Sr. stars to host dist. tournament

Ozona will host the district Senior League Baseball Tournament which will begin here tonight at the park north of town. District teams are Big Lake, San Angelo and Ozona. The tournament winner will proceed to bi-district in Abilene.

The tournament will get underway tonight at 7:00 o'clock with a game between the San Angelo all stars and Big Lake. Thursday evening the Ozona all stars will play the winner of the Wednesday game and Friday night the losers will be pitted against each other. The championship game will be held Saturday night at 7:00 to decide the winner of the district.

The Ozona Little League all stars lost their first playoff game to Pecos Monday night in Pecos by a close 4-3 score. They will play Big Lake here tonight at 8 in a two-game elimination.

Blood drive is Tuesday

All red-blooded Ozonans between the ages of 17 and 65 are urged to show up at the hospital Tuesday, July 21, to give a pint of blood for their community.

The blood drive is being sponsored by the Ozona Lions Club and will begin at 3:00 p.m. and continue through 8:30 p.m.

Two $50 savings bonds have been donated by Ozona National Bank and First Savings and Loan. Donors will register for the bonds when they go in and a drawing will be held at the end of the day.

Drawing blood only takes a few minutes and the pain is no more severe than pinching oneself with thumb and fore-finger.

Tennis tourney Sat.-Sun.

The annual tennis tournament, sponsored by the Ozona Chamber of Commerce is on tap for this weekend and so far only fifteen entries have been received for the event. Deadline for entries is 5 p.m. Friday, so those who have just been putting it off need to get by the chamber office and enter.

Fee for all single events is $5 and for all doubles, $10 per team. There will be several divisions for both men and women.

Trophies will be awarded all first and second place winners and all players should report to the courts at Ave. H and Third St. by 8:00 a.m. Saturday.

Texas crude oil report

Texas crude oil production totaled 74,062,276 barrels in April, according to a preliminary report released today by the Railroad Commission's Oil and Gas Division.

The figure compares with final compilations of reported March 1981 production totaling 77,400,736 barrels and April 1980 production of 77,376,009 barrels.

BALES OF HAY BURN UP A BALE OF MONEY. Still smoldering at noon Thursday, some 1500 bales of hay at Ranch Feed were being watched closely by employees and firemen. The fire started around 9:30 Wednesday night and firemen fought the blaze until 2:00 a.m. using some 30,000 gallons of water, before retiring for the night. They returned to the scene at least three times when the mounds of hay threatened to break into flame again.

New pass-fail policy is passed by school board

Ozona school students are going to have to hit the books and make their grades from now on in order to be promoted. The Crockett County School Board approved a new promotion policy at their meeting last Wednesday.

The biggest change came in grades 6 through 8, where promotion from any of these grades will be based upon performance in academic subjects. A student in sixth, seventh and eighth grades will be promoted or retained based on the passing of a minimum of four semesters of work in academic areas. To be promoted from sixth or seventh grades students must have mastered math, history, English and reading. To be promoted from eighth grade to ninth grade, students must have passing grades in language arts, history, math, and science.

Failure to pass a minimum of four semesters of work will result in automatic retention and permission of parents will not be required. If a student is retained because of failure to pass the four minimum semesters, he or she will not be permitted to participate in athletics the following year.

In grades kindergarten through fifth grade promotion or retention will be based on grades, recommendation of teacher and principal, and achievement test scores. Using these three factors as the center of consideration, a recommendation to retain will be made after a conference among parents, teacher and principal. Permission to retain shall be received from the parents before retention is final.

In high school, no credit will be given for a semester's work that is not passed. To receive credit toward graduation, the student would need to repeat the semester failed.

The new promotion and retention policy was approved unanimously.

In other business, the resignations of Wayne Palmer and Basil Freeman were accepted. Freeman has accepted a position with the Sonora school district and Palmer resigned to go into private business.

Cafeteria salaries were raised to $3.75 per hour for cooks and tray helpers and to $3.25 per hour for servers. Supervisors salaries were set as follows: Maintenance Supervisor, $18,600; assistance Maintenance Supervisor $14,400 and Cafeteria Super-

In meeting Monday—

Commissioners have long day

Crockett County Commissioners met Monday in regular monthly session attending to routine business and meeting with several groups and individuals having requests to make of the county. The extended agenda saw the court in all day session with only a brief luncheon break.

The court heard requests from Dr. David Owensby of Sonora, a group of Ozona firemen and a delegation from the Crockett County Historical Society during the morning hours. Following the luncheon break, Gene Lilly and Charles Huffman met with the court on behalf of the hospital board.

Dr. David Owensby, who practices medicine in Sonora, was here on behalf of Sutton County, to ask that Crockett County reimburse his county for indigent patient care, most especially the delivery of babies for Ozona women. Dr. Owensby inferred that local indigents were being sent to Sonora by referral from Ozona physicians or hospital personnel. The court agreed to turn the matter over to County Attorney Tom Cameron. However, in a telephone interview with Hospital Administrator Glen Rumley Tuesday morning, this was categorically denied. Rumley said local physicians had not refused obstetric care to local residents, and the hospital had not transferred nor referred patients to the Sonora facility. He did cite a recent case where the ambulance service transferred a woman to Sonora after she told them Dr. Owensby in Sonora was her physician. He said this was done "purely out of courtesy."

A group of Crockett County Volunteer Firemen met with the court to request a new "town" pumper truck. Meeting with the court were Dorris Haire, Steve Kenley, David Cooke and Dee Keilers. Haire was spokesman for the group. The court was informed that since the Ford pumper truck, used for fires in the city, was over 30 years of age, the Texas State Board of Insurance has dropped the credit that had been allowed on the truck, meaning an additional 3-cent increase in the "key rate" for Ozonans. According to Haire, the Baggett Agency, which has fire insurance on most Ozona homes and businesses, estimated that the cost to Ozonans would be an extra $25,000 per year in premiums, and that a conservative figure.

The court was informed a new pumper, meeting state requirements, would cost an estimated $95,000. Manufacturers estimate that at the present rate of inflation, each year delayed would add an additional $10,000 to the cost of the truck.

Members of the court were told that the purchase of a new pumper at this time is one of the few expenditures that would in a three or four year period be returned to the residents of Ozona, in addition to strengthening the capabilities of the fire department.

The court took no action during the morning session, but in afternoon session B. W. Stuart was delegated to look into the matter. The court also agreed to purchase three Plecton alert systems for the fire department from Crane. The Crane department has 30 used systems for sale at a cost of $100 each. The units cost $300 purchased new.

County Treasurer Jim Dudley met briefly with the court to ask that they consider building a new building for offices housed in the courthouse annex and tear the old annex down. He also pointed out any improvements made in the county, the care center, the civic center and swimming pools, came about because outside groups came to the court to request action. He said it is time for the court to initiate some action on its own. County Judge Johnny Jones thanked Dudley and said the court would take his sugges-

Several members of the Crockett County Historical Society met with the court to report on the progress of the Emerald House, presently being restored in the rodeo arena park. Mrs. R. A. Harrell told the court the Society had gone as far as it could in the restoration without help from the county. Ted White, president of the society, gave the court a financial report and estimated to restore and finish the outside would cost between $12,000 and $14,000. After the group retired, the court voted to give $10,000 toward the restoration.

