We were delighted and amazed at the election results last Tuesday night. We waited here at the office to finish the paper until we got the unofficial results. Someone called before we had gotten any of the local results and told us President Carter had made his concession speech and Ronald Reagan had won by a landslide. We thought it was a prank. However, we found out later it was true.

I think this shows the voting public is a lot smarter than the pollsters, pundits, politicians and television journalists would have us believe, or indeed they believe.

I think it says something to various special interest groups also. The vocal National Organization for Women leaders told the American women not to vote for Reagan, but they did. Big labor bosses told their members not to vote for Reagan, but they did. LULAC leaders told the Hispanics not to vote for Reagan, but they did. Most of the leaders of the black community told their people not to vote for Reagan, but they did. Democratic party leaders told the Democrats not to vote for Reagan, but they did. ERA supporters told their people not to vote for Reagan, but they did.

The family oriented American voter, black, white, red or brown, male or female, prince or pauper, Democrat or Republican, looked back at the past four years of near disaster and voted for a change.

The landslide for the Reagan-Bush ticket tells the liberals we are tired of human rights for everybody but Americans. We are tired of the influx of refugees from countries which will change our culture forever. We are tired of every little two-bit country who wants, hurling insults at our great nation. We are tired of seeing our law enforcement officers protecting foreign protesters as they parade on public streets and grounds. We are tired of contributing our hard earned money to keep up the bureaucracy, and keep welfare cheaters in the style to which we, ourselves, would like to become accustomed. Most of all, as Will Rogers so aptly put it, "I can support myself and my family, but I cannot support myself, my family and the government."

Four years ago, we expected President Carter to do what he said he would do. He didn't, and the silent majority turned him out of office. We expect President-elect Reagan to do what he says he will do. If he does not, four years from now we will remember.

The marker dedication Sunday afternoon turned out to be quite successful and a fun thing. It took me four hours to clean off my desk Saturday, and it took Lucile Harrill about thirty minutes before the event to turn the front office into a well-appointed reception lounge. Of course, she has her committee and they are workers, but she is the hub. After knowing her for over fifteen years and knowing her accomplishments in anything she sets out to do, I never doubt she will prevail one way or another. If someone told me tomorrow that Lucile had gone up to the moon for a pound of green cheese, I'd just get out the camera and hold some space on the front page.

HISTORY BUFFS ENJOY REFRESHMENTS following the dedication of the historical marker commemorating Ozona's newspapers here Sunday afternoon. Enjoying the fellowship are R.A. Harrell, Mrs. R.A. Harrell, Mrs. Lee Graves, Mrs. Pleas Childress, Mrs. Bascomb Cox, Mrs. Joe Clayton, Mrs. Bill Cooper and Bill Cooper.

Record number of voters turn out—

Official results show Reagan landslide here

The official and complete results of the November 4, general election in Crockett County were not available when last week's edition of the Stockman went to press. However, the official results do not change the story as reported, only in larger numbers. Of the 2,695 registered voters, 1,527 cast ballots in the election, revealing 57% of the eligible voters went to the polls.

According to County Clerk David Weant, official head of elections in the county, this is the largest number of voters ever to turn out for any election as long as election records have been kept.

When the complete results were in, the Reagan-Bush ticket out-distanced the Carter-Mondale ticket 885 to 595. Libertarian Clark got 4 votes in the county while independent John Anderson

League to sponsor drug abuse seminar

The Ozona Woman's League will sponsor seminars on drug and alcohol abuse, Wednesday, Nov. 19. The first program will be held for teen-agers in the high school auditorium at 10:00 a.m. A program for parents and other interested adults will be held at 6:00 p.m. in the same location.

Ron White, a senior advisor for the Palmer Drug Abuse Program in San Angelo, will conduct the programs. White, an ex-drug user, is the designated PDAP counselor for the school district in San Angelo. He has been a sober member of the program for the past eight years. Accompanying White will be a young person from the San Angelo group, who will share his story and answer questions.

During the course of White's talk, he will cover his past experiences leading up to drug use and as a drug abuser. He will also discuss problems he faced at home and at school as a drug abuser. He will talk of the solutions and tools used in got 10.

Only the courthouse box, Precinct 1, and the South Elementary box, Precinct 4, went for Carter, and then by a slim margin. Reagan got 134 votes in Precinct 1 to 200 for Carter. In Precinct 4, Carter led Reagan 133 to 101. The absentee box went 229 for Reagan to only 64 for Carter. Power plant voters gave Reagan 12 votes, Carter, 6 and Clark 1. Precinct 3 voters went for Reagan 2 to 1, giving him 250 votes to 125 for Carter. In Precinct 2, the vote was almost 3 to 1 for Reagan. It was 159 for Reagan and 67 for Carter. The Republican presidential ticket carried Crockett County by the largest majority in the history of the county.

the Palmer Drug Abuse Program and how they have affected his life today. He will tell how PDAP works and discuss the programs it offers. A question and answer period will follow.

PDAP is a fellowship of young people and parents who have joined forces to solve common problems associated with drug and alcohol abuse. PDAP counselors and members help others recover from the effects of mind-changing chemicals and work with the abusers' families by sharing their experiences in an atmosphere of love and understanding. The group is non-sectarian and is open to anyone free of charge. The only requirement for membership is the desire to live a chemical-free life.

League members feel there is a need in the community for more knowledge about drug and alcohol abuse. They urge concerned adults and especially parents to be on hand for this revealing and interesting program.

Representative, 21st District, by a large majority. Going more than 2 to 1 for Loeffler, voters gave him 976 votes to 460 for Sullivan. Loeffler received the largest vote in Crockett County for a contested race.

Democrat Buddy Temple edged Republican Henry Grover 685 to 605 for Railroad Commissioner, in the Crockett County vote. Jim Nugent polled 834 votes to 405 for Republican Doc Blanchard for Railroad Commissioner (unexpired term).

Democrat James P. Wallace polled 802 votes in the county to 486 for Republican Jim Brady for Associate Justice, Supreme Court, Place 1. In the only other contested race on the ballot, C.L. Ray, the Democrat, got 716 votes to 542 for Associate Justice, Supreme Court, place 4.

Susan McBee, incumbent State Representative, 70th District, received 1125 votes in Crockett County in an uncontested race. Others who gained office in the Democratic Primary and had no opposition in the general election were Bill Mason, District Attorney, 1131 votes; Tom Cameron, County Attorney, 1,097 votes; David Weant, District and County Clerk, 1,154 votes; Billy Mills, Sheriff, 1114 votes; Tax Assessor-Collector, Tommy Stokes, 1,148 votes.

Of the 348 votes cast in Precinct 1, Sostenes DeHoyos received 271, for commissioner in an uncontested race. He got 230 votes on election day and 41 in the absentee box. Jack Williams was returned to the office of Commissioner, Precinct 3, in an uncontested race. Of the 386 votes cast on election day, he received 281 and 51 in the absentee box for a total of 332.

