Kitten's Away Mice Gonna Play!

By-Evart White

This being my last chance at romping around in Kitty's domain, I'd like to express my appreciation for the tolerance of Stockman readers and to say a word of thanks to the very efficient crew, Willa, Kyla and Tom, Kitty left me to get out The Stockman in her absence, and to Jan Henderson who helped us out two afternoons after school. Any credit for excellence of these editions must go to them, not me, for they shouldered most of the load.

And well it was, because the pace is a little fast for my age, though I did find it still enjoyable to be back in the writing business. And let me say a word for Kitty-if she gets fussy with you for being late with your news contributions and advertisements, forgive her, for believe me there is good reason for it. Weekly publishing boils down to two-day publishing. With publication day on Wednesday, it's almost imperative that the paper be composed on Monday and Tuesday. That means writing late news, composing late ads, writing headlines, making up pages and the myriad other things that are involved in getting the paper out. Everything seemed to be happening all at once last week, which from a news standpoint is always good, though something of a flood at last minute is sometimes almost overwhelming. A friend stuck his head in the office door last week and said "You're the luckiest guy in the world. You inherit the paper for a week and we have more things happening than I can remember."

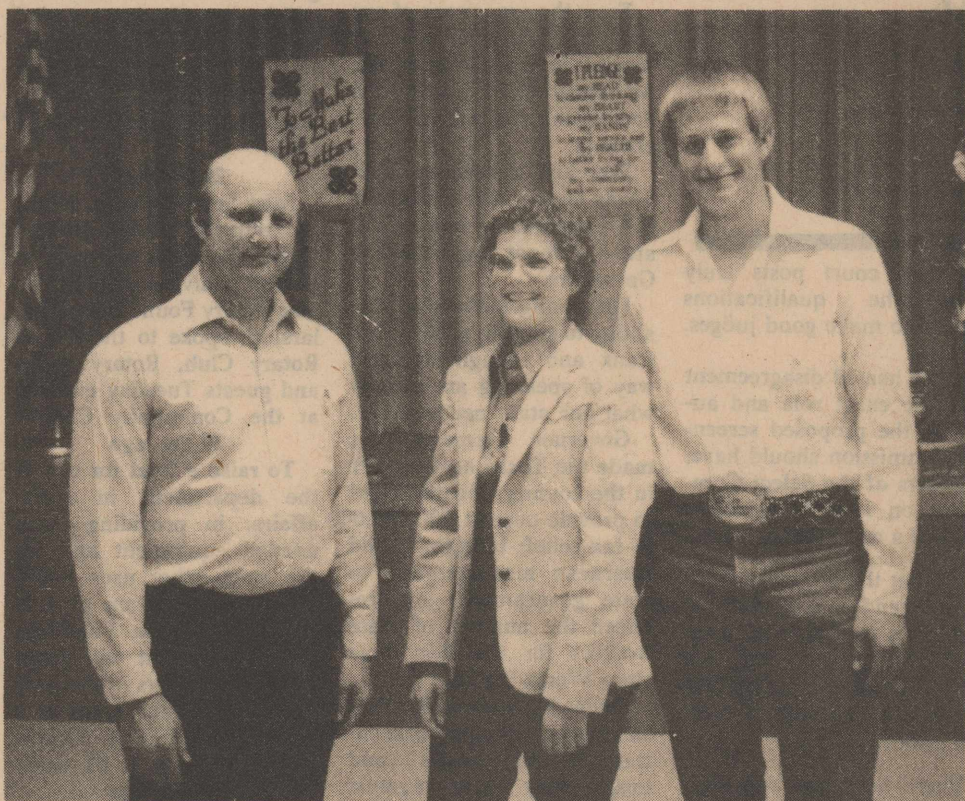

Last week was National Newspaper Week, an observance that only newspaper people pay any attention to. But it is an occasion when they can sound their own horns, bid for sympathy, or understanding, or tolerance and hope you are listening and that they are making an impression on you. I certainly did my part last week in concentrating my attention on the newspaper business. I did try to focus your (the reader's) attention on the gush of local news, advertising, editorial comment, and whatever propaganda we thought we could get by with. Many of you have been more than generous with your approbation, which we do appreciate.

It's all been a lot of fun, this being (like the movie cowboy says) "back in the saddle again." But I'll be glad to see Kitty back again the end of this week, and it won't be altogether for love of her.

BETTER NOT BE LATE FOR FRIDAY GAME

What is expected to be the largest crowd of the season is anticipated for Friday night's football game here against Crane, Supt. Foy Moody advised this week. The superintendent urged fans to get to the stadium early if they want a good seat, or maybe just a seat.

Crane school officials have advised that several hundred fans are expected to follow their undefeated team to Ozona to engage the once-defeated Ozona Lions in District 3-A competition. Crane traditionally goes all out in support of its high school teams and this game will be no exception, Moody says.

Ozonan hurt in crash that took two lives

An Ozona man was injured and two Odessa men were killed in a two-vehicle head-on collision early Saturday morning 4 miles north of Barnhart on Highway 163.

Freddy Garza, 21, of Ozona was taken to Reagan County Hospital in Big Lake where his condition is reported satisfactory.

Gary Lee Preston, 23, and Claude Wayne Council, both of Odessa, were pronounced dead at the scene by Peace Justice Faye Noble of Big Lake. Their bodies were brought to Sizemore Funeral Home in Ozona where services were pending Monday.

Others injured in the crash were Glen Ray Preston of Gardendale, and James Kendall Clappitt of Odessa.

Garza was alone in a pickup truck northbound on Highway 163. Gary Preston was driver of the southbound vehicle. The accident was investigated by DPS Trooper John Hirst of Mertzon.

The deaths were among six fatalities in West Texas over the weekend.

Schools get into the act in battle on drug abuse

Specific plans of action for bringing the Ozona Public Schools into the local effort to stamp out drug use and abuse were outlined at the Ozona school board meeting last week. Recommendations for specific actions to be taken by the Ozona school system were heard and discussed and the board ordered certain actions governing school operations in the future.

The board had as its guest,

District Attorney Bill Mason who discussed and made recommendations covering policies and actions in the schools system concerning drug abuse in Ozona. Board members approved the immediate use of various methods presented to them at the meeting.

The primary consideration was the method for successfully presenting Drug Education Awareness to parents, teachers, students and all other concerned citizens in the community.

The Board approved the following recommendations and suggestions to be carried out in the Ozona Public Schools:

One-hundred percent co-operation between the school district and other concerned community groups and organizations.

One-hundred percent co-operation between the school district and the law enforcement agencies of the county including, but not limited to, the Texas Department of Public Safety, the Crockett County sheriff's department, the county and district attorney's offices and their investigators, the county judge, and the grand juries which are properly and legally convened.

The services of Region XV Education Service Center will be used to conduct an inservice training program for the entire faculty of the Ozona Public Schools on February 4, 1983, revolving around the issues of drug awareness.

The Board and the school system will work with the "Operation-Kick It" project to bring assembly programs to the junior high and senior high campuses during February of 1983. This project involves inmates of the state prison system who speak from personal experiences.

The services of Marilyn Gollightly, area coordinator for the "Texas War on Drugs" project will be used for the purpose of securing a program for parents and students, as well as other community patrons.

Campus principals will conduct regularly scheduled faculty meetings for the purpose of encouraging faculty input and discussion regarding concerns related to drug and alcohol use and abuse. The principals will also discuss with the faculty, methods of correlating drug education into the curriculum.

