state of the economy.

Now, economists and government officials yearn for a 10 percent rate of inflation. That would mean prices would double only every 7.2 years.

The consumer price index—the most commonly used measure of inflation—was 18 percent for the first quarter, and then dropped in the second quarter to 11.6 percent. That sounds like a big improvement, even if it was the result of recession. But the consumer price index is not the best measure of what is happening to the inflation rate because home mortgage rates are a major factor in calculating it. For the CPI to be an accurate indication, every family would have to buy a home every month.

The most comprehensive measure of inflation in the economy—called by economists the "implicit gross national product deflator"—rose from 9.5 percent in the first quarter to 10.4 percent in the second quarter. In 1976, it was 5.2 percent. All this indicates we are not winning the battle against inflation. Finally, the astounding 1.7 percent one-month jump in the producer price index—a measure of wholesale prices—indicates there may be even more serious trouble ahead.

The Carter Administration's commitment to fighting inflation was questionable from the start, in spite of loud public promises to make that battle the first priority. This Administration has accumulated $132.1 billion in actual and estimated deficits, more than the combined total deficits from the end of World War II until 1972. Federal tax receipts this year will gobble up 22.4 percent of our gross national product compared to only 21.9 percent at the height of World War II. In fact, taxes have increased from $357 billion in 1977 to a proposed $628 billion in 1981.

Personal income has not begun to keep pace, as every family knows. Government economists tells us that incomes from wages and salaries actually dropped last month.

Home mortgage rates, which plunged as the full impact of housing costs and recession hit potential home owners, are on the rise again. Food costs for months kept the rate of inflation down with prices so low that farmers have been driven into bankruptcy by the thousands. Now drought, and the cuts in production that were inevitable when farmers were unable to make a living with their business, have started to push food prices up to realistic levels.

Yet, at this critical time, even the half-hearted inflation battle waged by the Administration is in danger of faltering. The President now asserts that creating jobs is the number one priority of the federal government. Does that mean hundreds of thousands of artificial make-work jobs at a cost of billions of dollars? Certainly, he already is under pressure to take that step. Unemployment is a serious problem, one that damages our nation's economic health and causes personal suffering. But inflation hits every American, and the unemployed most of all. We must work to solve our unemployment problem. However, if we lose sight of the overriding need to control inflation, we will not have helped anyone.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Now that the fall months are beginning, you may be wanting to start planting. The Texas Agriculture Extension Service map has Ozona placed in Region II. Here the first killing frost usually occurs between Nov. 1 and Nov. 16. As dry as it has been here this summer, you may want to terminate spring-planted vegetables and start an early fall garden.

Plant long-term, frost tolerant vegetables which include beets, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, chard, collards, garlic, kale, lettuce, mustard, onions, parsley, spinach and turnips. Plant short-term, frost susceptible vegetables together so they can be removed after being killed by frost. These include beans, corn, cucumber, eggplant, okra, peas, peppers, Irish potatoes, cantaloupes, sweet potatoes, squash, tomatoes and watermelons.

During early fall, also plant flowering annuals which bloom in late fall. Young plants of snapdragons, pansies, stock and calendulas are among them. If very hot, shade them lightly for several days. Sweet peas planted in September may be expected to bloom from Christmas on.

During the growing season, especially when it's hot and dry, give roses at least 1 inch of water per week. Remember that a deep soaking twice a week is preferable to daily light sprinklings. A soaker hose is best in order to avoid wetting the foliage. You can conserve soil moisture by mulching plants with several inches of organic material and will help protect tender roots from heat damage. Continue feeding established roses every 4 to 6 weeks through the end of the growing season, applying 1 1/4 pounds of 8-14-5 per 50 square feet of bed area. Water thoroughly before and after each application.

I notice trees and shrubs over our city are dying for the need of a good slow soaking of water, especially if you don't want to lose them.

Two flowering shrubs in Ozona that can really take the hot sun and very little water are the Senisa and crepe myrtle. They have been on display for a week or more.

Dove season opens

Dove season got underway with its usual "bang" Monday morning, but wildlife biologists predict this year's season may not be as good as those of previous years. The drought is blamed for low dove populations in West Texas.

