Ozona to host Hill County fire convention

By-Jana Harris
Over 400 persons will descend on Ozona as the local Volunteer Fire Department hosts the Hill Country Firemen's Association's fall convention on Saturday, October 1.

The convention is a semi-annual event held to conduct business meetings as well as being a fun day for firemen, friends, family and the general public. Representatives from Ballinger, Bangs, Big Lake, Brady, Brookesmith, Brownwood, Coleman, Early, Eden, Eldorado, Eola, Junction, Mason, Menard, Miles, Rowena, San Angelo, Santa Anna, Sonora, Sterling City, Wall and Winters will attend. It will be held at the Civic Center.

Registration at 8:00 a.m. will open the convention. Fees will be $5.00 for adults and $2.50 for children. It will be followed by a business meeting from 10:00 till noon. A luncheon for the Ladies Auxiliary will follow at the high school cafeteria.

The afternoon session will begin at 1:00 with a program on arson presented by Ron Hawthorne from the Fort Worth-Dallas area. He is the current president of A.T.A.C., a Texas Advisory Council on Arson.

Pumper races and water polo will follow the program just north of the swimming pool on First Street.

A barbeque will take place at the Civic Center after the convention. Races and a public dance, beginning around 8:00 o'clock at the Country Club, will conclude the day's activities. Dance tickets are available.

Donations are a must in order for the department to host the convention. The last one held here was in 1977 when 356 people attended. This year between 400-500 are expected, according to Fire Marshall, Steve Kenley, who is also President of Hill Country Firemen's Association. This means considerable business for local merchants. Donations can be given to any fireman or mailed to the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department, Box 269, Ozona. They greatly appreciate your support.

Local teachers get pay increase

Members of the Ozona Board of Trustees in the regular monthly meeting August 9, voted to increase the local supplement to teacher salaries. That supplement, formerly $2,500 a year, will increase to $3,250, effective with the beginning of the school year. Added to the $11,110 state base pay for a beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree and no experience, the supplement would make the teacher's salary $14,360.

Raises were also granted to auxiliary and support personnel. The overall salary increase to all personnel resulted in a 4% increase to the district's salary budget.

In other developments, Armando Villarreal of Blue Cross-Blue Shield, appeared before the Board to answer questions concerning rate increases for employee insurance. After reviewing proposals from other insurance companies, it was decided that the district would continue to offer the Blue Cross-Blue Shield plan to employees.

The Board also approved the preliminary 1983-1984 school budget as presented by Superintendent Garland Davis, as well as giving him authority to hire a part-time library aide for the Crockett County Adult Library, the cost to be paid for by the county.

Each year personnel who drive school buses must have a physical. To allay the cost of this physical, the Board approved payment of up to $35 toward the employee's annual expense in this area. It was also decided to approve a uniform reimbursement schedule for drivers who are needed for extra-curricular activity trips.

The bid of Joe Johnson to install heaters in Davidson Gym was accepted by the Board, as well as the bid by Gandy's Dairies of San An-gelon on dairy products for the 1983-84 school year. The Board members also authorized the purchase of media services from the Region XV Education Service Center, replacement of an air-conditioning unit at the Leath Apartments on a best-bid basis, and the purchase of a field mower for the maintenance department.

Superintendent Davis also presented members with information on school paving, completion of summer work projects, school lunch-breakfast programs, and personnel.

Ozona Lions out for football

Sixty-three Ozona High School boys started football practice with 2-a-days August 8. The two practices a day continued with pads August 15, and will drop to once a day when school starts Monday.

The squads, varsity and junior varsity, have been working out at 7:30 a.m. and at 6 p.m.

Thirteen returning lettermen will give a big boost to the varsity. The Texas Football magazine rates District 6AAA a toss-up between Ozona and Ballinger, while the Harris poll rates Ozona fourth in the district.

The junior varsity will scrimmage the Rochelle Varsity here Thursday evening at 5 o'clock.

The varsity will see its first action Friday, Aug. 19, when they scrimmage Fabens in Pecos at 5:30 p.m. Another scrimmage for the varsity will be here August 26, with Stanton.

Funds donated for heart monitor

The Crockett County Emergency Medical Services presented a check for $1942.50 to the Crockett County Hospital by Dub O'Bryant and Marilyn Armentrout.

The donation was made by several Oil and Gas companies operating in Crockett County for the purpose of purchasing a Life Pack 5 Heart Monitor.

Receiving the check on behalf of the hospital were Mrs. Dorothy Tuttle and recently appointed EMS Medical Director, Dr. Don L.

Carlisle. The monitor will be used in the ambulance by EMS personnel to record heart rates and EKG patterns. The machine contains a battery pack and can be used in almost any emergency cardiac situation to determine what the patient's heart is doing.

