Meeting to address boycott

There will be a town meeting Thursday evening at 7:00 p.m. in the courthouse. The meeting has been called by the Ozona Chamber of Commerce to discuss the feasibility of a boycott against San Angelo merchants in an effort to have them bring pressure against the San Angelo Standard Times to write a clear and honest story about Ozona.

Everyone in town is invited to be present and give views on the matter. Also, a move is underway to cancel subscriptions to the San Angelo paper and have the Odessa paper delivered daily in Ozona.

The actions grew out of a furor created when the San Angelo paper hit the town early Friday with a biased, vicious story depicting Ozona in the poorest of poor lights. To top it off, the front page picture which ran with the story showed a young Mexican-American drinking beer in front of an old run-down building in the south side of Ozona. The Mexican-American populace feel this is not representative of them nor their children, and certainly not of Ozona.

All in all the story managed to raise the ire of almost every segment of the populace and the roar of outrage has been vocal and prolonged.

Ozona was apparently selected as one of the "ten unique towns in West Texas," to appear in a series by Standard writers. According to the editor's note, "Trying to pick 10 (towns and cities) to convey the wide-ranging kaleidoscope of activity in this region where civic pride runs deep is like trying to pick the all-time best baseball team." Obviously the writer sent to Ozona, was not concerned with civic pride, but with reopening old racial wounds and delving into the distant past.

The other stories in the series have featured objective reporting and pointed up the progressive and positive points in the various cities. To say the least, the story about Ozona, was unfortunate and completely without any positive points. All efforts to have this corrected have met with "we stand by our story."

Services here for Mrs. Rios

Funeral services for Mrs. Dorothy Lucero Rios, 66, were held Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Temple of the Jerusalem Baptist Church with burial in Lima Cemetery.

Mrs. Rios died at 12:20 p.m. Thursday in Crockett County Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Rios was born Feb. 5, 1914, in Santa Rosa, N.M., and was married to Daniel Rios June 10, 1937, Clovis, N.M. They moved to Ozona after the wedding.

Survivors include her husband; two daughters, Rudy Huereca and Margaret Rivera, both of Ozona; a son, Daniel Rios Jr. of San Angelo; a sister Ysabel Blea of Clovis, N.M.; three brothers, Antonio Lucero of Clovis, N.M.; Mag Lucero of Albuquerque, N.M.; and Gilbert Lucero of Garden City; and 12 grandchildren.

PECAN SHOW WINNERS—Mrs. Buster Deaton accepts the Grand Champion Pecan plaque and the $50 cash award for her husband at the end of the Crockett County Pecan Show held here Monday. Sonny Bailey had the Champion In-Shell pecan and reserve champion of the show. He received a plaque and $25. Deaton showed a Sioux and Bailey had a Burkett.

Former coaches and players to be honored—

Ozona's 50th tournament gets underway tomorrow

Ozona's 50th Ozona High School Basketball Tournament gets underway here tomorrow with the first game scheduled at 11:00 a.m. with twelve teams entered in the golden event.

The tournament this year will especially honor the 1932 team and its coach Ted White, and the officials. A reception will be held at 11:00 a.m. Saturday in the High School Cafeteria honoring that first team and the teams and coaches who came afterwards. All ex-players and coaches are invited to attend.

In 1932 thirteen teams were in the tournament. Big Lake was the winner that year and Eldorado was runner up. Ozona won the consolation. Guinn Caruthers was the first official. Coach White's squad that year was made up of Dub Westfall, now of California; Albert Sunshine Cox, Imperial; Lowell Schwalbe, Del Rio; Buddy Moore, Ozona; Fletcher Freeman, Imperial; Joe Chandler, Sheffield; Morris Miller, San Angelo; Jake Miller, Ozona, and Vic Montgomery, deceased.

Ten coaches followed Coach White. They will all be honored at the reception Saturday morning and introduced during the championship game Saturday night. Two of the former coaches are deceased, Dan Patterson and Swede Pelt. Marjo Jeans, the former Mrs. Pelt will be here to accept the Pelt award. Other coaches are Mose McCook, L.B.T. Sikes, Marshall Brown, D.A. Parker, Brooks Dozier, Charles Spieker, Jim Williams and Tommy Wilson, who will conduct the tournament this year.

Twelve teams are entered this year, including the Lions. Big Lake and Sonora will start things off Thursday morning at 11:00 o'clock. Menard will take on Wall at 12:45. The afternoon session will see Coahoma and Junction do battle at 2:30, followed by Crane and Stanton at 4:45. Mason and Eldorado will play at 6:30 and the Lions will go up against Iraan in the final game of the evening at 8:15.

The tournament will get underway Friday at 11:00 a.m. For basketball fans, a bracket will be found in another part of this edition, and may be clipped for score-keeping.

The host team has the following roster: Jon Adams, Varlyn Aldridge, Dan Bean, Ernie Borrego, Jerry Cantu, Dennis DeHoyos, Aldo Delgado, Alfred Enriquez, Bert

Gutierrez, Adolph Martinez, Jay Moreno, Gary Smith, Jack Thompson and Richard Wallace. The Lions record for the current season is 1-4. They lost the season opener to Coahoma 51-34; they won their second game against Iraan 64-48; and lost to Marfa 72-48.

Museum complex a step nearer realization

What has been the dream of members of the Crockett County Historical Society since its organization 41 years ago, a museum adequately housed in an attractive building, readily accessible to the public, where specimens and relics of historical character pertaining to Crockett County and West Texas can be displayed, came a step nearer realization the past week.

Announcement was made during the week of the launching of a drive to raise a fund for the erection of a museum building with an initial pledge of $100,000 from a Crockett County ranchman, anonymous for now, who has voiced the hope that other individuals in this oil rich county, will match the contribution or at least make sizable donations that the projected goal of a half million dollars or more may be quickly reached.

Agreement has been reached with the Crockett County Fair Assn. for the establishment of what history buffs hope will be a museum complex established on the east side of the park. Presently being considered as a site for the proposed new museum building is on the area facing Highway 290 and east of the park planting of trees and shrubs bordering the circular drive. A part of the complex will be the Emerald House, Ozona's oldest structure, which will be moved to a site in the park south of the proposed new museum building.

The Crockett County Museum is presently inadequately housed on the bottom floor of the courthouse annex building. The museum rooms are scattered over the area made available for it and are stuffed to capacity with the museum collection. Much more museum material simply can not be displayed because of the lack of room and museum workers find the cramped quarters unsuitable for shaping and arranging materials acquired. Cramped though its quarters may be, the Museum annually attracts thousands of visitors who stop off in passing through the city.

The Historical Society, governing body of the Crockett County Museum, has sought, through the years, to find suitable building space to house the museum but without success. When the old rock building on the grounds with the present high school, formerly housing the junior high classes and originally Ozona's high school building, was abandoned with the new-building program, hopes were raised that it might be dedicated to use as a museum and library. But school board official could not find authority for such use and the idea was abandoned. A committee from the Historical Society, named recently by Ted M. White, president, was in process of studying means for acquiring a new museum building. Their plans, took a tremendous leap forward with this week's announcement of a fund drive and the hugely liberal start the drive has been given by the initial pledge. Members of the committee are Mrs. Pleas Childress Jr., Mrs. R.A. Harrell and Mrs. Joe Clayton. With a running start, this committee will continue to function in planning and studying all avenues which may lead to the successful conclusion of the fund drive and building project. One conclusion has already been announced—that the names of donors to the fund will be listed on a bronze plaque to be installed on the building, if it is ever realized.

Funds to be given by the initial donor and others who wish to make their donations during the balance of the month of December in order to use the tax advantage, will be placed in an interest bearing account until ready for use in order that maximum benefits may accrue from the early donations.

Museum to close

The Crockett County Museum, which is open seven days a week throughout the year, will be closed Wednesday, Dec. 17, through Monday, January 5, in order the staff may vacation during the upcoming holidays.

At Commissioners Court Monday—

Road complaints highlight meeting

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met Monday in regular monthly meeting, only to have the routine agenda set aside when a contingent of oil men and landowners appeared before the court to demand action on the road to Farmers' Field, a segment of road in the north part of Precinct 2, which cuts off of Hwy. 137, about seven miles from Big Lake.

The road travels east for about nine miles and cuts back south. According to the oil company representatives and the landowners, the county road is a disgrace to Crockett County.

Mr. T. Orr, speaking for the University, and first spokesman for the group pointed out there are about 500 oil wells and 56 companies operating in Farmers' Field. Mr. Orr said some new roads in the north part of the county were a necessity. Due to increased traffic on the road, he felt paving of the road was justified.

Bill Schneemann spoke on behalf of landowners on the road and told how much damage had been done to his vehicles just by traveling over the road.

John Wilson, another oil man from Midland, gave the harshest indictment of the county, calling the court negligent as far as roads in the north part of the county were concerned. He warned he would see to it personally there is a good road in the field. "After six years of poor roads," he said, "it is time for action."

Skinner of League Oil and Gas in Midland, told the court that in a 10-month period he had ruined four sets of tires, and numerous front and rear shocks just driving over the road. He said vehicle maintenance for his company amounted to over $10,000 per year.

Judge Johnny Jones thanked the group for appearing to air their grievances, but reminded them county tax money would only go so far. He assured them the court realized there is a problem with increased activity. He also told them the court uses its tax money the best way possible for the benefit of everyone and will continue to spend this money the best way they can. He told them to increase maintenance and expand paving would create a need for more tax money, and none of the tax representatives for the various companies were amenable to this solution.

B.W. Stuart, commissioner for Precinct 2, spoke to the group and told them the road would be re-worked and guaranteed it would be maintained, but could not promise any of his three miles of paving in that area.

Each commissioner gets three miles of paving in each precinct and it has been allocated for the coming year.

Following the meeting, the Stockman reporter learned the road had been completely reworked just over a year ago. The rains came and a water truck, belonging to one of the companies working in the field, got stuck at the side. A dozer was brought in and pulled the truck for a mile or so up the road, completely tearing it up.

There were no Crockett County residents present in the group, and they left the court giving them to understand in no uncertain terms they wanted the road paved or better maintenance and right away.