Other methods usable to attack the drug problem include:

Bunger funeral Wednesday

Funeral services for George Louis Bunger, 70, lifelong resident and prominent Crockett County rancher, will be held at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the Ozona United Methodist Church, with the pastor, Rev. Wayne Boyce, officiating. Burial will follow in Cedar Hill Cemetery under direction of Sizemore Funeral Home of Ozona.

Mr. Bunger died at 4:15 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 19, at the Crockett County Hospital, after a long illness. He was born in Ozona, April 30, 1912, the son of Mr. and Mrs. G.L. Bunger, early day Ozona dry goods and grocery merchant and rancher. The elder Bunger, a native of Germany, came to Crockett County in 1896 and established the first mercantile store in what was then a pioneer village of small wooden buildings, and in 1899 married Elgia Williams, whose family lived at the then existing village of Emerald, 6 miles east of Ozona. The Bungers later entered the sheep business and continued in that industry the balance of their lives.

George Bunger has been a lifetime rancher in Crockett County. He was married to Louise Henderson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Roy Henderson, in Ozona, December 30, 1927. He was a member of the Ozona Methodist Church.

Survivors include the widow, one daughter, Mrs. Tom (June) Cameron of Ozona, one son, George Bunger, Jr. of Ozona, four grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

PROGRESS AT PENTAGON

By Edwin Feulner

All that tough talk we have heard from the Reagan Administration for the last 20 months about the need for some realistic belt-tightening at the Pentagon has finally paid off.

After years of bickering, back-biting, and bureaucratic turf warfare, the U.S. Navy has agreed to allow the U.S. Air Force to help it patrol vital sea lanes in case of war.

Why this never happened before is one of those great "mysteries" that is so much a part of Washington life that it hardly causes a yawn anymore.

It has nothing, of course, to do with war-fighting. It is simply a matter of turf. The Navy has always considered the open seas its private province; all others keep out. Accordingly, the Navy has created its own air force.

While the Navy has insisted on exclusive territorial rights to the friendly skies above the shining seas, it hasn't hesitated — for good reasons, I might add — to assume for itself an increasingly larger air-warfare role, cutting into Air Force turf. The growth of the naval air force is fully justified, of course, because the Navy's fighter and bomber squadrons are mobile. Still, it has meant years of jurisdictional and budget warfare — usually well out of the public's eye — between Navy and Air brass.

The point here is not to open old wounds, or to tell nasty little stories that the Chief of Naval Operations and Air Force Chief of Staff will both deny, but to congratulate the current service chiefs, Navy Adm. James Watkins and Air Force Gen. Charles Gabriel, for this important step in the right direction — a step that has great merit, both tactically and symbolically.

Under the agreement, announced in mid-September, the Air Force will carry out long-range B-52 bomber strikes against enemy naval bases and ships at sea; it will provide air cover for U.S. ships operating within range of land bases and will operate AWACS radar-control aircraft in conjunction with Navy fighter operations.

The Navy, for its part, will assist the Air Force by conducting more air strikes against land targets, using carrier-based bombers that can be shuffled in and out of a war zone as rapidly as the carrier can be moved.

In times of peace — in perpetuity we can hope — the two services will conduct joint training missions.

Though some will deny it, the Navy brass historically has offered the most resistance to joint operations with the other services. This is perhaps understandable, since the Navy has its own air force and even its own army, better known as the U.S. Marine Corps. The Army, by contrast, has always relied heavily on the Air Force for air strikes against enemy placements.

In addition to the obvious benefits of the new plan — more interservice cooperation; more war-fighting flexibility — the new arrangement could also save U.S. taxpayers some big bucks.

The Air Force B-52 fleet is presently scheduled to be replaced starting in 1986 by the new B-1 bomber. Instead of letting the B-52s rot on some runway in New Mexico, and having to purchase additional aircraft for the Navy, the new arrangement will permit the continued use of the workhorse B-52s. It will certainly be much cheaper to retrofit the B-52s with anti-ship missiles than to purchase brand new bombers for the Navy.

Congratulations to the Navy and Air Force chiefs, and to Navy Secretary John Lehman and Air Force Secretary Verne Orr. They have done what nobody before them could do.

STATE CAPITAL
HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Round two of the heavyweight debates between Republican Gov. Bill Clements and Attorney General Mark White, his Democratic challenger, could almost have been described as "gentlemanly" if you ignore Clements calling White "incompetent" and White implying that Clements is insensitive to the plight of the unemployed.

White and Clements met face to face for the second time in the campaign last week in the studios of Austin's KVUE-TV, an ABC affiliate.

In comparison to their first meeting in Amarillo, the Austin debate was tame.

In the Amarillo encounter, Clements and White traded jabs over Clements' use of a 19-year-old drunk driving charge against White and White's complaints about mudslinging. The two even got embroiled in a shouting match afterwards.

At the Austin event, however, the two gubernatorial contenders stuck pretty much to the issues and avoided personal confrontations to the point of refusing to shake hands and entering and exiting the studios by different doors.

Education, utility rates, highways and the recession were the main issues stressed by the candidates, with White getting in continuous attacks at Clements for being insensitive to the 600,000 Texans who are out of work. White also blasted the Public Utility Commission for being anti-consumer and opposed any increase in state gasoline taxes, which support highway maintenance and construction. Clements indicated he would sign a tax increase bill if passed by the Legislature in 1983.

White seemed to have Clements on the defensive most of the evening, but both men claimed victory afterwards.

Clements claimed a poll conducted by Houston pollster Lance Larrance immediately after the debate showed Clements had won by a margin of 50 percent to 33 percent, with the remainder declaring a draw or being undecided.

White countered with a poll of his own showing 31 percent thought he won and only 20 percent favoring Clements. The remaining 49 percent were unsure or thought neither had the edge, White said.

Treasurer's Race

And while Clements and White continued their verbal battle, some of the lesser statewide races also were heating up, particularly the state treasurer's race.

Allen Clark, the GOP candidate for state treasurer, announced the names of some 300 top-level banking executives who have endorsed his campaign.

Clark is opposing former Travis County Commissioner Ann Richards for the treasurer's post. Richards led incumbent Treasurer Warren G. Harding in the May Democratic primary and then gained the nomination after Harding dropped out of the runoff under fire for using state employees in his re-election campaign.

Clark and Richards have been waging one of the more interesting—even if little noticed—campaigns of this political season. If Richards is elected, she would be the first woman to hold a statewide office in Texas since Miriam "Ma" Ferguson was elected to her second term as governor in 1933 and the first woman ever to truly be elected in her own right.

Clark, on the other hand, is a much-decorated Vietnam veteran who had both legs amputated below the knee after being wounded in a mortar attack. He walks without crutches on artificial legs.

Clark and Richards, who had a debate of their own, have made the most of what few issues there are in the race, with Clark stressing his financial management background and Richard her experience as an elected official.

Clark is considered to be one of the GOP's best hopes to upset the Democrats, but has operated from a severe name identification problem since entering the race late.

Judicial Selection

A special House committee studying the method by which Texans elected their judges has recommended that a screening commission be set up to determine whether candidates for state appellate court posts truly have the qualifications needed to make good judges.

After heated disagreement over the exact role and authority the proposed screening commission should have, members of the Select Committee on Judicial Selection reached a compromise agreement that the proposed panel would render judgment on whether a candidate is "qualified" or "unqualified" but those deemed unqualified would not be excluded from the ballot.

There has been considerable support for setting up some type of screening system or merit selection of judges since former Supreme Court Justice Don Yarbrough was convicted of perjury several years ago.

