Baseball tourney scheduled

The men's slow pitch softball teams will have a tournament this weekend in the softball park. The tournament will start at 6 p.m. Friday and continue through Sunday afternoon. Starting the Saturday morning will be 8 o'clock and play will resume Sunday at 1:00 p.m.

The concession stand will be open throughout the tournament and the eight local teams plus several area teams will participate. Fans are welcome.

The teams play on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights. The girls teams play at 6 p.m. and the men play three games following.

At the season halfway mark, the Armadillos are leading the pack with ten wins and one loss. Fesco and OGPP are tied for second with seven wins and five losses. The Outlaws are in fourth place, winning 6 and losing 4, followed by the Wheels with 5 wins and 4 losses. The Twins and Aces are tied for the next to bottom spot with a season record of 4 wins and 7 losses, and the G. I. Forum occupies the cellar with one win and 10 losses.

Veterans' benefits announced

A. O. Fields, Veteran's Service Officer for Crockett County, recently received an official report from the Texas Veterans Affairs Commission, showing the amount of monetary benefits paid to veterans residing in Crockett County by the Veterans Administration.

Total monetary benefits amounted to $265,218. Of this amount, $201,722 was paid out in compensation and pension; $46,763 went to re-adjustment and vocational rehabilitation, and $16,733 in insurance and indemnities. The TVAC commended Fields on his service to the veterans in his community and reminded him the benefits provide a significant economic stimulus to the economy of the county, since most are placed in immediate circulation.

8 Ozonans on A.S.U. honor roll

Ozona students attending Angelo State University in San Angelo, are listed on the Dean's Honor Roll for the Spring Semester at the university.

Those listed on the 3.50 to 4.0 Honor Roll include Teresa Gayle Brown, a business major; Danita Gwen McCartney, an elementary major; Ronnie B. Schneider, a health and physical education major; and Nikki Lee Sewell, an elementary education major.

Those listed on the 3.00 to 3.49 honor roll include LaDawn Denise Adcock, an elementary education major; Ricky T. DeHoyos, a government major; Jeannine Perry, an elementary education major; and Jeffrey Wayne Young, an undecided major.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME-The Raymond Adcock home at 116 Mesquite was heavily damaged here Friday afternoon around 5:30. Firemen were on the scene just minutes after the alarm was sounded, but flames and heavy smoke had already taken their toll. The fire started in this garage and spread quickly to the kitchen and a utility room. The family was away from the house when the fire broke out.

Chamber gears up for Big July Fourth event

The Ozona Chamber of Commerce is going all out to bring a bang-up celebration to Ozona youngsters and grown-ups, with a watermelon party, music and a big fireworks display for July Fourth.

Everybody is invited to the shindig, which will be held in an area near the Little League ball park on Independence Day night, Saturday, July 4, at 9:00 o'clock. The fireworks will be set off around 9:30 or after nightfall. Everything is free except the watermelon, which will be sold by the slice.

Money for the fireworks display was donated by Ozona businesses and various oil companies.

The $2,100 worth of fireworks features 400 different displays. Chamber manager Beth Boyd said she had been assured they had been shipped. The fireworks purchase necessitated the purchase of a permit and wading through a great deal of red tape, but this has been accomplished. Mrs. Boyd said the permit cost $2 for this year, but a bill has passed the Texas House and is before the Senate to increase the price of a permit to $200. She has written a letter of protest to Senator Pete Snelson on behalf of the chamber.

Three indicted by Grand Jury

The Crockett County Grand Jury indicted three men after it was convened for the spring session last month by 112th District Judge Troy Williams.

Selected for this term of jury duty were J. W. Johnson, foreman; Clay Bednar, Jeffrey Sutton, Cruz Tambunga, Richard Steins, Nat Read, Napoleon Vitela, Mura B. Lay, Chona Vela, Mrs. Bill Black, Lynda Falkner and Hector DeHoyos, Jr.

Juan Pena Borrego was indicted for intentionally and knowingly operating a vehicle, a 1977 Suburban, without the consent of the owner, Glenn Wheeler. The jury indicted Larry Martinez for theft of a sorell gelding from Tite Bishop, and Richard Sanchez was indicted for hit and run and failing to stop and render aid, in connection with a car wreck which injured two local boys, Gene Wilton, Jr. and Kelly Sinclair. The three were arraigned in Judge Williams' district court here Tuesday. The court also held pre-trial hearings for three men who were indicted by a previous grand jury. Romulo Lozano for assault with a deadly weapon; Roberto Robledo, escape from custody; and Ignacio for involuntary manslaughter.

In other district court action last week Mariano Mas-kill was placed on probation and released from the Texas Department of Corrections, where he was serving a term for assault with a motor vehicle. This action was taken over protest by District Attorney Bill Mason.

In county court, Beto Vargas plea bargained on a theft, class A charge, and received a one-year probated sentence and 263 days in jail with a deduction for time served.

cleaning up.

Tom Cameron will ask the county to mow the area next week and arrange for a county truck to cart off melon rind and other trash left at the site.

Mrs. Boyd said any and all area bands are cordially invited to perform during the gala. Bands planning to be present should notify her at the chamber office as soon as possible.

Cactus Pryor, noted Austin humorist, has been engaged as banquet speaker for the annual event next year, which will be held January 28, 1982. A retainer fee of $750 was sent to Mr. Pryor on his acceptance and his remaining fee of $750 will be paid from next year's budget.

Mrs. Boyd also reminded winners at this year's banquet their prizes have arrived. The prizes were Justin Wilson albums, personally autographed. After some delay, they have been sent to the chamber and may be picked up at the office.

A motion to raise dues passed at the June meeting. Effective July 1, business dues will be raised from $7.50 to $10 per month and individual dues will go from $3 to $5.

Dues have not been increased since last year, and the directors felt the chamber could no longer operate under the present budget due to inflation.

A new sign for the Big Lake highway was discussed and plans have been made to ask the Ozona High School Industrial Arts class to consider it as a project this fall. The old sign fell victim to gunshots and although it has been releaded and repainted in the past, it seems to be beyond repair at this time. Mrs. Boyd also said the O letter for the Ozona sign east of town has arrived and waiting for replacement at the county barn. She said when the signs were first installed, the plastic letters cost $96 and the cost had gone to $232 at present. Although other activities

School Board has busy agenda

The Crockett County School Board had a busy agenda when they met in regular session last night in the board room at the admin-

Defense course to be offered

A course in Personal Defense will be offered to twenty women in Ozona the 26th and 27th of June. Interested women should contact Judy Farris at 392-3530 to enroll. The course will be offered on a first come, first serve basis.

The Friday night session will include a weapon inspection, weapon safety orientation and an introduction to the Modern Method of Pistol craft.

The Saturday session will begin with a review of the Modern Method of Pistol Craft. The women will complete basic weapon drills and close range situations.

Equipment for the course will include a pistol, 100 rounds of ammunition, ear protectors, and a flash light.

The course will be taught by Bill Price, Staff Instructor for the American Pistol Institute, Prescott, Arizona and John Aiguier, an active participant in practical handgun matches in the West Texas area.

Cool front brings rain

A fast moving front brought Ozona 1.7 inches of rain late Monday and lowered temperatures about 10 degrees. Rain threatened all day Monday and traces fell now and then, but the heavy shower came with a thunder storm about 7:00 p.m.

The front broke the mid-June heat wave which sent temperatures soaring toward the 100-degree mark throughout last week. At 4:00 p.m. Tuesday the temperature was a pleasant 78 degrees in downtown Ozona.

Officers were elected at last month's meeting. Joe Bean was re-elected to the post of president; Sam Perner, vice president; new member Henry Sellers was elected secretary. Other board members are Cecil Buckner, Joe Couch, George Ybarra and one new member, Jeffrey Sutton.

The board approved the minutes of the previous meeting, the high school fund, and the athletic fund report, plus approving the bills for payment.

Superintendent Foy Moody presented the school district's TABS results for the 1981 tests. These were discussed at length. The results will be made public in next week's edition of the Stockman.

Personnel and transportation warranted some discussion, along with equipment purchases for 1981-82.

Salaries, preliminary budget and the tax rate for 1981-82 were reviewed at length.

Appointed to the summer textbook committee were Moody, Ted Cotton, Jack Probst, Connie Fowler, Barbara Wallace, Virginia Cotton, Glenda Winkley, Kathy Reavis and Shirley Kirby.

New state laws concerning bilingual education and term contracts for teachers were discussed by the board members. The summer maintenance program was set up and some discussion was held on future facility improvement.

Larry Williams appeared before the board to discuss oil and gas leases on school property.

The school board usually meets on the second Tuesday of each month, unless that day comes before the tenth, then they convene on the third Tuesday.

