Savings and Loan opens here

First Savings and Loan of Fort Stockton has opened a branch office in Ozona in the Village Shopping Center. The facility opened for business Monday with Carol Hensley as branch manager. Liz Gonzales is her assistant.

The savings and loan association is offering 5½ percent on passbook savings, the current rate on money market certificates, and presently 12 percent on 30-month variables.

They were buried in Aspermont Cemetery after a graveside service.

They were the grandparents of Mrs. Joe Couch of Ozona.

Around 70 persons were on hand Saturday evening at the Circle Bar Solarium to honor Mr. and Mrs. John Held, Jr. on the occasion of their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

The event was hosted by

NEW PLANT UNDER CONSTRUCTION-Future home of Ozona Butane Co. is located across from the cemetery on Hwy 163. The large steel building will house the offices and all facilities presently located in the downtown building and

Crusade under way to stop teenage drinking

Bobby Aycock has embarked on a one-man crusade to make Ozonans aware of the very serious problem of widespread teen-age drinking among younger people here. Aycock, who has done extensive research into the problem, says "what once was a sleeping monster, has awakened and come out into the open, and is devouring our young people."

In his effort to make parents, law enforcement officers, and educators aware, he is speaking to clubs, civic organizations, and church groups. Aycock feels the problem can only be solved by parent and community support of local law enforcement, and is circulating a petition to that effect.

He recently had seven petitions circulated and estimates he has about 100 signatures. The petition will be presented to local law enforcement agencies and reads as follows:

"We the undersigned citizens of Ozona, Texas, wish it to be known that we are concerned about our teenage drinking problem in our community. This petition will serve as a notice that we are in full support of our courts and law enforcement agencies of Crockett County, and the State of Texas, in upholding and enforcing to the fullest extent, those laws that prohibit the consumption and possession of alcoholic beverages by minors, the selling of alcoholic beverages to minors, and the contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Therefore, we the undersigned, hereby petition the Crockett County Sheriff's office and other law enforcement agencies within the County of Crockett, to fully enforce those laws that prohibit the consumption of alcohol by minors.

Aycock says the decision to sign the petition is really very simple. "If you support teen-age drinking, you won't sign it," he said, "if you do not support youthful drinking, you will sign it."

In his speaking engagements, Aycock lists the problem in several categories. First, he says is availability. Anyone 18 years of age can buy it legally and make it available to younger students. Youngsters get alcoholic beverages from their parents' stock or from their homes. From junior high on, if a youth wants to drink it is easy to obtain.

Lack of entertainment is one of the categories listed by Aycock. Youngsters have lots of freedom in small towns, but nothing to do here with the exception of the youth center, and drinking.

Lack of interest by parents is another factor. Parents who do not keep tabs on their children are adding to the problem, Aycock said. Children need to be educated to the dangers of drinking and that job belongs to the parents.

Lax law enforcement is also cited. Rather than deal with irate parents, law enforcement officials often look the other way when youngsters are gathered and drinking in public.

Sales tax rep. to visit here

State Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his San Angelo office in Ozona on February 12, 1981 to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Steve Mercer will meet with local taxpayers in the Law Library in the Courthouse Annex from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m.

"If Ozona area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing state tax forms, Mr. Mercer will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office, and we believe these face to face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

Highway improvements up for bids

Bids for improving 58.6 miles of highways in Crockett, Irion, Menard, Sutton and Tom Green Counties are expected to be received February 10 by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Work will consist of seal coating the roadways with an application of asphalt and rock to promote waterproofing and help maintain pavement strength.

San Angelo District Engineer Durward R. Watson said seal coating will be applied to the following highway in Crockett County IH 10 from Taylor Box Road to Sutton Co. line, 8.7 miles.

SAC bomber crew stationed here

A United States Air Force Strategic Air Command bomber crew has set up a radar bomb scoring (RBS) site 14 miles west of Big Lake on Hwy. 67. Seventeen people have been assigned to the mission and they, along with their commander, Lt. Col. Richard Money, are residing in Ozona.

The crew plans to be in this area until December of this year. They are flying B-52 bombers and FB-111 airplanes. Their route takes in all Southwest Texas, Eastern New Mexico and Colorado, and Western Kansas.

Strategic Air Command bomber crews must be kept combat ready in peacetime in order to fulfill any future wartime mission. To help insure this readiness radar bomb scoring (RBS) is used to test the effectiveness of all crews.

Radar bomb scoring began in 1946 with 888 bomb releases for the year against a site in San Diego, Calif. SAC bomber crews complete more than 10,000 simulated bomb drops monthly.

During early phases of bomb scoring, crews attempted to drop sand bags or dummy bombs on circles drawn on the ground. Today, highly sophisticated electronic apparatus scores the accuracy of simulated bomb drops by SAC crews. The target can be any object within the 'eyes' of the scanning radar devices.

The electronic equipment is operated and maintained by SAC technicians located at RBS detachments. (The detachments consist of several trailer vans and are divided into fixed, mobile, and semi-mobile sites. This electronic equipment is periodically moved to unfamiliar target areas.)