Supreme Court Justice Joe Greenhill, who recently announced his resignation, has been one of the staunchest supporters of merit selection of judges. The committee's recommendation will go to the Legislature next January when the 68th Session convenes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

October 14, 1982
Dear Ms. Montgomery:
No Texan has ever received a letter like this before.

All seven of us who sign this letter were elected to statewide office as Democrats. Three of us served as Governor of Texas. Four of us held the office of Texas Attorney General.

Despite the fact we were elected as Democrats, we are united in our endorsement of the Republican candidate for Governor, Bill Clements. This is the first time in Texas history that so many Democratic elected officials have endorsed the Republican gubernatorial candidate.

This election is not about party labels. It is about who can do the best job for Texas. From the experience of our combined total of 54 years of service in statewide office, we know how tough and demanding the job of Governor is.

We are convinced that Texas history will remember Bill Clements as one of the state's most outstanding Governors.

His strong leadership, his ability to get things done, his frank and straight forward way of speaking are exactly what our state needs today.

Governor Clements has made the Texas economy #1 in the country; led the fight to provide over $1,000,000,000 in tax relief; brought sound business management to state government; and reduced the number of state workers for the first time since World War II.

Under his leadership, Texas schools will again concentrate on the "basics" and tough new laws against crime and drugs are making our state a better and safer place to live.

The issue in this election is who can best serve Texas. Governor Clements has shown he can get the job done. By working with other state officials and the Legislature. By appointing good people to aid him on state boards and commissions. By planning ahead to meet the state's challenges.

Governor Bill Clements' record is outstanding and he deserves another term.

Texans are an independent people who vote on the basis of philosophy and character. In this Texas spirit of independence, we should reelect Governor Bill Clements. He is doing a good job for Texas.

SIMS talks SENSE

Higher Education

We've talked about our school children and their education.

Now, let's talk about our colleges and universities and the young adults these institutions produce.

I am a graduate of what are now Angelo State and Texas Tech. During the course of the campaign, I have joked about majoring in freshman English for three years. The truth is I got a good education and had the opportunity for a better one.

Our children are getting even better educations today because we have these regional schools. For Texans, Angelo State, Sul Ross and Midland Junior College are the flat, dry rocks in the middle of a stream. They are the stepping stones to an educated and informed citizenry.

Were it not for these institutions, I'd be digging more post holes in Paint Rock than I do now.

It has been suggested that these institutions be required to seek funding for expansion and capital improvements every two years.

This is nonsense. The halls of the Capitol will be jammed with lobbyists from every school, fighting over a share of the funding like fishwives over a choice mackerel.

What business even a small, mom-and-pop operation, doesn't plan ahead?

Texas has made a decision to invest in the future through quality education. That future spans generations, not two-year cycles.

We must think and plan in terms of those generations as we look to the future of our colleges and universities.

We can't let a crop failure or two get in the way of that vision.

A West Texan for our times.

Debra Says

By Debra Price

I continue to get many questions on diets designed to lose weight. I have received a news release from the FDA on the safety and claims of recent diets. The diet claims make it confusing for people to select a safe weight control plan.

FDA RATES FIVE DIETS, FINDS FAT IN CLAIMS

The Cambridge diet is watery. Stillman dehydrates. The Mayo Diet requires the consumption of great gobs of grapefruit.

But are they safe? The U.S. Food and Drug Administration, in a new Consumer Update, says about those and other weight reduction diets?

The Cambridge Diet: Under this plan, one drinks, three times a day, a flavored powder mixed with water, totaling a daily intake of 330 calories. "Nutrition experts agree," FDA says, "that diets of less than 800 calories a day should not be attempted without frequent medical supervision. Total dependence on as few as 330 calories a day may, over time, have serious adverse effects."

FDA is investigating several cases, associated with this diet, in which acute illness required hospitalization.

Warning labels should be carried on products used in these diets because of potential health problems, FDA believes.

Very low protein diets became a fad in 1977. Although many users experienced quick weight loss, illness and several deaths were associated with their use. The fad and sale of products used in very low protein diets declined after FDA issued a warning in late 1977. Now, they are re-emerging.

The Stillman Diet: In "the Doctor's Quick Weight Loss Diet," I.M. Stillman claimed that his high protein (virtually no carbohydrates) diet will cause the "system to burn more calories daily than with a diet of the same total caloric intake that includes other foods."

Because most of the loss is water, not body fat, FDA says many dieters find that much of the resulting weight loss is regained soon after they resume normal eating.

High-protein diets, as a class, can be dangerous, FDA warns. In June, it proposed labeling on certain protein diet products to warn that their misuse can be fatal. Under the proposal, food products more than 50% of whose calories come from protein, and which are promoted for weight reduction, must be labeled. FDA also recommends medical supervision of use, and no use by infants, children, and pregnant or nursing women.

The Pritikin Diet: It is high in complex carbohydrates and low in fats, cholesterol, sugars, salt, coffee, tea, and alcohol. Nathan Pritikin pushes his plan for preventing or treating high blood pressure, diabetes, and other diseases. If you want it for weight loss, it provides 1,000 calories with limited protein. Pritikin advertises widely, claiming: "Reduce overweight, cholesterol, the effects of high blood pressure, coronary heart disease and arthritis."

"The scientific community," says FDA, "is divided" on it.

The Beverly Hills Diet: The premise of this low calorie fruit diet is that protein and carbohydrate digestive enzymes cannot work together. A "Journal of the American Medical Assn." article says: "There is not scientific evidence to support this diet (which) contradicts established knowledge about nutrition."

Others say it may have the potential to cause grave health problems, Consumer Update reported.

The "Mayo Clinic" diet: The Mayo Clinic denies any connection with this diet, which advocates eating grapefruit before each meal, then stuffing oneself with bacon, eggs, meat, fish and vegetables. "The diet is based on the erroneous theory that grapefruit contains enzymes that somehow subtract calories by increasing the fat-burning," according to the FDA.

Why doesn't FDA crack down harder on such diets? Its consumer update says: "The first amendment (through its protection of free speech and free press) places certain statements about food and nutrition beyond the reach of Federal regulation. Unfortunately, these rights are sometimes abused by people who want to make a profit. Books and articles are often written to 'sell' rather than to educate."

What's the overweight consumer to do? FDA recommends eating "a balanced diet consisting of smaller amounts of ordinary foods." Also, see a physician before dieting.

Mrs. Hubert Baker with Mrs. Opal Meador of San Angelo has just returned from a 10 day cruise to Bermuda. They flew from San Antonio to New York where they embarked on the Holland American Cruise ship the S. S. Volendam. The cruise was delightful, luxurious, and fun, Mrs. Baker said.

MRS. LAYTON LARRY BROWN, JR. ...nee Miss Reinita Hedrick

Miss Hedrick becomes bride of Mr. Brown

Miss Reinita Cecile Hedrick became the bride of Layton Larry Brown, Jr. Friday, Sept. 24, at Calvary Baptist Church, the Rev. Clinton L. Eastman, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil F. Hedrick of Ozona. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Layton L. Brown of Mason.

Lavordia Denise Huff, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Shauna Renee Brown, Mrs. Lilly hostess for bridge sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid and ringbearer was Shala Baker, the bride's niece.

Best man was Tim Gibson, brother of the bridegroom, and Charles Gober was groomsmen.

Serving as ushers were the bride's brothers-in-law, Kenneth J. Davis, and Dennis W. Huff.

