This enrollment procedure will give school officials needed information on how many students to expect on the first day and all parents and students are urged to take special notice of registration dates. Principals are requesting that parents or students notify them if they are going to be out of town or can't come to school on that date.

Seniors in O.H.S. will register on Wednesday afternoon, August 10, from 1:00-4:00. Juniors will register Thursday, August 11, from 9:00-12:00 a.m., sophomores will take the afternoon from 1:00-4:00 and freshman classes will enroll Friday, August 12, from

First and second grade students will enroll Thursday afternoon, August 11, from 1:00-4:00 p.m.

Deadline near to file for school board post

Ozona residents desiring to run for the special school board election are reminded that Saturday, August 6, is the last day to register with County Judge Johnny Jones. The special election will be held on Tuesday, September 6, and is for the purpose of filling the vacancy of Terry Lee who, due to a company transfer, resigned from the board last month.

Court in special called meeting

Crockett County Commissioner's Court met in special session Thursday afternoon. Primary discussion pertained to the proposed 1984 budget.

There was a suggested 7 percent across-the-board increase in salaries, however, several areas were not reached in the discussion. The entire budget will be completed and submitted for approval at the next meeting.

At the request of Dorris Haire, representatives of Energas met with the court to discuss a proposed rate increase which the company has not had since September 30, 1974. The hike would contain a 17.51 percent increase in the cost of natural gas. The present rate is $4.33 MCF with an increase to $5.07 MCF. The base rate will go from $.83 to $1.57.

Although the full rate fluctuates with the cost of gas, Ozona residents pay the lowest prices compared to neighboring towns. Del Rio pays $5.99; Junction, $5.27; San Angelo, $5.79 and Sonora, $5.55 per MCF. The Railroad Commission sets rates and guidelines for Ozona since it is unincorporated.

Energas has increased one-third in volume since 1973 with 450 more customers here. Operating costs are up 78 percent. The company plans to file in Austin this week.

The Crockett County National Bank submitted a request to the court for a traffic light signal to be installed at Highway 163 and 1st Street. Also, a blinking caution light a Highway 163 and Country Club Rd. The court unanimously approved the request to send a letter to the State for the signals as well as slower speed limit signs, 30 mph through town on the highway and 45 mph from Country Club Rd. to the traffic signal at 1st Street.

Superintendent of Schools Garland Davis made a request for a part-time library aide at the high school facility. An assistant would benefit in making it a more efficient operation. A proposed salary of $4.35 an hour and a starting date of August 15 for the new helper were found worthy by the court.

Sheriff Billy Mills also brought forth a request for an increase on two deputy salaries for Hector De La Garza and Victor De La Garza. The court deferred action on the request until more information could be obtained.

Miller files for school board

Van Miller has authorized the Stockman to announce his candidacy for a place on the Crockett County School Board, subject to the special election September 6, to fill the unexpired term of a board member who resigned July 12.

Miller is a native of Ozona and a 1962 graduate of Ozona High School. He attended college at Texas Christian University and graduated from Southwest Texas State College in San Marcos with a degree in business administration. He is a member of Ozona Church of Christ and a partner in J. B. Miller and Co.

Miller and his wife, Jann, have three children attending Ozona schools. Vanessa is a sophomore in Ozona High School; Lacy, an eighth grader and Keith, a second grader.

Miller will be running for the unexpired term of Terry Lee, who was elected in April of 1982. Members are elected for three-year terms in the regular elections held each April. The unexpired term will give the candidate who wins about a year and one-half to serve, before it comes up in a regular election.

Candidates must file with County Judge Johnny Jones by Saturday, August 6. Absentee voting will begin in the County Clerk's office Wednesday, August 17, and continue through Friday, Sept. 2. Eligible voters will vote at the courthouse Tuesday, Sept. 6.

Immunization clinic is tomorrow

An immunization clinic is scheduled for Thursday, August 4, 10-12 a.m. and 1-3 p.m. at the Civic Center. Public Health Nurses from San Angelo will be giving immunizations to children through school age.

A clown will be present to assist with treats for the children, breakfast snacks and films. For more information, contact the County Extension Office at 392-2721.

Hospital in compliance with M-care

Lee Carlisle of Carlisle Clinic, informed the Stockman late Tuesday that notification of Medicare compliance by Crockett County Hospital had been received by the local facility, and the hospital will continue to give Medicare service.

Mrs. Carlisle noted that this was the first time in 12 years the hospital has been in complete compliance with the Medicare rules and regulations. She credits this good news with endeavor by the hospital staff, especially Dottie Tuttle and the new administrator Don Hopkins.

The girls will be guests of the Lion's Club at a luncheon tomorrow. Tomorrow night they will have horsemanship practice at 6:00 p.m. and afterwards, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Acton will entertain them with a hamburger supper.

Another luncheon will be held on Friday at 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bailey. The competition starts here as the four are judged on personality, appearance and an interview. The horsemanship will be judged at 3:00 p.m. in the

ASK AMY ABOUT LEAK

By Edwin Feulner

The hypocritical double standard of Washington's trendier journalists and politicians is certainly rearing its ugly little head with the current flap over Jimmy Carter's 1980 briefing book.

