Telephone service restored

Long distance telephone service was restored at approximately 5:00 p.m. Wednesday to the communities of Barnhart, Big Lake, Ozona and Sonora after a long distance cable was accidentally severed by a local highway construction firm working on a highway widening project, according to Melvin Jennings, San Angelo division manager for General Telephone Company.

Jennings said, "The cut to the 50 pair underground cable that provides service to more than 5,000 customers in these four communities occurred at approximately 12:30 p.m. Monday some eight miles east of Barnhart on Highway 67."

"We sincerely regret the inconvenience this accident may have caused our customers," Jennings concluded.

Plant clinic is Tuesday

Are you having problems with house plants, garden plants, or landscape plants? A plant clinic will be held June 30, Tuesday, from 9:30 to 11:00 a.m. and again from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. in the front of the courthouse on the porch.

Area specialists from Fort Stockton will be here to identify your horticulture problems and recommend controls. If you have sick houseplants or garden problems plan to attend and bring your specimens to the clinic. Dr. Harold Kaufman, plant pathologist; Dr. Austin Stockton, horticulturist; and Charles Neeb, entomologist, will be working at the clinic.

The clinic is sponsored by the Crockett County Extension Service.

VFW sets barbecue

The Ozona Veterans of Foreign Wars Post will have its annual Commander's barbecue Saturday, June 27, with serving time to begin at 8:00 p.m. at the post home. A barbecue dinner with all the trimmings will be served free of charge to members and guest members.

REHAB FUND KICK-OFF-Dee Kellers and Bob Fallmer, right, present a check to Jack Baggett, chairman of the Crockett County West Texas Rehabilitation Building Fund, as a Lions Club contribution to the fund. The check, in the amount of $250, is the first donation for the drive in Ozona.

The center plans to build a new facility in San Angelo and Mr. and Mrs. Baggett are co-chairmen for this area. A building campaign reception will be held June 28, at the Circle Bar Solarium, at which time donations and pledges for donations will be accepted.

TABS aggregate scores given to school board

Results of the second Texas Assessment of Basic Skills (TABS) tests taken by Ozona third, fifth and ninth grade students last February were presented to the Crockett County School board of trustees at their meeting this month.

While district and aggregate scores are reported to the public, individual scores are released only to the student, parents or guardian, and school personnel. Scores have been released to parents of students taking the tests. Letters and individual scores were sent to parents before the aggregate scores were presented to the school board by Superintendent of Schools Foy Moody.

The scores were up from last year when ninth and fifth graders took the test for the first time. Third graders were added this year and several ninth grade students who took the test last year were re-tested at the grade 10 exit level, five being tested in math, 22 in reading and 19 in writing.

The TABS has two purposes, to identify individual weaknesses and to develop programs that will remedy those weaknesses.

Of the ninth graders tested or re-tested, scores came up dramatically. Of the five students re-tested in math, four mastered the test while one did not, giving an 80 percentile for the eleven part test. In the reading test, 22 students were re-tested, with 14 mastering the reading skills and 8 failing to do so, giving a 64 percentile of passing. Students retested in writing numbered 19, with 17 mastering and 2 failing to do so. However, the handwriting part of the test saw all students rated acceptable.

Taking the test for the first time were 82 ninth graders. Of this number 67 mastered the math test while 15 did not. As a group they scored highest in adding and subtracting whole numbers for a 99 percentile. They scored lowest in solving personal finance problems, only showing a 49 percent mastery in this skill.

The 82 ninth graders scored lowest in the reading section of the test, 54 mastering the skills and 28 failing to do so. The lowest scores in reading came in using parts of a book and making generalizations. The highest reading scores came in following written directions and reference skills.

The ninth graders scored highest in the writing part of the test, with 70 mastering the skills and 12 failing for an 85 percentile of mastery. They scored highest in spelling and lowest in punctuation.

Of the 85 students taking the test in the fifth grade, 87 percent mastered the writing test, 77 percent achieved mastery in the mathematics test, and 69 percent in the reading test. In math they scored highest in interpreting graphs and adding and dividing whole numbers. The lowest scores came in interpreting place value and solving word problems.

In the reading section of the test the highest scores came in context and following written directions, where 88 percent mastered the skills. The lowest scores came in drawing conclusions and distinguishing fact from non-fact, where just over 50% were able to achieve mastery.