Fire destroys Ozona home Fri.

The Raymond Adcock home at 116 Mesquite sustained heavy damage from fire and smoke Friday afternoon although firemen were on the scene within a matter of minutes after the alarm was turned in.

The fire started in the garage and raced through the utility and kitchen area. Officials said the fire apparently started from an extension cord a freezer was plugged into. Fed by carpet cleaning fluid and stored Freon, the fire was out of control by the time a neighbor saw the flames and called the fire department. Firemen did manage to save a fiberglass boat which was partially in the garage entrance.

A set of new automobile tires in the garage was partly responsible for the heavy, black smoke which seeped into every room in the house and licked around windows and doors, literally ruining the Adcock's furniture and personal belongings.

The Adcocks were entertaining out of town guests at a local restaurant when the fire started. By the time they received a message and returned to their home, the fire had been extinguished. Mrs. Adcock said her entire wardrobe had been destroyed in the fire, along with her daughter's trousseau and all the appliances in the kitchen and utility area. She said her microwave oven had simply melted. Firemen cut the utility lines to the house on arrival, and Mrs. Adcock said she couldn't see all the damage Friday night.

The Adcocks have moved into the Basil Dunlap house and will make it their home until they rebuild or remodel.

Firemen were hindered somewhat in getting equipment to the fire by onlookers who blocked every street in Chandler Addition watching the fire from their vehicles, creating a potentially dangerous situation.

A SLOW DAY AT THE POOL-The cool front which came through Ozona early Tuesday cut attendance at the North Pool drastically. However, some of the younger set braved the cold winds to enjoy their favorite summer past time. Sherry McCrohan dives in while classmates shiver and watch.

THE FEDERAL THREAT TO HIGHER EDUCATION

By Edwin Feulner

"Universities and colleges are increasingly finding that they, like business and industry, are in bed with an 800-pound gorilla and not a benign teddy bear," Harvard sociologist Norman Glazer has written.

The academic community in the past few years has been protesting the increasingly intrusive dictates of the federal bureaucracy and its maddeningly detailed oversight of formerly autonomous institutions.

Harvard President Derek C. Bok last year warned that growing government regulation could "easily clasp education in a deadly embrace that stifles its creativity and vigor." The cost of complying with the bureaucracy is "already running into millions of dollars each year for large universities," he said, and additional costs "seem likely to impair the quality of academic work in increasingly serious ways."

Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan (D-NY) argues, however, that academe brought many of these problems upon itself. "A vast transformation took place in the position of universities in the United States in the 15-year period between 1957 and 1972. Before then, the federal government had little role in their support and none whatever in their governance. . . . To a greater or lesser degree the universities politicized themselves in the 1960s, demanding a wide range of government services in the society at large; it is only now reaching them."

"When massive federal aid to colleges and universities was in its infancy," the NATIONAL JOURNAL has noted, "most educators did not hesitate to accept what was offered and seek more. Few agreed with a warning voiced in 1958 by Senator Barry Goldwater (R-AZ) during Congressional debate on the National Defense Education Act: 'If adopted, this legislation will mark the inception of aid, supervision, and ultimately control of education in this country by federal authorities.'"

The National Defense Education Act provided the opening wedge for federal intervention into higher education. Not only did the bureaucracy start supervising schools to see that its money was being used for the intended purposes, it required detailed time-and-effort reporting by university scientists, who complained that their creativity was being stifled. It later required that colleges report to the feds their efforts to maintain faculties with the legally mandated racial and ethnic "mix" — quotas in all but name. The selection and retention of students was similarly supervised by HEW and the federal courts. Laws forbidding mandatory retirement at age 65 and laws guaranteeing collective bargaining rights for university employees all but destroyed the principle of academic self-governance.

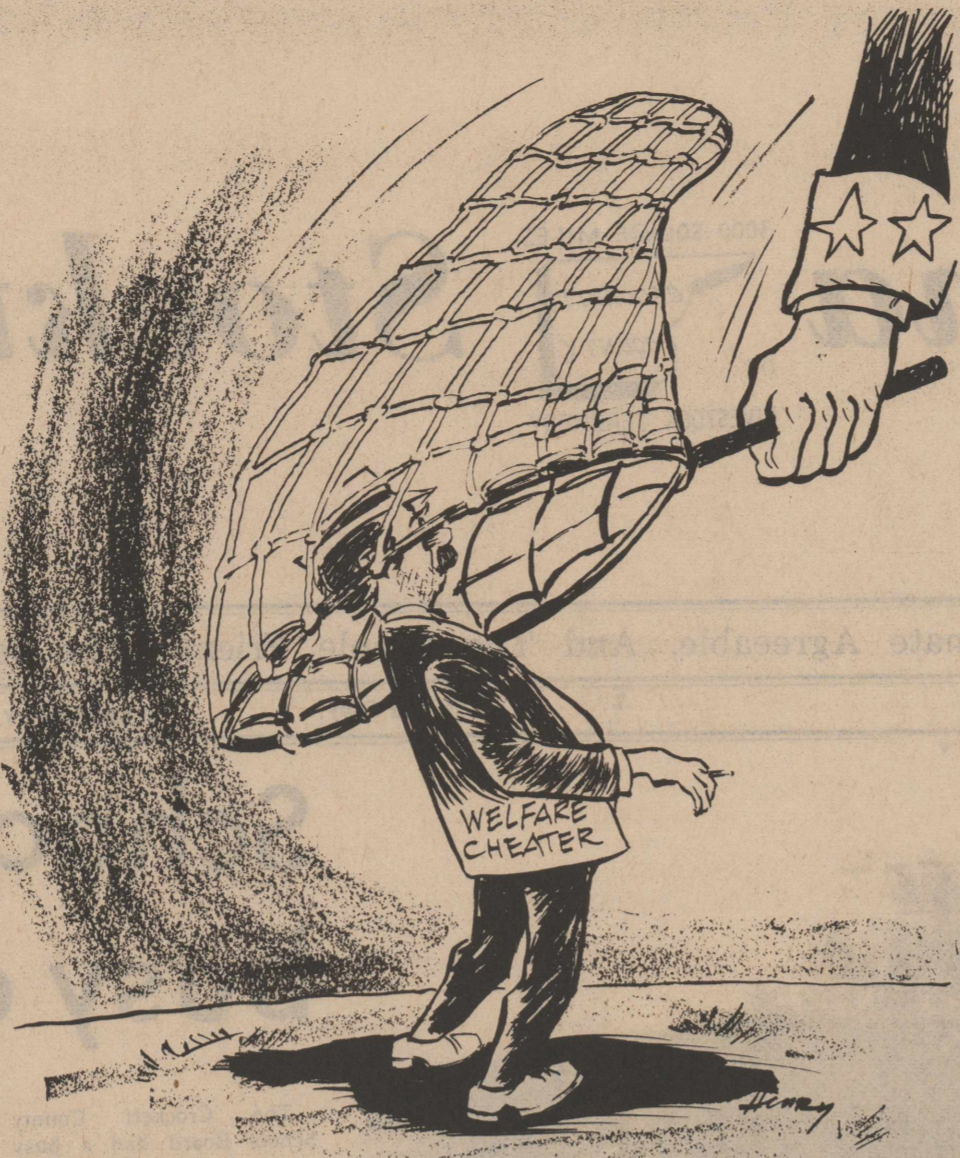

The new Secretary of Education, Terrell Bell, has called for "a rethinking of the federal role in higher education," pointing out that federal regulations often go far beyond what the statutory law requires, are too specific to be adapted to the needs and goals of individual schools, and ignore intensive efforts already underway at the state and local levels to improve education.

Colleges and universities in America were founded under widely varying circumstances and dedicated to hundreds of separate ideals, some of them religious, some secular. Their survival is based on their ability to tailor their programs and their ambitions to the constituencies which they serve. Every piece of federal regulation diminishes this flexibility, and brings us closer to the day when Senator Goldwater's warning will ring 100 percent true.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Round Two of the 67th Texas Legislature.

Governor Bill Clements last week announced his plans for a July 13 special session of the Legislature to consider five issues left unresolved during the regular session.

Topics for the 30-day session will be limited to 1) repeal of the state ad valorem tax, 2) creation of a Texas water trust fund, 3) revision of the property tax code, 4) congressional redistricting, and 5) licensing and regulation of the state's physicians.

Of the five items, only two are of emergency nature: congressional redistricting and extension of the Medical Practice Act.

The Legislature succeeded in regular session in redrawing political boundary lines for legislative districts, but failed to reach a compromise on a congressional plan. And present law regulating the state's medical doctors will expire at the end of the summer.

Although not an emergency, revision of the property tax code is pressing. The Legislature wants to tune up tax reforms passed in 1979 in order to keep down property taxes across the state.

