Ed Barker services in Coleman

Funeral services for Edward Barker, 43, of Midland, were held at 2 p.m. Sunday in Walker Funeral Home chapel with burial in Coleman City Cemetery in Coleman.

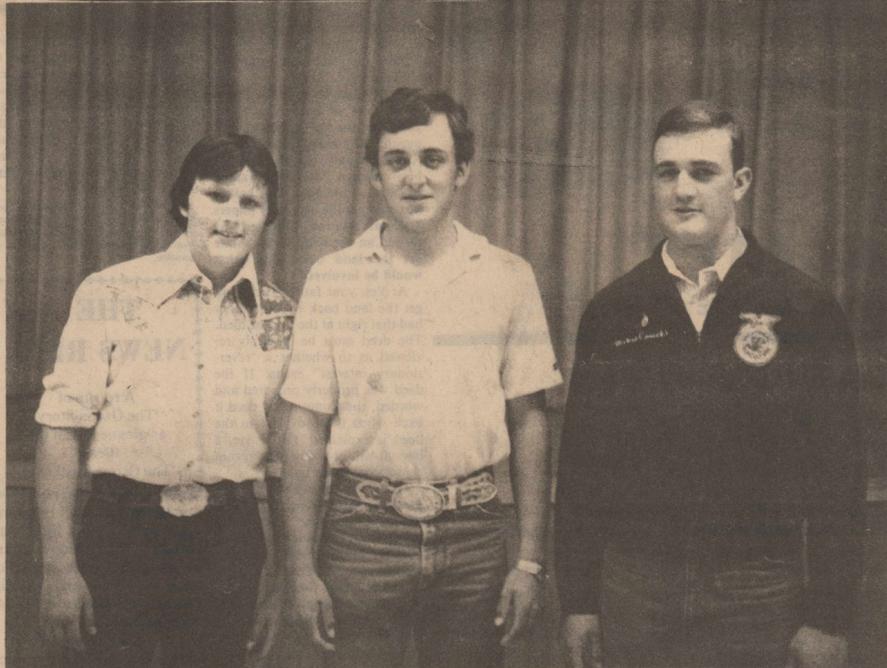

Mr. Barker died at 10:57 a.m. Thursday in Midland Memorial Hospital.

He was born August 10, 1937, in Coleman and was a graduate of Coleman High School. He was married to June Kelley August 7, 1955, in Coleman.

The Barkers lived in Ozona several years before he was appointed a regional adjutant for the Texas Department of Public Safety and transferred to Midland in 1980.

He was a deacon in Calvary Baptist Church here and a member of the Ozona Masonic Lodge.

Survivors include his wife; a son, Charles E. Barker of Midland; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivy E. Barker of Hagerman, N.M.; and two sisters, Mrs. Joe Harrell of Hagerman and Mrs. Paul Boggs of Vista, Calif.

THE HIGHEST FFA AWARDS went to this trio at the annual awards banquet held at the Civic Center Thursday evening. Star Greenhand Award went to Donny Searcy, L., the coveted DeKalb Award went to Will M. Black, center, and Mike Couch was awarded the Star Chapter Farmer Award. The three awards are given annually and are the highest achievement for FFA members.

C/F cake auction is Saturday

Mrs. Jim Bob Bailey and the Ozona Womens League have accepted the chairmanship of the 1981 Cystic Fibrosis Spring Cake Auction to be held in Ozona, Saturday, May 23, at 10:00 a.m. over KRCT radio.

All proceeds from the fund-raising event will support the research, education and care programs of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Cystic Fibrosis (CF), the number one genetic killer of children, is an inherited, incurable disease affecting the lungs and digestive system of its young victims. CF claims three lives every day.

Approximately one in every 20 Americans is a symptomless carrier of the recessive CF gene. At present there is no test to identify these 10 million people who might pass on the gene or the disease to their children.

So please, on Saturday, May 23, support your local chapter of Cystic Fibrosis, by calling in your pledges to KRCT, phone 392-3613.

FFA Chapter holds its annual awards banquet

The Ozona FFA Chapter held its annual awards banquet Thursday evening at the Civic Center.

The meal was prepared by chapter members and featured a variety of pork. The senior FFA members fed and butchered a hog donated to the chapter by Tom Cameron and prepared the meat for the banquet.

Guest speaker for the banquet was John Royland from Brenham, who is current State FFA president.

Outstanding student awards for the year went to Donny Searcy, who received the Star Greenhand award, given annually to the outstanding first-year student; Will M. Black received the Dekalb award for outstanding senior and Mike Couch received the Star Chapter Farmer Award for outstanding chapter member.

Merit awards for meat judging went to Mike Couch, Curt McPherson and Cindy Reavis. The team did well in contests this year, placing third overall at the Sul Ross judging contest and placing second in District competition at Texas Tech. Mike Couch was second high individual in the Sul Ross Contest.

Receiving awards for grass and range judging were Donny Searcy, Dona Lilly, Peggy Skains, Dee Breeden, Capp Covington, Joe Vandiver and Bo Aycock. They placed fourth in District.

Both the senior and junior chapter conducting teams placed third in the District Leadership contest. FFA students receiving awards for participation on these teams were Mike Couch, Jack Thompson, Will Mason, Cindy Reavis, Cindy Lee and Bo Aycock, senior chapter; and Curt McPherson, Capp Covington, Arnold Rios, Joe Vandiver, Rowdy Holmsley and Donny Searcy for junior chapter conducting.

Other awards included Excellence in Beef Production, Louis Bunger; Sheep Production, Will M. Black; Swine Production, Gary Adcock, and Diversified Livestock Production, Mike Couch.

The ineffective use of different aerosol chemicals, whistles, horns and etc. was demonstrated.

The Friday night session was concluded with a weapon inspection, weapon-safety orientation and an introduction to the Modern Method of Pistolcraft.

The Saturday session began with a review of the Modern Method of Pistol Craft. Upon successful completion of the basic weapon drills, the women were then subjected to various quick close range situations.

The Modern Method of Pistolcraft has proven to be the ultimate method currently known in the field of Pistolcraft developed by Jeff Cooper and Ray Chapman. The success of this method speaks for itself as many police, government, and military organizations have adopted it.

The course was presented by Bill Price, Staff Instructor for The American Pistol Institute, Prescott, Arizona, and John Aguiar, an active participant in practical handgun matches in the West Texas area.

TABS test scores received here

Results of the Texas Assessment of Basic Skills tests given to students in grades 3, 5, and 9, have been received by Superintendent Foy Moody. The tests were given locally in February. Individual scores will be mailed to parents and overall results will be made public after they are presented to the school board during the June meeting.

Ozona students were among approximately 750,000 Texas students taking the tests. The tests were designed to assess math, reading and writing skills which the Texas Education Agency deemed appropriate for the grade level tested. Last year the tests were given to fifth and ninth graders. The third grade level was given for the first time this year.

Each student's individual results will be attached to his report card Friday for the parent's assessment. Parents are urged to discuss the confidential student report with their children and identify areas where more study is needed to improve. The school district will also identify problem areas and work toward developing exercises that will provide remedial work.

Parents having any questions concerning interpretation of their child's report, may call their building principal or counselor.

The tests were given last year for the first time and the results created controversy all over the state among educators, legislators and laymen. Overall results of the tests in Ozona last year indicated Ozona students were doing as well or better than students in other parts of the state with the basic skills, but improvement in these areas was indicated here as well as in the rest of the state.

