This has been a perfectly horrible month for our family. We barely got Tom home from the hospital in San Antonio, before we had to take him to the hospital in San Angelo. However, as of right now, he is on the mend and able to flirt with the nurses at St. Johns.

Getting the mail has been the highlight of his day, and we both want to thank you all for the cards and letters, flowers and telephone calls. You have just been wonderful. He has so many "thank you" notes to write, he never will get finished.

I have yet to get graduation gifts, bride's gifts and even baby gifts, just have not had time. Hopefully I will get around to it soon, surely before Matthew Douglas gets in first grade.

The only good thing that has happened to us lately is the news that we are going to be grandparents in about eight months.

It has seemed quiet around town this week. The influx of people the trial brought to town is gone and things have returned to normal. The jury is to be congratulated for its findings and we are proud of them for a hard job well done. They reached the only just verdict they possibly could have.

Mr. Murphy, whose services are to be held here this afternoon, is the little man who was always walking around town with his dogs. Maybe Jo Humphries visited him in the hospital and arranged his service. He has no survivors.

Teenage Fun Olympics

The Temple Baptist Church is sponsoring a great event for all the teenagers of Ozona between 13 and 17 years old. Teenage Fun Olympics Day will be held at the Rodeo Grounds on June 4, from 9:00 a.m. until noon. These events are strictly for fun and enjoyment and no athletic ability is required to be a winner.

Prizes for these events include 42 ribbons, five beautiful trophies, and a grand prize of fifty dollars that can be spent at either Thornton's Thriftway, United Department Store, Perry Brothers, or Western Auto Store in Ozona. Since these are all non-athletic events, anyone can win the grand cash prize without fear of jeopardizing any amateur sports career.

The games will include a Nerf Ball Toss for distance, Frisbee Toss for distance, Three-legged race, Blindfolded Sack Race, Backward Standing Broad Jump, Slippery-Water Balloon Relay and the Egg and Spoon Fifty Yard Dash. Points are awarded to all first, second, and third place winners. Bonus points are given to any winner who can quote the Bible verse that goes with each event. The grand prize winner will be the one with the most points accumulated. All ties will be broken with a pie eating contest.

All teenagers can register now at the Ozona Chamber of Commerce where they can get a complete package of information on these events.

RETIREMENT PARTY honors long time Ozona educator Foy Moody Friday in the new board room at the administration building. School board president Joe Couch presents Moody with a gift of appreciation. Moody retired as Superintendent of Schools at the end of the school year. Mr. and Mrs. Moody are in the process of moving to Plano.

Sharp given death after jury finds him guilty

Ozona returned to normal this week after a jury found Micheal Eugene Sharp guilty in the stabbing death of Brenda Kay Broadway near Kermit June 11, 1982, and recommended his punishment be death by lethal injection. Testimony in the trial began Monday. Local motels were booked up and there was "standing room only" in the courtroom.

The jury of six men and six women convicted Sharp of capital murder after deliberating for about two and a half hours Thursday afternoon. It took the jury less than 40 minutes to decide on the punishment later the same evening.

Presiding 109th District Judge James H. Clack of Andrews, pronounced sentence Thursday evening as Sharp, 29, stood facing the bench. He then asked Sharp if he would like to make any comment and Sharp maintained his innocence.

Sharp was convicted of the murder of Christie Elms, 8, in Lubbock in November of last year.

The charges grew out of the kidnapping of Mrs. Broadway and her two daughters from a Kermit car wash last June. Mrs. Broadway and her daughter, Christie, were killed after the three were abducted and driven to a remote spot near the Ector-Winkler county line. The older daughter, Selena Elms, managed to escape and was the key witness for the prosecution. The trial was moved to Ozona on a change of venue.

In a hushed court room Wednesday, Selena Kay Elms, 15, told of a night of terror. She twice pointed to Sharp as the killer of her mother and her eight-year-old sister.

Selena said that she, her mother and sister went to a car wash shortly after midnight on June 11, in Kermit to wash the family car. Under questioning from 109th District Attorney Mike Fostel, she said a man in a blue pickup pulled up at the car wash and identified himself as "Mike from Odessa." She described Sharp as polite and nice looking. She told how he assisted them in washing the car and how after talking with her mother, he grabbed her by the hair and put a knife to her throat. He then demanded that the two girls get in his pickup and pushed Mrs. Broadway into the truck. He drove the three to a stock-watering tank where he forced Selena and Mrs. Broadway to disrobe and bound their hands and feet. After Sharp forced Selena and her mother to perform perverted sexual acts on each other while the younger child watched from the back seat of the club cab, he threw Mrs. Broadway out of the pickup and stabbed her several times, the young girl testified.

Selena managed to loosen the ropes on her feet and escaped into the night as Sharp pulled the younger girl from the pickup. She was bound with her hands behind her, but managed to get under a fence and through a pasture. She told of hiding in bushes to escape the headlights of Sharp's pickup and her fright of coyotes. She got help from a drilling rig crew after daylight. The rig was five miles from where the killings took place.

Some members of the crew told of seeing Selena come toward the rig, covered with cuts and bruises and in a dazed condition the morning of June 11. She was covered with a blanket and her hands were freed before members of the crew called the Winkler County Sheriff's office.

Selena said she took officers to the windmill where the slayings took place before being treated in the Kermit hospital. The bodies of Mrs. Broadway and Christie were found in a shallow grave about four miles south of the windmill.

Defense attorney Glen Williamson maintained his client's innocence and said he would appeal the sentence. Sharp is in Crockett County Jail awaiting transfer to Death Row at the Texas Department of Corrections

Ellis Unit, 12 miles northeast of Huntsville, where he will join 169 other condemned prisoners.

Murphy services here today

Funeral services for Robert Lee Murphy, 79, will be held at graveside this afternoon, Wednesday, in Cedar Hill Cemetery at 4 o'clock, under the direction of Sizemore Funeral Home.

Mr. Murphy died Monday afternoon in Shannon Hospital in San Angelo. He was born July 1, 1904 in Dalhart. He was a resident of Ozona for many years before being injured in an automobile accident here over a year ago. Since his recovery he resided in Golden Years Nursing Home in Christoval and Morningside Manor in San Angelo.

Crime of the week

This week's crime of the week is a burglary which occurred between 9 o'clock Sunday night and 8 o'clock the next morning at the rectory of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church.

The thief or thieves entered through a rear door and took the Saturday and Sunday collection from the safe in the office. The money stolen was not only from the church here but also from the church in Sheffield, approximately $1,000.

A green bank bag was taken along with a cloth money sack. Checks were also taken.

Anyone having any information about the theft should call Crime Stoppers at 392-5000. If the call leads to the arrest and indictment of those responsible, the caller will be eligible for a $100 cash award.

Graduation held for 61 seniors

Sixty-one students received high school diplomas during commencement exercises at Lion Stadium Friday night, with a host of relatives and friends filling the stands for the outdoor program.

After the program, presented by the highest ranking students in the class, High School Principal, Jim Payne made the awards presentation.

The Best Citizen award, which has been given by the Ozona Woman's Forum for 32 years, went to Zeke Martinez. Martinez was chosen by vote of the faculty from ten nominees. The award was presented by Mrs. Gene Perry.

The Mildred North scholarship, presented by the Ozona Woman's League for the past 12 years, went to Fabian Delgado. Delgado was selected by his classmates. The $500 scholarship was presented by Mrs. Randy Crawford, of the League.