The remaining two items are political favorites of Clements and House Speaker Bill Clayton. Clements wants to make repeal of the ad valorem tax his baby, and Clayton, from arid West Texas, has an avid interest in water development.

Both issues, if resolved in the special session, will make political hay for the sponsors.

Redistricting

The sticky point in redistricting is how to divide up Dallas, particularly the city's 250,000 blacks.

Clements wants a plan which will provide for a minority district, and has threatened to veto any different plan.

The problem for some legislators is that plan would endanger two Democrat incumbents, Jim Mattox and Martin Frost, and might result in two new Republican congressmen.

On this point of contention the entire special session might well be balanced. Perhaps more than any recent issue, this one might well polarize the Legislature into partisan camps.

Three-Legged Campstool

Like a three-legged campstool, the Legislature, particularly the House, is composed of three basic factions: liberal Democrats, conservative Democrats and Republicans. Playing one end against the other, conservative Democrats have maintained the upper hand and managed a semblance of political law and order. Those who go along with the leadership are rewarded. It's an age-old game.

But with the legislative seats safely decided and reelection campaigns just a year away, most of the political goodies of the season have already been given away.

Add to that the facts that Clayton has already declared he will not be coming back to the House, and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, thought to be stepping down as head of the Senate, has not issued any statement to the contrary.

Clements

Whenever the Legislature adjourns and goes home, the most visible official left in Austin is the Governor.

Since the lawmakers' departure June 2, Clements has been involved in political snipings on several fronts.

He has tangled with — Attorney General Mark White over a recent district judge's ruling that the state cannot regulate church-operated children's homes, the latest event in the ongoing case of evangelist Lester Roloff. Clements, who was supported by Roloff in the '78 campaign, has said he is pleased with the decision and wants Mark White to leave it alone. White will probably appeal the ruling as overbroad, saying it is not right "to put the word church on a corporate charter and be exempt from the law."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

For the second time in less than a year I had a chance to witness the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department in action fighting a residence fire.

These fine men, who work in nearly every kind of business in Ozona, should be credited with doing a very fine job. The most recent fire was about as far away from the fire station as you could get as far as Ozona is concerned.

These guys descended on this particular fire in less than five minutes after the alarm was turned in. Fire fighters came from every direction and they knew just what to do. There was no confusion, no shouting and running around waiting for someone to tell them what to do. It seemed to this observer that each man had rehearsed the whole scene beforehand.

There was no reckless destruction of the property in getting to the main source of the blaze and they were even careful not to just knock out windows in order to get water where it was needed.

Several of the men put on breathing equipment and body protective clothing and went into the house to be sure there was no one inside. These people are volunteers remember. They were risking their lives to see that no one was in danger.

These men need an awful lot of praise for what they do and the chances they take to protect and save people and property. I would suspect that in the course of their career with the local department they get very little thanks.

I think it's time for some hand shakes and some words of appreciation. This particular citizen was very impressed at what he saw and it brought him and his family a better sense of security for it all.

Dear Kitty, I'm sending a check for $50.00. Please renew the following subscriptions: Bode Owens, Barnhart; Buck Owens, Barnhart; Tommy Owens, Rankin, and Rusty Owens, Big Lake.

It looks as if the Owens like your paper. We do! Especially your editorial. We read it first.

Since it is nearing Father's Day I'm enclosing a little poem. Maybe you can use it. If not—that's fine.

Tell Tom Hello. The Montgomery family has always been "special" to us.

Love, Edith Owens

This is the poem Mrs. Owens sent:

WALK A LITTLE PLAINER DADDY

Walk a little plainer daddy Said a little boy so frail I'm following in your footsteps

And I don't want to fail Sometimes your steps are very plain

Sometimes they are hard to see So walk a little plainer daddy For you are leading me.

I know that once you walked this way many years ago And what you did along the way I'd really like to know

For sometimes when I am tempted I don't know what to do So walk a little plainer daddy For I must follow you.

Someday when I'm grown up You are like I want to be Then I will have a little boy Who will want to follow me And I would want to lead him right

And help him to be true So walk a little plainer daddy For we must follow you. (Author Unknown)

Your Representative Reports.....

By Susan McBee

The 67th Legislative Session is over, with a special session, unfortunately, looming on the horizon.

By now I'm sure you've read and heard more about the just-ended 140 days in Austin than you ever cared to, but sometimes those reports ignore some of the details of specific interest to us in District 70. So, in an attempt to rectify that, here is a final wrap-up of how we in Southwest Texas fared—or didn't fare, as the case might be—in the State Capitol.

Redistricting dominated every aspect of the legislative session and rightfully so, as it determines what kind of representation we'll have in Austin and Washington for the next ten years.

A battle royal developed pitting rural vs. urban, conservative vs. liberal, Republican vs. Democrat, and minority groups vs. one another. Somehow from this chaos, redistricting plans for both the House and Senate of Texas emerged and were sent to the Governor, with the threat of a veto by the Justice Department under the Voting Rights Act or a lawsuit by disgruntled groups hanging heavily over them.

Should the plans finally be enacted into law, the House for the next ten years will retain its conservative leanings, while the Senate will be a little more liberal-urban oriented than in the past. As for us, the new District 70 (And were we ever lucky to retain that old number and not have to get used to a new one! Only three of the 150 districts kept their former number.) remains relatively intact. Zavala County on the eastern edge is transferred into a largely new South Texas district. On the western side, Presidio and Jeff Davis Counties, which have been in an El Paso district, are added. The other eight counties remain the same. This will make the "new" District 70 a ten-county, 27,000 square mile area with a population of 97,000.

On a personal note, it's sad to lose the good friends I've made in Crystal City, LaPryor, and Batesville; for they've been excellent constituents. I'll look forward to meeting and representing the people of Marfa, Ft. Davis, Valentine, and Presidio. They've almost been considered a part of us anyway because of their close ties to Brewster County.

The new version of Senatorial District 25 is also basically the former one, with Maverick County added on the south, some central Texas area added in the middle, and even a part of El Paso County added to the west!

Congressional redistricting is still unfinished and is one of the reasons for the special session. Maverick and Zavala Counties are safely in Congressman Kazen's 23rd District, but the remaining seven counties of our legislative district have become focal points in the redistricting battle. There is an attempt being made by the Mexican American Legal Defense Fund to enlarge the 23rd District to include those rural Southwest Texas counties now in Congressman Loeffler's 21st District. Since this area has historically been in a West Texas district, it should certainly continue to be so. In addition, the community of interest definitely lies to the west rather than the south. I've done, and will continue to do, everything in my power to keep us in the 21st Congressional District.

As a result of legislation passed during this session, Eagle Pass and Del Rio can establish foreign trade zones if they like; Terrel, Kinney, and Edwards Counties are no longer required by law to have a county auditor; Sul Ross will be able to repair and renovate some campus facilities; Crockett and Sutton Counties will remain in this legislative district instead of being lumped into the San Angelo district as was proposed; and Zavala and Brewster Counties got some badly needed road funds.

And although there are lots and lots of critics of the 67th Legislature, some significant successes were achieved. Tough law and order measures were enacted, giving law enforcement personnel the tools to crack down on criminal activity. Teachers got a much-needed pay raise. Mandatory liability insurance will protect the good drivers from the bad. Generic drug substitution should mean some savings to consumers. The state inheritance tax was effectively abolished.

And, in keeping with the trend of fiscal restraint with taxpayers' dollars, the new two-year budget reflects the lowest percentage increase in the last decade.

Look for the special session to begin July 13 and last for at least thirty days. Mrs. Jean Kindle will be handling office duties at (512) 475-2763 as usual; and Mrs. Vonnie Lewis is taking care of committee work at (512) 475-3491. Both will be delighted to assist you in any way possible.

STATEMENT OF INTENT TO CHANGE RATES
General Telephone Company of the Southwest, in accordance with the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the Company's intent to implement a new schedule of rates in Texas effective October 1, 1981.
On April 28, 1981, the Public Utility Commission of Texas issued its order in Docket 3690, creating a separate Docket 3861 to consider the impact and effect of the accounting changes ordered by the Federal Communications Commission (CC Docket 79-105).
The Federal Communications Commission has changed the method of accounting for inside wiring costs associated with the one-time station connection, move, or change activity. The new rate schedule will increase the Company's gross annual revenue derived from local service by no more than three percent. The schedule of rates and charges is available for inspection at each Company business office in the State of Texas.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

The heat of the last week has made us realize that summer is really here. We now hope we miss the same extreme heat of last year, never the less, remember our soil quickly dries out of moisture, so water regularly to keep plants growing, especially newly planted shrubs, trees and flowers. If your fruit trees have set more fruit than they can mature properly the excess fruits should be removed. Peaches should be spaced about 6 to 8 inches apart on the limb, plums about 4 inches, apples and pears should be thinned to a single fruit where 2 or 3 are clustered together.