Onesima Ortiz was present to give the road report and the four commissioners designated their three miles of paving for next year so the roads may be prepared.

Pecan Show success in spite of weather

The annual pecan show was a success in spite of the short crop and adverse weather. There were 70 pecan entries, 27 food entries and 12 entries in the craft division.

In the pecan division a Sioux was the Grand Champion Pecan, and the Champion Shelling variety of the show. It was owned by Buster Deaton. He received a plaque and $50.00 cash award. Sonny Bailey had the Champion In-Shell pecan and reserve champion of the show. It was a Burkett. He received a plaque and $25.00 cash award. Herb Kunkel received a plaque for the champion native. Buster Deaton also had the most entries in the show.

The judges for the show were Dr. Mike Kilby, Extension Horticulturist from Fort Stockton and Dr. Harold Kaufman also from Fort Stockton.

Beth Boyd, chairman of the show had it well organized. John Parks was Chairman of Finance and Buster Deaton was Chairman of Processing. The following people assisted with the processing: Billy Carson, Larry Bailey, Bill Baggett, Pleas Childress, Sonny Bailey, Sandy Stokes, Jerry Lay, and Larry Braden.

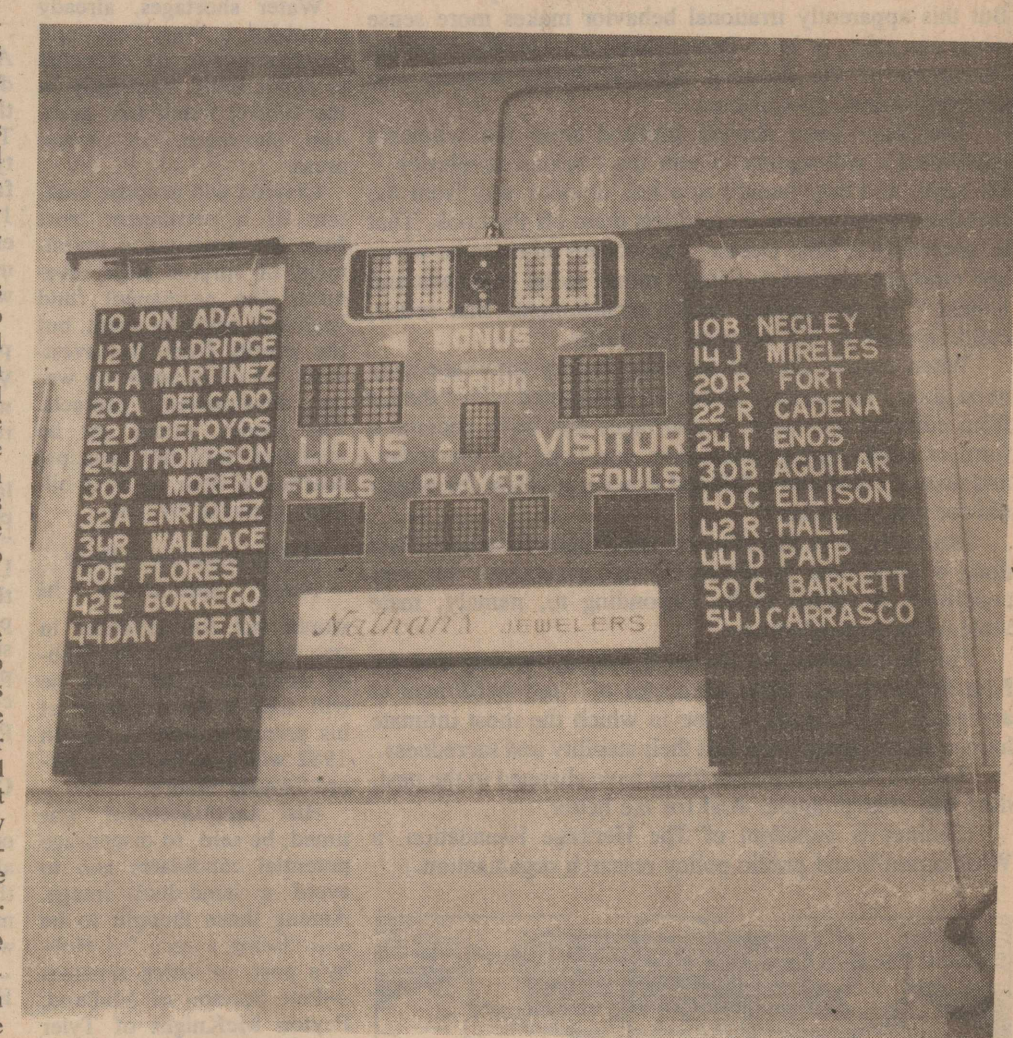

The class winners in the In-Shell Division were: Burkett-Sonny Bailey, 1st, and Champion and Reserve Grand Champ of Show; Pat Aiguier, 2nd.; Jeanette Bailey, 3rd.

Mahon-Buster Deaton, 1st; Billy Carson, 2nd; Craig Deaton, 3rd.

Stuart-Lou Deaton, 1st; Buster Deaton, 2nd; Pam Acton, 3rd.

Success-Jack Baggett, 1st; Sandy Stokes, 2nd; Buster Deaton, 3rd.

WILL REAL FEMINISTS PLEASE STAND UP?

By Edwin Feulner

The thing that bugs Midge Decter about feminists is that they have such a low opinion of women.

What's more, says one of New York's long-standing intellectual giants, the leaders of the "women's movement" aren't even real feminists — not by her definition.

Miss Decter has devoted several books, including Liberal Parents, Radical Children and The New Chastity, to analyzing some of the goofier sociological theories of our times. In a recent lecture here in Washington, she turned her talents for debunking on "The New Odd Feminism."

"Feminism properly understood is a view summed up in the simple proposition that women are the equals of men: that they are as intelligent, as competent, as brave, and above all, as morally responsible," Miss Decter told us. Well, if that's feminism, I'll buy it.

But wait — Miss Decter continued, "Easily the single most salient feature of the movement that erupted in the 1960s and that claimed to speak exclusively both to and for the problems of women . . . was its characterization of the condition of women as that of a pervasive and nearly universal inferiority. Women, declared this movement, were, despite any illusory appearances to the contrary, everywhere to be found mindless, helpless, cowering in the face of masculine power."

At that definition of feminism, I must decline all offers of immediate enrollment in the National Organization of Women. So does Midge Decter.

Miss Decter is most amazed at the historical timing of the women's rights revolution, at the "passion with which a group of the freest, most vital and energetic, and most economically and physically privileged young women in the history of the race rose up and proclaimed themselves to be victims of an intolerable oppression."

Hardly less puzzling, she says, is the apparent unwillingness of men to defend themselves from even the most violent and unfair attacks of "feminist" polemicists. But this apparently irrational behavior makes more sense when one asks, as Miss Decter does, who profits from the enactment of the feminist agenda? Some women, she answers — and a lot of men.

The latter have already profited from the women's movement's willingness to join the "sexual revolution," she says, and they benefit in a less obvious way from the fact that the movement's creed lets them off the hook. That is, according to Miss Decter, "as women refuse to be wives and mothers, men increasingly refuse to be husbands and fathers." In the chaotic social arrangements that result, children seem to fall between the cracks.

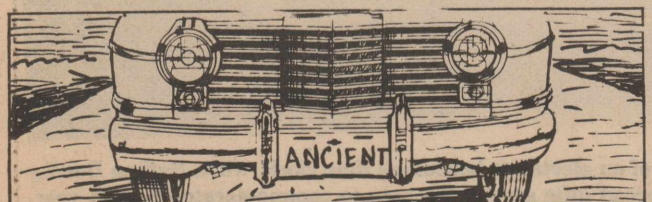

When couples do stick together, but try simultaneously to be good "feminists," society is confronted with "the far from edifying spectacle of marriages that have become a form of bookkeeping: what have you done for me today, and does it constitute a full and exact equivalent for what I did for you yesterday?"

Ironically, says Miss Decter, the pseudo-feminism "has done a great deal to introduce and exacerbate the very conditions it claims to be responding to, namely, male violence and abandonment."

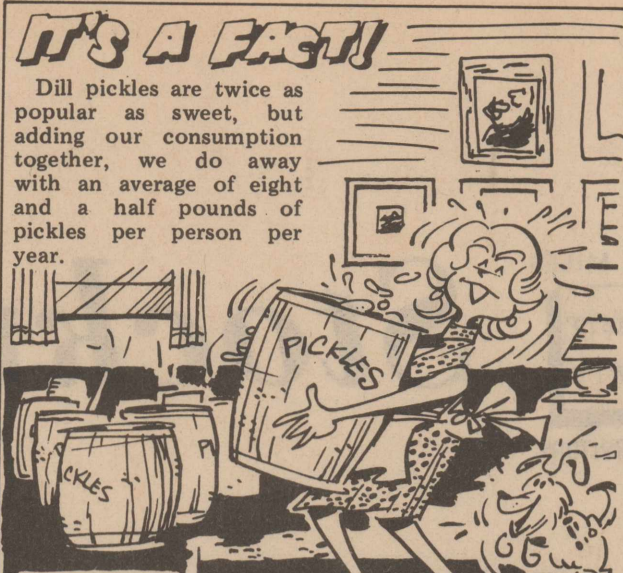

For the moment, we are stuck with the society that the false feminists and other advocates of "self-fulfillment at any price" have made — one in which the most intimate human relationships have lost their stability and sacredness.

If we're lucky — just as times have changed in the past, they will change again. And for the better.

Dill pickles are twice as popular as sweet, but adding our consumption together, we do away with an average of eight and a half pounds of pickles per person per year.

Sausage generally costs about half as much as good ground beef and can be used to make many tasty foods. To make a snappy Sausage-burger, simply fry sausage patties. Sausage can be kept in your refrigerator two or three weeks. Unopened in the package, some can remain in the freezer for up to two years! Apparently honey almost never spoils. Archeologists have sampled some sealed in the tombs of Egyptian pharaohs and found it still edible.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Members of the Legislature learned last week there is a chance they may have to wait a while to redraw political districts in Texas.

A federal court suit challenging census data for Detroit may hold up the receipt of census tabulations until after the 67th Legislature adjourns at the end of May, 1981. The census figures previously were not expected to reach the Legislature until late March or April, at best.