Sonora man badly burned

A Sonora man was critically burned and two others suffered less severe burns Monday afternoon in a fire at a location on the Armond Hoover ranch 41 miles southwest of Ozona.

The men, employees of Grider Trucking Co. of Sonora, were moving an oil rig when the accident occurred. They were unloading a 3,000-gallon LPG tank when the valve on the tank broke.

The truck driver, Jesse Gomez, 20, tried to drive the truck away from the leading tank and got about 51 feet from it when the cloud of gas caught up with the truck and it ignited. Gomez suffered second and third degree burns on 80% of his body.

The other men, also from Sonora, were John Brown, who suffered second degree burns on the face and chest, and Jesse Aguilar who was less severely burned.

The three men were met by two Crockett County ambulances as they were being brought to town. They were transferred and taken to the Crockett County Hospital.

Gomez was airlifted by ambulance plane Monday night to Parkland Hospital in Dallas where he was in critical condition.

Both Brown and Aguilar were in stable condition Tuesday morning in Crockett County Hospital.

The tank had emptied by the time the fire department arrived on the scene, but firemen extinguished the truck fire, a fire in an air compressor, and cooled the area before returning to the station.

Warrens receive degrees

Gary Wayne Warren and Nancy Jane Womack Warren received degrees during exercises May 10 at Tarleton State University in Stephenville. It was the largest graduating class since TSU awarded its first baccalaureate degrees as a four-year institution in 1963.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren received bachelor's degrees with honors.

Kaye Thompson outstanding

Kaye Thompson, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, and the state champion in the girls 1600-meter run, is not only an outstanding athlete, she is an outstanding scholar as well, ranking third in her graduating class.

Kaye's victory at the state meet was a first for an Ozona girl, and only the second time an Ozona athlete has won a state event.

Kaye has been active in academic events as well as sports during her four years in Ozona High School. She has also been a favorite with her classmates. She was elected Miss OHS this year by vote of the student body and is one of the best citizen nominees, chosen by her teachers.

Kaye lettered four years in basketball, three years on the varsity. She made the all-district basketball team three years. She lettered four years in track, qualifying for regional all four years and for state two years.

She was a member of the Ozona High School Band, football duchess her junior year and chosen queen her senior year. She was chosen basketball sweetheart, and track queen.

She participated in UIL debate, and two years in the one-act play, receiving honorable mention as best actress her sophomore year. She served as senior class treasurer this year.

Kaye plans a college career and has shown the most interest in Abilene Christian University. However, her future plans are not definite.

STATE MEDAL WINNER Kaye Thompson poses with her numerous trophies won during her high school years in sports activities. Above the trophy case is Kaye's framed first place medal for winning first in State in the 1600-meter run. Kaye is a senior and will graduate third in her class Friday evening.

167 persons attend Health fair

A total of 167 people attended this year's Health Fair. Local Emergency Health Technicians checked 118 blood pressures with 6 reported as slightly high. The public health nurses checked 132 for anemia with 10 reported low. A total of 74 people were checked for diabetes. The diabetes results are not complete at this time.

People who need to be rechecked will be contacted by Public Health Nurses.

An immunization clinic will be conducted Tuesday, June 2, from 10:00 - 3:00 p.m. at the Civic Center.

"WASTE AND FRAUD" ARE VERY REAL

By Edwin Feulner

Politicians — especially conservative politicians — are always attacking that great bugbear of the taxpayer, "waste-and-fraud-in-government."

Well, sit down and take a deep breath, because the documentation has arrived. It's a study by the U.S. Merit Systems Protection Board — indicating not only that waste and fraud are widespread in Washington, but that most government employees ignore it as routine.

Nearly half of the 8,600 federal employees who responded to the survey claimed to "have personally observed or obtained direct evidence of a wasteful or illegal activity within the last year."

Although the survey respondents were quite frank in their assessment of chicanery in their agencies, they admit that they have not been so candid in reporting illegal activities to their superiors.

Meier garnered only six votes for his amendment, and Jones went on to pass the bill by a vote of 27-3. The House already has passed its version of the Appropriations Bill, which calls for a two-year budget of $26.55 billion.

When employees who had "blown the whistle" on abuses were asked what effect their reporting had, more than 40 percent said nothing was done.

Had enough? So has the new administration. President Reagan reacted to the release of the MSPB study immediately. "I want every member of this administration — from those in the Cabinet, to the sub-Cabinet, to federal employees beginning their careers today — to understand that we will not tolerate fraud, waste and abuse of the taxpayers' dollars," the President said.

These steps will help — but the real effort must take place within the agencies. If employees wish to cover-up abuses, no new bureaucracy can pry information out of them. Managers at every level of the bureaucracy, whether career or political appointees, must make it clear that they welcome frank reports from their employees — and that the battle against waste and fraud is a major component in the war on excessive federal spending.

(Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institute.)

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — It took only two hours of debate last week for the Senate to vote out its version of the 1982-83 Appropriations Bill—which at $26.6 billion is some $191 million over current estimates of the revenue that will be available for the biennium.

Senators approved the bill as it was recommended by the Senate Finance Committee after Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, succeeded in defeating an amendment by Sen. Bill Meier, D-Eulesis, to make a 5 percent across-the-board cut in the proposal.

Meier's amendment, which would have affected all areas of the budget except highway funds, the Foundation School Program and funds appropriated as matching funds for federal grants, would have resulted in a $484 million reduction in the proposed budget total.

Jones, chairman of the Finance Committee, said he "takes a dim view" of any across-the-board cuts, which he said could harm programs that have no excess funds to trim.

Meier garnered only six votes for his amendment, and Jones went on to pass the bill by a vote of 27-3.

The House already has passed its version of the Appropriations Bill, which calls for a two-year budget of $26.55 billion. The measure will now go to a House-Senate conference committee to iron out the differences and trim the total to comply with the "pay-as-you-go" provisions of the Texas Constitution.

Bilingual Bill

Proponents of bilingual education moved a step closer to gaining a comprehensive system when the Senate Education Committee gave a favorable recommendation to a bill that would mandate such a program through elementary school and provide $18 million for its implementation.

Senate Bill 477, sponsored by Corpus Christi Sen. Carlos Truan, would ensure that students with limited English proficiency would have an opportunity for bilingual education from kindergarten through the sixth grade.

The much-debated and much-amended legislation would provide $150 per student in state funds for local districts to administer the program. Those funds would be in addition to $4.65 million already contained in the Senate's Appropriation Bill.

However, the bill still has a rough road ahead to gain approval of both houses. Sen. Truan said he would soon begin polling Senate members to determine if he has enough support to get the bill brought up on the Senate floor.

Gasohol Advances Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, also moved forward with his legislation to provide a tax break on gasohol.

Kubiak's bill would exempt gasohol from the nickel-per-gallon state gasoline tax for five years from Sept. 1, 1987. After that date, the tax would be phased back in at a penny per year until fully restored on Jan. 1, 1991.

Kubiak, who has been preaching the virtues of gasohol for the last two sessions, says the measure is essential to establish a profitable market for manufacturing fuel and industrial alcohol in Texas.

Several other bills affecting the use or production of gasohol, including a bill giving the Agriculture Department regulatory control over fuel alcohol manufacturing equipment, are working their way through the legislative process.

Redfish Battle

The Senate last week passed a slightly watered-down version of the infamous redfish bill.

Senators accepted an amendment by Sen. Bob Vale of San Antonio to limit the ban on commercial fishing for redfish and speckled trout to two years.

