I know I have been lax in getting this column written the past few weeks, or should I say in not getting this column written. I can assure you I've had the best of intentions. But, as my grandmother would say "the road to hell is paved with good intentions."

I always wait until the last minute so I can make the column as current as possible. The only trouble is, the past few weeks other things have demanded my attention at the last minute.

It usually starts on Tuesday morning. I try to get here early so I can do a little thinking on my own. However, I'm not the only early-riser on Tuesday. Just about the time I get into thinking seriously about some subject, my thoughts are interrupted by the telephone—"when is the deadline? do I still have time to get a for sale ad in?" or I have to stop and sell someone a box of paper clips and a Bic pen. Back to the typewriter and the phone rings—"you remember that ad I put in last week to sell my garden plow?"—"I didn't get any results." Does it ever enter anyone's mind that perhaps there was just no market that week for their particular "for sale" item. Back to deep thought, I am again aroused by the telephone. "Don't you want to write something about the ladies aid society's auction sale?" Why, yes, of course, when did the event take place? "Oh it was last month sometime, can't remember the exact date, but I knew your deadline was noon today and I wanted to get it in before then."

By then, back at the typewriter, my cool is completely blown. I spend the rest of the day writing "Thank you" ads for the politicians. There are just so many ways to say "thanks," but most everybody thinks I can say it better. It's always "I'll leave it up to you, you'll know what to say." What is left to say after spending a morning trying to think of a dozen different ways to say "thank you?"

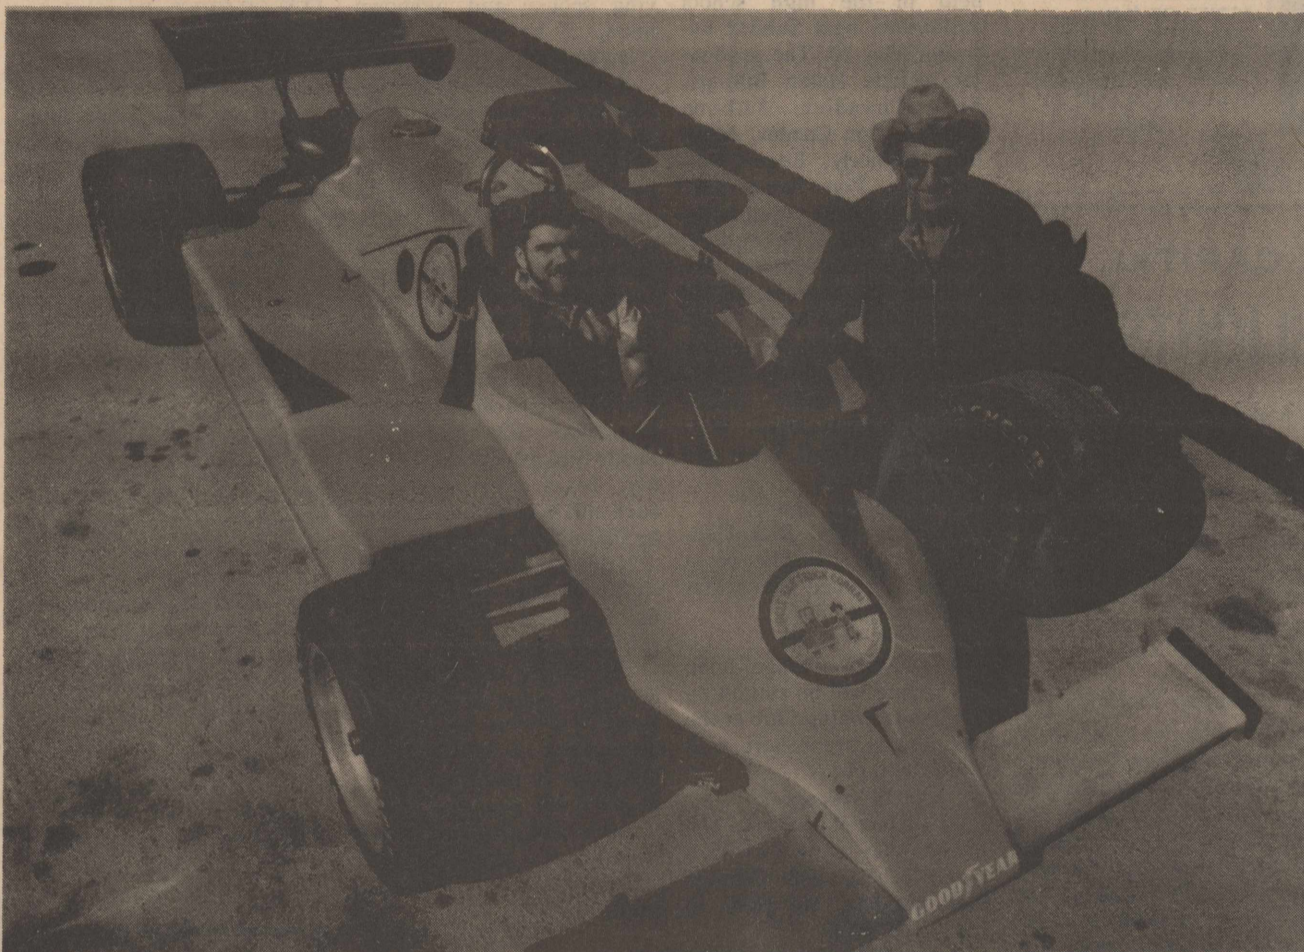

And then, there are the different sales. Did you know that nobody in Ozona knows they are going to have a garage sale or try to sell a car or whatever, until mid-morning on Tuesday? Amazing, isn't it?