Society members at the meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Harrell, Mr. White, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cooper, Mrs. Geniece Childress, Jesus Sanchez, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Graves.

Paul Shacklette gave the road department report. Giving a progress report on the summer paving project and reporting a pipeline had recently been laid across a road in Farmers Field the department is working on, which did not meet requirements and for which the company did not secure a permit. The pipe has been laid about a foot deep where the county requires 4 feet, and the road has not been repaired, leaving a dangerous rut. He said the road was graded two weeks ago and when workmen came back they found the pipe laid and the road torn up. The court requested the company be contacted by Shacklette and if they took no action, the county judge would initiate action against them.

Shacklette reported the dump ground got passable rating from the State Health Department, noting some holes on top that needed filling. The court noted it had cost the county $1,800 to hire a private contractor to get the dump in shape and they expected the road department to keep it in shape.

It was reported the new asphalt plant had a burned

FOR WHOM DO BELLS TOLL?

By Edwin Feulner

Despite the belt-tightening taking place in Washington, the chimes at Arlington, Virginia's, Netherlands Carillon will continue to ring out every Sunday afternoon through September.

That's the good news. The bad news is that the bell concerts cost $125 each, and while that may not exactly be big bucks, it comes out of our pockets.

There are those who argue that the sounding of the bells is nice, but not exactly a pressing national concern.

The National Park Service disagrees, and will continue funding the concerts.

The story is important because it illustrates a number of important public policy concerns. First, that agencies of the United States government are involved in funding activities that are somewhat less critical than the defense of the West. It may be a federal grant to an "artist" whose "artistic statement" consists of streaming crepe paper from a low flying airplane; or it might be the playing of some bells.

And second, that even when it might be more appropriate to hand certain government jobs over to the private sector — whether it is industry or even the philanthropic community — bureaucrats are reluctant to do so.

Yet, short of eliminating the programs altogether, many government functions can be transferred to the private sector. George Mason University professors James Bennett and Manuel Johnson deal with this at length in their informative new book, Better Government at Half the Price (Caroline House Publishers, 1981).

A more visible example, however, can be found in Washington's Virginia suburbs, not far from the Netherlands Carillon.

It's called Turkey Run Farm, and is located near CIA headquarters in McLean, Virginia. A working replica of a colonial-era farm, Turkey Run had been operated by the National Park Service, but was targeted for extinction as a result of the administration's budget cuts, saving U.S. taxpayers an estimated $10,000 to $12,000 a month in operating costs.

Now comes a group of prominent Virginians (including Sen. John Warner, Congressman Frank Wolf, Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, Lynda Johnson Robb, and a number of Washington Redskins football players) who want to see the farm continue its operations. But instead of putting pressure on the Reagan Administration to make an exception for the eight-year-old farm, the "Friends of Turkey Run" are raising money privately to keep the farm gates open and the vegetable gardens growing. Even the Reagan Administration lent a helping hand, with Interior Secretary James Watt co-hosting a $50-a-head fundraiser on June 12.

As Bertram Gold, Executive Vice President of the American Jewish Committee, noted at that organization's recent 75th anniversary observance, there are a variety of institutions in our society — other than big government, big business and big labor — that are fully capable of performing public services.

"We call them 'mediating institutions' — . . . another way of describing the family, the neighborhood, the church, and dozens of local, private associations that have always helped to make life more viable by providing a group, a sense of belonging, a community," he said.

"We must learn," Gold said, "to use these resources more sensitively and more effectively as instruments of public policy."

There's a certain ring to those words that I would recommend to all the fans of the $125-a-day Carillon concerts.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Two weeks ago the U.S. Supreme Court upheld Montana's right to levy a 30 percent severance tax on coal . . . and several Texas officials began to consider increasing the Lone Star state's severance tax on oil and gas.

For some years now, Texas has refrained from increasing its severance tax, currently among the lowest in the nation, because it might spur other states to hike their taxes on minerals leaving the earth.

In fact, several attempts have been made in the Legislature to raise the tax and all have fallen way short of success. When Montana shocked this state and others a couple of years back by raising its coal tax to 30 percent, Texans cried "Highway robbery," but preferred to try to work it out in court.

Now with the Supreme Court decision in Montana's favor, Texans are ready to do a little saber rattling on the severance tax issue.

And with a special session in progress at this very moment, what better time to act? At least Atty. Gen. Mark White seems to think so.

White last week asked Gov. Bill Clements to allow the Legislature to consider raising the oil and gas severance tax in the present special session, or in another special session later this year.

White also said he favored Texas lowering other state taxes so that there is no net increase for taxpayers in this state.

Proponents of a severance tax hike, like White, believe that more than half of the new tax would be paid by persons outside the state of Texas, since Texas exports much of its oil and gas.

"If the Supreme Court now says that it is fair for Montana, then we must conclude that higher severance taxes are fair for Texas as well. Texas must be given the same tax advantages that the other states have taken," White said.

Clements

Clements was on vacation at the time and unavailable for response, but he had already outlined his preliminary position, at least privately.

During the recent regular session, the Governor told a handful of lawmakers he would consider raising the severance tax next session, if he sought and found reelection.

His objections to raising the tax now, he told them, went back to his 1978 campaign promise of "no new taxes". He wanted to keep that promise for his first term, but would consider the severance tax as a viable option for his second term.

In fact, it has been Clements' threat of a veto which has kept other severance tax bills from even getting off the ground. Many observers feel that if Clements promised to sign a severance tax hike, the bill would sail through the Legislature quite easily, despite opposition it would probably meet from the oil and gas industry.

Following White's announcement, a spokesman for the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association said the group would definitely be opposed to any increase in the tax.

Pickle and Congress

Congress has been considering a 12.5 percent cap for all state severance taxes, and one of the cosponsors has been Congressman Jake Pickle, a Democrat from Austin. Pickle warned Congress to act now or watch the eruption of an "interstate severance tax war."

Redistricting

Last week in another courtroom, the House redistricting plan came under the scrutiny of a state district judge. Three legislators and others have sued to throw out the House plan on the grounds it violates constitutional guidelines by unnecessarily cutting across county lines. Seventy-one House members were intervenors in behalf of the state.

Bribe Alleged

In Houston last week, a company filing a $150 million federal civil court suit against a state health department official accused a state senator of taking a bribe to misuse his influence.

The company which sought to create a landfill and was denied a permit, accused State Sen. Jack Ogg of conspiring with the health department official.

Ogg was on vacation, but one of his law partners said the accusation was unfounded and was a publicity ploy.

Caperton Opposes Clayton

House Speaker Bill Clayton has been pushing his plan to create a special trust fund to develop water projects, and until recently, no one has opposed the powerful House leader.

But last week State Sen. Kent Caperton said he has doubts about the bill and will oppose it as written.

Insiders say more than

the issue is at stake. Clayton, politically hurt by the Brilab cloud last year and seeking higher office, needs the legislation to build his track record.

He is regarded as seeking the post of Land Commissioner, and would have to run against already-announced candidate Garry Mauro.

Why is Caperton opposed? He and Mauro, old school buddies from Texas A&M, have political and business connections down the line. That could figure into the play.