An amendment by Sen. Walter Mengden of Houston to make the ban apply to sport fishermen as well as commercial fishermen failed by a 27-7 vote.

A similar bill passed by the House last month places no time limit on the fishing ban. The bill now goes back to the House for action on Senate changes.

If the bill reaches Gov. Bill Clements, who favors the bill, the moratorium would go into effect in September 1981.

The measure—which has become one of the most emotional pieces of legislation this session—is opposed by commercial fishermen and restaurateurs. Both groups say passage of the bill would endanger their livelihood.

Redistricting

Redistricting efforts plodded forward in both houses with the Senate releasing its plans for senatorial and congressional districts and the House unveiling its proposal for new congressional seats.

Under one Senate plan, at least one senator, Walter "Mad Dog" Mengden of Houston, would be drawn out of his district. Mengden, who didn't seem too worried, said he'll move to Katy, if necessary, to keep his seat.

U.S. Rep. Bill Patman wasn't as pleased with the House proposal for his 14th Congressional District, which doesn't include Patman's hometown, Ganado. Patman favors the Senate plan, which wouldn't cut him out of his seat.

Senators will hold a hearing on their plans Saturday, with a vote expected in the Senate next week.

Direct Deposit

The Texas Senate has approved a bill that will allow state workers to deposit their paychecks by electronic transfer.

A different version of the bill has already been approved by the House. The Senate bill now goes back to the House for its consideration.

Comptroller Bob Bullock, who has supported the direct-deposit method for a long time, said the commercial application of funds transfer would result in a large savings to the state in reduced paperwork.

Student-Regent Bill

The Texas House has given final approval to a bill giving one student a seat—but not a vote—on the University of Texas System Board of Regents.

The student regent will serve a two year term and no one campus will be allowed to have consecutive regents.

The bill, sent to the Senate on a voice vote, gives regents the authority to exclude the students from considerations involving land acquisitions or investments, but would allow the student regent to sit in on personnel considerations.

Short Snorts

The Public Utility Commission has been asked to fine General Telephone Co. for poor service rather than granting a rate increase.

Comptroller Bob Bullock reports gross sales in Texas hit $89.6 billion in the last quarter of 1980.

U.S. Senator Ted Kennedy will co-sponsor a Washington fundraiser to help retire former Texas Rep. Bob Eckhardt's campaign debt.

Atty. Gen. Mark White has ruled that documents relating to the resignation of a University of Texas at Dallas employee are public records.

In other recent opinions, White concluded: The general appropriations bill doesn't prevent state agency newsletters from publishing "neutral, factual reports" on how lawmakers vote.

Counties can't make capital contributions to a non-profit corporation training the handicapped.

A GOSSIP IS SOMEONE WITH A KEEN SENSE OF RUMOR. L-B Motor Co.

you and the LAW PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: My wife died suddenly. We had some property which we had accumulated during our marriage, but I noticed recently that the deed does not contain my name, only hers. Is there a way I can have this deed transferred to my name?

A: There is really no need to "transfer" the deed. If your wife's will leaves you her estate, the executor will transfer the property from her estate.

If your wife died without a will, or if you have not offered the will for probate, you should hire an attorney to assist you in settling the estate and establishing title.

Q: My parents gave the County an acre of land over thirty years ago for the express written purpose of making it into a park. As of this date, the land has not been touched. My father wanted to get the land back, but before he could get the necessary papers and information together, he died. Can the heirs to his estate get the land back, and what would be involved?

A: Yes, your father's heirs can get the land back if your father had that right at the time he died. The deed must be carefully reviewed as to whether a "reversionary interest" exists. If the deed was properly prepared and worded, the County may deed it back when the provision in the deed is explained. Otherwise, a lawsuit will be required to regain possession of the land.

Q: I want to give my married daughter some of our land. Will the land become community property since she is married, or can this be considered her own separate property?

A: The Texas Constitution defines separate property to include a gift received during marriage, so the land will be regarded as belonging to your daughter. Give the deed to her using the words

"as her sole and separate property," and advise her to maintain the land from her separate funds. Evidence that the land was a gift plus careful bookkeeping will maintain the land's character as separate.

Q: If an atheist is summoned to testify in court, is his testimony considered valid? Also, can the court make him take the oath? For that matter, does an atheist really have to show up in court at all?

A: An atheist may be required to testify in court, and his testimony may be considered by the jury or court in the same way as the testimony of any other witness. The difference is that an atheist may not be required to take a religious oath before testifying. He will, however, be required to take an oath or affirmation that is most binding on his own conscience. Adherence to a particular religious or ethical code does not excuse a witness from answering a subpoena. Failure to appear and testify may result in arrest, fine and jail for contempt.

Q: My neighbor grows hedge and honeysuckle on his side of our common fence. I planted running roses which I can't even see because of his hedge and vines. The fence belongs to me, but I don't want to cause hard feelings. What is the law on this problem?

A: If your neighbor's activities interfere with the condition of your property, or with your use of the property, it may be shown that he has created a private nuisance. You could bring suit under this theory. The case would focus on the extent and duration of his interference with use of your property.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P.O. Box 12487, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms; personal answers not possible.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

May has been the month to enjoy the most popular of all flowering plants, the rose. Along with the lovely bush roses, the many varieties of climbers, especially the red bloomers, have been spectacular all over our city.

If yearly bloomers, they should be pruned after finishing blooming, cutting out old dead stems. Those that bloom more than once, the dead and old stems should be removed. On the bush roses, trim off all old blooms back to the second 5-leaf group from the old blooms where new growth for blooms will form. Oleanders are beginning to bloom this month and produce beautiful clusters of flowers both double and single. They are available in a color range from white to shades of yellow, pink, salmon or red. Some are fragrant. The compact foliage makes a fine shrub for specimen planting. The ability of oleanders to tolerate poor, dry soil conditions makes them a good choice for natural hedges and wind breaks. Growth is moderate to fast with most varieties reaching a height of 8 to 12 feet. Be sure to get the hardy plant that won't freeze. All parts of the oleanders are poisonous. Keep pruned twigs and leaves away from animal feed and never use a branch as a skewer. Also, do not use its wood for fires; the smoke can cause severe irritation. Needless to say it may not be wise to grow them where there are small children.

Mrs. Berry gave a paper on "These Flowers can take the Heat" last week at the Garden Club. Some have asked for the list that does well here.

Extremely Heat Resistant Flowers-Amaranthus (Joseph's Coat), Canna-creeping zinnia, Four O'clock, Periwinkle, Gloriosa Daily, Ornamental Pepper, Sunflower-zinnias.

Heat Resistant Flowers-Marigolds, Statice, Cockscomb, Cosmos, Gaillardia, Geranium, Petunia, Portulaca, Salvia, Verbena, Zinnia.

Heat Resistant if Lightly Shaded-Begonia (fibrous rooted), Coleus, Impatiens, Browallia and Lobelia.

Flowers classed as extremely heat resistant. When planted in the spring, will bloom all summer in the Southwest.

The National Garden Bureau has taken notes on the heat resistance of flowers and offers the above list of proven performers.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE

Mrs. Hilery Phillips and Mrs. J. J. Marley won high at Duplicate Bridge Club play Saturday at the Country Club. In a tie for second were Mrs. J. B. Parker and Evert White, and Mrs. Sidney Millsbaugh and Mrs. Evert White.