Mrs. Brown is a 1982 graduate of Ozona High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of Mason High School and is employed by the state Department of Highways and Public Transportation in Sonora, where the couple will make their home.

Miss Gail Hunnicutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hunnicutt, and a freshman student at Texas Tech University in Lubbock, has pledged Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and has been elected reporter for her pledge class.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunnicutt were in Lubbock Friday to attend the Zeta Tau Alpha presentation held at the Lubbock Country Club. Gail was escorted by her father at the presentation. A formal dance was held following the ceremony for members and their dates. The parents were honored at the Zeta Lodge with a buffet.

Mrs. Gene Lilly was hostess for bridge at the Country Club Thursday.

High score went to Mrs. J. B. Parker and second high to Mrs. Lilly. Mrs. Jack Williams won the club bingo and Mrs. Parker and Mrs. J.J. Marley won the Charlotte Phillips bingo.

Others playing were Mrs. Clay Adams, Mrs. John Childress, Mrs. Hugh Childress, Mrs. Buster Deaton, Mrs. Lowell Littleton, Mrs. Bill Mason, Mrs. Beecher Montgomery, Mrs. B. W. Stuart, Mrs. Sherman Taylor, Mrs. C. O. Walker, Mrs. Evert White and Mrs. Gene Williams.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Many of the towns around us are stressing a general fall cleanup, so we don't want Ozona to fail to keep grooming yards and urging others to do so. Old trash may harbor insects, pests or diseases, so should be placed where it can be hauled off. A sanitation program includes pulling up all of the spent bedding plants, cutting off tops of browned perennials, raking the ground to collect the surface debris, and removing from the garden. Also, plants that are now being dug and divided, should be carefully cleaned and all injured, diseased or dead leaves or stems removed.

Autumn is nandina's showiest season. Some think of it as the ugly duckling of the shrubs, but you should reconsider. The reason this evergreen has fallen into disfavor is that many gardeners simply don't know how to prune it. Nandina brings a delicate beauty to the landscape year round because of its cane like stems and fine textured foliage. The berries which were green all summer, develop into bountiful clusters of brilliant red that will last until late winter or the birds eat them. Then in spring, panicles of small white flowers appear, replaced by clusters of green berries in early summer. The foliage also has its own seasonal changes for the leaves never seem to be just one color. While attractive as an accent for an entrance, walk, or terrace, it can be grown in planters, in groups or massed to form a tall, loose screen. Pruning is called for when nandina is several years old and has become relatively dense. It should be done in late winter or very early spring, before new growth begins. The correct way to prune it is to cut back the canes at staggered heights. Since most of the leaves are at the top of the canes, this will encourage layers to develop at different levels, extending from the top to bottom of the plant. Canes that are too tall can be removed at ground level. Never flat top prune it as many other shrubs are. There are several nandina selections that vary in size and fruiting habits. Harbour Dwarf is a popular new selection that grows only 2 feet tall and can be used as a ground cover. Compacta is a dense, low plant (4 feet) with brilliant red winter foliage. Neither requires pruning.

W. R. Baggett, Jr. winners in duplicate bridge play Saturday were Mrs. Clay Adams and Mrs. Joe Clayton first and Mrs. Gene Williams and Mrs. John Childress, second. In Sunday's play, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Childress were first and Mrs. Clayton and Mrs. Adams second.

In play the previous weekend, inadvertently omitted from the Stockman report, Mrs. W. R. Baggett, Jr. and Mrs. Adams were first and Mrs. T. J. Bailey and Mrs. Clayton were second. Sunday's winners were Mrs. Clayton and Mrs. Jack Williams and second place was a tie between teams composed of Mrs. Gene Williams and Mrs. John Childress and Mrs. Sherman Taylor and Mrs. W. R. Baggett, Jr.

FRIDAY BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Joe Couch was hostess to members of the Friday Bridge Club Friday afternoon at her home.

High score award went to Mrs. Evert White, second high to Mrs. J. B. Miller and bingo to Mrs. Couch. Other members present were Mmes. Sterling Baker, O.D. West, Eddie Arnold, J. B. Post, Sherman Taylor, Oscar Kost and Roger Dudley. Guests were Mrs. James Childress and Mrs. W. R. Baggett.

Calling All Homemakers

Brought to you by Brown Furniture

Someone once observed that no home has too much storage or too much beauty, and that thought came to mind when we were looking at some credenzas and consoles the other day, because those are two kinds of pieces that can help solve both those problems.

You can add some storage space to a room with the right console or credenza. Many have doors and shelves or compartments to give you very convenient storage.

And, as for good looks, there are consoles and credenzas in a tremendous variety of styles, sizes and finishes to decorate any room. In fact, the right console or credenza can become a focal point in itself.

And you can let your creative flair go to work for you by accessorizing the credenza or console both on it and around it.

Consoles or credenzas can give you the delightful accent furniture you've been looking for and can do so much for you. This is one kind of furniture that can put the finishing touch in a room.

If you'd like to see a selection of these and other furniture pieces stop in. Feel free to browse to your heart's content whether you're looking for beautiful things or practical things--or both! Come to Brown Furniture Today!

The Most Important Day Of Your Life

Your yesterdays are important, for it is through the past that you have built the present.

If we are happy with our present state of affairs, we know that we have learned some of the lessons of yesteryear. But it is unfortunate that very few people are happy with their today's, the present.

We can change all that. We can learn that it is today that builds our tomorrow, and the day after that, and the day after that. It is in worship that we start—where we can learn to build our happy tomorrow.

FORT LANCASTER HISTORIC SITE, suffering from tourist neglect since the Interstate Highway 10 was routed straight through, carrying most of the through traffic, while it lingers on the loop from Interstate to Sheffield, may soon undergo a revival of visitor interest. Crockett County Commissioners Court has petitioned the State Highway Department to designate and mark the Sheffield loop as a 'scenic loop' thus assuring travelers of a way back onto I 10 and a chance to see new country. The trip around the loop is well worth the time for tourists from out of state, especially, for they will not only see the Ft. Lancaster ruins but the spectacular roadside park at the top of Lancaster hill and thrill at the 600-foot drop to the canyon floor via the Fort Lancaster hill road.

Scenic route to Ft. Lancaster to be rewarding for travelers

Renewed interest in Fort Lancaster state park and historic site is expected to result if the State Highway Department responds favorably to a resolution passed by the Crockett County Commissioners Court the past week. The Court asked the department to designate as a scenic loop the section of Highway 290 from the intersection at the top of Bachelor hill to Sheffield, now all but abandoned with completion and opening of Interstate 10 from that point to the Crockett-Pecos county lines.

The designation, which hopefully will be properly marked to attract tourists to make the turn-off, is expected to bring more visitors to the interesting site of the frontier military outpost which guarded travelers from the east to the west coast in the days of the California gold rush and later.

The tourist who has not traversed the route will be well rewarded to heed the scenic loop invitation. Besides the natural attraction of the divide country with its deep canyons and desert growth, the traveler will have an opportunity to view the spectacular sight from the top of Lancaster hill and roadside park and to drive the winding mountain road down 500-foot high Lancaster hill which has served trans-continental traffic via U.S. Highway 290 for more than 50 years.

The scenic loop will then guide the traveler along the old highway across Live Oak Creek, a tiny little creek of clear running water that goes under the gravel in dry weather times but always continue to flow. It was the confluence of this creek with the Pecos river that was chosen as the site for the frontier fort.