Scoring bomb missions with radar gives crews realistic training in the use of radar bombing against all kinds of targets, day or night in all kinds of weather. Navigator-bombardiers receive practice in recognizing terrain features, rail centers, factories and other structures used as reference points as they appear on radar scopes.

Using a combination of radio and radar contact between aircraft and the RBS site, the effectiveness of combat crews is scored without having to drop bombs. Bombs are not carried by SAC bombers flying RBS training missions.

RBS radars 'lock-on' the approaching bomber, tracking it automatically on a plotting board. Just before the simulated release of the bomb, the aircraft transmits a tone to the RBS site by radio. The point of simulated bomb release is indicated by

Wildcats scheduled for county

Harrison Interests, Ltd., Houston, will drill the No. 21 University Land 32-20 as a 9,400-foot Pennsylvanian wildcat and as a location north stepout to Canyon gas production and 2¼ miles north of Pennsylvanian gas production in the Howards Creek west field, 2¼ miles southeast of an undesignated Pennsylvanian gas discovery and 16 miles west of Ozona.

Location is 660 feet from the south and west lines of 32-30 University Lands. Ground elevation is 2,390 feet.

The same firm will drill the No. 20 University Land 20-33 as a 3½-mile northwest outpost to Pennsylvanian gas production and as a location northwest stepout to Canyon gas production in the Howards Creek field, one location south of the undesignated Pennsylvanian gas discovery and 17 miles southwest of Ozona.

Location is 660 feet from the north and 990 feet from the west lines of 20-30 University lands.

The undesignated Pennsylvanian gas discovery, the firm's No. 19 University Land 21-30, drilled to 9,378 feet, was finalized Oct. 8, 1980 for a calculated, absolute open flow of 2,150,000 cubic feet of gas daily, through perforations at 8,875½-9,233 feet.

stopping the tone. The target and the radar site have been precisely plotted on the tracking board prior to this action.

By using figures of distance, direction of the bomber from its target, the aircraft's ground speed, heading, altitude, wind conditions, bomb fall characteristics and other data, RBS technicians compute the accuracy of the particular bombing mission. They can determine if the target was hit, and if not, by how far and in what direction it was missed.

These missions are of value because SAC can train its combat crews in bombing techniques under conditions that closely simulate those of wartime.

Runs against RBS targets are made by SAC B-52s and FB-111s; both aircraft can penetrate defenses from either high or low altitudes. When SAC aircraft fly low altitude missions they remain at least 400 feet above the terrain at all times and fly at subsonic speeds, which cause no sonic booms.

A Federal Aviation Administration agreement with SAC assures maximum safety during low-level flying, since civilian aircraft are informed which planned routes are in use by SAC bombers.

School board election

Two trustee posts for the Crockett County School Board will be up for election Saturday, April 4. Members whose terms expire are George Bunker, Jr. and C.R. Fuantoz.

The deadline for filing for a place on the ballot is March 5. Those wishing to file, may do so in the Crockett County Judge's office in the courthouse.

The polls will open at 8:00 a.m. and close at 7:00. Voters will cast ballots in the law library in the courthouse.

you and the LAW
PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: I placed a mail order with an out-of-state auto parts company, paying them in full by check at the time of the order. Since then the company has gone into bankruptcy. I have filed a claim in the District Court of the home state of the company but have received nothing. Is there any way in which I can get either the money or the parts which I ordered?

A: No. When a company declares bankruptcy, all its assets are put into receivership. The federal district court usually develops a plan in which each creditor will receive a certain portion of the money or assets owed by the bankrupt firm. As a customer, you are a general, unsecured creditor and you will receive whatever money remains after the secured creditors have been paid. Settlement after bankruptcy usually takes a long time, but if you have properly filed your claim, it is being considered with the others.

Q: How long after a person is divorced can she remarry? Is the law regarding this a state law or is it the same anywhere in the United States?

A: The Texas Family Code provides that neither party to a divorce may marry anyone else for thirty days. They may, however, remarry each other at any time. After the 30 days, both parties are free to marry anyone. State law controls marital and family matters, and this 30-day provision applies only to Texas. The law in other states will vary as to remarriage following divorce.

Q: Can a person be sued for criticizing a public official without malicious intent?

A: Generally, no. Criticism of a public official which relates to his office or qualifications is protected by the law. If supposedly factual statements about the official are false and injure his reputation, then the person making the statement could be liable. In most cases, however, in a lawsuit for damages, the official would have to prove the speaker had malicious intent.

Q: If we stopped our monthly payments on our car, and the finance company repossessed, could they make us pay the difference between what it's worth and what we now owe? It's five years old and we still owe $6,000.

A: Yes, under the foreclosure requirements of the Uniform Commercial Code, the debtor is liable for the difference in what the car is worth and the amount owed at the time of repossession. If 60% of the loan is paid, a commercially reasonable sale of the car is required within 90 days. If 60% of the loan has not been paid off, unless a waiver of sale is signed by the debtor, (or the finance company makes a written proposal to keep the car) a deficiency judgment is allowed automatically, and the debtor is liable for the deficiency plus the costs of repossession and sale.