We close at noon on Tuesday to try to get the paper out, but that doesn't keep the telephone from ringing. While the staff is in the back cutting out and pasting up, I am here at the typewriter, and-you guessed it-right here by the telephone.

Anyway, I was going to say something about the election. Isn't it amazing that only around 20% of the regular voters turned out to vote Saturday? Granted, they didn't have many local offices to vote for, but it's the only election they have until the general election in November, and I feel they have an obligation to vote, if they don't do anything but vote "against."

It's also a wonder to me that we don't have more opposition for local offices. With all the griping that goes on about the way the local government is run, you'd think there would be two or three candidates for every office that comes up. I guess it's just a fact that people prefer to gripe rather than run for office. Crockett County

2 incumbents returned to office-

County voters show little interest in Sat. primary

Crockett County voters showed very little interest in the Democratic primary Saturday, which returned two incumbents to office in the only locally contested races on the ballot. B. W. Stuart was returned to the office of Crockett County Commissioner, Precinct 2, by only 12 votes. Stuart polled 127 votes to 115 for Pleas Childress, III, in his first bid for elected office. Jesus Castro was returned to office in Precinct 4, by a 22 vote margin. He got 133 votes to 111 for his opponent, Matt Gutierrez.

Of the 2,533 registered voters in the county, only around 651 cast ballots in the election Saturday. There was no Republican primary, so all votes were cast in the Democratic Primary. No total vote count was turned in in Precincts 1 and 4, so the only way to determine the approximate count was through most votes cast in any county-wide race. A total of 651 votes was cast in the race for United States senator, which indicates at least 651 voters cast ballots. This was the most number of votes cast in any one race.

Crockett County voters went along with the rest of the state in most races. Incumbent U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen polled 452 votes here to 199 for Joe Sullivan, and will be the Democratic nominee in November when he will be pitted against U.S. Representative Jim Collins, who won the Republican nomination Saturday.

Charles S. Stough was unopposed for the post of U.S. Representative, Dist. 21, on the Democratic ballot. He polled 326 votes in Crockett County. He faces an uphill battle in the general election in November with Tom Loeffler, incumbent Republican, who was also unopposed on his party's ballot.

Mark White carried Crockett County for the governor's race, getting 320 votes to 170 for Bob Armstrong. Buddy Temple, who will be in a run-off with White for the nomination, got 117 votes from this county, while the other three candidates polled less than 100 votes altogether.

Bill Hobby was swept back as his party's nominee for Lieutenant Governor. In his race for re-election, he easily

Weekend brings showers

Scattered showers over the weekend brought more moisture to lawns and ranges in the area. The official gauge at the Water District office recorded .73 of an inch of rain for the weekend period.

Reports of up to two inches came in from the western part of the county and gauges in town all reported over an inch of rain for the period.

Reports from ranches in the southwestern part of the county gave over two inches from the scattered showers.

Lee wins school election

Terry Lee won the run-off election Wednesday, for a place on the Crockett County Consolidated Common School District Board. He polled 559 votes to 298 for his opponent, Robert Flores.

Lee and Flores were pitted against each other when they tied for the place in the election for two trustees April 3, Gary Mitchell was the front runner in the field of seven, and the two in the run-off tied with the same number of votes.

The 857 votes cast set a record for a school board election, the result of both candidates campaigning vigorously for the post. A total of 97 votes were cast absentee, one sent by mail was not returned. A total of 760 voted at the courthouse Wednesday.

defeated his opponent, Troy Skates, in the state as well as Crockett County. Here, voters gave Hobby the nod by 418 to 191.

In the race for Attorney General, a post Mark White gave up to run for governor, John Hannah will face Jim Mattox in the run-off election. Location, voters gave John Hannah 208 votes, Max Sherman, 187, Jack Ogg, 19, and Jim Mattox, 146.

Bob Bullock was returned as his party's nominee for Comptroller of public Accounts in his bid for re-election to that post. In Crockett County the vote was 418 for Bullock and 191 for Robert Calvert.

In the race for State Treasurer, Warren G. Harding, the incumbent, polled the most votes locally with 320. Ana Richards, who led Harding in the balloting throughout the state and will be in a run-off for the nomination with him, got 178 votes in the county. Lane Denton polled 47 votes and John R. Cutright, 42.

Pete Snelson, former state senator from this district, polled the most votes here for Commissioner, General Land Office, with 463. Gary Mauro got 108 votes locally and the other two opponents George Fore and Dan Kubiak, 28 and 25 respectively. Snelson had a narrow edge over Mauro and Kubiak as returns were slowly trickling in throughout the state Tuesday. It will be several days before the candidate he will face in the run-off will be known.

Jim Hightower upset long-time Commissioner of Agriculture Reagan V. Brown in the primary. Crockett County voters went along with the rest of the state, voting 283 for Brown and 316 for Hightower, to give Hightower the nod for the Democratic nomination.

James E. Nugent easily defeated his opponent, Ralph Pacheco, for the nomination for Railroad Commissioner. The vote here was 492 to 122 for Nugent.