Gene Williams running unopposed for constable garnered 1,085 votes.

The count on the amendments is not final statewide, according to a spokesman at the election bureau Tuesday, but in Crockett County six of the nine amendments gained favor with the voters.

Crockett County voters went "for" Number 1, 849 to 409 against unmanned teller machines.

Amendment number 2, allowing the state to appeal as well as the accused, failed in the county 608 to 578 for.

Amendment 3, single appraisal and equalization board for taxes, failed here by a vote of 659 against and 547 for.

Number four, legalizing bingo games passed in the county 814 to 459. Number five, allowing the governor power to control expenditures, failed here by a wide margin, 719 against and 468 for.

Proposal number six, allowing the governor to remove appointed officers, passed here by a large majority. The vote was 863 for and 381 against.

Proposal seven also passed in the county, authorizing counties with 5,000 or less population to perform private road work. The vote was 863 for and 301 against.

Amendment eight, to change the name of the Court of Civil Appeals, squeaked by with 579 voting for and 552, against. Proposal nine allowing spouses separate property, passed here 838 to 377.

Extension luncheon

The Crockett County Extension Service had lunch Monday for all courthouse employees, elected officials and news media, at the Civic Center at noon. Around 40 persons were there.

The delicious meal was prepared by County Extension Agent Debra Price and Mrs. M.C. Couch. Beef stew, beans, a relish tray, cornbread and hot rolls, were followed by a variety of homemade cakes.

The meal was planned by Mrs. Price and County Agent Billy Reagor, to thank the people for their support of Extension programs in the county.

Reagor gave the invocation and spoke briefly. Vernon Jones, chairman of the Program Building Committee, explained his committee's role in the 4-H community.

Court copes with busy agenda Mon.

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met Monday in regular monthly meeting with a full agenda, including regular monthly reports, approval of bills for payment, and a complaint about the county airport from a San Angelo pilot.

The Crockett County Hospital report was given by Glen Rumley, administrator, who reported hospital collections still above the 80% mark. According to the hospital report, total deposits were $66,850 for the month, while total checks written amounted to $81,715. This is considerably better than earlier months of the year. According to the report, expenses for the year through last month amounted to $867,811, while total accrued revenue for the same period was $717,517, most of which was collected in the past three months.

Rumley reported a severe shortage in the nursing staff at the hospital, and asked that Licensed Vocational Nurses be raised from $5.50 to $6 per hour and Registered Nurses from $8.50 to $9 per hour. The court agreed.

Also in hospital business, Beth Boyd and Caroline Wilkins were appointed to fill vacancies on the hospital board.

Tex Flaharty, an aerial photographer and pilot from San Angelo, appeared before the court to register a strong complaint against the airport manager, Mary Jo Hearn. Flaharty said after an exchange of words with Mrs. Hearn at the airport, she became very hostile and put out the rumor he was a drug-dealer. He said he had been watched by the U.S. Border Patrol and had even received inquiries by the Justice Department. He also stated he had never transported drugs, and the insinuation had hurt his business. He deals with oil companies and ranch owners, he said, and felt the court would want to know about his problems with the airport manager. He also said most other pilots, with the exception of local, had had similar problems.

Judge Jones, speaking for the court, said Mrs. Hearn has a lease on the airport and is not accountable to the county for her operation of the facility. He added the court had not received complaints before.

Flaharty told the court that he felt Mrs. Hearn represents the county, as she is running a county facility. He added he felt he could file suit against Mrs. Hearn and the county would be held liable.

Before retiring from the court, Flaharty lodged a complaint about the tower in the approach to the airport. Many complaints have been

Lions take Dist. win from Menard

By James Pagan

The Ozona Lions blanked the Menard Yellowjackets 13-0 for their fourth district win here Friday night. They will be looking for the fifth win and the second-place in district slot when they play the Big Lake Owls in the season finale in Big Lake Friday night. Mason cinched the district championship with their win last Friday night.

In the win over Menard, the Jackets threatened in the first quarter, driving the ball to the one-yard line of the Lions, but the Lion defense rose to the occasion and held them there, taking over on downs.

The beginning of the second quarter saw the Lion offense crank up and drive from their own one-yard line to Menard's end of the field, where Felix Flores took the ball in from one yard out. Will Mason kicked the ball through the uprights for the extra point and the Lions led 7-0 at the half.

The Lions scored once more in the third quarter. Aldo Delgado took a lateral from Varlyn Aldridge and scampered 60 yards for the touchdown. The PAT failed, but the Lions held on to a 13-0 lead to win the game.

The remainder of the game belonged to the Lion defense, who kept the Yellowjackets from penetrating the Lion 20-yard line during the second half of play.

New business opens in Ozona

Ozonans will get a peek at the newest business in downtown Ozona, when the Riverside Furniture Gallery opens its doors tomorrow in the building formerly occupied by C.G. Morrison and Co.

The grand opening is set for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with big savings in all departments during the grand opening sale. The store will feature a complete collection of furniture, clocks and decorator items. They have been awarded the largest dealership in the area for Howard Miller clocks.

Larry D. Sheppard of Big Spring, former owner of Larry D. Sheppard Funeral Home here, is owner of the store. He has Riverside Gallery in Big Spring, and is looking at locations for more stores in the West Texas area. Local manager will be Elaine Oakes, a Big Spring resident who is looking for housing in Ozona at present. Dee Rounsaville, manager of the Big Spring store, will help oversee the new store here.

Furniture brands carried in the store's $150,000 inventory include Riverside, Sprague and Carlton, Keller, Lane and Serta bedding. Also, Howard Miller clocks. Free delivery will be offered.

HISTORICAL MARKER DEDICATION-County Judge Johnny Jones unveils Ozona's latest historical marker as Kitty Montgomery and Evert White look on Sunday afternoon. The marker is located at the corner of Ave. E and 10th St. and is attached to the north side of the Ozona Stockman building. It is centered in a space which was formerly a plate-glass window, making a natural frame for the attractive plaque, which measures 40 inches deep and 27 inches wide.

After forty years the Lion Roars again

By W. Ewart White

After forty years.... "The Lion Roars Again---1940-1980." With that title blazoned on the outside cover of the elaborate volume of the graduating class of 1940, Ozona High School, has at last prepared, assembled, published and presented its belated Ozona High School annual for the school year of 1939-40.

The class of 1940, Ozona High School, was prevented from publishing a yearbook for that year because of the fact that war was raging in Europe and was moving exorably toward our involvement in the conflict. While we teetered on the brink for two years, while our ships were being torpedoed in the Atlantic, and our protests going unheeded, we were finally capapulated into the world-wide conflict by the brutal attack by the Japanese on our military bases in Hawaii, wherein most of our Navy and Air Force were destroyed, and a lethargic America awakened to its peril in a world aflame with war launched by ruthless dictators who sought to subjugate the free world.