Check your crepe myrtles for powdery mildew. Evidence of the disease is a white residue on the upper surface of leaves. To control, spray with Karathane or Benlate according to label directions. Four to six applications at weekly intervals should be sufficient.

If you plan to have mums this fall now is the time to set them out. Keep well watered throughout the growing season, and fertilize monthly. To keep plants compact and increase flower production, pinch back stems to 3 inches long. Discontinue pinching in late July so flower buds can develop.

Most of the house plants you moved out doors for the summer have now adjusted and have started putting on growth. To improve their shape and induce additional new growth, prune out undesirable shoots or those that are diseased or weak.

If your coleus plants become leggy in spite of pinching back severe pruning may be needed so cut back the plants to half their height.

The floribunda roses will beat the heat, for they are well adapted to hot weather. They continue to bloom profusely after the hybrid tea roses begin a dormant period in mid-summer. To conserve growth energy, always snip off flower clusters as soon as they fade. Cut back far enough to keep the height you want, and just above a good five-leaf group.

Ozonan Fiesta hostess

Among the 23 local and area girls serving as Fiesta del Concho Ambassadors this year in the San Angelo gala is Elsa Delgado, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herculano Delgado.

The 1981 Ambassadors are college-age women chosen for their community involvement during their high school years. As Fiesta del Concho representatives, the Ambassadors will participate in the majority of the Fiesta activities, including the patron ball and the river parade.

Elsa is a 1978 graduate of Ozona High School where she received the cum laude award, and participated in band, basketball and track. She was active in 4-H and was awarded the 4-H Danforth Award. She is attending Angelo State University.

Ms. Graves attends a club rally

Mrs. Lee Graves, representing the Myrtle Post Garden Club and Ozona Garden Club of Ozona, attended a "President's Rally and Club Workshop" in Abilene, June 9.

The meeting was hosted by members of the Abilene Garden Club and sponsored by District VIII of Texas Garden Clubs, Inc.

A highlight of the meeting was a skit performed by "The City Slickers and Country Cousins," of the Town and Country Garden Club of Coleman.

Debra Says

By Debra Price

Jam and jelly don't have to be "forbidden fruit" to people on sugar-restricted diets. Just use artificial sweetener instead of sugar when making them.

Diet jams and jellies must be refrigerated or frozen unless they are made by the long boil method. And storing them in the freezer keeps the natural color and flavor of Texas strawberries, peaches or dewberries at peak quality. Leave at least one-half inch head space in the container before freezing.

Fresh strawberry jam can be made to suit special dietary requirements. To prepare fruit for jam, sort and wash fully-ripe fruit. Remove any stems or caps. Crush the fruit.

For jams, the method of combining ingredients varies with the form of pectin used. Powdered pectin is mixed with unheated crushed fruit, and liquid pectin is added to the cooked fruit and sweetener mixture immediately after it is removed from the heat.

Cooking time is one minute at a full boil. Full boil stage is reached when bubbles form over the entire surface of the mixture.

Jams made without added pectin or gelatin and a thermometer isn't available, just cook the product until it has thickened slightly. Allow for additional thickening as the product cools. Jams made without sugar tend to be thinner than those made with the addition of sugar. Also, when preparing jams, be sure to stir constantly to prevent scorching the fruit.

STRAWBERRY JAM WITH PECTIN

1 quart clean strawberries
1 1/4 ounce packaged powdered fruit pectin

3 - 4 teaspoons artificial sweetener
red food coloring as desired

Crush the strawberries in a one and one-half quart saucepan. Stir in artificial sweetener, food coloring, powdered pectin and lemon juice. Bring to a boil and boil for one minute. Remove from heat. Continue to stir two minutes. Pour into freezer containers, cover and freeze. Thaw before serving. Store in the refrigerator after opening. One tablespoon provides five calories.

Jams made by the long boil method require another procedure. You may follow tested recipes for jams made by a long boil method without the addition of pectin.

Cook the fruit with liquid sweetener until jam is of desired consistency. Substitute two tablespoons of liquid sweetener for each cup of sugar called for in the original recipe. Pour the boiling hot jam into clean, hot jars and seal each jar as soon as it is filled.

For making strawberry jam by the long boil method, take four cups of crushed strawberries, eight tablespoons of liquid sweetener. Measure crushed strawberries into kettle. Add sweetener and stir well. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens. Fill and seal containers. Process in a boiling water bath for five minutes. One tablespoon provides 10 calories.

STRAWBERRY-YOGURT POPSICLES

Makes 12 popsicles - about 70 calories each
2 cartons, 10 ounce each, frozen strawberries, thawed
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
16 ounce plain yogurt

12 - 3 ounce paper cups
12 wooden sticks

Drain strawberries. Place drained liquid in a saucepan and sprinkle with gelatin. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin dissolves. Mix strawberries, yogurt, and gelatin mixture in a blender until smooth. Place cups on a tray or in a baking pan. Fill with blended mixture and cover cups with a sheet of aluminum foil. Insert a stick for each popsicle by making a slit in the foil over the center of each cup. Freeze popsicles until firm.

Here are some furniture ideas about pieces that can not only add beauty to your home but can also help you by being extremely practical.

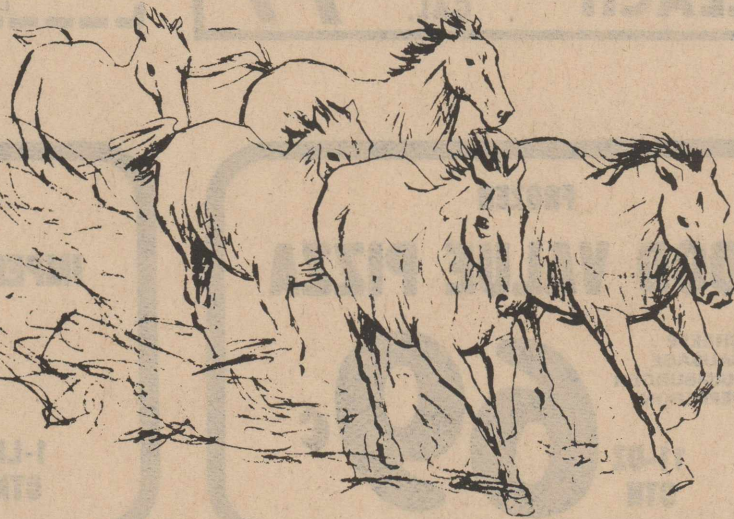

One good example is a narrow flip-top table which may be used (a) against the wall as a console, (b) as a bar by pulling out stools stored underneath, (c) as a dining table by flapping the flip, (d) as a desk when needed, (e) as a buffet.

Another decorative and useful idea is to use a pair of two-doored chests side by side. Both may hold and conceal a variety of items. This still leaves room on the chests for appropriate accessories, lamps, books, etc.

End, lamp or commode tables containing three or four drawers are particularly useful for storing all kinds of things when space is limited, aside from serving their original purpose.

To fill any space, large or small, attractively and usefully, you will find what you want here. Come on in. You may browse to your heart's content, and see all our furniture ideas with no obligation. We'll be looking forward to seeing you at Brown Furniture.

DON'T LET YOUR ELECTRIC BILL STAMPEDE THIS SUMMER...

HORSE-SENSE Tips to help you to pull in the reins on your Summer Electric Bill-

Don't overcool. Keep your thermostat at the highest comfortable temperature - about 78°.

Check your filter every month. A dirty filter clogged with dust and lint reduces the cooling ability of your unit.

Keep drapes closed and outside door openings to a minimum to keep the cool air in, heat out.

Proper insulation helps to keep out heat in the summer. Your insulation supplier can help you check and choose the right amount of insulation needed.

TO SEE OR NOT TO SEE

If you had a crystal ball, would you use it? Would you really want to know what's ahead for tomorrow, next week, next month, next year?

Most of us wouldn't. In fact, very few of us could take total revelation. Life was meant to be lived a day at a time, without too much looking forward, without too much looking back.

And most of us need something... something bigger than we are... something we can trust... someplace where we can be in peace, for a time and know sanctuary.

Try your place of worship. It's the place where you can gather the courage today to face tomorrow.

The Scientists Tell Me...

A Weed-Free Garden Saves Time and Labor

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Weeds can be just as big a problem to the spare-time home gardener in Texas as they are to commercial producers of vegetables, according to Dr. Sam Cotner, State Horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Weeds, whether growing in a commercial field or in a backyard garden, not only compete with the desirable plants for water, fertility, sunlight, and air," Cotner says, "but can also harbor many different types of insects, as well as numerous plant diseases."

