Some months ago we received a directive from the Post Office instructing us to put box numbers on all our local accounts; we've always had box numbers for our subscribers. We went to a lot of trouble and got box numbers on the few accounts we did not have numbers for. The funny thing is that box numbers don't seem to matter. Almost everyday we get someone else's mail and it has their box number on it, not our box number. If it's so important to have box numbers on local mail, why don't they put the mail in the boxes that correspond with the number on the mail? It all seems pretty simple, but there must be some kind of government red tape that prevents this simple procedure from being simple.

Our box number at the local bureaucracy is 370, yet, in my mail this morning I got seven pieces of mail addressed to the Teacher Store, Box 1268. Most of them were checks too, I opened a couple before I realized we had no accounts for the check-signers. Then I called Jody to see if she wanted me to take her mail back to the post office or if she wanted to pick up her mail here. She opted for the latter since she had to go to the bank anyway, no wonder.

Steve Kenley was going to start a tips for fishermen column, but it hasn't come in yet and the deadline is past. He might have decided to give it up after his first fishing expedition on Devil's River. In fact he might have given up fishing, if he had all the bad luck I've heard about. Of course, people enlarge on things around here, and they tend to pick on Steve because he is so good-natured I guess.

Beth Boyd was in Monday on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce. The chamber is planning a big blow-out for the Fourth of July. Watermelon in the ball park, a live band, and a finale of a $2,100 fireworks display. We'd have plenty of time to publicize the event, but getting $2,100 worth of donations for the fireworks display is another thing entirely and might take some time. Anyone is eligible for a donation and all donations will be accepted large or small. Anyone who wishes to make a donation to this project may call Beth at the chamber office and she will be right there to collect the donation.

I forgot to ask how her trash contest was coming along, but will check on it and let you know next week. I considered taking my trash compactor bag down to her when I removed it Sunday, but it was too heavy and I didn't need free swimming for the summer.

Daughters-in-law are very special, especially when married to an only son. I actually received a lovely gift for Mother's Day Sunday instead of a late night guilt telephone call from a forgetful son. If we had picked her ourselves, we couldn't have found a better prize than Debbie for a daughter-in-law. And that says something for Jim too, he has very good taste, and we appreciate his selection.

GREETING GUESTS at the Crockett County Hospital open house Sunday were Mrs. Bobby Phillips, supervisor of nurses; Beth Boyd, Charles Huffman and Gene Lilly, hospital board members, and Glen Rumley, hospital administrator.

Commissioners Court has varied agenda

The Crockett County Commissioners' Court met Monday with a full and varied agenda which ranged from approving bills for payment to hiring a new county road supervisor, plus approving a dental insurance plan for county employees.

Paul Shacklette was hired as county road supervisor, after presenting an impressive resume. The county has been seeking a road department head since Von Parker resigned several months ago. Enisimo Ortiz, long time county road foreman, has been acting supervisor in the interim.

During the bill-paying session the court finally agreed to pay a $2,000 repair bill on the new Case loader recently purchased for the road department. The bill was for replacement of a part which was defective when the loader was delivered. Most members of the court felt the company should have assumed this liability, but according to the contract, the responsibility falls on the county.

Civic Center Director Garland Young appeared to ask the court's approval to hire an air conditioning firm to fix or replace the air conditioning in the center building. He described the air conditioning in the entire building as "a mess," and everyone who has used the building during the summer months can attest to that. He was given approval and asked to report to the county judge on what measures need to be taken to cool the building.

Hospital Administrator Glen Rumley got a hearty congratulations from the court when he reported the Crockett County Hospital actually came out in the black for the month of April. Nobody on the court could remember a month the hospital broke even, much less made money. Total deposits amounted to $94,384.00 for the month and total checks written were $88,843.00 leaving a profit of $5,541.

Rumley also reported the care center roof leaking in numerous places. This came as no news to the court, since the roof has leaked from the time the facility was built and neither the builder nor roofers who have worked on it have been able to stop it. The court turned over the pass-book savings of the Dr. Tandy Memorial Fund to Rumley and instructed him to use the funds for new drapes for the hospital, provided the trustees would agree. The fund has been inactive for several years.

The court agreed to mow weeds and do some spot spraying for mosquitoes, after Rumley informed them the dozer operators are unable to cover and fill as required and the trash is not being compacted properly. B. W. Stuart, in whose precinct the dump ground lies, said the workers were using too much dirt and not going over the trash. He said they were not spending enough time on it or just did not know how.