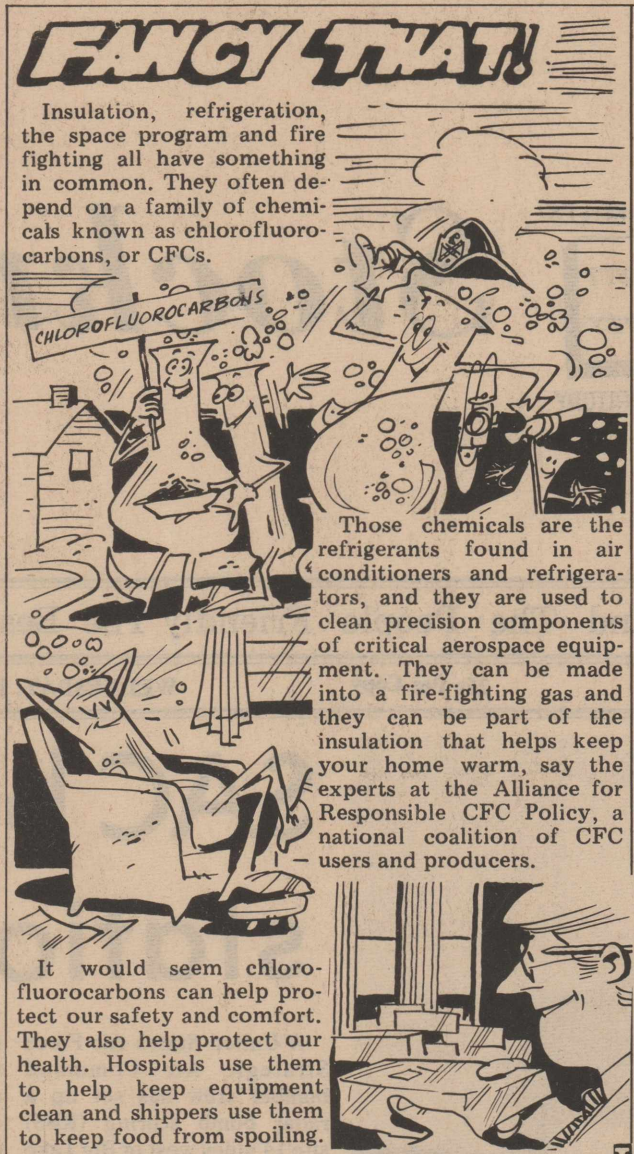

Q: I am preparing to have my will drawn up. Is it possible to specify that my Executor serve without a bond?

A: Yes, you may specify that your executor serve without bond, which would probably save your estate a substantial cost. If you provide for a substitute executor, you should specify that he or she, also, shall serve without bond. In addition, a will may direct the executor to serve independent of court approval for all the certain steps of probate. Both of these provisions, available under Texas' liberal probate laws, can only be obtained in a formal will.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P.O. Box 12487, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms; personal answers not possible.

FANCY THAT!

Insulation, refrigeration, the space program and fire fighting all have something in common. They often depend on a family of chemicals known as chlorofluorocarbons, or CFCs.

Those chemicals are the refrigerants found in air conditioners and refrigerators, and they are used to clean precision components of critical aerospace equipment. They can be made into a fire-fighting gas and they can be part of the insulation that helps keep your home warm, say the experts at the Alliance for Responsible CFC Policy, a national coalition of CFC users and producers.

It would seem chlorofluorocarbons can help protect our safety and comfort. They also help protect our health. Hospitals use them to help keep equipment clean and shippers use them to keep food from spoiling.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Republican Governor Bill Clements, who has often said he sees no difference between running a large corporation and running state government, last week demonstrated he is going to keep that game-plan to bring unruly Democrats to heel.

And he didn't do a bad job, either, despite indications the Legislature is getting its back up at the former oilfield worker who went on to found one of the world's largest oil drilling companies.

In short shrift, Clements backed down the House and Senate on the issue of an emergency pay raise for state employees... and he tried to grab the momentum from Atty. Gen. Mark White on the issue of racial discrimination in Texas universities.

White was Texas' hero in January after he flew to Washington and stalled off punitive federal action for alleged racial segregation. Following his visit, the U.S. Department of Education agreed to a six-month reprieve to allow Texas to divert more funds to predominantly black colleges.

Perhaps angered that White had stolen a political march on him, Clements declared last week he alone will control future dealings with the Education Department, and he fired off a letter to the Reagan Administration reiterating that point.

Clements apparently was angry at the success of White's mission which saved Texas between $250 to $300 million in federal funds from being cut off. Clements views White as a potential opponent in the 1982 gubernatorial race, and wanted to reserve negotiating action to his own advantage, a source in the Governor's office said.

Emergency Pay Raise
Last week's emergency pay raise bill affected only state employees, but it was significant as the "opening guns issue" between the Legislature and Clements. Clements probably won.

The basic play: Clements had wanted a 3.4 percent pay hike, and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby countered with a 6.8 percent figure. Clements settled for a 5.1 percent compromise and vowed to veto a higher figure.