Experimental gardeners are aware of the time-testing and proven methods of weed control, which include hoeing and mulching.

For many gardeners, hand hoeing is still the best answer to controlling troublesome and pesky weeds. It is inexpensive, obviously selective, very accurate, effective, and for some, even enjoyable.

It is obvious that exercise is also involved, which is one of the added rewards of growing vegetables at home. However, many gardeners simply don't have time to spend hoeing weeds in their vegetable gardens.

Mulching around existing garden vegetables helps control weeds and grasses by keeping light away from the seedlings and providing a mechanical barrier to their emergence. Weeds that do come through the mulch can easily be spotted and removed by pulling.

Mulches that can be utilized by gardeners include compost, straw, leaves, hay, sawdust, wood shavings, bark, newspaper, and plastic sheeting. Mulches applied during mid-summer or early fall have a tendency to cool the soil which is an added advantage.

Herbicides are another weed-control alternative of growing popularity. Although most present herbicides have limited use in vegetable home gardens, research now underway by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station is expected to result in new advances and wider use of herbicides in the home garden, as well as by the commercial producer.

While herbicides work well in single crop situations and are widely used in commercial agriculture it is difficult to use them where a wide assortment of vegetables occupy a rather limited space, such as in a garden.

Most herbicides are selective which means that they will work well for weed control in some crops but may damage more sensitive vegetable crops.

There is also the problem of applying small amounts of the chemical evenly to a garden surface. Misapplication or miscalibration of equipment can cause overtreatment, with resultant problems of chemical residue.

Dacthal, a herbicide currently available under various trade names, can give satisfactory garden-weed control, if used as directed. Dacthal is generally applied, Cotner says, to the surface of well-tilled garden soil, after planting or transplanting. It is effective in preventing germination and emergence of a large number of weeds and grasses.

If used according to directions, Dacthal will effectively control a number of weed and grass species, for up to 2 or 3 months. But Cotner cautions that if Dacthal is to be used for weed control in gardens, make sure that the label states that it can be used around the vegetables you intend to plant in the garden.

One plan that he says works well on larger gardens, is the grouping in one area of the garden of vegetables which have a tolerance to Dacthal so the herbicide can be used to control weeds in that area.

Perhaps the best chemical weed control now available to the home gardener is a pre-plant treatment with Vapam. Vapam can be used in home gardens to rid them of weeds as well as nematodes and several types of fungi.

Since it is a soil sterilant, it must be applied to a totally bare garden soil. Vapam can be easily applied to a well-worked-up garden soil, using a commonly available, hose-on-type sprayer.

After applying the chemical at the recommended rate, wait the garden surface enough to soak the chemical well into the soil.

Water the garden enough during the next few days to soak the surface.

On sandy soils, Cotner says, the Vapam treatment can be made more effective if the garden is covered with plastic sheeting, immediately after applying the chemical.

Vapam works extremely well but has the disadvantage that it must be applied several weeks prior to planting, to allow the chemical to completely dissipate in the soil.

It also does best if applied when soil temperatures are above 55 F. Consequently, best results are obtained when Vapam is applied during late summer or early fall, in anticipation of a relatively weed-and-disease-free fall garden.

Cotner says Vapam will greatly reduce weed and disease problems in the garden for 9 to 12 months if it is applied by the recommended methods, at the proper rate. Weeds are one of the biggest obstacles to home gardeners in Texas who want a productive and economical garden. But by judiciously using a mix of a long-handled hoe, a good mulching program, and approved and recommended chemicals, gardeners in Texas can make home gardening both enjoyable and profitable.

Texas crop sales generally stable

While the 1980 drought devastated crop yields in Texas, cash receipts remained generally stable due to higher prices.

Although final figures are not yet in, Texas Agricultural Extension Service estimates show cash receipts from crops at about $3.8 billion, down only slightly from 1979. Total receipts from all agricultural commodities for 1980 are pegged at just over $10.1 billion, almost the same as the previous year.

"These cash receipts, however, don't show the severity of damage that production levels underwent or the squeeze on net income," says Dr. Carl Anderson, Extension economist in marketing.

"Drought and higher production costs have placed serious financial hardships on many farmers. Young farmers and those depending heavily on credit for capital are under considerable financial strain. Record-high interest rates have added to the burden."

According to Anderson, hot dry conditions severely damaged crop production and caused subsequent price increases.

"Prices went up because of the small amount of crops that were available after the summer," explains Anderson.

Despite weather problems, last year's crop receipts should have an agribusines impact of about $16 billion on the Texas economy, he says.

As far as receipts from different commodities are concerned, cotton alone brought in $1.4 billion.

The South Plains of Texas brought in the bulk of cotton receipts with an estimated $665 million. South Texas (mainly the Rio Grande Valley) had the second highest cotton receipts at $163 million.

Wheat and grain sorghum ran a close race for second place among crop sales at about $450 million each.

Wheat, a winter and spring crop, generally escaped the drought's wrath. The Panhandle area led the state in value of wheat produced with $164 million while North Central Texas was second with a wheat crop of more than $85 million.

The Panhandle also boasted the highest cash value from grain sorghum in 1980 at $174 million. Second was the Coastal Bend with a sorghum crop valued at $116 million.

Corn ranked fourth on the list of estimated cash receipts from crops for 1980, totalling about $349 million. Top producing areas were the South Plains at $213 million.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deepest gratitude to Dr. and Mrs. Carlisle, the emergency staff, ambulance attendants, and nurses at Crockett County Hospital. We will never forget the food, floral offerings, and expressions of condolence we have received, nor the strength you have given in our time of sorrow. We especially thank the Baptist Church, the Lutheran Church, the Rev. McCain, Charles and Betty Huffman, Ruby Olson, and Alice and Ed Collett. May each of you be blessed with such true friends.

Library offers new books

Several new books have been placed on the shelves of the Crockett County Library for the summer reading pleasure of Ozona residents. The library is open through the summer on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. until noon and from 5 p.m. until 8 o'clock.

The new books feature a variety of reading and include Strong at the Broken Places by Max Cleland, Living with Your Feelings by Barry Bailey, The Secret of Abundant Living by Charles Allen, Southern Living, Quick and Easy Cookbook by Lee Cannon, Earl Campbell, The Driving Force by Sam Blair, Time Enough to Win-Roger Stauback by Frank Luksa.

Other selections include Thundering Sneakers by Prudence Mackintosh, Little Gloria, Happy at Last by Barbara Goldsmith, Come Pour the Wine by Cynthia Freeman, Hints from Heloise by Heloise, Shogun by James Clavell, Till Armageddon by Billy Graham, Key to Rebecca by Ken Follett, The Origin by Irving Stone, and Nicaragua Betrayed by Jack Cox and Somoza.

Bolder accessories are a major fashion update for Spring-Summer 1981. Remember that boldness creates emphasis, though, so be careful to use these accents for highlighting your positive features-and for drawing attention away from others.

Fleas invading Texas

Fleas seem to be making it big in Texas.

Over the last five to seven years, fleas seem to have become more and more of a problem, particularly in urban and suburban areas.

Cat fleas which infest dogs or cats and readily attack humans are the most common, says an urban entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Flea bites are extremely annoying and generally become increasingly sore and irritated over a period of a week or more, explains Dr. John M. Owens. Fleas most often bite people about the legs and ankles.

A small red spot with a light colored center appears where the mouthparts of the adult flea enters the skin. Applying cooling preparations such as carbolated vaseline, menthol, camphor, calamine lotion or ice will help relieve itching.

Severe allergic reactions or infections should be treated promptly by a physician.

Although fleas can transmit bubonic plague and murine typhus, these diseases are rare.

Flea control must include treatment of the pets and thorough treatment of the entire premises--indoors and outdoors. These three areas should be treated simultaneously to break the "flea cycle" and get effective control, emphasizes the entomologist.

Insecticides containing carbaryl (Sevin), dichlorvos (DDVP), pyrethrin, rotenone, malathion, methoxychlor or propoxur (Baygon or Sendran) are labeled for use on animals. Dusts or powders are generally preferred over sprays for treating pets and should be used at three to four-day intervals when infestations are heavy.

Rub the dust into the animal's fur by hand. Be especially thorough around ears, between legs and around the tail. Try to avoid getting dust in the eyes, mouth and nostrils. Flea collars which contain propoxur appear to be superior to those which only contain dichlorvos. Be sure to read the label before using any of these products and consult a veterinarian if questions arise.

Spray all infested outdoor areas such as the yard, porches, garages and out-buildings with chlorpyrifos (Dursban), diazinon, propoxur or carbaryl. Be sure to treat areas used by pets, and let the spray dry before pets or children are allowed to use treated areas, says Owens. Repeat the spray at two week intervals until fleas are controlled.