The Parks and Wildlife department has recently built a handsome new entry way to the fort site just off Highway 290. Competent rock masons built a beautiful rock structure fanning out

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY TO FORM AT OHS

By-Robbie Turnley
Ozona High School, according to counselor Jim Williams, will be forming a National Honor Society chapter sometime during this school year.
OHS has applied for membership in the national organization, which will allow local students to join, but the official charter has not yet arrived. The chapter has been applied to the National Association of Secondary Schools.

NHS is a club organization and sophomores, juniors, or seniors with a 90 or above average during their past year/years in high school may join.

BAND TRIES FOR FIRST DIVISION

By-Gayla Bell
The Pride of Lion Country will be going to Brady, Texas for the UIL Music Region II Marching Contest and Twirling Solo and Ensemble Contest, Saturday, October 30.
Mr. Kelly Glaze, OHS band director, feels that the purpose of marching contest is to stimulate a higher degree of interest in school musical organizations in the state of Texas.

In order to be eligible for the marching contest, the student members must be passing two solid subjects 30 days prior to contest and must be an active member in the organization.

Three judges, which are band directors from different parts of the state, watch the bands and then give them a rating on a scale of 1-5. A first division rating stands for superior performance, second for excellent, third for average, fourth for needing improvement, and fifth for a weak performance.

The contest show, which runs approximately seven and a half minutes long, consists of four consecutive drills. This show will feature the entire percussion section on a tune called "Dixie." Following the percussion ensemble, Michelle Couch and Jene Wilton, will be featured on a trumpet duet to the tune of "Conquistador."
Mr. Glaze said, "These drills are substantially more difficult than we've seen other bands doing while we have been preparing for contest. They are more dangerous."

This year at marching contest, the band will be marching 92 people.
Sitting in the band hall sipping a Mr. Pibb, Mr. Glaze displayed confident feelings about the band.
"This year's marching band is a good organization and stands an excellent chance of earning a top rating at contest."

The Lions started on their own 33 yard line on their first possession. A 30-yard pass from Al Ramirez to Capp Couch helped Ozona punch in the score made by Oscar Vargas from the four yard line, with 2:27 left in the first quarter. PAT was good.

At the end of the first quarter, the score was 7-6, Ozona.

On fourth and 15, the Wolves were forced to punt, giving the Lions possession of the ball.

With 4:47 in the half, the Lions came through with a pass from Ramirez to Couch. PAT failed.

A 60-yard drive by the Wolves aided them in scoring from the Ozona five yard line. PAT failed.

Ozona still lead the tough battle by 13-12, with 46 seconds left in the half.

The Lions took over, but were unable to get through the Wolves tough defense. The Lions were forced to punt on a fourth and four after making two first downs.

The Wolves started their own drive from their own 30-yard line after the punt.

Held by a tough defense, the Wolves fumbled with 1:24 left in the third quarter, which was recovered by Chuy Hernandez.

Ozona did not hold the ball long, for Ramirez threw an interception, where the Wolves took over at the Lion 37-yard line at the closing seconds of the third quarter.

After being held by a strong Lion defense, the Wolves' quarterback was forced to throw an interception into Mark Vallejo's hands. The Lions took possession of the ball on their own one yard line with 7:39 left in the fourth quarter.

COLORADO CITY DROWNS CUBS

By-Melissa Galindo
Ozona's seventh grade Cubs lost to Colorado City's Wolves with a score of 28-0 Thursday night at Colorado City.

Coach Payne commented that the Cubs were disappointed with their win, but he felt it was good experience to have played the game.

"Oscar Payne had a good night running with the ball, but we couldn't seem to score," said Payne, "I hope they'll do better next time."

The eighth grade Cubs were also defeated by the Wolves 12-7. Johnny Lombroso scored first with a 41 yard run.

Said Coach Payne, "we just couldn't seem to catch the ball."

Payne also added the team lost two fumbles down on the goal line.

"Donal Gutierrez had a good night with fourteen tackles and recovered a fumble, and Valdo Galindo also had an interception."

THREE MEN WIN MY HEART

By-Karise Aycock
Three young men have won my heart. They aren't everyday men however. One has a big round face, one is blue, and one is a cat. Yes, the men I speak of are Ziggy, Smurf, and Garfield.

Ziggy, the lovable loser, first appeared on greeting cards. Since then, he has appeared on calendars, T-shirts, and numerous other items. His quotes, humorous yet meaningful, have captured the hearts of many.

The little blue guy known as Smurf has no quotes, but he is lucky enough to have his own Saturday morning comedy show. Smurf is just one in a family of many. In addition to the adorable blue boy, there is grandpa Smurf, baby Smurf, and Smurfette.

Last, but certainly not least, there is Garfield. Garfield is probably the laziest cat on the block. Most of his quotes are witty and sarcastic. He has a sidekick, but he has not experienced Garfield's popularity. Calendars, T-shirts, buttons, stickers, and notebooks are just a few of the items the orange tom-cat appears on.

These three young men have not only won my heart, but the hearts of many others. They don't have anything in common, but each in their own way has become a part of us.

OHS GIRLS ENTERED IN PAGEANT

By-Karise Aycock
Rehearsals, fittings, and more rehearsals are all a part of the Permian Basin Jr. Miss Pageant to be held November 20 in Odessa.

while "ET" will set the stage for the judging of poise and appearance.

All the girls are getting along great and working on the dance routines. Said one of the girls, "This is going to be a good experience for all of us, no matter who wins. If we don't get anything else out of the pageant, we will have made some lasting friends."

Tickets to the November 20 event can be bought from either Karise, Sarah, or Jacinda. It will be held in the Fine Arts Auditorium of the Odessa College at 6:30 p.m. TRY A PIECE OF GUM

By-Cyndi Trujillo
Strawberry, grape, watermelon, banana; pink bubbles and no troubles--the world of chewing gum.

Did you know that approximately 50% of all Americans chew gum--about 500 sticks a year per mouth?

Production of gum began in 1869 which was developed from the sap of the spondilla tree. The sap, called chicle, is still on the market today. The inventor of this mysterious product is Walter Diemer.

Contrary to popular belief, if you swallow gum, your intestines will not stick together. Even though gum will not do any harm to your intestines if swallowed, it is not recommended for a steady diet.

Teachers, dentists, and mothers may not approve gum chewing. Some kids like to smack their gum and pop bubbles. This annoys teachers and mothers. Also, gum always finds a way to stick to the bottom of somebody's shoe. Dentists do not approve of gum chewing because it is bad for the teeth.

Gum may have some disadvantages but it also has advantages. For one, chewing gum relieves thirst. Airlines sometimes offer gum to passengers in order to relieve discomfort due to changes in air pressure. Chewing also induces swallowing which helps keep the ear passages open.

Eight hundred million dollars is spent on gum every year. If rolled into one stick, a five million mile stretch of gum would be formed.

Songs have been written about gum. Gum has even accompanied astronauts to the moon.

Rubbing ice over gum will harden it. This procedure can be used to remove gum by using a sharp object to chip off the hardened gum.

Of course at school we are not allowed to chew gum, but there is always hope. THE HONOR ROLL TRY FOR IT

TRY FOR IT

An Editorial
By-Robbie Turnley

The honor roll provides you with a sense of self-satisfaction and pride. Students who make the honor roll have these feelings because they know they have given a little more effort and make up an important part of the school.

Students have to have a 90 or above average on all courses except PE and Band to make the honor roll. Last six weeks, out of approximately 280 students at Ozona High School, only 62 students made the honor roll.