In play Sunday, Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Sherman Taylor won high and Mrs. Robert Cox and Mrs. Tom Montgomery were second.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED-Mr. and Mrs. Nato Tambunga Sr. announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Vicky to Rojelio Longoria, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Longoria Jr. The wedding will take place on June 27, at O.L.P.H. Catholic Church. Vicky is a graduate of Ozona High School and is employed with ARCO Oil & Gas Co. Rojelio is a graduate of Ozona High and T.S.T.L. in Waco. He is presently employed at Thornton's Thriftway.

Scientific "jargon" can sound like Greek - even when it describes a new $1,500-price-tag way of cooking, induction cooking.

Here's how science views the innovation:

An alternating magnetic field will induce an alternating current in an adjacent conductor in an opposing or opposite direction of flow.

In other words, the heat goes directly into the pot or pan containing the food. Industry has used this physical principle for more than 50 years to heat-treat and melt metals. It's fast, efficient and controllable.

Today's induction cooking surfaces use the same principle.

How does this differ from conventional cooking methods? The way heat is produced.

What are the advantages over conventional cooking?

A smooth, cool-top cooking surface and its resulting high level of safety from burns to the chef are two advantages. Also, significant energy savings, according to the makers of induction ranges. They say induction cooking uses considerably less energy than an electric range, a ceramic smooth-top range or a gas range. Other benefits include easy-care, since spills won't stick or burn on the surface, and cooler kitchens because most heat goes into the pots and pans. Also, there is less burning of food since the heat distribution is uniform. In addition, induction cooking requires no "new" techniques to learn for cooking. You cook food as you always have.

What's the cost? About $1,500 to $2,000 for just the induction unit itself - a complete range would cost even more. What are the disadvantages? Possibly the fact that you must use pots and pans with high electrical resistance - and these are utensils made of steel, stainless steel and cast iron.

Another factor to consider is the so-far lack of research on induction cooking. As of now, there is a lack of information on units currently available, and there is a lack of independent test results on energy usage. Also, at this time, there is a lack of available service for these units.

Pinch yourself, and you'll know what it's like to give blood. If you haven't done so before, give blood. It feels good to save a life.

One kind of furniture that seems to be getting more attention these days is furniture on wheels.

Actually, small wheels, or casters, on furniture are nothing new-- but what is new is their more widespread use and acceptance, and the fact that they've taken on a new look. They are now sufficiently attractive to be seen and not hidden, and they have become part of the furniture design.

Previously, casters attached to the legs of a chair were hidden by a skirt or valancing because of their appearance; but, now with good-looking design, they can actually enhance the appearance of furniture.

Aside from the fact that chairs, tables, sofas, buffets and other pieces of furniture find more uses in more places when they're on wheels, there's also the very practical purpose of making it much easier to move these pieces when cleaning.

The advantages of having a server on wheels are obvious, but take, for example, a table. With wheels it could be used in the living room as an all-purpose portable table that could be moved as needed, and in the bedroom as a sewing or typewriter table.

For furniture, with or without wheels, or for anything else for your home, visit us for fine quality, selection and value at Brown Furniture.

And now, TOMORROW

The cap... the diploma... symbols of achievement. They mark the end of one way of life and imply the beginning of another.

But ten years from now, where will this diploma be and what will it mean? Will it be packed away in an attic trunk... framed on the wall of a room or office? Will it have been thrown out by accident or cast into a seldom-noticed corner? And what of the hopes and dreams that go with it? What will have happened to them?

Who knows? There is no set answer to life, no single solution to all its problems. Nor can anyone live life alone. Whether your diploma is still crisp or has gotten dusty... whether your dreams are still bright or have become slightly tarnished... forget about personal ambition as the sole answer to everything. Think of your own immortal soul. Talk to God about it, through prayer and regular weekly worship.

Exercises Friday in Lion Stadium—

42 Ozona High School seniors to graduate

Commencement exercises for 42 Ozona High School seniors will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock in Lion Stadium. Baccalaureate services were held Sunday in the high school auditorium for the graduates.

The commencement program will feature the highest ranking students in the class with "Pomp and Circumstance," by Elgar for the processional and recessional played by Wendy Hood.

The invocation will be given by Connie Trujillo, fifth ranking student in the class with a four year average of 94.03. She is the daughter of Felix Trujillo and Evelyn Huereca.

The welcome address, given traditionally by the class salutatorian, will be given by Gary Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Smith, second ranking student with 94.85 for his four year average.

Kaye Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, and third ranking student with a four-year average of 94.50, will follow the welcome with an address entitled "A Time for Us." Band director Kelly Glaze will direct the senior chorus in "Ice Castles."

Molly Womack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Womack, who ranks fourth in the class with an average of 94.47, will speak on "Togetherness."

The valedictory address will be given by Kim Sinclair, the class valedictorian and the only magna cum laude graduate, with an average of 95.18. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.H. Sinclair.

Various awards will be presented by high school principal Jim Payne. These include merit awards, scholarships, and the best citizen award which has been given each year for many years by the Ozona Woman's Forum. The nominees for the award are Lori Clayton, Frank Galvan, Veronica Guerra, Aileen Lopez, Johnny Rodriguez, Kim Sinclair, Gary Smith, Kaye Thompson, Richard Wallace, Molly Womack and Rose Mary Ybarra.

Superintendent Foy Moody will present the class, and Joe Bean president of the school board will make the presentation of diplomas. Jesse Moreno, sixth-ranking student and son of Jesse Moreno and Susie Moreno, will give the benediction. His average is 92.95.

The other four honor students are Lisa Hohertz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hohertz; Kendalia Kramer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kramer; Heriberto Gutierrez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Gutierrez, and Melinda Hokit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hokit.

Classes will dismiss for the summer at all schools Thursday afternoon. Students will pick up report cards at all schools at 9:00 a.m. Friday, which is an in-service day for teachers.

Buses will not run Friday, so report cards will be mailed to all bus students who are unable to pick them up. Also, anyone who wishes to have cards mailed, may leave a self-addressed, stamped envelope at their school office and their report will be mailed.

Promotion exercises for 76 eighth graders will be held Thursday at 1:00 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

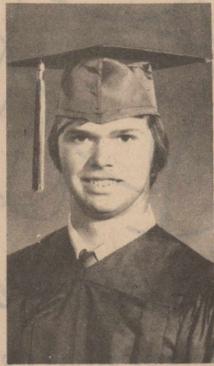

Other members of the graduating class are Tammy Adams, Gary Adcock, Will M. Black, Louis Bunger, Catalina Cedillo, Lori Clayton, Danny Crawford, Aldo Delgado, Griselda C. Elizondo, Alfred Enriquez, Sylvia Fierro, Francisco Galvan, Veronica Guerra, Les Hale, Scott Hensley, Salomon Hernandez, Albert Longoria, Ruth Longoria, Aileen Lopez, David Lott and Luis Lumberras.

Lost your memory? Get it back

Feeling you aren't quite as "sharp" lately? "Ah, just getting older," you say? Millions of people think failing memory and aging are like the proverbial horse and carriage - "Can't have one without the other."

Not true, says Judith L. Warren, a family life education specialist - aging.

Here are some factors that really do affect memory: Job satisfaction Disappointments of all types Family stresses Security Forgetting actually is a symptom of something else, Ms. Warren says.

Many people over age 50 begin experiencing losses in their world - some real, some imagined.

Failing memory often is a symptom of the person's feelings about these other losses, she says.

Once something, even a name, slips his mind, then his anxiety about "all the losses lately" starts to grow, and this does affect mental alertness.