Locally, hunters believe the season will be good and some large concentrations of dove have been reported in the county. Many predict that water hole shootings will be good this season due to the scarcity of rain. Tanks where livestock feeding has been going on for some months should prove most productive in late afternoon.

Last year's dove hunt was a split season, but the 1980 dove harvest will be from Sept. 1 to Oct. 30. Bag limits will remain the same, 10 birds per day. Dove hunters who will be hunting outside their home county need to be mindful that 1980-81 hunting licenses will be needed. As of Monday, hunting and fishing licenses needed to be updated for the new hunting and fishing season. According to the Parks and Wildlife Department, new licenses are now available at license stations. New Texas Hunting and Fishing Guide booklets are also available wherever licenses are sold.

Luau honors pair

Training set for Baptists

All members of the church who are interested in helping the Sunday School and Church grow, especially teachers, assistant teachers, secretaries, class or department officers, and outreach committee members are urged to attend the training conference.

The meeting will get underway at 6:00 p.m. with supper in the fellowship hall and will go into departmental session from 7:00 to 9:30.

Debra Says

By Debra Price

A widening gap of opinions about "today's family" continues to separate Americans—in fact, the gap is so deep that it's preventing attempts to narrow it.

This became painfully apparent to many during recent sessions of the White House Conference on Families held in Minneapolis, Minn., Baltimore, Md., and Los Angeles, Calif. during May through July.

If nothing else, the White House Conference on Families has identified the need for education, discussion and compromise on family issues.

Exactly what are the issues that split Americans over family issues?

Newspapers report contrasts between "conservatives" and "liberals." In general, conservatives oppose the Equal Rights Amendment, abortions, homosexual equality and governmental regulation of the family.

On the other hand, liberals support the Equal Rights Amendment, the "right" to abortions, homosexual equality, and they see a need for legislation regarding family life.

Although there are many reports about these different views, there has been no significant effort on the part of the media—or the two factions themselves—to find a middle road.

There are many words spoken on the subjects, but the two sides are not talking and listening to each other, to put it bluntly.

Yet throughout all of the discussions one common denominator is apparent: the citizens of this country want to improve family life, promote optimal human growth, develop the healthy potential of all our citizens and secure and enhance quality family life.

The major stumbling block on the path to reaching that goal of quality family life, so far, is failure to see the need for compromise.

Compromise is the key to reaching our goals regarding the family and the quality of life in the United States. This country was founded through the process of conflict resolution—compromise.

Compromise requires all factions to meet, discuss and work out an amiable solution.

In this process, no one faction dominates the outcome, and all participants are able to endorse the final product.

Compromise takes all factions—often those at extreme ends of the issue—and it creates a moderate product.

It is imperative that individual factions in this nation set aside their biases and work for a compromise which will lead toward healthy family life for all of our people.

Sew a sweater knit

Sew a sweater-knit fabric for a fashionable wardrobe update, suggests Becky Saunders, a clothing specialist.

Sewing sweater knits is fast and easy—just use suitable techniques and equipment.

She suggests the following steps for sewing a sweater knit: Select a pattern with simple lines recommended for knits.

Buy, and then cut out, fabric by the "with nap" layout to avoid light and dark sections.

Narrow twill tape will prevent stretching at shoulder and other seam lines needing stabilizing.

When zippers are called for, use light, flexible ones with knitted tapes and synthetic coils.

Basting glue can help save time in holding sections together before stitching.

Use sharp shears, never pink shears, for cutting. Ball point needles in size 11 or 14 (80-90) are a must to prevent damaging the fabric.

Select weights or extra long pins for pattern layout. Preshrink fabric before cutting to remove temporary finishes and prevent future shrinkage. Do not let extra fabric hang off the cutting surface since the extra weight can cause the fabric to pull or stretch.

Before stitching, make a test seam for best machine stitch and stitch length, pressure and tension.

For loopy fabrics, enclose toes of presser foot with tape to prevent catching.

To avoid curling of cut edges, place long pins close together and at a right angle to the seam. Spraying edges with starch may help.