Some people complain because they did not make the honor roll. If they work on their lowest grades and bring them up, they might make it.

On the other hand, some students think that the honor roll is just another organization. They also think that they are already involved enough and don't think that it is important for them to make the honor roll. However, our staff believes that the honor roll is a vital goal to try for, and a very worthy one, too.

We feel that since the honor roll pupils are listed in the paper, this will make the other students at least try for it. It would be nice if 100 students out of all four classes could make the second six weeks honor roll. Besides, people who keep making the honor roll might be able to be a member of the upcoming organization, the National Honor Society.

LIONS UPSET WOLVES

By-Gayla Bell

After the playing of our national anthem in the home stadium of the Colorado City Wolves, Friday night, the Ozona Lions upset the Wolves with a score of 26-21.

Early in the first quarter, Colorado City ran in from the Lion 10 yard line for the first touchdown of the night. Their PAT was good, leaving the score at 7-0. With 3:34 left in the quarter, the Lions were forced to punt. Following this, #11, David Badillo, threw a 35 yard pass to Robert Massey, putting Massey on the 36 yard line.

The clock showed 10:34 left to play in the second quarter when Badillo ran in for a two yard touchdown. Diego Leal #31, kicked the extra point tying up the score at 7-7.

Because of the Lions' strong defense, Colorado City was unable to do anything on their next series of downs. As a result, the Lions got the ball. With 5:19 left in the half, Harvey Huereca, went in for a three yard fullback run good for the score. Leal's PAT was good and the Lions were ahead 14-7. Then with 2:57 left to play in the quarter, Colorado City made a touchdown. Their PAT was good and again the score was tied, 14-14. Late in the quarter, the Wolves intercepted a pass from Badillo and then again from Leal with 19 seconds left to play. All was not lost, though, as Ozona intercepted the ball from Colorado City with two seconds left on the clock. Time ran out in the first half with the tied score of 14-14.

Play resumed in the second half and Ozona made their way to the Colorado City one yard line. Huereca took the ball over the goal line raising the score to 20-14. Due to a bad snap, the PAT was no good.

With 5:20 left in the third, Badillo was hurt and #22, Allen Dews, came in.

On the Lion's fourth down, they had to punt. The Lions fumbled the ball, but were able to recover it. The Lions got down to the Colorado City seven yard line and Huereca took it to the two for a first down. The Lions were then served with a five yard penalty for delay of game. On the Lion's third down they moved the ball back to the two. With 1:34 left in the quarter, Huereca made his third touchdown of the night. The Lion's attempt for the two point conversion failed. At this point in the game, the score was Lions 25, Wolves 14.

Before the end of the third, Badillo was able to return to the game. He was hurt again, thought, and Dews came back to fill in.

According to the clock, there were 47 seconds left in the quarter when the Wolves ran 55 yards for a touchdown. The PAT was good, resulting in a score of 26-21.

Early in the fourth quarter, the Lions fumbled the ball giving possession to Colorado City at their own 20 yard line. A tough Lion defense prevented the Wolves from doing anything on this series of plays. As a result, the Wolves gave up possession of the ball to the Lions.

With 2:07 left in the game, Badillo returns, but before play resumes he calls time out.

Notes from the locker room

By-Ross A. Alexander

The ride home from Colorado City was a long but joyous one for the Lion squad. The usually reserved post game pensiveness noted earlier in the campaign had been replaced by a broadly cheerful and lightheaded mood which seemed to spring more from the discovery of a team continuing spirit rather than any gloating in victory. There was humor and lots of laughter, and it was such a good sign for those who had begun to question the team's disposition.

Ed Borrego: "So far, I think it may have been one of our better games. I feel that Greg Fierro made some great tackles tonight. Thanks to all the fans who came this long way to support us this evening and it sure was good to win this one. Emilio played well too, I think."

Bullet Flores: "Our defense played excellent ball this night...in the 4th quarter, when we needed tough defense, they came through. Zeke played a big game at the new position...even along the sidelines, we had good team spirit."

Robert Massey: "Harvey

ran real hard tonight...Johnny Rod played hurt but he stepped in there when we needed him and got the job done real well."

Greg Fierro: "We were slow starting tonight...but when we got our techniques right, we began to dominate the other team. Zeke did a great job and Henry and the guys on the special teams did a good job."

Rowdy Holmsley: "Zeke is, in my estimation an outstanding player. He knows how to get a team going and he does it by example and not just talk...I think he's one of this team's assets."

Johnny Rod: "Harvey played good...we put that meatball offense in this week and when we would go to it inside the 30 yard line, it was very effective. I might have done a bit better on defense but I'm happy that I could contribute on offense some tonight. I'm satisfied with tonight's effort."

Band Boosters bean bust

The Ozona Lion Band Boosters met Wednesday afternoon, October 13, at the Ozona High School band hall. Mrs. Bobby Aycock presided.

Mrs. Al Lopez and Mrs. Jim Williams, co-chairman for the recent Poor Mans Supper, reported approximately 700 pre-sale tickets had been sold and the crowd attending the event was larger than in previous years.

Mrs. Royce Newton will head the band's Halloween carnival booth to be held Saturday, October 30.

Mrs. Lane Scott will again head the OHS Band Banquet this Spring.

Members voted to support to the fullest the selling of purple wind breakers. After all facts and figures were presented, it was decided that a massive campaign would be launched immediately. Mrs. Jess Marley will be chairman of this project and anyone wishing to purchase one may contact her at 392-3432. Jackets will be on sale at all O.J.H.S. J.V. and Varsity football games as well as at various locations in town.

After a short discussion, members present voted to meet on the first Wednesday night of every month, at 5:30 p.m. at the OHS band hall.

BAPTIST TEACHERS AND WORKERS were honored at a recent church function. Workers shown in the above group were awarded certificates of appreciation.

Certificates of appreciation to First Baptist teachers, workers

Certificates of Appreciation were recently presented to those Sunday School teachers and workers of the past year at the First Baptist Church of Ozona. Rev. Nelson Lanham, Jr., pastor, read the Sunday School Teachers Covenant, and led in a prayer of dedication for those who will be teaching the coming year. He was assisted by Rev. Ted Turnley in handing the certificates to recipients.

Rev. Turnley, Sunday

School director, and director of "Reach Out and Touch", a Sunday School attendance emphasis, announced winners in the contact contest for September. Mrs. Bud Coates, teacher of 4Cs adult class, was presented a Smith's Bible Dictionary, on behalf of the class, as winner of the contest, with 581 contacts. The men's class, Rev. Lanham, teacher, was awarded a dictionary also, with 366 contacts. Third place award, a dictionary, was presented to Mrs. Carl Thurman, teacher of the Jr. High School class for making 279 contacts.

First Baptist Sunday School has a class for every need-nursery, through youth, adult men and ladies classes, adult couples classes, and recently started a class for singles (19-29). A bus ministry, with Mrs. Jimmy Arrott as director, is growing with 72 riders enrolled, carrying 30-40 to Sunday School each Sunday. A homebound ministry is in the making, also.

Art group to resume

The Charlotte B. Phillip Art Group has resumed Tuesday painting, after the summer break, in the fellowship hall of the Methodist Church.

Last week artist Bill Zener, of Boerne, conducted another workshop on the Devil's River hosted by two members, Polly Perner and Joyce Maness at their cabin, and a great time was had by all. Those participating in addition to the above were Beth Marks, Marge Smith, Jackie King, Jonnie Johnson, Beverly Gresham, of Waco (sister of Joyce) and Joan Nicholas.

