Darrell Adams, 28, got off a west bound bus at the truck stop early in the evening and had apparently made his way west of town. Bill McFadden of Port Arthur, was traveling west in a pickup when Adams ran in front of him.

Adams was killed instantly and the body taken to Sizemore Funeral Home.

Ozona Lion tracksters win third meet in row

The Ozona Lions tracksters won their third meet in as many weeks at the Eldorado Relays Saturday, with the runners scoring 102 of the 105 points.

Two 3-A schools set the pace in the field events, Brady and Ballinger. Ozona was 30 points behind when the finals started. The Lions scored 50 points in the first four running events to catch Brady, then eased their way through the rest of the meet to claim a 21-point victory over a very strong 14-team meet.

The Lions used depth and overall strength to score in eleven events and overcome a strong Brady team to score the victory.

The Lions were paced by Larry Payne and Richard Garza. Payne set a record in the 400-meter run with a time of 51.11, and Garza set a record in the 3200-meter run with 10:48.3. Payne ran a leg on the second place 400-meter relay and the second place 1600-meter relay. Garza also picked up a first place in the 1600-meter run.

Felix Flores, Ernie Borrego and Willie Payne also ran legs in the second place 400 relay. Flores came in fifth in the 100-meter run also.

Other winners in the 3200-meter were Jack Thompson who placed third and Randy DeHoyos, fifth. Kelly Buckner picked up a second place in the 110-hurdles. In the

The junior varsity scored 35 points for a fifth place finish in Eldorado.

Both teams will compete this week in Sonora in the Bronco Relays. The varsity will be trying for four in a row.

Radio station sale announced

The sale of Ozona radio station KRCT-FM was announced early this week. The station is being sold, pending Federal Communications Commission approval, to Walton A. Foster and Don Griffis, both of San Angelo. Foster is a broadcast executive who is the former owner of KIXY and KIXY-FM in San Angelo. Griffis is a San Angelo attorney. Both are the present owners of KVRN and KVRN-FM in Sonora.

KRCT-FM in Ozona has been operated since 1976 by Crockett County broadcasters, whose principals are Tom Earnest of San Angelo and Richard Whitworth of Ozona.

The purchase price of the station was not announced. The transaction must be approved by the Federal Communications Commission. Such applications usually require several months for FCC action.

Both Foster and Griffis emphasized the importance of the Ozona and Sonora areas. KRCT-FM is re-broadcast on translator stations in both Big Lake and Eldorado. The Sonora stations which Foster and Griffis operate will soon be on-the-air in Junction via translator. FCC approval has been received for the construction of the Junction station which should be on-the-air, according to Foster, by April 15.

Upon FCC approval of the Ozona purchase, the Ozona and Sonora stations will be heard in Ozona, Sonora, Big Lake, Eldorado and Junction.

In a related announcement, a spokesman for Crockett County broadcasters said approval has been received from the FCC to move the transmitter and antenna for KRCT-FM. The antenna will be moved to a taller tower, a step which will significantly increase the station's coverage area.

According to Foster, acquisition of KRCT-FM will allow broadcast coverage along Interstate Highway 10 from west of Ozona to Sonora. The Sonora stations will permit the broadcast coverage of the Interstate to continue to near Junction, where the new translator will carry KVRN-FM to a point between Junction and Kerrville.

Provided money is in the bank—

Bank prexy says all checks good

In an effort to clear up some of the confusion about checks, counter checks, and account numbers, a member of the Stockman staff interviewed Ozona National Bank President John Parks Monday morning.

Parks laid to rest the rumor that counter checks would not be honored by the bank in the future. He said the bank will accept counter checks as long as the person who signs them has the money in the bank.

Several merchants have refused to take counter checks lately, giving rise to the rumor that the bank will no longer honor them. However, Parks said he thought this had become a policy due to the increasing numbers of bogus checks being given in Ozona lately.

Account numbers have been assigned to all checking accounts at Ozona National Bank and fifty complimentary checks, personalized with account numbers, have been mailed to bank patrons. The bank's computer system is scheduled to go into operation in April, and Parks said this would lead to more efficient and faster banking procedures. Personalized checks with account numbers will be automatically processed by the computer. Checks without account numbers will entail sending personnel to the account ledger and handwriting the account number on the check.

The personalized checks sent out by the bank have the person's name printed on them the way the ledger sheet is carried. Couples who have joint accounts need to ask the bank to change the ledger sheet before ordering new checks.

Parks said he hopes the community will cooperate in this effort to improve banking in Ozona. He said the number of accounts had increased so dramatically, it had become impossible to handle all the checks by hand and do so in an efficient manner.

Parks said persons with a large number of personalized checks on hand could write the account number at the bottom of the check, and continue to use them until time to reorder. When personalized checks are ordered from the bank in the future, the account number will be printed on the check.

Completion date for the drive-in banking facility on Ave. E is July 3. There will be five windows, a walk-up window and a commercial window for large commercial deposits. The commercial deposits will be handled separately so the consumer lanes will not be tied up by a depositor with a large amount of cash and change.

Drought broken

An unusually rainy month of March has broken the drought in Crockett County, at least for now. A slow-falling rain which began early last Wednesday morning and fell intermittently into Thursday, amounted to 1.40 inches of rainfall.

The rain brought the total for March to 2.35 inches of rain with the month only half over. Ranchers are jubilant and even oldtimers can never remember so much rain in the month of March.

OHS girls bring home first track trophy

The Ozona girls track team won their first meet in the history of the girls track program in Iraan last weekend. Due to tremendous team effort, the girls out-pointed runner-up Crane by 2 points. They were 32 points behind after the field events.

Every point counted in the running events and the Ozona girls qualified two in every running event with the exception of the 100-yard dash.