Use double stick tape along the seamline for extra curling, but do not stitch through the tape.

Unless seam allowances are cut to 1/4 inch (6 mm.) begin with a wide seam allowance and trim to 1/4 (6 mm) after stitching.

To make a stretch seam, either stretch the fabric slightly when stitching with a straight-stitch machine, use a zigzag stitch or an automatic stretch stitch.

Topstitching will flatten seams and garment edges that tend to roll.

For knits that ravel, ravel out a length of yarn, press and use for needed handsewing.

A LONG WAY

They've come a long way. They were married in this same church fifty years ago, when she was just twenty and he was twenty-two. Youth seemed eternal. Life promised a succession of sunny days.

But it wasn't to go on that way forever. Their first child died at birth. Then financial troubles, a business failure, the loss of a home when they couldn't meet the mortgage payments. Sometimes it seemed as if the clouds outweighed the sunshine.

But there were good times, too. Times of joy and laughter, success, wonderful children, wonderful grandchildren. Through it all, their faith and love for each other never faltered.

Throughout our own life, can we all say as much?

Crockett County Care Center News

by Joan Nicholas-Director of Activities & Social Care

Our friends have been kind to us again this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Harvick have made arrangements for a monthly donation to be made to the Activities Fund. They were visiting in Ozona recently. This continuing gift is much appreciated.

Clayton Robinson treated eight residents to refreshments at Village Drug on Tuesday morning last week. This was a nice surprise when we came to pay the bill! Those going down there were Maudie Pettit, Bertha Miller, Virginia Russell, Lydia Patrick, Frances Borrego, Paul Cavin, Tomasa Ramos and Nila Turnel. Ann Mayo and Bonnie Gentry assisted me in this expedition.

Also on Tuesday, we had a blackout bingo game to see who would win the second beautiful afghan that Dorothy Doll has donated. Evelyn Bryant was the lucky one to receive this large, colorful addition to her bed. On Friday the winner of the weekly gift certificate, donated by the Teacher Store, was Bertha Miller, and second prizes went to Paul Cavin, Tomasa Ramos, and Nila Turnel. The August "losers" certificate donated by Baker Jewelers, was won by Hilario Cortez.

We had our usual Bible class and discussion after the lesson which had been taken from the book of Ezra. Frances Borrego, Evelyn Bryant and Maudie Pettit all took an active part.

In the Thursday afternoon reading and discussion group we enjoyed a cute story from the Sunshine Magazine about a couple of pen-pals; news items from Grit, and more of "Yesteryear." The part about having milk cows turned out on the town reminded Bertha Miller about operating the churn. It was when she was about eleven years of age and living in San Angelo. She was out on the high porch of their home and furiously pumping the churn up and down; she was angry because she really wanted to go and play with the kids. She was churning so vigorously that it traveled clear off the porch to the ground, breaking into pieces! The result, she said, was she couldn't sit down for a week!

Cora Webb is enjoying taped music on our portable deck which she has at her bedside. This really is nice to have for residents when they are confined to their rooms as music can be very soothing.

On Thursday evening Jamie Knox and Don Kilgore entertained residents with guitars, harmonica and singing. Other entertainment recently has consisted of three film showings of films borrowed from Eastman Kodak on various parts of the U.S.A., Britain and Ireland.

Bernarda Aguirre was happy to come home from the hospital in San Angelo; Alma Laxson who has been confined in our hospital, is to be transferred to a nursing home in Midland to be near her son; and Louise McWilliams has been re-admitted to the hospital and we hope she will feel better soon. We enjoyed having a visit from her twin great-granddaughters last week.

Mary Pender wrote us a letter from Coleman the other day, and it was read to her old friends here. She is happy to be in a nursing home in her home town, but we miss having her in our activities here.

I need a few tons to spray cans for crafts class. Thank you.

Rural incomes rising faster than urban

Contrary to popular belief, incomes of people living in rural areas are increasing at a faster rate than those of their city cousins.

For the 1968-75 period, personal income in non-metropolitan counties increased 25 percent faster than in metro counties, points out Jack Jones, community development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Jones bases this information on a recently released U.S. Department of Agriculture released report, "Income Growth in Non-Metro America 1968-75."