Dear Editor:
It has always been known that it is against the law to drink alcoholic beverages anywhere here in Ozona, except at your home or private club. This came up in last week's paper when two men were arrested for drinking beer at the cemetery, so why don't they ever arrest the ones that are always in front of the Primary School drinking and doing their natural things in front of anybody who happens to drive by. The same thing at the park. They have No Drinking signs there, and still nobody arrests anybody. They don't need for somebody to file a complaint if it's against the law, something should be done about it.

They have chased the kids from every parking place here in town because of their drinking, so why don't they chase those men somewhere else. You might say they aren't bothering anybody, but still they are breaking the law. Besides, it still bothers the families who go there to relax and have fun with their kids, but they can't very well do it knowing the men are there drinking and doing their thing.

I know for a fact of one teacher who decided against going to her room and check if anything of hers was stolen because there was a whole bunch of guys drinking there and she was afraid, and there is no need for that especially when they are breaking the law.

When school is in session the kids find cans and broken beer bottles all over the school yard, so if you want to clean up this town, you should start there and in the park, then maybe things wouldn't be so bad and the school wouldn't be vandalized so often.

Please withhold my name. I am afraid for my children.
Thank you

Dear Kitty:
Yesterday in Commissioners' Court, a statement was made that Crockett County Hospital does not do OB. Obstetrical patients are taken care of here, both paying patients and indigent patients.

We do discourage OB being done here if the patient is able to go to a more advanced medical center for the following reasons: That no small hospital can offer the facilities or training that a large hospital can. For example, Angelo Community Hospital delivers 30 babies a week and obviously their skill, training and equipment allows them to make delivery safer than could ever be done here. They have facilities for blood, surgery, surgical assistance, laboratory and newborn care that no small hospital ever can. This is the reason we suggest all babies who can be delivered in a large hospital.

This doesn't mean that we will not deliver patients here, as they are delivered here. No patient is referred to Sonora. A recent case has been mentioned in which a Crockett County ambulance took a patient to Sonora but the patient stated that she was under the care of a doctor in Sonora, had been followed by him and had partially paid him. For this reason, the patient was taken as a courtesy.

When Dr. Dwyer left, he suggested that his patients go to other doctors and I feel that many of them did go to Sonora on his recommendation. This does not require Sonora to take these patients. It is a voluntary thing on their part. These patients could be taken care of here and will be taken care of here. Each year doctors in this town do in excess of $20,000 worth of indigent care. I have delivered indigent babies in my home because they had no place to go and I have kept them in my home because they had no place to go. Patients here will never be turned away without some compelling reason such as the inability to care for them here and if that is done, accommodations will be made for doctors to care for them and transportation will be provided for them to reach the hospital.

I would appreciate your printing this letter because I resent the implication that after 12 years, we have failed to care properly for Crockett County patients. As I have stated before, this is not so nor will it ever be.
Very truly yours,
Don L. Carlisle, M.D.

Tips For Gardeners
From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

July is a very important month in the care of your lawn and garden, especially if the welcome showers don't continue to come our way. Newly planted trees, shrubs and shallow rooted annuals and perennials need slow and deep watering. It takes 2½ inches of water to penetrate a clay soil to the depth of 1 foot. Moisture can be conserved and hot sun deflected by raising the lawn mower to about 1¼ to 2 inches when mowing a lawn. Many annuals have finished blooming, so it is a good time to clean the beds, fertilize, spade and let mellow for fall planting. Perennials may be cut back and some will bloom again. Hot weather annuals such as zinnias, marigolds, portulaca, periwinkle etc. may be planted for fall bloom.

All over our city the caladiums are really giving us a colorful display. They seem to be taller and larger than usual, maybe due to the fine rain we have had. Also the perennial phlox are at their peak now.

July is one of the best months to gather plant material for future use in dried or permanent arrangements. If you are going on a trip or from your own garden, be on the lookout for the materials you might want. Of course you should stop where the material is plentiful and well off the highway. Now there are many beautiful grasses ready to gather to use with the other material. It is important to have a special place to hang materials for drying and later to store where mice cannot get in if grasses or grain are gathered. There are several methods to use when drying plants. Upside down drying is the easiest. Gather flowers or spray material at the peak of their perfection, tie in a small bunch and hang upside down in the attic or a dark closet until dry.

After dahlias have produced their first crop of flowers, cut back plants to at least half their growth. This will encourage a new crop for fall.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED-Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Blandford of San Antonio, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Laurie Jean, to Edward Carroll Hale, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Hale. The bride-elect is a graduate of East Central High School and attended Southwest Texas Junior College in Uvalde. Her fiancé is a graduate of Ozona High School and also attended STJC. The couple plan to be married August 15, in St. Hedwig Catholic in San Antonio.

Progressive Club has beauty meet

The Progressive Club met Wednesday, July 8, at the Civic Center at 12:05 p.m. The program, "Make Myself Beautiful" was presented by Janice Payne. Those present were: Louise Taliaferro, Pam Young, Joyce Young, Donna Hightower, Nancy Hale, Amelia Alvarez, Mary L. Kerby and Debra Price, County Extension Agent.

The next meeting will be a salad luncheon on August 12, and the program will be presented by the Emergency Medical Technicians. Those interested may bring a salad and the drinks will be furnished.

CARD OF THANKS
May we take this opportunity to thank our many friends for the flowers, food, telephone calls, cards and many other acts of sympathy on the loss of our beloved mother and grandmother, Frances Parker. It is at times such as this we understand the true value of friendship.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Harris
Brad Harris

Cut clothing costs and stay in fashion with "Update '81".

For summer, update last summer's wardrobe, and with an eye toward fall and winter '81 as you go, you'll be "right in style" at little cost.

Inventory still-wearable items, notice the voids, study current trends, and then begin your own "Update '81."

Color is the most visible part of a wardrobe, and often it depends on seasonal trends.

Update last season's bright colors with pastels. Fashion-right colors especially important are corals, peaches, apricots, aquas and turquoises.

Update last season's solids with fashionable patterns and prints, particularly madras-like plaids, ethnic prints, folk art and splashy florals. Also jungle prints, camouflage military looks and paislies. Border prints also have returned as a popular patterned look.

Add lace borders or edging to collars, cuffs, belts, and hemlines for feminine detail, or consider a lace applique for a pocket or other focal point.

Often lace can be recycled or reused from garments that are no longer wearable and even from other household items such as tablecloths.

Some designers are calling this the year of the ruffle.

Add garments with ruffled detail such as tiered skirts, flounce skirts, dresses or blouses with ruffle collars.

A ruffle or lace-trimmed blouse is an excellent update for last year's more tailored, stricter-looking garments.

Tunics are particularly strong for fall and winter '81, and in an all-weather fabric, they can update straight-leg pants or skirts now and continue fashionable into cool-weather seasons.

Dropped or long-waisted designs are big news for dresses.

Re-do a straight-line unwaisted garment by cutting it apart along the hipline and adding a fuller, contrasting skirt.

Jewelry is bolder and larger than it has been for a number of seasons.

In wearing bold jewelry, plan carefully to emphasize desirable features and draw attention away from those less desirable.

Shorter heels are very definitely the trend.

Skirt hemlines are shorter now--worn right below the knee or mid-knee. Trends for fall show even shorter lengths--or much longer lengths, such as mid-calf.