By the time the mile relay race came up on the schedule, the girls had pulled within 10 points of Crane. In order to win, they had to win the race and Crane had to place no better than fourth, and that was the case.

Complete results are: 440 yard relay team of Irma Ybarra, Lydia Maldonado, Connie Badillo and Becky Ybarra placed 6th with a time of 57.62.

In the two-mile run, Ida Munoz placed third and posted a time of 13:50.6 and Jo Anne Hearne placed fifth with a time of 15:01.0.

In the 100-meter hurdles, Tilly Kramer placed fourth with a time of 16.8 and Connie Badillo placed fifth with a time of 17.1.

The 880 yard run was won by Kaye Thompson with a time of 2:29.43 and Katrina Burger placed fourth with a time of 2:45.33. The 880 yard relay team placed second with a time of 1:54.4 with Lana Cole, Sherrie Buckner, Lydia Maldonado, and Molly Womack running on it.

The 440-yard dash was won by Sherrie Buckner with a time of 66.3 and Elsa Fierro placed third with a time of 69.7.

The 220 yard dash was won by Molly Womack with a time of 28.1 and Lana Cole placed fifth with a time of 30.0.

Winning the mile was Kaye Thompson with a time of 5:47.4 and placing 4th was Ida Munoz with a time of 6:31.02.

The mile relay team of Lana Cole, Kaye Thompson, Sherrie Buckner and Molly Womack won with a time of 4:28.36.

Results in the field events were as follows: Molly Womack won the high jump with a leap of 5'0". Lori Clayton placed third in the triple jump and Jana Lilly, fifth.

LEFEVER IS WISE CHOICE

By Edwin Feulner

Ernest W. Lefever, President Reagan's choice for Assistant Secretary of State for Human Rights and Humanitarian Affairs, commented in a recent NEW YORK TIMES interview: "We have no moral mandate to remake the world in our own image. It is arrogant for us to attempt to reform the domestic behavior of our allies and even of our adversaries."

Mr. Lefever seems an excellent choice for this position, given the foreign policy objectives of the new administration. President Reagan and Secretary of State Alexander Haig indicated at the very outset that international terrorism would replace human rights as the primary concern of American foreign policy.

Jimmy Carter did not invent the concern for human rights, of course. The current concern dates back to World War II, the massacre of the Jews, and the subsequent Declaration of Human Rights of 1948. Moreover, two concepts have traditionally vied for primacy in U.S. foreign policy: the first stresses the morality of power, and the second the power of morality.

Given the pendulum swings in the official foreign-policy mindset, it was not surprising that in 1976, candidate Jimmy Carter pledged to release moralistic instincts which previous administrations had supposedly denigrated — creating "a foreign policy as good as the American people."

Even foreign-policy amateurs, however, should have realized that basic changes in regimes, not all of which could be instituted by the U.S., must precede any broad-scale improvement in the status of human rights in many countries. They were slow to learn that unilateral condemnation is extremely difficult to sustain or institutionalize.

Unsuccessful attempts to impose this conception of human rights on other countries made it a confusing foreign policy goal, at best. The Soviet Union was particularly irritated by it. The U.S. relegated negotiations with Moscow to a secondary position, in order to concentrate on the global agenda of human rights and nuclear non-proliferation, yet expected the Soviets to negotiate with them on a complex package encompassing human rights, technology transfers, arms control, and trade and credits.

No wonder the Soviets were confused. No wonder Mr. Carter was later "surprised" by the alarming Soviet military buildup, "surprised" to learn of the Soviet combat brigade stationed in Cuba, and "surprised" by the invasion of Afghanistan.

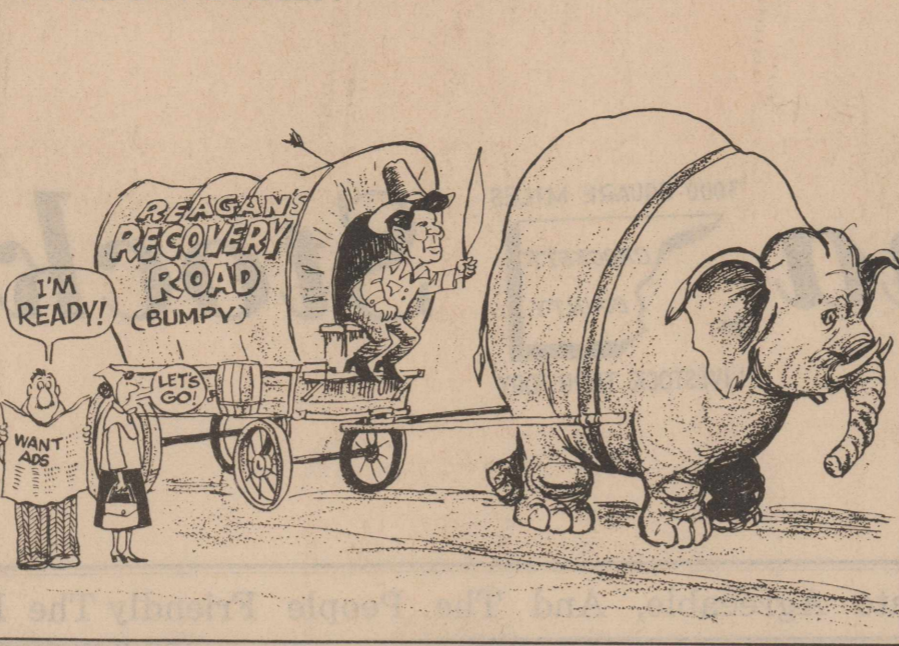

Sporadic foreign-policy successes in Panama, Egypt, and Zimbabwe do not compensate for the faulty management of relations with the Soviet Union. Nor the taking hostage of American diplomats in Iran; the sacking of the American Embassy in Islamabad — leaving several Americans dead; or the trashing of the American Embassy in Tripoli.