Judge Johnny Jones said the problem must be solved and promptly. After some discussion the court decided to hire a Lilly Construction crew for at least two days to get the facility in shape again and then keep county employees on top of it on a regular basis.

Armando Villarreal presented the new Blue Cross rates which covers county employees and their families. His annual report was reason enough for the increase in premiums. In the past twelve months, the company has paid out almost $30,000 in claims above the premium it received. The court approved the new rates and contract.

Villarreal also presented the Blue Shield Dental Plan, which gives dental coverage to groups. After some discussion, for and against, the court voted to take the coverage on a split vote.

The Parks and Wildlife hunting rules were amended to allow no antlerless deer taken in Crockett County without a permit.

Following lunch the court reconvened to approve bonds for all elected officials and deputies, approve an attempt to have stop lights installed at the intersection of I-10 and 163, and vote to sit as a board of equalization July 9.

Before adjourning the court approved the instigation of law suits by County Attorney Tom Cameron, in an effort to collect debts owing the hospital.

School term to end next week

A flurry of last-minute activities has occupied students and teachers in Ozona schools this week in anticipation of the end of the school term next week. Classes will cease in all schools Friday, May 22.

Senior students are preparing to end their high school careers, and baccalaureate services for the 42 graduating seniors will be held Sunday evening in the high school auditorium at 8:00 p.m. Commencement exercises will follow on Friday night, May 22, at Lion Stadium.

The athletic season will be over this weekend when Larry Payne and Richard Garza travel to Austin to run in the state meet.

Kaye Thompson won the coveted state championship medal in the 1600-meter run Saturday in Austin. Kaye, a senior, is the first Ozona girl to win a state athletic event in the history of the school.

The girls golf team made it to state, another first. They came in in a very respectable fifth place in the state meet held last week, also in Austin. The team was coached by Jack Probst, and team members are Sherry Webster, Gail Hunnicutt, Wendy Hood, Aileen Lopez and Jennifer Justiss.

Larry Bailey, pastor of Ozona United Methodist Church, will give the baccalaureate sermon Sunday evening. The invocation will be given by Rev. Nelson Lanham, pastor of First Baptist, and the benediction will be given by Fr. Jim Chaumont, pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church. Wendy Hood will play for the professional and recessional for both baccalaureate and commencement.

Students were nominated last week by high school teachers for the Best Citizen Award, given annually by the Ozona Womens Forum.

The ten students receiving the most votes are the nominees, the teachers vote on the top ten, and the winner is announced and awarded during commencement exercises.

Nominees for the award are Lori Clayton, Frank Galvan, Veronica Guerra, Aileen

Lopez, Johnny Rodriguez, Kim Sinclair, Gary Smith, Kaye Thompson, Richard Wallace, Molly Womack and Rose Mary Ybarra.

Other students nominated for the award included Bobbie Acton, Tammy Adams, Varilyn Aldridge, Sue Ellen Black, Will M. Black, Ernie Borrego, Louis Bunker, Katrina Burger, Jerry Cantu, Lana Cole, Michelle Couch, Hospital holds open house Sun.

Around 75 persons attended the open house at Crockett County Hospital Sunday afternoon in commemoration of National Hospital Week, May 10 through 16.

Another reason for celebration was the fact the hospital actually operated in the black for the month of April. A year ago this was deemed an impossibility and there was serious talk of closing the facility because it was losing so much money. Losses were cut in half the first three months of this year and April was a history-making month.

Visitors were greeted by the hospital board and staff and various pieces of equipment were shown and demonstrated. The two Crockett County ambulances, which are among the best equipped in the state were also available for guests to inspect.

The hospital auxiliary served refreshments of punch and cookies from a serving table centered with a lovely floral arrangement donated by Gene Lilly, president of the hospital board. Other board members present were Beth Boyd and Charles Huffman.

Auxiliary members assisting with the festivities were Mrs. L. D. Kirby, Mrs. Arthur Kyle and Liz Mary Pipes, who is presently serving as president of the organization.

Storm brings rainfall

Another half inch of rain fell here Thursday night during a thunderstorm punctuated with dazzling bolts of lightning and loud claps of thunder.

