Our community has escaped the very real tragedy of multiple death such as Van Horn experienced in the recent bus accident and Mertzson even more recently in a double murder. We can be thankful for this. However, we've had our share of "peculiar persons" come through town since the opening of Interstate 10.

Only last Friday a subject was picked up at the Circle Bar Truck Corral by local law enforcement officers after he had been there about three days and was observed dining out of the garbage. He told personnel there his car broke down and he was waiting for some parts to come in. After one of the supervisors got suspicious and called the law, a real mystery arose. "His car" proved to be a stolen vehicle and it further came to light he was wanted as a suspect in the murder of his wife in another state. Everybody who saw him said he was very neat and clean, in fact he used the shower facilities there each morning, even though he was not a paying guest.

Monday morning an unusual character was directing traffic at the intersection. Motorists were following his direction until he got tired and walked the yellow line in the center of 290 westward. Again the sheriff's office was called to investigate.

Not long ago Geniece Childress was attending a museum school, when a woman entered her house, fixed coffee, took a brief nap, gathered up some of her clothes and personal things, and headed east. She was caught in Sonora, however, Pleas had seen her vehicle parked at the house and remembered the license number. He thought nothing of it at the time, but when he discovered the break-in it all came back to him.

In the past all we've had to contend with was a very occasional burglar gang, or kids shooting out street lights. Now all kinds of things go on, day and night, and we just don't have enough law enforcement personnel to take care of it. They get twice as many calls, but the local force has not grown in comparison. I suppose this is true in most small towns, but the crossing of an interstate highway forever changes little, quiet hamlets and villages. I think they call that progress.

I see postal rates went up as of Sunday. How the government and big conglomerates can keep increasing rates and decreasing services is a mystery to me. I cite the General Telephone rate hike request before the Public Utilities Commission now. I believe they were ordered to improve service before appearing for another rate hike, but there has been no change here in Ozona.

The U. S. Postal Service and General Telephone apparently suffer from lack of efficiency at the top, or it wouldn't be so bad for the consumer who is at the bottom of the heap. From the time they initiated Zip Code, we have failed to get our mail on time, and from the time they put in dial telephones we've had lousy phone service. How on earth can that be explained, much less justified.

By the way, if you don't like High School track you won't get your quarters worth this week. Hard news was hard to come by!

INDUSTRIAL PARK BUILDING—Two new buildings were opened recently in the industrial area north of Ozona on Hwy. 163. The rock building at left houses the offices of Detroit-Texas Gas Gathering Co. and Blue Ridge Oil & Gas Co. Both companies are in the drilling and production business of gas and oil. The building at right is the new Pool Well Servicing warehouse and offices, an addition to the Pool Company 'oldings in the area.

Lions win fourth track championship in a row

Coach Rip Sewell's Ozona Lions captured their fourth track championship in a row last Friday in Sonora, winning the Bronco Relays. The Lions have been to four track meets this season and have four crowns to show for them. They will be strong contenders when they host their own meet here Saturday.

Ozona dominated the Sonora meet from the beginning and won over second place Sonora by almost 100 points, 192 to 95½. Eldorado followed with 83, Junction with 74½ and Ballinger with 70. Coach Sewell said it was unusual for a team to take the top spot in four meets in a row, but said he hoped it was habit-forming. The Lions will be trying for five in a row Saturday.

The Lions had their best effort of the year in the field events, and led in the scoring before the running began. The three previous meets had been won by the runners, but Friday the 51 points gathered in the field events at Sonora eased the pressure.

Two records fell at Sonora. Larry Payne set a new record in the 200-meter dash with a time of 22.0 and Richard Garza set a record in the 3200 meter relay with a time of 11:33. Payne won four first place medals, Felix Flores won three and Garza got two first places to lead the Lions to victory.

The Junior Varsity only managed a fourth place finish in the meet, but managed to place in more events than in past meets this year.

Varsity results:
400-Meter Relay: Felix Flores, Larry Payne, Ernie Borrego, Willie Payne, first with 44.7.

3200-Meter Run: Richard Garza with a record time for first with 10:27.5; Jack Thompson, second with 10:58.7; Randy DeHoyos, fourth with 11:01.5.

Spring comes in windy

The first day of Spring, Friday, might also have been called the first day of March in Ozona. The wind blew a gale. However, Saturday gusts were clocked at 58 miles per hour and the wind was still howling far past midnight.

Fences were blown down and tree limbs littered streets and grounds.

Ozona Relays to be held Saturday

The 29th Annual Ozona Relays will get underway at Lion Stadium at 9:30 Saturday morning. The Lions will be hosting track teams from Junction, Sonora, Sanderson, Iraan, McCamey, Water Valley, Sterling City and Jayton. The Lionettes will host Sanderson, Iraan, McCamey, Sterling City, Menard, Rankin and Ballinger.

Field events will be first on the schedule with the Discus event leading the list for both girls and boys. The high jump will follow, boys and girls. The third event will be the pole vault for boys. Girls will compete against girls and boys against boys in the shot put and long jump. The girls triple jump will follow the boys long jump.