The Reagan Administration has made it clear it will not pursue arms control negotiations with the Soviets without considering their conduct and activities outside the sphere of arms control. Secretary Haig prefers trying to combat terrorism, over trying to promote esoteric human rights, correctly arguing that terrorism is "the ultimate in abuse of human rights." New U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Jeane Kirkpatrick has indicated an appreciation of the important distinction between a mildly repressive, authoritarian government where some human rights are protected (e.g., Taiwan and Chile) — where one can exercise religious choice, own private property, and choose his own vocation — and a totalitarian government (e.g., the Soviet Union) — where government makes all such decisions.

Mr. Carter tried to give us a foreign policy as "good" as the American people. The new administration is attempting to give us one as "intelligent" as the American people.

WAGON TRAIN

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The mood in the Legislature was definitely strained behind the scenes as House members quietly jockeyed for position before last Friday's deadline to file bills.

Meanwhile, in floor action the House gave final approval to a bill to provide for disposal and regulation of low-level radioactive waste, and to a measure preventing state employees from automatically deducting union dues and charitable contributions from their paychecks.

The Senate sent to the House an anti-crime bill designed to tighten the state's shock-probation law, closing a loophole that allows certain individuals to escape punishment for serious crimes. The bill by Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, was prompted by the early release from prison of a Houston judge serving eight years for a $59,000 bribe conviction.

Split Primary Bill

The bitterly contested presidential primary bill which drove the "Killer Bees" into hiding last session was "introduced" again last week by Sen. Jack Ogg, D-Houston.

Ogg's measure would establish a Texas presidential primary in March, but state and local candidates would still be nominated in party primaries held traditionally in May.

The measure has the backing of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, but is opposed by both Republican and Democratic state executive committees. Supporters feel the bill will staunch the drain of conservative Democrats into the Republican party. Opponents feel it subverts political party integrity, besides forcing the taxpayers to foot the cost of an additional election.

Higher Education Fund

For years the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems have flourished while other state universities went begging, because UT and A&M had access to the proceeds from state oil lands (the Permanent University Fund). UT and A&M loyalists in the Legislature fought successfully for years to keep other lawmakers from putting their fingers in the lucrative pie.

To bring an end to the fighting, a constitutional amendment has been filed by State Rep. Don Rains, D-San Marcos, and Sen. Pete Snelson, D-Midland, to provide extra funds for all state universities and colleges in Texas.

The bill would create the Higher Education Permanent Fund (HEPF) for all 17 state universities and colleges currently underfunded.

And to give something to UT and A&M, the bill increases the amount of bond money both systems can obtain from the Permanent University Fund (PUF). It also spreads PUF money to all components of the UT and A&M systems, not just the Austin and College Station campuses.

The HEP Fund (because those 17 colleges need all the "hep" they can get, according to Rains) would be funded by a three-cent ad valorem property tax.

Last session the Legislature tried to weaken the 10-cent ad valorem tax in the Constitution, but a Midwestern State University lawsuit is expected to reverse those efforts. The Rains-Snelson bill would reduce the ten-cent tax to three cents per $100 valuation.

Farmworkers Bill

Perhaps the most potentially explosive issue in rural areas is the farmworkers' union bill, and for the past two sessions that bill has rotted in agriculture subcommittees.

Last week the urban chairman of the Employment Practices Committee allowed a new hearing, but left its future again in doubt.

Laborers on Texas farms and ranches want the right to bargain collectively and strike, and Texas farmers and ranchers already hit by depressed economies are adamant against paying higher labor wages.

Chairman Lee Jackson, R-Dallas, told the mostly Hispanic farmworkers their bill needs a lot of work before it reaches the floor for a vote.

Gasohol, Fuel Tax

Production of gasohol in Texas, believed to be a way to lower motor fuel prices, may ironically arrive at the time with an increase in the state motor fuels tax.

The top three heavyweights, Gov. Bill Clements, Hobby, and House Speaker Bill Clayton, have indicated they support a penny-per-gallon tax increase to fund state highway construction and maintenance. The current nickel-per-gallon tax, paid at the service station pump, is the lowest motor fuels tax in the nation.

This past week was very exciting for the Ozona track teams. The boys won their third straight track meet in Eldorado while the girls made history and won their first track meet ever, in Iraan.

Scoring points in the girls track meet were the sprint relay which placed fifth. In the 200, Molly Womack and Lana Cole placed first and fifth respectively. In the 100-meter low hurdles, Tilly Kramer placed fourth and Connie Badillo, fifth. In the 400, Sherrie Buckner won a gold medal and Elsa Fierro placed third. Also the 800-meter relay team placed second. In the 800 Kaye Thompson placed first while Katrina Burger placed fourth. Kaye placed first in the mile and Ida Munoz placed fourth. Ida M. placed third in the 2 mile also.

JoAnne Hearne finished fifth in the 2 mile. The mile relay also won first place and brought home a trophy. In field events, Molly Womack took first in the high jump. Lori Clayton placed third in the triple jump and Jana Lilly placed fifth.

The boys did real good also. The Girls golf team went to Rankin this past week and placed fourth.

We would like to wish all the teams good luck in their upcoming competition and also congratulations for winning this weekend.

RESEARCH PAYS

Who says research doesn't pay? At The University of Texas, a research project of the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs identified the best sites in Austin for deploying ambulances. When all the new ambulance sites are operational, the LBJ School estimates about 87 per cent of the calls for service in Austin can be reached within five minutes.

Also, because most of the sites can be incorporated within existing fire stations, about $2.8 million in new construction costs can be saved for the City of Austin.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

To me, one of the most enjoyable experiences is picking out and raising your own pet, and whether your choice is a dog, cat, turtle or horse he is yours and you are proud of him.

