The rising cost of the Postal Service is responsible for raising rates for subscriptions, and there seems to be no end in sight. At least no end for second class mailers, which is our classification. We have seen our mailing costs go up almost monthly since the middle of last year, and we don't see the service showing that much improvement.

We sort our papers, wrap them and color code them before placing them in the postal bags the Post Office so thoughtfully provides for us. From here the out-of-town bag is picked up and taken to Midland. The in-town papers are also already sorted in sections, so it's just a matter of a clerk stuffing the papers in the assigned boxes. Yet, our mailing rate is the same as that of towns with house-to-house delivery.

If this trend continues, people will be unable to afford a magazine subscription, a subscription to a newspaper or any other periodical which is sent second class through the U.S. Mails.

Newspaper people are very concerned about this situation, but so far we have failed to come up with a solution. I believe if the people who want to continue getting their papers and magazines through the mails would write their senator and representative in Washington, something might be done, but it would take a concentrated effort on the part of the public.

The weather can't make up its mind. We were in the middle of summer last Friday and when we came to work Monday we were back in winter. You just can't count on spring in West Texas, but fall gives its all. If we could just have the rain without the high winds and booming thunder, it would be ideal. However, complaints are really not in order for Ozona. We have missed the tornadoes and floods suffered by some other Texas communities.

The entire community has been concerned about the wreck victims who were injured in the two-car crash here Saturday night, June 4. A condition check at noon Tuesday revealed the following:

Jennifer Marley Knox is in good condition. Barring complications she will leave the hospital during this week and return daily for therapy. Her broken bones seem to be mending well and bone surgery corrected all fractures and breaks.

James Knox, who was most seriously injured and had to have brain surgery the night of the wreck suffered a set-back last week and had to be returned to intensive care, but was in stable condition Tuesday at noon.

James David, who suffered broken ribs and head injuries was transferred to a Temple hospital near his home in Georgetown. His sister-in-law, Mrs. Johnny Myers, reported his condition good at mid-week and the possibility he would go home before the weekend also good.

Johnny Myers, who suffered the least injuries, was released from the hospital here before the paper came out last week and continues to do well.

A RARE SIGHT FOR OZONA was Johnson Draw with water in it Monday. It has been at least six months since water from rainfall ran down the draw, and while some motorists stalled out, bicyclers took advantage of it. As 1.27 inches of rain was recorded in the official gauge at the Water District office, some parts of town and the county reported up to 3 inches of much needed rainfall for the weekend period.

Motion for new trial may die in Sharp case

By Jana Harris

A motion for a new trial for convicted capital murderer Michael Eugene Sharp, could die for lack of action, according to 109th District Attorney Mike Fostel and Winkler County Attorney Steve Taliaferro.

Sharp's court-appointed defense attorney, Glen Williamson of Andrews, filed an appeal and a motion for a new trial in the 112th District Court in Ozona on Tuesday, May 31. Twelve days prior to this action, Sharp was found guilty of capital murder and sentenced to death by lethal injection by a local jury.

He was on trial for the murder of Mrs. Brenda Kay Broadway, 31, of Kermit whose body, along with her eight-year-old daughter Christie Michelle Elms, was discovered south of Kermit on June 11, 1982. Sharp was sentenced to life for the eight-year-old's death at a previous trial in Lubbock in Nov. 1982.

109th District Judge James H. Clack, the presiding judge in the case, "can grant, deny or take no action for a new trial," Taliaferro said. "If it's not determined by the judge within 75 days, it's considered overruled by operation of law. The appeal process then goes forward."

Of the 16 paragraph motion submitted, Williamson stated the main objections dealt with the indictment of the defendant, the right of the Speedy Trial Act and the admittance of the Blanca Arreola Guerrero evidence.

This evidence was given by the State's witness Detective Jerry Smith of Odessa. Smith testified how shortly after Sharp's conviction in the Lubbock trial, he led lawmen to the grave site of 18-year-old Blanca Guerrero.

Over the phone Monday Williamson announced a forthcoming amended motion for a new trial where he will expand on the present points with the court's permission.

"I think there were several procedural errors made in the trial of the case," Williamson said. "I feel the trial will be reversed."

Although the defense seeks a new trial on various grounds, according to Taliaferro, main focus is directed at evidence introduced in the punishment stage. This pertained to the burial site of Blanca Arreola Guerrero.

"There is a Supreme Court Case that we feel will permit this introduction," Taliaferro said. The prosecution believes the case is very clean with no errors at all.

Williamson also filed for the review for appeal which is automatic in Texas in capital murder cases. After giving notice of appeal the defense has 20 days to relate matters to be included in the transcript sent to the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin by District Clerk David Weant. From this court the case may be sent back to trial court or appealed to the Supreme Court.

"Virtually it could go on for several years," Taliaferro said. "The case will be tried again," Williamson declared.

Sharp was convicted here after a three week trial which included the testimony of the State's star witness Selena Kay Elms, the 15-year-old daughter of Mrs. Broadway. Selena testified that she along with her mother and sister were abducted from a Kermit carwash soon after midnight on June 11, 1982.

The three were held at knife's edge and driven to the country. Selena escaped the scene while her mother was stabbed to death by the identified Sharp.

The bodies of Mrs. Broadway and Christie Elms were found in a shallow grave around noon on June 11 south of Kermit. Both had been stabbed to death.

Selena positively identified the accused assailant by "That man right there," pointing to Sharp, a crucial point in both trials.

Michael Eugene Sharp was transported to death row at the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville by Crockett County Sheriff Billy Mills and Department of Public Safety Supervisor R. B. Babbitt on Wed., June 1, 1983.

"He's an unusual person," Mills said, "Mike still says he's innocent and someday feels he'll get out of there."

The calm, mild prisoner is said to have made general conversation along the trip. At the gate in Huntsville Mills remembers Sharp's words, "Well, no matter how many times you come down here, you still get nervous."

Lovell benefit fund grows

Ozonans came to the aid of young leukemia victim David Lovell Friday night when they raised over $2,700 at a benefit baseball game.

David is in the Ronald McDonald House at Houston and is being treated at M. D. Anderson.

Two more benefits are scheduled for this week to help with David's medical expenses.

The South swimming pool will be open Thursday from 11 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Hamburgers and hot dogs will be sold during these hours, with proceeds from the pool and food going to the Lovell fund.

Friday evening the Ozona Royals and the Sonora Colts will play a benefit baseball game for the Lovell fund. Game time is 7:30.