Preliminaries will start promptly at noon for the running events. The girls and boys 400-meter relay teams will compete at 12:00. The 100-meter low hurdles event for girls is scheduled for 12:10 and the 110 high hurdles for boys, at 12:25. The girls and boys 100-meter dash prelim will get off at 12:35. The girls will run the 800-meter relay at 12:50, and the 400 meter dash for both sexes will be held at 1:00 p.m., followed by the boys 300-meter intermediate hurdles at 1:30. Preliminaries are scheduled to wind up at 1:40 with the 200-meter dash for both boys and girls.

The finals in the field events will begin at 3:00 p.m. with the 400-meter relay, followed by the 3200 meter run for both girls and boys. The hurdles are scheduled to follow with the dash events and 800-meter relay to follow. Field event finals will close out around 5 p.m. with the 1600-meter run and relay. Following these events, will come the award presentation.

The Lions will be out front favorites to win their own meet, having won the championship trophy in every meet entered this year. The Lionettes have won one meet but face some tough competition here Saturday.

NEW BROOM SWEEPS CLEAN—And it really did here Tuesday morning. The new street sweeper, recently purchased for the county, had all the city streets brushed and clean by the time most got to work. Operating the fancy new contraption is Ben Ross, an employee of the Road Department, who found it quite an improvement over the old sweeper which seemed to spew out more than it took in.

TAX CUT PLAN MAKES SENSE

By Edwin Feulner

A coalition of union officials and professional cry-babies, remarkable for their predictability, has announced plans to fight the Reagan Administration's "supply-side" tax cut proposal, calling it just another scheme to help the rich, while making patsies of the poor.

All the same old Keynesian faces were there: officials of the AFL-CIO, the League of Women Voters, the State, County and Municipal Employees Union (you can guess whose skin they are looking out for), and an assortment of voices and faces claiming to represent black, Hispanic and consumer organizations, all still living in the past.

The general thrust of their argument was thus: a guy making $100,000 a year will benefit to the tune of several thousand dollars under the proposed 10 percent across-the-board tax cut proposal, while your typical "working poor" will get only a few bucks.

Moreover, they argue, at this time of high inflation, it is obvious that every additional cent that shows up in our paychecks is going to be needed to put food on our tables and gas in our Detroit guzzlers, which will stimulate consumption and, thus, cause higher prices.

By arguing that the tax cuts will result in a significant increase in savings and investment—the backbone of advanced industrial technology and economic growth—the Reaganites are only deluding themselves, the liberals say.

Thus, they argue that the biggest tax breaks should be given to the poor—the people with the least disposable income, and those who would appear to need it the most.

In a totally egalitarian society, these arguments might make sense. But they really show little or no understanding of supply-side theory, and what the Reagan Administration is trying to accomplish.

The Reagan Administration tax cut plan, according to key advisors, is intended to promote non-inflationary economic growth. Economic growth can occur only, they say, if more money is made available to the private, productive sector (manufacturing and service industries) for expansion, and for technological innovation.

While it may be true that the working poor will use their tax cut gains to "make both ends meet," those with higher incomes are the ones who invest in stocks and bonds—in other words, the people who generate the capital needed for economic growth.

The harsh reality of the situation is that the tax cuts at the top are the only ones that are really meaningful in terms of accomplishing the administration's goals. By opting for an across-the-board cut, the President is serving several needs at once: the need of lower-income families for more disposable income, and the need of the economy for a major growth-oriented transfusion.

As Ted Hagans, President of the National Business League (the nation's largest organization of black businessmen), told a skeptical young newsman recently: "Poor people can't give to charity."

Likewise, poor people can't supply the capital needed to invigorate the American economy. That's why the President's plan seems not only equitable—but would appear to have a good chance of working.

Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institute.)

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

AUSTIN—Young Texans waiting to buy alcoholic beverages at age 18 may find their schedule has been postponed a year by the Texas Legislature.

Last week the House approved a slightly amended bill raising the state's minimum drinking age to 19. Sponsored by Sen. Bill Sarpalius, D-Hereford, the measure was aimed primarily at high school students who go to class intoxicated.

Some lawmakers questioned whether the bill was unfair to youngsters who at age 18 are eligible to vote and serve in the military, but support from parents and teachers groups carried more weight. The Senate is expected to send the bill quickly to the governor's signature.

A freshman senator, Sarpalius has maneuvered well his first session, but last week he came up against one of the old masters, Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur.

Parker can alternately wither his colleagues with blasts of criticism or crack them up with humorous quips. The effect is sometimes mixed, as when he last week criticized Sarpalius for pushing an anti-MX missile system resolution to Congress.

Calling such resolutions a "waste of time," Parker said the legislative message would not change the mind of Congress one iota.

Jumping to the freshman's defense, Sen. E. L. Short, D-Tahoka, accused Parker of hypocrisy, arguing that if the federal government was "going to put a sewer line through Port Arthur, Senator Parker would be up here screaming his head off."

"Maybe we can get a sewer line from Austin to Washington and we can send these things (resolutions) through it," Parker shot back. "That's the quality of most of them."