The vote locally for Supreme Court Justices went for place 1, 294 for Robertson and 248 for Barron; Place 2, James Denton, 300, Bill Kilgarlin, 246; Place 3, Barrow, 350, Woodrow Wilson Bean, 212. There was no opposition on the ballot for Presiding Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals and John F. Onion polled 420 votes in the county. For Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, place 1, Crockett County voters went for John E. Humphreys out of a field of four, with 155 votes. For Place 2, Bill Black got the nod from local voters, polling 235 of the 509 votes cast for the five candidates in the race.

Bill Sims easily won the Democratic nomination for State Senator, District 25, the post vacated by Snelson. It was a landslide for Sims here as well as in the rest of the district. Locally Sims polled 492 votes to 58 for his opponent, Bill Rubey. Sims will face Republican Ernest

TRICKLE-DOWN DEFENDED

By Edwin Feulner

As David Stockman learned the hard way, one just doesn't say "trickle down" in polite company these days.

It's mere mention conjures the image of a cigar-chomping, over-indulged, martini-fisted big businessman flipping pennies to hollow-eyed children peering up from his Gucci loafers.

For reasons of perception more than fact, "trickle-down" economics has been banished from the land.

Yet, evidence compiled by analyst Charles Murray indicates that the only way one can effectively fight poverty is by creating wealth at the top — and, indeed, letting the benefits trickle down to the less wealthy.

It's the nation's overall economic health, as measured by the Gross National Product (GNP), that's the deciding factor in the fight against poverty. Dr. Murray points out in a new study — not how much the federal government spends on welfare programs. Murray opens the history books to illustrate his point.

He notes, for example, that the Johnson administration's War on Poverty and other Great Society programs were indeed effective at chipping away at poverty — but no more so than the unglamorous and less costly programs that preceded them. Moreover, as the Johnson programs became larger and more costly in the 1970s, they also became less effective.

Why? Because it wasn't the do-gooder programs that were causing poverty to increase or decrease, but "that old favorite of the trickle-down Eisenhowerites, changes in GNP."

Using the officially defined government "poverty line" as his measure, Murray notes that poverty fell during the five Johnson years from 18.0 percent of the population in 1964 to 12.8 percent in 1968.

"Yet this was scarcely a breathtaking achievement. During the preceding five years (1959-63), the percentage had dropped from 22.4 percent to 19.5 percent. In 1954-58, it had dropped from 27.9 to 23.1. And from 1949-53, it had dropped from 32.7 to 26.2."

In short, says Murray, "the size of the officially defined impoverished population in the U.S. dropped by 19.9 percentage points in 20 years — one percentage point per year — of which the five Johnson years accounted for almost precisely their five-point share."

Then things got worse. After two decades of reasonably steady progress, the percentages froze during the 1970s. The 12.8 percent of LBJ's last year never fell below 11.1 percent (in 1973), and stood at 13.0 percent in 1980. How could this be? Even ignoring "in-kind" expenditures — such as food stamps and public housing — America was spending twice as much on direct cash income transfers in 1980 than in 1970, and fourteen times as much as in 1950 — in constant, uninflated dollars.

Furthermore, the huge sums were going to a smaller proportion of the population — only 12 percent or so in the 1970s, compared to 25 percent or more during the 1950s. "By all logic," Dr. Murray says, "the fewer the poor, the easier it should be to lift them above the poverty level. It only takes money — doesn't it?"

The answer, of course, is no. Money is not the answer. Poverty did not drop in the 1950s because of massive social welfare expenditures, because by Great Society standards the expenditures were modest. Poverty did not fall any faster in the 1960s than in the 1950s, despite the huge increases in spending. And poverty didn't fall at all in the 1970s — despite greater social welfare spending than at any time in history.

What the evidence shows, says Murray, is "that changes in social welfare expenditures have not been related to changes in the number of people living in poverty." Poverty does react to something — the wealth of the nation.

AUSTIN — Texas lawmakers definitely will be returning to Austin this summer for the purpose of abolishing the state property tax, and Gov. Bill Clements says he will call the special session for May 24.

Clements is asking the Legislature to approve a constitutional amendment doing away with the tax—which hasn't been collected since 1978—because of a lawsuit scheduled to go to trial in June.

That suit, brought by Midwestern University, is seeking to restore the tax, which was used to finance construction at 17 public senior colleges and universities before the Legislature reduced the assessment rate to 0.0001 in 1979.

Clements says nearly $1 billion in past and current taxes would be due if Midwestern wins the suit.

Clements had hardly announced his plans for the session before several groups began calling for the governor to open it to several other issues. Some of those issues include appropriating millions of dollars to offset major increases in state employees' monthly health insurance payments, to offset federal cuts in the Work Incentive Program and to help fight the imported fire ant.

The governor, however, has said he will not allow lawmakers to consider anything but the property tax issue, and has indicated he hopes the matter can be handled in as little as two days.

The summer session will inconvenience some lawmakers who will be campaigning for the June 5 runoff elections.

Mayors Panel

The Mayors Advisory Committee to the Governor has identified water as the major issue of concern to their cities, and the group has decided to study several other issues they believe the Legislature should address during the 1983 legislative session.

The panel, chaired by Temple Mayor John Sammons, has agreed that water—whether the lack of it or too much of it—is the number one priority to be dealt with next year.

The mayors believe development of a state water plan should no longer be looked at as a West Texas issue and should be given statewide, non-partisan support.