The W. W. West scholarship, which has been given by the Ozona National Bank since 1982, went to Sarah Falkner. Miss Falkner was chosen for her scholastic excellence, leadership ability and outstanding citizenship. The award was presented by Mr. John Parks.

A new scholarship was given this year. The Charlotte B. Phillips Memorial Art scholarship, given by donation to Mrs. Phillip's Memorial Fund, went to Lydia Hayes. The requisite for this scholarship are: a senior art student intending to major in the field of art. The award was presented to Miss Hayes by Mrs. John R. Hunnicutt.

The valedictory and magna cum laude awards were presented to Michelle Couch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Couch. Miss Couch graduated Magna Cum Laude with an average of 96.67.

Arnulfo Rios, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fructuoso Rios, received the Salutatory scholarship and the Magna Cum Laude Award. Rios was the second ranking student with 96.11. The third ranking senior was Darla Lovell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Lovell. Miss Lovell also received the Magna Cum Laude Award with an average of 95.14.

Other honor graduates were Jacinda Marley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Marley, with an average of 91.86; Allen Dews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dews, with 91.32; Rod Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Miller, with an average of 90.95; Kelly Sinclair, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sinclair, whose average is 90.82, and Carlos Borrego, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Borrego, with a 90.96 average.

Superintendent of Schools Garland Davis presented the class and Joe Couch, president of the school board, made the presentation of diplomas.

Circle Bar racer qualifies for Indy

The Circle Bar Racing Team has earned a starting position in the "Indy 500." Driver, Chet Phillip qualified the Gurney Eagle with a four lap average of 183.1. Phillip will start the race in the eleventh row in the middle.

The Circle Bar team has spent an eventful three weeks in Indianapolis, Indiana in preparation for the time trials held on the second and third weekends in May.

The first qualifying weekend was ruled out for Mitchell's Eagle due to a mechanical failure resulting in a crash. The team worked furiously to have the repairs made for the second qualifying which was held May 22nd and 23rd.

Due to weather conditions, owner Tom Mitchell decided to make an attempt to qualify, even though the car was not yet back to its full running capacity. Phillip qualified at an average speed of 183.1. One car was bumped late Sunday leaving Phillip having the slowest time in the field of 33. Afternoon rain showers ended the time trials with Phillip in the race.

Mitchell has reported that a new engine is being installed for the race on Sunday and there will be one more day to practice on the raceway which is Thursday, May 27 which is known as "Carburetion Day." Mitchell feels sure his Cosworth powered Eagle will be running like a charm for the start of the Indianapolis 500 which is held annually Memorial Day Weekend.

Services for Mrs. Yeager

Funeral services for Evelyn Lois Yeager, 44, were held Thursday afternoon in Ozona Church of Christ with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery under the direction of Sizemore Funeral Home.

Mrs. Yeager died Wednesday at 2:45 a.m. in Crockett County Hospital, following a long illness.

She was born Sept. 19, 1938 in San Angelo. She married Donald Ray Yeager May 24, 1957 in San Angelo. She was a long time resident of Ozona.

Survivors include her husband of Ozona; two daughters, Renee Yeager and Rhonda Shaw; two sons, Gary Yeager and Jason Yeager, all of Ozona; one sister, Peggy Dodd of Iran; four brothers, Ray Bolf of San Angelo, Duwain Bolf of Fort Worth, Bill Bolf of Ozona and Stanley Bolf of Austin.

HAIL POUNDED PARTS of Ozona Monday afternoon with a vengeance. It was especially bad on the south side of town. Almost an inch of rain fell with the hail on the west hill, but only .20 was recorded in the official gauge at the Water District office. To prove the hail was golf-ball-size these hail stones were lined up with a golf ball.

PUNCH-DRUNK PROPOSAL

By Edwin Feulner

A friend of mine who still likes to think of himself as the street kid he was 30 years ago, is fightin' mad. The reason: because the know-it-alls in Washington, worried that there is a nationwide epidemic of bloody noses, want to establish federal standards for boxing.

"Rocky Marciano is probably rolling over in his grave," my friend snorted over the phone the other morning. He then treated me to a string of obscenities better reserved for Joe Frazier's gym.

I have to admit that I missed this one. Probably too much overseas travel, where boxing is still thought of as the "manly art" of self defense. I also have to admit that there is something intriguing (albeit bizarre) about the idea of a federal boxing commission.

Imagine, for example, what the sport might be like if the Consumer Product Safety Commission was to get involved in the design of the equipment. The gloves would be designed, of course, not to inflict punishment: big and mushy—as lethal as the foam baseball bats that circus clowns use to crown each other with. Everyone would be required to wear head-gear: big and mushy-soft head-gear, in all probability. And the "ropes" and the floor of the ring would be designed to cushion any impact. Perhaps we might even have air-bag-type devices that inflate upon impact. After all, I'm a firm believer in technology—and the crude hucksters who are responsible for prize-fighting have allowed this sport to remain much the same way as it was at the turn of the century (except they fought bare-knuckled back then and went 100 rounds).

Let's be frank. Prize-fighting is not a sport for the faint-of-heart. While it is at times a graceful sport, most of its best practitioners are successful not because they outdance their opponents, but because they outpound them.

Currently, prize-fighting is administered by two international governing agencies, the World Boxing Association (WBA) and the World Boxing Council (WBC). In addition, every state has a state boxing commission and strict rules that govern conduct within the ring. At all sanctioned boxing matches, a doctor is at ringside. And in many cases, the rules of the game say a bout is over if one of the gladiators is knocked down three times in the same round. The third man in the ring, the referee, is required to stop a fight if he feels one of the contestants is no longer able to defend himself.

Moreover, nobody is forced to put on the gloves for a living. They know when they do that at some time in their careers they will probably be hurt, and that some people have been very badly hurt.

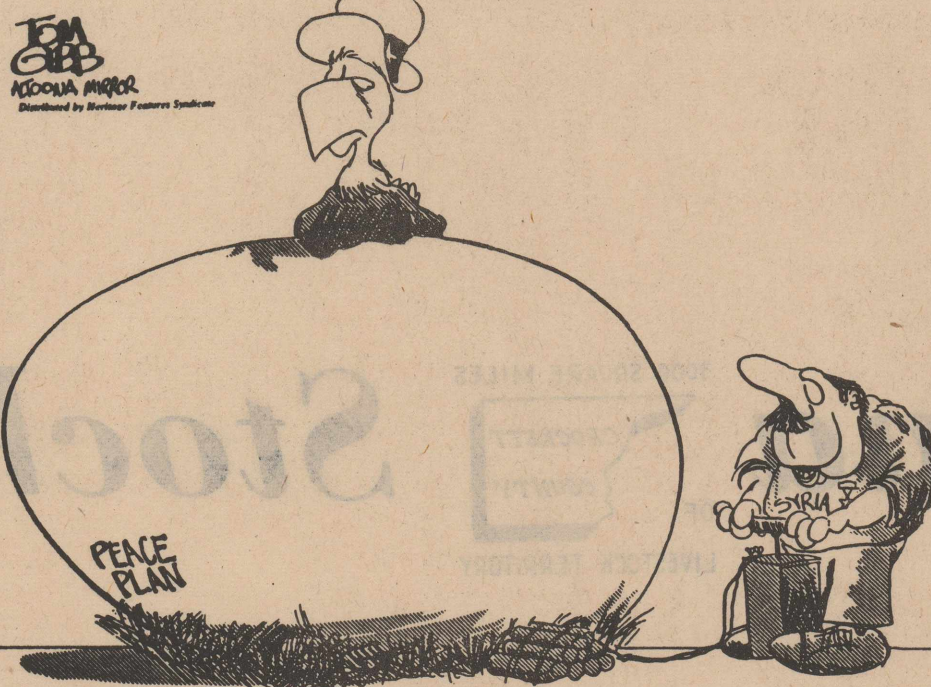

Still, is boxing any more dangerous than football or ice hockey or washing windows on skyscrapers? And does anyone think the paperpushers in Washington can or should make boxing something that it was never intended to be—a sport for schoolgirls?