"The Life Pack 5 Heart Monitor is a great asset to our Emergency Medical Service," said Dr. Carlisle.

A sincere thanks goes to those who generously donated to the purchase of the Life Pack 5 Heart Monitor.

U.S. CONGRESSMAN Tom Loeffler made a stop at the Stockman office Thursday afternoon, prior to a town meeting here that night. Rep. Loeffler's tour of his district is mainly concerned with federal aid for the devastating drought presently crippling the livestock business in this area. He was amazed to pick up a last week's paper and see the picture of the flooded shopping center streets from a heavy in-town shower two weeks ago. He was assured by Jana Harris, the shower did little or nothing to alleviate the drought in these parts.

Stolen vehicle recovered

A stolen Houston car was recovered near here Monday night, when the driver lost control and rolled it some nine miles east of Ozona on I-10.

Roberto Gomez was arrested for DWI and possession of the stolen 1981 Chevrolet Citation automobile. Trooper Dale Taylor, DPS, was the investigating officer.

WHEN DISCRIMINATION IS FAIR

By Edwin Feulner

In another assault on common sense, couched in the language of sexual "equality," several members of Congress are now pushing legislation designed to bring the "sexists" in the insurance industry to heel.

The proposal, called the "Fair Insurance Practices Act" by its Senate sponsors, would prohibit insurers from using race, color, religion, national origin or sex in establishing insurance premiums. It is that last one—sex—that really seems to be on their minds, since it is the only one of these factors that is used today by the insurance industry to establish rates or benefits. And for good reason.

For example, young female drivers, as a group, pay lower premiums for auto insurance than young male drivers because they get into fewer accidents, and less serious ones, at that, than young male drivers.

Women, as a group, also live longer than men. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, the average American man can expect to live until the ripe age of 70—the average woman until she is 78. Many scientists say the Census estimates, which are projections through the year 2000, already are dated. In a paper presented at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, for example, University of Southern California gerontologist Eileen Crimmins projects a life expectancy of 74.3 years for men and 86.2 years for women—a difference of nearly 12 years.

What this means to the insurance industry is simple. Suppose a man and a woman at age 35 each buys a whole life insurance policy which at age 65 they convert into a retirement annuity. The man, using the Census Bureau's estimates, can expect to draw annuity checks for five years. The average woman will draw benefits for 13 years. There is an obvious inequity there. The insurers compensate for this by paying the man more each month than they pay the woman—so in the end they will both have received back more or less equal benefits for each dollar paid in premiums.

The proposed legislation would require insurance companies to charge women exactly the same rates they charge men for insurance and to treat both groups as equals in computing benefits.

This means young women drivers would be charged higher premiums for auto insurance than they are now paying, though young males are involved in many more accidents. It also means women would have to be charged higher premiums for annuities if they expect to receive the same monthly benefits as men. It's a deal most women can live without.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Investigative journalism's spotlight again shined on embattled Texas Atty. Gen. Jim Mattox last week, this time focusing on his beneficial intervention in a Galveston multi-millionaire's bankruptcy lawsuit.

Mattox stepped into the private lawsuit during his first month in office, and reversed a 12-year history of state litigation against Galveston financier Shearn Moody, Jr.

Ten days after his action, reports show Moody paid $20,000 in legal fees to Mattox's former law partner and current business associate Don Crowder.

Moody was accused of fraud in connection with the 1971 bankruptcy of his Alabama-based insurance firm, and in 1979 a Dallas federal jury returned a $5.3 million judgment against him. Moody was appealing the decision to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals when Mattox stepped in, filing a "friend of the court" brief arguing that certain legal decisions rendered in the Moody case would impair the decision-making power of Texas state agencies.

The Circuit Court affirmed the Dallas decision, but Mattox apparently is considering filing a similar brief on Moody's behalf before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Both Mattox and Crowder have acknowledged they discussed the Moody case by telephone, but denied any conflict of interest. Mattox also said he never benefited in any way from Moody's payment to Crowder.

Mattox also said he turned back a campaign contribution from Moody prior to his election because of possible conflict of interest.

The court incident is the latest of a series of Mattox miscues and eye-lifters. Last week a grand jury continued its investigation of alleged misdemeanor violations in Mattox campaign funds report.

Voter Registration
Vice President George Bush represented Republicans while Democrats Ted Kennedy and Charles Manatt sought to capitalize on Texas' growing Hispanic bloc.

The trio spoke to more than 200 Hispanic activists in San Antonio last week during the Southwest Voter Registration Project.

The project aims to add 1 million Hispanic votes to the rolls in 23 states, including 200,000 in Texas.