The panel also identified crime, utility rates, financing for needed capital improvements, fire ants, housing and streets and roads as other major problems that need to be addressed soon by the Legislature.

The panel will present its recommendations on those matters to lawmakers and the governor in July or August.

Harding Woes

As if State Treasurer Warren G. Harding didn't have enough trouble with his two indictments for official misconduct, Harding now is being accused of sexually harassing female employees in his office.

Harding, who has been indicted for allegedly using state employees to perform campaign work for him on state time, has been accused of the sexual harassment by John Cutright, one Democrat who opposed Harding in the hotly contested treasurer's race.

Cutright says that a Dallas newspaper has complete documentation on the matter, and officials of the Travis County District Attorney's Office have confirmed that the harassment allegations are part of their investigation into the treasurer's office.

Harding was facing little opposition to his re-election prior to disclosure of that investigation, but ended up facing three Democratic and one Republican challengers.

Despite the allegation, Harding gained the endorsements of several newspapers and political groups.

Political Streaker

You may have thought "streaking" had gone out of style long ago, but at least one Austin politico has found it to be a unique way of campaigning.

During a political rally for Democratic land commissioner candidate Pete Snelson, a man clad only in tennis shoes, a Richard Nixon mask and a bumper sticker across his posterior streaked through a crowd of about 400 people at Austin's Fiesta Gardens.

GOP Offers 800

A total of 800 candidates for public office appeared on the 1982 Republican primary ballot last Saturday, according to State GOP Chairman Chester R. Upham, Jr. This is the largest number ever to compete as Republican candidates in Texas.

"We are really pleased with the large number of excellent candidates who sought election this year as Republicans. The interest in our Party has also resulted in a record number of Republican primary contests," Upham said. "In addition to the statewide contests and the five important referenda questions, Republican primary voters had a choice of two or more candidates in 11 congressional races, seven State Senate districts and 24 House districts."

The increase in the Republican primary can also be seen in the number of counties which conducted elections. In the last non-presidential year, 186 of the state's 254 counties held a Republican primary. This year, there were 225 counties covering over 98 percent of the state's population.

Voters in all counties choose among candidates for the United States Senate, Governor, Comptroller and Land Commissioner in addition to expressing their

Tips for Gardeners
From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

This is the month you can almost see spring to summer transition in your garden. Early bulbs and shrubs have bloomed and later varieties are coming into flower. Roses over town have really been putting on a beautiful show. Be sure to cut off the old blooms.

Pinch back annuals to stop terminal growth, making bushier plants and encourage formation of more flower heads. This also extends the flowering period.

May is not too late to start planting gladioli bulbs every two weeks for late blooming.

Coleus is one of the favorite foliage plants grown for their colorful leaves. Pinching out the bloom spike just above the first two leaves promotes stockiness and prevents the plant from going to seed.

Annuals that respond to pinching back tips are, petunia, zinnia, calendula, phlox, pinks, snapdragon, verbena and ageratum. Don't pinch back main stem of cockscomb, poppy or strawflower. Seedling dahlias may be pinched back until August first to induce fall blooming.

Spring planted deciduous trees and shrubs, including fruit trees, need additional top pruning now if new shoots appear weak or plants show no sign of growth. You should tip prune each branch a few inches, retaining natural form of plant. This equalizes root-top balance.

Plant zinnias, marigolds, salvia, periwinkle for heavy bloom during the hot months also dahlias for fall bloom. Apply mulches to conserve moisture in flower beds.

If climbing roses that bloom only once a year have finished blooming, prune now and remove all dead limbs.

For abundant summer bloom, feed crepe myrtle this month with fertilizer, same as for roses, 8-8-8. For a large shrub, use as much as one cup per plant.

The soil temperature is now warm enough to plant caladium tubers in shaded areas or pots.

Research now shows that blood pressure can be lowered by reducing the fat content in the diet. Until recently there has been little scientific evidence that dietary factors other than sodium play a role in high blood pressure.

Calorie-restricted diets may also be restricting two essential minerals. Researchers at the Iowa Agriculture and Home Economics Experiment Station found that women dieters failed to maintain adequate levels of zinc and potassium. The minerals were lacking even when following a planned low-calorie diet which met requirements for all major nutrients. Not only were the women eating foods less rich in potassium and zinc, they were also losing these minerals from their bodies, along with the excess weight. Research results indicate that diet designers need to include low-calorie foods rich in potassium and zinc in meal plans to insure proper health of dieters.

Foods rich in potassium include: bananas, orange juice, most fruits, potatoes, and peanuts. Foods rich in zinc are seafoods, liver and other organ meats, meats, fish, wheat, and yeast. Plant foods are generally low in zinc.

A publication Nutrient Needs at a Glance is now available from the Extension Office.

Tables can give you a lot of help in decorating besides performing their practical function. Be sure you consider their decorating use.

For example, one effective way to decorate a bare wall space is to use a console table or wall table there which can hold a lamp or perhaps books, etc., not only dressing up that area of your room—but also, the table can be a thing of beauty in itself.

Another way to enable tables to add decorating touches is to consider new ways of using end tables. Your sofa needs end tables, but you might want to think of buying nice new ones that don't match. This is one way to give variety and individuality to your living room. Or, buy matching tables and use them singly in different areas. Every table should be picked and used with care.