What happened the next four years is still a vivid memory for most of us, years of striving, years of sacrifice, years of dying until finally a united America marshalled its forces and joined the rest of the free world to bat down the ambitious dictators of central Europe, and the Pacific, a victory marred only by the fact that we found ourselves on the same side with an even more menacing force, Communist Russia, which today remains a cancerous growth among better men of the world.

Not actually forty years in the making, but forty years before being made, the book was assembled largely through the efforts of Tincy Kirby McMakin, now living in Monroe, La. and Ella Carson Clegg of Ozona with the help of other members of the class of 1940. Somewhat different from the ordinary yearbook, the 1980 edition of the 1940 yearbook, contains married names of class members, obituaries of deceased members and some personal history of events that have transpired to individual members where available, brought up to date.

The 1940 OHS graduating class roll included Johnnie Boyd, W.C. Brock, Jr., Eloise Carson, Naomi Colard, J.K. Colquitt, Jean Drake, Jim Dudley, Dorothy Hannah, Roy Henderson, Jr., George Ann Kirby, Howard Lemmons, Mertis Luther, Noma Miller, Mary Bess Parker, Miles Pierce, W.B. Robertson, Billy Jo West, Oleta Casbeer White and Gladys Jean Wills. Two members of the class are deceased, Roy Henderson, Jr., and W.C. Brock, Jr.

Graduation exercises were held in the high school auditorium Thursday evening, May 16, 1940. The class motto was "Never try dying, die trying." The class colors, maroon and white, and the flower the carnation. Music was by Miss Ruth Graydon, music teacher; invocation was by the Rev. Eugene Slater. Jim Dudley was salutatorian, George Ann Kirby, valedictorian. A piano duet was by W.B.

Robertson and Dorothy Hannah and the address was delivered by W.W. Jackson. Diplomas were handed out by Judge Chas. E. Davidson, class awards by Supt. C.S. Denham and the benediction by Rev. Clyde Childers.

The volume recognizes teachers of the year, including Supt. C.S. Denham, called "the best Supt. in Texas," who, by the way, sent us the copy of the yearbook, destined for the High School library as soon as we are through with it. Other teachers were Mr. Guinn Caruthers, Mr. Norman Heath, band, Mr. Clarence Nelson, Miss Mildred North, Miss Ada Moss (Russell), Miss Bess Terry (Turnbough), English, Mr. Ted M. White, and Mrs. Ted M. White.

In a section called 'Lagniappe', something extra, the book framers recalled some of the things that gave kids pleasure in that day, the songs they sang, the dances they danced, the riding around and special tribute to their parents and room mothers.

"And in closing: Running through all the comments that the classmates have sent in have been the strong feeling of mutual, deep affection and respect the members of this class had for each other...for the faculty...and for the Ozona High School. There was a feeling of good comradeship and a great rapport....."

"And if only for the time it has taken you to look at this book, it made you feel like you were sharing that magic age again, it has been a wonderful and gratifying experience."

Dear Kitty:
How pleasant to read your excellent article endorsing the Proposed Amendment 7 to the State Constitution!

I certainly appreciate your expressed approval and support. As sponsor of this legislation, I am well aware of the fact that the more people who understand the purpose of the amendment, the better chance it has to pass.

Thank you for adding to that understanding.

Sincerely,
Susan

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—In a dramatic victory that has been a dream-come-true for some and a nightmare of reality for others, GOP candidate Ronald Reagan soundly whipped President Jimmy Carter with ticket-splitting Texas Democrats.

In state races, the GOP also made gains in the Legislature, but most Democratic incumbents were returned to office throughout the state.

At least one message from the voters to elected officials is clear: cut taxes like you've promised, or else. It's a message Reagan heard four years ago, and he out-promised Carter on the tax cut issue. Reagan wants a tax cut immediately, while Carter wanted to wait until next year.

In essence, Texas voters are signaling some officials that they have one more chance... then heads that spend too much shall fall, whether Democrat or Republican.

Texans named to Reagan's transition team are Gov. Bill Clements, U.S. Sen. John Tower, Houston attorney James Baker and former ambassador to Great Britain Anne Armstrong.

Senate Upsets
In the Texas Senate, three "Killer Bees" regarded as liberals were replaced by Republicans. Ron Clower of Garland fell, as did Gene Jones of Houston and Babe Schwartz of Galveston. Jones' re-election bid was plagued by courtroom battles over alleged misuse of state office funds, and Schwartz was undoubtedly hurt by charges he used fistcuffs in a non-political lawsuit meeting.

Another Senate vacancy will be created later when Raul Longoria of Edinburg, who won a district judge race, resigns. Democrats managed to defeat one Republican senator, Bob Price of Pampa. Hereford businessman Bill Sarpaullis, a former aide to House Speaker Bill Clayton, won that race.

Texas House
If liberals had a bad time of it, longevity might also have been a factor with voters. Schwartz was dean of the Senate and his counterpart in the House, Richard Slack of Pecos, also fell in an upset. Slack had served 28 years.

Other House members defeated were Jimmy Mankins of Kilgore, Bob Hendricks of McKinney, Tip Hall of Denton, Mary Jane Bode of Austin, Bill Harrison of Corpus Christi, Al Brown of San Antonio and Bill Caraway of Houston.

Polarization
Traditionally, Texas politics at the state level has been divided into three factions: liberal Democrats, conservative Democrats and Republicans. Conservative Democrats have played the middle against both ends and generally came out ahead.

The rules of the game are changing. The rise of the GOP has caused the political demise of more conservatives than liberals. And conservatives know they are catching it from both ends now. When the middle becomes traumatized, there is always a chance its members will scatter for cover at either end. For conservative Democrats, it could well mean either working stronger within the party or converting to the GOP.

Clayton Running Solid
One conservative Democrat who says he will not bolt the party is House Speaker Bill Clayton, freshly free of Brilab woes.

Announcing his candidacy for an unprecedented fourth term last week, Clayton laid out the names of 98 House members pledged to vote for him and declared the race over.

Seventy-six votes are required for a winning margin when the new speaker will be chosen as the first order of business when the session convenes in January.

All other candidates have dropped out except for Clayton's nemesis, Rep. John Bryant of Dallas. Bryant claims some 60 supporters and says he will continue his bid.

Good Conduct Panel
Following his acquittal by a Houston federal jury in the Brilab case, Clayton wants to create a "Public Servants Standards of Conduct Advisory Committee" and favors reforms in the state's financial disclosure and campaign-reporting laws.