Nevertheless, the emergency pay raise bill by Sen. Lloyd Doggett passed the Senate at 6.8 percent and was sent to the House. A House Appropriations Committee amended to 5.1 and sent the bill to the House floor for debate. Several attempts failed to jack it higher, until the House finally agreed to 5.1, but with a $75 floor instead of the governor-approved $50 floor. It was a "dare" to veto and the votes to override were apparently almost enough (two-thirds majority).

But the bill was tailored to the Governor's wishes in conference committee, and the confrontation never appeared. Even if Clements had signed the "dare," he could have saved face and state money by postponing the pay raise by a month.

The real losers would have been state employees who depend only on the Legislature for a raise, unlike in private enterprise. As their equivalents in private enterprise will probably agree, a $25 point of difference pales against the vivid background of double-digit inflation.

Agriculture Bills
Already introduced this session are several bills to seek help for Texas agriculture.

A bill by Rep. Bill Keese, D-Somerville, would strengthen the rights of farmers and other landowners in cases where cities and utility companies use eminent domain laws to obtain land of right-of-way easements. Keese complains that some 170 types of governmental bodies have eminent domain rights.

Pete Patterson, D-Brookston, has a bill to keep designers from buying farm and ranchland, and to require present alien owners to register their claims with the state.

Patterson is worried about the huge amounts of prime farmland taken out of production, not only by foreigners but by developers and expanding urban areas.

State Senator Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, has authored a bill to outlaw the state inheritance tax which often forces persons who inherit family farms and businesses to sell them to pay the tax.

A farm bill by an urban legislator, Sam Hudson, R-Dallas, would give farmworkers the right to bargain collectively with growers. The bill is being pushed by the Texas Farm Workers Union, a group which often makes below minimum wage. Opponents say farm product prices are so low now that the industry cannot afford a hike in labor costs.

PRESSURE YEARS
University professors are no more immune from what Hollywood calls the "Middle Age Crazy" years than the average citizen.

Those are the years when adults in the 35-to-45 age range feel consumed by pressures both from their own children and from their aging parents.

In order to improve the performance of its teachers, The University of Texas has recognized those pressure years by offering Mid-Life Transition Workshops for faculty members.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Start your feeding program this month, especially for trees. Use a well-balanced fertilizer, using about 1 pound per inch of the circumference of the tree. Punch holes four to six inches deep, six inches to one foot apart, starting one to three feet from the base of the tree to the drip line of the branches. For shrubs, place evenly over the ground utilized by the root system and lightly work into the soil, not disturbing the roots.

Also apply fertilizer to perennials, including bulbs that have been planted a year or more and new growth appears above the ground. Scatter the fertilizer evenly and, except in grassed areas, cultivate it shallowly into the surface.

Dormant spraying of fruit and shade trees should be done this month along with shrubs.

Trees, shrubs, vines that are espaliered against walls may be pruned now

If they produce their blossom on last year's growth, delay pruning until after they have flowered.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE

Mrs. Robert Cox and Mrs. Jack Williams won the top spot in Duplicate Bridge Club play Saturday at the Country Club. In second place were Mrs. Evert White and Mrs. Sidney Millsbaugh.

In play Sunday two couples tied for first place, Mrs. Dale Bebee and Mrs. Clay Adams and Mrs. Buddy Phillips and Evert White. Mrs. Joe Friend and Mrs. Velma Marley had the next highest score.

Pruning should be started now on established shrubs and trees. Large shrubs near the house that may ruin the roof or walls and obscure the lines of architecture, should be severely pruned. The old limbs may be cut near the ground, and other limbs pruned irregularly to enhance the beauty of the plant. They will put on new growth and cover the severe pruning. Examples are the Photinia, Wax Leaf Ligustrum, Loquat, Pyracantha, Pitosporum and others.

Late flowering shrubs need to be pruned by the end of February. This will encourage thicker more attractive specimens. Examples, Abelia, Althea, Butterfly Bush, Flowering Willow, Salt Cedar, Vitex, Crepe Myrtle, Elaeagnus and others. Remove all injured branches and dead wood.

February may bring both very cold and warm days so the warm days should be busy one's for the gardener.

Ms. Adams is bridge hostess

Mrs. Clay Adams was hostess for bridge at the Country Club Thursday. Mrs. George Bungler will be hostess this week for a Mexican luncheon and bridge.

Mrs. Adams also held high score last week. Second high went to Mrs. Evert White and bingos to Mrs. Charlie Black and Mrs. J.J. Marley.

Others playing were Mrs. Jim Bob Bailey, Mrs. George Bungler, Mrs. John Childress, Mrs. Duane Childress, Mrs. Joe Friend, Mrs. John R. Hunnicutt, Mrs. Arthur Kyle, Mrs. Bill Mason, Mrs. J.B. Parker, Mrs. Buddy Phillips, Mrs. Jake Short, Mrs. Sherman Taylor, Mrs. Bill Cooper, Mrs. Byron Williams, Mrs. Charles Williams, and Mrs. Jack Williams.