Congressman James J. Floria (D-NJ) and his colleagues who want to establish "uniform federal standards" to govern boxing matches held in the United States certainly have their hearts in the right place. As Rep. Don Ritter (R-PA) said of their proposal, "We're trying to make the sport safer. By making it safer and cleaner, we'll make it better."

People have been "cleaning up" boxing as long as the sport has existed. The state boxing commissions, I would suggest, are doing an admirable job.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The Governor pushed out a tall pile of blue chips last week at the political poker table.

While most Capitol politicians and reporters were wondering whether Gov. Mark White really had the guts to lay out his much-talked-about, but yet-to-been tax hike proposal, the Governor himself was busy fashioning a tax package and public opinion campaign that was miles ahead of most speculation.

White proposed a tax increase, for the most part on obscure items and non-necessities, which would raise an additional $1.2 billion in state revenues over the next two years. Most of the burden would fall on purchasers of alcohol and tobacco, and most of the revenue would be spent to raise public school teachers salaries by 7.4 percent over the next two years.

Since the Legislature is only a few days away from adjournment, the tax plan is given no real chance of passage this session. House Speaker Gib Lewis said a majority of House members oppose any tax increase, and an informal poll conducted by the Dallas Morning News showed 74 members against the tax hike, 47 for, and 29 undecided.

Special Session

Although he hasn't announced the date, legislators are making plans for a special session the Governor is expected to call for this summer, possibly immediately following the regular session.

More likely White will wait a few weeks to get his ducks lined up—and to spend $100,000 on television advertising to promote and explain the proposed tax hike. The money will come from White's political campaign chest, a sure sign of his commitment.

Veto Threatened

White has also threatened to veto the fragile state budget now being crafted in conference committee, unless it contains a substantial raise for teachers. But Ways and Means Committee chairman Stan Schlueter of Kilren, who holds life or death power over any tax bill, said neither the veto nor the special session was "a threat."

"Everyone came down here this session expecting to have a special session... I have a lease on an apartment which allows me to stay all summer—which is what I plan to do," Schlueter said.

An interesting footnote to this political drama involves State Comptroller Bob Bullock, who expects to run against White in '86 and two weeks ago gigged White to reporters for failing to show initiative on the tax hike issue. White's bravado took even Bullock, no shrinking violet himself, by surprise.

Defeated Issues

White lost one issue last week, and two other unrelated measures also went down in flames.

The House voted overwhelmingly to defeat White's bid for an elected Public Utility Commission, but passed several reforms in the agency's Sunset Bill, including repeal of the automatic fuel adjustment clause.

Another hard-fought issue, legalization of betting on horse racing, also was defeated last week by two votes. Proponents lack the 100 votes necessary to bring the bill back up again this session, but vowed to try again in two years. The bill had already passed the Senate. Insiders say minority legislators failed to pass the measure because several of their special interest bills were dragging behind.

The controversial open-container bill, which would outlaw open alcoholic beverage containers in automobiles, stubbed its toe in the Senate when the sponsor declared he lacked the 21 votes (two-thirds majority) necessary to bring the bill to a vote. A similar bill in the House never made it out of the Liquor Regulation Committee, despite efforts by the Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) group.

Texas Water Plan

The Texas Water Plan, an eight-bill package to conserve and develop water projects in all areas of the state, remained hostage in a House Committee. Chairman Tom Craddick, R-Midland, has vowed the Water Plan will die unless the Legislature accepts certain amendments. Craddick, who has used his chair to effectively throttle numerous bills, recently killed a proposed water district for Sterling County, even though there was no opposition other than an out-of-county landowner who is a close friend of Craddick.

College Fund

The College Fund conference committee approved a $100 million fund for construction and equipment needs at some 26 Texas colleges. The measure allows the colleges outside the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems to sell bonds backed by the fund, and guarantees $60 million for predominantly black Prairie View A&M over the next 10 years. Component institutions of UT and A&M were included in the permanent fund.

New payment system for Medicare hospitals

By John A. Daeley, Regional Director, Region VI, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services

The President recently signed into law legislation which he had proposed to the Congress to provide a new payment system for hospitals, under Medicare. That new system is called Prospective Payment and likely will go into effect on October 1, 1983.

Under the new system, Medicare will set its payment rates in advance rather than paying hospitals, after-the-fact, for whatever costs they incur in treating Medicare inpatients.

The new "prospective" rates will vary according to a patient's diagnosis, but payment for a given diagnosis will be the same for all hospitals, adjusted for local labor costs. The new system will not change Medicare's benefits for individuals, and the high quality standards will be maintained.

Under the present system, hospitals have no real incentive to deliver efficient service. In fact, as Congress recognized, the incentives are backwards. The current system actually rewards excessive costs and inefficiency because it pays virtually whatever the hospital asks.

Also, the present system has led to wide variations in what Medicare pays for similar treatment. For example, Medicare payments for treating a heart attack can average $1,500 at one hospital and $9,000 at another, with no apparent difference in quality.

Medicare's present pay-on-demand reimbursement system has been an important factor in causing health care costs to soar, and that hurts every American. As the administration realized, it is time for Medicare to become part of the solution to health care inflation, and cease being part of the problem.

Under the new "prospective" payment system, with uniform Medicare rates set in advance, hospitals will be induced to operate efficiently. If a hospital's costs are lower than the prospective rates, the hospital can keep the difference. If, however, its costs are higher than the rates, the hospital will absorb the difference. Hospitals will be prohibited from billing Medicare patients for costs of covered services above the prospective rates, except for existing deductibles and coinsurance.

Probably the most important aspect of this new plan is to provide the incentive for hospitals to take action on their own. Prospective payment does not tell hospitals what to do, but it does finally put the incentive for better management and cost-effective quality care where it belongs, at the hospital level. The hospitals themselves will act to become more efficient, and that will benefit all health care consumers, not just Medicare beneficiaries.

Hospital capital costs will be treated separately from the new prospective system, and special provisions will also be made for hospitals where costs are higher due to medical education costs. Special reimbursement will be allowed for the small number of special cases in which costs far exceed the prospective rate for reasons outside the hospital's control.

A diagnosis-based system was chosen because it offers the best opportunity for inducing cost savings in hospital services without diminishing the quality of care afforded Medicare beneficiaries.

The new system will use 467 "diagnosis related groups" (DRGs) to classify illnesses and treatments. Different rates will be set for each DRG, so that a hospital treating more difficult conditions will be paid accordingly.

In developing the new system, demonstration programs were used since 1972 to try out prospective payment. We found that it works and that it provides the needed incentive to hold down hospital costs while continuing to provide the best health care.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

May 23, 1983

Dear Kitty,
A recent paper of yours mentioned that yet another Hospital Administrator has thrown up his hands in defeat and left town!