The fifth graders had an 87 percent mastery in writing skills, with a 99 percent mastery in handwriting. Their lowest score in this part of the test came in punctuation where 56 mastered the skill and 28 did not.

Of the 80 students taking the three-part test in third grade, 81 percent achieved mastery in math, 82 percent in reading and 85 percent in writing. The students had a 100 percent acceptable handwriting average.

The third graders scored highest in the math section in adding whole numbers and identifying fractions for a 94 percent mastery in these skills. They scored lowest in the order of whole numbers and units of measure.

In the reading part, the third graders scored highest in phonics with a 93 percent mastery. They scored lowest in identifying the main idea with a 64 percent mastery.

Spelling topped the writing test with 96 percent of the third graders mastering

Oil & gas make economy bright

Oil and gas play a big part in the booming economy of Crockett County. Reports were received here this week on the state's output of crude oil and condensate for the year of 1980. With all the activity in this area, there is every reason to believe the county's output will be even greater when the figures are compiled at the end of this year. There were no statistics for the county's natural gas output, but it is every bit as important to the well-being of the county as the crude oil and condensate output.

Despite a ninth consecutive year of maximum production schedules (the maximum efficient recovery rate) in nearly all of Texas' fields, the state's annual output of crude oil and condensate last year fell below the one-billion barrel mark for the first time since 1965. Moreover, a downward production trend continued for the eighth consecutive year since Texas' output peaked in 1972.

Crockett County, which has had recorded production since 1925, last year produced 4,955,011 barrels of crude oil and condensate at the rate of 13,538 barrels per day. Production in 1980 boosted Crockett County's production total through the end of the year to 264,937,428 barrels.

The total of 960-million barrels included more than 931-million barrels of crude oil. Also produced was 29-million barrels of condensate, according to figures compiled by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

Last year's production level showed a drop of more than 46.5-million barrels from 1979 output and was more than 330-million barrels below 1972 production of almost 1.3-billion barrels. Nevertheless, production in 1980 pushed the all-time cumulative total since 1889 to almost 45.7-billion barrels of crude oil and condensate.

Edwin L. Cox, president of the Dallas-based Association, noted that despite the drop in output there is a very encouraging trend in one aspect of industry activity: Since President Carter began a gradual phaseout of crude oil price controls on June 1, 1979, a phaseout accelerated by President Reagan, the number of wells drilled in Texas has skyrocketed.

School board raises salaries

The Crockett County School Board of Trustees raised teacher salaries $2,000 above the state level in their meeting this month. This figure is double the amount paid last year above the level set by the state.

Also several new teachers' contracts were approved at the meeting. Becky Allen, a Tarleton State graduate, was hired to teach first grade, along with Jeannine Perry, an Angelo State University graduate. There will be six first grades this year, due to the large number of kindergartners last year.

Deana Porter, with a masters from ASU, will teach second grade. Thomas Hanson, another ASU graduate will teach seventh grade math. Terri Kemp has been hired to teach girls junior high P.E. and Jan Henderson, an ASU journalism graduate, will teach seventh grade English. Robert Hicks, with a degree from A & M, will be the new high school vocational ag. instructor.

Resignations were accepted from Kathy Palmer, first grade teacher; Nesa Smith, kindergarten; Joyce Maness, seventh grade; Karl Vancil, high school ag.; Linda Vancil, junior high English; and David Moore, high school civics and history.

The board will approve the preliminary budget and set the tax rate at its monthly meeting July 8. Superintendent Foy Moody said Crockett County had been fortunate over the years in that as inflation has edged the budget upward, valuations have gone up at the same time, enabling the system to keep taxes low, and to even lower them some years.

Mahon to close Ozona practice

Having retired last year as District Attorney after serving 18 years in that office and 10 years prior as County Attorney, it has been learned by the Stockman that Dixon Mahon will end the civil practice of law in Ozona on September 1, of this year. He has practiced law here for 30 years.

His wife, Eileen, moved to their home in San Antonio last year but they have decided now to live at their ranch home near Hunt. Readers will remember their children who were raised here. Scott, who is now the County Auditor of Andrews County, played end on the Lion football team. Cynthia, now Mrs. George Griffin of Arlington, was drum major-ette at Ozona High School.

Dixon says that although they may spend some time at their home on the Pacific in Mexico, he will probably establish an office sometime in the future in Ingram.