Average per capita income, in dollars of constant purchasing power, increased $920 in rural counties during 1968-75 compared to $692 in urban counties, says Jones.

SHEEP AND GOAT NEWS

The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Assn. wants to help you bring your ranch road into the twentieth century. Yes, that rough, rutted atrocity that ate the oilpan off your wife's car and turned your new pickup into a sprung-spring jalopy before you ever got the ashtray full. The same road your favorite livestock hauler refused to ever travel again—right after he got the bill for six new truck tires.

Now don't get defensive. We realize you can't afford the kind of high-dollar, high-powered equipment it takes to maintain a road. And we also realize many of you can't find a dirt contractor to do it for you, what with all the oil activity going on today and the big bucks the better of these fellows can make maintaining their roads. We're fully aware, in fact, that some of you live in counties where there's no dirt contractor, period.

So how can TS&GRA help? The same way you can help yourself—by urging everyone in Texas to vote "yes" to Amendment No. 7 on the general election ballot Nov. 4. That amendment would change the Texas Constitution to allow certain less-populous counties to do private roadwork with county crews and equipment—for pay, of course.

As things stand, it is generally illegal for counties to work on private roads. Some have done it, but they're operating under authority of maybe-shaky laws that have never been tested in court.

The Constitution, in fact, contains several well-intentioned provisions prohibiting use of tax money or public property for private purposes. We can all see the wisdom in that.

We can also see, however, the wisdom in specific exceptions to those rules. How many cities or counties have built exhibition halls, coliseums, auditoriums or convention centers, then rented them out for private functions? No locality could afford such facilities if they didn't help pay for themselves.

It seems only logical that the same common-sense economics be applied to road-working equipment. Have you priced a maintainer lately? Those beasts cost more than J.R. Ewing's annual meanness-pill bill. And in many counties, if you look closely, you'll notice that the road equipment spends a lot of time sitting in the maintenance yard.

That's what's called "idle time." Cost-conscious business managers fear the term. It represents ongoing costs without incoming revenue. As far as county road equipment is concerned, it means continuing depreciation, at least. Then there are the crews, who must be paid whether they're working on roads or not.

So it just makes sense to free-up those county road crews to do "outside" work once they've gotten things ship-shape in their own domains.

That's the point behind the proposed amendment, so far still designated House Joint Resolution 121. It applies only to counties with populations of 5000 or less, requires that counties impose a "reasonable charge" for their private roadwork, and specifies that the income from this work be plowed back into the counties' own road-building and road-maintenance coffers. HJR 121 also allows the Legislature to impose further limitations, if deemed necessary. The last session of the legislature passed the measure, led by Rep. Susan McBee, Del Rio. To become an actual amendment, it must receive the voters' approval in November.

There are opponents, of course. Some town folks can't shake the suspicion that private landowners are somehow "getting to them," for instance. Never mind that the bill's wording requires pay for private work. Never mind, either, that in some rural counties, country folks' taxes go to pave their town cousins' streets, genuinely an inequitable situation.

Other opponents claim competition from county crews could harm private contractors. If so, the measure's supporters ask, where the heck are those private contractors when you need a road graded? Further, the 5000-population limitation targets the measure toward counties which are less likely to have contractors, or at least unlikely to have enough to go around. Besides, the amendment would only allow counties to do private work; it wouldn't force them to.

There are also those who fear that county officials may use the road work business to "play favorites" with friends or reward political supporters with "cheap" charges for road work. Unfortunately for this argument, all charges would be a matter of public record, open to scrutiny by anyone who suspects anything. County officials will undoubtedly have this thought in mind every time they total up a bill.

So to summarize, TS&GRA believes HJR 121-Amendment No. 7 on the ballot-is an idea whose time has come. It's a potential boon for many county treasuries, and a necessity for many landowners. We plan to vote "yes," and we hope you will, too.

Sales tax rep. to visit here

State Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his San Angelo office in Ozona on September 18, to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Steve Mercer will meet with local taxpayers in the Law Library of the Crockett County Courthouse Annex from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m. "If Ozona area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing state tax forms, Mr. Mercer will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office, and we believe these face to face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

The San Angelo office, headed by Thomas M. Goff, serves San Angelo and surrounding counties.

Houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Smith over the holiday weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Smith, Jr. of Kermit, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Smith and Jeff of McCamey, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Smith, Samantha, Frank and Joshua of San Angelo.

Wildcat set in county

International Oil & Gas Corp., Midland, will drill the No. 2 Perner "24" as a 9,800-foot wildcat in Crockett County, 3,300 feet south of its No. 1 Perner "43", active wildcat, one mile southeast of Devonian and 1 7/8 miles southeast of the Connell opener and lone producer from that pay in the Ingham multipay gas field, 2 1/4 miles west and slightly north of the Perner Ranch (Devonian, Simpson and Canyon 6440 gas) field, separated by depleted Devonian producers, and 24 miles west of Ozona.

Location is 990 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of 43-2-1 & GNRR. Ground elevation is 2,635 feet.

The No. 1 Perner "43", same section, at the last report was producing 1.5 mcf from the Devonian at 7,488 feet and the Connell at 8,701 feet. The Connell opener, International Oil & Gas No. 1 Ingham "46", was dually completed Sept. 25 from the Connell for a calculated, absolute open flow of 2.48 million cubic feet of dry gas daily through perforations at 8,707-721 feet. Devonian completion was May 10 for a calculated, absolute open flow of 840,000 cubic feet of gas daily through perforations at 7,865-8,047 feet. It topped the Ellenburger at 8,750 feet on ground elevation of 2,635 feet.

J. Cleo Thompson, Dallas, will drill the No. 2 University 27 W as a confirmer to, and 1/2-mile southeast of the nearest producer, in the five-well University (Strawn-detril gas) field, 11 miles west of Ozona.

Location is 1,980 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of 27-31-University. Contract depth is 10,000 feet.

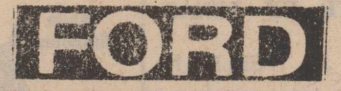

If computers are the present, robots may be the wave of the future, some experts believe.

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay

Here's an amazing fact from football. No team has ever won the national championship in college football 3 years in a row in the entire history of the news-service polls, which started in 1936. Several teams have won the national title 2 years in a row, but none has done it 3 straight. Alabama could become the first in history to do it this season since they were voted national champs by at least one of the news-services in both 1978 and 1979.

There are 4 teams in the National Football League who play their home games indoors in domed stadiums. Can you name all 4? They are Houston, New Orleans, Seattle and Detroit.

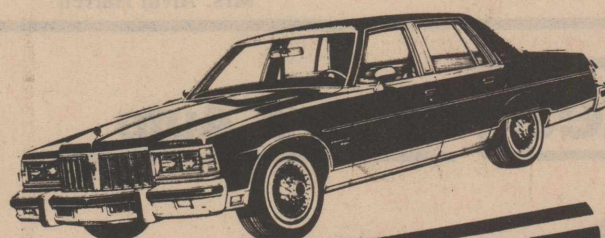

When was the last time the National Football League had a team that was able to go through a whole season undefeated? It hasn't happened in any of the last 7 seasons. The last NFL team to go undefeated all year was the Miami Dolphins who finished the 1972 season with a record of 17 wins and no losses.

Screwworm found in Kinney Co.

Eight worms M.M. Nelson of Rafter L Cattle Co. at Brackettville took from wounds in the heads of two sheep have been identified as this year's second positive screwworm collection in the United States.

Dr. James E. Novy, director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Screwworm Laboratory, says the sample was collected in Kinney County, 22 miles northeast of Brackettville Aug. 20. The only other known screwworm infestation in U.S. animals this year was identified April 15 in worms taken from lambs in Coleman County.

The Kinney County sample, collected Aug. 20, arrived at the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) operated Screwworm Lab and was identified Aug. 27. Entomologist Bob Richard and a team of fly trappers immediately drove to Kinney County to begin efforts to learn how many fertile, or wild, screwworm flies may be in the area, and to monitor effectiveness of screwworm fighting efforts.