Your paper also stated that a search for a "qualified administrator" had just begun. After the parade of people that have come and gone there over the years, one might ask: qualified for what?

It would appear that experience in hospital management is of little value. Let the record show that this is NO reflection on the man who just left or the current interim administrator! It's a simple statement of fact. Experienced people of various degrees have tried it, people with little experience have tried it, and they've all gone screaming into the night!

The Commissioners Court is always alarmed at the financial reports they get from the local hospital. And they rightfully should be. However, they must, somehow, be made aware of the fact that the people that manage hospitals are not the culprits in the high cost of operating hospitals!

It's the guys on the shores of the Potomac that have nearly done us in. Guys that don't even know what an Ozona is let alone where it is. A case in point; the new regulations going into effect this fall relating to reimbursement for Medicare patients.

These new procedures are all but guaranteed to financially break a small hospital or at least reduce it to a first aid station. And don't you just KNOW who's going to get the blame for all that! The poor little hospital administrator who warned all concerned that this was coming...but nobody listened! For Ozona and Crockett County and it's nice little hospital, this is all very sad because someone...somewhere, should have let real hospital people do their thing...but just wouldn't do it.

Someone once said, "It's unwise to pay too little too." The Common Law of business balance prohibits paying a little and getting a lot...it can't be done. But alas, the credo of Crockett County Hospital seems to be just that.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR FLUID INJECTION WELL PERMIT

MONSANTO OIL COMPANY, 1300 One First City Center, Midland, Texas 79701, has applied to the Railroad Commission of Texas for a permit to inject fluid into a formation which is productive of oil or gas.

The applicant proposes to inject fluid into the San Andres, University 51-3, Well Number 27. The proposed injection well is located 22 1/2 miles NW from Ozona in the Weger (San Andres) Field, in Crockett County. Fluid will be injected into strata in the subsurface depth interval from 2194 to 2452 feet.

LEGAL AUTHORITY: Chapter 27 of the Texas Water Code, as amended, Title 3 of the Natural Resources Code, as amended, and the Statewide Rules of the Oil and Gas Division of the Railroad Commission of Texas.

Requests for a public hearing from persons who can show they are adversely affected, or requests for further information concerning any aspect of the application should be submitted in writing, within fifteen days of publication, to the Underground Injection Control Section, Oil and Gas Division, Railroad Commission of Texas, Drawer 12967, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711 (Telephone 512/445-1373).

you and the LAW

Q: Is it necessary to hire a lawyer for probate or to settle an estate when everything, such as savings and stocks, are in both spouses' names?

A: Texas does not permit survivorship accounts between spouses. This "joint tenancy with right of survivor" you may have seen on your passbook or stock certificate is without effect: "half the community property passes as the estate of the first spouse to die." The other half remains with the survivor, as it was always owned.

Collecting and valuing the estate; paying taxes or obtaining certificates of no tax due; discharging debts; and transferring every asset into the heirs' names are complex procedures. A mistake during probate may cause difficulty and large attorney fees in the future.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Even though our Spring has been mostly dry, everyone has enjoyed the most popular of all flowering plants, for the roses all over our city have been unusually full and beautiful, even after a little freeze nip. This should encourage you to plan your rose bed for this fall or you may want to try them as patio plants in containers.

Another beautiful plant that so many have asked about is the pink Hawthorn (Raphioliopsis) evergreen that was covered in blooms this year and does real well here.

Beginning gardeners hate to thin plants because it seems wasteful. But if you let every sprouting seed grow, none will develop properly. The caladium tubers need warm soil to sprout and grow rapidly, so if yours are slow about coming up it may be due to our cool nights and soil. Keep soil evenly moist, but not wet, throughout the growing season. They like a well-drained shady location. Climbing vines make an appealing accent for a fence, wall, or other garden structure. A wire-supported vine means easier maintenance of the structure its growing on. When painting is necessary,

Record crop of loquats reported

Homeowners in Crockett County and the state are reporting record crops of Loquats this year. The loquat (Eriobotrya japonica), a small tree that produces fragrant flowers, is a valued ornamental. The fruit is an extra bonus.

Loquats are excellent eaten fresh and can also be made into pies, jam and jelly. Recipes using apricots can be used. Just substitute loquats for the apricots.

JAM [no pectin]
2 quarts chopped apricots
6 cups sugar
1/2 cup lemon juice
Combine all ingredients; slowly bring to boiling, stirring occasionally until sugar dissolves. Cook rapidly until thick, about 25 minutes. As mixture thickens, stir frequently to prevent sticking. Pour, boiling hot, into hot jars. Adjust caps. Process 10-15 minutes. Yield: about 5 pints.

MEXICALI CORN CASSEROLE
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 pkg. (8 1/2 oz.) corn bread mix
1 can (8 oz.) cream-style corn
1 can (8 oz.) whole kernel corn, drained
1 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
3 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons chopped green chilies
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon paprika
Serves 4 to 6
Place butter in 3-qt. casserole. Microwave at High 30 to 60 seconds, or until melted. Blend in remaining ingredients except paprika. Microwave at High 2 to 4 minutes, or until cheese melts and mixture begins to set, stirring 2 or 3 times during cooking.
Pour into 8X8-in. baking dish. Cover with wax paper. Reduce power to 50% (medium). Microwave 12 to 18 minutes, or until set, rotating dish 1/4 turn every 3 minutes. Sprinkle with paprika.

ENTERTAINING IDEAS

JUST A TRIFLE...

There's certainly nothing trivial or trifling about this spectacular show-off dessert. "Plain" cake is converted into a layered beauty with pudding, whipped cream and fruit.

Trifle has been an English tradition since the 17th century, where it was originally made by soaking sponge cake in wine or liqueur — then adding fruit, jam, custard, whipped cream, and sometimes, macaroons.

In this updated trifle recipe, sherry, brandy or rum is used with restraint. Orange juice can be substituted for an alcohol-free version. The lavish preparation of the "classic" trifle has been simplified with "convenience foods". Assemble the trifle in your most gorgeous glass bowl or compote and no one will suspect that such an elegant dessert is actually an easy do-ahead recipe.

JUST A TRIFLE

- 1 frozen pound cake (10 3/4 oz.), thawed
- 1/2 cup sherry, brandy, rum or orange juice
- 2 cans (17 1/2 oz.) vanilla pudding or 2 boxes (3 oz.) vanilla pudding prepared and cooled
- 1 can (21 oz.) Comstock Cherry Pie Filling
- 1 carton (4 oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed

Cut cake into 1/2-inch cubes. In pretty glass bowl, place a layer of cake cubes. Sprinkle with sherry (or liquid of your choice). Spread about 1 cup pudding over cake, forming a thin layer. Top with a few spoonfuls of cherry pie filling (doesn't need to make a complete layer). Continue layering until ingredients are used (except whipped topping). Make final layer of whipped topping. Refrigerate at least two hours before serving. Makes 6-8 servings.

Miss Clayton honored 4-H scholarships with gift tea Saturday

Miss Debra Clayton, bride elect of Tommy Ezell, was honored with a gift tea Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gene Lilly.

Mrs. John R. Hunnicutt and Mrs. Joe Bean greeted the guests. In the receiving line were Mrs. Lilly, Miss Clayton, Mrs. W. J. Wilson, mother of the bride; Mrs. B. W. Stuart, the bride's grandmother, and Mrs. Ray Dunlap, her great-grandmother. Mrs. Benny Logan, of Eldorado, the bride's sister presided at the bride's book. Mrs. Asa Bullard, her sister served at the silver tea service. The table was laid with a linen cloth centered with a yellow and white arrangement of shasta daisies. About seventy-five guests called during the tea hours.