After the temperature reached a sultry 91 degrees Thursday afternoon, residents found they were in a tornado alert from 7 until 10 p.m. There were no tornadoes sighted in this immediate area, but the wind blew a gale and the west side of town was plunged into darkness when lightning struck a utility pole and caused a black-out of about 35 minutes duration.

Skies were clear Friday, but temperatures climbed above the 90-degree mark early in the afternoon and air-conditioners were turned on in most homes for the first time this season.

A cool front which passed through the area early Saturday morning brought comfortable temperatures and although the afternoons have been warm, the nights and early mornings have been pleasantly cool and refreshing.

Abe Morris injured in fall here

Abe Morris was transferred to a private room at Odessa Medical Center Monday, after being in intensive care in that facility over the weekend, following an accident here Saturday morning.

Morris was repairing the swimming pool at the Charles Huffman home when he made a misstep and fell head-first into the dry pool bed. He suffered facial and neck injuries.

Doctors say surgery will be necessary to repair broken facial bones, but Morris was listed in good condition Monday afternoon.

QUILT PRESENTED to care center residents during junior high history week. The quilt was made by these girls in Sherry Scott's seventh grade history class. It was one of the projects for the history fair held last week. Examining the quilt are Paul Cavin and Maude Pettit, residents; Mrs. Elvira Caldwell, care center administrator, Vanessa Miller, Marie Freeman, Raedene Flores and Donna Sanchez.

THE LAST FLAIR-WELL

By Edwin Feulner

I've got to hand it to the opposition — they really know how to go out in style. And I'm beginning to think the term "lame-duck" is a misnomer — Carter Administration officials seem to have been busier their last couple months in office than in the entire preceding 46-month period.

Former Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall went roaming the globe on an around-the-world trip that took him to Paris, Peking and Tokyo; former Secretary of Energy Charles B. Duncan hopped a supersonic Concorde flight to France; and top aides at the Departments of Labor, Energy, HUD, and at other federal agencies, went a-junketing as well. All these taxpayer-financed trips were ostensibly necessary to conduct business. It would be unkind to observe that none of these officials is still in office; but the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, nonetheless, felt duty-bound to call an investigation into all this lame-duck roustabounding by Carter officials.

Assistant Labor Secretary Ernie Green was also a model of post-election industriousness, but he managed to do it sitting behind his desk most of the time. He came back to the Labor Department in November, after working as a paid consultant to the Carter-Mondale campaign committee, and began churning out millions of dollars in job training grants. Many went to organized labor and black activist groups. Some went to individuals and groups that had supported Mr. Carter. And some even went to Green's former employer, RTP Inc. Fancy that.

As Assistant Secretary for Employment and Training, Green had jurisdiction over the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act program. Most of CETA's Carter-era $8 billion budget has gone to local and state governments for large areawide projects, but a few hundred million dollars in "discretionary funds" can be used for small individual grants in such areas as job training and placement, or for studies or experiments by community-based organizations.

Apparently no higher tribute can be paid to a government bureaucrat than to have it said of him long after he leaves office, "He left no dollar unspent." So from November to January 19, the day before President Reagan was sworn in, Mr. Green worked assiduously at cranking out funding commitments. On January 16 and 19 alone, according to news accounts, contracts involving millions of dollars were executed. December 31 turned out to be a banner day — with RTP hauling in $8.6 million and Jesse Jackson's PUSH program receiving $2 million to do its thing.

Leaving nothing to chance, Green aides sent out a blizzard of last-minute telegrams alerting their friends to the availability of funds, and telling grant applicants whose contracts were still pending that they were free to start spending the money while the formal contract was being negotiated. The response was enough to gladden the heart of any mail-order mogul. By the time Green left office, CETA had committed itself to spend more than all the discretionary funds available for the entire fiscal year, which doesn't end until September 30, 1981!

Mr. Green's largesse is now under review by the new administration and by the Senate Labor Committee. He said in an interview, however, "I did not do anything illegal. I've got nothing to hide on it." As for the last-minute nature of the approvals, Mr. Green told THE WASHINGTON POST: "My view of the job was to see that these organizations could continue to operate long after we left office," and that it was clear to him that the philosophy of the new administration was "not one of support" for the kinds of training programs he fancied.

In private industry, they take away your key to the executive washroom when you are fired. In government, they give you a blank check and a free hand.

The first woman candidate for president was Victoria Claflin Woodhull, nominated in 1872.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Both the House and the Senate may have set new appropriations bill records last week—but in different directions.