"I'm getting senile" may be said jokingly, but this label is very disturbing to any older adult, the specialist emphasizes. Ms. Warren is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Actually, senility has nothing to do with normal aging. It is simply a word - perhaps the most dreaded for the aging person, and it is a word used for many, many conditions with an equally large number of causes, Ms. Warren stresses.

Many of these conditions respond to treatment, she points out. Furthermore, the vast majority of people who experience a failing memory have a correctable problem. Basically, everyone has the "Same old" brain they had all of their adult life, Ms. Warren says.

Even though scientists do think the brain starts to lose cells after a person reaches their 20's, recent research suggests the brain doesn't really change very much with age, if there is a stimulating environment. There is a seemingly slight "slowdown" in the brain's working capacity, however, the specialist explains.

"Think of it this way: it takes more time to process 60 years of information, for example, than it does to process 20 years of it," Ms. Warren says. "Still, while it may take more time, the quality - or end result - is not decreased," she adds.

If you think you're becoming "forgetful" or feel you are losing your mental edge, take a close look at your life, the specialist advises. Maybe it's time to say "no" to being on the sixth committee or that extra project. Maybe just the simple realization that disappointment personal or professional happens to all of us will help," Ms. Warren stresses. If that doesn't help, and your loss of memory continues, check with a doctor who does not dismiss complaints as "just old age," she says.

Ask about the following treatable disorders: High Blood Pressure - this may be controlled by diet, exercise or drugs.

Vitamin Deficiencies - ask about B-vitamins, in particular. Vitamin deficiencies often can be corrected by diet, or if that isn't possible, the doctor may prescribe vitamin supplements.

Metabolic Disorders - such as low thyroid. Tests can indicate these.

High Blood-Cholesterol Levels - these may be corrected through diet.

Drug-Induced Memory Loss - large doses of tranquilizers, sedatives and sleeping pills can cause memory loss. This may be corrected through reduced drug intake.

Depression - this may be treated with counseling and medication.

Chronic Infection of Brain Tissue - this is often treatable.

While you can't always foresee disappointments or family problems, you can be more realistic about what stresses are affecting your life, Ms. Warren says.

Change what you can and try to cope with the rest, she says.

"Be pro-active - try not to let potential problems build up, whether they're at the job or in a personal relationship.

"Beat the problem before it beats you into a depression," Ms. Warren adds. "Keeping the mind and body active is one of the best ways to avoid problems associated with a brain disorder.

"Develop new interests, hobbies or careers.

"Become involved in community or neighborhood activities.

"Keep physically fit and eat properly.

"While the memory is a remarkable storage system, it must be used - to keep the files from getting rusty."

When is tanning sensible?

Tanning is a "national pastime," but when is it "sun sensible?" and is it dangerous?

A tan can perk up looks and make a person appear healthier, but it can be overdone, too says Mary Ann Shirer, a health education specialist.

There is increasing evidence that overdoing tanning causes skin cancer, and it is a fact that it dries out the skin.

Of course, sure and painful signs of too much sun are burned or peeling skin. And even if you don't have skin that burns easily, too much sun can be damaging without you knowing it at the time, the specialist says.

Dr. Shirer is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Here is her advice for practicing "Sun sense:"

When starting a tan, avoid the sun between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. when the sun's rays are strongest.

Always apply some type of sunblock or sunscreen before playing any sport in the sun. Remember, when you're having fun, it's easy to forget how strong the sun is.

Use a product with higher "sun protective factor" (SPF) on sensitive areas such as backs of knees, tips of ears, tops of hands and feet and the bridge of your nose.

Keep lips protected with an effective lip balm.

Remember, you can tan or burn even under a beach umbrella, so "watch" those rays!

Crockett County Care Center News

By Mary Wilton-Director of Activities & Social Care

Bernarda Aguirre was honored Monday with a party celebrating her 80th birthday. Hostesses for the event were Velma Marley and Jonesy Williams. A beautifully decorated cake, donated by Polly Eppler, was served along with some punch, to all the residents and friends that had gathered in the lobby.

Sherry Scott, history teacher at the Jr. High School, brought four of her students by Monday afternoon to present the Care Center with a quilt they had made. These girls worked hard on this and did a very nice job. The quilt was used as their project for Texas Days at school and after they received their grade they wanted to donate it to the residents here. It was a very sweet thought and we appreciate it.

Tuesday was such a beautiful day, we held our exercise class outside on the front porch. Earlier in the morning I noticed several of the residents sitting out in the warm sunshine visiting. This is really a pleasant place to sit on these nice warm days. We all enjoyed getting out doors and watching some cute little kittens that were playing on the front lawn. We also keep two hummingbird feeders full and enjoy watching these busy little birds.

This week in dominoes there was a tie between Evelyn Bryant and Paul Cavin. Also playing were Louise McWilliams and Maude Pettit.

Our volunteer of the week is Hazel Storms. Hazel has lived in Ozona for five years and has worked as a volunteer for the past two years. Come rain or shine she is here every Thursday morning to set hair. Not only does she give a beautiful set she also gives some very nice hair cuts. As time allows she gives manicures. Hazel has an outstanding personality and everyone loves her. Thanks Hazel for being the caring person you are and for giving your time each week to help brighten the lives of all of us.

Bernarda Aguirre won the five dollar gift certificate, donated by the Teachers Store, for winning the most games of bingo this week. Virginia Russell was the winner of some very pretty beads as second prize.

Our volunteers this week were Georgia Kirby, Dorothy Doll, Annabell Patrick, Alice Ross, Doris Karr, Ruth Dor-

Daydreams can create future

Daydreams can create your future, a family life education specialist says.

And they can create a quiet resting "place" for a short time during the day, so they're useful for two reasons, Dr. Betty Jo Smith adds.

Admitting she's not advocating "dreaming one's life away" as most people were cautioned against during childhood, the specialist contends that daydreams have a definite place in life when used to an individual's advantage.

Daydreams have a real bearing on the future when a person does a little imagining about it, Dr. Smith says.

For example, daydreaming about upcoming events can provide an individual with the opportunity to imagine the event from a variety of perspectives.

He or she can actually create various scenarios of the event and imagine playing a variety of roles.

Is this healthy? Yes, indeed, the specialist says. In fact, people who tend to daydream about upcoming events and those who imagine themselves in various roles tend to be better prepared and, therefore, more successful in dealing with the event.

Daydreaming about future events also may give the individual a chance to assess the event in more realistic terms.

And since people become, or do, what they think they will-be it "good" or "bad"-daydreaming may help a person perceive the future more realistically and, perhaps, in a more positive manner, Dr. Smith explains.

By having considered all of one's alternative behaviors, an individual can choose what he or she feels is the most appropriate and advantageous behavior, she adds.

This tends to build a person's feelings of self-confidence, and, hence, individuals tend to perform better, the specialist says.

Daydreaming can provide a second useful tool for people's lives as a stress reducer, Dr. Smith says.

That is, if they are short, particularly relaxing daydreams the individual enjoys, they can help.

If that is the case, it may be worth the time to take a few minutes during the day to become fully engrossed in a relaxing daydream, the specialist advises.

People who use this relaxation technique often daydream about being near cool mountain streams or sitting at the kitchen window watching a soft, quiet rain or soaking up the sun and watching the waves roll in along the Gulf, she says.

Whatever or wherever a favorite relaxing "place" might be, daydreams can take a person there in a moment and provide a few minutes of rest in that favorite "place," the specialist says.

So, even though we continue to caution children against "living in a dream world" or "dreaming their lives away," daydreams-in short periods of time-can be a most useful tool for an individual's health and well-being, Dr. Smith adds.