Tables can really do so much for your decor. And today, it's easier to decorate with tables in each area since so many sizes and shapes are available—everything from square nests of tables, to long rectangular tables, to hexagonal ones—and the important thing is to think of tables not just as a piece of furniture to hold something, but as objects that themselves make your home even prettier. For a wonderful table selection, stop in at Brown Furniture.

Ol' Wagon Wheel

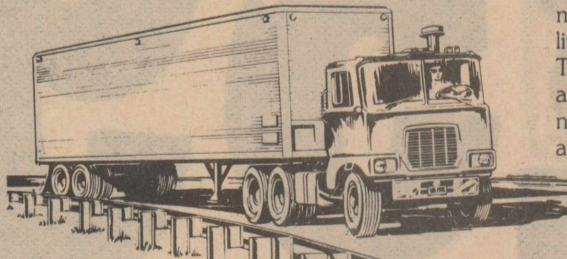

The old wagon wheel in the picture, leaning against the side wall of the old log shop, is fast becoming a relic of a departed era.

Time was when the blacksmith and wheelwright did a thriving business and the rumble of carts and wagons was a familiar sound in every community. Some of these old vehicles survive on the farms but they are fast disappearing.

The truck, trailer and tractor today are doing the farm work and hauling the farmer's produce to market. These have ushered in a new era in transportation.

The conditions of human life are thus constantly changing under the impetus of man's inventive genius. Age follows age in rapid succession and change is the order of the world. The only enduring things are the things of the mind and spirit. Love and hope and faith are eternal.

The Church ministers to the spiritual needs of man. It seeks to impart the principles of right living and teach men to love and honor God. These are the changeless and eternal things in a world of constant change and they are as necessary today for wholesome living as in ages past.

PBPA energy report

Because of the oversupply of oil on the world markets and the recession, almost all major oil companies showed lower profits for the first quarter of this year. Exxon's profits for the first three months of '82 were down 22 percent. Standard of California down 65 percent, Gulf was off 12 percent, Shell was down 4.4 percent, Texaco 44 percent, and Phillips fell 30 percent.

It should be pointed out that lower profits, in any industry, mean fewer jobs and less tax money to governments at all levels.

We wanted to make sure you heard about the lower profits in case the television networks forget to mention it.

In other news, Texaco is going against the trend and has announced an increase in its 1982 exploration budget by 500 million dollars. And, the new leader in U.S. gasoline sales is Amoco. Exxon dropped from first to third.

In Texas, oil and gas drilling statewide was up 20 percent in the first quarter of 1982 compared to 1981. Total completions were 6,111 vs 4,955. Dry holes were up 14 percent, 1,690 compared to 1,449. And, drilling applications were down 624 from 1981's first quarter.

In the Permian Basin our rig count for last week was 368. One year ago it was 415.

Replacement heifer business is good

Raising and selling replacement heifers is a good business, one which more folks in the beef cattle industry should consider, a ranch manager said at Texas A&M University April 6.

"We produce heifers year-round for a premium, and we can't produce all the heifers we could sell," said Jim Theeck of Brenham, manager of Mayfair Ranches. "We've had orders for more than 10,000 heifers since last October, from as far as California and Florida. Selling replacement heifers is a market small producers should look at."

Theeck, speaking at the Beef Cattle Short Course sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, pointed out that the basic program at Mayfair Ranches revolves around breeding Brahman cows to Hereford bulls. However, using a Santa Gertrudis bull produces a more merchandisable heifer that brings as much as a steer at the marketplace, he noted. These heifers are ready to breed at 15 to 16 months.

The ranch manager said that all heifers are dehorned at 128 days because they bring $50 to $75 more than those with horns. They are weaned at about 500 pounds.

Theeck said that about $18 goes into each heifer, vaccinations and other expenses but that these heifers will bring about $750 a head at the annual production sale at Mayfair Ranches the last Saturday each April.

"We guarantee all open heifers to be breeders when we sell them," he emphasized. "Our customers are the most important part of our program and we want them to be satisfied."

Another speaker, Jim Weatherby of Comanche, discussed some of the changes coming about in beef marketing and provided an overview of his family-owned vertically-integrated cattle business, the Comanche Land and Cattle Company and Comanche Meats.

"We have a 5,000-head feedyard and our packing plant will handle 10,000 to 12,000 head of cattle a year," Weatherby said. "We also have retail stores in a few locations, including Fort Worth. We hope to have as many as 10 to 15 retail outlets in the next few years."

Weatherby pointed out that he generally feeds animals (No. 1 Okies) to around 850 pounds before they go to slaughter, so they're on feed 110 to 120 days. By feeding all to the same weight, every carcass and cut of meat is basically the same, he noted.

"We try to provide a product that the average housewife wants," said Weatherby. "We want a high Good grade on our beef."

"Our retail outlets have been the most profitable in our total business," he added. "This success is based on retailing the whole animal. For instance, we make more profit on a tailbone than on a ribeye steak."

"We work at creating our own markets and customers, and we try to produce quality meat at a lower price than the big packers," Weatherby said.

He contended that the cattle industry is in an evolutionary process and that there will be more integration of production units in the future. Everyone in the cattle business must adapt to these changes and must take advantage of whatever opportunities come about, Weatherby said. These might involve producing specific kinds of cattle for specific markets, cooperative marketing for volume and feeding beyond the ranch.

"Opportunities exist for all producers, large or small, to produce beef for America and the world," Weatherby said. "Those with vision and foresight will enjoy the rewards that this industry continues to offer."