Meanwhile, the membership of legislative committees which will draw up the districts may be expanded. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said he wants to let the entire 31 Texas Senators act as a full committee to draw up the plan to make sure every member has input. House Speaker Bill Clayton wants to expand the House committee from 11 to 19 members for the same reasons.

Water Trust Clayton, regarded as a specialist in water rights before his election to the Speakership, also announced he will ask the Legislature to use the state's surplus revenue to create a trust fund for developing water resources.

Water shortages, already a problem in West Texas and the Panhandle, are expected to occur more frequently in the future, much like gasoline shortages, in urban areas.

Clayton will propose creation of a permanent trust fund for deposit and investment of surplus state revenues. The permanent fund itself will never be spent, but the profits from its investment would be spent on water development projects. The money would not be available until the principal reached a floor of $1.2 billion, required by law.

Hobby Announces Race Amid speculation he would run for governor in two years, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby announced last week he will seek a fourth term at his present office. A win in 1982 will give Hobby a record 14-year tenure.

His announcement was timed, he said, to discourage potential candidates and to avoid a lame-duck image. Among those thought to be considering a race for Hobby's post are three senators — Pete Snelson of Midland, Peyton McKnight of Tyler and Bill Meier of Euleus.

Senator Injured Meier was considered the most likely to challenge Hobby in light of the senator's remarks two weeks ago he was thinking about switching to the Republican Party to make the race.

Meier was expected to announce a decision on his party affiliation this month, but an unfortunate automobile accident over the Thanksgiving Holiday leaves his political future in doubt.

The senator reportedly suffered two broken vertebrae in his neck, a concussion, a broken rib and two broken fingers. The driver, his brother-in-law, was killed. Meier is reported stable and recovering.

Comptroller Candidate An Irving legislator has personally told State Comptroller Bob Bullock that he will seek to replace him in that office in 1982.

State Rep. Bob Davis, a Republican, is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. Davis told the press there has "always been a certain amount of political play between the comptroller and revenue estimates," but he told Bullock of his intentions as the two flew from Austin to Dallas.

New Tax Code State Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, told an Austin audience last week he believes the courts would have forced Texas to reform the property code had the Legislature failed to adopt reforms in 1979. Without uniform property taxes, the state aid formula to public education would be unconstitutional.

Jones co-sponsored the Peveto Act, with Rep. Wayne Peveto of Orange, which set up numerous tax reforms.

There are four kinds of law, Jones, an attorney explained to his audience: "There's the law we (the Legislature) think we passed, the law the public thinks we passed, the law the administrative agencies think we passed, and the law the courts tell all of us we passed."

Good Neighbor Policy

...a la Standard Times

By Evert White

My, my! Aren't we a mess! We've got big houses on one side of town and little houses on the other. The nasty ole federal government built an interstate highway dump right between the two—just to 'further' divide the big houses from the little houses. Of course, if you want to be picky you can find little houses on the side with the big houses and big ones on the same-side as the little ones.

We don't even have zoning laws, so we have a 'chaotic' hodge podge of All this and more is contained in a scathing indictment of the kind of life that we lead here in Ozona presented by a female writer for the San Angelo Times in its Friday, Dec. 5, edition. The article is one of a series depicting ten West Texas cities and towns the paper has chosen to be included in its series to "convey the kaleidoscope of activity in this region." Boy, did we get kaleidoscoped!

Instead of looking for the things attractive about a community in the paper's trade territory, as most of the other articles have been, the authoress, one Susan Aschoff, seems to have approached her task with a preconceived notion of her mission—to drag out the opinions of every malcontent in the community, to illustrate with posed photo of a "young Cholo" hoisting a can of beer, and heralding that 'bootleg beer can be bought,' and followed with the ancient cliché, 'they roll up the sidewalks at night' from a newcomer who hadn't yet been integrated into the community. Further mischief is stirred by Ms. Aschoff when she found one willing to revert back thirty years or more to bemoan racial injustices. Strangely, the selection was an apparently prosperous business man who owns businesses on both sides of the Interstate now reminding that he once 'couldn't go over to town, couldn't work there' and although admittedly Ozona is a nice place to live 'that still doesn't make us free.' If Al Ramirez is correctly quoted, he should learn that being 'free' is living 'now' not thirty years ago. If the 'gringos' wouldn't 'back him up' in his filling station enterprise, maybe he should have examined his business methods or the people to whom he entrusted operation of the business.

Apparently Ms. Aschoff came to Ozona, either with instructions in what angle to pursue or she opted to dwell on the past and look for the worst in every situation rather than opening her eyes to the good things—and there are a lot of good things to be found in Ozona, a lot of them. But they are the sort of things that will never find their way into the columns of the San Angelo Standard-Times.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Christmas is always a festive holiday season. It has been associated with plants, many different house plants, hollies, spruce, firs, Junipers, and pines litter in legend or tradition.

With the rush and planning for Christmas upon us, everyone will join this time for baking, gift giving, shopping, attending church and club festivities. May we not miss the true purpose and spirit of the season amid this busy time.

Few holiday preparations bring a gardener more satisfaction than designing wreaths, sprays, and roping from your own greenery. Too, a variety may be purchased at garden centers if you have none available. Most trees and shrubs benefit from a little pruning and doing it now you will fill two needs with one cut. Cut and harden the evergreen branches in buckets of water and place in a cool place until needed. A variety of greens is more interesting to work with. If to be used outside get water proof ribbon for bows.

To prolong the period of enjoyment for a potted poinsettia, select a plant with tiny flowers in the center that are just beginning to open. Place the plant in good light away from drafts, and keep it well supplied with water.

The potted plant Kalanchoe-a Christmas plant worth knowing is one of the most popular with its bright show of flower clusters in shades of pink, salmon, orange, yellow or red, with thick green waxy leaves. They can be brought in in full bloom and flowers should last for a month or more. Clip flowers as they fade. Give the plant as much sun light as possible and enough water to keep the soil constantly moist.

Woman's Forum has December meeting

Mrs. Arthur Phillips and Mrs. W.H. Whitaker were hostesses for the Woman's Forum on Tuesday, Dec. 2, in the Civic Center.

Mrs. James Childress, President, called the meeting to order. Mrs. Lowell Littleton gave the invocation.

The club voted to send special donations to West Texas Boy's Ranch and Crockett County Care Center.

Several members volunteered to help the residents at the Care Center wrap their Christmas gifts.

Mrs. Childress introduced the Spiritual Heritage Program which was based on a trip to Oberammergau for "The Passion Play."

Mrs. Bill Carson gave an historical and cultural background of the village and it's residents.

Mrs. Bill Clegg presented the slides. She gave an authentic Biblical Commentary, including some tableaux from the Old Testament which showed how the prophecies were fulfilled in the life of Christ as depicted by "The Passion Play."

Other members attending were: Mrs. Worth Allen, Mrs. Charlie Black, Mrs. J.D. Brown, Mrs. George Bunker, Mrs. Fred Hagelstein, Mrs. Madye Jo Humphreys, Mrs. Brock Jones, Mrs. Dempster Jones, Mrs. L.D. Kirby, Mrs. Allie Lock, Mrs. J.B. Miller, Mrs. Marshall Montgomery, Mrs. Kirby Moore, Mrs. Roy Pearson, Mrs. Gene Perry, Mrs. George Russell Jr., Mrs. W.T. Stokes, Mrs. C.O. Walker, and Mrs. Bonnie Warth.

Duplicate Bridge Club winners

Mrs. Sherman Taylor and Mrs. J.J. Marley won high in Duplicate Bridge Club play at the Country Club Saturday. There was a tie for second between Mr. and Mrs. Evert White and Mrs. Clay Adams and Mrs. Kirby Moore.

In play Sunday, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Hillery Phillips won high and Mrs. J.B. Parker and Mrs. Merle Brown of Sonora, second high.

Mrs. Short hostess for bridge Garden Club meets

Mrs. Jake Short was hostess for bridge at the Country club Thursday.

High went to Mrs. Sonny Bailey and second high to Mrs. Joe Friend. Mrs. J.B. Parker and Mrs. Sidney Millspaugh won the bingos.

Others playing were Mrs. Clay Adams, Mrs. Charlie Black, Mrs. Larry Braden, Mrs. George Bunker, Mrs. John Childress, Mrs. Joe Clayton, Mrs. J.J. Marley, Mrs. Bill Mason, Mrs. Beecher Montgomery, Mrs. Hillery Phillips, Jr., Mrs. Sherman Taylor, Mrs. Evert White, Mrs. Byton Williams, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Gene Williams and Mrs. Jack Williams.

Try seafood for better-than-usual holiday entertaining.

A "Smoked Fish Log" is unusual and attractive, both visually and from a flavor standpoint.

The basic ingredients are flaked, smoked fish and cream cheese.

The taste is different because of a subtle smoky flavor. It is shaped to resemble a Yule log, then rolled in pecans and chopped parsley to give it a festive look.

At every holiday party, especially when the food is set out buffet style, there are special favorites.

Often these are appetizers, the foods that tempt the appetites for dinner to come.

"Festive Scallop Cocktails" will cause a stir among the guests.

Served cold, "Festive Scallop Cocktails" are holiday pretty in small, stemmed glasses where scallops mix with mandarin orange sections and a zesty sauce.

Such tingling flavors as green onion, lemon rind and a whisper of curry join the mayonnaise or yogurt and pimiento for the irresistible sauce.

More delightful recipes to serve during the Christmas season include "Shrimp Tree St. Nick" and "Blue Crab Stuffing."

"Shrimp Tree St. Nick" makes a beautiful centerpiece that guests can snack from.

The "Blue Crab Stuffing" is an all-time favorite served as a turkey stuffing, in a casserole or in individual ramekins.

Oysters also fill the bill with tender, succulent goodness.

"Holiday Oyster Stew" is easy to make and ready in minutes.

Prepare holiday seafoods with the following recipes.