The committee would begin work Sept. 1, 1981 and would be abolished Aug. 31, 1982. It would adopt guidelines which would be presented to the Legislature to become law.

Clayton also said he would support a bill limiting the House speakership to two terms, a change proposed by Bryant among others.

NO APPLE FOR THE NEA

By Edwin Feulner

The acronym NEA stands for the National Education Association, but to a lot of politicians these days, it might as well stand for No Exceptions Allowed.

That's because the NEA — which is, in case you didn't know, the largest teachers' union in the country — has been consolidating its political power with great skill and vigor these last few years. On the national level, and in many states as well, it seems that what the NEA wants, the NEA gets.

What the NEA wanted in 1976 was a federal Department of Education. Little-known candidate Jimmy Carter promised to make that dream come true, so NEA officials threw their weight behind him. Some political commentators think Jimmy Carter wouldn't be where he is today without the NEA.

The President expressed his gratitude, all right, with a full-court press lobbying effort that shoved the new federal agency through Congress, despite opposition from the other big teacher union — the American Federation of Teachers, an AFL-CIO affiliate.

The AFT is headed by Albert Shanker, no foe of big government, and no slouch at lobbying, himself. But despite his protests that the DOE would be a tool of the rival union, legislation establishing the new department squeaked through the House, 210-206.

Now the NEA is ready to move on to bigger and better things. It organized an effort to get its members elected as delegates to the 1980 Democratic National Convention that was so effective that the NEA had 302 delegates — the largest single voting group in Madison Square Garden.

In the recent Congressional elections, the NEA carefully targeted its political action committee (PAC) contributions to reward only those who voted for the Department of Education. Although the teachers' union gives official support to a phalanx of liberal causes, the PAC contributions even went to conservative Congressmen who went along with the NEA on this single issue. Liberal Congresswoman Patricia Schroeder, who opposed the DOE, complains, "On every other issue, I've been on the NEA's side, but they went nuts on this one." Nothing nutty about it — the NEA simply wants to lay the groundwork for its next battle.

This carefully organized political activism is practiced by the state chapters of NEA as well. In New Jersey, the NJEA's power in state elections is legendary. Those targeted for defeat have usually been those who had committed the crime of favoring tax limitation.

In Michigan, according to Professor Charles Van Eaton of Hillsdale College, the MEA is taking the position that "it alone should have the power to determine who enters the teaching profession and from what college they come, by considering only those candidates from colleges that have the MEA as the bargaining unit representing faculty members."

None of this is meant to disparage those many dedicated teachers who belong to their local NEA chapter. However, the national leadership seems to have less and less interest in the quality of basic education as time goes on, and more and more interest in achieving political power, in limiting access to and accountability of their profession, and in trying to knock out the competition by whatever means are at hand. (I refer specifically to the NEA's staunch opposition to tuition tax credits and indeed to any measure that threatens its near-monopoly of the educational system and its bountiful federal funding.)

Let's hope that the next time the NEA comes calling, more of our political leaders will reply, "Teacher, may I be excused?"

(Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institute.)

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

From this date on through the winter months everyone will look forward to the beautiful sunny days we have most of the time. The temperature is just right to accomplish many tasks in your yard. Take a critical look at the overall appearance, and make a list of improvements to work toward.

House plants during the present month need routine attention in the matter of feeding and watering. Take care that none get so dry that their leaves wilt or shrivel on their stems, but do not keep the soil in a constant bog-like condition. And, go easy on fertilizing now. Most plants will not need that attention, but pot-bound old foliage plants with plenty of leaves, such as ferns, dracaenas, fatsheadas and philodendrons, may be given diluted liquid fertilizer twice a month.

At night it is apt to be very much colder close to a window than toward the center of the room. Move tender plants on very cold nights or pull the shades. Cold drafts are extremely bad for house plants. Some, such as Poinsettias, drop their leaves at once if they are exposed, others may not show immediate damage but are permanently harmed. See that your plants get all possible sunlight now. Keep them away from hot radiators and other sources of dry heat. Long spindly growth is a sure indication that your plants are getting insufficient light, that the temperatures are too high, or that both conditions exist.

Finish planting and transplanting perennials this month and many annual flowers may be seeded. Kinds to sow include larkspur, poppy, phlox, drummondii, and cornflower.

Check plants that summered outdoors for signs of spider mites, mealybugs, and other insect pests.

If you have a strawberry bed and there have been a few hard frosts, mulch with a 3 or 4 inch layer of light-weight mulch such as hay, straw, or pine needles.

Mrs. Friend has recipes published

Mrs. Joe Friend, Pam, a member of the Junior Service League of McAllen, has several of her favorite recipes in the McAllen League's beautiful new, hardbound cookbook, La Pinta.

Mrs. Friend is an active member of the Service League, a wife, mother, and active volunteer worker in the community. She is the daughter-in-law of Mrs. Joe Friend.

ZUCCHINI BREAD
3 cups flour
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
3/4 tsp. baking soda
2 cups zucchini, shredded and unpeeled
1 cup nuts, chopped
1 cup raisins
3 eggs
1 cup oil

In large bowl stir together flour, sugar, cinnamon, salt, baking powder, soda, zucchini, nuts and raisins. In another bowl beat eggs and oil. Pour over flour mixture and stir until moistened. Turn into greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake in 350 degree oven 1 hour 30 minutes or until pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 10 minutes, invert on rack, top side up and cool completely.

Mrs. Morgan Talbot [Jane]
Mrs. Joe Friend [Pam]

The cookbook may be ordered for $9.95, 50c tax in Texas, and $1.50 postage from La Pinta, Box 2465, Dept. HT 90, McAllen, Texas 78501.

SHOWN HERE IN her kitchen creating gourmet delights from her favorite cookbook is Pam Friend, a member of the Junior Service League of McAllen. Married to former Ozonan, Joe W. Friend, a McAllen attorney, she is the daughter in law of Mrs. Joe Friend. To order the cookbook, which has 2,000 kitchen-tested recipes in its 448 pages, see story.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanchez celebrate anniversary

MR. AND MRS. VENTURA SANCHEZ

Mr. and Mrs. Ventura Sanchez are celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary today. The couple was married in Mexico, November 12, 1920.

The couple's ten living children, plus 30 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren are helping the couple celebrate the occasion. There will be a reception in their home and a renewal of the wedding vows.

Their children, who are hosting the event, include five sons, Jesus Sanchez, Jose Sanchez, Gilbert Sanchez and Valdimar Sanchez, all of Ozona, and Adam Sanchez of Colton, Calif.; and five daughters, Carro Tantu of San Antonio, Oralia Rojas of San Bernardino, Calif., Maria Luz Martin of Pamona, Calif. along with Eva Sanchez and Elena Sanchez, both of whom are sisters in the order of Missionettes Contaquistas del Corzon de Jesus in Mexico City.