MISS BURNS RECEIVES GRADUATE CERTIFICATE

Twila Gay Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Burns, received an outstanding vocational/technical graduate certificate in farm and ranch management from Southwest Texas Junior College at Uvalde in ceremonies on the campus Saturday.

CONGRATULATIONS Kitty and Tom! Grandparents-to-be.

Present and former 4-H members can compete for $11,750 in college scholarship grants.

Most of the grants of $1,000 each are for young people planning careers in agriculture or such related fields as forestry, veterinary medicine, dairy goats or animal science. Another scholarship of $750 has no limit placed on choice of study.

These scholarships are provided by private sector donors and arranged by the National 4-H Council, a not-for-profit organization supporting the 4-H program through private resources, says Billy Reagor, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

New this year are six $1,000 scholarships available to outstanding 4-H members involved in dairy goat project work and donated by The American Dairy Goat Association, Spindale, N.C.

The $750 scholarship in memory of Gertrude L. Warren, a pioneer 4-H leader often described as the "Mother of 4-H," is awarded to one present or former 4-H member enrolling this fall at an accredited college, university, technical or trade school. The recipient can major in any recognized field of study and must have been influenced by 4-H in selecting a future career.

A $1,000 scholarship donated by the Education Foundation of Alpha Gamma Rho, Des Plaines, Ill., goes to a current 4-H member who will be enrolled as a college freshman this fall. The recipient must be planning to major in agriculture, forestry, veterinary medicine or a closely-related field.

To be eligible, all scholarship applicants must have completed at least one year of 4-H work. Winners are selected by the Extension Service and are announced prior to the 62nd National 4-H Congress, Nov. 27-Dec. 1, in Chicago.

Present and former 4-H members interested in these scholarships should contact the county Extension office for more information, says Reagor.

Way Out World

Here's one of those amazing pictures taken by our astronauts on the moon.

That's our Earth. Way out there! Seeing the world in such perspective, how small our problems seem—but how great our need for God's caring and concern.

This is the exciting message of religion: That the God who created a vast universe is concerned for every soul. That we can know Him in the outreach of our faith and serve Him in the bond of love. On this planet whirling through space we draw closer to Him and to one another as we gather each week in God's House.

Tick population poses threat to Texans

The tick population is up this spring, likely due to the mild winter weather, and therein lies a potential threat to Texans.

Some ticks can cause Rocky Mountain spotted fever, a disease that can be fatal to humans.

"Texans should be aware that ticks are active this time of the year and should be especially cautious when camping or in the outdoors," says Dr. Phil Hamman, an entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever have increased rapidly in Texas in recent years, with 64 reported last year. Three cases have already occurred this year, with two deaths resulting. Cases of the disease have occurred over most of the U.S. in recent years.

The fever is caused by the organism, rickettsia, which is carried in rodents and other wild animals and transmitted by ticks. Humans can be infected with the disease through actual tick bites or through their fingernails when crushing ticks found on dogs or other pets, explains Hamman.

Symptoms of spotted fever develop in 2 to 14 days after contact with an infected tick. First symptoms occur within two weeks after a tick bite or other contact with a tick, get immediate medical attention, emphasizes the entomologist.

Early treatment averts serious illness or complications, says Hamman. A rash (hence, the name "spotted fever") develops two to three days after fever starts. The rash starts at the wrists and ankles and spreads to other parts of the body.

Two types of ticks are known to transmit Rocky Mountain spotted fever in Texas--the American dog tick and the Lone Star tick. The first is found throughout Texas while the Lone Star tick is found mostly in central and eastern areas.

What precautions can be taken regarding ticks?

"Awareness is half the battle," points out Hamman. "Be aware that ticks are in the environment when you're camping or just outdoors and routinely examine your body and clothing for ticks--two to three times a day. Early removal of ticks is important since the disease organism is not transferred until ticks have fed for two to eight hours."

Always remove ticks with their mouthparts intact, cautions the entomologist. Mouthparts left in the skin can transmit the disease or cause secondary infections.

To relax tick mouthparts for easy removal, touch the tick with a hot needle or a few drops of camphor, alcohol, turpentine, kerosene or chloroform. Sometimes the best method is to grasp the tick firmly with tweezers or fingers and remove it with a slow, steady pull. Always treat the wound with a germicidal agent.

When outdoors for extended periods, Hamman recommends using an insect repellent, spraying the shoes, socks and pant legs. Since most repellents are effective for only short periods, repeated applications may be necessary.

If ticks are found on pets or in the yard or home, several pesticides are available for treatment. Those that can be used both inside and outside the home include chlorphrifos (Dursban), diazinon and propoxur (Baygon.) Be sure to follow label directions in using these materials, cautions Hamman.

New flu treatment proves effective

A new flu treatment developed at Baylor College of Medicine that proved effective a year ago against one type of flu virus, has produced similar results against another flu virus.

Vernon Knight, M.D., reported today that inhalation treatment with the antiviral drug ribavirin lowered fever and relieved symptoms within 30 hours in 11 patients with influenza B virus infections.

In November 1981, the same treatment was successful in tests against influenza A virus infections in 14 patients.

Knight published his findings in today's issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA).

Knight, professor and chairman of microbiology and immunology at Baylor, said the ribavirin-aerosol treatment is the first to be effective against influenza B virus.

"We now have a treatment that will combat any kind of flu," Knight said. "We think that this is a major event."

He cautions however, that more tests are needed before the treatment is available to the public in the United States.

Ribavirin is made by Viratek, Inc., of California. Last July, Baylor gave the company--of which Knight is a director--exclusive rights to sell the Baylor-developed aerosol generator used to deliver the drug. The college will receive part of the sales' proceeds.

The most recent ribavirin-aerosol test was done at Texas A&M University in College Station during the 1981-82 flu season when A and B influenza viruses were circulating. The JAMA report deals with 21 students experiencing type B infections.

Eleven of the students received an aerosol containing ribavirin, while 10 received aerosol containing only a salt solution. The students inhaled the aerosol for 36 hours through face masks.

"Our results were that there was a highly significant reduction in the height and duration of fever, and the depression, aches and pains associated with flu improved more quickly in the treated patients," Knight said.

Within 24 to 36 hours the treated patients had no symptoms, while the other patients remained ill for at least an additional day or longer. Untreated influenza infections may last five to seven days.

Knight said the results are exciting because there is no approved treatment for influenza B infections.

"While it is easy to determine if a flu virus is causing a respiratory illness, finding out what type of virus it is, A or B, can take several days," he said.

"We now have a treatment that may help, even if the type of flu infection is not known."

Knight said that ribavirin seems to prevent the multiplication of influenza viruses in lung tissue and does not irritate the respiratory tract. Earlier studies were not able to prove ribavirin's effectiveness against influenza when given orally and it seemed to cause anemia.

The aerosol treatment does not cause any side effects, Knight said, probably because less of the drug reaches other parts of the body. He said the aerosol administration deposits ribavirin only where the infections occur.

Knight has also been studying the use of ribavirin aerosol against respiratory syncytial (RS) virus, a major cause of serious pulmonary disease in infants and young children. Results of these tests have not yet been published.