SMOKED FISH LOG

- 2 cups flaked fish, or 1 pound smoked fish
 - 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
 - 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 - 2 teaspoons grated onion
 - 1 teaspoon horseradish
 - 1 teaspoon liquid smoke (if not using smoked fish)
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 cup chopped pecans
 - 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- Drain, and flake fish. Combine, cheese, lemon juice, onion, horseradish, liquid smoke, salt and fish, and mix thoroughly. Chill for several hours.

Combine pecans and parsley.

Shape fish mixture into a log, and roll in nut mixture. Serve with assorted crackers.

Makes approximately two cups of spread.

FESTIVE SCALLOP COCKTAILS

- 1 1/2 pounds fresh scallops
- 3/4 cup dry white wine
- 2 slices onion
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon leaf thyme
- 1 cup mayonnaise or plain yogurt
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
- 1/8 teaspoon curry powder (optional)

Small lettuce leaves

1 can (11 ounces) mandarin oranges, chilled and drained

3/4 cup diced celery

Watercress

2 tablespoons chopped green onion

Cut large scallops in halves or quarters.

Combine wine, onion, salt and thyme in saucepan. Bring to a boil, then cover and simmer five minutes.

Add scallops. Cover and simmer five to seven minutes or until done. Chill in broth.

Combine mayonnaise or yogurt, pimiento, green onion, lemon rind and curry powder, and mix. Chill well.

Drain scallops.

Line six small, stemmed glasses with small, crisp lettuce leaves. Add one tablespoon celery to each glass.

Reserving six mandarin orange sections, divide one-half of the remaining mandarin orange sections between the six glasses.

Divide one-half of the scallops between the six glasses, and top with small amount of sauce.

Repeat process.

Garnish each glass with a mandarin orange section and a tiny sprig of watercress.

Makes six servings.

SHRIMP TREE ST. NICK

- 3 pounds raw Texas shrimp, unpeeled
- 2 quarts water
- 1/2 cup salt
- 4 large bunches curly endive
- 1 plastic foam cone, 2 1/2 feet high
- 1 plastic foam square, 12 x 12 x 1 inch
- 1 small box round toothpicks

Cocktail sauce

Place thawed shrimp in boiling salted water. Cover, and simmer about five minutes or until shrimp are pink and tender. Drain.

Peel shrimp, leaving the last section of shell only. Remove sand veins, and wash. Chill.

Separate and wash endive. Chill.

Place cone on center of the plastic foam square and draw a circle around the base. Cut out the circle and insert the cone.

Cover base and cone with overlapping leaves of endive. Fasten endive to plastic cone with toothpick halves.

Start at the outside edge of the base and work up. Cover fully with greens to resemble a Christmas tree.

Attach shrimp to tree with toothpicks. Provide cocktail sauce for dunking.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

Brought To You By Brown Furniture
Did you ever stop to think that you spend as much time, or possibly more time, in your bedroom than in your living room.

Yet, many people put most of their decorating emphasis on living rooms. Naturally, the living room deserves top attention because that's the room everybody sees and uses--but often not enough attention is paid to bedrooms, and there are many good reasons why bedrooms should get more.

For one thing, bedrooms are a very personal place, and, therefore, should have some unique decorating touches. Secondly, bedrooms should have an overall beautiful atmosphere because after all, you begin every day in your bedroom, and you end every day there. Bedrooms should be furnished in such a way that you have a nice place to bring your cares of the day each night; and a nice place from which to start on a new day every morning.

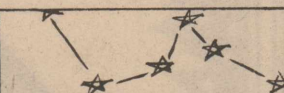

You might also want to consider furnishing your bedroom for snacking, sewing, writing, etc., during the day. The bedroom is your special place and it should be decorated in special ways.

We can help you bring glamour to your bedroom and make it the place you want it to be. Come on in for ideas and furnishings.

Know why we build skyscrapers? In order to have many more people working in a limited area. We package people vertically!

Among the skyscrapers our photographer has discovered a church. It too has a vertical element—a steeple pointing heavenward.

Church architecture with its traditional spires expresses our beliefs. People today are packaged too tightly. Pressure, custom, conformity crowd in upon our souls. Christ teaches that every person is important... each one of us is loved by our Lord.

As we worship God each week side by side, our beliefs point us heavenward.

Crockett County Care Center News

by Joan Nicholas-Director of Activities & Social Care

Well, it has really started! The fantastic spirit of Christmas, sharing, loving, giving, yes, giving and not necessarily gifts, but of unselfish giving of self.

We talked about this in Bible class last week, to some length; if only the spirit of Christmas could stay in everyone's heart the world over all the year through. We brought out into the open that some folks feel sad at Christmas time, possibly through loneliness and remembrance of loved ones who have passed on. But we also talked about how, through bringing happiness and offering love to one another in our Care Center community, we can bring more joy to ourselves than one might ever have dreamed possible.

We acknowledged that there are always those who are easier to love than others; we shy away from those who irritate us or seemingly push us away while, in fact, they need us more than we may ever know. I think we all came away from this session with the thought that we would make a special effort in this direction.

Alma Wilson brought some more fans to decorate in crafts and this time they were done with Christmas in mind and are so attractive. Monday, Mary Wilton and I took everything from our display board and cabinet and laid it out on a table so that everyone might claim what they had made in crafts to give, perhaps, for Christmas gifts. We also had our Christmas socks ready again and they are now tied to the hand rails in the lobby area, looking very Christmasy. We put up a small tree in the day room and Mary decorated the display board in the hall, and the manger scene is out.

Monday morning, there were two tables of dominoes, winner at one table was Louise McWilliams and at the other table the winner was Blanche Fortune. In the afternoon we honored five residents with a birthday party. Beth Boyd was hostess. Polly had baked a cake and made the punch and since Seferino Garcia was one of the birthday people his daughter, Maria Vitela, brought a pretty yellow cake also. Mary Seelye received a letter from the Governor of Texas congratulating her on her 93rd birthday. All received pretty Christmas corsages from Maxine's Flowers. Other honorees were Delfina Lara, Gertrude Daniels, and Grace Cotter. I played carols on the piano while refreshments were handed out.

No sooner was the party over than Thelma Janes arrived with her senior Girl Scouts to put up and decorate the tree, an annual event. It is amazing how quickly a lot of willing hands can get a job done! We had flashing lights and greenery in no time. We thank Merlin Schoenals for cleaning up the tree after he retrieved it from storage as it had collected a little dust from previous years' service. It really looks very fresh.

Also, Monday evening, after a full day of activities, the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority--thirty members in all--came out to sing Christmas carols and brought a lovely decorative basket of fruit for our residents to enjoy. The basket will come in handy for centerpieces on special occasions in the future.

More decorations were purchased from the Activities Fund, additional string of lights, a pretty bright red tree skirt, a small tree for the day room. Mattie Schlagal's daughters from Big Lake have been here visiting and wanted to purchase a couple of our little magnetized felt owls from the display case for which they donated a cash gift twenty times the price that was on them! We do thank them for this donation to the fund.

Jane Black was here the other day with an armful of wrapping papers and all the good stuff that go along with that. Hazel Storms had made every lady resident a knitted Christmas bell to wear and handed them out on beauty shop morning last week.

Another nice donation of $20.00 a month has been pledged by the Lillian Henderson Sunday School class of the Methodist Church for the Activities Fund; and Lela Bunger has been kind to us again, too. She never wants me to mention her, but I have anyway! She does so many nice things for us, and writes me the cutest little notes to pep me up. Again, thank you, all.

The programs that are lined up--well, I think every moment of every day is fully accounted for! Wednesday night the Ybarra Band will be back; Thursday afternoon the WMU of Big Lake Baptist Church will bring over one hundred gift items to be laid out for a free shopping spree; and Friday afternoon the Fidelis Sunday School class of Ozona First Baptist Church will host a party and come bearing gifts I am told. Incidentally, next week will be busier yet!

Effective methods for brush control

Chaining, root plowing and grubbing are all effective mechanical methods for controlling brush during fall and winter months, says a range brush and weed control specialist.

Chaining involves using a heavy anchor chain (weighing 40 to 90 pounds per foot) 150 to 300 feet long and drawn between two crawler type tractors, points out Dr. Tommy Welch with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Chaining uproots or breaks off brush. Chaining of live brush species that have the capability of sprouting from a bud zone beneath the soil will provide only temporary control. However, chaining following a herbicide treatment provides effective and economical brush control, particularly of mesquite.

Chaining of mesquite is most effective about three years after a herbicide has been used, says Welch. Chaining during late fall and winter is best because the dormant and brittle mesquite plants break up easily, inflicting maximum damage. Soil moisture should be high so that the mesquite will be uprooted, thus removing the bus zone from the soil so that the tree cannot resprout. Chaining is effective on areas supporting mesquite trees 4 to 5 inches or more in diameter. Chaining of sprayed areas uproots most large trees, increasing the duration of control over that obtained from herbicide control alone. Dead or partially dead mesquite trees are easier to uproot than unsprayed, live plants.

Root plowing is also effective in controlling brush but it's expensive. Therefore, it's best suited for sites with high production potential, points out Welch. Root plows with fins usually provide best control, but they also destroy existing turf. If existing turf is to be saved, a thin-bladed root plow without fins will minimize turf damage. Also, root plowing during the winter months causes less damage to existing forage plants. Seeding the root-plowed area with desirable forage species is often a wise step, suggests the specialist.

Grubbing works well on thin stands of brush and is also useful as a maintenance control measure. Use of a small crawler tractor to grub thin stands of small brush species is a good practice, believes Welch. Plans are available from the Extension Service for a grubber developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station for use on small crawler tractors.

A grubbing unit may be placed on rubber-tired farm tractors and may be rear-mounted or attached to a front-end bucket loader. The tractor should be equipped with puncture resistant tires such as steel-belted logging tires, recapped aircraft tires, or foam-filled tires. Rubber-tired wheel loaded may also be equipped with a grubbing unit, says Welch. Rubber-tired vehicles are useful for maintenance control of small brush plants. More small brush plants may be missed when grubbing during the winter because of difficulty in seeing the leafless plants.

In other business, bills were approved for payment and the hospital report was given by Glen Rumley, hospital administrator.