How to save on cosmetics

Mistakes in buying cosmetic aids add up to costly waste, says a clothing specialist, Becky Saunders.

A quick dollar inventory of unused products bought in the last few months will motivate most people to plan future buys more carefully, she points out.

Saving money on cosmetics while getting what you want takes time.

However, extra time spent planning ahead, comparison shopping, inventorying current supplies and learning from past mistakes will pay off, she continues.

Consider these money-saving tips.

Buy large, economy sizes for often-used products such as shampoo and hand lotion.

For first-time use, buy the smallest size available to determine likes and dislikes.

However, compare cost per ounce or unit—larger sizes are not always more economical.

Buy small-size containers of products that tend to evaporate or dry out.

More expensive items are not necessarily better products but perhaps just more expensively packaged or advertised.

"Buy one, get one free" or buy $10, get a $25 value for $5" is not a bargain unless you need all or the majority of items included, the specialist advises.

However, if these items are needed, these promotions are well worth it.

Scented products are usually more expensive than unscented.

Compare costs for adding a drop of your favorite fragrance, or compare costs for similar type fragrances such as florals or spices.

esting and timely program entitled "Who Will Get My Money?" Mr. Stokes pointed out the fact that some of the so-called tax loop holes are in fact actual laws. He also discussed various tax shelters, estate planning, and the importance of everyone having an up-dated will.

Mrs. Pleas Childress, III, conducted the business meeting following Mr. Stokes' program. Members in attendance were Mmes. Jack Baggett, Jr., Larry Braden, Tom Cameron, Billy Carson, Duane Childress, Dwight Childress, Buster Deaton, Deene Holden, John R. Hunnicutt, Rick Hunnicutt, Fred Jones, Frank Justiss, Gary Buck Mitchell, J.S. Pierce IV, Jack Probst, Lane Scott, Steve Sessom, Gregory Stuart, Jeffrey Sutton, Gary Vannoy, Rick Webster, Wesley West, Steve Wilkins, and Bill Mason.

Mrs. Childress attends museum school

Mrs. Pleas Childress attended a school on Basic Curatorial Accountability and Collection Management, Jan. 27-29, at L.B. Johnson National Historical Site located on the Perdales River near Johnson City.

She represented the Crockett County Museum and was one of the only 33 applicants accepted from New Mexico and Texas.

The course was taught by H. Dale Durham, Chief of Branch Curatorial Services at Harpers Ferry, West Va.

Stringed instruments played with a bow are thought to have originated in Asia about the 8th or 9th century.

Debra Says

By Debra Price

What is cute, cuddly, lovable and fragrant? A baby—some of the time!

First-time parents will feel that way about their new baby—some of the time.

Other times may be full of stresses, and that is normal.

Passing from the non-parental state to the parenting state is a transition period, and, as such, it will have "ups" and "downs."

This transition can be easier when parents prepare themselves for the changes they will face, including an awareness of different ways to cope with the changes.

An important step in facing the changes a new baby brings to the family is to be realistic.

Realize that babies have their positive and their negative points. For example, babies are adorable—and babies get sick and unhappy and tired and make messes and need attention at times when parents are often tired themselves.

Another step is become more knowledgeable about infants and parenting before the baby is born.

Read a variety—not necessarily many—of different sources on infants and parenting. Attend classes that share information on caring for infants and becoming a parent for the first time.

These activities will increase your feelings of "being prepared"—your self-confidence, and that will ease the transition period.

However, they will not substitute for the actual experience of caring for your own infant. So don't expect that you have learned most everything you need to know, or you'll create new stresses.

Third, realize some of the actual changes that will occur when the infant is born.

Some are the following areas: time schedule, household organization, expenses, amount of free personal time, husband-wife relationship, and feelings of personal well-being on the part of both parents.

Another factor in making the transition easier is acceptance.

Accept the fact that you may have good and bad feelings toward the new baby.

Also, accept the fact that much of a smooth transition is up to you as parents.

How you handle your feelings is what really matters. Discuss your expectations—your own as individuals and each other's. This will be especially beneficial to first-time fathers.

Be aware that a new child generally places some degree of stress on the parents and their marriage.

More stress is usually felt by the first-time mother than by the father.

Remember, though, stresses are normal—and they can be handled.

Parents can more easily handle the stresses—and cope successfully—if they are prepared for them.

Finally, remember that coping with the arrival of the new baby and the first few months is only the beginning.

The first month or so after the baby's birth is often a "honeymoon" period for the family.

By the time the child is eight months old, however, the parents have become far more aware of the tremendous impact that having a child has on their relationship.

Mrs. White entertains bridge club

Mrs. Evert White entertained the Friday Bridge Club in her home last week.

High score went to Mrs. White, second high to Mrs. George Bungler, bingo to Mrs. Lowell Littleton, and low to Mrs. O.D. West.

Others playing were Mrs. Eddie Arnold, Mrs. Joe Friend, Mrs. J.B. Miller, Mrs. Hillery Phillips, Mrs. J.B. Post, Mrs. Sherman Taylor, Mrs. C.O. Walker and Mrs. Lovella Dudley.