In general, think "fun" when you start "Update '81." Updating wardrobes can be fun--and challenging. Many possibilities exist.

You can update your wardrobe with little or no expense and, at the same time, create a flattering, workable wardrobe that looks as fresh as today.

HOW TO PERSONALIZE YOUR HOME

Many women get angry when they go to a party and find someone else wearing an identical dress--but for some reason these same women do not mind that their furniture arrangements are more or less the same as everyone else's.

If you like flowers, use them, real or artificial not only in your living room but in every room. They will brighten your dining room, bedrooms, kitchen and even your bathroom!

Perhaps a "different" table would be just the thing alongside an occasional chair in place of the "ordinary" table that you're now using.

Another possibility is to reflect your hobbies in your home. For example, if you're a card player, an exquisite permanent card table set may be just what you need.

But whatever your interests, just don't sit there. Try something! There is nothing worse than not trying. We are here to help you furnish your home attractively, and most important--distinctively, for you. Come by Brown Furniture Today!

Not long ago I was driving home along the parkway, depressed and worried by many problems. The day was bleak and gloomy. Huge clouds boiled and churned above dark, forbidding mountains. Even the foliage hung limp and still.

Suddenly the clouds parted and a ray of sun streaked through. In that fleeting moment the landscape became beautiful... grayness transformed into mauves, deep blues and lively greens. It was like watching Creation. For the first time in a long time, I thought of God. And I prayed as I had been taught long ago.

That was a turning point. Since then God and worship have once more become a part of my life and my problems have disappeared in a way I never dreamed possible.

God's goodness is always present. Go to your place of worship and learn the truths that can transform your life.

Sales tax rep. to visit here

State Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his San Angelo office in Ozona on July 23, 1981 to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Steve Mercer will meet with local taxpayers in the Law Library of the County Courthouse from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m.

"If Ozona area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing state tax forms, Mr. Mercer will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office, and we believe these face to face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

The San Angelo office, headed by Bill Weaver, serves San Angelo and surrounding counties.

SMILES

Good Definition

If someone should ask you why a ship is always referred to as "she or her" you might give this explanation. "It costs a lot to keep her in paint and powder, she'll drift off if you don't keep her tied down. She makes her best showing in a high wind and it takes a man to handle her."

Common Sense

It's refreshing to hear words from an Attorney General who isn't politically catering to the various segments of the population, but speaking to all Americans on an equal basis.

That is the case with William French Smith, and his recent appeals for less emphasis on forced busing in the schools and rigid hiring quotas. School busing, Smith says, is opposed by a majority of both blacks and whites--because it hasn't achieved what it was intended to achieve.

The Reagan Administration offers a different approach--financial incentives to those who would bus their children but not legal coercion and force in establishing quotas in schools.

As to hiring quotas, Smith says they sometimes themselves discriminate. They sometimes force employers to hire unqualified employees, because of race.

The goal of the present Justice Department is the same as it has been, Smith says. The difference is that instead of punitive laws other incentives will be used to get a higher quality of education in the schools and more jobs for minorities. The new approach is, at least, worth a try.

Going Under

The financial strain of borrowing money at excessive interest rates, raging inflation and uneven business conditions--a recession in some industries--are forcing many U.S. businesses to close their doors.

One source (Dun and Bradstreet) reports that already this year about six thousand American businesses have folded--a 47 percent increase over the 1980 rate of business failures.

What is disturbing is the trend. In one week in May more than 434 U.S. businesses went under, the highest number for any week in twenty years. It's suspected that high interest rates, which traditionally hurt and which began to increase again in May after a long-awaited decline, was the straw that broke the back of many businesses.

The Reagan Administration's official view is that the most recent news--prices are rising much slower--means interest rates are in a long-term downward trend. This, it is said, will prevent so many failures in the future.

But for some who worked a lifetime building a business, the policies of the federal government in recent decades, which brought on today's inflation, rising costs and spotty economic growth, have done them in. They deserved better from the politicians in Washington.

The German Threat

West Germany has been a solid anti-communist NATO ally of primary strength for so long, it's difficult for some to comprehend the threat inside Germany today.

The threat is the left wing of the Socialist Party, in power for some years and whose leader, Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, retained his leadership with a 1980 Socialist Party election victory. Supported by Russian money and propaganda, the extreme left in Germany has managed to place Schmidt on the defensive--concerning the installation of nuclear weapons of German soil and the absence of nuclear arms limitation talks with Moscow.

Coupled with this political trend is a disturbing economic trend. Just as socialist regimes in England in recent years ruined that country's economy, by voting to give too much to too many when the nation's treasury couldn't afford it, so too is recent political behavior threatening the once-powerful German economy.

The German trade balance is in the red and the budget is also unbalanced--so untypical of the West German economic posture in post-war years. As a result, Bonn has wavered in recent months on earlier commitments to modernize its defense forces. Only strong pressure from the Reagan Administration forced the Schmidt regime to adhere, in general, to defense pledges.

The issue in Germany is critical for the West. Without the economic and military strength of West Germany, the NATO cause is lost. If what happened at Rapallo in 1923, or in Moscow, in August, 1939, should occur again--a Russo-German rapprochement--it could lead to the end of a free western Europe in the near future.

Since the western European industrial complex is one of the world's three major industrial galaxies (and the balance of power among the other two, the U.S. and U.S.S.R.), it is, of course, vital that West Germany remain a stable and strong bulwark against communist pressure in Europe--especially in the light of the recent French election.

TENNIS TRIVIA

Tracy Austin is the youngest pro athlete ever to earn more than $1 million. She did it as a teenager after only 21 months on the pro tour.

Tennis is believed to have originated in France between 1100 and 1200. Players hit the ball over the net with their hands.

In 1909, when he was 41, England's Arthur Gore became the oldest player to win the men's singles title at Wimbledon.

The longest Wimbledon match took place in 1969. According to A-T-O Inc.'s Rawlings Sporting Goods Company, it took Pancho Gonzales 5 hours and 12 minutes to beat Charles Pasarell in 112 games.

New program for military health

Fraudulent use and abuse of the military health care system, estimated at $60 million a year, is so widespread that the Department of Defense (DoD) has started a new program to curb abuse--a program that affects everyone entitled to military health care.

This month DoD started enrolling all military retirees, survivors, active duty members and eligible family members who reside in Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas in the Defense Enrollment Eligibility Reporting System (DEERS).

Every active duty military person, as well as retirees and survivors must enroll in DEERS to receive medical care.

The old method of presenting a military identification card to obtain service at a military health facility is on the way out. In the future, DEERS' nationwide computer linkup will determine who is eligible to be treated, and it will not recognize the standard identification card. For now, however, the ID card will still work since the new DEERS system will not be operational for several months.

DoD's toughest problem is informing military retirees and survivors, especially those who are not presently receiving government checks, but who are eligible for military health care.

"They have to know that if they are going to continue to use military health facilities, such as base or post hospitals, they must enroll in DEERS."

And the time for them to enroll is this summer," according to Bob MacNaughton, DEERS spokesman for the three-state area, at Lackland AFB, near San Antonio.

In September, military health facilities in the three-state area will begin checking names with the DEERS computer link. Those who do not show up on the computer tape will not be denied care at first, MacNaughton explained, but they will be informed that they must enroll.