Parents should be aware of what a child really feels "inside" in order to understand why he behaves as he does "outside," says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist.

Welch is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Reuse slacks, jeans

Use your "old" slacks or jeans to make toddler's slacks or shorts in a jiffy, says a clothing specialist.

Adjust the grain lines, cut the front pattern piece from one leg and the back from the other leg.

Add pockets, trims, elastic and hem, and you have it, says Alma Fonseca, on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Rural appraisal courses offered

Individuals interested in learning about rural appraising can register for a week-long course at Texas Tech University and Texas A&M University.

"Basic Principles of Rural Appraising," a comprehensive introductory course, will be offered May 31-June 4 at Texas Tech and July 19-23 at Texas A&M.

"The course is designed to give beginning appraisers some basics in rural appraising," says Dr. Gary D. Condra of Fort Stockton, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, who is chairing a steering committee for the course.

Included are such topics as "Principles of Real Estate Value," "Area and Neighborhood Analysis," "Site Analysis and Evaluation," "Soils and Appraising," "Field Procedures," and "Administration, Legal and Ethical Considerations."

"This course is approved by the Texas Real Estate Commission for educational requirements toward licensing and by the Board of Tax Examiners toward professional accreditation," notes Condra. "It also is approved for credit toward Accredited Rural Appraiser (ARA) designation."

Fee for the course is $100 and dormitory housing is available at each university location. Coordinating the course at Texas Tech is Dr. Rex Kennedy, professor of agricultural economics, while Dr. James Ahrenholz, Extension economist, is handling the course at Texas A&M.

Additional information or application forms are available from Joyce Abbott, Texas Tech, at 806-742-3797 and Paula Tallant, Texas A&M, at 713-845-1311. Registration will be on a first-come first-served basis.

At General Telephone... We're Not Simply Talking About Service Improvements We're Making Them In Ozona

At General Telephone, better service isn't just a goal, it's a solid commitment. General Telephone spent over 354 million dollars in 1981 on capital expenditure projects (i.e. new electronic switches, expanded cable projects, modernization), and GTE will spend over 410 million dollars in 1982 to provide you the best telecommunications available.

For Ozona this investment in service improvement is working as shown below. General Telephone is working hard to continually provide you with the best of service.

Pigweed control with no carryover.

Banvel® Herbicide controls broadleaf weeds in sorghum without carryover.

Pigweed is one of the toughest broadleaf weeds you're likely to find in sorghum. Many herbicides, including triazines, won't give consistent control. Then there's carryover to worry about. But Banvel® Herbicide knocks out pigweed plus dozens of other broadleaf weeds in grain sorghum. And you won't have to worry about carryover. Banvel lets you rotate to a variety of crops — including wheat. Just apply Banvel Herbicide at a half pint per acre after broadleaf weeds have emerged and are actively growing.

And while sorghum is in the 2 to 5 leaf stage.

This season, get crop flexibility, tough broadleaf weed control and no carryover. This season, get Banvel Herbicide for your sorghum. See your ag chem supplier for details.

CHEERLEADERS ELECTED

By-Erika Lee
Thursday was a very exciting and nerve racking day for 21 girls at OHS because of cheerleading try-outs.
The six girls that were elected as the 82-83 cheerleaders are: head cheerleader Sherri Buckner, Darla Lovell, Kristal Williams, Lydia Maldonado, Pam Wilton, and Velma Fierro.
On the first ballot Sherri Buckner, Darla Lovell, and Kristal Williams were elected. There was a run-off election between Irma Ybarra, Maria Moreno, Lydia Maldonado, Pam Wilton, Teresa Lee, Lydia Hayes, Velma Fierro, Ninfa Cervantez, and Evelyn Cervantez because they did not receive a majority of votes.

A third run-off election was held between Lydia Maldonado, Pam Wilton, Teresa Lee and Velma Fierro.
The girls will begin making preparations for uniforms and camp within the next week.

Others trying out were Angie King, De Neil Payne, Jacinda Marley, Sarah Falkner, Jana Lilly, Tonya Ruthardt, Haley Anderson, Mylene Najjar, and Melissa Fierro.

She Knew
Ruth--I wonder when Arthur is going to propose? He's being going with me for nearly six months.
Elsie--You'll have to wait six months more. He didn't propose to me for nearly a year.

This last week in April had us once again reflecting on how fast the months fly by. Sunday services were sponsored by the Church of Christ. Monday morning dominoes were played by our regular foursome. Monday afternoon we had a residents' council meeting in which the residents expressed ideas and wishes for activities of the coming month.

Tuesday morning bingo found Ann Mayo pinch-hitting as caller. (Ann was Nila Turnell.) She and Dorothy Doll went immediately to cash in on their good dinner.

Friday our weekly first place bingo winner was Frances Borrego with a gift certificate from our fifth Friday sponsor, Perry Brothers. Second place winner was Grace Cotter. Earle Chandler won third place.

Tuesday afternoon twenty-two students and sponsors from the Big Lake F.H.A. came with fruit, puppets, and a puppet show that was truly enjoyed by our residents. Thanks, gang for coming! Come again soon.

Wednesday morning we had a good session of ceramics. Thursday morning was beauty shop day. Thursday afternoon was Bible study led by the Faith Lutheran Church. This was followed by Spanish hour led by Maria Vitela.