Ozonans attend science seminar

Twenty-one outstanding students and teachers from the area served by West Texas Utilities Company attended the 23rd Annual Energy Science Symposium at here Mon.

Funeral services for Donald Dean St. Clair, 60, were held Monday in Faith Lutheran Church at 10:00 a.m. with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Mr. St. Clair died June 2, in Crockett County Hospital after an illness.

DON ST. CLAIR

He was born in Springdale, Arkansas June 23, 1922. He married Marjorie Grimes September 26, 1941 in Oklahoma. He had been an employee of Shell Oil Co. for 38 years and had resided in Ozona the past nine years. He was a member of Faith Lutheran Church.

Survivors include his wife of Ozona; 6 daughters, Donna Kay Erickson of Naples, Fla., Tina Wells of McCamey, Janis Rae St. Clair, Evelyn St. Clair, Kathryn St. Clair, and Marjorie Dean St. Clair, all of Ozona; one son, John Mark St. Clair of Ozona; his mother, Laura St. Clair of Perry, Okla.; four brothers, Col. Jack St. Clair of Atlanta, Ga., Ed St. Clair of Arkansas, John St. Clair and Tolbert St. Clair, both of Perry, Okla.; and four grandchildren.

the University of Texas at Austin. The Conference got underway Tuesday, May 31st and ended Friday, June 3rd.

Sponsored by WTU from this area, are: Mr. Frank Reavis, teacher at Ozona High School and Katrina Burger, student at Ozona High School.

The Symposium was jointly sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the University of Texas. West Texas Utilities is one of the sponsoring companies.

The 500 selected high school science students and teachers who attended the session were offered the rare opportunity of hearing lectures by some of the nation's outstanding scientists.

The Foundation was formed for the primary purpose of conducting the world's first and largest privately financed research effort in the field of nuclear energy. Currently, the Foundation and University are sponsoring a program in nuclear fusion research aimed at controlling thermonuclear reactions for the production of electric power.

The goal of the Foundation and WTU is not research alone, but to also assist in the advancement of the knowledge of energy science in Texas schools. Of special interest to the sponsors is bringing to students and teachers a realization of the privileges, responsibilities and opportunities which scientific discoveries in the field of energy presents.

WTU paid all expenses for the 21 students and teachers attending from schools in the area served by the company. Lecturers at the Symposium were chosen from top men in their field.

There are over 1,000 accredited senior high schools in the state of Texas. Ozona can be justly proud of its high school for having been chosen as one of the 150 high schools in the state invited to send students and teachers to the Symposium.

Weekend rains are plentiful

Ozona and surrounding area finally got good rains from the scattered thunderstorms which roamed West Texas the latter part of the week and the weekend.

After a 100-plus degree day in Ozona Saturday, a terrific electrical storm hit the town as a front passed through. Brief rain accompanied the storm, but high winds and lightning were the terrifying elements in the storm which hit shortly after dark. Threatening clouds roamed the area during a muggy Sunday but another storm Monday morning brought more rain and some unusually cold weather. The high for the day Monday was 61 degrees.

Tuesday dawned bright and clear and the weather was warming rapidly by noon.

More rain is needed if the drought which has gripped this area is to be broken. The May rainfall amounted to only 1.06 inches, and already June has brought 1.27 inches of rainfall.

Delands celebrate fiftieth

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Deland, Sr. were honored Saturday, June 4, 1983 at Brady with a reception in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Lucille Kathlyn Pridemore and Elden Earl Deland joined their lives in marriage on June 1, 1933. They made their home in Ozona until their retirement in 1973 at which time they moved to a ranch out of Brady, Texas.

The couple have two children, Elden Earl Deland, Jr. and Nancy D. Smith. There are five grandchildren.

The annual tennis tournament gets the chamber's summer activities off to a running start. Each summer the chamber sponsors a pet show for children, a really big July 4, celebration and a dinner on the ground and church in the park. The chamber also helps with the Junior Rodeo in August, and Beth Boyd, chamber manager, already has the rodeo entry blanks available.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

For me, every little cloud that appears gives me hope that soon we will have the always welcome rain. Better be dry than washed away as some have been in many places.

During these dry periods, pay particular attention to the moisture needs of shallow rooted ornamentals such as azaleas, hydrangeas, camellias, coleus, chrysanthemums and caladiums. Even in the shade, the warm breezes of summer can quickly dry out soil and plants.

Now that iris have finished blooming, they may be dug, divided and replanted. If making a new flower bed before planting, thoroughly mix 1/2 pound of 5-10-5 fertilizer and 3 or 4 inches of organic matter into each 10 square feet of soil area.

Keep fast-growing shrubs such as pyracantha, privet hedge, eleagnus, and photinia, under control by lightly pruning several times during the summer. Remove limbs that don't conform to the plants natural shape or height you want. Make cuts flush with the main stem.

If you are leaving for vacation, sink potted outdoor plants into a shady planting bed. This will keep them from drying out so rapidly.

Since rain has been almost minus for us, you may want to raise the cutting height of your lawn mower by 1/2 to 1 inch. The taller grass blades that result will not only shade the roots and help prevent drying, but will also encourage deep rooting, which makes the grass more tolerant of drought.

If you have too much shade to grow as many flowering plants that you would like, why not try some of the beautiful ferns that do well in our area. They thrive in the shade, and will take four to six hours of sun per day. The Southern Maidenhair makes a natural informality for a relaxed feeling. Our native river and hill ferns transplant with very little trouble. They will need to be kept watered during periods of drought.

Miss Mason and Mr. Harmon wed Saturday

Miss Kevin Karol Mason became the bride of Mr. Scott Ingersoll Harmon in a 3 p.m. ceremony Saturday, June 4, in the Ozona United Methodist Church. Rev. Wayne Boyce, pastor, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mason and Mr. and Mrs. Fred I. Harmon of Dallas.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an enchanting ivory wedding gown created throughout with delicate satin rib lace. The gown was highlighted with beaded venice motifs, scallops and organza flowers. The V-bodice was trimmed with the beaded lace and featured a dropped waist with modified leg-of-mutton sleeves. The softly gathered skirt fell to a full chapel sweep train. She wore an ivory hat with venice lace and a two-piece veil.

The bride's bouquet consisted of cascade ivory and sonia roses with fern and baby's breath. Three long stemmed sonia roses with baby's breath made up the bridesmaid's bouquet.

The chapel was decorated by a large arrangement of peach gladioli under the cross. Ivory candles stood in the brass candelabra while fern and ivory pew bows with rosemary covered the altar railings.