Assorted Reagan-haters from the Perrier set are having a field day feeding the fires of the unfolding saga of how President Reagan's campaign operatives obtained draft copies of briefing material prepared for former President Carter. Perhaps they should ask Amy. Anyone smart enough to advise a president on nuclear war probably keeps a pretty keen eye open to the goings-on in the White House.

Judging by those portions of the material printed in the press, it's hard to understand what the fuss is all about. The allegedly "strategic" material seems pretty bland. Even the recipients of the material described it at the time as "nothing spectacular." Shock! Horror! Reagan knew in advance that Jimmy Carter would denounce Republican proposals for tax cuts! Big deal. Anyone with half a brain could — and should — have expected as much.

Jimmy claims the material was a "serious loss" to his campaign. But even Tip O'Neill, the most partisan Democrat of them all, says baloney. "Briefing book or no briefing book, our candidate was extremely unpopular in the last election," he said.

So, if Carter was a turkey and bound to lose anyway, and the material varied little from a standard rafshooting of the Carter record, what's the big deal?

The press corps and Carter cronies are telling us it's the "ethics" of how the Reagan camp obtained the material. Although the details are still unknown it's clear that Carter insiders, for whatever reasons, presented it to the Reagan camp. "Theft!" the media cries. I call it a "leak".

There is a nutshell in the trendy set's double standard. No one is accusing the Reagan campaign of plotting to steal this material.

If this represents a "theft" from the White House deserving federal prosecution, WASHINGTON POST editor Ben Bradlee had better call his lawyers. Because this is a classic example of a White House "leak". You know what leaks are — the press is always complaining about the Reagan administration's attempt to plug them. "Leaks" seem to be the primary source of most stories on administration policy run in the POST, THE NEW YORK TIMES, and on the T.V. network news shows. Somebody within the White House loses a power struggle, or doesn't like a policy, so he calls up one of his journalist friends and spills the beans about what's going on. And, even if the information is classified, the press gladly runs the story in the interest of the "public's right to know."

THE NEW YORK TIMES won a Pulitzer Prize because of a leak — the Pentagon Papers. And, unlike the briefing book — a campaign document — the Pentagon Papers were highly classified files recounting years of national security policymaking. The press can't have it both ways. If printing the Pentagon Papers was ethical, then no one should expect campaign staffers to pass back a leaked briefing book unopened.

Of course, we might forgive some of the Democrats who are trying to make hay out of all this. Newly released figures show the economy is going to be booming like gangbusters by next fall. By the end of 1983, the G.N.P. will have grown by 5.5 percent, unemployment is expected to fall by another point, and inflation will have been cut to 4.6 percent. The opposition needs a scandal, to cover up its own sorry record and cloud the success of Reaganomics. Somehow, I fear they'll have to keep looking, though. This one is definitely third-rate.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Speculation that Texas' embattled Atty. Gen. Jim Mattox should resign increased last week as state prosecutors questioned a lawyer who has said Mattox threatened to put his firm out of the bond business.

Sources reported the Houston lawyer gave grand jurors a tape recording of telephone conversations containing the Mattox threats. Thomas McDade, a partner of the firm Fulbright and Jaworski, has alleged Mattox was angered when McDade refused to pull down a subpoena for Mattox's sister.

His sister was subpoenaed to testify about a $125,000 energy loan she and another brother obtained in 1982, which may have been diverted to the Mattox campaign.

On the heels of the alleged tape revelation, came reports that Mattox, who has been closely linked to one of his major campaign financiers, multimillionaire Clinton Manges, drives a luxury Cadillac which his sister purchased at a discount from a close friend of Manges.

Records show the car is registered under the sister's name and was bought at less than half of its book value. Mattox drives the car, and told police it was his when vandals broke into it in March.

Mattox Subpoenaed
 Mattox has denied wrongdoing in the loan, the alleged threat and the automobile transaction, but his many troubles have raised questions about his effectiveness, innocent or not.

He claims he is being hunted down by "the big oil companies" that he has angered, but his own temper has compounded his recent problems, particularly with the Capitol press.

Late last week, grand jurors subpoenaed Mattox and all records dealing with his airplane, phone calls and meetings since taking office seven months ago.

The records were delivered but sealed until a district judge could rule on the legality of the subpoena.

Mobil Boycott
 Latest development in the continuing Maddox saga occurred last week when the attorney general urged a crowd of labor union members to boycott Mobil Oil Co. products because the company has refused to settle a royalty suit with the state.

"There's something you can do to help," Maddox told approximately 600 union members attending the Texas AFL-CIO convention in Austin. "I tried to talk to these folks and bring them to the bargaining table and tell them to pay up... but they weren't willing to do that. I think you ought to think about boycotting Mobil Oil's products."

John Flint, a spokesman for Mobil's corporate headquarters, characterized the attorney general's request as an "outrageously improper form of retaliation."

Budget Deficit?
 While the attorney general worries about his courtroom problems, other lawmakers are worried that state government may be facing a budget deficit soon.

A deficit would bring a special session to raise taxes high enough to put state government into the black, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said last week.

But Hobby said it is still too soon to tell if the state will meet Comptroller Bob Bullock's estimates which has the state barely making ends meet for the next two years.

Hobby's comments came after officials learned sales tax revenues are dropping, perhaps as much as $114 million this fiscal year.