Bush criticized the Carter-Mondale contributions to a poor economy that he said offered no opportunity for minorities, and Democrats countered by pointing out the high unemployment rate along the Rio Grande Valley.

Drought Aid
Meanwhile, both Gov. Mark White and Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower continued to blast the Reagan Administration for failing to provide federal drought relief to a group of 27 West Texas counties. In the past half-year, the counties have received only a little over an inch of rain.

Both White and Hightower, Democrats, want U.S. Agriculture Sec. John Block to implement the federal Emergency Feed Program for livestock in the area.

White said stockpiles of corn in the Panhandle, left over from the 1980 grain embargo, could be used to provide relief.

Cattle, sheep and goat ranchers are already liquidating their herds.

Manges Lawsuit

The State, Exxon Corp. and south Texas multimillionaire Clinton Manges apparently are about to settle the controversial oil and gas royalties suit on Duval County land.

Land Commissioner Garry Mauro expects Exxon to pay the State some $4 million, but part of that sum, perhaps as much as a million, will go to Manges, owner of the land.

Mauro's attorneys are advising him to let the Attorney General decide Manges share. Both Mauro and Mattox received over $50,000 each in campaign contributions from Manges, and Mauro's handlers are advising him to avoid potential conflict of interest.

Property Purchased

Summer revelations by the Capitol press corps have caused state officials to think harder before entering into situations which might put profit into their hands or those of their friends.

Last week Gov. Mark White dropped his opposition to the state purchase of land across the street from the Governor's Mansion, even though his campaign treasurer was representing a group of developers bidding against the state.

The developers wanted to build a luxury hotel on the site, which had driven up the asking price of $2.5 million for the choice half-acre.

White's predecessor had agreed for the state to pay the price which White thought was too high, but the state Purchasing and General Services Commission voted Thursday to purchase the property.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Here it is well into the last month of summer, and one can hardly believe that fall is fast approaching. The daily chores and keeping shrubs, trees and plants watered have kept us so busy that the days have flown by before we are ready for fall and winter. The most welcome showers of the last few weeks have already greened up our area, but we are still hoping for a good soaker.

The dream books from seed houses and nurseries are arriving to help you choose bulbs, seed, roses, trees and shrubs. Look them over carefully and get your order or list in early.

If you plan a new flower bed for fall, spade the ground, and soak it thoroughly. Let it dry out so it will break into small particles. You may need to add some sand and peat moss or new dirt to make a good loam. Plant more seed than you would in the spring because of poorer germination at this season. Hardy annuals and perennials that may be planted this and next month are Gaillardia, California poppy, larkspur, snapdragon, pansies, bluebonnet to name a few.

One of the favorite summer flowers making a splash of color now is the perennial phlox. Also the Owen's wreath and climatis with a profusion of small white blossom and the silver lace vine produces clusters of small white flowers. Another favorite is our native Senisa which is especially colorful after our showers.

We hope everyone will help in every way possible to do our part in our city clean up project that seems to be starting by the county. It will take an effort on everyone to see that their property is groomed and cleaned. It will make our whole community more attractive to us, and the tourists who pass our way.

When one has finally acquired a home like this, in a neighborhood like this, one has no more problems. Right?

Wrong! Economic problems may be fewer. Personal and family problems often become more complex. Some mighty unhappy people live on Easy Street.

There's nothing wrong with wanting to get ahead. Initiative, ambition, perseverance are endowments God wants us to develop. But material goals must not crowd out spiritual aims. In trying to gain everything one can become nothing.

Your family is in need! In need of Faith. In need of Love. In need of Direction.
Needs that God supplies!

Local students at Sul Ross orientation

James Bean, Elda Fierro and Jene Wilton, Jr., graduates of Ozona High School, recently participated in freshman orientation at Sul Ross State University in preparation for the fall semester.

They were among more than 150 participants in the three-day event. Bean is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bean and Ms. Fierro is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maclovio Fierro, Jr. Wilton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jene Wilton, Sr.

The students and accompanying family members spent three days on the Sul Ross campus meeting university officials, visiting faculty and touring the campus. Students also took math and reading placement tests and worked on fall class schedules. Get acquainted activities for students included a barbecue on the mall, a swimming party and a social hour and dance. The orientation ended with registration.

Parents, including Mr. and Mrs. Fierro, were taken on a tour of the Davis Mountain area, the McDonald Observatory and the Fort Davis National Historical Site.

Wilton was presented a freshman leadership scholarship to Sul Ross for the 1983-84 fall and spring semesters. He will receive $200 per semester.