But in today's issue of JAMA, Caroline Breese Hall, M.D., of the University of Rochester School of Medicine reports that ribavirin aerosol may help RS virus patients.

She did a study involving 16 young adults who were exposed to RS virus, which caused mild infections. Because the ribavirin-aerosol treatment reduced the severity of illness, Hall suggests that the treatment should be tested further against RS virus infections in children.

Degrees awarded Ozonans

Tarleton State University awarded degrees to 361 undergraduate and graduate students in three commencement exercises May 15. Two Ozonans, Douglas Bean and Karren Warren, were among those receiving BBA degrees. Miss Warren graduated with honors.

Tarleton president Dr. Barry B. Thompson conferred degrees on the 314 undergraduate and 47 graduate students.

Postal exams set

The U.S. Postal Service announces examination to establish a register of eligibles from which future Clerk/Carrier(s) in the 769 zip AREA REGISTER will be filled. Offices in this area include: Big Lake, Bronte, Ozona, Robert Lee, Sonora, Sterling City, Eldorado and San Angelo, Tx. (lead office). A clerk sorts mail and distributes it by using a complicated scheme which must be memorized. Carriers have to collect and deliver mail. Starting salary rate is $10.22 per hour.

To qualify applicants must pass a written test and meet physical requirements.

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, religion, age, color, national origin, sex, handicap(s), political affiliations or any other non-merit factors.

Application forms for the examination may be obtained at the local Post Office, Ozona, Texas, between the hours of 8:00-4:30 p.m.

Applications must be submitted by June 3, 1983.

CLASSIFIED ads will not be taken over the telephone at the Stockman, unless caller has a running account.

Rodeo team qualifies 3 for state finals

The Ozona High School Rodeo Team was recently entered in the Regional High School Rodeo which was held in Ft. Stockton, May 13 and 14. Those members qualifying for state were Kevin Miller in the calf roping, Rod Miller, also in calf roping, and Dan Bean in the team roping.

Other team members to compete at the Regional Rodeo were Bobby and Marty Acton.

The State Finals will be held in Seguin, Texas in June. Winners at the state level will then go to Douglas, Wyoming for the National Finals.

Mexico wages war on screwworms

Due to the successful screwworm eradication program in the continental United States, a large joint program has been implemented in Mexico to overwhelm the insect pest, emphasizes Dr. Clifford E. Hoelscher, entomologist based at Texas A&M University.

Hoelscher, who is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, says the success of the U.S. program was achieved by a cooperative effort of individual livestock producers, various livestock organizations and agencies and the dedicated work of program scientists and personnel.

The Mexican program, headquartered in Mexico City, involves a work force of approximately 1,800 Mexican and 50 American scientists.

"The technology and expertise developed in the U.S. eradication effort was helpful in Mexico," Hoelscher reports.

Eradication procedures involved several management strategies. Sterile flies were air dropped in large numbers to mate with native fertile fly populations. These matings resulted in the development of eggs which did not hatch.

Wound treatment, improved animal health conditions and the use of an insecticide impregnated bait system were also used to eliminate the target pest from infested areas.

"The combination of eradication procedures all applied simultaneously to an area accomplished the desired results," Hoelscher says.

A barrier zone eventually will be established at the Isthmus of Tehuantepec to prevent re-entry of the fly into areas to the north where the insect pest has been eliminated.

The tropical areas of central and southern Mexico provide a year round habitat for fly development--special problem for program operations.

The sporadic infestations of screwworms in south Texas and northern Mexico in the past few years have been quickly eradicated once they were identified.

"Watchful" is the key word for Texas livestock producers to enhance surveillance for the screwworm, Hoelscher says. Continued checking of all animals by owners for the pest is of prime importance, Hoelscher adds.

He urges owners to send a sample of at least 10 larvae found deep within wounds of pets or livestock to the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Laboratory for identification. The complete address is P.O. Box 969, Mission, Texas 78572.

Auto death rates high for younger Texans

Texans between ages 15 and 34 are two and a half times more likely to die in an auto accident than are all other Texans, according to statisticians for the Texas Department of Health.

And the auto death rates for these young Texans are expected to increase while the rates for the same age group nationwide are projected to decrease.

To better understand this major health problem, statisticians Linda Lloyd and Pat Venus analyzed motor vehicle accident deaths among 15 to 34 year-old Texans from 1970 through 1980. Their findings appear in the May issue of Texas Medicine, the journal of the Texas Medical Association.

In 1980, motor vehicle accidents were the fourth leading cause of death for all Texans, the report says. But for the 15-to-34 age group, these accidents were the leading cause of death. "In that year, more than half of all Texans who died in motor vehicle accidents were between the ages of 15 and 34; however, less than one third of the population was in this young age group," the statisticians write.

The group with the highest risk of dying in an auto accident was males between ages 20 and 24. Among females, the 15-19 age group led.

The report notes that three factors contribute substantially to motor vehicle fatalities: speeding, alcohol and non-use of seatbelts. Speeding and driving while intoxicated each caused 24 percent of all fatal accidents statewide.

As for seatbelts, only 11 percent of drivers nationwide use them and this figure is declining. Detailed information on seatbelt use in Texas is not available, but one study suggests that the percentage of Houston and Dallas residents using seatbelts is smaller than the national figure.

Figures from the Texas Department of Public Safety show that 98 percent of all people killed and 95 percent of all people injured in motor vehicle crashes in 1980 were not wearing seatbelts.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration estimates that 50 percent fewer deaths from motor vehicle crashes would occur annually if every driver and passenger wore a seatbelt. Applying this estimate to Texas suggests that 2,150 lives would have been saved in 1980 had all Texans worn their seatbelts.

Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

As has been written many times, volunteers are what makes our program go. This week the spotlight is on Marie Pierson who came on Tuesday to call bingo while yours truly was in an activity directors meeting in Eden, again on Wednesday to clean and direct ceramics, and on Friday to furnish a car on a field trip to Clayton's Village Drug. Thanks, Marie, for being there when we needed you!

Tuesday mornings bingo winner of the El Chato's dinner for two was Bertha Miller. Tuesday afternoon Ann Mayo showed a movie to our residents in the living room.

Wednesday morning ceramics were enjoyed by Bertha Miller, Frances Borrego, Tomasa Ramos, Inez Biggs, Maude Pettit, Ola Mills, and Moriana Perez.

Wednesday afternoon sunshine hour was sponsored by Sue Linthicum. She treated residents to their first watermelon of the season. She was ably assisted by Stella Jackson. Approximately twenty-one residents ate watermelon while visiting on the front porch.

Wednesday night residents were treated to live band music furnished by Jamie Knox and his band. Other band members include Don and J.D. Kilgore and Dennis Eads. Several residents enjoyed a dance on the floor while others could only do a hand dance. The smiles from all showed how much this evening was truly enjoyed.

Thursday morning beauty shop was held as usual and

Tennis clinic scheduled

A tennis clinic will be held June 6-10 at the Ozona Tennis Courts for kindergarten through eighth grade. Registration will be held June 6 at 8:00 a.m. at the courts.

The session for kindergarten through fourth grades will be held from 8:30 to 10:30 and fifth through eighth grade will be from 11:00 to 1:00. A tournament will be held Friday, June 10.

Cost of the clinic will be $25.00 and a can of tennis balls to be used in the tournament. For more information contact Elizabeth Clark or Jeannine Perry.

was Thursday afternoon Bible study sponsored by the Faith Lutheran Church. Maude Pettit furnished the piano music.