But the method of enrolling differs according to the categories of those eligible for care.

Active duty members of the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marines automatically will be enrolled in DEERS. Although they will not have to enroll, they will have to enroll their spouses and children.

Medical costs still going up

As anyone who has recently required medical attention well knows, the cost of care is climbing steadily. In the United States, the total medical bill for 1980 was approximately $240 billion.

Inflation is pushing up medical expenses as well as the cost of food, clothes, and shelter. Also, it might appear that no one person could have an influence on the cost of new, sophisticated medical equipment and procedures. For example, a computerized axial tomography (CAT) scanner, a machine that takes cross-sectional x-rays of the human body, costs about $800,000.

However, there is one area where each of us can exert some measure of control on medical expenses. All it involves is a simple step that may not only reduce our medical expenses, but possibly help us avoid unnecessary surgery as well. We can accomplish this by getting a second opinion when surgery is recommended. Moreover, the second opinion will be paid for by Medicare at the same rate it pays for other services, and, in some states, by Medicaid for people who are eligible.

Second opinions, of course, are indicated only where the recommended surgery is of a non-emergency nature; they cannot be obtained when an operation must be performed without delay. If time does permit, however, a second opinion may indicate whether the operation is really essential or whether there are non-surgical methods of treating the problem. In addition,

Retired members of the military who are receiving government checks will also be enrolled automatically, since the services have current records indicating their status eligibility. But they must take steps to enroll family members.

All survivors (widows and widowers of active duty or retired service members) must enroll themselves.

In all cases documentation establishing family relationships to sponsors, such as birth certificates and marriage licenses, will be needed. The process will be similar to applying for an ID card, MacNaughton said, but applicants will not receive a new card. An important difference, he noted, is that children under 10, who are not required to have an ID card, must be enrolled in DEERS.

In late June, retirees will be mailed application forms and instructions for enrolling their families. Enrollment can be accomplished through the mail with no requirement for the retiree to report to a military installation. The same is true for survivors who are receiving checks.

But most survivors, and some retirees, will not get packets because DoD does not have their current addresses. They should contact the military to have the packets mailed to them, MacNaughton said, if they haven't received one by mid-July.

Retired Air Force members, for example, should contact the DEERS office or the Retirement Services Office at the Air Force Base nearest them, he said.

Active duty service men and women will enroll their families through normal personnel channels at their commands. Their commanders will tell them how to enroll and where to report. Single service members with no family members to support will not have to do anything, according to MacNaughton.

The Defense Department has been phasing in the DEERS system since November of 1979. Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas make up the sixth phase of the massive enrollment effort.

Based on Defense Audit Service and General Accounting Office reports, DoD estimates that the misuse of the health care program annually costs the government as much as $20 million at military hospitals and $40 it can help the patient compare the benefits and risks associated with the operation with the benefit and risks of not having it done. All surgery involves some risk and should not be taken lightly.

A competent surgeon will not be offended by a patient's suggestion that he or she obtain a second opinion; in fact many will welcome it. The patient who decides on a second opinion will save time and expenses, as well as avoid the discomfort of undergoing various diagnostic procedures, by having the first doctor forward any medical records that may have been compiled to the second doctor.

If the second opinion is the same as the first, the patient will be assured that the surgery is probably necessary. Even if the second opinion differs from the first, the additional information should permit the patient to arrive at an informed decision about the need for an operation.

The patient, of course, always has the final decision about surgery, but the decision should be based on fact. A second opinion, particularly when the person is covered by Medicare or Medicaid, is well worth the investment. A person's own doctor is the best source for referral to another doctor. But, people can call Medicare's second opinion referral center for names and phone numbers of doctors in their area who provide second opinions. The toll-free number is 1-800-638-6833.

million in CHAMPUS, the Civilian Health and Medical Program for the Uniformed Services.

Much of this abuse occurs when persons who were once eligible fail to return their identification cards to military authorities when their eligibility ends and then continue to receive medical care and other benefits to which they are not entitled. Fraud occurs when someone uses an identification card that has been altered or obtained illegally.

Under the DEERS system people seeking medical services from a military facility will be checked through a telephone computer link in the same fashion credit cards companies validate accounts. CHAMPUS will also use the system to confirm an individual's entitlement to reimbursement for services rendered by non-military medical facilities. This is the system which uses civilian insurance companies to pay portions of health care received by military beneficiaries from civilian providers.

Aspirin can be a headache

Aspirin, the most commonly used medication in this country, can be dangerous. While the value of aspirin as a pain reliever is widely known, many people are unaware of the dangers which can result from improper aspirin use. The side effects of this drug should be clearly understood, says the Texas Medical Association.

People in chronic pain often take too much aspirin to relieve their symptoms. It is more important to discover the cause of the headache or chronic pain, than it is to disguise that pain with aspirin. Even when aspirin is prescribed as therapy, such as for rheumatoid arthritis, undesirable side effects can result.

Warning signals that you are taking too much aspirin or that you should not take aspirin at all include stomach problems, heartburn, ringing in the ears and intermittent hearing problems.

Aspirin can cause serious problems in the stomach, especially when taken without food or at bedtime. It has an irritating, erosive effect which can sometimes cause internal bleeding. If there is a history of stomach problems or ulcers, aspirin should not be taken, since it can worsen existing problems. A doctor can recommend other medications which are not as irritating. In cases where a fever-reducing medicine is needed, the doctor may prescribe the use of an aspirin suppository, which is not as harsh as aspirin taken by mouth. There are specially coated aspirin which minimize the danger of stomach problems. Aspirin may also be crushed in a small amount of liquid so that it will be absorbed more quickly and easily.

Another danger associated with aspirin concerns blood-clotting. Aspirin slows the normal clotting time of the blood. This should be taken into account especially if any surgery is planned.

Certain people are more susceptible to side effects of aspirin than others, and display symptoms after only one or two tablets. However, even if your tolerance for aspirin is fairly high, it is essential to remember that aspirin, like nearly every other drug, can have harmful side effects and should be taken only for very good reasons.

Do you look 'em straight in the eyes? Your personality is often judged--rightly or wrongly--from how you use your eyes. If you make a lot of eye contact, you are probably thought to be friendly, out-going and self-confident. If you avoid eye contact, you may be seen less favorably--as evasive, shy, defensive or indifferent.

Use car restraints for children. Failure to use these safety devices causes 1,000 deaths in children under age five every year.

Livestock receipts in Texas down from 1980

Total cash receipts from Texas livestock in 1980 totaled about $5.2 billion, down some $800 million from 1979, according to preliminary estimates.

These estimates include cash receipts for meat animals, dairy productions, poultry, eggs and livestock products.

The $5.2 billion in livestock receipts should have an estimated agribusiness impact of more than $19 billion on the Texas economy.

Dr. Carl Anderson, marketing economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, says downward pressure on beef and hog prices and fewer cattle marketings accounted for most of the decline in cash receipts from livestock last year.

Cash receipts from crops totaling about $3.9 billion and $633 million in agriculturally related income pushed the state's estimated agricultural income to the $9.7 billion mark, down somewhat from the $10.4 billion recorded in 1979.