The House took only three days of floor debate to give final approval to the proposed state budget. Last session the House budget debate lasted well into two weeks.

At the same time, the Senate Finance Committee reported out a proposed budget that is $170 million higher than the constitutional limit. The Senate panel's unorthodox move came after Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, concerned about foot-dragging, appeared before the committee and told it to "get this bill finished."

The Texas Constitution forbids deficit spending, or expenditures in excess of available revenues.

Additional cuts to the Senate version will be made on the Senate floor. The House budget bill is $47.2 million below the expected state income.

The final budget will be shaped later this session in a joint House-Senate conference committee.

House Version

The House added more than $100 million to the bill originally prepared by the Appropriations Committee for a proposed total budget of $26.55 billion.

House members overrode the committee bill to give pay raises to teachers and state employees.

In House debate, teacher pay raises were kicked up from 26.6 percent already in the bill to 27.7 percent over the next two years, an added $24 million. The Senate bill provides for a 26 percent raise.

House members approved an amendment by Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale which added $19.5 million to a pay raise for state employees. If given final approval, it ensures that low level state employees receive a 9.2 percent raise this year.

Also added was $10 million for faculty salaries in state colleges and $2 million for exceptionally intelligent students in public schools.

Also included was a 35 percent pay raise for state-wide elected officials, from $51,000 now to $65,700 in 1982 and $69,000 in 1983.

The proposed bill also includes an additional $3.4 million for higher salaries to Department of Public Safety officers and narcotics officers.

House speaker Bill Clayton has been adamant in hurrying the appropriations bill to a finish before the Legislature begins voting on the redistributing bill.

Debate on redistributing will probably begin the third week of May.

New Bills Signed

At the end of last week Gov. Bill Clements signed into law a bill raising the state's minimum drinking age to 19. The new law goes into effect on Sept. 1.

"Where are all the 18-year-olds?" Clements quipped at the signing ceremonies.

"They're all out drinking while they still can," responded Rep. Henry Allee, a House sponsor.

Clements also signed a bill requiring competency testing and certification of public school teachers. The new law will require college graduates to meet standards set by the Texas Education Agency before they can receive teacher certificates. Currently certified teachers are exempt from the testing program.

Scalping Bill

A bill outlawing ticket scalping for school sports events was approved in the House.

Sponsored by Dallas Rep. John Bryant, the bill prohibits buying or selling tickets for more than face value to any athletic event for high schools or colleges. Bryant sidestepped attempts to include professional sports, explaining he did not want to pick up overwhelming opposition.

A similar bill was approved earlier in the Senate.

Primary Election Changes
The Democratic state steering committee endorsed a bill moving primary elections from May back to July, a schedule used in Texas until 1959 when the law was changed to help Lyndon B. Johnson's presidential hopes.

Party chairman Bob Slagle won kudos for pushing the endorsement of a bill sponsored by his hometown buddy Rep. Bob Bush, D-Sherman.

If passed, the bill will considerably shorten the political campaign season. Primaries will be held the third week of July, primary run-offs will be held in late August, and general elections will remain at the front end of November.

Proponents argued the current long season is too much for both voters and candidates. A shorter campaign season makes for a higher voter participation and less expensive campaigns.

Slagle won praise for his pragmatic approach to this and other issues, which some believe is healing the rift between the liberal and conservative factions of the Democratic Party.

Loeffler hails budget passage

Congressman Tom Loeffler today hailed passage of the Reagan Administration's bipartisan budget resolution, saying it was "an important first step" in getting the economy back on an even course.

The measure, which passed by a vote of 253-176 signaled a major victory for President Reagan who was able to muster support from Republicans and Democrats alike to win approval of the $689 billion budget.

"We have taken an important first step. Congress is on record for beginning a very historic process which will result in the most dramatic and substantial change in Federal fiscal policy that has occurred since the New Deal," Loeffler said.

The Texas Republican said the vote on the Gramm-Latta bipartisan resolution reflected a mandate of the people who sent President Reagan to the White House in November with the set mission of doing something about the country's economic problems.

"Whether Republican or Democrat, I think all of us in the Congress read what the people were demanding," Loeffler said. "The people were insisting that there be serious restraint on the growth of Federal spending and that we get our fiscal house in order."