Clayton's VILLAGE DRUG

The Background Of Integrity

There are millions of men in this world whose word is trusted — whose handshake is a binding contract — whose integrity others accept without question.

We've come a long way from the days when a strong man and a stout club were the social graces.

And this growth in man's capacity for integrity has paralleled his growth in religious expression.

Of course, the cynics will point to men and nations who still live by the code of the cave man. Must we believe that the clock of progress has turned . . . is running backward?

The sound, the sensible, the sincere still feel the strength of God's Bible in every handshake. With their children they are finding new spiritual opportunity and hope in the churches they cherish.

Are you with them? Are you, too, pushing forward the frontiers of faith?

FOCUS ON FAMILY FILM SERIES

A new film series featuring family expert James C. Dobson, Ph.D. will be shown at the Ozona Church of Christ, 1002 11th Street starting Wednesday October 29. The series is seven films to be seen on consecutive Wednesdays thru December 10th.

The "Focus on the Family," series presents seven of Dobson's most popular presentations, all of which were filmed live at family seminars.

TITLES OF THE FILMS AND SHOW DATES ARE:

- "The Strong-Willed Child" Oct. 29
- "Shaping the Will Without Breaking the Spirit" Nov. 5
- "Christian Fathering" Nov. 12
- "Preparing For Adolescence"
  - Part 1: The Origins of Self-Doubt Nov. 19
  - Part 2: Peer Pressure and Sexuality Nov. 26
- "What Wives Wish Their Husbands Knew About Women"
  - Part 1: The Lonely Housewife Dec. 3
  - Part 2: Money, Sex and Children Dec. 10

THE FILMS WILL BE SHOWN AT 7:00 P.M. EACH WEDNESDAY EVENING IN THE AUDITORIUM OF THE CHURCH BUILDING. OUR ELDERS, DESIRING THAT THE CHURCH BE A STRENGTHENING FACTOR IN OUR COMMUNITY EXTEND TO ALL AN INVITATION TO COME AND SHARE IN WHAT IS HOPED TO BE A POSITIVE FORCE IN STRENGTHENING THE HOMES OF OZONA. THIS IS NOT AN OUTREACH FOR MEMBERSHIP BUT RATHER AN EFFORT TO STRENGTHEN THE VERY FOUNDATION OF OUR SOCIETY. COME AND SHARE THIS EXPERIENCE WITH US.

This series of ads is being published and sponsored by the Ozona business firms in the interest of a stronger community.

Club meets for lunch and bridge

Mrs. A.S. Lock was luncheon hostess for the monthly bridge club luncheon Thursday at the Country Club, while Mrs. Arthur Kyle was hostess for bridge play which followed.

High score went to Mrs. Jake Mayfield, second high to Mrs. Jack Williams and third high to Mrs. Bob Bailey. Mrs. Bud Cox and Mrs. Kirby Moore won the bingos.

Others playing were Mrs. Clay Adams, Mrs. Larry Braden, Mrs. Dwight Childress, Mrs. John Childress, Mrs. Duane Childress, Mrs. Joe Couch, Mrs. Joe Friend, Mrs. J.J. Matley, Mrs. J.B. Parker, Mrs. Hillery Phillips, Mrs. Jake Short, Mrs. Sherman Taylor, Mrs. C.O. Walker, Mrs. Evert White, Mrs. Byron Williams, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Gene Williams, and Mrs. W.E. Friend. Mrs. Robert Cox and Mrs. Pete North were luncheon guests.

ENGAGEMENT TOLD—Mr. and Mrs. Elias Elizondo announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sylvia, to Mr. Eddie Noriega, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Noriega of Sonora. The wedding is planned for Dec. 20, in Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church. The bride-elect is a graduate of Ozona High School and American Commercial College in San Angelo. She is presently an employee of Crockett County Hospital. Her fiancé is a graduate of Sonora High School and an employee of Shell Station in Sonora.

Study on food fads

A new study series is available to consumers interested in learning about food fads. A series of five letters on food fads will be mailed upon request.

The series contains information about food fads and fallacies, food additives, vitamins and minerals, organic foods and food quackery. The series is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. To receive the information call Debra Price at 2-2721 or drop a postcard to the County Extension Office, Box 969, Ozona, Texas 76943.

Crockett County Care Center News

by Joan Nicholas-Director of Activities & Social Care

Last week I mentioned that I had a number of things about which I want to express thanks—so here they are!

Ozona Butane Co. Inc. will be depositing $25.00 into the Activities Fund at the bank each month; Lela Bunker had a firm mail to us ten boxes of all occasion cards for the use of residents as needed, or for prizes. These are quite attractive and unusual. Mrs. Jack Brewer telephoned me last week and she has ordered for us a whole set of Bible cassette tapes. Christine Gardner of Big Lake brought over beauty parlor supplies; Mae Lay brought a number of paperback puzzle books; Anna Belle Patrick has brought us yet another large package of Avon supplies. Myrtle Post, a regular visitor, has given us the Thanksgiving issue of "Ideals" and Don Patrick, Lydia's grandson, brought a box and a huge sack full of the most beautiful pine cones from northern New Mexico for crafts and decor.

On beauty shop morning Hazel Storm always has some good cake for residents to nibble on while under the dryers.

Thank you all so much, we love you! I should also add that the Auxiliary picks up the tab for many items that I purchase for the group activities, mainly the large supply of bingo prizes, and film which is so costly.

Well, on with the news. Last Tuesday week, nine of our ambulatory residents were taken for a special treat out to the Circle Bar Corral Restaurant for the mid-day meal. Helping me with this expedition were Elvira Farris, Ann Mayo and one of our aides, Bonnie Gentry. The residents picked what they wanted to have from the menu and we sat at a long table laid with a pink table cloth and had a big time. There were two or three other residents who normally would have been able to go with us, but because of sickness they could not on this occasion, but they will be taken when all are well and the weather is nice. Residents' luncheons were paid for from the Care Center Activities Fund, and we certainly thank those who have and who are contributing to this. I can't believe that we did this in addition to having crafts in the morning and bingo in the afternoon! How's that for action?

Sterling Baker is back in the Care Center after a stay in our hospital, but Nila Turnell was taken to the hospital last week. I see she is walking in the hall which would seem to indicate that she will be back home soon.

Winner of dominoes was Blanche Fortune at one table, and Seferino Garcia beat me at another table. Bingo winner of the gift certificate donated by the Teacher Store was Vera Miller, and second prizes went to Blanche Fortune, Bertha Miller and Louise McWilliams; all other winners of one or more games received gum, cookies, candy, or raisins.

This Monday Thelma Janes' group of senior Girl Scouts hosted the November birthday party with six honorees as follows: Mattie Schlagel (84), Vera Miller, (90), Sterling Baker, (93), Ramona Lugo (91), Virginia Russell, (80), and Floy Clare Short (74). Those age 90 and above received congratulatory letters from Governor Clements.