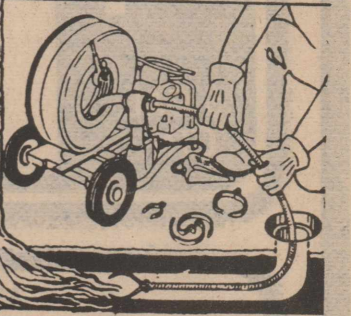

Inside the home, begin control measures with thorough cleaning. Vacuum all floors and upholstery and dispose of sweepings immediately to prevent flea escape and subsequent reinfestation. Also, launder all pet bedding.

Apply an insecticide spray of chlorpyrifos (such as Rid-A-Bug) to all floor areas, under and around upholstery cushions, and to pet bedding areas. Also spray moldings, baseboards and draperies to a height of one foot above floor level. Try to avoid further vacuuming and cleaning for 10-14 days after treatment.

While this insecticide should give three to four weeks of effective residual indoors, it will not rapidly knock down adult fleas. In conjunction with the residual spray indoors, homeowners might also use a non-residual insecticide applied as a total-release aerosol or fogger, suggests the entomologist. Products containing pyrethrins, resmethrin (SBP-1382) and dichlorvos are available to provide quick relief from indoor fleas.

Crockett County Care Center News

By Mary Wilton-Director of Activities & Social Care

Monday morning we were entertained with music by Vickie Stokes and we would like to thank her for coming by. Everyone always enjoys music and I noticed that several of the residents were singing along. Virginia Russell, Leona Harris, Maude Pettit and Louise McWilliams knew some of the songs and I might add they sounded very good.

After the music we had an exercise class, this week I noticed that Hilario Cortez and Jesus Hernandez had joined us. These exercise classes have become a very important part of our activity program and we are all having fun doing them.

Blanche Fortune was honored with a birthday party on Monday afternoon. Her daughter, Ruth Dorris was here to help celebrate the occasion. Hostesses were Dorothy Doll and Liz Mary Pipes. A pretty birthday cake, donated by Polly Epler, along with some punch, was served to all the residents and staff while Maude Pettit played the piano for us.

On Tuesday morning everyone was dressed and waiting for 10:00 to come. I had announced the day before that we were going to have a Sunshine Hour and no one was quite sure just what a sunshine hour was. They soon found out that it was sitting out on the front porch in the warm sunshine eating watermelon, cantaloupe, strawberries and apricots. Boy did we have fun! This was the first watermelon many of us had eaten this year and it sure was good. The porch was filled with residents and along with the juice on our faces were big smiles as everyone enjoyed the fresh fruit and visited with each other. Verna Talley, Nila Turnell, Ramona Lugo and Eunice Graham seemed to enjoy the watermelon most while there was no doubt that Leona Harris preferred the apricots. Seferino Garcia liked the cantaloupe best and Paul Cavin really enjoyed the strawberries. Everyone had a great time and we would like to thank Willie Tooke for donating the watermelon.

I have mentioned in the past that Jaspon and Dorothy had come by to see Maude Pettit. Well I did not know until this past week why they also visited with Louise McWilliams. Dorothy is Louise's daughter. Our volunteer of the week is Orphella Enriquez. She is the daughter of Hilario Cortez who is a resident here. Orphella visits daily and is so good to come when we play bingo to help those who otherwise would not be able to play. She is always here to help get the chips counted and the cards ready. I hope she knows how special she is to all of us.

Juana Hernandez won the most bingo games this week and was given a five dollar gift certificate donated by Clayton's Village Drug. Paul Cavin won second prize, a pair of socks and a handkerchief, that was purchased with the money from our activity fund.

We would like to thank Mrs. E. C. Alford for the powder and lotion she gave to the residents and Mrs. Myrtle Post for the Ideas magazines.

Volunteers helping us with the different activities this week were Georgia Kirby, Ruth Dorris, Doris Hoffman, Dorothy Doll, Doris Karr, Orphella Enriquez, Alice Ross, Annabell Patrick, Hazel Storms, and Kathy Storms. This is a very special group of ladies who give so much of their time and ask nothing in return. They do deserve a lot of love and appreciation for jobs well done. Thank you all so very much.

Taxpayers also have rights

Most taxpayers do not know that their tax forms can be used as evidence against them. Texas Congressman Jim Collins believes taxpayers should know and has introduced legislation that would mandate a list of taxpayers' rights be printed on all tax forms.

Collins' bill-H. R. 2389--also known as the Taxpayers' Bill of Rights for the printing of a list of taxpayers' rights during an audit, how a taxpayer appeals an adverse decision by the IRS, how taxpayers can file a complaint, and what procedures the IRS can use to collect revenues.

"Accused criminals are informed of their rights by law, why shouldn't taxpayers also be informed of their rights when dealing with the IRS? Taxpayers should know what their rights are and the best place to tell them would be on their forms."

"It is also ironic that the tax form can be used against the taxpayer, but advice the IRS gives taxpayers for filling out their forms cannot be used against the IRS," Collins said. His Bill of Rights also includes a provision to bind the IRS to the advice it gives taxpayers.

The Texas Congressman noted that for the average taxpayer, an IRS audit can be a frightening experience. "The taxpayer is at a disadvantage from the beginning. There are 14 volumes and over 7000 pages of complicated tax rules and regulations. The IRS agents are experts in this area but the average taxpayer is not. It is time we gave the honest, confused taxpayers their basic rights."

The Collins Taxpayers' Bill of Rights currently has 67 cosponsors and is in the Ways and Means Committee

Rabies increases in warm weather

As the weather gets warmer, our contact with dogs and wildlife increases. So does the possibility of contracting rabies. According to public health reports, an estimated one to one and one-half million dog bites alone are reported in the U.S. each year, and between 30,000 and 35,000 anti-rabies treatments are given. It is important to recognize the symptoms of rabid animals and to know how to treat animal bites in general. The Texas Medical Association (TMA) has some pointers which will help you identify and avoid animals which may have rabies.

The most common cases of rabies occur in wildlife such as skunks, raccoons, foxes and bats. Beware of abnormal behavior in animals. If a wild animal which usually shies away from people comes up to you and acts friendly, or if a typically friendly housepet suddenly becomes vicious, rabies should be suspected. If you're in the woods and a normally nocturnal animal approaches you during the day, this is a sign that the animal may be rabid. Stay as far away from it as you can. Technically, any warm-blooded animal can have rabies if attacked by a rabid animal.

In dogs, rabies can be identified if the dog either snaps at imaginary objects or sits quietly with its jaw hanging open, staring into space. A rabid dog's bark will be higher-pitched than usual, the pupils of the eyes will be larger and the mouth will foam or drool.

If you do happen to get bitten and you suspect rabies, call a doctor immediately. Animal bites pose other serious health threats besides rabies, however, such as infections and lockjaw. Any animal bite victim who hasn't had a tetanus shot in the last five to ten years should see a doctor. If the bite appears minor and the skin hasn't been broken, the wound can usually be taken care of at home just by washing it thoroughly and making sure that its condition doesn't worsen. If the bite is wide and deep, or if you're just not sure what to do, waste no time. Seek medical treatment.

Color your wardrobe "You"

Color your wardrobe "you" by knowing the special meanings of colors, says Ann Vanderpoorten, a clothing specialist.

Color is important in fashion-and in other aspects of life, she says.

"Colors cause physical and psychological reactions in people."

"In fact, clothing colors send emotional 'messages' about the wearer," the specialist says.

Light colors are generally seen as more cheerful, active and feminine than dark colors.

Dark colors, on the other hand, are viewed as sophisticated, reserved and "business-like."

True colors are more exciting and cheerful than subdued or grayed colors.

Warm colors, such as red, orange and yellow, are lively.

Cool colors--such as blues and greens, and neutral colors are restful and soothing. Cool colors have a receding effect, while neutrals may appear reserved or aloof.

Colors also affect apparent size and shape--dark colors are slimming, while light or bright colors make the figure appear larger.

"Learning to choose colors that enhance the individual's positive features and to express personality, mood and each person's unique individuality is fun, as well as rewarding," she adds.

Prepare appliances for move

Moving soon? Give your appliances special treatment.

Many appliances were made to "stay put" in one place after installation, so they require special moving steps.

Here are some of the steps you should know about: wedging, padding and bracing or bolting down of motors, compressors or washer tubs.

These are some appliances that need special moving treatment: the refrigerator, freezer, range, portable dishwasher, washer, dryer and window air conditioners.

These appliances have interior mechanisms that are swung on spring hangers to lessen vibration during operation.

Before you move, consider these "things to do":

Arrange for appliance servicing at the origin - and destination - of the move, or arrange for the moving company to do the appliance servicing.

Arrange for appliance disconnection and capping of gas pipes.