PRACTICE COMMON SENSE WITH THE SUN

Skin cancer, a type of cancer found most frequently in the Sunbelt, also is the cancer that is easiest to cure.

How can you protect yourself against skin cancer? "Wear adequate clothing if you are exposed to excessive amounts of sunlight. A good sun screen lotion is a must if you sunbathe," says Dr. Guy R. Newell, director of cancer prevention programs at The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute. "If you work with chemical irritants, make sure you follow prescribed safety precautions."

Dr. Newell also says, "See a physician about removing any questionable skin areas, such as moles, if they are subjected to repeated irritation or injuries. Changes in a mole, wart or sore should be reported immediately to your doctor."

Focus fairs & events on the customer

To be effective in planning community festivals, fairs and similar events, focus on the customer, emphasized Dr. John Crompton at a recent conference for community planners at Texas A&M University.

"Find out what the people want," said Crompton, an associate professor with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas A&M's Department of Recreation and Parks. "It's not what you want that's important but what your customer wants."

"You need to sell the benefits of your product, not the product itself," he noted. Crompton suggested segmenting the product or event to satisfy different client groups, such as youth, senior citizens and those of various nationalities. Various activities and events can also be planned based on socio-demographic, behavioral and geographic differences.

"As far as promoting an event is concerned, the best promotional tool is for people to see the actual site," said Crompton. "Put your fair where most people will see it, where the most traffic is. This is the best, cheapest promotional tool you've got."

Crompton also noted the importance of adding a new dimension to your product (fair) each year and to build your promotion around it.

Arthritics need to pace themselves

Rheumatoid arthritis, the most serious form of arthritis, is a pain!

Over five million Americans have it. Two-thirds of them are women. Not only does rheumatoid arthritis hurt, but it hurts at the worst possible time of life. Its victims are usually between the ages of 20 and 40. It is during this age span that most of us are trying to establish both families and careers.

Currently there is no known cure for arthritis, says the Texas Medical Association, although the disease can be controlled by proper medication, diet and exercise.

It is an unpredictable disease. One day it seems to have gone away completely for no reason only to reappear in full force perhaps a day, perhaps a month or more later. It affects not only the joints, but the entire body as well. Fatigue is one of its most annoying symptoms.

How do you cope with widely varying energy levels at the very time of life when you feel like you need all the energy in the world and then some?

One answer is pacing. Pacing is a way to deal with changing levels of energy without becoming a yo-yo.

Prevent yourself from going from spurts of frenzied activity to a bed-ridden state because you're burned out. Plan your day to allow for periods of rest, whether at home or at work, says TMA.

Set aside a few minutes each hour to stretch or meditate or just to put your feet up and relax. If you're having trouble with one particular joint, try to rest it. Vary your activities so that you don't exhaust any one part of your body. If you become even the slightest bit fatigued, take a short break. If at all possible, try to take a couple of quick naps throughout the day.

Most importantly, stop whatever you are doing before you become tired, even if it means not finishing something right then and there. You can go back and do a better job later, when you are more rested. If you wait until you are exhausted it may be too late. You may have already pushed yourself too far and provoked a flare-up. This can mean being totally out of commission for a few days or more.

Listen to your body. Pain and fatigue are symptoms that should be taken seriously. Although it may seem at first that you are "going off" by paying attention to your body's warning signals, you will actually wind up being more productive. You will be able to work steadily and not in fits and starts.

Remember that you are living and working for the long distance, not the short sprint.

your filter can get dirty, clogged, waste energy...
but a clean filter saves energy, money.

The purpose of a filter on your air conditioning or heating air blower is to help catch dust and dirt before it can enter your unit. In time, the filter will accumulate dust and dirt... if it gets clogged, it can't do the cleaning job it's supposed to and uses more electricity. To avoid damage to your unit and to save energy and money, be sure filters are clean. Permanent types can be cleaned according to the manufacturer's instruction. Non-permanent types should be replaced. It is wise to check filters every 30 days.

Night-flying moths are nuisance

Night-flying moths, primarily cutworm moths, often become a nuisance to homeowners in the spring time of the year in Far West Texas. This is especially true for homes located in rural areas or near populated areas. The moths are attracted to light and are sometimes referred to as "candle-moths."

Control of night-flying moths attracted to light is a very difficult matter, and is not accomplished by following a simple set of rules. However a number of steps can be taken and any one of the steps, alone or in combination with others, may provide relief under favorable conditions.

Step 1, reduce the attraction of the site; Step 2, intercept the moths before they reach the site; Step 3, exclude the moths from the house; Step 4, destroy the moths which gain entrance into the house.

Reduce attraction of house or buildings through proper light management. This step often provides substantial relief. Indirect lighting should be used where practical so that the source of light is shielded from the areas from which the moths may come. Light fixtures inside buildings should be placed so that moths outside cannot see the lamp itself.

There is little evidence that any light is repellent to insects, but yellow is the least attractive to most insects.

During periods of heavy moth flights, outside lighting should be maintained at a minimum level.

Interception of insects before they become a nuisance has some possibilities for success. Placement of insect light traps at least 100 feet away from house or building will aid on attraction and capture of moths.

Exclusion of insects from houses or buildings involves proper screening of windows and doors. Screens should fit tightly. Air vents and ventilating ducts also require screening.

Some degree of control can be obtained with sprays of household insecticides applied to places where the moths collect and rest outside, such as door frames, window sills, carports, porches and garages. Since the moths do not feed on anything where they are resting and they are protected by a heavy coating of scales, sprays will not provide any immediate or spectacular results. Ready-to-use household spray formulations of Diazinon and Baygon may be applied to resting sites and cracks and crevices where the moths may enter buildings. Follow label instructions for "nuisance pest" control on applying the sprays. Adding a commercial wetting agent or a teaspoon of liquid detergent per gallon of mixed spray will increase the effectiveness of the spray.

Destruction of moths inside the house or building is often accomplished best with the use of a vacuum cleaner. A household pyrethrin aerosol spray will provide control of moths inside a room.

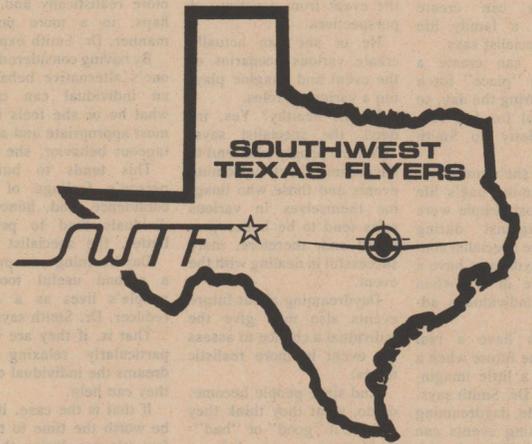

Camera FACTS & FANCIES

While photography is considered to have had its start in 1839 with the introduction by Louis Daguerre of Paris of his photographic process, actually it was based on concepts known to the ancient Greeks. They had developed the method, though not the film, to make a camera obscura, a simple pinhole with a translucent screen.

The largest camera ever built weighs 30.4 tons, is nearly nine feet high, eight feet wide and 35 feet long. It's equipped with a 63-inch f/15 lens. Built in 1959 for a British graphics firm, its value after improvements in 1971 was placed at more than $240,000.

Poultry good food buy in this nation

U.S. consumers often complain about rising inflation and high food prices, but poultry prices are lower than those in most other countries.