In our case we decided to try again with a dog. Although I already have two cats we still wanted the companionship of a "man's best friend." So we found some people that were giving away puppies and we picked one out. We waited about a month and went back to pick him up. That's when the teaching began. It took several months to housebreak and train our new little member, but it was worth it; and we enjoyed playing with our puppy during that time. We named him Scratch.

Scratch turned out to be a very good dog. Although he was only seven or eight months old, he would sit, fetch and stay when we told him to do so. Scratch was real good about staying in our fenced in yard. I would take him out occasionally to play in the sand across the street from us. Nevertheless, we would watch him so that he would not get into trouble.

Friday the 13th, there was trouble. That evening when the guys were outside playing pool, Scratch decided to sneak away for a minute to go see all those dogs that he could only bark at through our fence before. Like people say, it only takes one time to mess up. Scratch came right back with a bullet in his little side. Someone had shot him and failed to even let us know why. Scratch lived until we got him to Dr. Vannoy, but it was during that time that was pure torture. It was knowing the poor little thing was dying and he didn't even know why, nor did we. We take part of the blame, for letting Scratch out of our sight, but who is going to take the other part.

Remember, before you "Take Aim," be ready to "Take the Blame." You're really hurting a lot of people by hiding behind your gun.

Dear Kitty:

This winter has produced a large number of patients for the hospital and placed a tremendous pressure on the understaffed nursing service. For awhile, the nursing shifts, even now, when back to eight hour shifts, it isn't unusual for some to stay over an additional four hours or pull double shifts. In spite of this, the patient care has been very good and the mood of the nursing staff and ward clerk has always been one of cheerful cooperation. I know that many times it takes tremendous effort to be cheerful, cooperative and helpful when you are tired and over worked, but they have been so almost com-ambulance unit who, in spite

Additionally, I would like to thank members of the of their own eight hour jobs, and being on full time ambulance call, have filled in on the nursing service and other hospital jobs when needed. The time they put in and the duties they perform make the members of the ambulance unit especially valuable to the hospital.

In short, this is a letter for special thanks to the nursing service, but also all other hospital services such as the business office, the pharmacy, central supply, food services, housekeeping, maintenance, and to the hospital administrator. I say this for myself and for my patients. These people not only do their jobs, but do them in a manner that makes working much easier and more pleasant for me and for my patients.

Sincerely,
Don L. Carlisle, M.D.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

After our most bountiful rains of last week our country side should really break forth in the most colorful array of blooms in several years. That is, if we can miss that late freeze we sometimes have. Our average freeze frost period should be over by the 19, so we will be keeping our fingers crossed until then and after Easter.

A springtime spectacular for your garden is the native yellow Jessamine, (Telsemum semperuiens). This jessamine is available at nurseries throughout the south. In addition to this native species, there is a double-flowered selection called Pride of Augusta that is also available. Besides the flowers, its fine-textured, glossy evergreen foliage and climbing habit are also attributes that make this woodland plant a worthy addition to the home landscape. It is very effective in hiding a chain link fence, becoming dense enough to create a screen. Also it adds a touch of color and interest to other fences, a pergola, an arbor or to soften a stark wall. It will need some support to climb or twine, such as a trellis of chicken wire or string. Without support it is a handsome ground cover and will quickly spread over a large area. Yellow jessamine easily adapts to a range of cultural conditions, including full sun or partial shade. However, flowering is best in a sunny location, although it prefers fertile, well-drained soil it will tolerate a wide range of soil types, from sand to clay. Insects and diseases are not serious problems.

The 1981 All-American Rose selection is the Bing Crosby Hybrid Tea. It performs well and in the spring, the large, mildly fragrant flowers are a brilliant medium-ripe-persimmon or orange. Later blooms are deeper in color, a pleasant reddish orange. The cut flowers last well in indoor arrangements.

Some new flower varieties - Janie Marigold, a dwarf crested French marigold with glowing golden flowers.

Sunbird Hybrid Sunflower - another early bird - the flowers appear on this sunflower about 68 days after planting the seed. The flower heads don't fall over as they do on some other varieties. Later, the plump, edible seeds are great for nutritious snacks or for bird feed.

Rose Starlet Zinnia - 1980 introduction blooms a bit later than its relatives, but the salmon rose double flowers are worth the wait. It grows bushy and upright to a height of about 13 inches. You can use it in borders or containers or as a little floral hedge.

Women in sports is Pandale Club topic

Mrs. John Rowland Jr. presented a program, "Women in Sports," at the meeting of the Pandale Study Club March 5, in the Pandale Community Center. Mrs. Rowland was also hostess for the meeting.

The gap between men and women in setting sports records is narrowing, the speaker said, and the notion that a woman must be sporting but not a sports star is disappearing. The gains made by women in the sports world, most of them recent, have taken time-about 4,000 years, Mrs. Rowland said.

To name a few of the first in women's sports, she said Billie Jean King was the first woman to earn $100,000 in a year; The Dolly Verdens of Philadelphia, the first baseball team for women on record, organized in 1867, shocking fans by appearing on the diamond in red calico dresses that terminated well above the ankle. No gloves were needed since the Verdens played with a ball made of yarn.

The first woman daredevil to conquer Niagara Falls in a barrel was Annie Edson Taylor, a poor but ambitious school teacher from Bay City, Mich., Oct. 24, 1901, Taylor's 43rd birthday, the speaker said, and the first woman jockey to win at a major United States flat track was Barbara Jo Rubin at age 19 in 1969.

The first woman mountain climber to scale Mount Rainier was 20-year-old Fay Fuller in 1890, the speaker said, and another woman first was

Debra Says

By Debra Price

In order to have enough starch and fiber, the menus should provide more vegetables and fruits, include potatoes, sweet potatoes, yams, corn, peas, and dried beans; emphasize whole grain cereal products, such as brown rice, oatmeal, and whole wheat cereals and breads.