Rumley reported his campaign to hire nurses had paid off with seven applications for R.N. positions at the hospital. He reported he had hired two. Goldy DuBose, recently of San Angelo, has been hired as Nursing Director. Mrs. DuBose, Rumley said, comes highly qualified. She has been an on-duty nurse, a nursing director and taught in a nursing school. She came out of retirement to take the job here. Rumley reported he is now able to get by with the staff he has as far as government restrictions are concerned.

He reported a nurse's aide problem at the hospital and a shortage on weekends due to sick-days. Employees get 6 days per year as sick days. Rumley is going to look into cutting out this benefit.

A nurse's aide course is planned for new employees. The course will be a six-weeks course, taught 2 or 3 nights per week by Mrs. Rumley.

The court required that bids be put out for road equipment and vehicles and one vehicle for the Sheriff's Department.

Before adjourning, the court voted to pay its part of State improvements for Hwy 163 south of Ozona, the state to pay 90% and the county 10%, gave the nod to a $1,500 travel pay for the county clerk, and turned the operation of the rifle range over to the International Practical Shooters to supervise and oversee the range.

Judge Jones also mentioned the Ingram trap lease would be up for bids in January. The lease who gets the bid has one year and an option for one year. Weldon Maness presently has the lease.

TEXAS' SMALL TOWNS ARE DOING JUST FINE

Once depicted as an endangered species, the small town in Texas is alive and well, says Dr. Robert Skrabanek, sociologist at Texas A&M University.

Two-thirds of all Texas towns with less than 500 people lost residents between 1950 and 1960. The situation began to reverse in the late '60s, and now three-fourths of those towns have recorded population increases, he said.

Law enforcement workshop

The first law enforcement workshop of its kind will be held in Ozona this week. Assistant District Attorney Bill Mason has made arrangements to hold the seminar today and tomorrow, Thursday, for all law enforcement personnel in the 112th District.

Mason has lined up a fine array of talent to hold the workshops. The faculty will consist of Andy Shuvall, Director of the Texas Prosecutor's Coordinating Council; R.G. (Red) Harris, investigator, Specialized Crime Division, from the District Attorney's office in Dallas; John Sands, investigator in the D.A.'s office in Sulphur Springs, and Melvin Carson Brouder, defense attorney from Dallas, who holds the post of briefing attorney for the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin.

The event will be held both days at the Civic Center and each all-day workshop will be a complete session. The county will furnish the noon meal at the center.

Front brings rain

A freezing cold front brought 1.05 inches of rain to Ozona by mid-morning Monday. The rain fell all night and into the day.

In an unusual twist, the mercury dropped 10 degrees during the noon hour and Monday night the temperature dropped below freezing and stayed there until the sun warmed things up Tuesday morning.

A trace of sleet fell briefly Tuesday morning, but skies soon cleared and "clear and cold" was the order of the day.

NEWS OF P.B.A. STAMPS Energy Report

Women's History Collectible
By Judith Kaplan

A profitable, yet fun way to learn some of the history of women in America is to collect limited edition, full-color, First Day Covers for each new stamp issued by the U.S. Postal Service.

A special series offered by the N.Y. Chapter of the National Organization for Women relates each new U.S. stamp to a person or event in women's history.

Helen Keller/Ann Sullivan portrait appearing on Women's History Series First Day Cover for the new U.S. stamp.

Actually a specially designed illustrated envelope, the First Day Cover carries the new stamp and its official "First Day of Issue" cancellation. The illustration is a finely wrought, original silk portrait of a woman related to the subject of the stamp. An accompanying text outlines her part in U.S. history.

The Women's History Series offers you an unusual opportunity to own a collection of historical significance at a reasonable, original-issue price when purchased on subscription. The collection's significance has won it a place in the Smithsonian Institution's Political History Archives.

Send 50¢ for a full color brochure or $1.75 for the Helen Keller/Ann Sullivan First Day Cover and receive the full color brochure FREE. Women's History Series, 484-C Cypress Road, Ocala, Florida 32672.

On Tuesday, November 25, President-elect Ronald Reagan was asked by a reporter if he favored removing price controls on oil and gas. Reagan answered by saying, "We're going to have to take whatever action is necessary to increase domestic supplies of energy."

Most people think that Reagan will probably decontrol prices much faster than the law calls for. Oil is scheduled to be decontrolled by October 1, 1981. About half the natural gas is set to be decontrolled by 1985. Reagan said he is in great agreement with most of his energy task force recommendations which say that public land should be explored and developed, environmental regulations should be reduced and the licensing of nuclear plants should be accelerated.

In Congress, a House-Senate Conference Committee approved a $1,000 tax credit for royalty owners for the year 1980 only. At the same time, the Conference Committee defeated a move to exempt the first two barrels of stripper oil from the Windfall Excise Tax. A stripper well produces less than 10 barrels of oil a day. These changes still have to be voted on by the full House and Senate and signed into law by President Carter.

And, the Chairman of the American Petroleum Institute, Fred Hartley, recently said that the petroleum industry should be allowed to "plowback" at least 50% of the Windfall Excise Tax into frontier exploration and synthetic fuels plants. The new Congress is expected to make several changes in the Windfall Tax.

The Permian Basin rig count last week was 344. One year ago it was 323.

MRS. DAVID JAMES JACOBY
...nee Terry Elaine Wilucky

Miss Wilucky and Dr. Jacoby are married

Miss Terri Elaine Wilucky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wilucky of Crestline, California, became the bride of Dr. David James Jacoby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete William Jacoby, in a ceremony Saturday afternoon at the estate of Dr. and Mrs. Milton Williams in San Angelo. Rev. Ron Keith, pastor of College Hills Christian Church conducted the ceremony.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal-length gown of candlelight matte jersey fashioned with a Victorian neckline. A sheer French lace Berthan covered the bodice and tiny self-covered buttons closed the back. The straight line empire skirt fell in soft folds to the floor. A Juliet cap covered with lace and pearls held her triple-tiered, finger-veil of silk illusion, which was accented with lace appliques framing her face. She carried a bridal bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley entwined with white ribbon.

Matron of honor was Ms. Patricia Arnold of San Angelo. She wore a floor length gown of royal blue Quina fashioned with an empire bodice and accented with a pleated skirt. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and miniature carnations.

Best man was Dr. William Halsey of Sausalito, Calif.

Arched brass candelabra formed the alter before the fireplace flanked with greenery.

Candlelighter was Joe David Jacoby of Vernon, nephew of the bridegroom. Alex Cono of San Angelo furnished wedding music.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Williams home.

After a wedding trip to Kauai, Hawaii, the couple will be at home in San Angelo where the bridegroom is an emergency physician at Shannon Hospital. The bride is in modeling and sales in the retail clothing business.

Dr. Jacoby received his B.S. degree from Texas A&M University in 1970 and his M.D. from the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston.

The bride's parents and brothers, David and Steven, along with her grandmothers, Mrs. Emiline Wilucky and Mrs. Thelma Etheridge, all of Crestline, Calif. attended.

Attending from Ozona were the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stokes and Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Stokes.

Also attending were the bridegroom's brother and his family, Dr. and Mrs. Pete Jacoby, Jr. and sons Joe David and Jimmy, of Vernon, his grandmother, Mrs. J.W. McDaniel of San Antonio and a cousin, Mrs. Gene Reinhart of Austin.

The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Friday night at Zentner's Centennial in San Angelo.

8 4-Hers take honors in show

Eight youths took top honors in the Crockett County 4-H Food Show held here Saturday Dec. 6, at the Civic Center. Winners earned first place awards in two divisions, senior and junior, which each included four classes.

First place winners in the Senior Division are Melinda Hokit, Main Dish; Gail Hunicutt, Side Dish; Jay Justiss, Breads and Desserts; and Wendy Hood in Snacks and Beverages. First place winners in the Junior Division are Tonya Carter, Main Dish; Susan Scott, Side Dish; Peggy Knox, Snacks and Beverages and Jennifer Parks in Breads and Desserts.

Sponsors for the trophies and trays are Maxine's Flowers, Brown Furniture, Baker Jewelers, Thornton's Grocery, Ozona Television System, Jim's Foodway Grocery, Clayton's Village Drug and Montgomery Ward. Watson's Department Store furnished judging materials for the show. Southwest Texas Electric Cooperative, Inc. sponsored the ribbons and rosettes.

Judges for this year's show were: Drella Shaefer and Sherry Low from Rankin; Janet Powell, Sherry Lux, and Denna Willeke from Eldorado; and Alice Cox, Carrie Cox, Mrs. Given Kordzik, and Mrs. Wanda Halford from Sonora.

The 4-H members were judged on the food exhibited, their knowledge of nutrition, and a complete day's menu. Senior members are also scored on a project information sheet.

The winners in the Junior and Senior food categories will represent Crockett County in the District 6 4-H Food Show in Midland on January 17th.

First Alternates in the Senior Division were: Sue Ellen Black, Mike Couch, Michelle Couch, and Cap Covington. First Alternates in the Junior Division were:

Bernice Ybarra, Amanda Ybarra, Jennifer Probst, and Sandra Hearne. Third placing seniors were: Will Mason, Mary Wall, and Tammy Cooke. Third placing Juniors were: Randi Thompson, Sharon McCrohan, Mary Lou Hayes, and Lisa Colen.

Other 4-hers competing in the county show were: Cynthia Hartnett, Alice Rios, Evelyn St. Clair, Ronnie Smith, James Fierro, DeNeil Payne, and Katrina Phillips, Katy Cameron, Julie Carson, Yolanda Hartnett, Pamela Miles, Lacy Miller, Dia Ragan, Alfonso Ramirez, Lydia Rivera, Norma Vasquez, Cassi McPherson, Oscar Payne, Deena Phillips, Jena Allen, Tammy Arrott, Patricia Diaz, Vickie Lara, Jerri Lynn Martinez, Shawna Newton, Larisa Schoenhals, Summer Shacklette, Melinda Clay, Dawn Hanson, Janis De Hoyos, Kathleen Justiss, Julie Kiser, Stacy Lay, Danny Moran, Vickie Reager, Martha Searcy, Stacie Winkley, Trebie West.