The Senate voted not even to debate the proposed missile resolution.

Redistricting
The complicated process of redistricting the state's political fiefdoms began this week as both House and Senate committees announced a schedule of constituent hearings.

Official population figures are expected to arrive from Washington in early April, dropping the gate on the legislative scramble to complete the task before June.

Citizens from non-metropolitan districts are telling the Legislature this week how they want the new political fence lines built. Hearings for metropolitan areas are scheduled the last half of April.

Higher Education
The Permanent University Fund (PUF), which uses state-owned oil and gas wells to endow the University of Texas and Texas A&M Systems, jumped in value two weeks ago by some $52 million.

Sparked by a record setting sale of oil and gas leases the PUF is now worth $1.378 billion.

And now there's speculation about new attempts to divide the constitutionally protected PUF and share the money with some 19 other under-funded state colleges and universities.

Ranchers' problems to be explored

Many problems are facing today's ranchers, who must study options and plan management changes to cope with rising production costs.

An attempt will be made during the upcoming Range Section Program of the Beef Cattle Short Course, April 5-7 at Texas A&M University, to explore options which ranchers have available to deal with range management problems, says Dr. Bob J. Ragsdale, range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"A major range problem has been a steady encroachment of noxious or harmful plants. With this increase in infestation have come more regulations for various herbicides available for plant control and inflation which has raised the cost of control, yet very little increase in price received by the rancher for his products," says Ragsdale.

This has resulted in an increasing economic problem for ranchers trying to make ends meet and improve their range management operations, the specialist adds.

"A bright spot in the control of noxious range plants during the past few years has been the revival of interest and use of ecological phenomena—fire. Prescribed fire has been widely researched and used recently in various areas of the state for control of noxious plants and range improvement," Ragsdale says.

With the increased range fire research, ranchers are seeking more information about its use and possible application in their range improvement programs.

Dr. Charles Scifres, researcher with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and professor in Texas A&M's Department of Range Science, will discuss the use of prescribed fire for brush control in the Range Program of the Beef Cattle Short Course. Wayne Hamilton, a lecturer and researcher in the Department of Range Science, will discuss the integration of fire into forage systems while Tom Oldham, a graduate research associate with the Department of Range Science and Welder Wildlife Foundation, will look at prescribed fire and its effect on the Gulf Coast ear tick.

As brush control systems are developed—including fire and herbicides—a major need is to incorporate these efforts into grazing systems. Dr. Tommy Welch, Extension range brush and weed control specialist, will pursue this topic during the conference.

Ranchers, in considering new methods that become available for incorporation into their systems of operation, must pay close attention to the economics and cost-benefits of each system. These must be blended into their overall ranch management program. Dr. R.E. Whitson, Experiment Station range economics researcher and associate professor in the Department of Range Science, will discuss what is ahead in ranch management in the '80s, giving particular attention to range management and improvement practices.

Another concern of ranchers is what nutrients are provided by range plants and how range forage can be supplemented at critical times to obtain optimum livestock production.

Dr. Larry White, range specialist with the Extension Service at Uvalde, will discuss supplementation needs of livestock and relate these to new techniques being explored for better estimates of forage quality. White will explain use of fecal analysis and other forage quality tests for improving efficiency of livestock production.

The Range Section of the Beef Cattle Short Course will be conducted the afternoon of April 6.

The Beef Cattle Short Course is part of the 1981 Texas Animal Agriculture Conference, which also features short courses for producers of dairy cattle, swine and horses.

More information, along with schedules and registration forms, may be obtained from local county Extension offices.

Adventurous eating, Texas style

Looking for adventurous eating tonight—Texas style?

Try "mirlitons" or "spaghettini squash!"

Both are gourmet "greats" from Texas' abundance of agricultural accomplishments.

They are squash—two unusual types now being grown in Texas, says Mary K. Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist.

Different from the ordinary summer squash (yellow or zucchini) and winter squash (acorn), these two types of squash can add variety to the vegetable selection for your family, the specialist adds.

Mirliton is the chayote or mango squash, a large, fleshy fruit that grows on a climbing plant—and it can mean menu magic. Native to Mexico and Central America, it is cultivated in Southern California and Gulf of Mexico states.

Round or pear-shaped, mirliton varies in color from white to dark green and in size from three to eight inches long. Its flesh is firm, crisp and delicately flavored.

"Versatile" is an apt description for mirliton—serve it fresh raw or cooked.

Prepare it much the same as you would summer squash—as a vegetable by plain boiling, creaming or baking or in pies, puddings and fritters. Or make it into a fruit sauce or serve it with other fruits, sugar and spice.

Stuffed mirlitons are a delicacy offered in many famous New Orleans restaurants during this season.

Here is the basic recipe: STUFFED MIRLITONS

4 mirlitons
1/2 stick margarine, 4 Tbsp
1 onion, minced
1 1/2 cups bread
1 egg
1 lb. shrimp, cooked (or 1 can shrimp, washed and drained)
1 clove garlic, minced
1/2 cup celery, chopped
Salt and pepper to taste
1/2 cup sharp cheese (optional)

Buttered bread crumbs
Wash and cut the mirlitons in half, lengthwise or leave whole. Cover with cold water, bring to a boil, and simmer about 30 minutes or until tender.