The girls had baked a red velvet cake and, for the honorees, had made delicious individual (oversize) cupcakes decorated with a large candle and a cookie inserted on a stick bearing the birthday person's name in pink frosting. Other cookies decorated with turkeys were ulated.

It appears pretty certain that we have bands lined up for this week and next.

After the party, on Monday, while everyone was together I finally plucked up courage to tell my residents that I would be retiring from the Care Center at Christmas. It has been a very difficult decision for me to make because this position has been a real challenge, a joy, and one that has brought me the greatest satisfaction of my life. I had planned on staying longer, but because of health and some other personal considerations, I felt perhaps I could not, in future, be able to give of my best.

I will definitely use the training I have received in visitations on a voluntary basis, so it really is not goodbye because I could never say that to my dear friends out here. Mary Wilton will be taking my place. Mary used to be an aide here and she is charming, cheerful, outgoing, and a young person who already knows that she loves working with the elderly and infirm. In the coming weeks, she will be at my side so that the transition will be a smooth one at the end of the year.

Anyway, it'll be some weeks before I actually say "cheerio."

Howard Miller

This massive Howard Miller grandfather stands over 7' tall! And the effect is unforgettable. Every inch of the carefully proportioned cabinet is made of oak and accented with rare Carpathian elm burl facings. The moon phase dial is aglitter with gold. Spandrels and numerals are plated with the precious metal. And you'll find still more of it bordering the glass front and side panels. The voice is golden, too. You'll rediscover this each time the cable-driven movement plays the chimes of Whittington, St. Michael and Westminster. Brass weights and a polished brass lyre pendulum complete the picture. # Commissioners - lodged about the tower, but no one has come up with a solution, and Judge Jones explained the court's position on the matter.

Osesimo Ortiz, acting road department head, met with the court and asked about the paving program for next year. There will be three miles of paving in each precinct. Each commissioner selects the part of his precinct he wants paved. Ortiz asked that the commissioners let him know by the December court meeting, in order that plans can be made for the coming paving season and materials ordered.

Elizabeth Applewhite, long time election judge in Precinct 2, appeared before the court and tendered her resignation due to health. She took a minute to caution the four commissioners about having their election judges and clerks attend one of the election schools held each year. When the school was held here, only the Precinct 2 election workers and one from Precinct 4, attended. She said the alleged irregularities might not have occurred if election workers had attended the school and were aware of the new laws.

It is customary for the four commissioners to appoint election judges in their precincts, and they are ultimately responsible for the manner in which an election is conducted in their precinct. Judge Jones pointed this out and suggested if the commissioners could not get workers who could attend the schools, they might turn the responsibility over to County Clerk David Weant, who is the head election official in the county. Later, when the commissioners were canvassing the election, Weant brought up some irregularities which occurred in Precincts 1 and 3, during the Nov. 4, election. He also brought up the importance of knowing the ever-changing election laws for those conducting the election.

Tax Assessor-Collector Tommy Stokes brought the delinquent tax roll to the court. He informed the court the current tax-roll when received had duplications and because of this, the valuations amounted to some two million dollars less than first projected. The tax roll is prepared annually by the accounting firm retained by the county.

County Auditor Dick Kirby asked the court for $100 per month more in salaries for chief deputies in his office, the clerk's office, the tax office and the office of the county treasurer. This would raise the four chief deputies $1,200 per year above the 12% raise scheduled for January 1, 1980. The court agreed.

The court voted to turn over dog registration to Dr. Vannoy, if he is agreeable. This would mean the pet owner could get shots and registration at the same time and place. Proof of vaccination is required for registration anyway, and the court felt this would simplify the situation.

The Child Welfare Council's bylaws were approved, along with the annual budget. This seemed to be mere formality, since money allocated for this year has not been used.

The auditor gave the financial report and told the court the federal revenue sharing funds, although already budgeted, were in doubt for next year. If the appropriation is not received, it will affect the care center bond fund, the purchase of vehicles for the sheriff's department, and the ball parks.

Bill Cooper appeared on behalf of the Water District to ask that the county not charge the district for cutting into pavement to make water repairs. He felt the charge was not warranted since the district repairs the pavement after cutting into it. The court agreed to exempt the district from the charge.

Cooper also gave a report on the new waste disposal plant. He said the hold-up was in securing a location, but the district is working with the engineer on this matter and construction should begin before the end of the current year.

The court adjourned for lunch and reconvened at 1:00 p.m. to discuss applications for an over-all maintenance supervisor. Only four applications had been received, and no decision was made in the executive session.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS COULD USE MORE MEN, EDUCATOR BELIEVES

The lack of male teachers in elementary grades may be causing developmental problems for young boys, believes a Texas A&M University educational specialist.

Tom Savage, associate professor of curriculum and instruction, said educational experts are becoming alarmed about the small number of men becoming elementary teachers.

BEAUTIFICATION PROGRAM is a project of Mrs. Jacoby's third grade and Mrs. Dudley's fourth grade. Friday morning both grades met across from the Intermediate School on the slope of I-10 to clean up litter and plant bluebonnet seeds furnished to them by the Ozona Garden Club.

Potential drug abuse high among elderly

The aged make up only about 11 percent of the nation's population but they use about 25 percent of all prescription drugs. About 80 percent of those over age 65 have one or more long-term disorders so they often have to take more than one drug daily. All these facts show there is a large potential for accidental drug misuses, The Texas Medical Association (TMA) says. Fortunately, people who take the medicines can do some things to help themselves avoid problems. Guidelines include:

Don't trade leftover drugs with friends without consulting a physician. Drugs may be outdated, useless or cause problems for another person.

Ask the doctor if certain foods or alcoholic beverages interact badly with prescribed medicines.

Tell the doctor about all prescription and other drugs taken often so the physician can spot possible bad interactions before they happen.

Don't stop or change dosages just because you feel better. Ask the doctor before changing dosages; you still may need the medicine.

Don't make up a forgotten dose by doubling the next dose. Bad side effects might occur with extra-large doses of some medicines.

If unexpected side effects occur, consult a doctor immediately. Sometimes the drug can be changed or something can be done to get rid of the side effects. If not, they may not be as bad as the disease itself.

Take drugs at the recommended times. Of all these guidelines, this one is the hardest to follow. There are several ways to keep track of what pills need to be taken. All methods need to answer these questions: what to take, when to take it, how to take it and whether or not it has been taken.

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services suggests drawing up a chart that lists all directions and use it for checking off a drug when it is taken. Color-coding bottles and places on the chart may make it easier to use for some people. Some people even put all the pills they need for one time period in one container. The time period can be a day, a 12-hour period, an hour or a week. Just make sure that pills are out of reach of children and that they will not lose their effectiveness if stored in a cup, egg carton or something else other than their normal containers.