When you try the menus, it may seem like more food than you are used to. You are cutting down on the "concentrated calories" from fats and sweets and adding more servings of fruits, vegetables, and whole grains. Your diet is bulkier. There are no more calories, but the volume is larger. Nutritionally, it's an advantage. You are getting more nutrients and fiber for your calories. Since the bulkier diet makes you feel full, it may help curb your appetite. Even so, it may take getting used to.

People who count calories often won't touch starchy foods like potatoes, breads, and grains. They think starches are "fattening." Actually starches are no more fattening than any other food. The question is how much you eat and how much fat or sugar and other sweeteners you add to the starches. Fats have more than two times the calories of starch. Sugar has no more calories than starch, but sugary foods add little more than calories to your diet.

APPLE CRISP

This makes 4 servings, 1/2 cup each. Calories per serving is about 230.

4 cups tart apples, pared, sliced
1/4 cup water
1 tbs. lemon juice
1/4 cup brown sugar, packed
1/4 cup whole wheat flour
1/4 cup old-fashioned rolled oats
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnam

mon
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
3 tbs. margarine
Place apples in 8X8X2-inch baking pan. Mix water and lemon juice, pour over apples. Mix sugar, flour, oats, and spices. Add margarine to dry mixture; mix until crumbly. Sprinkle crumbly mixture evenly over apples. Bake at 350°F (moderate oven) until apples are tender and topping is lightly browned, about 40 minutes.

BANANA-NUT BREAD

Makes 1 loaf, 18 slices. About 135 calories per slice.

1 1/4 cups whole wheat flour
1/2 cup sugar
1 tbs. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 cup oil
2 eggs
2 medium bananas, mashed

Preheat oven to 350°F (moderate). Grease 9X5X3-inch loaf pan. Mix flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, and nuts thoroughly. Mix oil and eggs together. Mix in bananas. Add dry ingredients to banana mixture. Stir until just smooth. Pour into loaf pan. Bake 45 minutes or until firmly set when lightly touched in center top. Cool on rack. Remove from pan after 10 minutes.

Sorority holds annual Microwave cooking school set

The Alpha Alpha Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Monday for the annual party given by the pledges for the chapter. "Springtime" was the theme for the event held in the Charles E. Davidson, Jr., home.

Chapter members were invited to come as a flower in full bloom. Pledges were dressed as butterflies, birds, bees, and ladybugs. After guests arrived dressed as flowers, a scavenger hunt was held. Items to hunt ranged from a purple crayola to a bag of trash. Next awards were given for the flowers present.

Lori Parker won the award for the prettiest flower. Droopiest flower award went to Jill Crawford. The flower that outgrew its pot award was presented to Dena Porter. Wildest flower award went to Chris Weant. The most original flower was awarded Virginia Baggett, who came as a Blackeyed Susan.

Following the meal, pledges presented Dena Porter with a gift of appreciation.

A baby stroller was presented by the chapter to Peggy Bien and secret sister gifts were exchanged.

Hostesses were Peggy Bien, Sadie Davidson, Susie Deaton, Susan Gunnels, Pearley Meacham, Jan North, Jane Richardson, Karla Turland, Connye Ward and Kaye Williams.

Members present included Karen Morris, Dena Porter, Cindy Nicks, Rita Hoover, Nancy Vannoy, Virginia Baggett, Elizabeth Clark, Jill Crawford, Rebecca Meyer, Lori Parker, Nesa Smith, Vicki Stokes, Chesta Stuart, Chris Weant, Darolyn Webster and Belinda Wilkins.

A microwave cooking school will be Tuesday, March 24, at the Civic Center. Demonstrations will be presented at 2:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m.

White Auto, Western Auto, Appliance Mart, South Texas Lumber Co., Montgomery Ward, Brown Furniture, and West Texas Utilities Co. will have microwave ovens and accessories on display for the public to view.

Microwave cooking is a modern way to prepare food. Microwaves can help you save time and energy. This school will help you get better use from your microwave. Utensils, recipe conversions, guide to buying microwaves, and meal preparation will be included.

The demonstration and display is sponsored by local merchants and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Come One ----- Come All

Winter of '79

The winter of '79 chalked up new records for sub-zero temperatures and unbelievable snow storms. Just ask anyone who lived through it all in Chicago.

Old man winter also left many a frayed temper in its pathway. Snow-heavy roofs caved in, buses and trains were hours late and people's nerves were stretched tight.

Winter's chill is only a memory now, though many of us are a bit tougher for the experience. Life has its ways of testing us and making us develop muscles we never knew we had.

Yet the sun always comes out. And the clouds of modern day living eventually turn into clear blue skies.

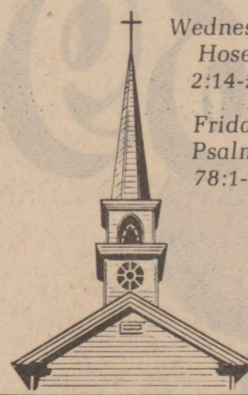

Our Lord has overcome the world and the trouble in it. And we have His promise to be with us always - through all the passing seasons.

Draw fresh strength from that promise this week. Worship in the church or synagogue of your choice.

Medical dictatorship on tap for Texas?

A new medical practice act proposed by the Texas Medical Association will turn a "medical monopoly" into a "medical dictatorship," according to Gene Mitchell, president of the newly-organized Health Freedom Council.

If the proposal becomes law, here's what could happen:

You ask your pharmacist what to do about an upset stomach and he recommends and sells you an over-the-counter remedy. The pharmacist could be sent to prison for practicing medicine without a license.

A grocery clerk suggests you try a new drink, high in Vitamin C, for your cold. The clerk could be sent to prison.