Maid of honor was Miss Cindy Harmon, sister of the bridegroom, of Dallas. Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Farmer of Austin, Miss Julia Hyland of Dallas, and Miss Laura Lee Ward of Austin, cousin of the bride.

A reception followed the wedding in the home of the bride's parents.

At the reception the bridal table was covered by a candlelight cloth with ecru lace and skirt. A silver candelabrum with ivory candles and white and sonia roses with fern and baby's breath highlighted the table. It was also complimented by a silver punch bowl along with a sonia rose decorated cake.

The bridegroom's table was covered by a chocolate cloth with ecru lace. A silver coffee service and an arrangement of streletzia in an antique silver bowl rested on the table.

Silk flower arrangements in blue and peach added a finishing touch to the remainder of the house.

STUFFED SHIRT

You've met this man before! Remember him? What grand airs he liked to assume! What vain boasts poured from his lips! He was forever trying to make an impression, but most people saw through his false front. They called him a STUFFED SHIRT!

Airs and vanity rarely fool us. We look for the inner qualities of a man's character. Only when those inner qualities are just as fine as the external impression he makes—only then are we sure we have met a man of the highest caliber.

Our sanctuaries build character! Into the life of the individual and of the community it pours those moral and spiritual influences which develop man's innate nobility. Through religious education and the worship of God, they point young and old to the high goals and rich resources of Christian living.

Help a youth and earn a tax credit

Do you need summer labor in your business but can't afford it? Hiring a qualified youth could help you taxwise and could also help the youth earn some income.

Calendar-year taxpayers may claim a tax credit on their 1983 federal income tax return for 85 percent of the first $3,000 in wages paid to qualifying youth employees for any 90-day period between May 1 and Sept. 15, says Dr. Ashley Lovell.

This opportunity for helping youth and helping your business is the "Qualified Summer Youth Employee" provision of the Tax Equity and Responsibility Act of 1982, says Lovell, an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

To qualify for the tax credit, the youth employee must: Perform services during the period noted above. Be age 16 or 17. Be a member of an economically disadvantaged family. Not have previously worked for the employer.

A designated local agency, the Texas Employment Commission (TEC), is responsible for certification of the youth's age and family economic status, notes Lovell.

A designated local agency, the Texas Employment Commission (TEC), is responsible for certification of the youth's age and family economic status, notes Lovell. This information must be certified before the youth begins work. The employer will keep the approved certificate on file as a basis for completing IRS Form 5884.

the jobs credit form. To be classed as a member of an "economically disadvantaged family," the TEC will determine whether the youth's family annual

Older Texans having spring fling at 4-H camp

Summer camp isn't just for kids, and isn't just for summer either. More than 450 Texans from 55 to 85 proved that by having a "spring fling" at the Texas 4-H Center on Lake Brownwood.

The camps, sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, were held in four three-day sessions during April and early May. Extension specialists and other resource people made presentations on wildflowers, protecting the home from insects, family relationships, home improvements, and new trends in horticulture and for the campers.

Fourteen older adults, themselves former campers, also taught oil painting, needlecraft, folk dancing, chair-caning, antique selection and chime-making.

ACCESS TO PRIVATE LAND FOR PUBLIC HUNTING IS KEY CONCERN

A survey of more than 3,000 Texas hunters has found that most want the state to provide greater access to private land leased for public hunting.

The survey, conducted by researchers in Texas A&M University's Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Sciences and the Department of Rural Sociology, indicated 69 percent of the hunters favored paying user fees, perhaps $20 a day, to hunt on lands leased by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Seventy-five percent of the hunters feel funds should be used to lease more private land for public use.

income, based on the six months before the month of the hiring date, is 70 percent or less of the Bureau of Labor Statistics lower living standard.

Just like their counterparts in "summer camp," the older Texans enjoyed card and table games, tennis, horseshoes and volleyball. They filled their evenings with sing-alongs, dances and a luau.

Each camp session was filled without publicizing the event, says Judith Warren, a family life education-aging specialist. "In the three years the Extension Service has been conducting these camps we have had an overwhelming response," states Warren. "It just goes to show that there are many older Texans who would like the opportunity to learn new things and make new friends in a relaxing camp atmosphere," she adds.

The Extension Service will sponsor five "Octoberfest" camps during October and the first week of November. Persons interested in attending can write the 4-H Center, Route 1, Box 527, Brownwood, Texas 76801 for information.

Assuming an hourly wage of $4 and with the first $3,000 of wages qualifying for tax credit, the business could obtain 750 hours of labor from a qualifying youth for tax credit, the business could obtain 750 hours of labor from a qualifying youth, says Lovell. From the employer's tax benefit standpoint, the $4 hourly wage provides an income tax credit of $3.40, with the remaining wage of 60 cents deductible as a labor expense on Schedule C or Schedule F. The business cannot claim the entire $4 as labor expense but only the difference between the $4 and the $3.40 tax credit.

Appliances can be hazardous

"Consumers are often unaware of the hazards of electrical appliances," says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

To avoid potential danger, the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers (AHAM) and Underwriters Laboratories (UL) now warn consumers to always unplug any small electrical appliances after using them, says Granovsky.

Don't assume that if the switch is "off" there's no danger of electrocution. This may not be true if the product comes into contact with water.

Electrocutions may occur in kitchens, bathrooms or outdoors-anywhere near water sources. Never use any electrical product while bathing or put it where it can drop or be pulled into the tub or sink. If the appliance accidentally falls into the water, don't reach into the water for it. Unplug it immediately at the wall outlet.

Never leave a small portable electrical appliance within the reach of small children. Children left unattended could pull the plugged-in, but switched-off appliance into the tub or sink and risk being electrocuted.

According to Granovsky, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is cooperating with the AHAM and UL in their nationwide effort to promote product safety.

Ten inches of snow fell in parts of New England on June 6, 1816, beginning the year in which there was no summer.

Rain needed for herbicides

Spring usually brings rain to most parts of Texas, and that's what's needed to make soil-applied herbicides effective on range brush.

Four soil-applied herbicides are registered for use on rangeland, says Dr. Tommy Welch, range brush and weed control specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Three are pelleted or granulated—10 percent picloram pellets (Tordon 10K or Grazon 10K), 20 percent tebuthiuron pellets (Graslan 20P) and 10 percent dicamba granules (Banvel 10G). Hexazinone (Velpar L) is a liquid herbicide for soil application.

Welch suggests applying Tordon 10K, Graslan 20P and Velpar L before expected rainfall, preferably in early spring. Banvel 10G should be applied in spring and early summer (before July 1).