Friday afternoon we had yet another treat when the daughters of Verna Talley, Cloma Smith and Alma Wilson, treated us with our first watermelon party of the season. What a nice early Mother's Day present!

May 9-16 is National Nursing Home Week and we hope everyone will come visit us sometime during the week. This year's theme is "Share Your Love."

The ultimate in gift giving is 14K Gold customized jewelry and what will be more treasured than portraits of loved ones in the world's most precious metal-14K Gold.

Lions warm up for regional

The Ozona Lions regional track qualifiers warmed up Friday at Monahans against all classes and competed well considering most of the competition came from 4A and 5A schools.

Team points were not kept, but if they had been, the Lions would have come in second to Lubbock Estacada, 98 to 81 points. There were 21 schools represented at the meet.

Richard Garza won the 3200 run with 10:04.2 and came in second in the 1600 meter run with 4:37.6.

The 400 relay team of Felix Flores, Larry Payne, David Badillo and Robert Flores, came in third with 43.7.

Larry Payne won the long jump with a leap of 21' 1 1/2" and was second in the 400 meter dash with 49.3.

The 1600 meter relay team of Payne, Badillo, Mark Valerio and Marcelo Hernandez, came in second with 3:23.6.

Vallejo placed fourth in both hurdle events and Robert Flores was seventh in the 100 meter dash. Hernandez placed sixth in the 800 meter dash. Harvey Huereca placed third in the 1600 meter run and Greg Fierro was fifth in the 300 meter intermediate hurdles.

The team will be going after its first regional championship this weekend in Stephenville. The prelims will be held at 7:00 p.m. Friday and the finals will start at 1:00 p.m. Saturday.

Falls in the home are the major cause of accidental death for people over age 65, says Judith Warren, a family life education specialist-aging, on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In the only other contested district race, Associate Justice, Court of Criminal Appeals, 8th District, place 2, Charles Schultze edged by Larry Fuller to win the nomination. Schultze polled 278 votes to 216 for Fuller in the county.

Judge Troy D. Williams was unopposed in his race for 112th District Judge. He received 496 votes in the county with one write-in for Sooner Williams.

In the unopposed races for county offices, judge, county clerk, county treasurer, and Justice of the Peace, county clerk David Weant received the most votes with a total of 593 and County Judge John R. Jones received the least with 581.

Steve Kenley was re-elected Democratic County Chairman, receiving 42 write in votes. Twenty-six candidates received write-in votes for the post. Larry Williams was the closest contender with seven votes.

The results will be canvassed by the Crockett County Commissioners Court in the regular monthly meeting Monday before they become official.

Kitty's Korner Band concert Monday

[Continued From Page 1] ty needs a two-party system in the worst way and some of the more "gung-ho" citizens need to give more participation. I'm just too old and crabby to do much crusading anymore, but I'd be glad to "write a little something" about anyone who has the vigor to start another party locally.

Outrageous food bills? Look again--and keep track of one month's actual expenses for food only. Grocery stores and supermarkets sell a lot more than food.

The annual Ozona High School band concert, featuring the junior high and high school bands, will be held Monday evening, May 10, at 7:30 in the high school auditorium.

Popular music will be featured this year and the community is invited to come and enjoy an evening of music presented by student musicians.

State in 10th year of maximum production

The 10th consecutive year of production at the maximum efficient recovery rate in nearly all of Texas' oil and gas fields pushed the state's output of crude oil and condensate last year to nearly 929-million barrels.

The total of 929,710,351 barrels included more than 897-million barrels of crude oil. Figures compiled by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association also indicate that more than 31-million barrels of condensate were produced.

Crockett County, which has had recorded production since 1925, last year produced 4,816,396 barrels of crude oil and condensate at the rate of 13,196 barrels per day. Production in 1981 boosted Crockett County's production total through the end of the year to 269,753,824 barrels.

Texas' drilling boom, spawned by crude oil price decontrol, continued last year. Figures from the Railroad Commission's Oil & Gas Division show 24,998 new holes drilled in the state last year, an 18.1-percent increase from the 1980 total of 20,490 wells. Oil completions stood at 15,627, up 21.2-percent from 1980, while drilling applications jumped 17.8-percent between 1980 and 1981. A total of 47,940 applications were received last year, compared to 39,442 in 1980.

Last year's crude oil and condensate production total was 31.6-million barrels below the 1980 figure, a decrease of 3.3-percent. It marked the ninth consecutive year of a downward trend since Texas' output peaked at near 1.3-billion barrels in 1972. However, 1981 production from the nation's No. 1 petroleum producing province pushed the all-time cumulative total since 1866 to more than 46.6-billion barrels of crude oil and condensate.

Avery Rush, Jr., of Amarillo, chairman of the Dallas-based Association, noted that although the production decline continued last year, the 1981 decrease reflected a slowing in the rate of decline. It was the lowest percentage drop in the past five years.

"It is very encouraging to see that the unprecedented drilling activity of the past two years is beginning to have a positive effect on Texas production," Rush said. "Only by increasing our reserves can we eventually turn around our production decline. And the only way to increase reserves is by drilling," Rush said.

Disabled Vets. due benefit

Veterans with National Service Life Insurance—who are totally disabled for six consecutive months prior to age 65—should contact the Houston Veterans Administration Regional Office regarding a waiver of premiums.