LIONETTES WIN SONORA championship. Bringing home their first championship trophy in many years were Coach Debbie Deaton's Lionettes. They are, l. to r., Coach Deaton, Jana Lilly, Lana Cole, Lori Clayton, Kaye Thompson, Mercy Stratis, Elsa Fierro. Front row, Kristal Williams, Irma Ybarra, Molly Womack, and Tilly Kramer.

Shot placement key to successful deer hunt

Sunup is rapidly approaching on a cool, crisp autumn morning as the hunter waits patiently, perched atop a deer stand somewhere in the Lone Star State. As the sun's rays begin to flicker across the eastern horizon on this somber Saturday morning, 1980 deer season has officially begun.

Somewhere directly ahead, the hunter hears brush crackle and a twig snap. Out of mesquite thicket less than 100 yards away, a magnificent 12-point buck emerges into the open field. Beads of sweat begin to pop out across the hunter's forehead as a chill crawls quickly up his spinal column at the sight before him. He draws a deadly aim and fires, watching in tense exhilaration as the tremendous beast falls in its tracks. True, this situation may seem more like one out of "Fantasy Island," but segments will be re enacted in varying degrees thousands of times this fall. Some hunts will end successfully; others will result in sheer frustration and disappointment.

Regardless of the situation accurate shot placement is mandatory for a quick, humane kill, says Dr. Dwight Guynn, a wildlife specialist based in Uvalde with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

According to Guynn, hunting accuracy begins with proper preparation and care of the rifle. Before loading he urges hunters to make sure the barrel is clear of obstructions. Check rifle action for tightness, smooth operation and rust or dust. Magazines should feed and eject shells properly. Also, tighten scopes if loose.

Sighting in the rifle before hunting can be a critical factor, says Guynn. This can be done by firing at ranges of 50, 100 and 200 yards, distances at which most deer will be shot. It's also important to sight-in with exactly the same grain bullet you plan to hunt with. Then it takes dedicated repetitious practice in all hunting positions, learning limitations while improving accuracy.

Now, assuming the hunter has sufficiently sharpened his accuracy, where should the shot be placed for the most effective kill? Knowing a deer's skeletal structure and exact location of vital organs and arteries can be helpful.

Guynn prefers a shot to the lungs when possible. He says the lungs form the biggest vital area, allowing for a shot to be somewhat off-target and still be effective. A shot missing the lungs a little high may sever the spine, one a little low may hit the heart, a little farther back may strike the liver, and one too far forward could break the shoulder. Any of these hits can result in a quick kill.

A shot into the brain or one severing the spine both achieve quick, definite results but must be accurately placed because of the small targets. If a trophy mount is desired, shots into the head or neck may do serious and even irreparable damage to those portions needed for mounting.

Quick kills can also be achieved with a shot into the heart. But like those to the brain and spine, heart shots are difficult to place and can miss and result in a broken leg.

Guynn says shoulder shots are effective and provide a large target area. The one big disadvantage to this shot placement is more meat destruction and less venison for the table.

Shots that sever a major artery such as the femoral artery, aortic artery or jugular vein are quickly fatal, but these are extremely difficult targets. Hence, Guynn discourages this type shot placement.

The wildlife specialist says a slightly angling-away shot is ideal for the hunter because it presents a good shot at vital organs with only light ribs to shoot through. He advises hunters to line up on the far shoulder for correct shot placement.

When deer are quartering away, a shot placed just in front of the hind quarter will pass forward, enter the rib cage from behind and angle toward the opposite shoulder. Guynn says this type shot will normally hit the liver, lungs and possibly the heart. However, the target area is much narrower than the classic broad-side shot. Hunters unsure of their accuracy are advised to pass this one up in lieu of a better angle.

Straight-away shots, at their best, are also questionable and not recommended. Here, two slim chances exist. From a powerful rifle, a shot just under the tail through the paunch into the chest area or one through the center of the neck into the spine is about all a hunter can hope for. Both possibilities present a small and difficult target.

Guynn says a shot under the tail must pass between the hip bones through a softball-sized opening in the pelvic girdle with enough force to travel almost the entire body length into the chest area. In addition, this type shot leaves little blood trail, making tracking difficult.

Guynn strongly believes that patience is a hunter's best ally. "When the opportunity for a shot arrives, don't rush it," he stresses. "Choose your shot carefully and wait for the angle that results in a good, clean kill."

Once the quarry has been slain, a final chapter in this exciting saga of man versus nature remains to unfold.

Livestock show moved to Dec.

The Ozona FFA Livestock show will be held December 17, this year. The show was moved to December to put a more realistic time period to their commercial feeding program. This year's show will consist of the Supervised Occupational Experience Programs of the Ozona FFA Chapter. Each student of the FFA is required to keep some type of project for an Occupational Learning experience. This year's projects consist of about 110 lambs, 3 steers, and 4 hogs.

This year's projects were placed more on a commercial standing, with the students required to keep more accurate and more complete records. The judging of the feeding projects will be based both on the animal and by its performance during the feeding period by checking the records the students kept on the project. The judge for the show is Fred Igo, Vo-Ag teacher from Eldorado. Awards will be given for Champion Pen of Commercial Finewool Lambs, Champion Pen of Commercial X-bred Lambs, Champion Commercial Steer, and Champion Commercial Hog.

The show will start at 4:00 p.m. on Dec. 17, and be followed by a barbecue meal at 6:30 p.m. Tickets for the meal will be a donation to the FFA Chapter and may be purchased from an FFA member for $2.75. We encourage everyone to come and support the Ozona FFA Chapter.

Shade trees allow natural cooling system

COLLEGE STATION — One of the best ways to cut air conditioning costs is with nature's own cooling system — shade trees — say Texas A&M University researchers.

It will take more than one tree to produce the canopy effect needed, but some trees can reach 15 feet in less than three years.

Air conditioning accounts for 20 percent of all home energy use in Texas, compared to the national average of under 5 percent.

SHEEP AND GOAT NEWS

By Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association

It's not often that you can celebrate a victory even when you've lost, but that, in effect, is what many people in the livestock industry have been doing the last few days.

What happened is that we lost a Congressional battle to have the federal predator control program transferred out of the Interior Department and back to USDA. The reason we're celebrating is that we didn't lose on the issue itself, just on a technicality. And even there we half won, if there's such a thing.

Maybe it would be best to start at the beginning. There are doubtless a lot of people who don't know yet that the battle was ever fought because it came to a head and was over with so quickly.

It began several years ago when it became apparent that the protectionist philosophy at Interior—appropriate for most of the agency's responsibilities—would always run counter to the needs of an effective predator program. Some of us have been talking ever since about the need to get the predator program back in USDA where it began in 1931, but the climate wasn't right until recently.

That brings us to last spring, when both the U.S. Senate and House conducted hearings that demonstrated clearly what we'd been saying about an Interior-administered animal damage control program. After the hearings, the sheep industry united behind the move for a transfer to USDA, and we were joined for the first time by all the major U.S. agriculture organizations.

Then came several months of study on how to accomplish the transfer. The original move from USDA to Interior in the late 30s was done by executive order, but we all realized it would be foolish to expect Jimmy Carter to correct the error with an executive order of his own. After all, it was his administration's blatant antagonism toward predator control that forced the hearings.

That left Congressional action, but here again, liberal politics appeared to rule out a frontal assault. So how about a back-door approach? Like maybe tying the transfer to some agency's funding.

In the end, that's what finally happened—or nearly happened. On Tuesday, November 25, the full Senate passed an agriculture appropriations bill carrying an amendment by Idaho Senator James McClure calling for the transfer. And it didn't just squeak through, either; the vote was 53-29 in favor of McClure's measure, nearly two to one.

There was a catch, however, and though the amendment made it through the Senate without hanging up on it, that catch snagged us later when a conference committee met to hash out differences between the House and Senate bills.

The catch is a little matter called "germaneness." Simply stated, there was a question whether an appropriations bill is the proper vehicle to carry such a legislative action. In fact, the Senate had to vote on the amendment's "germaneness" before it could vote on the amendment itself.

The "germaneness" objection didn't hold up in the Senate, but it arose again a week later in conference. The House, you see, is much more stubborn about such nitpicking details than the Senate. Sure enough, House conferees turned thumbs down on even considering the amendment. We don't know how they'd have voted if the matter had made it through the rules dispute, but at least the committee voted to include wording stressing the predator problem and calling on interior and USDA to consider a transfer.

From where we stand, the chances of getting the transfer next year look good. It's supposedly part of President-elect Reagan's platform and, even if he doesn't issue an executive order for the transfer, we're looking at a much more conservative Congress next time around. As close as we came with the current Congress, we're willing to lay odds on the new one. So we didn't exactly win, but neither did we lose. And we learned one very important lesson in the process—there may not be many of us involved in agriculture, but if we all stand together like we did on this issue, we just might be heard for a change.

Crockett wildcats slated

Harrison Interests Ltd., Houston, will drill two 9,500-foot wildcats and as outposts to the opener of the proposed Seawolf (Strawn gas) field of Crockett County, approximately 11 miles southeast of Ozona.

The No. 1 R.B. McMullan, 3/8-mile northwest of an undesignated Strawn gas discovery and 1 1/8 miles west and slightly south of the proposed Seawolf opener, is 1,980 feet from the south and west lines of 1-F-GC&SF. Ground elevation is 2,294 feet.

The No. 2 R.B. McMullan, 1/4-mile east of production in the Live Oak Draw (Strawn gas) field and 2 1/4 miles west of the proposed Seawolf opener, separated by two undesignated Strawn discoveries, is 677 feet from the north and 1,755 feet from the west lines of 17-F-GC&SF. Ground elevation is 2,438 feet.

The proposed Seawolf opener, the firm's No. 7 John Lee Henderson Jr., drilled to 9,420 feet, was finished Nov. 25 for a calculated, absolute open flow of 2,900,000 cubic feet of gas daily, through perforations at 8,822-9,113 feet.

The firm has three other Strawn gas wells in the area, which also were completed as discoveries.

The Live Oak Draw field produces from approximately 9,187 feet.

NEWS OF PETS

Food For Thought
Like many people in these inflationary times, dog owners are looking for a way to provide their pets with a good tasting, nutritionally balanced meal that doesn't cost a lot.