MIGRATION BRINGS REDUCED FERTILITY

When Mexican women migrate to the U.S. and become exposed to the lower fertility patterns of this society, they begin having fewer children.

That is a finding of a study made by Dr. Frank D. Bean, University of Texas sociologist. His study also found that the tendency for Mexican immigrants to decrease fertility (depending on length of time spent in the U.S.) is more pronounced among couples of higher socio-economic status.

He concludes that improved educational opportunities offer the greatest promise for reducing fertility of the Mexican American population.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

Brought To You By Brown Furniture

Your guest room, in order to live up to the meaning of the words, should not only be bright and cheerful, but should be, as much as possible, a complete room in itself.

Does it really contain all the conveniences which you would want and enjoy if you were a guest in someone's home?

Of utmost importance - and often neglected - is drawer space. Perhaps you could add a good chest of drawers for this room.

Meantime, don't use your guest room as a "catch-all" room for furniture not needed in the rest of your home. Furnish it so it's properly co-ordinated. Besides the right furniture, you can add a nice touch by having flowers and magazines in the room when guests are expected.

And, here's a good idea. Consider using the room yourself for any number of things for when you don't have guests. With the proper planning, this is like giving yourself an extra room.

Remember, to see a lot of ideas and a wonderful selection of furniture pieces for any room in your home - from guest room to living room - stop in and browse. There's no obligation. You are welcome. We'll look forward to seeing you at BROWN FURNITURE.

The Evening Star

The brilliant evening star is a symbol of many things to many folk. Mariners hail it as a good omen, for it usually forecasts a clear, calm night and smooth sailing. The shepherd tending his flock on a desolate hillside gratefully notes its appearance in the heavens, for its friendly light offers an intangible sort of companionship during his lonely vigil. To many, the star is representative of God's infinite power and wisdom.

Just as this star touches hearts in countless different ways, so may the Church bring to those in all walks of life, peace and comfort which lead to a happier, more fruitful pattern of life.

Let us make the Church our guiding light. We can brighten our lives if we accept the teaching of the Scriptures as guideposts along the pathway to future endeavors.

Winter moisture creates good weed and grass growth

By Dr. Nelson J. Adams
Area Extension Livestock
Specialist

Good fall rains followed by the November snow and additional December and January moisture has created desirable growing conditions for winter weeds and grasses. This growth will furnish much needed nutrients for range sheep. It also can create the right set of conditions for losses in lambs due to Enterotoxemia.

Enterotoxemia is an acute disease of sheep of all ages, but principally lambs. It affects animals in a high state of nutrition on a lush feed of milk, grass or grain. It is also known as milk colic, pulpy kidney or overeating disease.

The disease frequently affects nursing lambs from a few days to 12 weeks of age. Lambs dying of Enterotoxemia are usually those that are doing exceptionally well on their mothers milk when the ewes are on lush feed. In range sheep these are usually the largest best-doing single lambs. In most cases lambs are merely found dead on the range. If observed, they may be seen to jump into the air, fall to the ground, go into convulsions, and die within a few minutes.

Producers observing a sudden death of several big single lambs in the first two months of life justifies a probable diagnosis of Enterotoxemia.

Prevention is the key in managing to reduce losses due to this condition. The period during which range lambs are most likely to develop Enterotoxemia is from one to eight weeks of age. If losses from this cause have not been developing regularly each year, the procedure suggested is to wait until the first cases occur and then immediately treat all single lambs with Antitoxin. If losses have been occurring in recent years, when conditions are similar to those currently existing, then the recommendations are to vaccinate the ewes before lambing. If none of the ewes have previously been vaccinated, two doses should be given, with an interval of at least one month between doses. The second dose is to be given two to four weeks before lambing is due to begin. Ewes which have been vaccinated previously need only one booster dose before lambing. If the time interval will not allow for two doses for unvaccinated ewes, a single dose prior to lambing can offer some protection for the lamb until the lamb receives its first dose. Vaccine containing the C. Perfringens Type D has been effective in preventing Enterotoxemia in Texas sheep. Other management practices can greatly influence lamb losses. Ewes can be switched from areas of abundant lush feed to areas of scanty feed and brush forage. Heavy milking ewes may even be penned in dry lots to reduce losses. Castrating or docking lambs may reduce the number of cases by temporarily checking the appetite.

Lionettes win one, lose one

In district play last week, the Lionettes won one and lost one.

The Lionettes lost to Mason Tuesday night 33-49. Ozona could not seem to find the basket and trailed the whole ball game. High scorer for the Lionettes was Lana Cole with 13 points and following close was Molly Womack with 11 points.

The Lionettes played a great game against Big Lake Friday night easily winning 54-33. Ozona controlled the ball most of the game but when needed they were always there for defense. Kaye Thompson led the scoring with 25 points. Also scoring in the double figures was Lori Clayton with 14 points.