Tordon 10K pellets, used for aerial broadcast, ground broadcast or individual plant treatment, control pricklypear, huisache, whitebrush, redberry juniper, macartney rose, hawthorne and sumac. Use 20 pounds of Tordon 10K pellets per acre or 1 ounce per 100 square feet. Redberry juniper, hawthorne and sumac require 40 pounds of Tordon 10K pellets per acre or 1½ ounces per 100 square feet.

Graslan 20P pellets provide good control of post oak, blackjack oak, winged elm, whitebrush, running live oak, blackbrush, creosotebush, tarbrush and sand shinnery oak. However, the pellets are only available from Elanco Products Company for use by approved aerial broadcasters.

Use 10 pounds per acre of Graslan 20P pellets to control post oak, blackjack oak, winged elm, running live oak and blackbrush. Only 5 to 7.5 pounds of Graslan 20P pellets are necessary for whitebrush control while 2.5

pounds will control sand shinnery oak and 2.5 to 5 pounds of the pellets are needed to control tarbrush and creosotebush.

Banvel 10G gives good control on common or eastern persimmon, says Welch, and is registered for individual plant treatment. Use level teaspoonful of Banvel 10G per inch diameter of the plant's trunk.

Velpar L, at 2 to 8 milliliters, will control oaks, hackberry, elm, mesquite, willow, tallow tree, whitebrush and juniper (cedar). Velpar L is labeled for individual plant treatment with an exact delivery handgun application. Do not use Velpar L on marshy or poorly drained sites or on clay soils, cautions the specialist.

Research and demonstration studies have shown that these pelleted, granulated and liquid herbicides provide good to excellent control of the various range brush species discussed, notes Welch. These herbicides are ready to apply and require no mixing, and spring is the best time to use them.

FISHING TIPS FROM THE PROS

Fish Like An Expert

Professional anglers spend years developing their casting and hook-setting techniques. Here are a few hints from experts Bill Dance and Roland Martin, members of the DuPont "Stren" Pro Fishing Team:

• Use an overhead cast. Bend your arm at the elbow bringing the rod parallel to your body. Allow the momentum of the rod to flex it backward. This loads the cast. Then, at the moment when the rod's at the farthest back flex, move your forearm forward while slightly flicking your wrist. The line should arc toward your target.

• With a bait-casting reel, use your thumb to put pressure against the spool when the plug's near the target. This slows forward movement for accuracy of placements. It also prevents backlash. With a spinning outfit, you can create the same effect by using your forefinger.

• A sidearm cast is more difficult, but a lifesaver if trees are in the way of your overhead action.

• Care must be taken with a sidearm cast because the rod extends farther than it appears.

• You can practice both casts in your back yard or an open field. It's surprising to see how much energy is lost between the rod handle and the hook point when you haul back and set the hook. No matter how much muscle you apply, only a small part of that force gets to where it counts—the hook point. That's why you must practice your technique.

Here are two good techniques to try when you're using plastic worms:

Technique 1: Slack line hook set—keep line slack until you feel a strike. Then haul off and aim for maximum hook penetration. Reset hook every three to four seconds, while reeling in fast to keep pressure on the line.

Technique 2: Taut line hook set—avoid keeping your line slack. Put a little more pressure on the line when you feel a strike to create resistance like live bait. Then set the hook hard.

Proper drag setting of the reel is critical to successful fishing. If a drag is set too tight, you risk line breakage with a hard hook set or when a hooked fish suddenly changes direction.

Set drag between a third and one-half of the rated pound test of your line. In fresh water, with lighter fish, you can go lighter on the drag. Keep the drag lower on soft-mouth fish, such as crappies or weakfish. But with stripers, set the drag at 50 percent of the pound test.

Spotlight on agriculture

Twenty-six essays ranging from New Mexico's scientific contributions to the chile pepper, to facts and folklore about farmers' cooperatives, appear in a new book published by the Texas A&M University Press.

Entitled "Southwestern Agriculture: Pre-Columbian to Modern," the book spotlights the long-neglected area of agricultural development in the Southwest. Focusing on Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas, it traces the history of farming from the views of novelists, businessmen, archaeologists, cattlemen, scientists and politicians.

The essays, based on the 1980 Agricultural History Symposium at Texas A&M, include secrets of pre-Columbian agriculture, dilemmas faced by county extension agents, the thriving rice industry and the struggles of farmer movements, as well as the mushrooming agribusiness.

ACCORDING TO SURVEY MEN CHANGING PROFILE OF GROCERY SHOPPERS

Men spend less time and money than women in the supermarket, tend to have more brand loyalty, are less apt to make a grocery list, rely less on supermarket information and generally aren't as concerned about economizing.

These are just a few of the recent findings from a profile of supermarket shoppers conducted by Dr. Valerie Zeithaml, a Texas A&M University marketing professor, who last summer surveyed 13,000 shoppers at a dozen stores in Baltimore, Houston, Minneapolis and Los Angeles and randomly interviewed 1,433 shoppers.

"Twenty years ago, the profile of the primary household food shopper would have been relatively easy to delineate—female, housewife, possibly mother," Zeithaml said, "but describing the typical supermarket shopper now isn't as simple a task."

Sun takes toll on skin

From the Texas Medical Association

The tanning season has arrived and you may find yourself complaining about not having enough time to lie out in the sun. You may have even considered buying a membership to a tanning salon.

Before you do, the Texas Medical Association warns that these salons can be harmful to your skin and eyes. So an excessive exposure to the sun.

Tanning salons use ultraviolet light, the same as that emitted by the sun. Ultraviolet light may either be short-wave (UVB) or long-wave (UVA).

Experiments on animals have linked artificial tanning with UVB to sunburn and long-term skin damage. UVB also can damage the cornea and lens of the eye, so protective goggles should be worn.

Artificial tanning with UVA has been found to be more suitable and safer than UVB, but this does not mean it is safe. UVA also may damage the eyes if protective goggles are not worn. It has damaged retinas and produced cataracts in laboratory mice.

In addition, your skin may be overly sensitive to UVA if you are taking medication such as antidepressants, oral contraceptives, antihistamines and a variety of other sensitizing drugs.

Both ultraviolet types can damage the skin. Three common types of skin cancer that can occur are basal cell carcinoma, squamous cell carcinoma, and the worst kind, malignant melanoma. These occur most frequently on continuously exposed parts of the body such as hands, face and neck.