Well, now there's Gaines Complete—a new soft-moist dog food that offers meaty taste, carefully balanced nutrition and convenience at a lower price than the leading brand—up to 30¢ less!

Developed through extensive research, new Gaines Complete combines tender pieces and chewy chunks with a meaty taste dogs love. And, it comes in two popular flavors—Beef flavor and Cheese flavor—at a price people can appreciate. Packed in convenient individual serving packets, new Gaines Complete meets all National Research Council requirements for all stages of a dog's life.

Tomatoes often not fully ripe

Since tomatoes aren't always fully ripe when they reach the grocery shelves, especially in fall and winter, they need a little special attention at home.

When tomatoes are light pink and still firm, they are not in the best condition for optimum flavor. However, they will turn red if placed in a bowl and set at room temperature for about 24 hours, says Tom Longbrake, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Tomatoes will turn bright red and juicy if given the opportunity, but most people eliminate that possibility by promptly placing the unripe fruit in the refrigerator, says Longbrake.

Best ripening conditions for tomatoes is a temperature of 65 to 75 degrees F. Do not place tomatoes on the stove, in a microwave oven or in direct sunlight as overheating will soften them too much. The best humidity is 95 percent. Higher humidity stimulates micro-organism growth while lower humidity can cause dehydration and shriveling. Use a ripening bowl or a plastic bag with air vents cut into the side to control humidity.

Only after ripening should tomatoes be refrigerated, points out the horticulturist.

Research has shown that tomatoes arrive to the consumer in better condition if harvested and marketed before becoming fully ripe.

During fall and winter, tomatoes are grown in the South where it's warm -- Texas, Florida, and California. Most fruit are picked in the immature green or pink stage. After picking, tomatoes are boxed, hauled to packing sheds, graded, packed into cartons, loaded onto trucks and hauled to warehouses. Then, says Longbrake, they are distributed to local grocery stores where consumers may purchase one of the main ingredients for the popular tossed salad.

Long twins birthday honorees

Latrice and Cameron Long, twin daughters of Tina Long and Leslie Long, were feted with a party on the occasion of their third birthday, Saturday, December 6. The party was held in their home and hosted by their mother and co-hosted by Jan Henderson.

Following refreshments and the opening of gifts, the party was highlighted by a surprise visit from Santa Claus.

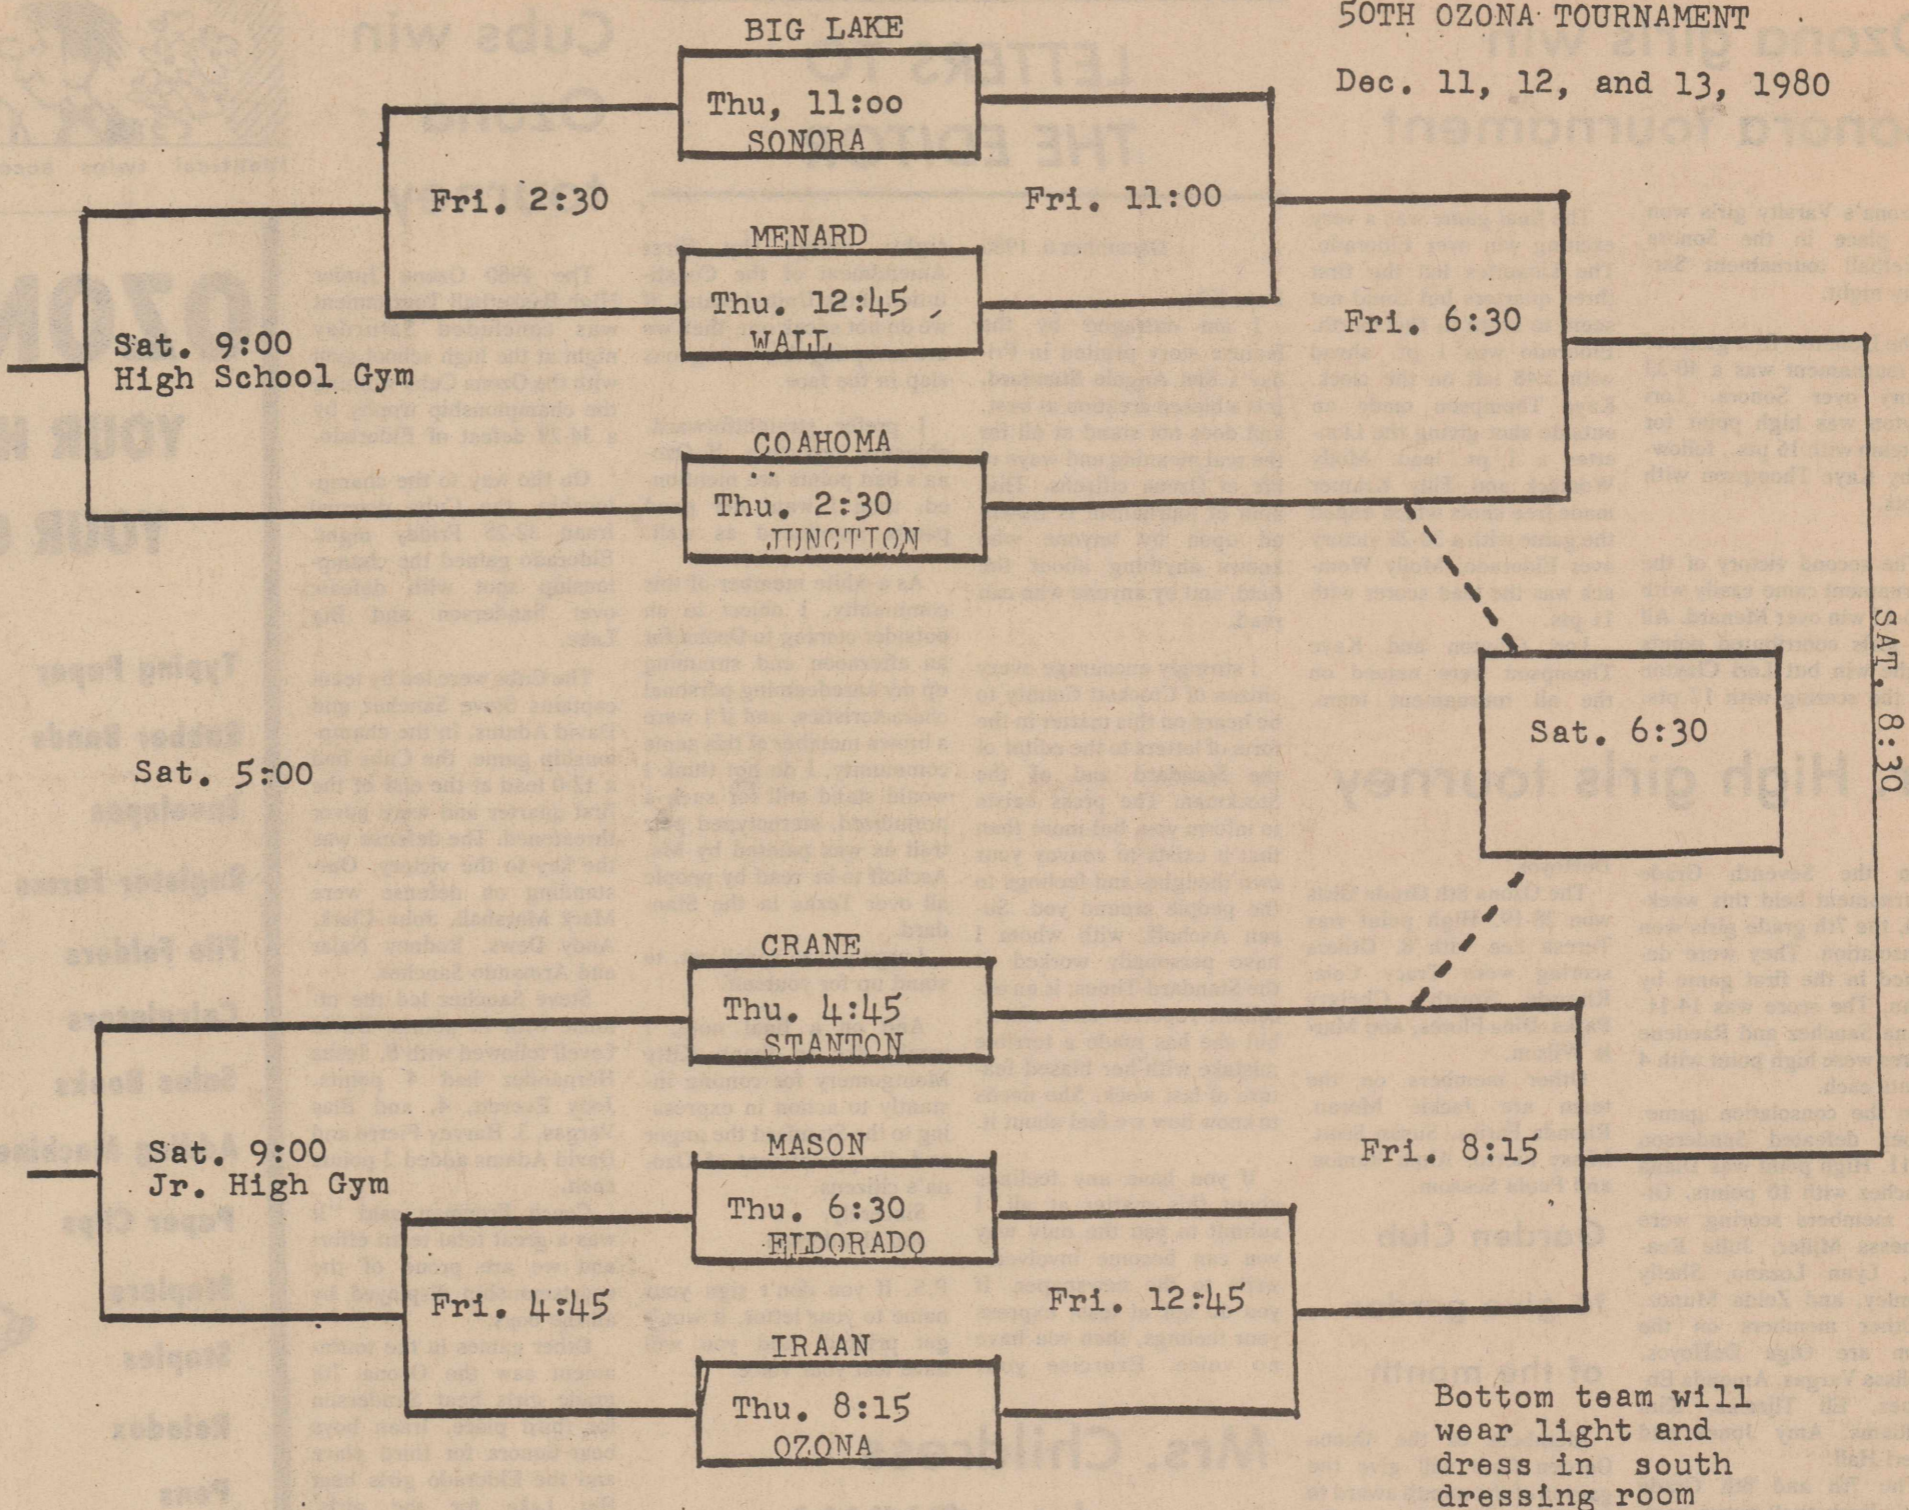

Guests included sister Hyacinth, grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Ruthardt, aunts and uncles Lori and Rex Parker, Rodney and Stephanie Ruthardt, Tonya Ruthardt, and cousin Eric Parker.