The budget board worried that Bullock's estimates could be off the mark by as much as $500 million, but the Comptroller stuck to his estimate last week. His office says they took into account factors which the Legislative Budget Board did not.

Post For Sale
 The news that the Hobby family was selling the Houston Post started political watchers looking for hidden political motives.

Since Hobby is the leading Texan backing John Glenn for president, some thought he might be getting ready to take the vice presidential slot, or a cabinet post, or make a run for the U.S. Senate.

Taking it in stride, Hobby noted that his daughter, a recent law school graduate, was getting married July 31, but quipped, "It is not true that we have to sell the Houston Post to pay for Laura's wedding."

Forfeited Land Sale
 The state will sell 120 tracts of land whose owners have defaulted on Veterans Land Board loans. The owners have until August 15 to vacate the property.

Land Commissioner Garry Mauro said his office notified 250 veterans of pending delinquency, and most have complied to bring the loans up to date.

Last week, Mauro indicated he may favor selling natural gas to farmers for irrigation purposes. The state might sell gas produced on state lands to regional farm co-ops, which in turn would sell to farmers.

Bullock Warns Congress
 Bullock was busy last week trying to persuade Congress not to decontrol natural gas, a move that would cost Texas $98 million on top of other budget woes.

Decontrol would lower natural gas prices by 2 cents to 11 cents, and lower the state income from the natural gas production tax. Although revenues would increase in '87 and '88, Bullock warned that the initial negative impact would come at a time when Texas' economy is hurt by the oil industry slump.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

August 1, 1983

Dear Kitty,

After reading the last two issues of the Stockman, I was compelled to write a letter indicating the basis for punishment meted out in the State of Texas vs. Paul Sanchez (child-rape case). Paul Sanchez is a 24-year old Hispanic who lives and works in Ozona. The charge that was leveled against him is that he had sexual intercourse with a female who was then and there younger than fourteen years of age (actually 13 1/2) and who was not his wife. For that, he received ten years in the Texas Department of Corrections probated for ten years. The alleged offense occurred as a result of the young girl's mother taking the girl over to Paul Sanchez's house and leaving her there, ostensibly to marry Paul Sanchez. She spent the night with Paul Sanchez with her mother's consent. Paul Sanchez has no criminal record, and after a lengthy attempt to arrive at some definitive punishment, a ten year probated sentence was the only thing that could be thought of. Paul Sanchez was charged with the offense when there appeared that there would be no marriage. This latter statement was a conclusion of mine, but I suggest it was a totally valid conclusion. The girl was taken out of this town and placed in the custody of her father in another state, and it was the consensus that she should not be brought back into the environment to testify. Besides that, when she left town, she said that she was still in love with Paul. I trust that this information will alleviate the fear that there is a rapist abroad in Crockett County. Crockett County law enforcement, from the prosecutorial level down through the Sheriff's Office and Department of Public Safety, is better than it ever has been. When we make decisions relative to an offense, those decisions are made only after careful and diligent analysis of the circumstances—all the circumstances. I then proceed with prosecution if it is so warranted and I will continue to utilize this technique because it is the only way a just and fair decision can be made!

I trust that this information will satisfy those readers who question the legitimacy of decisions made during the course of the administration of justice in Crockett County.

Sincerely,
 Bill Mason

A re-run of "The Ozona Story" as gleaned from the files of the "The Ozona Stockman"

Thursday, August 5, 1954

After winning their way to the finals by beating San Angelo and Brownwood in succession, Ozona's Pony League baseball team, coached by Byron Stuart, was disqualified from competition at the district tournament in Odessa last night because birth certificates of all players had not been submitted with the team's entry. No individual player was challenged and no Ozona player was overage, but it was a rule of the tournament which had not been made plain until the Ozona team had won its way to the finals and a chance to go to the state tournament at Pasadena, Texas.

The semi-final encounter last night, starting at 6:30 p.m. was against a team from Brownwood. The Ozona crew won by the top heavy score of 21-1 behind the pitching of Bobby Sutton. But after the game, the Brownwood manager brought up the question of eligibility on grounds that the birth certificate did not accompany the Ozona entry. The fact that several of the Ozona players were flood victims and birth certificates were lost would not sway the decision.

Thirty-seven Ozona beauties will parade before the judges in the bathing beauty contest to be a feature of the Ozona Lions Club Water Carnival set for August 14. The Water Carnival had originally been set for July 10 but the flood of June 28 upset plans and the show was postponed.

Plans have progressed to the point where assurance can be given that a new residential subdivision will be opened up to Ozonians who want to build new homes. Early Chandler, promoter of a new residential addition on the west side of Ozona announced this week.

 "On behalf of McCurry College and as a person interested in young people, I should like to commend publicity the fine young people from Ozona who attended the McCurry College Summer Band School last week and the week before," writes Raymond T. Bynum, McCurry College Band director and director of the summer school.

29 years ago
 A collection of household articles, clothing, toys, plumbing supplies, automobiles tires and parts etc., salvaged from the flood area by county and volunteer salvage workers following the recent Ozona flood, is still on hand at collection points and must be disposed of soon, county officials have announced.