In basal cell carcinoma, cells just below the skin's surface become cancerous. A tumor may develop and be-

PEOPLE CONSIDER PETS FAMILY MEMBERS

Women have more difficulty deciding to euthanize the family's terminally ill pet, but are called on more frequently to handle such details and are more likely to feel guilty about it, suggests a Texas A&M University study.

The study, covering 69 cases in which pets were found to be dying of cancer, said guilt over the animal's suffering and death "was found to be an important variable" and recommended that veterinarians discourage pet owners from making the decision alone and on the spot.

The research, carried out for a master's thesis by veterinary student Vicki Bailey of Spring, offers some of the first documentation that many people feel pets are members of the family and not just four-legged companions.

An elephant may consume 500 pounds of hay and 60 gallons of water in a single day.

SOUTH TEXAS LUMBER CO.

MYSTERIOUS DISEASE KILLS NEWBORN FOALS

A puzzling new disease is killing newborn foals nationwide and veterinary diagnosticians are hoping to find clues before the current foaling season ends.

The mysterious disorder attacks the liver and produces symptoms similar to hepatitis, explained Dr. Robert Fiske of the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory, a part of the Texas A&M University System.

The foals appear normal at birth, but a few days later exhibit jaundice in the eyes and lips, staggering movements and may seem to be blind. Within nine days after birth, they all die despite treatment, said Fiske, a pathologist.

Cause of the malady-called neonatal foal hepatitis syndrome-is unknown, he said. "There is a critical need to learn more about this potentially devastating disease," he said. "We are soliciting help from the veterinarian in the field when this disease is suspected."

Information that the TVMDL will be seeking from field veterinarians and owners includes samples of liver, blood serum, a complete history with medications and vaccinations given during pregnancy and exposure to toxic substances.

Stress obstacle in dieting

Some of the biggest obstacles that moderately obese people face in their quest for slimness may sit across the family dining table, according to a Baylor College of Medicine weight control expert.

The success of any diet depends not only on the motivation of the obese person, but also on realistically evaluating the environment, said John P. Foreyt, Ph.D., associate professor of medicine and psychiatry. That includes the level of social support from a spouse, family, friends and co-workers.

The family that chides an obese person about his weight and then brings home high calorie foods or demands fattening dishes for dinner isn't helping for a reason.

"Families are the single greatest saboteurs of obese people," Foreyt said. "You are going to have to face the fact there may be people out there who want you to be the way you are. They may have a need for you to be obese." Foreyt said that, for example, a husband may feel more comfortable if his wife is fat; there is no threat that she will be attractive to someone else. Also, a husband may feel there is no need to look good himself if he feels his wife will always be there.

Foreyt said if there is a lack of support at home, an individual must recognize that the odds of losing weight are stacked against success. The next step is to try to get the family's support and get them involved.

"If they are not going to help you, you have to learn to deal with it without them," he said. You then have to weigh the benefits of losing weight against the problems it may cause at home. The first step toward change is understanding the barriers of change."

Foreyt said families should be complimentary and supportive, understanding of the psychological hell the obese person is going through.

"Dieting is extremely stressful and it causes all kinds of feelings," he said. "That person will tend to take it out on the family around them. The supportive family must understand the behavior is temporary, caused by the stress of dieting."

Understanding is also required from family and friends for the person who overcomes the odds and is successful in losing a significant amount of weight and keeping it off, perhaps for the first time.

"When people do succeed, they are different people and they need to be different people," Foreyt explained. "The spouse and family has to come to grips with the fact they are now living with a different person. That's often difficult for a family to do, because they have their habits too. Those habits need to change, just like the obese person's have changed. If that does not happen, often there is severe disruption within the family that will require professional help."

External factors aside, the obese person who loses weight has an even tougher foe to deal with: a self-image that continues to see a fat person.

Foreyt said that changing one's body image psychologically is the biggest problem he deals with in weight control programs he supervises at Baylor and The Methodist Hospital. There are several positive things that can be done, however. "First, throw out all your clothes," he advises. "Buy a completely new wardrobe. Look at yourself in the mirror. Look at how people are reacting to you differently. Learn to be assertive, learn a different style of living. Do not be your same person. Join new groups where people did not know you as a fat person. Get involved with people who see you as you are now, not as you once were. Live a whole different life."

That is not an easy thing to do, Foreyt said, but it is the only way to successfully become a formerly fat person.

A&M and CSU host computer workshop

Using a personal computer to manage farm and ranch enterprises is the theme of a workshop to be held in Vail, Colo., July 19, 20 and 21.

Discussions and demonstrations will center on livestock and crop management, farm and ranch accounting, electronic worksheets, financial decision models, and accessing and using market information with the personal computer. The workshop will be at the Crest Hotel. The registration fee of $350 for one person and $450 for two includes lodging, four meals and workshop materials.

To register, call 303/491-6132 at Colorado State University or 409/845-1861 at Texas A&M.

Survey shows kitchen is changing

More time and energy saving foods and appliances as well as an equal sharing of duties among family members will characterize the kitchen of the future.

These predictions emerged from a recent survey of 1400 Extension home economists from across the country. The survey was conducted for Hamilton Beach Division/Scovill Inc. by the Opinion and Marketing Research Department of Zigmans-Joseph-Skeen.

"Extension home economists generally have a good feel for these trends because they respond to public demands for information and programming on foods and nutrition, appliance selection, consumer information, and budgeting," says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The home economists surveyed believe changes in the American kitchen are due to the increasing numbers of working women. Ninety-five percent agree, for example, that in dual-earner families, the kitchen is no longer the woman's full responsibility. They also note the growing interest in nutrition, cooking and kitchen appliances among men.

Seventy-nine percent also agree that in making kitchen purchases, working women are primarily interested in convenience so they can use their time more efficiently. Home economists foresee a trend toward consumers doing their grocery shopping less frequently, but buying in greater quantities. They think women who work will not spend as much time in food preparation as they did a decade ago. But they don't believe interest in nutrition has suffered.

When it comes to choosing appliances for consumers starting their own households, Extension home economists chose time-saving appliances as the most useful.

The microwave oven was chosen by 66 percent, the food processor by 49 percent, the hand mixer by 40 percent, and the toaster-oven by 39 percent. Traditional appliances such as a regular oven, deep fryer and stand mixer are predicted to have minimal use or become obsolete within ten years, according to the study.

Along with time-saving appliances, Extension home economists believe consumers will make greater use of pre-packaged mixes, freezer foods and foods with longer shelf-life in the future. They also believe that consumers will be interested in saving money, using more versatile, quality appliances and eating smaller portions of more nutritious food.