Leaving Ozona around noon on Sunday, students sketched outdoors and painted in oils in the studio set up, and returned late Wednesday or Thursday morning.

Mr. Zener believes students should learn to create totally original oil paintings by becoming familiar with their subject through observation and memory, aided always by sketching outdoors in pencil and sometimes with added water color.

Members of the group have not been entirely inactive during the summer months; some spent a day in June in the Lancaster Hill area, sketching, and Joyce Maness, Polly Perner and Joan Nicholas took a four-day trip to the Davis Mountains and Big Bend in late August. They sketched and painted at various locations. A visit to Lost Maples State Park may be taken this fall and another instructor secured for a three-day workshop in either January or February.

Anyone interested in painting (any medium) is invited to join us at the Methodist Church on Tuesdays from around 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. For further information please call Joan Nicholas at 2-3265.

Woman's League meets in Mrs. Childress' home

The Ozona Woman's League met Tuesday, October 12, in the home of Mrs. Dwight Childress with Mrs. Steve Wilkins as co-hostess.

League members gathered more shocking information on drugs among our youth as Marilyn Golightly, San Angelo region coordinator for Texas War on Drugs, presented facts, figures, drug paraphernalia and reading material available to our Ozona children. Marilyn, former pre-school educator, became active in drug awareness upon realization that her pre-school students were on drugs in the San Angelo early childhood program. Mrs. Golightly made league members and numerous guests, more determined to work against this threat towards the Ozona youth. Mrs. Billy Carson reported on events to be sponsored by the Woman's League making drug awareness available to all Ozona citizens.

The forthcoming annual Christmas Bazaar was discussed by co-chairmen Mary Jo Mason and Georgeann Aycock. This year's bazaar will once again feature a personalizing booth. League members urge everyone to be there when the doors open in order to choose gifts for personalizing so that the articles may be completed by closing time. The bazaar will be in November.

Ms. Womack receives scholarship

Ozona sophomore Molly Womack has been named as a recipient of one of the Hunewell Band Performance Scholarships at Tarleton State University in Stephenville. Molly, a physical education major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Womack.

The Hunewell scholarships are awarded to members of the Texan marching band. Under the direction of Dr. C. John Keith, the group performs at halftimes of the Tarleton football games. This year, the band boasts $13,000 worth of new uniforms.

HONEST ANSWERS TO FAIR QUESTIONS

Our Customers Are Concerned About The Cost of Quality Electric Service, and So Are We. Here's a Sample of the Questions They're Asking and the Answers We're Giving.

Q. Why is WTU asking for a rate increase?

A. There are three related reasons: inflation, the rising cost of capital, and WTU's massive construction program. Mainly, the request is based on capital expenditures during the past year.

Q. When was the last time you raised retail electric rates?

A. WTU has had only three rate increases in its history, while it has lowered rates 14 times. The last increase was February, 1982, and it amounted to an average of just over 8 percent.

Q. Why is WTU having to raise its rates again so soon?

A. The rate relief granted to us by the cities and the Public Utility Commission of Texas last time proved inadequate. It did not keep up with the cost of additional plant, inflation and high interest rates. Our revenues have not provided an adequate rate of return.

Q. What are other utilities doing about rates?

A. Without exception, all electric utilities are having to increase their rates. Some have been filing rate cases every year. Bill comparisons reported by the Public Utility Commission of Texas show that WTU's rates are second lowest among investor-owned utilities in Texas.

Q. Why are you building a big new plant? Isn't energy use declining?

A. Energy use in WTU service area is growing. This summer our peak demand reached 994 megawatts. Our current generating capacity is 1,054 megawatts. The summer peak left us with insufficient reserve margin. We will purchase power from neighboring utilities as a stop-gap measure, but the time has come when we must expand our own generating system, if we are to continue providing service our customers are used to.

Q. What would happen if you could not get a rate increase?

A. The financial condition of our Company would deteriorate rapidly. Our credit rating would suffer. We would no longer be in position to attract capital at reasonable interest rates to finance necessary major construction. We would have to pay higher interest rates at the expense of our customers.

Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN McARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

As usual, our week at the Care Center began with Church services at four o'clock. Second Sunday services are furnished by the Catholic Church. This week a large group of youths came, brought a guitar, and everyone enjoyed lots of good singing and music.

Monday morning dominoes were played by Paul Cavin, Ola Mills, Louise McWilliams, Maude Pettit and Johnny Henderson.

Monday afternoon the Ladies Hospital and Care Center Auxiliary held their quarterly meeting and welcomed their new president, Doris Karr. This organization is in compliance with the state department's recommendation that facilities such as our Care Center have a volunteer group assisting with activities, visitation, and other needed operations within the facility that extends beyond the time frame of paid personnel. This group will be a real helping hand under the leadership of Mrs. Karr. Dorothy Doll from this group could well be called a full-time volunteer with the 700 hours time she gave last year.

Tuesday morning bingo winner of the El Chato dinner for two was Nina Mayfield. So now she has her dinner in reserve for the next time a group goes.

Tuesday afternoon Maude Pettit finished making the ceramic Halloween witch and pumpkin scene while Louise McWilliams helped with the decoration of the living-dining room area.

Wednesday morning ceramics were led by Ruth Hester, Marie Pierson and Dorothy Doll. Since then Kathy Reavis has sent a large supply of paints and greenware. Our ladies who work with this every week have really produced some nice pieces to be proud of. They not only work on Wednesday morning but all through the week. This would not be possible without the help of people like Ruth, Marie, Dorothy and Kathy.

Wednesday afternoon we were treated with our last watermelon of the year. It was Verna Talley's birthday and the treat was furnished by her daughters, Alma Wilson and Cloma Smith. Granddaughter, Chesta Wilson, sent her cheerleaders from high school, Kristal Williams, Lydia Maldonado, Darla Lovell, Velma Fierro, Pam Wilton and Sherri Buckner to demonstrate some of their yells. Our residents have enjoyed seeing the high school twirlers and cheerleaders since most residents are unable to go to the football games. Thanks for coming, girls. We would welcome other groups also.

Thursday morning our faithful threesome of Humphreys, Warth, and Clayton manned the beauty shop. Thursday noon our residents were treated to salad greens picked from our own garden. (Remember the black planter box donated by the Ozona Woman's League?) It was good and residents who had a part in planting and watering had reason to be proud last Thursday noon.

Thursday afternoon we had Bible study led by the Lutheran Church. Maude Pettit played the piano and Carol Reed, both residents, led the singing.

Friday morning we once again played bingo and Virginia Russell was first place winner of Watson's gift certificate while Grace Cotter won a second place Avon prize. Volunteers were here to help as usual. We really appreciate all their help.

Friday we ended our work week with a movie in the living room. This was shown by Ann Mayo and furnished by the Texas Extension Service Center through the help of Debra Price. This movie, which showed many festivals held annually in Texas, was colorful and proved to be a delightful treat.

Pullen to head Crockett drive for Thornberry

Fred Thornberry, Republican candidate for Texas Agriculture Commissioner, has announced that Dan Pullen of Ozona, vice-president of the Ozona National Bank, has volunteered to serve as his campaign chairman for Crockett County. "With people like Dan helping us in this campaign, I feel confident that we can defeat my liberal opponent," Thornberry said.

"I am glad to know that my support is coming from Texans and not the AFL-CIO and the Eastern liberals who are backing my opponent Jim Hightower," Thornberry said.