Before the decisive vote Thursday (May 7) the House rejected two liberal budget

PBPA energy report

The OPEC countries are meeting in Geneva, Switzerland, this month and the main topic of discussion will be the world oil supply and how it affects prices. Right now the world oil glut is about 3 million barrels a day more than the demand. This has resulted in Saudi Arabia cutting some of its prices by $2 a barrel, Egypt $1-$3 a barrel and, according to the Oil and Gas Journal, African producers may either cut margins or production.

The Saudis are continuing to flood the market with oil in an effort to unify prices and raise them every quarter. In Canada, the Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors reports that 114 drilling and 16 service rigs have left the country since last fall. By the end of August, another 75 drilling rigs and 58 service rigs will have pulled out of Canada due to government policies. The Alberta Energy Department says there has been a 70% decline in land sale revenues in the first quarter of this year. Most of the Canadian equipment and crews are moving to the U.S.

The rig count continues to climb nationwide. The active rotary count is 3,756-40% above a year ago. The old 1955 record was broken in September of 1980 and new records have been set 23 out of the last 30 weeks.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by
Mrs. Bailey Post

After several drives with friends in every direction from Ozona, I still can hardly believe this is the same county we were living in last year at this time. Even the mesquites that many wish were not here exhibited their beautiful lacy green tinted leaves.

Spring-planted deciduous trees and shrubs, including fruit trees, need additional top pruning now if new shoots appear weak or plants show no sign of growth. You should tip prune each branch a few inches, retaining natural form of plant. This equalizes root-top balance.

The popular gloriosa daisies are tough, easy to grow plants that thrive in any except soggy soils. They prefer full sun, but will tolerate part shade. Their showy flowers are especially good for cutting and their lovely colors will brighten any summer garden and autumn border. Being a perennial, they usually will become dormant during the winter, but put on new growth after the soil gets warm. They should live several seasons.

If nothing prevents, there should be an excellent fall crop of pecans, for I've never seen so many blooms that fell after the rain and winds. Watch for activity of young bagworms on the trees this month. They will be easier to control while insects are small. Perhaps this might keep from having such an infestation of these worms as we had a few years ago. Since our rains, the weeds and grass are trying to take over the yards, streets and alleys. All flowers, fruits or shrubs, herbs, vegetables, and plants must be free of them to do well and to look attractive. Cultivation helps plants grow by crocking the crust to allow moisture to soak in and air to get into the soil.

Lawns should be given proper care to make them beautiful and attractive throughout the long growing season. Improper mowing is responsible for the decline of many lawns, and most should be mowed weekly. It is a good practice to collect the clippings each time you mow to prevent thatch build-up. This hampers the penetration of water and air into the soil and ultimately can cause the decline of large areas of lawn. Mow so that you remove only about a third of the leaf blade at any one clipping. Grass manufactures food in the leaf blades, so if too much of the blade is removed, the entire plant suffers.

Debra Says

By Debra Price

Employed mothers, there's new "hope" for success in both of your "jobs"--at home and at work.

Home economics research is finding no basic differences between children of employed mothers and those who remain in the home. However, studies show that employed moms' guilt and worry can affect the children.

Guilt and worry about working outside the home tend to interfere with or makes time mother and child spend together less enjoyable, the research indicates.

Here are some suggestions to enhance parenting skills for mothers who work outside the home:

Choose what is most important.

You are managing two jobs, so realize you won't be able to do everything. Don't increase stress by worrying or feeling guilty about things you cannot do. Accept your limitations and help your family to accept them.

Take care of yourself. Your own sense of well-being is tremendously important. When you are frazzled, go to a quiet place to relax. Schedule a regular night a week all for yourself.

Link work and parenthood. Talk to your child about your job. Invite him to visit you at work, and help him to get to know your co-workers. Perhaps most important, look for ways your child can help you in your job. As he learns about and participates in your work life, he is preparing for his own working years.

Research findings say several things about working moms and their children. If you're an employed mother, you're part of a large and growing number, resea-chers report. Almost half of all mothers in the United States with school-age children are employed full-time outside of the home.

Here's what the studies indicate about the children of employed mothers:

By itself, a mother's full-time employment is not likely to harm her child.

There are few, if any, consistent differences between children of mothers who are in the home full-time and those who work outside the home full-time.

There is virtually no difference in school achievement and social adjustment between children of mothers who work outside the home and children of mothers who work at home.