Conserving energy will continue to be important to consumers say the home economists, who predict and increased interest in conserving energy with microwave use, solar energy and smaller appliances, streamlined packaging for storage and simpler meals.

Bohannon graduates med school

Mr. and Mrs. John Bohannon were in Houston June 4, to attend graduation ceremonies at the University of Texas Medical School, where their grandson, John Steven Bohannon, received his medical degree.

Dr. Bohannon graduated from Texas A&M with a B. S. degree for his pre-medical studies, where he was a cum laude graduate. He and his wife, Linda, are leaving Houston for Florida, where he has accepted a 3-year residency in Family Practice at Halifax Hospital in Daytona Beach.

MAYO-MCCRACKEN ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. John Mayo have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their granddaughter, Debra Dawn Mayo of Abilene, to Brett Larkin McCracken. The couple will be married Oct. 1, in Abilene. Miss Mayo is also the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Robertson of Ozona.

Ozonans' kin in program

David Ray Emler, 11 year old son of TSgt and Mrs. David E. Emler of San Angelo, has been selected to attend "Shake Hands With Your Future." This is a summer residency program for gifted children who are considered to be our future leaders. David is one of only 150 children selected from Texas and its bordering states.

David is the grandson of Mrs. C. Ray (Nazie) Baker and the nephew of Mrs. Audrey Glynn, both of Ozona.

Smoked seafood is delicious menu fare

If you're looking for a delicious change of pace in your outdoor cooking this season, try smoke-cooking seafood. This is an excellent method of preparing drum, shark, mackerel, jack or other plentiful fish or shellfish.

Preparing smoked seafood is not a difficult process involving a lot of special equipment, according to Annette Reddell Hegen, seafood consumer education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

You will need a charcoal, gas or electric grill with a cover or hood, charcoal briquets if using a charcoal grill, one pound of hickory or other hardwood chips available at most grocery stores, salt, water, vegetable oil, fish, two large bowls and a basting brush. An oven thermometer is helpful, but not a necessity.

With these things in hand, you're ready to start. If the fish is frozen, thaw it first under cold running water. Mix one gallon of cold water with one cup of salt and stir until dissolved. Marinate fish in this brine--30 minutes for pan-dressed fish or one-half inch fillets, 45 minutes for one-inch thick fillets or steaks. Soak chips in two quarts of water.

Now you're ready to start the fire. If using charcoal, use fewer briquets than for an average broiling fire, and when the coals are red, spread them sparsely over the bottom of the grill. If using a gas or electric grill, set the temperature on low.

Next, cover ceramic or charcoal with one-third of the wet chips which will produce smoke and reduce the temperature. Low heat is a must.

When a fish have soaked the prescribed amount of time, drain and pat dry. Grease the grill well, adjust it four to six inches above the heat, and place the fish on the grill, skin side down. Baste the fish, and keep the oil handy for occasional basting during cooking. Be sure the fish does not dry out! Add soaked chips as needed.

Cooking times vary with the temperature inside the grill, type of grill, weather, amount of moisture in the chips, and the distance of the fish from the source of heat.

At 150-175 degrees, it will take about an hour for half-inch fillets to cook, but if the temperature increases to 250 degrees, the cooking time reduces to about 20 minutes. When done, the fish will turn a golden brown on the surface and will flake easily.

It is more economical to smoke more fish than you will use for one meal, says Hegen. Freeze the excess by cooling thoroughly in the refrigerator, wrapping tightly in a moisture and vapor-proof paper and storing at zero degrees. To re-heat, wrap the thawed fish tightly in foil and place in an oven at 300 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes.

For a set of free seafood recipes, write the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at P.O. Box 158, Port Aransas, Texas 78373.

New device extracts oil from pits

A Texas A&M University chemist has patented a device he says will extract water clean enough to drink, and thousands of dollars of petroleum from oil field waste pits now regarded as environmental hazards.

Dr. Rod O'Connor said the patent has been assigned to ROME Environmental Research and Development Inc., a College Station firm formed to develop and market the device.

O'Connor, director of Texas A&M's first-year chemistry program, worked with several other people after hours and on weekends to perfect the system.

The first mobile model, housed inside a 16-foot trailer and capable of processing about 50 barrels of waste fluid a day, will soon be waste treatment company, he said. A 40-foot unit could handle about 10,000 barrels of waste a day.

Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

Summer has arrived, or has it? There has really been some spring showers thrown in here and there.

Tuesday at noon the mist lifted enough for a field trip to El Chato's to use their certificates. Minnie Karr had won the one on Tuesday but she was unable to go. However Floy Clare Short, Johnny Henderson, Billie Whately, Ola Mills, Maude Pettit, Virginia Russell, Inez Biggs, Frances Borrego, Paul Cavin, Juana Hernandez, and Carol Reed all did go along with volunteers Anna Hufstetler, Marie Pierson, and Ruth Dorris. We really appreciate El Chato's owners for this treat and their employees for their kind help in walking some of our less abled residents to and from the cars and giving us the best of service at the tables as well. They were all great!

Wednesday morning Marie Pierson led ceramics. Those enjoying this craft included Juana Hernandez, Frances Borrego, Tomasa Ramos, Inez Biggs, Bertha Miller, Maude Pettit, and Ola Mills.

Wednesday afternoon we had a change in schedule and Ralph Anderson, minister of the Church of Christ, came and gave us a fine Bible study program. We appreciated his filling in for us.

Thursday was Max Schneemann's birthday (92) and Mrs. Schneemann wanted to have our Sunshine Hour refreshments, watermelons in his honor and thus the schedule change. Their oldest daughter and Anna Yruegas assisted with the serving. Max was also treated with a cake from Polly Wades and C. O. Spencer Welding Services (was Carol Reed the following Monday.)

It does the heart good, as the old saying goes, to know somebody reads these weekly articles and will answer our S.O.S. as Midge Granel did last week. She was the only one who did come to assist with the beauty shop and a welcomed face she was! She worked until she had to go to her job of employment which doubly impressed yours truly.

Spanish Hour of Praise was once again led by Maria Vitela, Carmen Vargas, Juanita Rebelez and Maria Torres. Seven residents attended.

Friday morning's bingo winner of a gift certificate from Clayton's Village Drug was Maude Pettit. Second place was a tie between Maggie Crawford and Nina Mayfield. Anna Bell Patrick and Danette and Kellye Robinson were our volunteers.

Friday afternoon our residents were all in for a real treat when Mary Margaret Bonner gave a program of music on the organ. She also came last month and plans are to make this a monthly event. Her proud Mama, Leona Harris, was by her side and all smiles, as well it should be, because she really made some pretty music.