According to Don Robertson, director of the Center for Student Development and orientation director, "We find that the fewer surprises incoming students encounter at the first of their college careers, the more successful they are. These sessions are designed to eliminate some of the surprises."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity to thank our many Ozona friends for the wonderful outpouring of kindness and sympathy extended us on the death of our loved one. Your many condolences gave us much support during our great loss, and we deeply appreciate every expression of sympathy.

Sincerely,
The family of

Boy hurt in cycle accident

A 13-year-old Ozona boy was seriously injured Monday evening around 9 o'clock in a motorcycle-car crash at the intersection of Hwy 163 and Monterey Street.

Jim Ethridge, 13, was traveling north on the highway when a southbound station wagon driven by Elvira Martinez attempted a left hand turn off the highway onto Monterey and the two vehicles collided almost head-on. The crash sent the motorcycle hurtling about 60 feet from the crash site and the rider was thrown up and over the car, according to someone at the scene.

Young Ethridge was taken by Crockett County ambulance to Shannon Hospital suffering head injuries, broken limbs and other cuts and abrasions. A condition report was not available Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Martinez received no injuries, but was hospitalized for observation. Trooper Dale Taylor, DPS, was the investigating officer.

Oak decline killing Texas live oak trees

Oak decline, a fungus disease, is causing the slow deterioration of live oaks across Texas. The native tree, when under stress from environmental conditions such as drought, is quite susceptible to the disease.

"Oak decline is costing Texans several million dollars each year in lost real estate values, aesthetic losses and tree removal costs," states Jerral D. Johnson, plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, College Station.

Though oak decline can kill an infected live oak in one to six years, it is possible to control the disease in its early stages through a tree management program.

The key to oak decline control is early identification of the disease, to be followed by careful tree management and the injection of a fungicide, ARBOTECH, (thiabendazole) to fight the disease.

There are several signs to look for in checking your trees for oak decline, Johnson explains. A healthy live oak's branches will grow 8-10 inches a year while an infected tree may have only 3-4 inches or less. The leaf size is reduced in infected trees, and the leaves won't grow to normal size. The canopy of infected live oaks will be thin, allowing you to see light through the canopy.

Buckle seatbelts for longer life

From the Texas Medical Association

On virtually every list of tips on how to live longer is one reminder that everyone knows but few observe.

Buckle your seat belt. The Texas Medical Association notes that more than 37,000 drivers and passengers are killed in auto accidents each year in the U.S. An additional 2 million people receive disabling injuries, costing more than $35 billion annually.

TMA says studies show that using seat belts would reduce these fatalities and serious injuries by 35 to 60 percent. For this reason, the 22,000-member organization of physicians and medical students is one of the participants in the nationwide Make it Click campaign. TMA will make information available for doctors to give to patients, and will distribute posters to doctors and major Texas employers.

Current studies show that seat belts are being used only 10 to 33 percent of the time—despite massive advertising campaigns. TMA notes that legislation in several foreign countries to require people to buckle up has increased seat belt usage to 60 to 70 percent. This has resulted in a marked decrease in vehicle fatalities and serious injuries in Australia, Sweden, France, Great Britain, and Ontario, Canada.

The U.S. National Safety Council has prepared examples of mandatory seat belt legislation for states to consider. The council estimates that this legislation could save more than 12,000 lives annually.

Just as important as buckling up is the responsibility of adults to make sure that children of all ages are buckled up. Child safety seats should be used beginning with the infant's ride home from the hospital.

TMA says auto accidents are the number one killer andcrippler of children. More infants and small children are killed in accidents in Texas than in any other state.

Accidents in Texas have killed more than 380 child passengers under age 5 in the last five years—and injured thousands more. Up to 90 percent of the fatalities and the vast majority of the injuries could be prevented by using child safety seats.

more than 15% loss of canopy; remove and destroy all other diseased trees. Remove dead or weakened limbs from all diseased trees scheduled for treatment. Control ball moss with the proper chemical treatment. Fertilize the trees in early spring to promote maximum growth. Avoid additional stress on the trees by deep watering as necessary, especially during July, August, September and December. Diseased trees should be injected with ARBOTECH during the months of high nutrient uptake, usually between June and mid-October. ARBOTECH is injected through small holes drilled around the base of the tree. Injection is not complicated, but does require proper equipment, available at many hardware stores and professional nursery supply companies. Extension office news

By Rachel Hall

The Progressive Extension Homemaker Club met Thursday to elect officers and to plan programs for the year. Nancy Hale and Jean Conner were elected chairman and co-chairman, respectively. I gave a demonstration on making "Summer Sausage" and club members selected programs.

A special thanks goes to the following 4-Hers for helping with 4-H enrollments at Intermediate and Junior High Schools: Shane Cooper, Keith Fowler, Misty Fowler, Sharon McCrohan, Tanya Ramos, Summer Shacklette, Randi Thompson, and Trebie West.