Too many people have inadequate pieces from which to serve refreshments in their homes, but you can improve both the beauty and ease of serving if you get one of the many versatile and beautiful pieces that can be used for this purpose. We have a fine selection and invite you to look them over.

Never buy a chair, sofa or mattress without trying it first. Some people select their purchases just by looking at them but we say you should try them, because comfort should be equally important to appearance.

If you want your bed to be blended beautifully into the background of a room, you might try a bedspread that matches the headboard or the wall behind the bed, or a bedspread that matches the carpet.

Remember that you don't have to have a fortune of money to have a beautifully decorated home. The key is imaginative decorating, good taste and getting the most for your money. We believe we can offer you that kind of help at Brown Furniture.

PRECISION

With the right instruments you can calculate to a degree so infinitesimal that it defies human imagination. You can plot, you can plan and come out perfectly every time -- if you are dealing with things, not people.

When people enter the picture, intangibles follow. Love, hate, fear, happiness, sorrow, jealousy, trust, envy . . . you can't measure any of those things. Nor can you measure faith, which is perhaps the biggest "commodity" of all.

Yes, men have figured out almost everything except themselves. Even the world's psychiatrists state freely that most elements of the human equation are quite obscure . . .

. . . except before God, that is! Which is another good reason for going to church.

Jr. High history fair Fri.

Ozona Junior High School held its eighth annual Texas History Fair Friday, May 8, in the Junior High building. Students in Mrs. Sherry Scott's seventh-grade history classes displayed projects they had worked on for over a month. Projects exhibited included a handmade quilt, an antique saddle and roping gear, a model oil well, a model windmill, an arrow-head collection, a model fort, a dog-run cabin, and a dug-out house. Life-sized models included a woman with a baby, both dressed in nineteenth-century clothing, and a cowboy resting beside his wagon. During the morning, a group of students demonstrated buttermaking in an old Dazey churn, and all who attended the fair were offered a taste of the fresh butter. Over 350 people visited the fair throughout the day.

JUNIOR HIGH CHEERLEADERS were elected last week. Cheering the Cubs on next fall will be Shelly Rumley, Raedene Flores, Amanda Enriquez, Ellie Tijerina and Donna Sanchez.

No more screwworm sign found

Intensive fly trapping and ranch visits by livestock inspectors have detected no further sign of screwworm activity in the Sutton County area since four screwworms were collected March 31.

Trapping surveillance and sterile fly release is expected to continue in the area until mid-May, says Dr. James E. Novy, director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Screwworm Laboratory.

"A combined force of inspectors from the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) Screwworm Lab and from the Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHS) will visit ranches in the area before the fly release program ends."

After mid-May most continuing surveillance in the area will be under direction of TAHC supervisory livestock inspector Jack Schwarz of Leakey. Most APHIS personnel will return to their routine surveillance duties.

"Livestock owners are doing an outstanding job of submitting samples of worms found in wounds for laboratory identification this year," says Novy. The 560 samples identified at Mission by May 1 of this year compare to only 337 by the same date in 1980.

Prompt sample submission by livestock owners and caretakers is essential to detect any new screwworm population in the U.S., says the veterinarian.

Our crafts class had a nice surprise this week when Inge Nichols came by for a visit. Inge is one of our volunteers and has been out of town the past few weeks, we would like to welcome her back. We all missed you Inge.

I would like to thank Joan Nicholas for coming and reading to our group on Thursday afternoon. This was my last week to go to Midland for school, thanks to everyone who was so nice to fill in for me.

There were several pretty arrangements of flowers sent this week to some of the ladies for Mother's Day. Most of these ladies placed their flowers at the nurse's station so we could all enjoy them. Thanks for sharing their beauty with us.

We would like to say a special thank you to Rev. Bekie Diaz for holding our weekly worship services. The church which was to come had to cancel so Frances Borrego suggested that I call Bekie and even though it was late notice he was so nice to come. Everyone really did enjoy the special music as well as the message he brought. I appreciate him filling in at the last minute, we all hope that he will come again real soon.

Our volunteer of the week is Maria Vitela. She is the daughter of one of our residents, Seferino Garcia. Maria helps set hair on Thursday mornings and is very good to come and visit. She has also had a Spanish hour in the afternoons for all our Spanish speaking residents. We appreciate Maria taking time out of her day to come and help us. Not only does she get our thanks but also our love.