Thornberry, who is both a practical farmer and an agricultural scientist, is waging his first political campaign. As a practical farmer/rancher, the Republican candidate for Texas Agriculture Commissioner raises timber, and livestock and has an apiary of more than 50 bee hives.

"A lot of Texans know my opponent Jim Hightower's name, and now they are going to find out what he really stands for and the damage he would do to farmers, ranchers, and consumers in Texas if he is allowed to put his liberal-leftist philosophy to work as Agriculture Commissioner," concluded Thornberry.

Scholarship established for Texas 4-H

Pioneer Hi-Bred International has established a $4,000 scholarship with the Texas 4-H program, effective June 1, 1983.

The scholarship will be managed through the Texas 4-H Foundation, said H.T. Davison, the foundation's executive director and 4-H and youth specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. It will be available to 4-H members who are graduating high school seniors.

Candidates for this scholarship must be planning to major in agriculture or home economics and must attend a Texas college or university, Davison said. A major objective for the scholarship is to encourage competent young people to study and remain in the fields of agriculture and home economics.

Lions bounce back to devour Wolves

By-Ross A. Alexander

Like the cold fury of an early winter storm, the Ozona "meatball" offense featuring Harvey Huerreca, blew through Wolf Stadium Friday night leaving widespread destruction and disappointment in Colorado City.

The margin of victory in the 26-21 contest can not indicate the true glory of the Lions' conquest for those who didn't attend the game. But it was an offensive slugfest from start to finish with Colorado City eventually yielding to a stronger more talented and determined Ozona team.

Assistant coach Pete Maldonado was cautious in his contentment. "We had just two serious, though momentary lapses or breakdowns that resulted in them scoring. We saw a lot that needs work but we shut them down altogether in that tough 4th quarter...something that we had to do. Harvey was really effective tonight".

Effective is certainly an understatement when describing Harvey's performance in Colorado City. Running all evening with the force and power of a human hurricane, Huerreca smashed, crashed and blasted through the tough Wolf front, often dragging defenders with him.

The Lions yawned and stretched during the opening Wolf drive which commenced at the Colorado 22. After consuming over five minutes of the first quarter clock, the Wolves struck first upon completion of a 14-play, 78-yard drive. The kick was good and the Wolves jumped out to an early 7-0 lead.

On the Lions' first possession, which didn't take place until some six minutes remained in the quarter, the offense failed to cross the midfield stripe and on 4th down Huerreca boomed a punt out of the end zone from 70 yards away. Huerreca, whose punting distance seems to increase on nights when he carries the pigskin frequently, had a dandy night kicking.

Robert Massey ended the Wolf effort with an interception in his own territory and returned to the 35. QB David Badillo, faking beautifully into the line and then rolling to the strong side, fired a third down bullet into the numbers of Massey, good for a big 27 yards and the Lions' initial penetration into Wolf territory. The ever-dangerous and cunning Lion leader next rolled to the same side as if to pass and instead kept it and rambled into scoring position down at the Wolf 28 just before time ran out in the first period.

The Lion QB then turned to his blast weapon, Huerreca, who bulled his way in five carries to the Wolf 2 yard line. Badillo took it in from there and the PAT knotted the count at 7-7 with 10:34 remaining in the first half. After the strong Lion defense held, the Wolves, gambling from their 37, attempted to fake the punt and were stopped cold by an alert Ozona rush.

Badillo, the opportunistic field general, took charge at the Wolf 45. Sweeping quickly to the weak side, the alert QB picked up 7 big 1st down yards. With just over 7 minutes remaining in the first half, he fired his "meatball" offense at the Wolf defense from close range, sending hard running Huerreca at the heart of the Colorado line again and again with devastating results.

"I was amazed at how explosively Harvey Huerreca ran tonight," a smiling Randy DeHoyos offered. "We know already how much power the guy has...and we know he's got a lot of heart...but tonight, Harvey was storming into the secondary just about everytime he touched the ball."

suming 4 minutes of the third quarter in the process. The PAT failed but the Lions enjoyed a 20-14 margin with 7:40 left in the quarter.

Massey, who played what his mentor called "a real good game," intercepted a third down pass in Lion territory setting the stage for another Lion scoring drive. Although Huerreca and Badillo couldn't quite get enough for a first down on the initial possession subsequent to the turnover, Huerreca's booming 54 yard punt was mishandled and the Lion's Henry Delgado recovered deep in Wolf territory.

Badillo then called on his hurricane and Huerreca responded by tearing huge chunks out of Colorado City's fading chances each time he touched the pigskin as the Ozona team marched downfield, consuming the remaining time in the quarter and converting successfully in third down situations. But it was on a 4th and goal inside the Wolves' one that Huerreca's plunge put the contest out of reach for the game, but outlasted Wolves.

The Wolf offense did manage to score once again, but the tough Lion defense shut them down completely from that point on.

"Harvey gave us the kind of performance we've waited for all year" said a contented head coach Don Abbott after the game. "He's just what this team needs inside and as long as he's effective there, it will open up other possibilities for Badillo elsewhere." The Lion mentor mentioned the good game played by Robert Hearne and Emilio Garza. He also noted how quickly Willie Payne had hit into the hole when executing his blocking assignment.

The season has been a unique one in many ways for the new head coach, and when asked if he felt that the Lions had finally jelled sufficiently, the soft-spoken strategist simply smiled and said, "if the team will play with the desire that they exhibited tonight, and the execution continues sharp, we won't have any trouble."

Crane will invade Lions Stadium this Friday to test the desire and ability to execute. The winner might go on to the district playoffs and beyond. A champion will take unquestionable form in Lions Stadium at 7:30 p.m. this Friday evening.

Huerreca, this week's player of the week, amassed some 138 yards rushing and is the team's leading ground gainer this season. Only recently hospitalized with severe rib injuries with lung complications, his recovery has been a rapid and welcome one. Crane should beware that a hurricane awaits their invasion of Ozona!

Year to date Ozona rainfall much to be desired

Unless the balance of the month of October and the final two months bring a new spurt of rainfall, the moisture total for the year 1982 seems destined to fall into the drought category, in the Ozona country at least.

Had it not been for a bountiful 6.07 fall in the month of May this year, the year's rainfall record would look bleak indeed. With that month's fall, the first nine months of the year has produced only 12.5 inches of rainfall, a far cry from last year's second best year in the last ten, a total fall of 26.37 inches.

These statistics are contained in a ten-year rain record report compiled by the local office of the Soil Conservation Service and announced by Clitis Sinclair, Soil Conservationist. Assistant Conservationist Reggie Quiett compiled the month-by-month rainfall record for Ozona (above) starting in 1972 and complete through the months of September this year.

the record was set as a result of 10.53 inches in the month of September. The striking contrast with this year is the big fat zero for the month of September 1982.

The opening month of January was very stingy, with only .43 of an inch. But March was more so, a flat zero for that month. April showed .52 of an inch, June, 1.43; July, .59; August, 2.20 and September, zero.

Three cases
screwworms
in Mexico

Confirmation of three screwworm cases in Mexico, about 80 miles south of Eagle Pass, was reported recently (Oct. 6) to Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission.

Livestock producers within a 50-mile radius from Del Rio to Laredo should check their livestock for possible screwworm infestations. They should submit any suspicious samples to the fly lab at Mission," Dr. Holcombe said.

The three cases were found in 2 goats and a hog and were found in the Musquique community in the state of Coahuila in Mexico. Sterile screwworm flies have been released in that area as well as pellets called SWASS which contain attractants and insecticides to destroy screwworm flies.