TEXANS HAVE SEEN HOTTER TEMPERATURES PAST RECORDS INDICATE

This summer was the hottest on record for most of the state's major metropolitan centers, but not enough to topple Texas' 44-year-old record for the hottest day. That mark of 120 degrees-set in Seymour on Aug. 12, 1936-was shaken but not unseated by neighboring Wichita Falls which recorded 117 degrees on June 29 for the highest temperature to yet come out of the Texas heat wave.

Unofficial figures from the State Climatologist's Office at Texas A&M University reveal that Wichita Falls had the worst of it this summer, with 70 days of 100-degree temperatures by the first week of September and rainfall so sparse a local newspaper called it drier than the Dust Bowl days.

Pipelines... make good neighbors

America has over 220,000 miles of petroleum pipelines carrying crude oil and products to refineries and storage terminals across the United States. Each day, more than 1.5 billion ton/miles of crude oil and products move through this network. These pipelines have a safety record second to none in the transportation industry... and we want you to help us keep it that way.

liquids on or a mist above the ground in the area of a pipeline.

- Flames originating from an opening in the ground. If you become aware of a pipeline leak...
- LEAVE THE LEAK AREA IMMEDIATELY.
- Avoid driving into vapor clouds.
- Avoid direct contact with the escaping liquids.

GROUND MARKER

GROUND MARKER

CASING VENT

AERIAL MARKER

When you see signs like those shown above, they tell you that there's a pipeline nearby. If it's underground, you can't see it, of course. But it's there, working quietly to provide energy for you and other consumers throughout this nation.

Some of these signs list the commodity transported in the pipeline, the name of the operator, and a telephone number where the operator's representative can be reached at all times.

Although pipelines have an exceptionally good safety record, once in a while a leak can occur. Indications of a leak might include:

- A strange or unusual odor in the vicinity of a pipeline.
- A hissing or roaring sound (caused by petroleum or product escaping from a pipeline).
- A dense white cloud or fog.
- A spot of dead or discolored vegetation.
- An accumulation of petroleum

- Avoid creating sparks or sources of heat which could cause the liquids or vapor to ignite and burn. If you find yourself in a suspected vapor area, do not light a match, start an engine or even switch on an electric light.
- Notify the pipeline operator as soon as you reach a safe area. Call collect. Give your name, a description of the leak and its location. If you do not know who the pipeline operator is, call your local fire, police or sheriff's department, or the state police. Advise them of the nature and location of the emergency.

IDEAS FOR ARRANGING LOVE SEATS

Many love seats that were manufactured years ago were uncomfortable--but in recent years, love seats have real comfort and afford wonderful decorating possibilities, too.

And, today there are so many designs and styles of love seats that can bring both beautiful decor and practical advantages to your rooms.

Here are just some of the attractive ways love seats can be used in your living room.

You might create a grouping by having two love seats facing each other before a fireside, picture window, etc.

You might place one or two love seats in a corner with a lamp table either between or beside.

Or, you can place a love seat at right angles to your sofa, or to another chair for a nice living room setting.

Love seats can also be effectively used in bedrooms, family rooms, playrooms and other rooms, giving you a good decorating touch and answering a seating need.

To see a selection of love seats and other furnishings--and for all kinds of decorating ideas for your home--stop in. There's no obligation, and we look forward to seeing you.

Debra Says

By Debra Price

Sew with stretch woven fabrics to make active sportswear--as well as tailored garments.

They're durable and flexible--and easy to sew.

Just follow a few guidelines.

When laying out the pattern, make sure the fabric is flat with no part hanging off the cutting surface. Place the pattern pieces so that the stretch is going in the right direction.

Avoid stretching the fabric during cutting to prevent distorting the garment.

When stitching, use a polyester thread, because it has the stretchability and strength needed.

A sharp needle or ball-point needle in size 14 is recommended with 12-13 stitches per inch.

Use a slightly loose tension and light pressure on the presser foot.

Use a straight stitch, stretch stitch, tiny zig-zag or an overcast stitch that stitches seam and overcasts at the same time.

To finish the seam with a straight stitch machine, stitch one-eighth inch from the seam through both seam allowances and trim close to stitching.

With a zig-zag machine, double stitch with zig-zag stitch.

Use an interfacing that has built-in stretch where the stretch of the fabric is to be maintained. Use conventional interfacing where stability is needed.

Machine-made buttonholes will function better if they are placed in the opposite direction to the stretch of fabric.

Topstitching is an excellent trim to get the seam allowances to lie flat. Try a longer stitch for topstitching--about nine stitches per inch.

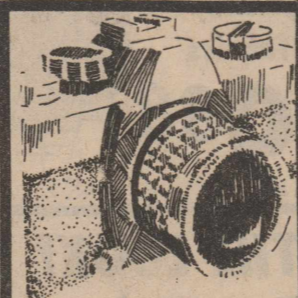

When pressing, use brown paper strips under seam allowances and darts to prevent impressions from showing on the right side.

Deer hunters await Saturday's sunrise

Thousands of avid Texas deer hunters will be intensely waiting atop their favorite stand when deer season opens at sunrise on Nov. 15. Each year hunters match wits with one of nature's most elusive big game animals and many times fail to meet the challenge. The real key to a successful deer hunt this year may lie in a better understanding of deer and their behavior, says Dr. Dwight Guynn, a wildlife specialist based in Uvalde with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

odors containing a disinfectant or insect repellent.

If deer have a weak sense, it's their insight. While well developed, this sense has some weak points a deer hunter can exploit.

Deer fail to recognize still objects, yet they're quick to pick up even the slightest movements, says Guynn. By remaining motionless, even though in full view of the deer, a hunter stands an excellent chance of going undetected.

Another weakness in a deer's eyesight is due in part to the location of the eyes within the head, a factor that limits peripheral vision. Guynn says a hunter can take advantage of this fact by timing the number of seconds a deer feeds before raising its head to look around. The hunter can then move forward until the deer raises its head, being extremely careful to stop before the deer looks up again. By using this stop-and-go technique a hunter can usually get close enough for a good shot, even in an open field. Ordinarily, deer never seem to realize that the motionless object (hunter) they see when looking up is closer each time, points out the wildlife specialist.

Because deer are not naturally conditioned to expect danger from above, they seldom look higher than ground level. Hunters can capitalize on this weakness in self-defense by hunting from elevated or tree stands which serve three purposes: the hunter's field of vision is greatly enhanced, hunters are less likely to be spotted by deer, and human scent may be above the animal.

Knowing the feeding and drinking habit of deer also can help increase the success chances of any hunter. Locating fresh scrapes (pawed-out patches of ground made by buck hooves during the breeding season) or feeding areas may prove a more consistent method of seeing deer since they can sometimes go for extended periods without water.