The Family Living Committee members suggested family resource management as the main focus for home economics programs 1984-85. Programs will be planned in furniture refinishing, low cost do-it-yourself projects, medication awareness, fitness and nutrition, micro-waves, and family life.

Packing a good and safe sack lunch-high in food value-may call for more planning than at-home meals for the family.

It is important to plan sack lunches that will be eaten and enjoyed. Remember the recipients likes and dislikes. Then plan around the food groups--milk, meat, fruit and vegetable, and bread and cereal.

In the milk group consider cheeses, yogurt, and cottage cheese for spreads. Beef, pork, poultry, fish, egg, and peanut butter fillings are only a few selections from the meat group. Bread soginess can be prevented by spreading margarine, peanut butter or cream cheese on bread slices. Wrap tomato slices and lettuce separately. The standard carrot strips, celery sticks, and fruits can be changed by adding bell peppers, whole tomato, cauliflower, cucumber, or zucchini squash. It is a good idea to present only one new food at a time to young children.

In addition to fresh fruits, try containers of canned peaches, applesauce, etc. Dried fruits are also good treats. Try a variety of breads and crackers.

Finally include a nutritious cookie, cake slice, or an occasional piece of candy or stick of gum to packed lunches.

Skillet Balls

- 1/2 cup dry powdered milk
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup peanut butter
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1-2 cups cereal (quick-cooking oats, wheat or bran flakes, rice cereal)

Put the dry milk, the sugar, the peanut butter, the egg and the water in a skillet. Stir and cook over low heat until it thickens-about 3 minutes. Watch carefully. When smooth and thick, stir in the vanilla and the cereal. Remove from heat and let it cool. Take a teaspoonful of batter. Roll it between the palms of your hands to make a little ball. Set on waxed paper. If you want to make these extra-special (but with extra calories) roll them in coconut, cereal or chopped peanuts.

Myrtle Post Garden Club holds regular meeting

The Myrtle Post Garden Club held its regular meeting Aug. 15 in the Civic Center with Miss Leta Powell serving as hostess and Mrs. Hudson Mayes, co-hostess. Mrs. Mayes also made the arrangement for the meeting, a right-triangle design using wood, fresh plant material and marigolds.

Mrs. Lee Graves, president, called the meeting to order and asked for the roll call with members answering with a good watering habit. When asked for special reports Mrs. Philip Smith, the exhibit chairman reminded members to get their plants ready for the plant exhibit to be held in October, and passed out schedule sheets to study for ex-trants. The exhibit will not be judged but will give member the opportunity to show the plants they have grown this year. Arrangements designed and art flowers grown by members will also have a place in the exhibit.

Mrs. Grace Williams gave a report on a pilgrimage she and Mrs. Graves attended in the Bakersfield Vinyards.

Three area clubs took part in this pilgrimage.

Mrs. Graves presented the issue of donating to the World Gardening American Indian project. The club voted to do so. The club also agreed to give to the endowment fund and to the Wild Basin Wilderness.

Mrs. John Hignight called attention to the need for the plants in the Care Center to be repotted. Volunteers were appointed times to do this. Those not participating in this project volunteered to furnish the potting soil.

After the business meeting Mrs. Grace Williams brought a very interesting and helpful program on "More successful watering through practical application." The club enjoyed viewing slides of native orchids and plant life of Panama shown and orated by Mrs. Paul Shacklette.

After the programs the club held its plant auction. Other members present were Mrs. Myrtle Post, Mrs. Bob Crider, Mrs. Scottie Houston and Mrs. Jerry Hayes.

The Scientists Tell Me...

Our Wildlife in Texas Is A Great And Growing Resource

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Experts say that although the value of wildlife cannot be precisely calculated, by exploring the hunt lease system and rural land market in Texas, it is clear that wildlife is an enormously valuable natural resource.

In terms of its contributions to land values, wildlife and associated amenities are valued at over 4 billion ($4,000,000,000.) dollars and contributes over $50 per acre to the average value of deer range, according to Dr. C. Arden Pope, agricultural economist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A&M University System.

"Because required data related to other species is either not available or confounded with various problems, most of the estimates in our recent study were based on data relating primarily to white-tailed deer," Pope said.

"However, these estimates serve to illustrate the value of wildlife in general. If, based on survey data, it is assumed that the average value of the rights to access deer for all white-tailed deer lease ($393), the total value of white-tailed deer for hunting purposes alone, equals about $210,000,000."

Texas wildlife is regarded as being held in trust by the State for the use of the public, but access to this wildlife, for the most part, is controlled by private landowners. Because almost all of the land in Texas is privately owned, and because a market for buying and selling the rights to access wildlife on private land has developed, hunting leases have become an important source of income for many landowners.