Included in the collection are articles of furniture, refrigerators, deep freezers, heating stove, children's toys, sinks, bath tubs, kitchen stoves and hundreds of other items. Most of the articles are badly battered and many are worthless. However, County Judge Houston Smith and Sheriff V. O. Earnest have asked that all who wish to do so, look through the collection within the next week. After August 15, the collection is to be removed, either sold to individuals who might bid for it or to a junk dealer, any money to be realized from sale to go into the local flood relief fund.

 Byron Gray, who will succeed Corbett Smith as director of the Ozona High School band next year, has moved with his wife and daughter from Coleman to Ozona to make their home. Mr. Gray, who was band director at Coleman for six years, is a graduate of Oklahoma A&M College and received his master's degree in music from North Texas State College at Denton.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

These hot and dry days still in our area may not be the best invitation to planning and planting for this fall, but there is always hope rain will come our way soon.

The herbs that I have grown successfully are:

Annuals--Anise, grows tall for a background plant and bears a most attractive seed pod in a pleasing star shape, and tastes like licorice. The seeds are used in breads, cookies, candy, pancakes and cakes.

Dill--seeds germinate quickly, reseeded and is easy to grow. It has beautiful seed pods. Use leaves in tossed salad and seeds in pickles.

Basil--Is very fragrant and germinates easily. May be used as small border shrubs when leaves are pinched back. There are several varieties and all are used in cooking, salads, eggs, tomato and cottage dishes. It makes a beautiful plant.

Barage--Self-sows freely and is good for the top of rock gardens. Leaves are used for iced drinks, salads and pickles.

Savory--germinates easily and is used in seasoning meat, sausage, eggs, green beans and peas. You use the leaf and flower in salads and seeds in mustard pickles.

Peppers--are very colorful in the fall and may be used fresh or dried.

The following are perennials:

Lavender--is a very fragrant border plant. The small flowers are used in sachets.

Majoram is sweet and very fragrant. It is decorative for gardens and may be used as a garnish in salads etc.

Mint--in all varieties is fragrant and widely used for tea, jelly and sauces.

Sage--is a good border plant with purple flowers. Dry leaves and store. May use in poultry dressing and sausage, but use less than you would if purchased in a store.

Tarragon is grown for the leaves and like partial shade. It is used in vinegar, over chops and steaks and salads and sauces.

Thymus--fragrant and good for rock garden planting. Used in tossed salads, cooked with vegetables and in vinegar, sauces and egg dishes. Rosemary--both the upright and dwarf has a pungent pleasant odor and taste. Used in iced drinks, chopped in biscuits, over lamb, beef roasts and fried potatoes. Let sprig stay in chicken salad for an hour or so for flavor. Add a few leaves to Italian spaghetti. One of my favorite evergreen shrubs.

Garlic--has many uses for cooking and the dried seed pods are often used in dried arrangements.

Chives--with lavender blooms make a good border plant and are used for flavor in foods.

Biennials--the alliums in hybridized variety, produce spectacular large seed heads.

Fennel--has a bright green feathery foliage not unlike dill. It is used for garnish, iced salads, sauced and cakes.

Parsley--germinates slowly and must be kept moist. Used for garnish in salads, sauces and for flavor over buttered potatoes.

August planting days are: Above-ground crops: 12, 13, 14, 15, 19, 20.

Root crops: 2, 3, 6, 7, 24, 25, 29, 30.

The Power of Nature

Is the Power of GOD

Men are fascinated and sometimes appalled by manifestations of vast power beyond all human control.

Primitive man stared with frightened awe at angry storm clouds and fled in terror to his cave when the fury broke and the winds lashed the trees and lightning tore great holes in the landscape.

New powers have been discovered as man has dug deeper into the secrets of nature and all of them have been viewed with apprehension or plain fear.

Steam, electricity, explosive gases, diesel, radium and many others, each in turn with its marvels of achievement and its vast potentialities, have filled mankind with awe as he wondered what other secrets of power lay buried in the bosom of the universe.

Today it is the nuclear bomb which staggers man's imagination and makes him fear for the future of his world and his civilization.

But the power of nature is the power of God. Used rightly, it always proves a boon and blessing for mankind; but employed for evil purposes, its destructive powers are unlimited.

The secret of the right use of the powers of the universe is embodied in religion and expounded in the teachings of the Church.

Many inputs, supplies are tax exempt for AG producers

Although Texas farmers and ranchers do not have to pay sales taxes on certain inputs or supplies used in agricultural production, they often do so anyway because of some misunderstandings.

Agricultural producers do not need an "Exemption number," says Dr. Ashley Lovell. The only requirement is that they must file an exemption certificate with each firm or business from which purchases are made, notes Lovell, an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

He suggests that producers have several Texas Sales Tax Exemption Certificates on hand and to file a copy with new suppliers. Questions and requests for exemption certificates can be directed to the Comptroller's Office by calling 1-800-252-5555 toll free or by writing the Comptroller of Public Accounts, Sales Tax Division, 111 East 17th St., Austin, TX 78774.

Food production items were freed from state sales tax back in mid-1976, notes Lovell. A farmer or rancher is not automatically exempt from paying sales tax, but exemptions under current law include two categories: items specifically exempt regardless of use and those exempt when used exclusively on a farm or ranch.