Friday mornings bingo winners were Juana Hernandez with a first place gift certificate from Watson's Department Store and Inez Biggs with an Avon corsage donated by Anna Bell Patrick. Clara May Williams was welcomed as a new resident player. Twenty residents enjoyed the games.

Residents enjoying the field trip to Clayton's Village Drug included Carol Reed, Juana Hernandez, Paul Cavin, Maude Pettit, Ola Mills, Billie Whatley, Johnny Henderson and Virginia Russell.

Flowers arrived on Saturday from the senior graduation. Also on Saturday, dominoes were played by Bertha Miller, Maude Pettit, Ola Mills and Paul Cavin.

Sunday church services were furnished by the Church of Christ. A nice group of ladies came and held a song service led by Kay Anderson and assisted by seven other ladies of the church.

On Monday morning residents were treated to movies furnished by our local school system, Sherry York, librarian, and by the United Methodist Church.

Monday afternoon, residents were in for yet another treat when the Baptist Church bus, driven by Ted Turnley, arrived to take all who would go to the Circle Bar Restaurant. Coffee and pie was furnished by the restaurant. Residents also visited the atrium. Those making the trip included Carol Reed, Juana Hernandez, Paul Cavin, Virginia Russell, Pearl Morris, Ola Mills, Inez Biggs, Billie Whatley, and Johnny Henderson. Anna Yruegas and her daughter went along as helpers as did Church members Liz Mary Pipes, Lucille Littleton, Nazie Baker, Ola Mae Slaughter, and Margaret Coates.

Our genuine thanks goes to these Baptist members and to the Circle Bar for this treat.

Thanks also goes to the Ladies Auxiliary of the V.F.W. of Big Lake for sending money for beauty shop supplies and to the Delbert Stewarts for sending magazines.

Other volunteers this week include Arlene Clayton, Dorothy Doll, Eglantina Estrada, Madye Jo Humphreys, Mrs. Jamie Knox, Peggy Knox, Rev. Dennis McKain, Alicia Perez, Lola Rios, Alice Ross, Yolanda Tambunga and Marie Walker.

School girls, we could really use some extra eyes on Tuesday and Friday mornings, ten o'clock, to help with bingo!

The Veterans Administration education-benefits deadline for certain eligible veterans now is December 31, 1984.

Veterans education benefits

The extension--the result of legislation effective last October--is restricted to veterans who still have remaining education entitlement, who don't have a high school diploma and/or are found to be in need of vocational or job training because they are unskilled, advised Ted W. Myatt, Director, Houston VA Regional Office.

For further information, write, visit or telephone the nearest VA Office. A VA counselor will respond.

Estimated tax payments due June 15

Some wage earners and other individuals who have income other than wages may be required to make estimated tax payments, the Internal Revenue Service says.

Generally, if you have income, with no tax withheld, of more than $500 and you expect to owe at least $300 on this year's return, you are liable for filing a declaration of estimated tax and for making payments.

Just like withholding by employers, the IRS says, estimated taxes are paid in advance of the actual tax return, Form 1040, due for the year. Estimated taxes are normally paid in four installments.

For 1983, the four estimated tax installment dates are: April 15, 1983; June 15, 1983; September 15, 1983; and January 16, 1984.

Tax refunds up

Individual federal income tax refunds averaged a record $740 for 1982, up from $712 for 1981, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

Tax-deductible contributions to Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) were part of the reason.

At the beginning of 1982, everyone who works for a living became eligible to invest up to $2,000 a year in an IRA, and the IRS says about 11 percent of taxpayers cut their 1982 tax liability by doing just that.

Eventually, of course, taxes are paid on IRAs, but not until withdrawals begin--usually after retirement, when most people are in a lower tax bracket. Until then, contributions and earnings can grow untaxed, which can make quite a difference in the size of a retirement nestegg. (If you didn't put another penny in, a $740 tax refund check paying 10 percent a year for 30 years would grow to $12,913. The same amount placed in a taxable investment paying the same rate would grow, over the same period, to $5,633, for someone in the 30 percent tax bracket.)

Where's the best place to invest IRA money?

According to Money's IRA Money Guide, there's "a strong argument for putting your IRA into a mutual fund family." Why? Flexibility. A family of funds encompasses several different types of mutual funds managed by the same organization; once you've put money in one, you can switch it to another virtually as often as you like, with just a simple phone call--and generally for as little as $5 per switch.

That means if you're in a money market fund, for example, and would like to put your money in a fund investing in common stocks, or bonds, it's easy to do. More and more people are switching--or putting in new money--to the common stock funds, taking advantage of the rise in the stock market. At the end of March, the stock funds accounted for $2.7 billion of the $7.4 billion invested in mutual fund IRAs.

Indeed, over both the long and short term, common stock mutual funds have proven to be among the best possible investments. For the five years to the beginning of 1983, for example, such funds returned, on average, 17.1 percent annually--with all dividends and capital gains reinvested and all charges taken out. During the same period, the stock market as a whole--as measured by Standard & Poor's index of 500 common stocks--rose 14.1 percent each year, and the cost of living increased 9.5 percent a year.

The aardvark, the ant-eating animal from Africa, got its name from Dutch settlers in the 1600s. Translated, the name means earth pig.

Pat Walker's
The moment you step into Pat Walker's you realize you have found-at-last the place where you can lose weight and shape your figure in a dignified manner.
There is no strenuous exercise and no crash dieting. Our unique Symmetricon unit is relaxing, reduces fatty tissue, firms and tones and takes off unwanted inches while improving circulation.
And circulation is the key to our whole WEIGHT REDUCTION program through passive exercise. We achieve better circulation through the use of our unique Symmetricon unit on which you recline much the same as in a lounging chair. The Symmetricon, which consists of several sections, is specifically designed not to vibrate since it is generally recognized that vibration can be detrimental to the nervous system.
Our unit is designed to undulate, massaging the back and under part of the body in a gentle rocking motion in the different sections of the unit to promote circulation of blood to vital organs. Since there is no effort generated by you, you are neither stressed nor tired after using the Symmetricon unit.
There is a second and very important part of our program which deals with counseling you about your eating habits. Every week, a trained counselor will work with you on a one-to-one basis concerning your food and beverage intake in order to assist you in developing proper eating habits. We feel that most people do not over-eat, but simply do not eat a chemically balanced diet to enable the body to burn calories instead of storing them. Through counseling with you about your eating habits and with the unit stimulating circulation to tighten and firm tissues, we believe that ours is the most sensible and safest approach to WEIGHT REDUCTION AND FIGURE PERFECTION.

Can you afford today's life insurance?
Yes, if it's Farmers Variable Premium Whole Life. It's a life insurance policy designed for today's economy, and also to meet the needs of the future. It gives you a lifetime of affordable protection.
How can Farmers do this?
On many insurance policies you pay more. Those fixed premiums must allow for all the likely variables in future economic conditions. By designing a plan with variable rates, Farmers New World Life Insurance Company can offer you lower premiums now and, they are guaranteed for three years.
After that at no more than three year intervals, they can go up or down, but can never be raised higher than stated in the policy.
There are many other advantages in this new approach to life insurance... phone me, I'll be glad to tell you.