A health food store owner suggests that you should try organically-grown vegetables for your allergies. The health food store owner would wind up in prison.

A chiropractor suggests a change in your diet and sells you some vitamins. The chiropractor could be sent to prison.

A masseur suggests that his services could help ease the pains in your legs. The masseur could be sent to prison. A nurse who treats your child for cuts and bruises, without the supervision of a medical doctor, could be sent to prison.

Dentists, optometrists and podiatrists who render any health service not defined for their profession by state law--could be sent to prison.

If you employ someone who has been convicted of practicing medicine without a license, either in Texas or elsewhere, you could be sent to prison yourself. "Presumably, anyone so convicted in Texas might have to leave the state in order to find work," Mitchell adds.

A medical doctor who advertises that his weight-loss program is better than others could be sent to jail.

Anyone who violates any provision of the medical practice act, or any rule or regulation of the Board of Medical Examiners--whether they had ever heard of these laws or rules or not--could wind up in jail.

A medical doctor, or osteopath, who treats a cancer patient with nutritional therapy, or who treats anyone with DMSO or any other substance considered "Non-therapeutic" in the opinion of the Board, could lose his medical license.

The list goes on and on. "These bills would effectively destroy whatever freedom of choice in health care there is left in Texas," says Mitchell. The proposals include Senate Bill 315, sponsored by Sen. John Wilson of LaGrange, Sen. Ike Harris of Dallas; Sen. Bill Meier of Euleless, and House Bill 609 sponsored by Rep. Bill Meser of Belton.

What makes it even worse, Mitchell adds, is the unprecedented power the Board would have to enforce these new laws.

The Board would not have to rely on complaints from ordinary citizens but could send its own "Secret agents" into the field, posing as customers or patients, to trap unsuspecting health practitioners or providers into violations, Mitchell explains.

Contrary to criminal law, all evidence gathered by the informants would remain secret, even from the accused. Under these circumstances, alleged violators would have a tough time defending themselves, Mitchell says.

In the proposed act, "practicing medicine" is defined to include "anyone who shall diagnose, treat, or offer to treat any disease or disorder, mental or physical, or any physical deformity or injury by any system or method, and to effect cures thereof and charge therefor, directly or indirectly, money or other compensation."

This definition is "all-encompassing," which means that no new ideas or systems of healing could ever gain a foothold in Texas again, outside the orthodox medical framework.

Lacking any competition, there is no incentive for modern medicine to improve or change its way of business, Mitchell says. "They like it the way it is."

With respect to doctors, under the new law the Board could, on its own authority, haul any physician in for a hearing to suspend or cancel his or her medical license.

Once there, the doctor would find that the Board is not required to follow strict rules of evidence or procedure in conducting the trial. And, when convicted (the Board's conviction rate to date is 100 percent), the doctor would find that an appeal to the civil courts would be difficult if not useless, Mitchell adds, because all appeals would be based on the "Substantial evidence" rule--which means the doctor would have to prove to an appeals court that the Board did not have enough "substantial evidence" to convict him.

An example of the Board's use of such power--which will be increased under the proposed law--is the recent case of Drs. Dan and Beverly Dotson of Graham. After the expenditure of more than $60,000 in legal fees over a two-year period, the husband and wife team finally overturned a Board ruling to suspend their medical licenses--but only on a technicality.

How to cope with gloom

What causes gloom--the time of year, events in life, living conditions, work situations, fatigue or boredom?

All of these conditions contribute to low points in our lives, says Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist.

Whenever low points lead to "the pits," though, two things must happen before change can occur: first, recognize the problem as a real one. Second, seek help, she says.

Perhaps you're reading this article because you or a relative has gone into a slump. You've wondered about what was really wrong, or what caused the depression.

Maybe you've encouraged walks or a change of scenery and even invited others to visit in an attempt to fight the gloominess.

In addition, when gloom hits, many people feel like it's their fault or it's repayment for some wrong done, Ms. Taylor says.

Discontent stirs any household, she adds.

When one person in a home is moody or gloomy, impatience abounds, quarrels break out, an aura of unrest prevails, children become unmanageable and family members seem to slip into melancholia.

Depression, or gloominess that signals it, is a mental thing, Ms. Taylor explains. Even seriously depressed people can be treated, and many do get well, she adds.

"Depression cannot be blamed on modern times--it is an individual's response to events in his or her life," the specialist says.

"Depression affects a person's behavior, feelings of self-worth and well-being, a person's tones, thoughts and response to other people."

"The more vulnerable a person is, the more serious the depressed state may become."

According to the specialist, the first indicator of depression is gloominess or the blues.

"When gloom cannot be shaken off and lingers, a person may be headed for depression or to a seriously depressed state, a nervous breakdown."

"Gloominess is the first signal that something in your life needs changing or altering--to ward off depression or overcome it," Ms. Taylor says.

Fairly easy--and positive--ways to get out of the doldrums include: changes in living situations, such as more or less privacy; renewed interest in leisure activities; physical work--even to the point of near exhaustion; being with different people; more security with comfortable situations--and not so much "new"; more affection, attention and support--and less competition.

"Gloominess must be overcome by the person it is affecting," the specialist says. "Living should not be lost by default."

By terms of the Texas Sunset Act, the Texas laws establishing the Board and regulating the practice of medicine will expire September 1, 1981, unless the legislature extends or amends them.

"The TMA lobby is long-established, well-financed and very powerful," says Mitchell. "They have already spent more than $800,000 to influence the passage of this legislation. If they succeed, the trappings of a medical dictatorship will be in place, and the losers will be the health-care consumers of Texas--which means all of us."

League members meet for E.M.T. program

The Ozona Womens League met on Tuesday, March 11, 1981, for their bi-monthly meeting. Hostesses were Mrs. Frank Justiss and Mrs. Jeffrey Sutton.