Remove from the water and cool until they are easy to handle. Remove the seed and discard. Carefully scoop out the soft pulp of the mirliton, leaving the skin unbroken. Set the shells aside until ready to stuff them.

Chop or mash the mirliton pulp. Soak bread in water or milk. Squeeze. Melt margarine in a skillet, saute the onion, garlic, and celery. Add the mirliton, squeezed bread crumbs, salt, pepper, shrimp, egg, cheese, and other seasonings as desired.

Cook for about five minutes. Remove from fire, fill shells with stuffing, top with battered bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 20 minutes or until crumbs are brown.

Variations may be made in the stuffing. For example, increase the shrimp or omit it—or use one cup chopped ham in place of seafood. Also, the egg and cheese may be omitted.

"Viva la spaghetti squash!" may be a family chant after they've tasted this tantalizing vegetable—it cooks up just like a spaghetti dish complete with tomato sauce, if you like.

Spaghetti squash is another unusual variety of squash. A pale yellow oval item, it's a new member of the "cucurbitaceae" family.

Its name, indeed, is suggested by the fact that the cooked strands of squash look just like strands of skinny spaghetti.

To prepare spaghetti squash, split squash using heavy knife. Scoop out seeds. Place cut side down in wide pan with two to three inches of water.

Cover, steam about 20 minutes. Or bake split squash about 45 minutes at 350°, a procedure we recommend only if the oven is on for another use.

Microwave 8-15 minutes, cut side up, in a dish with a few tablespoons of water.

Pull out cooked strands with a fork.

Serve buttered and seasoned, or with a zesty tomato sauce.

SPAGHETTI SQUASH WITH TOMATO SAUCE
1 medium onion, minced

1 clove garlic, crushed
1/2 pound lean ground beef
2 tablespoons olive oil (optional)

Grated Parmesan cheese
Salt and pepper to taste
4 cups cut ripe or canned tomatoes

1 tablespoon each dried basil, oregano
1 spaghetti squash, 3 pounds, boiled
In skillet, saute onions, garlic, crumbled ground beef, with oil if desired, until meat is browned.

Add tomatoes with liquid, tomato paste and seasonings.

Simmer uncovered 30-45 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Pull cooked squash out with fork onto platter.
Top with sauce, cheese.

Easter Seal telethon

The annual Easter Seal Telethon will be held Saturday and Sunday, March 28 and 29. The telethon, hosted nationally by Pat Boone and Marvin Hamlish, will be seen on Channel 4, KOSA, Odessa, from 10:00 p.m. Saturday night until 6:00 p.m. Sunday.

Whitworth. Donations from the Easter Seal telethon are used for the physically handicapped and disabled. Ninety-seven percent of the funds collected in Texas remain in the state. You can make your donations to this very worthy cause by calling Radio Station KRCT, 392-3613, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Members of the sorority will be available to take your pledge.

Baggetts serving on Rehab fund committee

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baggett Jr. of Ozona are among 22 people serving on the West Texas Rehabilitation Center Building Committee, which is spearheading efforts to raise $1.5 million to construct a new Rehab Center in San Angelo.

San Angelo businessman-rancher Lee Pfluger is chairman of the fund-raising group.

"Our sole objective," says Pfluger, "is to ensure continuation of WTRC's tradition of providing top quality out-patient rehabilitation services to handicapped children and adults of the Southwest. The new building will allow WTRC to expand existing educational, physical, occupational and speech therapy programs and to add complete audiology (hearing) psychology and orthotics (brace shop) departments."

Pfluger continues, "Though the facility is located in San Angelo, WTRC doesn't serve only the handicapped residents of one community; the Rehab Center belongs to the people of West Texas because it exists to serve every handicapped child and adult in this region."

Currently housed in a remodeled funeral home, WTRC-San Angelo has increased its new admissions from 326 patients in 1977 to 1,100 in 1980. "Very simply, WTRC has outgrown its present facility," says Pfluger. The proposed 29,000 square-foot building will be located on a 3.5 acre tract of land donated by San Angelo Independent School District. The property is adjacent to John Glenn Junior High School at the intersection of Jackson Street and University Avenue.

West Texas Rehabilitation Center is a private, non-profit organization which has treatment centers in Abilene and Snyder, as well as San Angelo. Its services are provided without regard for race, creed, color or financial circumstances.

"I'm grateful to the Baggetts for committing their time to this fund-raising project to benefit the handicapped and look forward to working with them in telling the WTRC story to people in this area," Pfluger concluded.

Bean is district delegate

Dan Bean, Crockett County 4-H Delegate, attended the District 6 4-H Council Meeting in Fort Stockton on March 19.

Martha Seighman, of Fort Stockton presented a demonstration on applying clown makeup. Two 4-H delegates served as models and were made up as clowns. Recreation training was a portion of the session.