There are basically only four ways to access wildlife in Texas. One way is to use public land. However, in Texas there is very little public land; much of it has poor hunting; and it is often over crowded.

The second way is to be invited onto private land by family, friends, or associates. A third way is to purchase a hunting or recreational lease directly from the landowner or to belong to a sportsman's club, a company, or some other organization that has purchased these rights.

And the fourth way, of course, is to obtain title to land you wish to hunt.

For many people, some form of the four types of leasing arrangement is the only alternative. The first and most common type of leasing arrangement is the annual or seasonal lease.

Under this arrangement the landowner provides a hunter or group of hunters the privilege of hunting on the land for a particular hunting season or for a full year.

Annual leases often allow the hunters to hunt multiple species within their respective seasons throughout the year. Seasonal leases generally allow hunting limited species during their hunting season.

The hunters and the landowners will agree on the services provided by the landowner, and harvest quotas for the hunter (within the established state and county game regulations). In addition, this arrangement may also include privileges to engage in other non-hunting activities such as wildlife and nature photography, camping, horseback riding, etc.

The third type of leasing arrangement is one where the landowner charges hunters directly for the animals bagged. Charges may differ by sex, size, antler development, or other such characteristics. Often there will be a base per-day or per-season charge for access to the property and an additional fee depending on the animals taken.

The fourth type of leasing arrangement, Pope says, is for the landowner to sell the rights to access his land for hunting or other recreational activities to an outfitter, a recreational activities or sportsman club, or some other such organization and allow them to manage access to the land for hunting or other outdoor recreation for a predetermined period of time and within an agreed upon set of conditions.

According to the survey reported by Pope, John Thomas and Clark Adams, only 75% of those holding hunting licenses actually hunted during the 1981-82 season. White-tailed deer was the most hunted game species (hunted by 75% of the hunters), followed by dove (54%) quail (43%); squirrel (36%); rabbit (35%); turkey (25%); duck (21%); javalina (13%); geese (10%); and mule deer (5%).

Antelope, pheasant, raccoon, and fox were also hunted by a relatively small number of hunters.

White-tailed deer, mule deer and turkey were most commonly accessed through hunting leases. About 40% of those surveyed that hunted these species, purchased a lease to do so.

This compared with 35, 24, 21, 19, and 15 percent for javalina, geese, duck, quail, and dove respectively. Those that hunted without a lease generally hunted on their own land, or had free access to private land by invitation from friends or relatives.

Less than 10% of those surveyed that hunted white-tailed deer, javalina, turkey, dove, or quail did so on public land. Waterfowl was most commonly hunted on public land; however, only 27% of the geese hunters and 19% of the duck hunters surveyed, hunted on public land.

The cost of the hunt leases ranged from one dollar to over $5,000, Pope says. The average cost of a white-tailed deer lease, as reported by those surveyed, was $393. The average cost of a mule deer lease was $902.

The average cost of leases to hunt duck and geese was $626 and $758, respectively. The cost-of-lease data for dove, quail, squirrel, rabbit, turkey and javalina was confounded by the fact that the leases commonly included the rights to hunt multiple species.

However, the costs of these leases were notably high. The average cost of leases that included the rights to hunt these species ranged from $293 for squirrels to $647 for quail.

In summary, Pope estimates that over $100,000,000. is spent annually on leases to access wildlife for hunting purposes. Estimates of the total annual value of wildlife in Texas range from 100 to over 380 million dollars.

This rivals the value of some more traditional agricultural commodities. For example, in 1981, the total cash receipts for sheep, lamb, mohair, and wool equaled 114 million dollars.

As already mentioned, in terms of its contribution to land values, wildlife and related amenities are valued at over 4 billion dollars and contribute over $50 per acre to the average value of deer range. In some areas of Texas, the contribution to land values from wildlife exceeds those from traditional livestock production.

In conclusion, Pope says that although it is impossible to precisely calculate the total value of wildlife in Texas, researching the hunt-lease system and the rural land market makes it clear that wildlife is an enormously valuable natural resource.

I.R.S. eyeing employee benefits for income tax purposes

American employers are spending more than ever before for employee benefits, ranging from pensions to coffee breaks. Total cost in 1981: over $540 billion.

Employee benefits now equal more than a third of the payroll costs of U.S. employers, according to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, and are growing faster than workers' earnings. Benefits rose 161 percent from 1971 to 1981; wages and salaries grew by 115 percent.