"Home ranges" are another accurate indication of deer presence, notes Guynn. Being creatures of habit, deer normally stay in an area less than 300 acres, (unless food and water become scarce) and are apt to deviate little from a fixed time-movement schedule. Hence, ambush locations can be set around known paths of travel as determined by tracks, rubs, scrapes or feeding areas.

But all that scouting, knowledge of deer behavior and extensive preparation and planning goes for naught if "the shot that couldn't miss" goes astray.

According to Guynn, hunters have a reasonable chance of shooting their prey at close range even if they are seen first, provided the animal's highly sophisticated sense of smell hasn't detected danger and signaled it to quickly flee.

However, modern science can help neutralize the deer's tremendous olfactory system. Guynn says field tests have shown the most effective method of neutralizing human odor is to bathe and rinse clothes in a bicarbonate of soda solution. Soda has the capacity to absorb odors, a fact long recognized by housewives who for years have placed an open box of soda in their refrigerator for that purpose.

Masking scents can be beneficial, but like soda, they aren't a cure-all for overcoming the deer's keen sense of smell. These "artificial" odors flood the area with scents which dilute the human odor to a point that it won't be easily recognized. Adding such scents won't dissipate human odor but will serve as a dilutor, Guynn warns against using masking scents which have secondary

Develop friendships

Develop friendship to enhance feelings of warmth, love, trust and affection between two people, says Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist.

Friendship is a unique form of human bonding that has no legal restrictions, no expected social roles and no professional or career guidelines, she explains.

"A friendly relationship grows out of free choice rather than out of necessity."

"It also allows people to relate to others at a time they are most free or when the relationship is important enough to 'make' time for," she points out.

"A friend is not necessarily an extension of yourself, your interests or your work."

"Friendships allow different races, sexual preferences, religions or cultural backgrounds to come together on mutual terms because of trust," Miss Taylor says. Friendships have different degrees of commitment--from casual to close friendships.

When building friendly relations, most people look for the same qualities, such as someone who keeps confidences, loyalty, warmth, affection, supportiveness, frankness, a sense of humor, willingness to spend time and easy to talk with.

Age, physical attractiveness, personal accomplishments, similar income or job appear less important to friends than personal traits, the specialist continues.

Friendship varies over the stages of the life cycle. Young children enjoy other family members, teenagers like more friends and less family, and older adults enjoy immediate family, kin and long-time friends.

"When friends enjoy a relationship that is free, trusting and worth keeping, they develop a sense of self-worth in each other," Miss Taylor adds.

Sales tax rep. to visit

State Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his San Angelo office in Ozona on November 20, to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Steve Mercer will meet with local taxpayers in the Law Library at the Crockett County Courthouse Annex from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m. "If Ozona area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing state tax forms, Mr. Mercer will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office, and we believe these face to face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

The San Angelo office serves San Angelo and surrounding counties.

SUPPORTERS OF 4-H enjoy an appreciation luncheon given by the Extension Service at the Civic Center here Monday at noon. Around 40 persons attended the luncheon which was prepared by Agent Debra Price and Mrs. M.C. Couch, in foreground. The event was planned to express appreciation for the support given the service by courthouse employees, elected officials, and members of the news media.

Newspaper marker is dedicated

The dedication ceremony for the historical marker commemorating the role of the weekly newspaper in the community was held Sunday afternoon at the Ozona Stockman. After a welcome by Mrs. R.A. Harrell, a brief history of the newspaper was given by Mrs. Pleas Childress.

The event also honored longtime Stockman editor and owner, Evert White. Mrs. Childress, assisted by Mr. White, related some amusing incidents in his newspaper career which spanned over a half a century, and 46 years at the helm of the Ozona Stockman.

The group moved outside to the north wall of the present building, where the marker had been fastened and covered by Bill Cooper. County Judge Johnny Jones unveiled the marker and made the dedication speech.

Following the dedication, coffee, punch and cookies were served in the Stockman office, which had been transformed by the magic of Mrs. Harrell's serving appointments and Mrs. Lee Graves lovely dried arrangement.

Over twenty persons attended the Sunday-afternoon event.

Winter driving problems slip up

Winter driving problems can slip up on you even in a Sunbelt state such as Texas. One of the most dangerous conditions is glaze ice, the Texas Medical Association warns. This glass-slick ice layer is almost undetectable until sliding starts.

One way to get a feel for the road is to tap the brakes or gas pedal and see what minor response occurs. This technique has its own hazards so it should be done only when slickness is not obvious and there are no other vehicles or other hazards around. Watching other vehicles' response to the road is another good indicator of conditions.

Once slick conditions do occur, pumping the brakes is better than jamming them on. Chains and snow tires also can help handle slick conditions but not many people have such equipment so they must depend on good tread on ordinary tires (which is very important in slick conditions). Texans also rely heavily on caution, slow speeds and possibly hazardous ideas such as putting extra weight in the trunk of cars that need it.

Some authorities say this traction-gaining technique is dangerous because a collision could throw the weight forward with dangerous force. Others say putting some weight such as sand or salt is safe when placed over the rear axle and tied so containers will rip open quickly in a collision.

If the car rear end does start to slide despite all precautions, turn the front wheels to adjust. For instance, if the rear slides to the right, turn the front wheels to the right and resist the temptation to lock the brakes. In a crisis seat belts are more important than ever because they hold you in place so you can control the car better and protect you in a collision.

If a mishap does occur, it is a good idea to have some warm clothes in the car, TMA says. Even if you are just driving in town, having at least a coat and good shoes can come in handy while handling problems ranging from collisions to flat tires.

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay

Who was the greatest quarterback in the history of the National Football League? According to the complex statistical rating system used by the NFL, which takes into consideration total number of passing attempts, completions, yards gained, interceptions and touchdowns, the man who comes out No. 1 of all-time is Roger Staubach...The rest of the top 10 in history are, in order, Sonny Jurgensen, Len Dawson, Fran Tarkenton, Bert Jones, Bart Starr, Ken Stabler, Ken Anderson, John Unitas and Otto Graham.

Can you imagine a football team playing all its games in a season at home--and never going on the road?...It's happened in major college football...In 1944 Yale played every game at home, and never played a road game all year...You don't see that today.

Here's an oddity about the new enclosed football stadium at Syracuse University--the Carrier Dome. Even though it's named after the Carrier Corp., an air-conditioning company, which made a major contribution to its construction, it's the only enclosed football stadium in the country that, oddly enough, is not air conditioned.

I bet you didn't know...L-B Motor Co. is ready to serve you in your needs when you are ready to shop for that new car or pickup. We also have mechanics on duty or if you are a do-it-yourself mechanic we have the parts you need.