The council meeting included a business session and officers were elected. David Frerich of Glasscock County was elected chairman; Vice-Chairmen are Robin Etheridge of Howard County and Reagan Brooks of Howard County. Jaime Velasco of Pecos County was elected State 4-H Council Delegate.

A slide program on 4-H summer camp at Brownwood concluded the program.

Community's heritage should be preserved

By Lucile Harrell

Every community has an heritage which is cherished. This heritage may be preserved in various ways: Written, as in Mr. Pierce's "Yesteryear", Tape Recorded as in the Historical Society's tapes on Pioneer Families, Compilation as in the volume of Crockett County History, Preservation of Artifacts as in our Museum and the designation of buildings and sites of historical significance such as the courthouse, jail, old bank building, the Junior High building, the Perner House, the first water well site, the Ozona Stockman, and the Crockett County Water System. All are marked with official State Historical Markers, provided, after tedious research, by the Crockett County Historical Commission. These are examples of Historical Preservation.

Other examples, such as the recently acquired Deland House, must be restored if they are to be preserved. County Historical Commissions all over Texas have undertaken many such projects with pride and success for their local citizens.

Ozona now has the opportunity to preserve and restore its oldest dwelling, moved here in the earliest part of this century from the original townsite of Emerald. Hence the name "Emerald House".

Restoration specialists have learned that to restore a building and let it simply stand as an idle exhibit is a sure way to early deterioration. To keep the exterior integrity of such buildings and to use the interiors in practical ways prolongs the life of such structures.

With this in mind, Crockett County Historical Commission members voted to employ Mr. Ron Barbutti, San Angelo Architect, experienced in restoration by having worked in such historical projects as Williamsburg, Georgetown, Fort Concho and others to advise on the best use of Emerald House. His plan is a simple one but calls for one room large enough for small group meetings - perhaps small weddings, a parlor furnished as an exhibit of such early rooms about 1900, a small office, powder room, and limited kitchen facilities all within the original structure with no additions.

Because of the inflationary times in which we work such plans are costly. To be usable the building must be heated, cooled, insulated, roofed, wired and plumbing provided, to say nothing of the painting, papering and the like.

Already the group has funds to pay for the structure, the moving, to build a good foundation, to restore the chimney (each stone carefully numbered as it was dismantled) to pay the Architect's fees (at a modest hourly rate) and other incidental expenses incurred to date.

A genuine word of appreciation and thanks go to so many: Lee Graves, experienced through many years of restoration work at Ranching Headquarters, Texas Tech, and Bill Cooper, tireless worker in all good local causes, have given many hours of hard physical labor on the building. Judge Jones, the Commissioners and the Crockett County Fair Association made possible the ideal location. Mr. McCary and his helpers prepared the site, and certainly without the wonderful cooperation and help of all the DPS gentlemen, Local Sheriff's Dept., the West Texas Utilities employees, Mr. Dee Keilers, C.C. Water Superintendent, Joe Everett and many others the house could have never been safely moved with not a single wire broken. To Kitty and her fine staff at the Ozona Stockman our special thanks for their continued support in all the efforts being made by many to preserve our heritage - such support and publicity is essential to any success.

Now we turn to all in Ozona who are interested in Historical Preservation and Restoration. This is your project and its completion will depend on your help. Our appeal goes to both individuals and organizations. Emerald House will be for your enjoyment. Calls, suggestions, ideas - please feel free to express them to any of the "History Nuts" of which there are many in our community.

Lucile I. Harrell,
Chairman C.C.
Historical Commission

Methodists to show science film HBO Sports to offer boxing

An interesting film on science and religion will be shown Sunday, March 29, at 7:00 p.m. in the Ozona United Methodist Church. The film will be shown in the fellowship hall and the public is cordially invited.

Few topics have so teased and tantalized mankind as

Local golfers in Sonora

Several local golfers were among those entered in the first annual Tri-Cities Desk and Derrick Club golf tournament held in Sonora Saturday, and enjoyed a cocktail party the previous evening at the Sutton County Steak House.

Tite Bishop, Otis Holt and Bob (Bear) Threadgill were on the first place team. Bill Clegg was on the team which took second place, and a former Ozonan, Gary Garlitz, was on the third place team.

the question: Can the future be predicted? Many have attempted this. Many have come forward to claim that the power is theirs, that their eyes could see beyond today and into tomorrow. But when put to scientific tests, these claims have always failed to stand up.

In the Moody Institute of Science film, "The Professor and the Prophets," scientific tests are applied to Bible prophecy. Dr. Irwin A. Moon and guest mathematician professor Peter Stoner examine a number of famous Bibleland cities. Together, they view time-bruised Jerusalem, the rock-hewn valley of Petra, the tarnished glories of Babylon, the lost fortress of Tyre. What are the prophecies about these places? Did they come true? These questions were answered by Dr. William Culbertson in an earlier Moody Film, "The Stones Cry Out." But in "The Professor and the Prophets," an additional question is considered: Could the accuracy of the Bible prophecy be due merely to human guesswork rather than divine inspiration?