He will remain "of counsel", that is in a limited consulting capacity to the firm in Ozona to be continued by Bill Mason and Tom Cameron under the name of Mason and Cameron. He explained that Mason and Cameron will retain all files and that he is confident all of his clients will maintain their business with the Ozona firm.

PREPARING FOR PLANT CLINIC-Beth Boyd and Debra Price examine a plant which will get attention at the plant clinic Tuesday at the courthouse, in the back yard of the Boyd home. Experts will be on hand to assist with all plant problems at the clinic. Gardeners need to take their alling houseplants and potted plants and specimens of trees and shrubs which are giving problems.

ANTIQUA AUTOMOBILE and its owners made a stop in Ozona Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hendricks of Phoenix, Ariz. stand by their 1924 Ford they drove from Phoenix enroute to the Veteran Motor Car Club of America meet in Fredricksburg. The Hendricks left Phoenix at 5:00 a.m. Friday and drove to Ozona by mid-afternoon. The 4 cylinder, 20 horsepower, motor ran like a top according to the Hendricks. It is in mint condition and cost $265 just off the lot in 1924. They have made several tours with the vintage automobile and have driven it all the way. The car has never been pulled to a meet by trailer.

SHEEP AND GOAT NEWS

By Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association

Time is getting short, so plan now if you haven't already to be in Del Rio July 16-18 for the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association annual convention.

As has been the case the past couple of years, this year's convention will feature a special seminar of interest to ranchers. If you have heirs or are one, you'll be particularly interested in

PBPA energy report

In October of 1980, a newly elected, liberal Canadian government unveiled its National Energy Plan. Almost immediately, rigs, crews and money began crossing the U.S./Canadian border and there's still no sign of stopping the flow. The Canadian Petroleum Association has predicted that 10 billion dollars would be spent this year for exploration and production in that country. The Association now says only about 6.5 billion dollars will be spent in 1981. In 1980, 17.5 billion was spent, almost three times this year's projected figure. In addition to the Canadian Governments action of imposing new regulations and taxes on Canadian oil, the price of a barrel of oil is only $17.75.

The Atlantic Richfield Company and Santa Fe International have signed an agreement with China to explore and develop an area of Hainan Island in the South China Sea. Several of the wildcat wells off the island should average about 16 to 17,000 feet at a cost of about 10 million dollars a well. The U.S. companies will assume all exploration costs. Drilling may begin by the end of this year.

The country of Kuwait, a member of OPEC, has entered into a $100 million dollar joint venture with a Phoenix Company to explore for oil and gas in the United States.

And, the national rig count set its 21st record this year with 3,860 making hole. That's 37% more than this time last year. In the past 12 months, 88 new rigs have gone into service each month.

The Permian Basin rig count for last week was 440. One year ago it was 324.

our Estate Planning Seminar beginning at 7 p.m. Thursday, July 16, at the Del Rio Convention Center and continuing through Friday morning.

Seminar panelists include estate tax specialists Jim Taylor, Juno and Austin, Alvin Hay, San Angelo, and Vester Hughes, Dallas, plus Ft. McKavett rancher James L. Powell, livestock industry representative on the National Cattlemen's Association's Tax Committee. Panel moderator will be James T. Hunt, chairman of the TS&GRA Tax and Labor Committee. With the beneficial estate tax changes enacted by the recent Texas Legislature, this is bound to be a hot session.

Convention activities will kick off Thursday at 2 p.m. with the Texas Animal Damage Control Association meeting, followed at 5:30 by a Border Buttermilk Party and at 7 by the opening session of the tax seminar.

Registration for the 66th annual TS&GRA convention begins Friday morning at 10:30. Committees will meet Friday afternoon beginning at 1 p.m., followed by a 6 p.m. reception sponsored by American Cyanamid Co., a 7:30 fish fry and a dance at 9 p.m.

Saturday's session begins at 7:15 with the past presidents' breakfast. The general session begins at 9 a.m., and gives way at 6 p.m. to another Cyanamid reception. The annual Membership Banquet will begin at 8 p.m. Saturday night.

Convention speakers include U.S. Representative Kika de la Garza and National Wool Growers president Marv Cronberg.

The pre-registration fee for this year's convention will be $22.50. $25 if you fail to pre-register. Cost for the Estate Tax Seminar is an additional $5.