Clean and thoroughly dry appliances in preparation for servicing and moving. This will prevent damaging mold, odors or stains.

Disconnect, coil and tie electrical cords, and fasten them securely to the appliances. Also, it's a good idea to tape down the central knobs on all appliances.

Rancher's roundup to feature top speakers

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown and South Africa Foreign Minister Botha head the list of 110 speakers from seven prominent ranching states and five countries set to address hundreds of ranchers and landowners during the International Rancher's Roundup August 10-14 in the border city of Del Rio.

The event is being organized by Texas Agricultural Extension Service personnel in Uvalde. Co-chairmen A.L. Hoermann and Larry White, extension livestock and range specialists, respectively, said other dignitaries including U.S. Agriculture Secretary John Block, Texas Governor Bill Clements and U.S. Congressman E. Kika de la Garza are not yet confirmed because of pending legislative action in Washington and Austin.

Representatives from about two dozen of this state's leading ranches will have active parts on the program. These include Alta Verde Industries, Chaparrosa Ranch, Dolan Creek Ranch, Johnston Ranch, King Ranch, Maltsberger Ranch, Shahan Ranches, Shelton Enterprises, Jimmy Powell Ranch and Welge Ranch.

Experts from Angelo State, Clemson, Kansas State, Nebraska, New Mexico State, Oklahoma State, Texas Tech and Texas A&M Universities will have prominent roles in the broad-based forum. Six producer groups, two international concerns and eight state-federal agencies will be represented.

The chairmen said ranching delegations from Mexico, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa will visit during the week to discuss their respective nation's ranching situations and how American producers can help them. During daily general sessions the development and maintenance of foreign markets will be highlighted along with the long-term outlook for the ranching industry as affected by government policy and world-wide economic changes.

Daily concurrent sessions will be geared to improved management of beef cattle, sheep and goats, working ranch horses, range resource conservation, wildlife, animal nutrition, ranch business and mineral lease agreements, they noted.

Two day-long tours of progressively managed ranches in Southwest Texas and Northeast Mexico are being coordinated. Nightly entertainment after educational sessions has also been planned.

The chairmen stress that the deadline for pre-registration has been set for June 30. Individuals who register before that date will be assessed a tax-deductible fee of $125 and a couple, $150. After the June 30 deadline respective fees will increase by $50.

These registration fees, the specialists pointed out, are much less than those charged for similar conferences having less educational opportunities.

"We are very excited over the quality and number of Roundup speakers," the chairmen said. "This could become the largest, most comprehensive conference for ranchers ever held in the Southwest."

Pre-registration packets can be obtained by writing to IRR, P.O. Drawer 1849, Uvalde, Tex. 78801. Prospective participants are reminded that considerable registration savings can be realized by returning registration slips by June 30.

Myrtle Post Garden Club in meeting

The Myrtle Post Garden Club was held in the home of Mrs. Glenn Sutton, Monday at 7:00 p.m.

All members enjoyed a question and answer session on growing and caring for different types of plants. A Garden Therapy was read by Mrs. Sutton.

"If you take flowers to the sick, you perform a kindness and give pleasure, but if you teach someone to grow a beautiful flower, tree, or shrub, then you are helping to heal. That is Garden Therapy."

A plant auction was held after the meeting.

Present were Mrs. Glenn Sutton, Mrs. Lee Graves, Mrs. Phillip K. Smith, Mrs. T. R. Conner, Mrs. Pete Jacoby, Mrs. Jack Brewer, Jr., Mrs. Mike Vordick, Mrs. Scottie Houston and Miss Leta Powell.

Plant Clinic slated

A Plant Clinic will be held at the County Courthouse on June 30. Area Specialists from Fort Stockton will be here on that day from 9:30 to 11:00 a.m. and 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. to identify homeowners' horticultural problems and recommend controls.

If you have sick houseplants or garden problems plan to attend and bring your specimens to the clinic. Dr. Harold Kaufman, Plant Pathologist; Dr. Austin Stockton, Horticulturist; and Charles Neeb, Entomologist, will be present for the clinic. The clinic is sponsored by the Crockett County Extension Service. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion, or national origin.

Rick Smith to open at Globe

"Whenever it Rains: A Celebration of the Spirit of Odessa" by playwright Rick Smith was commissioned by the Globe of the Great Southwest and the Ector County Historical Commission for the Celebrate Odessa 100 activities commemorating the arrival of the Texas and Pacific Railway in the Odessa area in July of 1881, slated for production July 3, 4, 5, 10, and 11. "Whenever it Rains" tells of the birth and early growing pains of Odessa from the coming of the railroad to the discovery of oil.

Filled with humor and drama, "Whenever it Rains" uses a series of fast moving vignettes to trace the history of Odessa from its colorful beginnings through droughts and floods, feast and famine, love and hate, sickness and health, and finally, the discovery of oil to show that it took a special breed of pioneer and entrepreneur to survive the stark plains of West Texas.

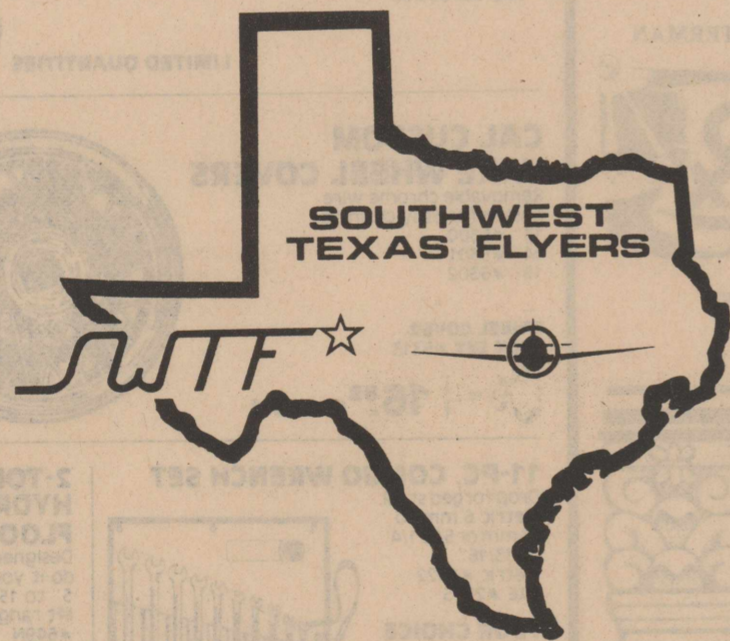

The characters in the production are all drawn from historical figures, though some are composite sketches of several early settlers. The play contains such colorful personalities as Col. T. F. Spangler, one of Odessa's original promoters who describes Odessa as "...just beyond the gates of heaven, not far from the end of the rainbow, just this side of utopia;" Jim and Molly Johnson, a young couple on their way to New Mexico who decide to settle in Odessa after the train runs over the mules pulling their wagon; and Sheriff Dawson, the man who built Odessa's first saloon in the middle of the intersection of 2nd Street and Lee Avenue because alcohol could not be served on any city lot.

For young and old, "Whenever it Rains" promises to be an exciting evening of entertainment. Performances are slated for 8:00 p.m., Friday and Saturday, July 3, 4, 10, and 11 with a Sunday matinee at 2:30 p.m., July 5. Admission is $5.00 for adults and $2.50 for students and senior citizens.

A special "Church day at the Globe" is scheduled for Sunday July 5. Church groups of 20 or more attending the Sunday matinee will receive a special discount. In addition, the Globe Green will be open for picnics at 12:00 noon on Sunday. The Globe and the Ector County Historical Commission will also host an "Original Odessan Dinner" for all Original Odessans at 6:30 p.m. Saturday July 11 prior to the final performance of "Whenever it Rains." For information and reservations contact the Globe of the Great Southwest.

Eye-saving advise by Medical Assn.

Concern for eye safety in sports is spreading due to the large number of eye injuries each year. Whether or not you normally wear glasses, the Texas Medical Association has some eye-saving advice for you.

Usually sports-related eye injuries occur while playing racquet games such as tennis or racquetball. In these sports there is a danger of being hit by a flying object such as a ball. The University of Texas and other universities now require all students in squash and racquetball to use eye protection of some sort.

Glasses provide protection by shielding the eyes from a direct hit or from being irritated by dust and other foreign matter. If you wear glasses, make sure that they are made of case-hardened glass or plastic. If an object should hit the lenses, you won't wind up with shattered glass in your eyes. If you are participating in an active sport, wear a headband or special strap to keep the glasses on you and not on the ground. Frames without adjustable nose-pads are recommended by the National Society to Prevent Blindness. Plastic frames are also safer for sports than metal ones, which can pierce the skin if someone or something happens to jolt them. If you are in the bright sun, wear dark glasses. They will not only keep your eyes from being hurt by the direct sunlight, but not squinting into the glare of the sun might even improve your game.