One might at first think there would be no way to determine this. But there is. In fact, there is the technique of mathematics devoted to answering just such questions. It is called "the Theory of Probability."

When Dr. Moon and Professor Stoner apply this theory to just a short series of Bible prophecies, the probability of their accuracy being due to clever guesswork or sheer chance is seen to be almost infinitely small. There is only one logical conclusion: the prophecies of the Bible have not been produced by human invention, but by divine inspiration.

Denim Boost

World War II gave blue jeans a boost up the ladder of success. Not only were sailors and Coast Guardsmen issued blue jeans as standard dress, but fabric shortages led civilians to seek durable denimwear, also.

HBO Sports to offer boxing

Ozona Television System manager Oscar Kost announced today that HBO Sports has acquired the exclusive television rights to Sugar Ray Leonard's defense of his World Boxing Council Welterweight Crown against eighth-ranked WBC contender Larry Bonds Saturday night, March 28, at 8:00 p.m.

Kost said other outstanding boxing attractions coming up on HBO include the WBC Heavyweight Title Fight, Larry Holmes versus Trevor Berbick in April, the Jerry Cooney versus Ken Norton fight in May, and the Marvin Hagler versus Vito Antufuermo Middleweight title fight in June.

Tax Benefits For Older Americans Can Mean Big Tax Dollar Savings

Growing older may have its problems, but when it comes to your federal income tax return, you'll find a few nice breaks awaiting you as you move up through the years.

By the way, for tax purposes, you're considered to be 65 years old on the day before your 65th birthday. You can claim the benefits set aside for those 65 and older for the entire year in which you turned 65. For instance, if your 65th birthday falls on January 1, 1981, you can claim the tax benefits set aside for older Americans for the entire year of 1980.

One of the first things an older taxpayer needs to look at is whether or not he or she has to file a tax return at all. Older taxpayers can earn more than the general population before they have to file.

If you're 65 or older and single and had gross income of less than $4,300, you don't need to file a federal tax return. For married couples, if one spouse is 65, the couple can have up to $6,400 gross income and not have to file. If both married persons are 65 or older, the limit is up to $7,400. Remember, this is gross income. It includes such things as rent, royalties, and taxable pensions in addition to wages, but does not include social security or railroad retirement benefits.

Everyone who files a tax return is entitled to a $1000 exemption, but if you're 65 or older, you get an additional $1000 exemption. That means a married couple both 65 or older will get a total of four exemptions, which results in a $4000 reduction in taxable income.

There's also a tax credit for the elderly for older taxpayers who have some taxable income and a tax liability. If you're eligible, the credit can amount to as much as $375 for single taxpayers, and $562.50 for married couples filing joint returns. The tax credit for the elderly is even available to some taxpayers who are under 65, particularly those receiving income from some sort of public retirement system—teachers or firefighters, for example.

Not all older taxpayers are eligible for the credit—those collecting maximum social security or railroad retirement benefits, for instance. To find out if you are eligible, check your tax instructions, or call the IRS Forms/Tax Information number listed in the telephone directory.

There's one important benefit involving the sale of a residence that you may claim as early as age 55. Taxpayers who sell their personal residences after they have turned 55 may be able to exclude from taxes up to $100,000 of the gain from the sale ($50,000 if they are married filing separate returns.)

For this purpose, the residence can be a house, condominium, or a cooperative apartment. You must have lived in the residence for at least 3 years out of the 5-year period ending on the date of the sale in order to claim the exclusion. This is a once-in-a-lifetime tax exclusion, and it will benefit those who have decided to sell their homes in order to move to a smaller home or an apartment. If you're 55 or older and planning to sell your home, check your tax instructions or ask the IRS for details about this once-in-a-lifetime tax exclusion.

Long-term credit with no prepayment penalty.

Taxpayers who recently retired or are about ready to retire are in a good position to do some tax planning. For example, if you're on a pension plan to which you've contributed from your wages, you'll generally recover your own contributions within your first three years of retirement. If this is the case, since your pension contributions were taxed while you were working, your pension will be tax free until you recover all the money you put into the plan. During this time, your taxable income will probably come only from interest or dividends on what you were able to salt away while you were working.

That may be the time to think about selling savings bonds, securities, or real estate that you accumulated while you were at work. You won't pay as much tax on the gain from such sales during this period, since you'll be in a much lower tax bracket than you were when you had income from wages. Even if you cannot recover your contributions within your first 3 years of retirement, a portion of each pension payment will be tax free, so your taxable income will still be lower.

A note of caution about your pension: when it does become taxable, you have two choices. You can ask the company that pays your pension to withhold taxes from your pension by giving them a Form W-4P, Annuitant's Request for Federal Income Tax Withholding, or you can start making quarterly estimated tax payments directly to the IRS.

Whichever way you choose to handle the tax on your pension, you may have to estimate taxes on your other income anyway—income from rent, royalties, interest, or dividends, for example. Estimated taxes are required if you expect your tax due at filing time to be $100 or more, and your gross income exceeds certain limits or includes gross income in excess of $500 that is not subject to tax withholding. Although there are certain exceptions allowed by law, failure to make sufficient estimated tax payments may result in a penalty that cannot be waived for any reason.