Exempt items, regardless of use, include these: feed for farm and ranch animals, including work animals, fertilizer, seeds and annual plants, the products of which are used for human consumption or are sold in the regular course of business, animals which produce products which are ordinarily food, horses, mules and work animals, including sheep dogs.

Items used exclusively for farming or ranching are exempt when the purchaser files an exemption certificate with the vendor. A farm or ranch is defined as land used entirely or partially in the production of crops, livestock or other agricultural products. Home gardens and timber operations are not considered as farming or ranching units.

Exempted farm and ranch items include the following: chemicals used exclusively in agricultural fungicides, insecticides, herbicides and defoliants. Veterinarian products for farm and ranch animals and machinery and equipment used in food, grass and feed purposes or in building or maintaining roads and water facilities. Expendable supplies, including hand tools, hardware repair parts, irrigation system components, lubricants and repair parts for off-highway use, fencing and corral supplies, storage structures for petroleum and farm products and special purpose agricultural production facilities.

Farmers and ranchers are turning more and more to computers, and these devices and their servicing and software are exempt when used on farms and ranches to aid in the production of food and fiber, notes Lovell. This includes computer-operated feed mixing devices. However, computers used solely for farm record keeping purposes do not qualify for the exemption although computer programs are sales tax exempt irrespective of use.

General purpose buildings, including farm or ranch employee housing, barns, offices, garages, stores and portable buildings do not qualify for the agricultural exemption, explains the economist.

Airforce donates to Rehab Center

A check for $1,000 officially activating the 463rd Tactical Airlift Wing Memorial Fund was presented this morning to Shelly Smith, director of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center by Col. John D. Butterfield, commander, 463rd TAW.

Because no local fund existed to remember victims of air tragedies, the 463rd TAW established the memorial fund to honor local Military Airlift Command crewmembers killed or missing in the line of duty. The fund was established through the Big Country Chapter of the Airlift Association.

The check was the first money presented to the Rehab Center and was derived from a party held in the officers' club July 22.

Future functions will be sponsored by the local chapter of the Airlift Association to support the fund.

The Scientists Tell Me... Bull Beef Production Could Benefit Both Consumers And Producers

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Bull beef has been transformed by modern technology from a tough, little-desired, poorly-priced product into a tender, delicious meat that is competitive in both eating quality and price with other best quality beef, according to Dr. Gary C. Smith, a noted meats science researcher for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and head of the Animal Science Department at Texas A&M University.

Electrical stimulation (ES) of carcasses, with resultant tenderization, has enabled beef producers to seriously consider the known advantages of beef production from young bulls.

The beef industry needs to produce beef with less fat in order to meet the growing consumer demand for lean beef. Research has shown that young bulls produce carcasses containing more muscle and less fat than steers of the same weight.

In the past, however, young bull beef has been slightly less palatable and slightly more variable in palatability than beef from steers. Therefore, when such young bull carcasses are officially graded by USDA graders, the standards require the grade designation to include the word "bullock."

"It has been suggested that much of the variation in palatability of steaks from bullocks is the result of variation in tenderness," Smith says. "Electrical stimulation, developed and made practical at Texas A&M, is now widely used by beef slaughterers and it is well established that this treatment improves the palatability of beef steaks."

"Furthermore, sub-cutaneous fat thickness (the layer of fat between the skin and carcass surface) is related to beef tenderness through its action as an insulator to reduce the rate of chilling and muscle fiber cold shortening. Use of young bull carcasses for the block-beef trade might become more common if electrical stimulation could eliminate some of the variation in palatability and/or if some minimum sub-cutaneous fat thickness could assure that beef from young bulls would have 'acceptable' tenderness.

"Our study was conducted to investigate the effects of electrical stimulation, sub-cutaneous fat thickness, and carcass masculinity characteristics on the quality and palatability attributes of beef from young bulls.

"Ninety-five young bulls of various breeds produced at the Roman L. Hruska U.S. Meat Animal Research Center, Clay Center, Nebraska, were slaughtered at a commercial packing plant.

"Immediately upon entering the blast chill cooler (40 to 70 minutes post mortem), the right side of each carcass was electrically stimulated (ES) while the left sides were nonstimulated (NES). Each ES side received 15 impulses of 550 volts (AC), 2 to 2.5 amps for 1.8 second duration, with 1.8 seconds between impulses.

"About 24 hours after slaughter, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station personnel evaluated each carcass for a variety of factors, and then each side was processed and transported to the Texas A&M University Meat Laboratory at College Station, Texas.

"Extensive testing showed that ES improved USDA lean and overall maturity scores of young bull carcasses, increased the muscle fiber tenderness and overall tenderness of their steaks, decreased the variation in palatability of their steaks, and shifted steaks from such carcasses into higher ranges of palatability ratings.

"Furthermore, steaks from NES young bulls with greater than 0.25 inches fat thickness were more palatable than steaks from NES young bulls with less than 0.26 inches fat thickness.

"Electrical stimulation had a greater effect on the palatability of steaks from young bull carcasses that had less than 0.26 inches fat thickness and essentially eliminated differences in palatability of steaks from young bulls differing in fat thickness.

"In addition, steaks from NES 'very masculine' young bull carcasses were not as palatable as steaks from less 'masculine' young bull carcasses. ES improved the palatability of steaks from 'very masculine' carcasses and made them as palatable as steaks from less 'masculine' young bull carcasses.