Ozona boxers get wins

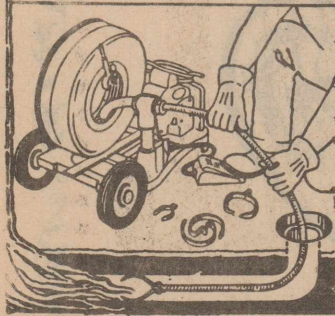

Winners in a two day boxing tournament were Gino Tambunga and Marcelo Hernandez.

The tournament was held at Colorado City, Saturday and Sunday. Gino Tambunga defeated Bobby Arispe from Colorado City and Jay Gonzales also from Colorado City. Crockett County Care Center News

By Mary Wilton -Director of Activities & Social Care

Louise McWilliams and Evelyn Bryant were busy playing a game of dominoes Monday morning and as time ran out the game ended in a tie.

Charles Brown has returned to the Care Center after a short stay in the hospital, we are glad he is feeling better.

Beth Boyd brought several decks of cards for the residents to use. Monday mornings are set aside for table games and I'm sure the cards will be put to good use. I would like to thank Myrtle Post for bringing some more Better Homes and Gardens magazines, we have found some very good ideas for crafts in them. Thanks also to Annabell Patrick for a large jar of popcorn.

Cora Webb joined us in crafts Tuesday morning along with Gertrude Daniels, Juana Hernandez, Frances Borrego, Tomasa Ramos and Lydia Patrick. Thanks to Grace Dorsey and Dorothy Doll for helping us.

It was nice to have Mattie Cooper along with Sophie Kyle, Georgia Kirby, Dorothy Doll, Alice Ross, Hortensia Ybarra and Orphella Enriquez to help with several games of bingo on Tuesday afternoon. All our volunteers are very important, because of them we can offer a good variety of activities.

The Charlie Beard Band from Big Lake was here Tuesday night and the lobby was filled with music. Residents and staff alike enjoyed the good music. Charlie has been so good to come whenever we call him, everyone always has a good time when his band is here. There were also some members of residents' families here, of course everyone is always welcome to come for any of the entertainment we have.

Joan Nicholas came Wednesday morning after Bible study, to play the piano. Paul Cavin, Louise McWilliams, Gertrude Daniels and Verna Talley sang along as Joan played some hymns.

We were visited this week by some of the ladies from the WMU Circle of the First Baptist Church of Big Lake. They brought a dozen lap robes they had made for the residents.

Thanks to the Ozona Stockman for the complimentary copies of the newspaper they bring each week.

Our reading and discussion group met Thursday afternoon, stories from the Sunshine magazines were read. After the reading I always look forward to listening to different ones telling of things that have happened in their lives.

Thanks once again to our beauty shop volunteers, Ruth Dorris, Dorothy Doll, Maria Vitela and Hazel Storms. They do a marvelous job, their work is greatly appreciated.

Friday bingo was played in the dining room with the help of Georgia Kirby, Alice Ross, Annabell Patrick, Doris Karr, Hortensia Ybarra and Liz Mary Pipes. Mattie Schlagal was the winner of the $5.00 gift certificate donated by Clayton's Village Drug. The last Friday of each month we play a game for all the people who haven't won either a first or received a $10.00 gift certificate donated by Baker Jewelers. Second place winner for this week was Bernarda Aguirre, she received a gold butterfly pendant.

Larry Bailey, pastor of the Methodist Church, held services Sunday afternoon in the lobby. The services on Sunday afternoons are a very special time of fellowship, everyone looks forward to. We would like to thank the pastors of the local churches for providing us with this time of worship.

Your representative reports

By Susan McBee

Greetings from the legislative halls in Austin, where we members of the 67th Legislature will be through June 1. As I begin the 4th term representing you of District 70, let me tell you once again what an honor, privilege and pleasure it is and to thank you for the opportunity to do so. During this session, my top priority will be to represent you - not only in the vital redistricting procedure which will determine how large a voice we in rural Southwest Texas will have in the future in Washington and Austin, but also in helping pass legislation helpful to you and perhaps even more important, helping defeat legislation harmful to our area.

Toward those goals, I'll look forward to receiving your views. Please feel free to call 512-475-2763 or write to P.O. Box 2910, Austin, Texas 78769. Mrs. Jean Kindle is once again in charge of my office, and she will assist you in any way possible, especially when I'm out of my office because of House sessions or committee meetings.

I'll be serving as Chairman of the Calendars Committee this session; and that has meant a new, larger capitol office - even though it is still in the basement as was my old one! If you come to Austin during the session, please stop by for a visit. The office number is G-14.

And, if you want to keep up with legislative activities, be sure to use the toll-free telephone number: 1-800-252-9693. It is manned from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. five days a week; and you can find out the status of any particular bill, committee meeting schedules, etc.

Buy before May 1st and you'll receive a $100 rebate direct from the factory... plus you can defer monthly payments until May, too. But $100 and deferred payments are not the only reasons for installing Gas Air Conditioning.

Gas Air Conditioning Systems are very energy efficient. They now use less gas energy because the constantly burning gas pilot has been replaced with a new pilotless ignition system. Pilotless ignition saves gas, and saving gas will save you money.