The Faith Lutheran Church ladies brought bath powder this week, the Ladies Auxiliary of the V.F.W. of Big Lake sent money for beauty shop supplies, and Jo Davidson shared some clothes. Thanks goes to all these volunteers!

Dominos were played on Saturday and Sunday by Maude Pettit, Paul Cavin, Ola Mills and Bertha Miller.

Sunday afternoon church services were given by members of the United Methodist Church. Rev. Wayne Boyce, pastor. He was assisted by Bonnie Warth and yours truly. Maude Pettit played the piano for us.

Monday afternoon residents enjoyed more readings from "Ideals" magazine donated by Helen Owensby. They also shared some tales from "way back when."

June is here and with it the possibility that there are school students and teachers with a little extra time on their hands. Why not come give us a visit? Think volunteer!

Fire ant marches west

One of the most persistent insect pests around today is the red imported fire ant, and despite all efforts to keep the pest in check, it is slowly marching westward, leaving behind a pock-marked landscape and a barrel full of problems.

Fire ants erupted around Mobile, Ala., about 1940 and have since laid claim to all the South from the Carolinas to half of Texas. Their westward trek has reached as far as the San Angelo area.

Fire ants are well-known for their painful stings and for their damage to plants, young livestock and wildlife.

Their mounds--often a foot-and-a-half high and as hard as concrete--play havoc with farm machinery during mowing and other field operations and lead to a lot of problems in lawns, parks, playgrounds, school yards, cemeteries, golf courses and the like.

"How to deal effectively with these pests has kept many entomologists and others in the insect control business awake at night," says Dr. Phil Hamman, an entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Once there was some talk about eradicating the imported fire ant, but now we've got our hands full just thinking about containment and management."

"While we have a number of chemicals that will kill fire ants, there is no such thing as permanent extermination due to reinfestations," points out the entomologist. "The best you can hope to do is to treat existing mounds and to stay on the lookout for new mounds."

A good time to treat mounds is when the ants are most active--during warm weather, late in the afternoon or evening when ants are foraging, and after a rain. During wet weather, the ants will increase the size of their mounds to move their brood up into drier soil. This makes them more vulnerable to control measures, says Hamman.

For effective control, he suggests treating mounds with an approved insecticide diluted in water. Use a sprinkling can or a gallon-sized plastic jug with holes in the screw-on top to sprinkle the solution on the mound like a gentle rain. Wet the mound thoroughly.

A granular insecticide can also be sprinkled on top and around the ant mound.

"It's best not to disturb the mound before or during treatment," says Hamman. "Otherwise, part of the colony may move away from the chemical."

Amdro is an effective bait but works slowly, as do some other materials that have been effective in controlling fire ants. Colonies in treated mounds will usually die out in one to two weeks. However, products containing methyl chloroform, pyrethrum, acephate, diazinon or chlorpyrifos give more immediate results.

"Whatever insecticide you use, follow label directions," cautions Hamman. "And remember that one treatment won't last forever. Some time or another, the fire ants will be back again, so you'll have to be on guard and ready to treat again."

Employed women return to home sewing

"Both the economy and changing lifestyles are having a great impact on home sewing," says Dr. Ann Vanderpoorten, a clothing specialist.

Home sewing boomed when polyester doubleknits first came on the market in the late 1960's because they were so easy to use, explains Vanderpoorten, a home economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Since fashions at the time tended toward loose fitting, untailored garments with little detail, home sewers could easily produce quality clothing.

Once tailored clothes became fashionable again and people tired of doubleknits, many women realized they didn't have the skills to sew good-looking garments and gave up the activity, says Vanderpoorten. Until recently, only about 20 percent of American women used their sewing machines twice a month or more.

According to Vanderpoorten, economics has created a new interest in home sewing. "When women can make a quality dress for 30 percent of what it would cost in the stores, they are bound to be interested," she suggests.

Even employed women are returning to home sewing, says Vanderpoorten. They want clothes to wear on the job with enough style to last several years rather than just one season. If they can't find the styles they like, or preferred styles in their size, they are now more likely to sew the clothes themselves.

Also, some employed women are turning to sewing for "therapy" or as a hobby, rather than out of economic necessity.

The pattern companies and fabric makers are now trying to make their products more compatible with the employed woman's lifestyle. "They are aiming for the customer who wants to make something simple and fast," she says.

Enormous catalogs of patterns, each with complex instructions and five different views of the finished garment are seen less frequently, since they tend to frighten off potential home sewers.

Instead, many manufacturers are offering a simplified line with a few styles attractively displayed in fabric stores. Each pattern has fewer pattern pieces, one or two views, simpler instructions that allow for a graded fit, and a lower price than regular patterns.

Home sewing has also gotten a boost from the recent interest in crafts. Research shows that 30 percent of sales in fabric stores now go toward crafts and home decorating materials, says the specialist.

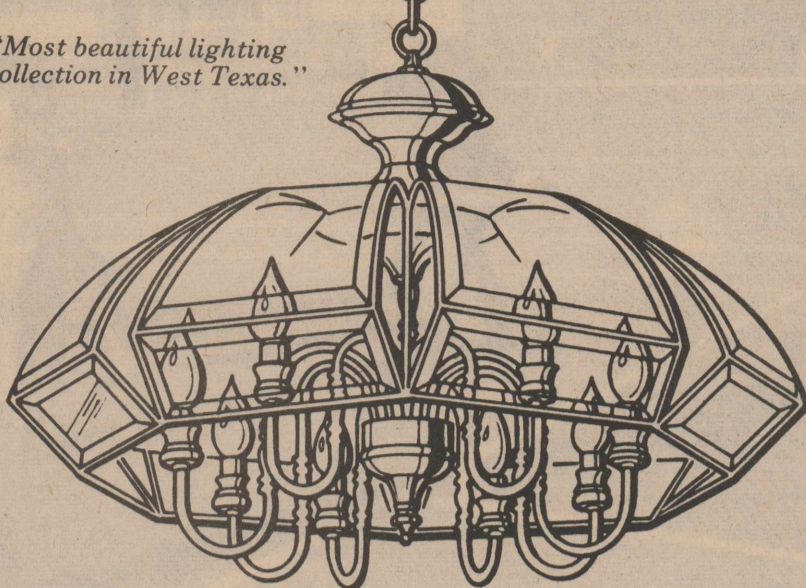

"It's difficult to predict whether the interest in home sewing will continue to grow. But with the new fabric blends, streamlined patterns and desire for high quality at a lower price, we may see a sewing 'boom' again."