Based on these figures, Texas still ranks third in the nation, behind California and Iowa, in total agricultural production, but leads other states in sales from marketing cattle and calves, sheep, wool, goats and mohair, points out Anderson.

Texas also accounts for 12 percent of the U.S. cattle and calf herd and 15 percent of all beef cows.

Cash receipts from cattle and calves totaled about $4 billion in 1980, representing about 40 percent of the state's total agricultural sales. The South Plains, Panhandle and Southwest Texas led the state in cattle and calf sales.

During 1980, cattle feeding in Texas represented 18 percent of the total fed in major cattle feeding states.

Cash receipts from milk totaled $505 million last year, second to beef in Texas' animal industry. Northeast Texas led the state in milk production with Central and North Central Texas closely behind.

Poultry came in third in cash receipts from animal agriculture in Texas last year with a total of almost $500 million. Cash receipts from broilers totaled $254 million, with East Texas leading sales followed by the Coastal Bend and Northeast Texas. Egg sales totaled $165 million, with the Coastal Bend leading in sales followed by East and South Central Texas. Cash receipts from turkeys totaled $57 million, with Central Texas having highest sales followed by the Coastal Bend and South Central Texas.

Cash receipts from hogs are estimated at $108 million, with the South Plains, South Central and Central Texas the top producing areas.

Texas leads the nation in sheep, wool, goats and mohair production. Cash receipts from sheep and lamb production totaled $70 million in 1980 while wool added another $18 million. Leading the state in sheep production last year were West Central, Far West and Southwest Texas.

Cash receipts from goats totaled $6 million and mohair sales reached $31 million, with the top producing areas being Southwest, West Central and Central Texas.

Honey sales also contributed to cash receipts for animal agriculture in Texas last year to the tune of some $5 million. The Upper Coast, Southwest Texas and the Coastal Bend were the top honey producing regions in the state.

While cash receipts from animal agriculture were down some last year, net income came under even more pressure due to ever-rising production costs, says Anderson. High interest rates and inflation continued to be major factors in the continuous squeeze between costs and receipts.

Prospects are for some improvement in 1981 agricultural income, adds the economist. Yet, high interest rates, rising production costs and sagging farm prices remain a challenge to producers.

Knox on honor list

James M. Knox of Ozona, was among the 1,547 students whose 1981 spring semester grades earned them places on the Dean's List at Southwest Texas State University.

To qualify for the Dean's List, an undergraduate student must have earned a grade point average of at least 3.5 during the semester while taking at least 12 semester hours of course work.

Knox is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Knox.

Citation show for artists

San Angelo will be the site of the first annual Citation Show for artists residing in a 15-county area. Entries will be accepted Aug. 8 in rooms 205, 206 and 207 of the Houston-Harte University Center at Angelo State University, and the juried show will be on exhibit Aug. 15-31.

Although the show is open to Concho Contemporary Fine Arts Association members only, artists may join this chapter of the Texas Fine Arts Association by paying $12/year dues as late as Aug. 8, according to Donna Swartz, CCFAA president.

Included in this TFAA region for the Citation Show are Coke, Runnels, Sterling, Coleman, Schleicher, Concho, Irion, Edwards, Crockett, Tom Green, McCulloch, Reagan, Sutton, Menard and Kimble counties.

Juror will be Maureen Stewart, professor of art at Howard Payne College. Works receiving blue ribbons will be eligible for tour exhibit in the state and for exhibition in the state Citation Show at Laguna Gloria Museum in Austin, home of the TFAA.

In conjunction with the show, the juror will give a critique during a noon luncheon on Aug. 8. Fee for the deli-luncheon is $5, and reservations must be made by July 22. Guests and prospective members are invited to the luncheon, but reservations and payment for the luncheon are required, Mrs. Swartz said.

For complete entry information and forms, and to make luncheon reservations, contact CCFAA at 2807 Tanglewood, San Angelo, 76901 or phone 915/949-7018.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas effective July 21, 1981, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 15.8 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

The filing includes, but is not limited to, proposals to increase rates for interexchange private line and foreign exchange (FX) service. Changes in such rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide interexchange private line and foreign exchange service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel para servicio de teléfono en Texas con vigencia a partir del 21 de Julio de 1981, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Se espera que el nuevo arancel que se ha solicitado rendirá un aumento de 15.8 por ciento en los ingresos intraestatales de la compañía.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y servida por Southwestern Bell, y cada una de las oficinas de la compañía para negocios con el público en Texas tiene una copia para lectura pública.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

El registro incluye, pero no se limita a, propuestas para aumentar las tarifas para servicio de línea privada entre centrales telefónicas (interexchange private line) y servicio de central telefónica extranjera (foreign exchange FX). Cambios en dichas tarifas de servicio también afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen los servicios ya mencionados en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell.

Take steps to cool it in the heat

The dog days of summer are with us again. As the temperature outside rises, so does our need to keep cool. There are some positive steps you can take to make the heat at least somewhat bearable, says the Texas Medical Association (TMA).

Summer heat should not be taken lightly—except when it comes to clothing. Wear light-colored clothes that reflect the light away from the body. Loose-fitting clothes allow air to circulate, keeping your skin cooler. Also, try to choose fabrics that "breathe," such as natural cotton.

Stay out of the direct sun as much as possible, especially during the middle of the day when the sun's rays are hottest. Do your heavy work, including gardening, either early in the day or in the evening when it's cooler. Strenuous sports also should be reserved for the cooler times of the day. Cooking, which heats up the house, should be done at these times too.

Cool off whenever you can by taking showers or by going for a dip in the pool.

Sweating isn't just normal, it's necessary. Be sure to replace body fluids lost through sweating by drinking lots of liquids. Don't take salt tablets except on advice from your physician.

If you have air-conditioning, keep it set on moderate. Going from the hot outdoors to a freezing home or apartment is hard on the body's own temperature controls. The heat will seem even worse when you go outside again. Gradually increase your heat tolerance by spending more time outdoors each day, but slow your pace to match the weather. The key to healthy summer activity in the heat can result in heat illness, says TMA.

Heat illness is an extreme rise in body temperature. It is characterized by profuse sweating, fatigue and perhaps muscle cramps. Heat exhaustion includes these symptoms, plus a rapid pulse and nausea. Heat exhaustion can progress rapidly to heat stroke, the main sign being the cessation of sweating. All heat illness is potentially dangerous.

23 students complete baby sitting clinic

A total of 23 students completed a 4-H Baby Sitting Clinic co-ordinated by Sara Hignight, Karen Childress, and Debra Price. Students were introduced to the basic job responsibilities and skills of baby sitting. Various topics and resource people were included in the clinic.

The "Most Popular Babysitter in Town" and "Look Before You Leap" were taught by Debra Price. Karen Childress discussed breaking into the job market and getting the facts by asking questions. Karen also explained a client worksheet. Peggy McWilliams taught the safety and care aspect of a baby sitter. What to do when a child is choking is essential for sitters to know. Roberta Bailey discussed the characteristics of different age groups and how they act. Judy Reagor talked on "Being Business Like Pays Off" and how baby sitters can get jobs. Ideas for entertainment were presented by Susie Childress. Marge St. Clair demonstrated giving a baby a bath and changing diapers. Sara Hignight lead games, group discussions and taught the students how to read stories to children.