You must make your own room reservations.

Those of you who've made a habit of attending the annual convention know it's always been both fun and informational; those who haven't made such a habit should be thinking about taking it up.

High milk supplies save money

Milk supplies are up and that should be good news to consumers faced with steadily increasing food prices.

Furthermore, June is "Dairy Month," so consumers will want to take advantage of special promotions of dairy products.

Because of a bountiful supply of milk, prices for both fresh milk and dairy products should be generally steady during the summer.

In fact, many stores and supermarkets will likely be featuring 'specials' on a host of dairy products in the weeks ahead.

While food prices have jumped sharply in recent months, the average retail price of all dairy products has increased at a slightly slower rate than the average of all food prices, points out Dr. Bud Schwart, dairy marketing economist with the Extension Service.

"Dairy products are a good buy any time because they come in a variety of forms and are versatile as a main dish or snack," says Schwart. "Furthermore, there is little or no waste with dairy products."

As far as the Texas dairy industry is concerned, the state is the ninth leading milk producer but is the largest in the South, Southwest or Central Plains region.

Texas boasts almost 2,600 dairymen who have 122 cows on the average. These produced some 3.6 billion pounds of milk last year. Cash receipts from milk totaled $505 million in 1980, which was 5 percent of the state's total agricultural income and 9 percent of the cash receipts from the animal agriculture industry.

All this makes dairying the second largest animal agriculture income producer in Texas, second only to meat animals.

Supt. Moody said school personnel was pleased with the overall results, generally speaking, but would not be satisfied until 100 percent mastery was achieved in all the grades tested.

He said apparently the handwriting was the strongest overall skill with the 99 and 100 percent mastery in all grades. After a 25 percent mastery in the fifth grade of distinguishing fact from non-fact in the 1980 test, he noted that this area achieved a 53 percent mastery in the 1981 test. He also pointed out strong improvement in the exit level test with a 20 percent improvement over 1980.

Moody said the big improvement over last year could be credited to a lot of work on the basic skills or that the tests have been made easier. In seeking even more improvement in the tests, Moody said the changing of the curriculum to present material before the tests are given would help. Also, proposed changes in the promotion and retention policy of the system will have an affect on improving scores.

Moody also said the mobil population in Ozona schools could lower test scores. A stable population lends itself to better results. For instance in the past school year, 91 students enrolled in the kindergarten to second grades after the first day of school, while 68 checked out. This tends to lower scores, Moody said, because the test must be given to every child in the grades tested.

The course is sponsored by the Texas Extension Service. If students did not enroll for the course at school, you can call Debra Price at 2-2721 to enroll.

Crockett County Care Center News

By Mary Wilton-Director of Activities & Social Care

Maude Pettit returned Monday after a weekend out with her family. She told us all about how her grandson won three turkeys at a turkey shoot and how much fun she had.

Tuesday morning was a cool cloudy day but we had a very good sunshine hour here. The lobby was filled with residents anxiously awaiting 10:00. No one was sure what the sunshine would be. Dorothy Doll came by to help me get things ready and it was fun to watch everyone as they sat in the lobby trying to see what I was doing to the dining room. No one refused to take one of the Coke floats when we passed them around. Leona Harris told us that it had been quite some time since she had eaten one and several others agreed with her. This is a fun time of the week that everyone looks forward to because they are never sure what Tuesday morning will be like. After we finished our Coke floats we did about twenty minutes of exercises.

In Bible Study we are now studying the book of Acts. There was a good group gathered in the Day Room this week and after I read two chapters we had a discussion about Paul.

In our Reading & Discussion this week there were fifteen residents and three visitors. Pauline Alexander, daughter of Paul Cavin, and Alma Wilson, daughter of Verna Talley, read to us from the Little House on the Prairie. Alma also told us about her recent trip to California and New Mexico.

Social Security system adapts to changing needs

One of the strengths of the Social Security system is its ability to adapt to changing needs. When the original Social Security Act was passed in 1935, the United States was a much different place than it is today. Over the years, the law has been amended on several occasions in an effort to keep it up to date to new conditions. The treatment of women under Social Security is a case in point. In 1935, the typical American family consisted of a husband - the breadwinner - and his dependent wife who cared for their children; and, for the most part, they remained together until "death did them part." Only about one in every four women was gainfully employed.