Other guests were Dana Bishop, Shain and Angela Crawford, Amy and Sabrina Easterwood, and Susan Hester.

Also attending were Michelle and T.J. Lambert, Bart St. Clair, Jason and Jessica Ward, Tara and Lauren Wilkins.

Ozona girls win Sonora tournament

Ozona's Varsity girls won first place in the Sonora basketball tournament Saturday night.

The Lionettes first game of the tournament was a 40-33 victory over Sonora. Lori Clayton was high point for the team with 16 pts., followed by Kaye Thompson with 12 pts.

The second victory of the tournament came easily with a 56-17 win over Menard. All the girls contributed points to the win but Lori Clayton led the scoring with 17 pts.

The final game was a very exciting win over Eldorado. The Lionettes led the first three quarters but could not seem to score in the fourth. Eldorado was 1 pt. ahead with 3:48 left on the clock. Kaye Thompson made an outside shot giving the Lionettes a 1 pt. lead. Molly Womack and Tilly Kramer made free shots which ended the game with a 33-29 victory over Eldorado. Molly Womack was the lead scorer with 11 pts.

Lori Clayton and Kaye Thompson were named on the all tournament team.

Jr. High girls tourney

In the Seventh Grade Tournament held this weekend, the 7th grade girls won Consolation. They were defeated in the first game by Iraan. The score was 14-11. Diana Sanchez and Raedene Flores were high point with 4 points each.

In the consolation game, Ozona defeated Sanderson 20-11. High point was Diana Sanchez with 10 points. Other members scoring were Vanessa Miller, Julie Reagor, Lynn Lozano, Shelly Rumley, and Zeldia Munoz. Other members on the team are Olga DeHoyos, Melissa Vargas, Amenda Enriquez, Eli Tijerina, Kim Williams, Amy Jones and Cheri Hall.

The 7th and 8th Grade Girl's Basketball teams hosted Big Lake Monday. Ozona came out winners in both games. Vanessa Miller was high point with 7 points for the 7th grade. Others scoring were Diana Sanchez, Raedene Flores, Zeldia Munoz, Julie Reagor and Olga DeHoyos.

The Ozona 8th Grade Girls won 28-19. High point was Teresa Lee with 8. Others scoring were Tracy Cole, Rhonda Smith, Christy Parks, Dina Flores, and Marla Wilson.

Other members on the team are Jackie Moran, Rhonda Faries, Susan Scott, Missy Fierro, Alma Ramos, and Paula Sessom.

Garden Club to give garden of the month

Members of the Ozona Garden Club will give the garden of the month award to the Ozona home having the most distinctive and creative outdoor decorations.

The selection will not be made public until next week when it will be announced in the Stockman.

GIRL TO SELMANS

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Selman of Kaufman are the parents of a daughter born Nov. 28, in Kaufman. She weighed 7 pounds and 8 ounces and has been named Casey Michelle. She has a brother, Curtis, 5. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Al Sikes of Kaufman and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Selman of Ozona. Mrs. Selman recently returned to her home here after spending several days visiting the new arrival.

Christmas came early to local resident, Miss Mary E. Hill, last week when she was notified that she had won first prize in the annual San Angelo Shopping Spree Contest. First prize was $1,000 in the merchandise of Miss Hill's choice. Luck was on Miss Hill's side as she only filled out two entry blanks.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

December 6, 1980

Dear Kitty,

I am outraged by the feature story printed in Friday's San Angelo Standard. It is a biased creation at best, and does not stand at all for the real meaning and ways of life of Ozona citizens. That kind of journalism is frowned upon by anyone who knows anything about the field, and by anyone who can read.

I strongly encourage every citizen of Crockett County to be heard on this matter in the form of letters to the editor of the Standard and of the Stockman. The press exists to inform you, but more than that it exists to convey your own thoughts and feelings to the people around you. Susan Aschoff, with whom I have personally worked at the Standard-Times, is an excellent reporter and editor, but she has made a terrible mistake with her biased feature of last week. She needs to know how we feel about it.

If you have any feelings about this matter at all, I submit to you the only way you can become involved—write to the newspaper. If you do not at least express your feelings, then you have no voice. Exercise your rights under the First Amendment of the Constitution of the United States. If we do not speak out, then we are accepting this outrageous slap in the face.

I prefer straightforward, objective reporting. If Ozona's bad points are mentioned, then I want her good points mentioned as well.

As a white member of this community, I object to an outsider coming to Ozona for an afternoon and summing up my unredeeming personal characteristics, and if I were a brown member of this same community, I do not think I would stand still for such a prejudiced, stereotyped portrait as was painted by Ms. Aschoff to be read by people all over Texas in the Standard.

I urge you to speak out, to stand up for yourself.

And on a final note, I would like to thank Kitty Montgomery for coming instantly to action in expressing to the Standard the anger and disappointment of Ozona's citizens.

Sincerely,
Jan Henderson

P.S. If you don't sign your name to your letter, it won't get printed, and you will have lost your voice.

Mrs. Childress named to OYWA

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Women of America awards program has announced today that Sandra Childress of Ozona has been selected for inclusion in the 1980 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America.

Cubs win Ozona tourney

The 1980 Ozona Junior High Basketball Tournament was concluded Saturday night at the high school gym with the Ozona Cubs winning the championship trophy by a 34-29 defeat of Eldorado.

On the way to the championship, the Cubs downed Iraan 32-25 Friday night. Eldorado gained the championship spot with defeats over Sanderson and Big Lake.

The Cubs were led by team captains Steve Sanchez and David Adams. In the championship game, the Cubs had a 12-0 lead at the end of the first quarter and were never threatened. The defense was the key to the victory. Outstanding on defense were Mark Marshall, John Clark, Andy Dews, Rodney Najjar and Armando Sanchez.

Steve Sanchez led the offense with 11 points, David Lovell followed with 8, Jesus Hernandez had 4 points, Jody Everett, 4, and Blas Vargas, 3. Harvey Fierro and David Adams added 2 points each.

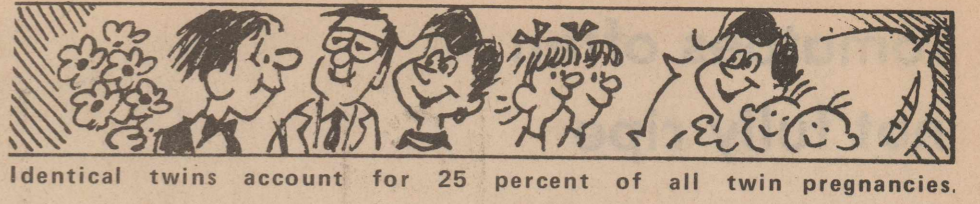

Coach Freeman said "It was a great total team effort and we are proud of the sportsmanship displayed by all the boys."

Other games in the tournament saw the Ozona 7th grade girls beat Sanderson for third place. Iraan boys beat Sonora for third place and the Eldorado girls beat Big Lake for the girls' championship.

COME AND SEE OUR MANY ITEMS WE HAVE IN STOCK— TOO NUMEROUS TO LIST

Try leaving on a flight of fancy.

It's one thing to sit around and dream of faraway places. But when you decide to go, you've got to come up with a ticket. Wishing won't make it so. Saving will get you there.

One of the easiest, safest ways to save is to buy U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. A little is taken out of each paycheck automatically. And the Bonds will eventually grow into a first-class ticket to anywhere.

Nothing is too far. Tahiti, London, Paris, Rome. Even a trip around the world. Or just a long vacation on a Caribbean island. Anywhere.

So go ahead, take a flight of fancy. Then start buying Bonds so you can take a fancy flight.

Take stock in America.

When you put part of your savings into U.S. Savings Bonds you're helping to build a brighter future for your country and for yourself.

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay

Here's an unbelievable football record that may never be broken...Place-kicker Tommy Davis kicked extra points for the San Francisco 49ers for 7 consecutive years without ever missing one...Davis booted 234 extra points in a row from 1959 through 1965--and never missed during that time...Nobody has topped that record, before or since. ***

The 5 most popular nicknames for college football teams in America are, in order, Tigers, Bears, Bulldogs, Eagles and Wildcats...Surprisingly, almost 20% of all colleges have one of those nicknames. ***

What's the highest price ever charged for a ticket to one sports event in America?...Would you believe $100,000?...That all-time record was set Aug. 4, 1944, during World War II, when a fight was staged to sell U.S. war bonds...It was a light-heavyweight championship bout between Beau Jack and Bob Montgomery...To get a ringside seat for that fight, you had to buy a $100,000 war bond. ***

I bet you didn't know... We have Oldsmobiles, Chevrolets, Buicks, Pontiacs and Cadillacs to choose from when you are ready to buy that special person their big Christmas Gift! Come on by!