One of our residents, Gertrude Daniels, is sick and we would like to wish her a speedy recovery. Gertrude we sure miss you at all the activities and hope you can join us again soon. Doris Hull, who is one of our nurses, is out sick and we would like to let her know we miss her and hope she will be well soon.

I have just found out that these pretty birthday cakes we serve at the parties each month are donated by Polly Eppler. Polly not only works here but runs the Mity Nice Bakery. Thanks Polly, we appreciate you.

In bingo this week, winner of the $5.00 gift certificate, donated by Clayton's Village Drug was Evelyn Bryant. Evelyn used the certificate to purchase some supplies for our beauty shop and we would like to thank her for being so thoughtful. Winner of a bottle of lotion, purchased from our activities fund account, was Blanche Fortune.

Our volunteers for this week were Annabell Patrick, Alice Ross, Doris Karr, Dorothy Doll, Liz Mary Pipes, Ruth Dorris, Inge Nichols, Hazel Storms, Doris Hoffman, and Marie Vitela. These ladies helped with bingo, beauty shop and crafts. To say thank you does not seem like enough but we hope they all know how much we love and appreciate them.

Nothing beats the smoked flavored taste of something from the grill . . . and no grill can beat the fun, convenience and economy of a versatile gas grill.

Gas Grilling is versatile

You can sizzle a steak, grill a burger, smoke a ham, barbecue a bird, roast an ear, even bake a potato. You can cook many different foods a variety of ways, many at the same time on a versatile gas grill.

Gas Grilling is delicious

You get that great outdoor smoked flavor without the charcoal mess. No lighter fluid is needed and a gas grill requires very little cleanup. There's no wait either, because gas grills reach cooking temperature . . . fast.

Gas Grilling is economical

You can cook a full family meal for just pennies. Gas grilling costs less than a third of what it would cost on an electric grill and less than a tenth of the cost for charcoaling. A national survey proved it.

And, Gas Grilling is cooler

It keeps the heat out of the kitchen so your air conditioning won't have to work so hard. That's important during the summer . . . plus a gas grill is the perfect meal-maker for any season of the year.

And, Gas Grilling is now 20% off

Buy now and you'll save 20%. The purchase price has been reduced 20% but only until August 1, 1981 . . . and you have eight styles and sizes to choose from, with all the features to make grilling fun, convenient and economical.

Women attend workshop

Mrs. Pleas Childress, Mrs. Joe Clayton and Mrs. Kenneth Stanton represented the Crockett County Museum at the annual spring workshop May 9, at the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum in Midland.

The program was on Audio Visuals. Guests were welcomed with coffee and doughnuts from 9:00 until 9:30 a.m. The presentation and instruction took place from 9:30 until noon with a period for questions.

More Grass-

Begins with the Banvel rangeland program.

Rangeland brush and weeds can get a stranglehold on the land, robbing water and soil nutrients from rangeland grasses. One acre of heavy mesquite consumes enough water to grow more than 7 tons of grass... grass that could add extra pounds to your grazing stock.

Banvel herbicide—used in a tank mix with 2,4,5-T+—controls many of the most troublesome Texas woody brush and vines: mesquite... huisache... oak... hackberry and many tough to control broadleaf weeds including broomweed... bitterweed... ragweed and more.

With less competition from brush and weeds, rangeland forage has a chance to bounce back—opening the way to faster weight gains and more profit from your grazing livestock.

Break the brush hold on rangeland profits. Let the Banvel rangeland program help unlock your rangeland's true potential.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay

What famous baseball man struck out in his only time at bat in the majors and fumbled half of all the fielding chances he ever had yet is a candidate for the Hall of Fame? Answer is Walter Alston, who managed the Dodgers to 7 pennants between 1955 and 1974. Alston got some votes for the Hall of Fame this year and may make it next year based on his managerial record. He played in only one big league game for the Cardinals in 1936, struck out his one time up, and made one error in the 2 career fielding chances he had but he moved from failure to success.

There are 4 ways a batter in baseball can get on first base without hitting the ball. Can you name all 4? Answer: (1) Being hit with a pitch, (2) Getting a base on balls, (3) Catcher interferes with batter as batter is ready to swing, and (4) Catcher drops third strike and fails to throw to first in time.

What was the first stadium in America to have artificial turf? Answer is the Astrodome in Houston which pioneered Astroturf in 1965.