Today, by contrast, we find one divorce for every two marriages, and more than half of all women including half of all married women are in the workforce. Obviously, the once clearcut distinction between men as wage earners and women as homemakers no longer exists. Nevertheless, in large measure the program continues to treat women primarily as adult dependents.

In recognition of the changing roles of men and women in our society, Congress requested the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare to study the issue of equity for women under the Social Security program. The department report was submitted in February 1979. While offering no specific recommendations, it did suggest two approaches for consideration - an earnings sharing plan and a double-decker option.

Under earnings sharing, one-half the total annual earnings of both a husband and wife would be credited to each, regardless of whether one or both were employed. At retirement, benefits for each would be based on half the total earnings during the time they were married, and on their individual earnings during the years they were single.

The rationale for this proposal is that a husband and wife are partners in a marriage and, whether gainfully employed or a homemaker, should share earnings equally. In this sense, neither is considered a dependent of the other.

Certain requirements, regardless of his or her earnings. In addition, the person would get a benefit based on his or her earnings covered by Social Security.

The issue of equity for women was considered by the 1979 Advisory Council on Social Security, which is appointed every 4 years. The council suggested that earnings sharing is the more promising approach, but refrained from recommending it since the plan still has to be refined.

While the final word on the question of equity for women under Social Security has not been spoken, one thing is clear: Social Security will continue to adapt to society's changing needs - for the decade of the 80's and beyond.

Basketball camp for Ozona girls

Six Ozona junior high school girls attended Bob Schneider's Texas Women's Basketball Camp, held in Denton last week. The camp, made up of 172 girls, started Sunday and was concluded Friday with a group demonstration and the all star game.

Girls from here attending were Donna Sanchez, Kim Williams, Radene Flores, Vanessa Miller, Jena Allen, Vicki Reagor and Julie Reagor.

Kim Williams was chosen to play on the American League all star team and scored four points during the game. She also received two awards, "most improved passer" and "most improved set shot."

Donna Sanchez received two awards, "best passer" and "best set shot" in the entire camp.

LIN YIN TEMPLE in Hangchow, China, was the site of a chance meeting of four Ozona women. Crystelle Carson, Norma Carson and Ella Clegg were making a tour of the provinces when they ran into Geniece Childress at this temple as she was touring the country with a museum group.

Ozona women on China trip

Crystelle Childress, Norma Carson and Ella Clegg recently returned from a three-week tour of The Peoples Republic of China.

In Lin Yin Temple in Hangchow, the three women just happened to see Geniece Childress, who was touring China with a Lubbock museum group. They all thought it quite remarkable that they should run into each other in the large populous country.

In Peking they saw the Great Wall, Forbidden City, Summer Palace, Ming Tombs and Mao's Memorial.

The excavation of Ch'in's Tomb, for whom China was named, and 2,000 years old, with life-size clay soldiers and horses was seen in Sian.

They toured a tea commune, a hospital, schools, factories, temples, gardens, pagodas, and many other interesting and historical places in Canton, Nanking, Wuxi, Souchow, Hangchow, Shanghai, and Hong Kong.

The Ozona women were impressed with the Chinese people and their friendly, hardworking ways, also their curiosity of the outside world.

Tim Ogilvy of Odessa is spending the week here with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Evert White.

Homemakers clubs lead assault on inflation

While the federal government searches for answers to problems of inflation, 4,000 Extension Homemakers Club members in Texas taught solutions for coping with inflation to 21,000 others last year.

Club members in almost all Texas counties choose educational programs they wish to pursue each year, and after the County Extension Agent (Home Economics) instructs them in the various subjects, members, in turn, teach others.

Since inflation has affected all families and their lifestyles, most program requests focused on money management, foods, clothing, health, housing and home furnishings or family life last year, June Cline, organization specialist, explains.

Cline, on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, serves as advisor to the Texas Extension Homemakers Association.

Leader teaching—or leader training—as it is called in Texas, relies on the "learn-by-doing" method, again a popular method of sharing information and helping people, Cline adds.

"Side-effect benefits of being a leader-teacher are numerous," the specialist says.

"First, the leader gets in-depth learning in the subject matter.

"Second, the feeling that one has helped others learn is rewarding.

"And, finally, the self-confidence level is a satisfying one as a leader teaches friends and neighbors ideas and skills that will make a better family life, even in the days of inflation."