"Even with grocery prices soaring, food takes a smaller bite out of pocketbooks in the U.S. than any other country," emphasizes Dr. Dave Mellor, poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Mellor says that the U.S. Department of Agriculture regularly reports prices of selected foods from 17 world capitals.

USDA also reports the working time of the average production worker needed to earn each of these products in various countries.

"For example, broilers were $1.74 per kilo (about 2.2 pounds) in Washington, D.C. at the time of the last survey," Mellor notes. "This compares to only $1.44 per kilo in Madrid. "But it took only 13 minutes of work to earn a kilo of broilers in Washington compared to 35 minutes in Madrid."

At the time of the survey, eggs were $1 a dozen in Washington, D.C., $1.36 in Buenos Aires.

"It took eight minutes to earn enough money for a dozen eggs in Washington but 46 minutes in Buenos Aires," Mellor states.

Unless salaries keep up with the current round of price increases, Mellor says food will cost even more.

"American consumers are expected to face at least 10 percent higher food bills this year because of drought-damaged harvests last year and increasing export demands," points out the specialist.

In early 1980, poultry prices were low because of large supplies. These low prices combined with mid-summer signs of rising feed costs led poultry producers to begin cutting back their flocks. These cuts now mean higher poultry prices, but not as high as they are in other countries, Mellor explains.

The specialist reports that recent figures from the United Nations indicate that U.S. residents use 13.6 percent of their personal spending mon-

County gets strike and two wildcats

The Dow Chemical Co., Houston, No. 1 H.S. Carpenter (amended from Carpenter), Crockett County Wolfcamp oil discovery, 7/8-mile northeast of the Hanson (Grayburg) field and nine miles northwest of Iraan, was finaled to pump 89.2 barrels of 42 gravity oil, plus 122 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 448-1.

Production was through perforations at 5,936-975 feet, which had been acidized with 5,000 gallons. The following tops were picked on Kelly bushing elevation of 2,254 feet: Wolfcamp, 4,950 feet; Wolfcamp detrital, 6,230 feet; Pennsylvanian detrital, 6,552 feet; Fusselman, 6,650 feet; Simpson, 6,745 feet and Ellenburger at 7,613 feet.

Drilled to 7,840 feet, with 5 1/2-inch casing set at 6,747 feet, it is plugged back to 6,750 feet.

Location is 5,671.51 feet from the north and 660 feet from the west lines of 87-1-I&GN.

OJB, Inc., Ozona, will attempt to re-open Strawn gas production in the current one-well Bass (Canyon gas) field of Kimble County with the scheduling of two 3,000-foot wildcats, two miles northwest of Roosevelt.

Both projects are in 72-A-GWT&P (W.B. Collier on some maps), Abst. 1479. The No. 3 Simon, 7/8-mile northeast of the original opener which has been re-completed as the Canyon gas re-opener, is 2,496 feet from the south and 2,741 feet from the west lines.

The No. 1 Simon, one mile north and slightly east of the former opener, is 3,066 feet from the south and 811 feet from the west lines.

The Strawn gas opener, Texas Oil & Gas Corp. No. 1 Bailey, drilled to 2,880 feet, was finaled June 20, 1972 for a calculated, absolute open flow of 5.4 million cubic feet of gas daily through perforations at 2,390-400 feet. It was recompleted March 27, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 260,000 cubic feet of gas daily through perforations at 1,858-2,000 feet. It topped the Ellenburger at 2,735 feet on ground elevation of 2,062 feet.

Gift tea honors Miss McMullan

Miss Kay McMullan was honored with a gift tea May 2, in the home of Mrs. L. B. Cox, III.

Greeting guests at the door was Mrs. Buster Deaton.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Pancho McMullan, mother of the bride-elect; Miss McMullan, and her grandmother, Mrs. Lowell Hankins.

Mrs. Lou Haire presided at the bride's book, and Mrs. Bill Morris, aunt of the bride-elect, served.

Other hostesses were Mrs. Charlie Black, Miss Denise Deaton, Mrs. Joe Couch, Mrs. Frank Reavis, Mrs. Joe Bean, Mrs. Bill Black, Miss Sue Ellen Black, Mrs. Gene Perry, Mrs. Dempster Jones, Mrs. Jack Baggett, Mrs. Dick Kirby, Mrs. Earl Acton, Mrs. Joe Pierce, IV, and Mrs. John R. Hunnicutt.

Vegetable eating changing

Along with weather, insects and other problems, farmers must also consider consumer demand. That's certainly the case with vegetables.

"It's important for farmers to keep up with the ever-changing trends in consumption of individual vegetables," says Tom Longbrake, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Of the total amount of vegetables purchased from 1977-1979, 45.5 percent were fresh, 44.8 percent canned and 9.7 percent frozen, Longbrake explains. This compares to the 1947-1949 average of 60.3 percent fresh, 36.4 percent canned and 3.3 percent frozen.

The average American consumed 226 pounds of vegetables per year in 1977-1979, up from 198 pounds in 1947-1949, Longbrake says.

An increase in consumption of certain vegetables is balanced by a decrease in others.

However, watermelon consumption has declined 26 percent since 1940, Longbrake notes, while cantaloupe consumption has dropped 10 percent.

"Despite a decrease in per capita consumption of some vegetables, overall production has remained generally steady due to population growth," notes the horticulturist.

Most likely to succeed!

Ms. Childress gets landscape degree & job

Eleven graduates from Texas Tech University's Department of Park Administration and Landscape Architecture had accepted job offers prior to commencement.

Included was Judith Black Childress, daughter of Mrs. Charles Black of Ozona.

Childress received the bachelor of landscape architecture degree May 16. She will be employed by Schurz Landscape Co. of San Angelo.

Childress is a charter member of Sigma Lambda Alpha, an honorary landscape architecture society, a member of Alpha Zeta, an honorary agriculture fraternity, and a recipient of the American Society of Landscape Architects merit award.

Gen. Tele. testing cables in Ozona

As part of an ongoing program to provide quality telephone service, General Telephone is extensively testing aerial and underground telephone cables throughout Ozona, according to Melvin Jennings, the company's San Angelo division manager.

The Ozona project is a portion of a division-wide program encompassing 22 cities that upon completion will have involved more than 17,000 employee hours or 10 full-time employees, he said. About 3,000 miles of cables will have been tested.

"The company tests and retests the pressurized cables that transmit telephone calls for Ozona," Jennings explained. "Each of the cables is filled with either dry air or nitrogen. When a sharp increase or decrease in pressure appears, this indicates that a cable has a leak which could cause calling transmission problems."

"By continually monitoring the cables we can identify potential service problems and correct them before trouble occurs," he concluded.

John July services

Funeral services for John Edwin July, 67, were held Sunday afternoon in St. John's Baptist Church in Brackettville with burial in Seminole Indian Scout Cemetery there under the direction of Sizemore Funeral Home.

Mr. July died at 8 a.m. Thursday in Crockett County Hospital after a sudden illness.

He was born in Brackettville Nov. 18, 1913. He had been a resident of Ozona for many years and was employed at Skains Garage, where he had worked since its name was James Motor Co.

Survivors include his wife, Clara Booker of Ozona; a daughter, Dena Booker of Ozona; a son, John E. July, Jr. of Uvalde; and four sisters, Evelyn Best and Clara July, both of Brackettville, Gladys Gordon of Ozona and Sandy Leonard of Seguin.

Divestiture no longer benefit

Older Texans who get rid of their property and become poor to qualify for welfare now are being denied eligibility for Medicaid, Marlin W. Johnston, commissioner of the Department of Human Resources, said.