"Finally, in NES young bulls, when fat thickness was held constant, there was no difference in overall tenderness among overall masculinity groups; therefore, it appears that sub-cutaneous fat thickness, not masculinity, is the more important of these two factors as a predictor of differences in palatability.

"Previous research by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and others has established the physical advantage that bulls have over either steers or heifers in the feedlot. On the average, bull beef animals in feed lots gain one pound of weight per 6.7 pounds of feed. Steers put on one pound gain per 8 pounds of feed and heifers gain one pound per 9 pounds of feed.

"One of the curious things about electrical stimulation is that it won't make tender meat even tenderer; it will only tenderize meat that left untreated would be rated somewhat tough and somewhat unpalatable.

"Since it does tenderize bull beef, the beef industry should change step to take advantage of the faster gaining, leaner meat produced from bulls. Changes need to take place all the way from the retail merchant back to the beef grader and beef processor, and to include the feedlot operator and the cow-calf producer," Smith concluded.

Senior All stars close season

Ozona's Senior League All-Stars were in Abilene last week for sectional play-offs. The local stars won their first game against Lubbock Southern 8-2. Steve Sanchez was the winning pitcher for Ozona.

In their second game against Abilene, they took a 4-2 loss with Harvey Fierro at the mound.

The stars again came out on the short end in their final game, losing to Borger, 18-10. The hits came at the wrong time for Ozona. They left bases loaded in two innings and men on second and third twice. Sanchez took the loss for Ozona.

The Senior League coaches and manager wish to thank everyone who was involved in the baseball program, especially the fans and park keepers. The All-Stars extend a special thanks to those who supplied transportation to and from the out of town games.

TSTA members submit comprehensive proposal for reform in Texas schools

The 95,000 member Texas State Teachers Association recently submitted a comprehensive proposal for educational reform in Texas public schools to the Select Committee on Public Education, chaired by H. Ross Perot of Dallas.

Dale Young, new TSTA president, said the reform proposals represent the views of the majority of the state's teachers on the direction educational improvements should take.

Included among the many recommendations for reform are calls for higher standards for students, teachers and administrators; better salaries for teachers; state mandated discipline policies; return of grade integrity and teacher authority; the revamping of teacher and administrator education programs; and strong educator evaluation systems.

"Ultimately, the success of any reforms will depend upon the classroom teachers' ability to implement them," Young said. "For this reason, it is critical that teachers' needs and views be solicited in every step of the process."

Young, an instructor in the College of Education at Texas Christian University, said the most pressing need for immediate reform is in the area of teachers' salaries.

"There is a clear and immediate need to raise all teachers' salaries by at least 24 percent over the next two years because the current shortage of qualified, certificated teachers in Texas constitutes a genuine emergency," he added.

The president said TSTA cautions the Select Committee and the public to be wary of merit pay schemes which are touted by many to be

"cure alls" to the many problems in education.

"While a case for some form of master teacher or merit pay certainly can be made, we must recognize that it will not solve the teacher shortage; it will not address the need to alter our manner of educating potential teachers; it will not speak to the need for reformed instructional environments; it will not alleviate the slipshod and irresponsible manner in which too many educators. "Various versions of merit pay plans have been tried by a few states and numerous school districts throughout the country for many years and all have failed," Young said.

TSTA has asked the Select Committee to "look hard" at the quality of teacher evaluation in most school districts before preparing any recommendations on matters such as merit pay.

The group calls for sweeping reforms in the process of preparing teachers to teach and administrators to manage the schools, state-mandated discipline policies, funding for high quality materials, including computer hardware and software, and funding formulas for determining class sizes and student-teacher ratios.

Another recommendation suggests tying student participation in extracurricular activities to academic achievement.

To offset the immediate teacher shortage, it recommends that the State of Texas fund at least 1,000 special-help scholarships for high-achieving students who could be recruited into the teaching profession. These scholarships, commencing in 1985, would continue through graduation, provided the student maintains a "B" grade average.

Young cautioned that the reforms would require time, money and public support for education.

MEALS ON WHEELS are being delivered daily to elderly Ozonans by a volunteer group here. The meals are prepared daily in the kitchen of the Catholic Parish Hall. Members of the group begin delivery of hot meals around 11:00 a.m. each day. Mela Flores takes her turn at being chief cook in this shot.

"Helping Hands" helping numerous sr citizens

By-Jana Harris

Drive, faith and determination have gotten the "Meals-on-Wheels" program rolling along in its third week of operation.

Helping Hands for the Elderly, the local non-profit organization was originated to provide senior citizens, 60 years and older as well as other needy persons, with a hot nutritional meal each day. It's a volunteer group in support of delivery and cooking the meals.

The idea for the program was prompted when the ministers of visitation addressed the need to be with the elderly.

Kathy Reavis, an organizer of the program, was inspired to begin the local service after knowing the benefits it brought to her parents in their local town.

"So far all the doors have been opened," Mrs. Reavis said, "and it's very beautiful to know that people care for one another so much."

The local service is funded through the Tri-County Nutrition Center in Junction.