Dr. A.A. Belcher of the Texas Animal Commission and several livestock inspectors immediately joined the effort to find and suppress the Kinney County screwworm population.

At the Mission Lab Novy said preparations were made to disperse Screwworm Adult Suppression System (SWASS) pellets in the area of the case from aircraft August 28. First aerial release of sterile screwworm flies in the area was also set for August 28.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

pital in the West Texas area can do this.

Medical Care---I spent four years in college, two years in graduate school, four years in medical school, one year internship, a total of five years surgical residency and preceptorship, two years training in psychosomatic medicine, and one year in diagnostic radiology. I am board certified in my specialty of Emergency Medicine. I spend 100 hours per year in training to keep up. Drs. Owensby and Dwyer similarly are well trained, board certified and spend many hours per year in continued medical education. We are proud of our profession. We want to do well in it. Good medical care can be obtained here.

Now the bad part, the cost. This breaks down into two problems requiring an immediate and long term solution. For the immediate problem, there is a certain amount of money available and it has to be spent on many things, not just the hospital.

The only people who can properly allocate the spending are the county judge and county commissioners. They spend many hours of their own time in trying to solve the hospital's budget with the hospital administrator and the county auditor. I believe the judge and commissioners when they say they want to improve the hospital. I believe them when they say it will stay open. I also believe them when they say there is only a certain amount of money available for all county services.

Maybe in the future a hospital district is possible, but that doesn't solve the problem now.

The oil companies frequently enter any discussion of the hospital. They pay a large portion of the county's bills and you can expect them to want to see how their money is spent; to see that it is not wasted. They make a tremendous amount of money from the county. The Texas Railroad Commission figures for 1979 are 4,893,794 barrels of oil at prices of $14.00 to $40.00 per barrel, and 94,095,594 MCF of gas. We appreciate the money they spend for us but recognize they make a vast profit.

Shell Oil is paying it's president, John Bookout $645,000.00 per year plus benefits and options. The oil companies are major industries. They hire capable men to represent them. We are going to have to learn to deal with these representatives no matter what the taxing agency is, a county or a hospital district. The best way to work with them is to show them their money is not wasted. It is up to the hospital to show them that it is not.

This hospital board has gone a long way in improving the hospital and its services. Regardless of your attitude toward the hospital, these men deserve our gratitude because they are spending a tremendous amount of time getting the most for the hospital's money and providing direction for the hospital. They have made major improvements.

In short, the hospital is used. The doctors can give good care. We have an excellent hospital board and a new administrator who has made many successful changes. He successfully operated a small hospital for many years and has the ability, drive and desire to make this one equally successful. There are hospital staff personnel who are eager to improve the hospital. The hospital financially is in trouble. The county judge and the commissioners have shown a desire to help solve that problem. The oil companies are footing the bill.

The hospital has greater potential for carrying out its task now than ever before. That task is to give excellent medical care promptly, and with compassion, to the whole community.

Sincerely,
Don L. Carlisle, M.D.

Four more years?

tion will be redistributed in the form of increased welfare.

Four more years of federal handouts and welfare to "disadvantaged" citizens will give the country an enormous, entrenched drone population incapable of productive work. The older cities of the nation, with crumbling inner city areas, will become pockets of ruin where the inhabitants are moved by anger, envy and despair. New, radical political movements will be spawned in these urban areas.

Four more years of disinterest in America's technological rundown will deprive the nation of the advanced processes and concepts necessary for the creation of new wealth and national power. Japan will surpass the United States as the leading technological power.

Four more years of decline will turn the United States into a resource base and virtual economic colony, with a proliferation of foreign-owned industries as American companies, including banks, are forced to sell to wealthy competitors abroad. Ironically, existing government policies allows foreign banks to take over American financial institutions while strong, successful U.S. banks are prohibited from expanding beyond their primary areas of operation.

Four more years of strict adherence to the unilateral disarmament notions embedded in the SALT II treaty will leave the United States a second-class military power unable to stand up to the Soviets in a confrontation or to oppose other Afghanistan-type operations, including a Soviet military drive into Europe.

Four more years of current policies means national disaster.