The waiver isn't automatic, notes Ted W. Myatt, Houston VA Regional Office Director. The veteran, or person acting in his or her behalf, then must file a claim for disability insurance benefits. The claim should be sent to the VA Insurance Center in either St. Paul, Minn., or Philadelphia, Pa.—where the veteran's insurance records are maintained.

For further information, telephone the Houston VA Regional Office.

Jr. high cheerleaders elected

Junior High School cheerleaders were elected this week by vote of the student body.

Cheering the Cubs on next fall will be Jena Allen, Camille Davidson, Alma Guiterrez, Vickie Reagor and Diana Sanchez. Tryouts were held Thursday and the five were elected by vote of fifth, sixth, and seventh grade students.

In Memory

A tribute to my son, Michael who would have celebrated his birthday May 8, this poem means so much to me and I want to share it with others who have given up a son.
Dr. Owensby

God lent him to me for my very own,
Let me become his father, me alone!
Gave him to me not for an hour-for years!
['Tis gratefulness gleams in my eyes, not tears!]
No joy that fathers know but it was mine
In fathering that laddie strong and fine.

Time after time I said: "Tis but a dream;
I shall awake to find things only seem Grand as they are!" Yet still he lingered on Till year on sweeter year had come and gone.
My heart is filled forever with a song
Because God let me have my lad so long.

He was my own until I fully knew
And never could forget how deep and true
A father's love for his own son may be.
It drew me nearer God Himself; for He Has loved His Son. [These are but grateful tears
That he was with me all those happy years!]
-Strickland Gillilan

New fabrics to weave changes in fiber price

Tomorrow's fabrics will "weave" some important changes into the "fiber" of consumer choices at the garment marketplace. Ann Vanderpoorten, a clothing specialist, predicts.

New fabrics "in the mill" today will mean lower prices for consumers tomorrow--sometimes along with lower quality.

But don't be too quick to pin potential problems on the manufacturer only. Many problems with fabrics stem from consumer carelessness--or a combination of that and other pitfalls.

One advancement that will help keep fabric costs down without lowering quality is the much faster loom.

Modern high-speed looms make fabrics more quickly and they use less energy. They need fewer production steps, and they create wider fabrics. All of this helps keep prices from soaring.

Another development is the application of dyes, sizing and other finishes--they are foams instead of liquids.

One advantage here is more speed, which, in turn, means that more fabric can be processed in a day. Foam dyes and finishes require less energy and less chemicals than liquids. All of these factors keep prices down, too.

A third major development involves fibers--in the garment industry and others.

Two big newsmakers are the extremely strong fibers and the hollow fibers.

Some are made into strong woven and nonwoven fabrics and cables. They are used for such things as airplane fuselages, tire cords and off-shore oil-rig anchor cables.

These textile products save energy--they require less energy to make and less to transport since they weigh less than the products they replace.

Development of the hollow fibers is putting quilted products in the price range of many.

Some of the new hollow fibers now insulate more effectively than down, and they have the added benefits of weighing less and surviving laundering better.

Men's soft ball scores

In the second week of Men's Softball play the Stars beat the Cowboys by a score of 19-10. The second game was won by the Dillos over the Sixers by a score of 18-6.

On Tuesday night the Pistons defeated the Wheels 13-3 and the Cowboys outscored Ladd by an 8-2 count.

On Thursday the Dillos shut out the Mustangs 16-0 and the second game turned out to be a see-saw battle with the Sixers finally coming out on top by a score of 19-17.

The standings after two weeks of play are as follows:

Pistons with two wins, no losses; Outlaws, 1-0; Dillos, 2-1; Sixers, 2-1; Wheels, 1-1; Stars, 1-1; Cowboys, 1-2; Ladd, 0-1; Mustangs, 0-2.

Fad diets--they could be dangerous to your health! Some fad diets promise you will lose five to 10 pounds a week, but the recommended amount is one to two pounds a week. Ask your County Extension Agent (Home Economics) for information about a sensible diet plan.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay
Here's an amazing oddity...A baseball player once hit a 6-inch home run..It happened in a minor league some years ago..A batter hit the ball a few inches in front of the plate..The umpire called it fair, but the pitcher and catcher thought the ball hit off the batter's foot before rolling in front of the plate, which would have made it foul..They stood and argued with the ump, the ball resting 6 inches from home, while the batter raced around the bases and crossed the plate--with what turned out to be the shortest home run of all-time!

It's a little-known fact that the controversial owner of the New York Yankees baseball team, George Steinbrenner, was once an assistant football coach at both Purdue and Northwestern...Steinbrenner was a football coach in the 1950s.

How many miles-per-gallon do cars get in the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race?..Those cars average less than 2 miles per gallon for the 500 miles.

I bet you didn't know.. L-B Motor Co. has new cars coming in so come by and check with us often or order the car of your choice.

Mother's Day
Dear Mother,
So often you've sacrificed your time and energy just for us...and so often we seem to take it all for granted.
Isn't it ironic that we have a national pickle week, national citrus week, national apple week, and so on. Yet for Mother, we set aside only one day a year.
Oh, sure, we buy you a present and take you to dinner. But on Mother's Day, and every day, those aren't the important things. What is important is that we tell you how much we love and appreciate you all year through.
This is your day, Mom, and we want you to enjoy it as much as you can. But more than that, we want you to know how special we think you are--even on those days when we don't seem to show it.
Happy Mother's Day!