Horse short course to feature tours & sale

The 1983 Horse Short Course at Texas A&M University will feature tours, a training clinic and a horse sale in addition to discussions on key topics. This year's short course will be held May 26-27, announces Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The Extension Service is conducting the short course in conjunction with Texas A&M's Department of Animal Science. A discussion on exercise physiology in horse training and conditioning will kick off the short course, which begins with registration at 7:30 a.m. the first day at A&M's Kleberg Center. Other discussions will deal with reproductive performance in broodmares, controlling flies with pyrethroid insecticides, and an overview of horse research at Texas A&M. A tour of Brazos County horse farms that afternoon will feature the Hank Bird Quarter Horses and the Windham Ranch. That evening Buster Welch, a professional horse trainer from Merkel, will conduct a cutting horse training clinic at Texas A&M's new livestock pavilion. The clinic will include live demonstrations on riding and training the cutting horse. The following day will feature a N.W. "Dick" Freeman Arena Development Horse Sale and the NCHA Open Cuttings. These activities will begin with registration at 7:30 a.m. at the livestock pavilion. The sale is designed to obtain proceeds to cover the Freeman Arena, an outdoor facility opened in 1981 in honor of Freeman's contributions to Texas A&M and the horse industry, notes Reagor. The sale will offer a mixed set of about 60 yearlings, two-and three-year-olds, and pregnant mares of fashionable cutting, halter, race and performance breeding from the Texas A&M herd as well as sale horses donated by prominent Texas horse producers. Registration information on the horse short course is available from the county Extension office at 2-2721.

Save energy with proper landscaping

Some parts of the country aren't as lucky as we are. They have dull predictable weather that simplifies all sorts of things including growing plants. Even though our West Texas weather is unpredictable we can count on windy springs, hot summers and cold northerners in the winter. By placing trees, shrubs and vines properly, homeowners can reduce the energy required to keep homes and surrounding areas more comfortable during environmental extremes. Plant deciduous trees on the south and west sides of your home to reduce inside summer temperatures up to 8 degrees. Place the trees a minimum of 20 feet from the house. Two or three well placed trees are usually adequate for the south and west sides of the average home. When the deciduous trees drop their leaves, the winter sun warms the home. Planting evergreen windbreaks on the north and northwest sides of the home can eventually cut winter fuel bills. Maximum wind reduction is achieved by placing windbreaks a distance of 4 to 6 times their mature height from the home. For example, groups of Afghan pines (Pinus eldarica) should be placed no more than 100-150 feet from the home. Twelve to 15 foot spacings of these pines in staggered rows are most effective on a large scale. Windbreaks can be grouped with other evergreens in plantings that are not necessarily straight lines for a more natural and attractive effect in the landscape. This same type of windbreak planting can be placed beyond the deciduous trees on the southeast of the property to help control strong spring winds. Windbreak plantings require water and weed control. Vines can have a cooling effect on outside walls that receive direct summer sun. Trellised Virginia creeper, Boston ivy, honeysuckle, trumpet vine, silverlace vine, wisteria or queens wreath can absorb the rays of the sun on southern and western walls. Evergreen species such as English ivy and yellow jessamine are effective on sunless walls where their persistent foliage deflects winter winds and insulates. Vines may also be trained on overhead structures above terraces. Trees, windbreaks and vines can provide energy savings.

CARD OF THANKS
We would like to express our sincere gratitude for all the many acts of kindness shown our family during the illness and death of our loved one. Your love, concern and prayers have been so deeply appreciated. Friends mean so much during a time like this. Thank you also for all the food, flowers, prayers, and all other ways you have shown your love and concern.
The family of Evelyn Yeager

Crackdown on theft of electricity to be tough

Electric utilities in Texas, including West Texas Utilities Co., are taking a tougher stance these days on theft of electricity.

Reasons for the crackdown are a change in the State Penal Code making meter tampering a penitentiary offense and the fact that the cost of producing electric energy has gone up.

"We view any form of stealing electric power as a serious crime," said Don Welch of Abilene, WTU vice president and director of customer services, "because we feel a strong responsibility to protect the interest of our good paying customers."

"It costs money to produce electricity," Welch said. "If one customer manages to get some of it free, the other customers have to make up the difference."

The State Legislature amended the criminal mischief statute in 1981 to make diversion of any utility service a third degree felony with a possible punishment of a maximum fine of $5,000 and from two to ten years in prison. The law also allows authorities to make the assumption that the person in whose name the service was last billed is the responsible party.

Convictions have been obtained in several Texas cities since the law was passed, and WTU recently filed charges which resulted in a felony indictment being issued against a customer.

Welch said that meter tampering not only is a serious crime which is becoming more easy to detect, but that it is extremely dangerous.

"Many people do not understand the danger involved," he said. "Property damage, serious injury, or even death can result."

Dudley earns degrees

Bill Dudley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dudley, was among the graduates at the Sixty-Eighth Annual Commencement Convocation of Southern Methodist University on Saturday, May 21, in Dallas. Bill received a Bachelor of Science in Computer Science and a Bachelor of Arts in Mathematics.

During his studies at SMU Bill was a member of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity and served as Fraternity President in 1982. He served as Computer Science representative on the Student Engineering Joint Council at the School of Engineering and Applied Science for eight semesters, was a Bradford Computer Center Student Consultant, and a Computer Science teaching assistant for the Johnathon Von Neuman Mathematics Seminar during the summer semester of 1979.

Dudley also completed the SMU Cooperative Education Program where he received on-the-job industry training at Mobil Oil Corporation and Recognition Equipment Inc. He plans to remain in Dallas, where he is a partner in a computer consulting firm.

SAVE 20% ON A GAS GRILL

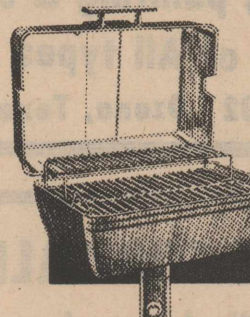

...JUST WHEN YOU WILL USE IT MOST!

Here's an opportunity to buy a gas grill at a big savings... and have the whole summer ahead to enjoy it. That's a real bargain! You will make the most of our great West Texas evenings and weekends cooking outdoors. Gas grills give food that wonderful outdoor flavor without the mess of charcoal or the bother of LP tanks. And, while you are having a hot time in the backyard, your kitchen stays cool. The money you save by buying now will put a lot of hamburgers and steaks on that grill. Now's the time to move up to gas grill cooking while prices are down.

Prices in this ad reflect corrections from those listed in Energas statement enclosure on gas grills.

PBPA energy report

The latest nationwide rig count marks the third week in a row the indicator has gone up. Nationwide, the number of rigs working has risen 141 during the past three weeks. This is a 7.8 percent increase. The number of rigs nationally now stands at 1,948. In the Permian Basin the rig count has essentially leveled out over the past ten weeks. On March 13th, it was 234. The week of May 15th it stood at 238. The low was 228 and the high mark was 244 during that ten week period.

In other news, Gulf Oil Corporation has postponed the expansion of its CO2 project in Crane County. Citing economic factors, Gulf will delay a plan to add 15 more wells to the 13 already in the Enhanced Oil Recovery Pilot Project. The proposal to implement a large, commercial project will be delayed until the late 1980's, according to Larry Turner of Gulf.

Oil production in the State of Texas has dropped 28 percent since 1971. However, U.S. Department of Energy says 10.3 billion barrels of oil will remain in the Permian Basin after conventional recovery methods are used up. And, a D.O.E. study concluded a large portion of that 10.3 billion barrels can be recovered using CO2 and other methods.

In the Permian Basin our rig count for this week is 143. Last week it was 238. One year ago it was 333.