Completing the three day clinic were: Loretta Ledbetter, Lydia Lee, Kristie Theis, Rene De La Rosa, Will Seahorn, Shelly Rumley, Jerri Lynn Martinez, Patsy Vasquez, Julie Reagor, Vickie Reagor, Carmellia Waggoner, Frances Williams, Linda Villarreal, and Ida Villarreal.

Completing two sessions of the course were: Shawna Newton, Larisa Schoenhals, Kathy Bailey, Dinky St. Clair, Evelyn St. Clair, Sandy Phillips, Dawn Hanson, Carmen Villarreal, and Deena Phillips.

A list of students completing the course and telephone numbers will be available from the Chamber of Commerce, Extension Office, Sara Hignight, and Karen Childress.

Shaw earns Tech degree
More than 2,000 students at Texas Tech University received degrees in commencement exercises at the conclusion of the 1981 spring semester. Degree recipients included Ronald Shaw of Ozona, Texas.

Proper lawn care saves money, time

Don't just turn on your lawn sprinkler when hot, dry weather arrives and gripe about your high water bill. By watering, fertilizing and mowing your lawn properly, you can reduce your water bill as much as 40 percent during the summer months.

"Conservation by the homeowner provides the only solution to high water bills and excessive water demands during our hot and usually dry Texas summers," points out Dr. Richard Doble, turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. In small cities where industrial demand for water is low, lawn watering may account for as much as half of all the water used during summer months. Even in larger cities, lawns get 30 to 40 percent of all the water supplied by municipalities, notes Doble.

He adds that most Texas lawns need about 2 inches of water per week during the summer and that most of this usually comes from irrigation. Exactly what can a homeowner do to reduce his summer water bill? "The first thing is to water your lawn only when grass starts to show signs of drought stress," explains the specialist. "Look for discoloration and wilting. If leaves roll up in the late afternoon and footprints remain after walking across the lawn, then water within 24 hours."

"Once you've decided that your lawn needs watering, do it right," emphasizes Doble. "Most homeowners don't water their lawns properly. They either water too often, causing grass to develop shallow roots and making it a prime target for insects, diseases and temperature extremes, or they water too infrequently and apply too much water at one time, resulting in a lot of runoff."

When watering, soak the soil to a depth of 4 to 6 inches, recommends the specialist. In heavy clay soils, watering for 15 to 20 minute periods may be necessary to prevent excessive runoff.

"Cutting back on lawn fertilization can also reduce watering," says Doble. "Applying fertilizer in the spring and fall will generally keep your lawn healthy. Fertilizing during the summer, especially with nitrogen fertilizer, will green up your lawn, but it will also make it grow faster and use more water."

Mowing less often and cutting your grass at taller heights also will help keep your lawn in better shape during hot, dry weather.

Shacklette reported many personnel problems, citing the inability to read or write among some of the employees, as the cause of most. He also submitted a list of employees who had requested raises.

The court, with Judge Jones as spokesman, said it was reluctant to give raises in the middle of the year, since its new policy was to give blanket raises the first of the year. However, in afternoon session they promoted one of the employees and a raise comes with the promotion.

by Sizemore Funeral Home where services were pending.

The accident was investigated by Carlos De La Rosa, DPS Sonora, but Crockett County ambulance attendants and firemen assisted with the injured, and local EMTs transferred the victims.

The fire at Ranch Feed destroyed about $7,000 worth of hay and smoldered for hours, but the loss was insured according to owner Larry Braden. Apparently the fire started from spontaneous combustion, other causes ruled out. Firemen returned to the scene three times after extinguishing the blaze around 2:00 a.m. Friday, requiring a truck at the scene.

Conflicts should be resolved

Are you planning a Cinderella marriage or a realistic one?

Many Texas couples tend to believe that the Cinderella myth of living happily ever after will "just happen" rather than understanding that they must resolve major conflicts and issues before marriage, says a family life education specialist.

Because of this unrealistic syndrome, young (and older) couples find it difficult to discuss—and cope with—real and often painful issues that will confront them during marriage, says Dorothy Taylor.

Mature, wise couples, on the other hand, plan beyond the wedding day, she says.

There are 12 primary areas of conflict that couples need to discuss and, hopefully, resolve before marriage.

"These 12 issues are the ones families fight about: other family members, money, religion, death, love, leisure, politics, friendships, sex, work, aging and personal taste on such things as appearance, living standards and habits."

"These values rank differently in importance to every person in a family, and everyone can justify his or her own list!" Ms. Taylor says.

Approaching each other about these sensitive topics is difficult.

One way is to answer several questions together—honestly, openly.

Remember there is no "right" or "wrong" answer to any of these questions. The important thing is that you work out answers that you can both live with—by agreeing or by compromising in a way that is at least comfortable and fair in both your minds.

Don't hide your special personal goals and dreams for your life together—or misgivings, resentments and fears, either—no matter how small or large. State them. Tell your partner why you think they're important so he or she will understand your goals and special dreams, along with your fears and special pains.

Build these things into your agreements and compromises as much as possible. Be honest about mixed or unsure feelings that you can't deal with yet.

Acknowledge the fact that feelings about issues and family members can change as you grow in years, experience and wisdom. Encourage each other to always state feelings through the months and years of marriage that follow the wedding, so you can constantly adapt your marriage to fit the needs of both partners.

Here are the questions:

How do you feel about my family? How much do you think they should be involved with us? Where will we spend holidays? Have you discussed this with your parents? Do you feel you need to?

Who will decide how money is spent in our home? What will we do about church—now and, if there are children, later?

When someone in the family or one of us dies, what should we expect of ourselves?

If there is an inheritance, how would you feel about my getting money or property? What happens when one of our parents is widowed? How important is "being young" to you?

How important is love to our marriage? How do you feel about extra-marital affairs for personal or business reasons?

How do you feel about work—hours to be put in to get a job done for either of us, dual-career family, shared household tasks and the relationship between home life and work?

How strongly do you feel about children?

How will they affect our relationship? How will they affect our careers and life goals? How will we affect their lives?

There are certain things that are really important to me—new or expensive car, home in a particular part of town, clothes, savings, eating out or attractive appearance. How do you feel about these?

How do you feel about my friends? Will you expect me to accept and/or associate with—or drop any particular friends of yours or mine?

How do you resolve quarrels? How did your parents resolve disagreements? How do you feel about fighting or striking another person—adult or child?

All of the categories listed above are difficult to answer. Looking back over the questions, remember that they do require deep, serious thought, Ms. Taylor reminds.

"Avoiding a response may be an indication of the pain or seriousness of the issue to you or your partner personally," she stresses.

"Talking about these issues before they become problems is one way to ensure newlyweds they can live happily ever after if they work at their marriage," she says.

windows which cost from $300 to $500 each to cutting the solar screens with knives. It has been a destructive and expensive summer for the new school. Even during school term, broken beer bottles and beer cans have to be picked up before children can attend classes. The board urges citizens who witness these acts to report them to the proper authorities, in an effort to stop vandalism at the school.

Some discussion was held on enlarging the care center. It has been full with a waiting list for some time. The court discussed steps to take to restrict the center to Crockett County residents only and asked Rumley to take steps to do this.