The IRS has a number of free publications that may be of interest to the older taxpayer. You can order IRS publications by mail using the order blank in your tax package, or you may request them by calling the IRS Forms/Tax Information number listed in the telephone directory. Here is a list of publications that may be particularly useful:

Pub 17, "Your Federal Income Tax"

Pub 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax"

Pub 523, "Tax Information on Selling Your Home"

Pub 524, "Credit for the Elderly"

Pub 554, "Tax Benefits for Older Americans"

Pub 575, "Pension and Annuity Income"

Some taxpayers who are 60 or older may prefer to receive free personal tax assistance right in their own neighborhoods. A recently established program called Tax Counseling for the Elderly may be available near you. Tax Counselors are volunteers from your area who are specially trained to handle tax problems and tax forms of particular importance to the older taxpayer. A large number of neighborhood Tax Counseling for the Elderly sites will be available from January to mid-April, and may be located in libraries, nursing home lobbies, nutrition centers, church halls, or other convenient locations. You can find out if there's a Tax Counseling for the Elderly site near you by calling the IRS Forms/Tax Information number listed in your telephone directory.

One other note of caution: not frequently, but every so often, a few people try to impersonate IRS employees with the intention of bilking unsuspecting citizens. All IRS employees carry distinctive identification which they must display when conducting business outside an IRS office. If you suspect that someone may be posing as an IRS employee, ask for identification, and examine it closely.

If you aren't satisfied that the person is a bona fide employee, do not give that person any information, and by no means give him or her any money. Notify the IRS or your local authorities immediately, and if possible, be ready to supply the name the person gave you and other details you can remember about the contact.

Crockett County Care Center News

By Mary Wilton-Director of Activities & Social Care

As you entered the front door this Tuesday and looked around the lobby all you could see was green. Most of the residents were dressed in green and green punch and cookies were on a table waiting to be served to guests, also dressed in green. It was very plain to see that this was St. Patrick's Day and there was going to be a party. The Arts & Crafts Class was giving a party and the volunteers who help with hair, crafts and Bingo had been invited. In all there were 56 people seated around the lobby and they all seemed to have a good time. Joan Nicholas played some Irish songs on the piano while the refreshments were being served. Mary Lou Lilly loaned us a beautiful Irish Shamrock plant which was placed at the nurses station. Most of us had never seen one before so it was a real treat, thanks Mary Lou.

A special thanks goes to the aides for getting everyone dressed and to the lobby in time for the St. Patrick's Day party. Any time there is a party or special entertainment it makes extra work for these girls and they have really been great about it. Extra work is also put on the housekeeping dept. so we would like to thank them for cleaning up after us.

Ever so often clothes get torn and we would like to thank Sadie Whitehurst for doing some mending for the residents.

Rev. Rex Ponder, the new pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, was in charge of our Wednesday morning Bible Study. We all enjoyed the lesson and hope that he will come again. It means a lot to have a pastor take time out of his busy day to come and share this time of worship and study with us.

Beauty shop day is really going great now with such a good group of volunteers. We really appreciate Dorothy Doll, Maria Vitela, Ruth Dorris, Hazel Storms, Doris Hoffman and Inge Nichols for being so faithful in the beauty shop.

Everyone really enjoyed Reading and Discussion on Thursday afternoon. Dorothy Montgomery was in charge of the group. Dorothy is always willing to help us and when she comes everyone has a good time.

Annabell Patrick donated some Avon shampoo and cream rinse to help keep the residents hair looking nice.

Friday, Bingo winner was Gertrude Daniels. She was given a $5.00 gift certificate donated by Watson's. Second prize, a bag of candy, was won by Bertha Miller. All the Bingo prizes, except the three gift certificates, are purchased with money donated to our activity fund.

There was a special treat on Friday afternoon, Sara Hignight brought a group of fifth graders and presented a play about Pecos Bill. All the residents enjoyed it, they always enjoy children coming. After the play, Sara stayed to entertain us with music and song. Her music can brighten up a room quicker than anything I know. We all love Sara and enjoy her coming, please come back real soon.

I have just learned that one of our volunteers, Hortensia Ybarra, is in the hospital in San Angelo. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Thanks to Liz Mary Pipes, Alice Ross, Orphella Enriquez, Dorothy Doll, Annabell Patrick, Hortensia Ybarra and Ann Mayo for helping with Bingo on Tuesday and Friday.

Rev. Ralph Anderson pastor of the Church of Christ, was in charge of the Sunday afternoon worship services held in the lobby.

All of us are enjoying the beautiful spring weather and looking forward to warmer days so we can get outside.

Stress is one of the most important barriers to health. More than eight of every ten people indicate a need to have less stress in their daily lives, and many are finding it harder to cope with the problems of everyday living now than they did a few years ago. Low-income families and single parents are among those finding it particularly hard to cope today.