This senior citizen center serves as a headquarters for the surrounding tri-county programs. They provided the fastest means for the Ozona volunteers to accomplish their objectives. It is not connected with welfare in any way, but donations are accepted.

Aside from adding quality to an elderly person's life through serving them a wholesome meal, it provides an outside contact for the citizens.

"They know somebody is coming by and we must make sure they're up and ok," Mrs. Reavis said.

Thus, the advantages are numerous, the volunteers feel good, the elderly feel good, "it fosters community love."

A nutritionist designs special menus for those such as diabetics which require a certain diet plan.

Currently over 45 people are served a hot meal each day. The food is prepared at the Catholic Parish Hall and delivered by some 25 volunteers.

Volunteers are always needed. If you are interested, in this rewarding service, call Juanita Delgado, 392-3904, between 8:00 and 12:00 or contact any member of the Helping Hands Board; Sam Martinez, Savannah Wright, Lupe Galvan, Nelson Lanham or Kathy Reavis.

"The looks of appreciation have been so worth any time spent," she said.

After his discharge from the Navy he attended the University of Texas and worked summers and part time for the DHT in Austin.

Upon graduating in 1974 with a degree in Civil Engineering, majoring in Transportation, he began work full time for the Crockett County Residency as an Engineering Assistant II for Supervising Resident Engineer W. F. "Bill" Dixon. In 1980 he became a Registered Professional Engineer and now has the job classification of Engineer II.

Steve has been assigned duties connected with the design of Belt Way 8 for District 12 in Houston. He also performs several construction related duties at the Crockett County Residency.

Mrs. Poage (Alice) and Steve have a nine year old daughter and three year old twin boys to keep them busy. They are members of the Lutheran Church. When Steve can find the time, the hobby he enjoys most is golfing.

District Engineer D. R. Watson of San Angelo made the presentation, congratulated Steve on his long and dedicated years with the Department and "hoped his continued service would be pleasant and productive."

Benefit garage sale to be held this weekend

A benefit garage sale will be held Saturday and Sunday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the old Chamber of Commerce building. All proceeds will go to Vivian Medina for financial assistance in her medical expenses for treatment of cancer.

Vivian is 35 years old and an employee of the Circle Bar since 1979. She also has a 13 year-old son.

The Chamber of Commerce building will be open between 6:30 p.m. and 9:00 on Friday evening if you have any items to donate for the sale. It is asked that the items be pre-priced or hung if necessary. Anything left over will be donated to the Salvation Army or other needy organizations.

An account has been opened at the Ozona National Bank and the Crockett County National Bank for her. Your donations are needed and appreciated. Some employees at the Circle Bar are donating a portion of their wages each week so she will have a steady income.

The people of Ozona have pulled together to help others in need. The Circle Bar staff would like to thank these for helping in this worthwhile benefit.

As most of you already know - July was our last month at Maxine's Flowers. Lea Allen assumed ownership Aug. 1st. Ozona is a great place to have a business because your customers are your friends and we would like to thank each and every one of you for standing by us, encouraging us and for making our time in the shop something special. We will miss seeing you all on a regular basis as customers. But we hope to see you even more regularly as friends. Again - Thank you for being there for us. God bless you all. Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

If you missed our Volunteer Recognition Dinner then you missed a good meal. Our local men of the V.F.W. really prepared a delicious meal. Thanks goes to Sonny Bailey, Floyd Hokit, John R. Hunnicutt Al Fields, Ed Shepperson and R. J. Wilkerson. Thanks also goes to Ladies Auxiliary members Doris Karr for assistance in serving and Dorothy Doll for helping with the mailing of some one hundred and eighty invitations. We also want to thank Gandys for donating ice cream and Shell Oil for donating ice.

Tuesday and Friday morning bingo winners included Moriana Perez with a gift of money from our fifth Friday sponsor, Perry Brothers, second place winner Billie Whatley with an Avon gift, Nila Turnell with a gift certificate from Baker Jewelers and Ola Mills with a certificate good for two dinners from El Chatos. Volunteers included Danette and Kellye Robinson, Dorothy Doll, Sammy Patino and Veronica Tabbett.

Tuesday afternoon our residents were once again treated to music by Sara Hight on the organ.

Wednesday morning ceramics were led by Ruth Hester, her granddaughter Janice Hester and Marie Pierson. Marie also spent that afternoon cleaning and painting detail work that our residents are unable to do.

Wednesday afternoon's sunshine hour refreshments were brought by Bernice Phillips and Madeline Stokes.

Thursday morning's beauty shop was manned by Madye Jo Humphreys, Arlene Clayton and Lola Rios.

Bible study on Thursday afternoon was once again brought by Rev. Dennis McKain, Marie Walker, Kasey Russell and Stephanie Derington. This was followed by Spanish Hour of Praise brought by Maria Vitela, Paulita Leal, Ofelia Enriquez, Juanita Rebelez and Maria Torres.

Friday afternoon our residents had their monthly Resident's Council Meeting. Activities, past and in the future, were both discussed. Fifth Sunday church services were brought by the Calvary Baptist Church. Brother Randy Foster brought the message. A puppet show was presented by Julie Kiser, Andel Wagoner, Susie King and Judy Searcy. Monday morning all residents were treated to a visit by Crockett County National Bank President Stan Lambert who, with the assistance of bank employee Leesa Speck, greeted all our residents and presented them with souvenir pens, mirrors and pencil holders. We appreciate this new business taking time to drop by.