With this tremendous growth in benefit outlays, it is not surprising that politicians in Washington are seriously considering ways to tax benefits as if they were income. To support such suggestions, they claim the U.S. Treasury is losing millions of dollars due to tax loopholes which encourage executives "perks," such as membership in a country club, or "fringe benefits," which they suspect are not necessary or frivolous.

A recent article in the Washington Post, for example, noted that likely tax targets include free tuition for faculty members, free tickets for airline employees and special discounts for store employees.

But such benefits, according to the U.S. Chamber, which conducts an annual survey of employer benefits' costs, represent only a minor portion of total benefits. Furthermore, the great bulk of benefits are already taxed.

According to a table presented at a recent Congressional hearing, the Chamber found that 75 percent of all employee benefits are taxed now or at some future time when received. Twenty-three percent are exempt from taxes by Congressional statute.

Only 2 percent of the Chamber-surveyed benefits fall within the group familiarly known as "fringe benefits," or less than 1 percent of total payroll costs. The Chamber table lists the most widely known benefits, whether taxed and the share each represents of an average worker's weekly benefits package.

Not only are most benefits already taxed but those left untaxed would present an array of complex problems if attempts were ever made to tax them. For example: Which benefits do you tax? How do you value benefits for tax purpose? What happens if your employer opens a fancy gym but you do not use the facilities for reasons of your own?

If the gym's value is taxed on a pro rate basis to a worker who uses it, should you be taxed as well? If an airline gives a clerk a free airline ticket, what is the free ride worth—the added cost for the trip to the airline, which is zero for an empty seat or the retail price of the ticket? What about the executive riding on a corporate jet on a combination business and pleasure trip? For tax purposes how do you compute the value of his free ride compared with the airline clerk's trip?

And don't forget withholding? How do you withhold taxes when there is no money to withhold from?

For several years taxpayers have enjoyed a reprieve from possible taxation of benefits. But on Dec. 31, 1983, a moratorium expires and the Internal Revenue Service may start looking at benefits as possible sources of new tax revenues. Congress, meanwhile, has received a proposal from the Reagan Administration to tax hospital and medical insurance benefits above certain amounts.

The U.S. Chamber has recommendation—that Congress extend the moratorium against taxing benefits and undertake a comprehensive review of the many questions raised by these tax proposals.

CARD OF THANKS

Lighting and Charolett Judd wish to express their sincere appreciation to all the people who have been of help with the kids and with moral support during the last year while Charolett completed Nurse's training. Graduation is at 7 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 18, at the First Assembly of God Church, 1442 Edmond Blvd., San Angelo. Anyone wishing to attend is cordially invited. 25-11p

Stuttering needs early intervention

While parents should not be alarmed if their preschooler stutters, they should be concerned if that speech disfluency persists as the child gets ready to start school.

"Parents should be assured that 80 percent of all children between two and seven frequently stutter, but will outgrow it by adolescence," says Dr. Delores Stegelin, a family life education specialist with Texas A&M's Agricultural Extension Service.

In fact, many speech pathologists hesitate to intervene with young children because it might intensify a problem that will diminish with age, she notes.

But for children whose stuttering becomes more pronounced with age, early detection and treatment is best, says Stegelin. Recent research shows that when children do not outgrow their stuttering, the problem often becomes chronic by the time they enter school.

The demands of school activities and classroom recitation then tend to increase the child's stuttering and lead to feelings of failure or the inability to relate to others.

The symptoms of severe stuttering in a child such as the holding of one sound, repeating and prolonging syllables, and increased jaw or vocal tension and tremor of the lips while speaking require intervention, states the home economist.

Immediate treatment is also important if a child seems aware that he or she is having trouble speaking, asks for help or seems frustrated.

According to Stegelin, newer methods of intervention for stuttering actively involve the parents and include family counseling as well as speech therapy for the child.

Parents who are concerned about their child's stuttering may obtain information and assistance through their local school district (which may employ a speech pathologist) health department and the county Extension office, says the specialist.

Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

Tuesday was a busy day at Crockett Co. Care Center. Ozona was hostess to the Mid-West Chapter of Social and Rehabilitative Director's quarterly meeting. Guest speakers for the day were Carl Nichols, M.S.W., Social Service Program Coordinator from Wichita Falls, Dr. R. M. Owensby, and Dr. D. L. Carlisle. Thanks goes to Doris Karr and Marie Pierson, members of our Ladies Hospital and Care Center Auxiliary, for serving as hostesses.

Dorothy Doll, another auxiliary member, directed bingo Tuesday morning during my absence. Billie Whately won the El Chato dinner for two.

Another big event on Tuesday was the arrival in the afternoon of forty-two members of the Continental Singers. This group, based in Thousand Oaks, Ca., was singing their way back home after a tour in Scotland and England. Those who heard them at the Baptist Church on Tuesday night know what lovely voices they had. They did a fine job of singing to and visiting with our residents.