Mr. Dee Keilers, a qualified E.M.T., presented the program entitled "The ABC's of First Aid." The number one priority in rendering first aid is to keep the air way open and the victim breathing. Shock has proven to be the number one killer of accident victims. Keiler said there are three kinds of shock which can occur; (1) respiratory shock such as heart attacks; (2) psychological shock related to fright, etc.; and (3) anaphylactic shock which is caused by extreme allergic reactions such as bee stings, etc. Symptoms to watch for in accident victims and proper treatment of shock were discussed in length. Other problems discussed included how to handle head injuries, burns, and fractures. Mr. Keilers concluded his program by stressing the importance of everyone carrying a properly equipped first-aid kit. Big

The Dudley, East opener, Jackson Exploration Inc. No. 1 P.C. Perner, drilled to 9,908 feet, was finalized Jan. 16, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 3,150,000 cubic feet of gas daily, through perforations at 9,225-596 feet.

An invitation to attend the dress rehearsal of the one-act play presented by Mr. David Porter and Ozona reminded League members that our Cystic Fibrosis Drive is fast approaching. Last year, Mrs. Bailey reported, Ozona was third in the State of Texas for funds raised and this it would certainly feel great to be First! A motion was made and seconded that the signed artist proof by Mr. Michael Clayton McCullough which was donated to Ozona Womens League will be placed in the Ozona National Bank for a silent auction. Proceeds from the auction will be used for the new Crockett County Museum. Mrs. Bill Mason will be in charge of the silent auction.

Mrs. Jeffrey Sutton reported that the United States Flag which League donated to the Boy Scouts of Ozona had been received and was presented to the Scouts at their last pack meeting. Mrs. Gary Vannoy asked for League members support of the upcoming Easter Seal Telethon which is being conducted by local Beta Sigma Phi sororities. The telethon will be held on March 29, 1981, from 10:00 a.m. through 6:00 p.m. Also a style show will be presented the night of the 26th of March with proceeds going to Easter Seal.

Construction errors cause roof decay

Most decay problems found in homes are caused by roof construction errors, says a wood products specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Wood cannot decay if kept dry because wood decay fungi require moisture," contends Chuck Stayton. "Therefore, a main objective of a roof is to keep water away from wood in the home. Water should flow readily off the roof and be diverted as far from the house as possible."

"Roof edges are most important," Stayton says. "In high rainfall areas such as the Gulf Coast, the roof overhang should be at least 30 inches at both eaves and gable ends so cascading rain water will fall a safe distance away from the house. East Texas homes require a 24-inch overhang. Facia boards should be perpendicular to the roof line, slanting away from falling water. All roof coverings should extend at least one inch beyond any wood at the eave and rake edges. If not, water that curls under the shingles will drain over the facia boards, leading to paint failure and decay."

With asphalt shingles, the first line should be continuous with no space between shingles, advises the specialist. Any opening leave the decking and facia exposed to rain at every shingle tab along the eave. Noncorrosive metal flashing also helps water flow away from the facia board. The flashing edge should extend at least one inch from any wooden piece and should divert water away from the house at the drip edge. If flashing wasn't installed when the home was built, it can still be added. Just slip the metal under shingles and fasten with roofing nails.

"Gutters and downspouts can become a decay liability if not properly installed and maintained," Stayton warns. "If gutters are not cleaned often, they become clogged with leaves or dirt and overflow at the back onto the facia board." Clogged downspouts also cause gutter overflow. The best way to attach gutters is with metal straps hanging from the roof edge, rather than nailing them to the facia board. They may leak at nail holes. However, straps must be installed before roofing shingles are laid.

Anything that protrudes through the roof, like chimneys, vent pipes or dormers, presents an opportunity for water leakage, says the specialist. The only safeguard is adequate flashing installed completely around the object. No wooden siding material should ever touch the roof surface. It should be at least two inches above the roof surface, with flashing installed between the roof and wood.

"Roof slope is important since it determines the water runoff rate," Stayton points out. "Flat roofs present a special problem because some water never leaves the roof except by evaporation. A minimum slope of 4 feet in 12 feet is needed to prevent water from backing up under the shingles."

Freeze branding to highlight horse course

Sessions on horse training and freeze branding will highlight the annual Horse Short Course at Texas A&M University April 5-7.

The short course is a part of the Texas Animal Agriculture Conference being conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Al Dunning, a professional trainer with the Almota Ranch of Scottsdale, Ariz., will kick off the short course with a special seminar on horse training Sunday evening at 6:30 in the Brazos County Livestock Pavilion. The seminar will deal with the basics of biting, training and riding horses as well as preparations for specialty classes such as western pleasure, reining, western riding and working cowhorse.

Highlighting this live horseback demonstration will be "Expensive Hobby," the feature horse in the American Quarter Horse Association film "Survival of the Fittest" and winner of the open reining class at the 1980 All American Quarter Horse Congress.

Dunning will also conduct horseback clinics at 4 p.m. April 4 and at 12 noon April 5, points out Dr. Doug Householder, Extension horse specialist.

Discussions on Monday, April 6, will be in the Rudder Center Auditorium on the A&M campus and will deal with the future of the horse industry, genetic improvement, common skin tumors, embryo transfer, and nutrient requirements of young horses.

Featured during the morning program will be a special ceremony naming the N.W. "Dick" Freeman Arena. Freeman is a longtime horse industry leader and served as president of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo for a number of years, notes Householder.

The next day's session will provide a review of horse research at Texas A&M, a look at how to expand the horse industry in Texas counties, and a talk on body condition as a management tool for increasing reproductive performance in broodmares.

An in-depth workshop covering freeze branding equipment, methods and procedures will be held Tuesday afternoon and will conclude the short course.