Try carp fishing for fun and food

For a fishing thrill, catch a carp.

Carp are generally plentiful, bite readily, are an excellent fighting fish and offer variety for family menus, says a fisheries specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"The body conformation of carp can make even the most jaded fisherman think that he has latched on to a whale," says Dr. James T. Davis.

To help enjoy the thrill of catching one of these hard-fighting fish, Davis offers a few tips.

Find a fishing place around brush piles or ledges in a calm, secluded cove. Just below a dam is also an excellent spot to find carp, says Davis.

Fishing success can be improved by baiting the location with such materials as fermented grain, cottonseed cake, rotten potatoes or range cubes. Several dough baits can also be prepared. Scatter the bait at least six hours before you want to fish. Each baiting should be effective for about 24 hours.

To select tackle, choose at least a 15-pound test line and hooks of size eight or larger, suggests Davis. Big carp are usually caught on a size 4 hook. Fish on the bottom and have patience, because when carp begin to bite, they tend to mouth the bait before swallowing it. At the first steady pull, get ready for a fight.

Carp, like all fish, spoil easily, so gut and gill the fish as soon as possible, advises the specialist. Most fishermen bleed carp by cutting off the tail. Also, skinning the fish before cooking tends to reduce their strong flavor.

For the best cooking results, score the fish with a knife about every 1/8-to 1/4-inch. While deep fat frying is most popular, alternatives include baking, pickling, smoking or stew.

Can you afford today's life insurance?

Yes, if it's Farmers Variable Premium Whole Life. It's a life insurance policy designed for today's economy, and also to meet the needs of the future. It gives you a lifetime of affordable protection.

How can Farmers do this?

On many insurance policies you pay more. Those fixed premiums must allow for all the likely variables in future economic conditions. By designing a plan with variable rates, Farmers New World Life Insurance Company can offer you lower premiums now and, they are guaranteed for three years.

After that at no more than three year intervals, they can go up or down, but can never be raised higher than stated in the policy.

There are many other advantages in this new approach to life insurance... phone me, I'll be glad to tell you.

Recipe

OLD FASHIONED RICE PUDDING

- 1-3/4 cups water
- 1/2 cup rice
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups milk
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/4 cup raisins, steamed in water and drained (optional)
- Nutmeg or cinnamon (optional)

Bring water to a boil. Stir in rice and salt. Cover and simmer until all water is absorbed, about 30 minutes. Add milk and boil gently, stirring occasionally, until mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Combine eggs, sugar and vanilla in a bowl. Gradually stir in rice mixture; mix well. Pour into a greased 1-1/2-quart casserole. If desired, stir in raisins and sprinkle nutmeg or cinnamon over top. Place casserole in a pan containing about 1-inch hot water. Bake, uncovered, in 350°F. oven for 45 to 50 minutes, or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Makes 6 servings.

Many popular diets unsound

"Many of the millions of dollars that Americans spend on diet books, plans and products are a waste of money," says Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

According to Haggard, a recent study of fifteen popular diet plans shows many make unfounded claims, encourage poor nutritional practices through misinformation, and require unnecessary expense.

For example, popular diet plans may promise rapid weight loss or claim to reduce specific body parts, such as the stomach. Yet research shows that one-to-three-pounds per week is optimal for long-term weight loss, says Haggard.

"Spot reducing" can take place only with the addition of specific physical exercises, if at all. Overall weight loss is usually required to reduce weight in one specific part of the body, she adds.

Although nutritionists, physicians and health educators recommend a balanced diet, reducing plans often encourage an unbalanced intake of foods.

For example, some diet plans claim that carbohydrates are harmful, and recommend eliminating them from the diet. Yet omitting the carbohydrates found in cereals and breads could cause a lack of thiamine, niacin and iron necessary for good health.

Other diet plans advocate over-consumption of particular food groups like protein or fruit, which cannot provide all necessary nutrients. "Many popular diets also contain misinformation about

Sheep shearing contest

The Extension Service is helping to sponsor and conduct the Texas Sheep Shearing Contest. This contest will be held in San Angelo on June 18 in conjunction with the Fiesta Del Concho celebration. The contest will start at 7:30 a.m. and will be held on the parade grounds at Fort Concho. The finals are scheduled for 2:00 p.m. that day.

The contest will serve a dual purpose of recognizing outstanding shearers and promoting better shearing practices. The contest will be open to any "working" shearer, limited only to the first 50 applicants. Entry fee will be $15, and applications will be accepted at the Tom Green County Agent's office. The sponsors will provide drops, but shearers must bring their own handpiece, cutters, and comb.

The sheep will be yearling ewes with three-inch staple wool. Each contestant will shear three head in the preliminaries. Scoring will be based on time, condition of fleeces and absence of second cuts, the manner in which the sheep are handled, and the appearance of the shorn sheep including digestive processes," states Haggard. Some plans claim that certain combinations of foods will "burn" fat, that digested food cannot cause weight gain, or that stomach absence or abundance of cuts.

Winners in each of the four basic categories will receive ribbons and revolving trophies, and contestants with the four best overall scores will compete in the finals, set to begin at 2:00 p.m.

Finalists will then start over on an equal footing, regardless of how they placed in the preliminaries. Prospective applicants should contact the Tom Green County Extension Office at 658-4832.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Montgomery were houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Montgomery over the weekend. Guests of Jim and Debbie were Mr. and Mrs. Billy Smith and Jenny also of San Angelo.

enzymes cannot digest a variety of foods at once. To "help" the digestive process these diets recommend eating only particular foods.

Other diet books assert that people can eat as much as they want of certain foods and not gain weight, or that they can eat as much as they want and still lose weight. This is simply wishful thinking and has no basis in fact, says the specialist.

By requiring the purchase of special foods, devices or books, or promoting the use (and sale) of diuretics, appetite depressants, "miracle" foods vitamins or minerals, the diet "industry" makes money off of consumers.

Diet plans are usually advertised with anecdotal evidence or testimonials by successful clients. But the ads don't discuss all the people who tried the diet and failed to maintain a weight loss.

According to Haggard, there are no scientific studies showing that any of these popular diets are successful in the long run for most people.

The best way to reduce is with a nutritionally balanced diet, moderation of eating habits, increased physical activity and the establishment of good eating habits, which will result in gradual weight loss, she says.

Lisa and Bert Pfaff of Hunt were here over the weekend visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Holt.