If you don't normally wear glasses you should still wear some kind of eye protection while playing active sports. Non-corrective goggles called "sports eye protectors," a face-shield, or non-corrective plastic or case-hardened glasses will keep your eyes from being injured by something hitting them.

Marijuana easy to buy in Texas

Most Texas communities have marijuana available for $30-$45 an ounce, and one out of every three adult Texans knows where to get it.

These are among the findings of a recent study on marijuana and alcohol use done by the Texas Criminal Justice Center at Sam Houston State University.

"Not only is marijuana readily available in Texas communities, but citizens probably know where to get it and regard such knowledge as commonplace," said Dr. Frank Williams, who conducted the study.

Results came from questionnaires mailed to 2,000 Texans aged 17 and older. Participants were selected at random from a list of licensed Texas drivers. A total of 1,306 returned completed questionnaires.

In the age group surveyed, Williams found, only 3.5% said they use marijuana at least once a week. Once-a-day users accounted for less than 2% of the survey.

Of those answering the survey, one quarter (25.6%) said they had used marijuana. Of that number, 70.7% said they no longer use it.

Williams concluded that first exposure to marijuana use is largely a youthful experience. The most common ages of first use were the late teens, 16 to 19, which accounted for 40% of those responding. Only 18% said they were 24 or older when they first tried marijuana.

The reason given most often (70.7%) for trying marijuana was "to satisfy my curiosity about what it was like." "To experience something new and exciting" was selected 42% of the time, and 21.1% said "friends and acquaintances pressured me into it."

Those who said they had used marijuana but had quit were asked why they quit. Over half said "I lost interest in it" (54.5%) or "It's illegal" (52.1%). Less than 1% said they quit because they started using other drugs.

Of all those surveyed, including ones who had never used marijuana, "fear of damage to the mind" was the reason most often given (57.3%) for not using the drug, followed by "it's illegal" (55.4%) and "fear of damage to the body" (54.1%).

Improving beef cattle efficiency

Beef is an important part of the American diet, but some consumers are changing their attitude toward the kinds, quantities and qualities of meat they want in their diet.

"A number of reports and consumer surveys in 1980 and early 1981 provide ample evidence that diet-health and prices have had a definite impact on the beef industry," says Dr. Gary Smith, professor and meats researcher with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Animal Science Department at Texas A&M University.

Increased awareness of the health implications of an excessively fatty diet and the housewife's growing reluctance to tolerate fat in and on meat have detrimentally affected current sales of red meats, notes Smith.

The beef cattle industry must decide that it is in the best interest of the consumer and the industry to improve the efficiency of beef production and find ways to improve efficiency, the researcher emphasizes.

The term "efficiency of beef production" may be either biological or economic (18.8%) or "somewhat likely" (21%).

Only one in four (25.2%) felt that courts handle properly those arrested. A total of 46.6% said courts were "somewhat easy" (36.1%) or "very easy" (10.5%) while 28% felt courts were "very severe" (9.9%) or "somewhat severe" (18.1%). Respondents were asked their opinion of penalties for possession of marijuana. An ounce of marijuana will make from 10-25 cigarettes, and two ounces or less is considered legally to be an amount likely kept for personal use as opposed to sale.

About one in three felt the penalty for possession of two ounces or less, $1,000 fine and/or 180 days in jail, was about right, and 44.4% felt the penalty was not harsh enough.

The penalty for possessing more than four ounces of marijuana is a fine of $5,000 and/or 10 years in prison. A total of 39% said that penalty was about right, while 37.1% said it was not harsh enough.

"When coupled with the low estimates of the percentage of marijuana users that the police catch, a picture emerges which suggests that marijuana use is not generally too likely to result in contact with the legal system," said Williams.

"Perhaps as a result of this general picture, there is a tendency for Texans to feel that sentences should be a little more severe than they are at present."

Only 17.7% said that use of marijuana should not be against the law.

Two-thirds of all surveyed (66%) and three-fourths of users (75.6%) felt that use of marijuana does not lead to use of stronger drugs.

The survey also determined that three out of five Texans use no tobacco products, while 31.4% reported they smoke cigarettes.

Almost three in ten Texans surveyed (28.3%) do not use any drugs, including aspirin. The most frequently used drug was aspirin (48.9%) followed by vitamins (44%).

Check new appliances immediately after they're delivered to the home, advises Bonnie Piernot, a family resource management specialist.

Try out every feature and control-to detect possible defects before the appliance is out of warranty, she says.

"Many consumers don't discover appliance problems until the warranty has expired, simply because they didn't get around to trying every feature during the warranty period," the specialist notes.

For example, even the "biggy" features go unused in many cases, such as the self-cleaning feature of the self-cleaning ovens. Many buyers don't use the oven enough to feel the need to clean it frequently, so they don't use the feature until "way down the line," Mrs. Piernot says.

You pay for the appliance warranty as part of your purchase, so to gain full advantage of it, you must "put the appliance through its paces" before warranty expiration, she says.

If you do find a problem, don't "live with" the defective appliance. Promptly report the defect to the dealer and give him enough time to correct it. Satisfied consumers are good word-of-mouth advertisers.

If you are not satisfied with the dealer's action, report the problem to the manufacturer. Manufacturers, like dealers, want satisfied customers.

Put the complaints to both the dealer and the manufacturer in writing and keep copies. This precaution will help you in case you must take further action by contacting any of the consumer-assistance agencies.

"Remember, along with the appliance's other features, you purchased a warranty. It makes sense to let that warranty work effectively for you," the specialist adds.

Reducing fatness of beef is also an important aspect of improving efficiency.

The primary concern of the industry is to reduce fatness without destroying the credibility of the beef industry for providing a highly palatable and consistently high quality product, Smith announces.

Fortunately, it's possible to do both, he says. With the use of science and technology, it is possible to increase leanness of beef and maintain desired levels of its flavor, juiciness and tenderness.

efficiency, and though these two measures of efficiency are related, they have separate uses, he adds.

Biological efficiency is the weight and quality of beef produced in terms of the feed and pasture.

Economic efficiency, or profit, is the market value of the cattle produced in terms of production costs.

Beef cattle efficiency can be improved through better breeding, feeding and beef carcasses.

Breeding cattle can have an important effect on production efficiency because the cost of breeding is relatively low, says Dr. T. C. Cartwright, also a professor and Experiment Station researcher at Texas A&M.

Cartwright adds that there are three basic breeding applications: selecting for increased productivity, matching genetic potential to production resources and market, and the systematic use of hybrid vigor.

But, breeding by itself is not likely to contribute to overall efficiency, he announces, unless it is considered along with the nutrition, management, health and market conditions.

The beef cattle population now includes cattle of widely differing types and they are fed a variety of feedstuffs.

These feeds range from poor quality mature range grasses and crop residues to high energy cereal grain diets and all combinations in between, says Dr. F. M. Byers, professor and another Experiment Station researcher at Texas A&M.

Byers says the goal of the various feed systems is to match feed resources with the physiological potential for nutrient use in cattle to be fed-thus improving efficiency.

Correcting computer errors is difficult

They are stories with a familiar ring to them: credit card charges for items never purchased, payments never credited to an account, a check bounced when there was more than enough money to cover it.

What makes these errors so frustrating is not so much that they happen, but that in this computer age, correcting them can be extremely difficult. There seems to be no person who can solve the problem right then. This can happen with a bank, department store, credit card company, or a government agency.

The Internal Revenue Service has changed this with the Problem Resolution Program (PRP). Each of the IRS's 58 district offices has a PRP office whose specialty is helping taxpayers who have previously contacted the IRS with their tax problems, but have run into insistent computers, or for some other reason feel dissatisfied with the service they have received.

Someone with a tax problem would normally contact IRS Taxpayer Assistance, or in the case of a letter or notice from the IRS, call the number provided. Generally, questions are answered and problems solved right there - but not always. That's when the PRP office steps in.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay
Here's one hard to believe, but it's true. Although the Chicago White Sox have been playing in the American League every year since 1901, they have had only one player in 80 years who ever led the league in batting at the end of any season. That was Luke Appling who was the American League batting champion in 1936 and 1943.

Ever wonder why the port of badminton is called "badminton"? It was first played at the state of the Duke of Beaufort in England and the Duke's estate was named "Badminton". The sport took its name from the Duke's home.

Which current big league baseball manager was once an All-American basketball player? Answer is San Diego Padres manager Frank Howard. Howard was an All-American in basketball at Ohio State in the 1950s.

I bet you didn't know... When you are ready to shop for a new car or pickup come by L-B Motor Co. and we will help you and give you the deal of the year. Also see our used cars. We have a large selection to pick from.