Monday afternoon residents enjoyed a film furnished through our local high school library. This cute film was entitled "Puppy's Great Adventure."

Dominoe players on Saturday and Monday included Maude Pettit, Paul Cavin, Bertha Miller and Ola Mills.

It has been a busy week. Space does not permit the naming of all our volunteer which include individuals, church groups, organizations and businesses. It is noteworthy to mention our residents who do volunteer work within the center and also received a certificate of recognition. They were Maude Pettit, Frances Borrego, Ola Mills, Tornasa Ramos, Inez Biggs, Billie Whatley, Minnie Karr and former resident Leona Harris.

Fresh melons were served to all residents this weekend, thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Perez.

Remember that volunteers are our staff of life. Keep coming!

August set as Tex Rodeo - child support mos

August has been proclaimed Texas Child Support Enforcement Month in a resolution passed by the Legislature during the last legislative session. August will be devoted to emphasizing the payment of child support. In addition, non-custodial parents will be urged to spend time with their children.

Representative Rene O. Oliveira (Brownsville), sponsor of the resolution, noted that, "Child support enforcement has become a problem of such overwhelming magnitude that the issue had to be addressed and legislative solutions enacted to minimize the problem."

"Texas had to make a statement that our children are our number one priority and that parents have to take responsibility for supporting their children. That responsibility should not be placed on the shoulders of the taxpayers. We need to remember that child support payments are not an option, but are mandatory and ordered by a court of law. By designating August as Texas Child Support Enforcement Month, we are reminding negligent parents of their responsibilities," Oliveira said.

According to statistics from the Texas Department of Human Resources, 85% of the children eligible for AFDC benefits are not receiving financial assistance from the non-custodial parent. "Too many people do not realize the consequence of non-payment of child support," Oliveira noted. "So often the mother, who is usually awarded custody, raises the children without any input and assistance, financial or otherwise from the father. The children lose out on two fronts; they do not receive necessary financial support and they do not have a close personal relationship with their father. Kids need love and support. Please, pay your child support and spend time with your children," Oliveira urged.

In addition to the resolution, legislation sponsored by Oliveira and Senator Ray Farabee (Wichita Falls) and passed this session deals with the multitude of child support enforcement problems. One provision of this legislation, a constitutional amendment strengthening enforcement procedures, will have to be approved by voters in the November elections.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Bryan of Houston are visiting her mother, Mrs. Bailey Post children 12 and under. "The Country Boys" will pick the country and western dancing tunes each night from 10:00-1:00. Admission charge is $5.00 per couple and $3.00 stag.

The girls 12 and under will compete in barrel racing, pole bending and flag racing as those 13-19 will compete in these plus goat tying. The boys' events include pole bending, breakaway roping and flag racing for the youngsters 12 and under. 13-15 year olds will compete in steer roping, bull riding, calf tie down and hair pulling. The oldest division will have steer roping, ribbon roping, bull riding and calf tie down. No contestant may enter more than three events. Numbers should be picked up at the Chamber of Commerce office between 1:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. on Friday.

A boot scramble will be held each evening for children 10-15 years old. These contests don't require pre-entry and prizes will be awarded each night.

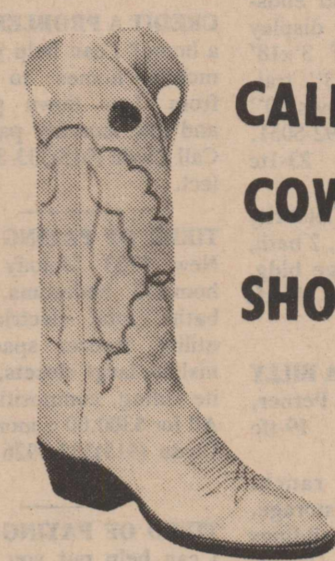

The concession stand will be operated by the Lions Club both nights.

"Octoberfest" slated for older Texans

Older Texans looking for a fun-filled fall "Getaway" that will stretch their dollars and their minds, need not look any further than Brownwood, Texas.

Each fall and spring the Texas Agricultural Extension Service sponsors camps for Texans over 55 at the State 4-H Center in Brownwood.

It's the best learning bargain around," says Judith Warren, family life education-aging specialist with the Extension Service. For $68.50, older Texans can enjoy three days and nights of fun-filled activities and learning experiences in natural surroundings, but with all the modern conveniences.

This fall, five Extension "Octoberfests" are scheduled for October 4-7, 11-14, 18-21, and November 1-4.

According to Warren, the Octoberfest will include feature presentations on nutrition needs and weight control, bird watching, quilting by the square and arm-chair travel.

Each Octoberfest session will also offer a variety of "how-to" learning experiences. Some of the offerings include fishing lures that work, leathercrafting, candle-wicking, cake decorating, painting and chair-caning. Unlimited recreation including cards and table games, tennis, canoeing, horseshoes and volleyball, and boat rides will be available to campers.

Social activities such as sing alongs, dances and even a talent show are also scheduled.

Since each Octoberfest session is limited to about 100 participants, Warren suggests that Older Texans contact their county Extension agent for details now.