Create your own designer jeans

Create your own designer jeans—and save lots of money, advises Becky Saunders, a clothing specialist.

Before trying, however, there are several things the homemaker should consider, she says.

First, investigate the designer jeans patterns available.

A review of the instruction guide sheet will either encourage or discourage you to continue.

Consider your time and sewing skills for such requirements as special seams, fly-front zipper, waistband, yokes, pockets, and/or decorative trims.

Next investigate your area's supply of suitable fabrics and needed trims, along with the cost of these items.

Fabrics to consider—in various weights and fiber contents—include denim, corduroy, poplin, sateen, chino, ticking, duck and other sturdy fabrics.

Necessary notions might include heavy jean zippers, heavy-duty thread and machine needles (size 18) for topstitching, sturdy front-pocket lining, snaps or button fasteners and/or rivets. A good fit is important for any sewing project, particularly for jeans.

Purchase patterns by the full hip measurement.

If possible, it is wise to compare the pattern to a good-fitting pair of jeans (in a comparable fabric) that has been ripped apart.

Also, remember that some fabrics may stretch slightly during wear—or shrink each time they're washed.

Always preshrink fabric before cutting it to avoid surprises later due to excessive shrinkage, relaxing grainlines or limp textures.

For a professional-looking garment, copy ready-to-wear techniques such as narrow seam allowances and contrasting topstitching such as orange on blue denim.

Also, special techniques include reinforcing zigzag bar tacks and decorative pocket appliques or embroidery.

After you master fit and basic construction techniques, you can create different looks by changing front and back pockets, the type of seams, front or back yokes, adding waistline pleats, and/or the flare of the leg.

Dutch treat best for tax bills

When two different federal tax payments are made at the same time, separate checks or money orders should be used, the Internal Revenue Service says.

An error in crediting one or both payments is possible if two payments are combined, especially if different tax forms are involved.

Taxpayers should write their Social Security numbers, form number and year involved on every check or money order sent to the IRS. This simple procedure ensures the proper crediting to their account, in case the check is separated from the form, according to the IRS.

Checks should be made payable to the "Internal Revenue Service."

Linen is classy for spring

Linen is classy for spring with its crisp, fresh look. Nancy Brown, a clothing specialist, offers several tips on working with linen if you're homesewing spring fashions.

Miss Brown is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Fabric choice is very important. Linen comes in many weights and textures for a wide range of styles.

For a jacket, skirt or pants, select a textured heavier-weight fabric.

For a romantic dress or blouse—or a new look in jackets, select a sheer handkerchief weight.

Remember that pure linen should be dry cleaned for best color and shape retention.

On the other hand, if you want an easy-care garment, consider a linen that is blended with a synthetic fiber. These fabrics usually are wrinkle- and shrink-resistant, they keep their shape and color, and they still have the pure-linen look.

Before cutting, preshrink your linen fabric.

After cutting, staystitch all raw edges to prevent raveling.

Use a size 11 sharp-point needle for sheer lightweights and up to a 16 for heavier weights.

Make your stitch length between 1 and 12 stitches per inch.

Use a cotton-covered polyester thread in a weight suitable for the fabric weight.

Since linen ravels, you may need to reinforce the seams, especially when clipping is required.

A seam finish also will be needed. Which type will depend on the weave of the linen. For a tightly woven linen, stitch 1/4-inch from the raw edge, and pink the edge.

For loosely woven linens, encase the edge in foldover bias tape or simply turn the edge under 1/4-inch and stitch for a clean finish.

As you stitch, press all construction details using a damp press cloth to protect the fabric surface.

To achieve a lasting crease on seams, hems and pleats, you may need the assistance of your local dry cleaners.

Remember, 100 percent linen requires a very high pressing temperature which is difficult to do yourself.

The tulip originated in Central Asia and gets its name from the Turkish word for turban.

When a cold can't be thwarted, grandmother's advice is still good: aspirin, liquids and even chicken soup may relieve symptoms.

By covering your coughs and sneezes and keeping your distance from people, you can protect others. Germs escape from the mouth even when you speak. Use tissues and dispose of them in a closed paper bag.

The Christmas Seal people can't cure your cold, but ask the American Lung Association of Texas for an authoritative leaflet, "Common Cold, The Facts About Your Lungs." Sports Fans
I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW
By Jerry Lay
Here's one of the most incredible sports stories of all-time. An athlete once broke his leg during an Olympic event and then, not only refused to withdraw from the next event, but performing with a broken leg, won a gold medal! The athlete was Japanese gymnast Shum Fujimoto at the 1976 Olympics. After breaking his leg in his first event, he participated in the difficult competition of swinging from rings with a cast on his leg and achieved the highest score of his life, winning the gold medal. Then he ended his routine with a triple somersault, landing on his broken leg and maintaining his balance! It was one of the most courageous moments in sports.

Here's an oddity about one of the famous ball parks in baseball history, the Polo Grounds in New York, where the Giants played from 1889 to 1958. Many sports were played there, from baseball to football to soccer to boxing. But one sport that was never played at the Polo Grounds was, oddly enough, polo.