County Auditor Dick Kirby gave the financial report for the first six months of this year for both institutions. The hospital loss amounts to $61,000 and the care center $65,000, for a total loss of $126,000, within the budget for the year.

The court adjourned for lunch and met with Gene Lilly and Charles Huffman following the break. Lilly, president of the hospital board and Huffman, member, asked the court for raises for the hospital administrator and the assistant administrator, Rumley and Conaway. The court raised Rumley to $27,500 from $24,000 and Conaway to $24,000 from $18,000, annually.

County redistricting was discussed at length, and the court decided to get a block by block census before taking action on redrawing precinct lines.

The court signed a right-of-way enabling the State Highway Department to widen Hwy. 163 for about 4 miles 16.5 miles south of Ozona. An outdoor recreation area was discussed for the jail and election judges were appointed before adjournment. All election judges were reappointed with Bobby Fatout appointed in Precinct 2, to replace Lib Applewhite, who resigned.

Scholarships to 3 Ozona ASU students

Three Angelo State University students from Ozona are recipients of Carr Academic Scholarships for 1981-82.

Those receiving awards include Kathy Aldridge, $1,500 a transfer student from Sul Ross State University; Vaden Aldridge, $2,000, a graduate student pursuing a degree in animal science, and Nikki Sewell, $1,500, a freshman elementary education major.

The scholarships have been awarded to the students on the basis of their outstanding academic record and personal achievements through funds provided by the Robert G. Carr and Nona K. Carr Scholarship Foundation.

These Ozona students are among more than 400 students who have been selected to receive Carr Academic Scholarships for 1981-82.

This distinctive scholarship program was created by the late Mr. Carr to provide academic scholarships to assist worthy and deserving students to pursue their education at Angelo State.

OZONA GIRLS TAKE TIME OUT from horseback riding and other activities during their busy two-week stay at Prude Ranch Camp for boys and girls in Ft. Davis. They are, l. to r., Christy Parks, Jennifer Probst, Lisa Collin and Jennifer Parks.

LIBRARY TO CLOSE THURS.

The Crockett County Library will be closed Thursday of this week, the only interruption in summer library hours.

Throw-away society wastes land & money

Americans use 100,000 acres of land to dump their garbage and trash, and they spend $4 billion a year to get it there.

Do we really want to dump our trash and garbage, and do we really need to spend $4 billion a year on it?

Americans throw away enough organic wastes each year to produce the energy equivalent of 80 million barrels of oil.

In addition, the American consumer spends about nine percent of his food budget on packaging he will throw away.

Some say America's throwaway attitudes may leave us chipping away at our resources and smothering under our own trash.

What do Texas residents say about the subject?

Some tell you there's enough land to handle "our share" of the approximately 16 billion tons of trash produced daily in this country.

Others see a need for conservation of Texas land and water resources, the wellspring of the state's significant impact on the national economy through agriculture.

One Texas resident sees hope for the future resting with the people themselves.

"As Texas residents, we share the burden of this nation's tremendous waste problem, along with the responsibility to 'maximize' our precious land and water resources," says Dr. Betty Jo Smith.

"At the heart of maximizing these resources is an attitudinal change—moving from irresponsible wastefulness to a more conservative, low-waste society," she says.

"A conservative, low-waste society is based on the belief that we wisely use resources we have—and that we recognize the wasteful use of resources as harmful and detrimental to each and every individual's quality of life," she explains.

Dr. Smith, a family life education specialist on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service says most people just don't realize there's a waste problem.

Service says most people just don't realize there's a waste problem.

"Few citizens consider what happens to the trash after it is hauled away from their curbs."

"Most Americans don't see the nearly 100,000 acres of land used as a place to get trash out of our way."

"And people seldom think about the health hazards associated with waste."

As technology has improved food safety and made packaging an element of convenience, safety and enjoyment, people have assumed these advances to be positive—with few, if any, negative returns, the specialist says.

"Consumers have forgotten, or at least pushed to the back of their minds, the fact that paper plates, aluminum pie tins and plastic forks are wasteful," Dr. Smith adds.

"These items, while convenient and economical in the short run, will be cumbersome and expensive in the long run—unless we decide to curb our 'appetite for waste,'" she concludes.

Roundup to discuss grazing

Getting maximum utilization of various grazing systems, flexible grazing based on weather and optimal use of ranges with mixtures of livestock are just three of 16 key topics to be addressed during the range management concurrent sessions at the International Rancher's Roundup, August 10-14 in Del Rio.

Nearly 20 representatives from 11 agencies, universities and commercial firms will appear on the range program. Included are specialists from Colorado State, Kansas State, New Mexico State, Angelo State, Texas Tech, Wyoming, Soil Conservation Service, USDA, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Welder Foundation.

Individual session chairmen are Dr. Jim B. Grumbles, Dow Chemical; David Wolfe, LaSalle County Extension agent; and Dr. Bob Ragsdale, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Other topics of interest to rangemen that will be covered include: evaluating range nutrition, coordinating grazing and brush management, impact of grazing management decisions on wildlife production, matching range and animal nutrition cycles, grazing management to meet livestock needs, animal grazing behavior and foraging strategy of grazing animals.

Also included in the three-day Roundup package are concurrent sessions in beef cattle, sheep and goats, ranch business, horse management and wildlife. Two day-long tours have been coordinated to begin and climax the rancher meeting. Evening meal functions and entertainment is also planned.

To date over 110 speakers from five ranching countries and six states have confirmed. Chief headliners are South African Foreign Minister P. Botha, Agricultural Commissioner Reagan Brown and State Representative Susan McBee.

Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists in Uvalde, organizers of the giant activity, speculate it could become the largest such event ever held for Southwestern ranchers.

Potential participants have until June 30 to receive the pre-registration discount of $50. After the date registration fees increase by $50.

Pre-registration information can be obtained by writing to Rancher's Roundup, P.O. Drawer 1849, Uvalde, Tx. 78801.

IRS hours changed

Office hours for taxpayer assistance in San Angelo were changed effective July 13, the IRS announced today. Counter service will be available every Monday between 8:00 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. and from 1:00 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. The office is located in the Federal Courthouse Building at 33 E. Twohig Avenue.

Taxpayers may receive telephone assistance 5 days a week during business hours by calling toll-free 112-800-492-4830. Information and tax forms may be obtained by telephone, the IRS said. Persons with inquiries about tax refunds should call this number also.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay

One of the most unusual baseball players of all-time was Wee Willie Keeler, who's in the Hall of Fame. Keeler went through his entire big league career using, in effect, only half a bat. He always held the bat in the middle, choking up so far on the bat, he only used the top half of it and yet he had a lifetime batting average over 19 years of .341, one of the highest averages in history. Maybe more players should use only half a bat as Keeler did.

Did you know that Man O' War was such a great race horse that 3 times in his career he went to the post at odds of 1-100 which means a bettor had to bet $100 on him to win back just $1.

Who's the only man in history to pitch a no-hitter in big league baseball every year for 4 consecutive years? The only man ever to do it is Sandy Koufax who pitched no-hitters in 1962, 1963, 1964 and 1965.

I bet you didn't know... When you are ready to shop for a new car or pickup come by L-B Motor Co. and we will help you and give you the deal of the year. Also see our used cars. We have a large selection to pick from.