Divestiture of assets to get health care now is against the law, Johnston warned, referring to a federal statute which took effect March 1. Johnston said DHR has documented cases where assets in excess of $100,000 were given away or sold at less than market value to establish eligibility. The property usually goes to sons or daughters, or other family members, so that the former owner can qualify for nursing home care under Medicaid.

Before March 1, there was no law preventing divestiture of assets, Johnston said, although DHR long had sought such restrictions.

Under the new law, a penalty is imposed of 24 months suspended eligibility for anyone giving away or selling property for less than market value to establish eligibility for Medicaid.

Persons who became eligible for Medicaid through divestiture of assets before March 1, will not be affected, Johnston said.

Control range brush with pelleted herbicides

With good odds for a spring rain, ranchers can use pelleted and granulated herbicides to control range brush.

Three pelleted and granulated herbicides are registered for use on rangeland - 10 percent picloram pellets (Tordao 10K), 10 percent and 20 percent tebuthiuron pellets (Graslan 10P and 20P), and 5 percent and 10 percent dicamba granules (Banvel 5G and 10G).

"Because these are applied to the soil surface, moisture is necessary to move the herbicide into the soil," explains Dr. Tommy Welch, range brush and weed control specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Thus Tordon 10K and Graslan should be applied before an expected rain while Banvel should be applied in spring or early summer (before July)."

Tordon 10K pellets can control pricklypear, huisache, whitebrush, redberry juniper, macartney rose, hawthorne and sumac. Apply 20 pounds of Tordon 10K pellets per acre or 3/4-ounce per 100 sq. ft. for pricklypear control. Increase the rate to 30 pounds or 1 ounce for huisache (small undisturbed plants), whitebrush and macartney rose and 40 pounds or 1 1/2 ounces for redberry juniper, hawthorne and sumac.

Graslan pellets are currently registered for use on post oak, blackjack oak, winged elm, whitebrush, running live oak, blackbrush and

Curried seafood is an adventure

Step into the world of culinary adventure unknown with an exotic recipe that doesn't take exotic skills--Curried Seafood.

Curry dishes whisper of the mystical Orient, but in essence this recipe is simply fish cooked in a cream sauce with an interesting combination of spices.

Annette Reddell Hegen, a seafood consumer education specialist with Texas Agricultural Extension Service, suggests this recipe for company.

When you're entertaining special guests and really want to be festive, get out the chafing dish for this exquisite fare.

Since a chafing dish uses a gentle source of heat, it may take 45 minutes or even longer to do the cooking in it, so be sure you've planned your evening accordingly.

Or, if you don't have that much time, prepare the recipe on the range, and then transfer the finished mixture to the chafing dish to keep it hot.

For the fish, most Texas finfish would be excellent, or you can substitute shrimp (deveined and peeled) or flaked crab meat.

Any of these cook quickly and their flavors blend well with the sauce.

To make the dish truly authentic, serve traditional condiments, such as toasted slivered almonds, chutney, freshly grated coconut, chopped hardcooked eggs, fresh pineapple and crisp bacon bits.

CURRIED FISH OR SHELLFISH

1 pound fresh fish fillets (or fresh, peeled, deveined shrimp or flaked crabmeat)
1/4 cup margarine or butter
1/4 cup minced onion
1/2 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper

1 can (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms
1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind

1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 teaspoons curry powder
1 teaspoon sugar
1/8 teaspoon ginger
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk or half-and-half

1 tablespoons diced pimientos
Hot rice, biscuits or patty shells

Melt margarine in blazer pan of chafing dish over direct low flame. Stir in seasonings and onion.

Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is thick and smooth.

Stir in lemon juice and rind. Fold in fish or shellfish, mushrooms and pimientos.

Cook until seafood is done. Fish will flake easily when tested with a fork and shrimp becomes tender.

Makes six servings.

Fabric pests bad in spring

Springtime brings about uninvited visitors into the house that are often overlooked—fabric pests.

Carpet beetles and clothes moths are a continuing problem in Texas, particularly since more woollens are being worn today either as a 100 percent fabric or the popular wool-synthetic blends.

Such materials should be stored properly during the off-season to protect them from these pests, says Dr. Phil Hamman, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Before storing, dryclean all woolen fabrics, including clothing, blankets, coats and scarves. This removes all growth stages of fabric pests, from eggs to adults.

After drycleaning, store fabrics in clothing bags, using liberal applications of moth balls or crystals. Blankets and other large or bulky items can be stored in plastic garbage bags or wrapped in heavy kraft paper and tightly sealed with tape. Be sure moth balls or crystals are inter-layered with these goods prior to sealing.

Another method of ridding fabrics of potential damaging pests is to hang them outside in bright sunlight during the hottest part of the day for several successive days. Make sure both the inside and outside of the garments are exposed to sunlight. Follow this with vigorous brush-ing. Another good practice is battling fabric pests by emptying closets and vacuuming them thoroughly. Wool-feeding pests can live on natural accumulations of lint found in corners and on shelves and baseboards.

With proper care and maintenance, woolen clothing and other goods will be protected from fabric pests and will be shipshape for next winter.

Ozonan gets UT degree

The University of Texas College of Business Administration awarded 540 Bachelor of Business Administration degrees at the close of the 1980 Fall Semester.

The list of graduates, announced by Dean George Kozmetsky, includes the following Ozona student: Jerry Austin Weant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Weant.

DANCE WINNERS-Stacie Winkley and Sabrina Easterwood received outstanding student awards following the Julie Moorman School of Dance recital Saturday at the Civic Center. Stacie received a trophy for acrobatics and Sabrina was presented a plaque for tap.

Ozona youngsters in recital

Ozona youngsters who have been training in tap, ballet, and acrobatics this year had a chance to show what they've learned in a dance recital held Saturday evening at the Crockett County Auditorium-Coliseum.

Pegged "Moving With The Movies," the show featured routines set to such well-known film tunes as "That's Entertainment," "The Muppet Show," and "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band," as well as several Disney tunes.

Certificates were awarded to all participants for accomplishment in dance through the year. Outstanding achievement awards went to Sabrina Easterwood for excellence in tap, and to Stacie Winkley for acrobatic skill.

Dancers in the recital included Jimmy Armentrout, Nancy Arrott, Tammy Arrott, Rana Bridges, Shyller Byrom, Leigh Ann Coates, Mindy Coates, Lori Cowart, Tresa Crawford, Jana Deaton, Adriane Dickerson, Amy Easterwood, Sabrina Easterwood and Misty Fowler.

Also performing were Bart Grimes, Cammie Guerra, Charlotte Hederstrom, Cassie Henry, Traci Henry, Heather Hill, Jeannie Hoffman, Lisa Hohertz, Lori Hohertz, Jennifer Jones, Julie Kiser, Peggy Knox, Michelle Lambert, T. J. Lambert, Hyacinth Long, Misty Mathis, Bonnie Martin, Tammy Mayfield, Cassie McPherson, Pam Miles, Jason Montgomery, Ky Montgomery, Shawna Newton, Sylvia Pena-Alfaro, Courtney Phillips, and Susan Pullen.

Other dancers were Diana Ramirez, Tamie Reagor, Kelly Robinson, Tonya Ruthardt, Staci Sessom, Summer Shacklette, Stacy Skains, Lisa Smith, Stefny Sutton, Ann Trull, Whitney Vannoy, Tamel West, Kelly Williams, and Stacy Winkley.

Dance lessons will be offered this summer and again in the new school year.