Gas Air Conditioning is also very dependable. It's built to last and last with no loss of cooling capacity. Hand-crafted of sturdy stainless steel components, Gas Air Conditioning has fewer moving parts and no compressor to wear out or break down. That means less wear and lower maintenance costs. And to prove its dependability, Gas Air Conditioning gives you the longest warranty - the 10-year "No Sweat" limited warranty - twice as long as all others.

Gas Air Conditioning. It's energy efficient. It's designed to lower maintenance costs, to lower operating costs. Gas Air Conditioning will save energy and that will save you money. And when you combine Gas Air Conditioning with adequate conservation measures, like caulking, insulation, storm doors and windows, you'll save even more.

But don't wait too long. The $100 rebate ends May 1, 1981. Call now for a free home cooling survey and cost estimate. There's no obligation.

Manufacturer's limited warranty covers all defects in material and workmanship on the sealed refrigeration unit for ten years from date of installation of the air conditioner when it is installed in a single-family residence. All other parts are warranted for one year from date of installation.

Use proper pruning techniques says agent

As the dormant season for many plants approaches, home gardeners should review proper pruning techniques before mowing pruning shears and saws, advises Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Improper pruning can result in poor growth, unnatural plant forms, poor flower and fruit production, and occasionally even death of the plant.

Following basic guidelines for pruning can transform a tree or shrub into a beautiful plant specimen.

To begin, have a reason for pruning, emphasizes the Agent. Consider technique, season of the year and the need for pruning before taking that first snip. Many times there is no reason at all for pruning if the tree is hale and hearty.

The winter season when plants are dormant may not necessarily be the best time to prune every plant on your landscape. Deciduous trees and shrubs, vines, ground covers, and evergreens probably can be pruned at this time of year, says Reagor. However, exceptions include spring-flowering shrubs such as azaleas, forsythia, bridal wreath and gardenias, which should be pruned after they flower. Do not prune roses until mid-February.

Using proper tools is important for safety and adequate cutting. Use hand shears for small twigs under one-half inch in diameter. Long-handled lopping shears are best for branches one-half to one inch in size. Larger branches require a pruning saw. A long-handled pole pruner or saw is necessary for cutting higher branches.

Reagor recommends making cuts flush with the trunk since stubs do not heal properly. As years pass stubs decay and the deterioration spreads down the trunk until the tree falls over. Seal cuts more than two inches in diameter with a pruning paint sealer. The sealer will dry hard and protect the wound from insect and disease invasion and moisture loss.

As important as seasonal pruning is, it's even more important to prune when needed. Prune and repair damaged plants as soon as possible. And always prune after transplanting, particularly with balled and bare rooted plants. Pruning will compensate for roots the plant lost in the digging. Pruning is perhaps the least understood and most abused of all the many chores a gardener may tackle. When pruning, have a purpose in mind and do the job right.

Chromium, important in diet

Chromium - an important item in the diet - is getting serious attention these days, says Cass Ryan-Crowe.

Chromium is important in the diet because it is required for glucose utilization that is, it enables the body to put glucose to work. And that is a necessary function in producing body energy, the specialist explains.

Dr. Ryan-Crowe is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Normally, the adult body contains less than six milligrams of chromium, and most of it is found in a compound in the body called "glucose tolerance factor" or GTF.

Here's how the whole thing probably works, according to scientists: GTF probably acts as a "cofactor" (a "partner") with insulin. Together the two enable the cells in the body to use glucose for energy.

However, when the body has less than the normal level of chromium, its ability to use glucose decreases. This fact is especially important to persons with diabetes mellitus.

In cases of diabetes in humans, chromium therapy is a major area currently getting attention. Studies, so far, have turned up varied results, but there are indications that the "trivalent form" of chromium (the form found in brewer yeast) is the most effective in increasing the body's use of glucose.

Other sources of chromium are liver, wheat germ and whole-wheat products, she adds.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay
Here's an unbelievable fact. If baseball star Rod Carew plays every day in the 1981 season and never gets a hit all year, his lifetime batting average would still be over .300! In order for Carew to fall under .300, he'd have to go hitless in ALL of 1981 and part of 1982. For Carew's lifetime average to drop below .300, he'd have to come to bat over 800 times without a hit, amazing but true. *****

See if you can name the player who has this unusual background. He now plays in the National Basketball Association. His mother was once Miss America and his father and his uncle both played in the NBA. He's Kiki Vandeweghe, who plays for the Denver Nuggets of the NBA. His mother is Coleen Hutchins Vandeweghe who was Miss America in 1952. His father, Ernie Vandeweghe, and his uncle, Mel Hutchins, both played in the NBA in the 1950's. *****

When this family decided to redecorate their home, they figured out just how much money it would take. Then they came to us, and applied to borrow the amount needed. Now they're happy with their "new" home, happy with their budget tailored repayment plan, and happy with us!

Thank You
We want to take this opportunity to thank all our customers and friends in Ozona. We appreciate your business and support during the ten years we owned and operated Montya Exxon Service Station.
We have sold the station to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Cervantez. We hope you will continue to support them as you have us in the past.