Registration information is available from county Extension agents or from Householder, Animal Science Department, LTexas A&M University, College Station, Tex. 77843. (713-845-1927.)

Crockett County Care Center News

By Mary Wilton-Director of Activities & Social Care

There was a birthday party Monday afternoon honoring Tomasa Ramos, Nila Turnell, Lydia Patrick, Juana Hernandez and Clara Mayes. All of these ladies have a birthday in the month of March. The party was held in the lobby and the hostesses were Liz Mary Pipes and Mina Dowdy. Cake and punch were served to everyone. Lydia was surprised with a visit from her son and daughter-in-law and Juana's daughter and granddaughter came to help her celebrate. Joan Nicholas came by to wish all a happy birthday and to help serve the cake.

A very special thank you goes to Willie Tooke for six quarts of popcorn she donated to us. It's people like her who make things nicer for all of us. Willie, we will think of you every Friday morning as we eat popcorn and play Bingo.

For crafts this week Dottie Searcy brought some pictures that were traced by the residents onto pieces of glass with pens and India ink. Dorothy Doll, Doris Hoffman, Hazel Storms and Inge Nichols helped with some party invitations. Everyone really enjoyed the class and would like to thank Dottie for a terrific idea.

Larry Bailey was in charge of Bible Study and everyone who attended really did enjoy it. It was a special treat to have Larry and we would like to thank him for all the love and concern he has for all the residents.

Almost all the residents gathered in the lobby for the movie of the week, "Wet-back Hound." Ann Mayo is in charge of showing these films each week and she told me that everyone enjoyed this one more than any we have ever had.

We continued reading in the Little House on the Prairie this week. The story was about the Ingalls building their log house. It also mentioned the fact that there was a little house built out back. After the story Louise McWilliams, Maude Pettit, Verna Talley, Nila Turnell and Paul Cavin shared their stories about those old out-door toilets and about the water wells and how good and cold the water was when you drew it up in an old bucket. It all sounded kinda good but they all agreed things are much nicer now and they would not like to go back in time to the so called good ole days. As I was reading I looked around the room and noticed how pretty all the ladies looked with their hair fixed so nice. I suppose that the pioneer women would have loved to have Hazel Storms, Inge Nichols, Maria Vitela, Ruth Dorris and Doris Hoffman to fix their hair. These ladies do such a nice job and we appreciate them.

We would like to thank the ladies of the First Baptist Church for the lovely arrangement of greenery they brought and placed in the lobby after the Senior banquet, Thursday night. I understand Marolyn Bean did the arrangement, everyone has really enjoyed it, so again, thank you ladies.

Juanita Delgado has returned to work after a few days out with the flu, welcome back Juanita we all missed you.

Friday morning Bingo winner was Seferino Garcia. He was given a $5.00 gift certificate which was purchased from donations made to our activity fund. Frances Borrego was given a necklace for second place. We had such a nice group of volunteers until I was able to do some paper work while they helped with the Bingo games. Liz Mary Pipes, Annabell Patrick, Alice Ross, Sadie Whitehurst and Doris Karr thank you, what would I do without you. I still say that I have the greatest group of volunteers in the world.

Sunday worship services were held in the lobby with Bro. Lanham of the First Baptist Church in charge.

Taxpayers should report

Taxpayers who move after filing their federal income tax returns and are expecting a refund should notify the post office serving the old address, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The IRS center where the return was filed should also be notified of the address change. This will help the IRS to forward the refund check to the new address as soon as possible. When advising IRS of the address change, the taxpayer's Social Security number should be included in the correspondence.

VICA members to compete at state meet in Dallas

Students from Ozona High School will be competing in the Texas VICA Skill Olympics, April 2-4, in Dallas. VICA stands for Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, an organization which has 33,894 Texas members and more than 237,000 members nationally.

Johnny Rodriguez, Frank Galvan, Robert Tambunga, Santiago Lopez, Caterino Villarreal and Joe Vasquez will be competing from the Ozona VICA Chapter.

Approximately 6,000 Texas students are expected to participate in the state meet. A highlight of the meeting will be skill contests, in which high school students will compete with their peers to test their vocational skills in industrial occupations.

When the skill contests take place on April 4, the Dallas Convention Center will resemble a 20-ring circus. In one corner bricklaying competition will be going on, while across the hall other students will be demonstrating their skills in radio and TV repair, commercial art, welding, commercial food preparation, and more.

Contests will be judged by employers, journeymen, and other persons skilled in industrial trades from the Dallas area.

In the category of technical information contests, written tests will be given. Students will answer questions related to the technical occupation they are preparing for, such as a cabinetmaker, drafter, or leatherworker. Leadership contests also will be held on such topics as extemporaneous speaking, job interview, and prepared speech.

First place winners from Texas in all of the contests will compete on the national level at the VICA U.S. Skill Olympics, June 17-20, in Atlanta, Georgia.

The opening general sessions of the convention will get under way at 10 a.m. on April 3 in the Dallas Convention Center Arena. Leadership contests in such areas as job interview and extemporaneous speaking will begin at 3 p.m. in the Hilton Hotel meeting rooms, with a political rally and house of delegates meeting scheduled for 1 p.m. in the Arena of the Dallas Convention Center.

contests, such as cutting and erecting a section of a wall in the carpentry contests, doing an emissions check in the auto mechanics contest, or styling and combing out a model's hair in the cosmetology contest.

At an 11 a.m. second general assembly in the Arena, officers will be installed and leadership contest award winners will be announced. Skill contest award presentations will be made at the 3 p.m. third general assembly.

Texas students enrolled in vocational industrial education programs have an opportunity to develop leadership abilities through participation in VICA. Club activities in the state are coordinated by the Texas Education Agency's Department of Occupational Education and Technology.