Wednesday morning residents Tomasa Ramos, Pearl Morris, Maude Pettit, Ola Mills, Inez Biggs, Moriama Perez and John Henderson all enjoyed ceramics directed by Marie Pierson.

Wednesday afternoon we had a fine visiting session on the sun porch during Sunshine Hour. Refreshments were served by Frances Curry and Madye Jo Humphreys.

Thursday morning our residents had a visit from Dana Hutnyak, County Agent from Big Lake, and three of her 4-H members, Latisha Anderson, Phillip Anderson and Wendi Skelton. These youngsters brought pillows they had made in their sewing classes.

Thursday morning's beauty shop was manned by Arlene Clayton, Lola Rios, and Madye Jo Humphreys. The afternoon's Bible study was given by Charles Huffman. He was assisted by Marie Walker and Ruby Olson. We want to say a special "welcome back" to Ruby. We enjoyed her piano playing.

Also on Thursday night our residents were treated to cookies and visitation by the Baptist Young Ladies: Debbie Arrott, Linda Hamar, Celia Stone and Pat Willmon.

Marie Vitela, Paulita Leal, Carmen Vargas and Juanita Rebelez were all here for Spanish Hour of Praise on Thursday, also. So, you see, we had lots of visitors for everyone. And that is how we like it!

Friday morning our second series of bingo games for the week produced Nina Mayfield as first place winner and a gift certificate from The Teacher Store.

Second place winner of Avon was Virginia Russell. Anna Bell Patrick popped the popcorn as usual.

Friday afternoon residents had yet another treat when Jessie White brought her granddaughter, K-Lynn White of San Angelo, to our Center and she gave a slide presentation on Australia and told about her experiences the year she lived there. Thanks for sharing such a unique experience, K-Lynn. It was a very enjoyable program!

Our Sunday volunteers for church neither showed nor sent a substitute. This is always a disappointment to our residents.

Monday morning dominoes were played by Paul Cavin, Maude Pettit, Ola Mills, and Bertha Miller. In the afternoon we had a "Down Memory Lane" session on the topic of cowboy boots. Information for this reading came, by the way, from "Texas Highways," a magazine recently sent to our Care Center by Sue Arledge in memory of my dad.

We are enjoying this week flowers from the Kirby-Huffman wedding. And, speaking of weddings, thanks also goes to Lisa Mitchell Wagoner for sharing her wedding bows for future use.

Bored with life? Do some volunteer work!

SPECIAL PATROLS COULD CURB ACCIDENTS OF STALLED CARS

Special courtesy patrols drawn from city police officers or licensed private firms may be needed to combat the growing number of accidents involving stalled or parked cars on interstate highways, say two transportation researchers.

Such patrols could carry gasoline to sell as well as flares or reflection gear to mark abandoned vehicles. Tow trucks could be called rapidly to remove stalled cars, explained Nancy Hatfield and Cherry Kugle of Austin, accident analysis specialists with the Texas Transportation Institute, an agency of the Texas A&M University System.

In 1980, the period studied by the researchers, expressway wrecks involving stalled cars killed 37 people and injured 451 others—about twice the rate for other interstate accidents.

Ozona Astros to host tourney

The Ozona Astros will host their first annual tournament August 21, beginning at 10 a.m.

Participating teams are the Astros, the Ozona Royals, Ozona Americans and the Sonora Bulldogs.

Trophies will be presented by Astro Manager John Castro. There will be trophies for first place, second place, best pitcher, best hitter and all around.

Tickets will be $2 at the gate with children admitted free.

Freshman injured in initiation

Several incoming freshmen at Ozona High School required medical treatment and at least one was hospitalized Monday after a day of hazing by upper classmen. Freshman initiation is traditional here, but apparently it got a little out of hand this year.

The injuries consisted of damage to the eye from chemical burns and to the ears from some kind of motor oil or additive. At least one Ozona physician expressed the opinion that in the future this rite should be supervised, and upperclassmen should be aware that blindness or loss of hearing could result from this kind of hazing.

Felipe Castro is manager and assistant coach.

There will be four games with the Astros playing the Ozona American Athletics, to start the tournament. Game two will pit the Royals against the Sonora Bulldogs, and the playoffs will be held in the afternoon.

The Astros line-up will see John Castro playing left field or catcher, Felipe Castro Jr., second base or catcher, Gene Castro, first base or catcher; Ismael Castro, RF; Lalo Garza, CF and second base; Dutz Enriquez, LF and SS; Mike Fay, 3B and SS; Kent Muse, SS and Catcher; Tiny Guerra, pitcher and right field, Shane Fenton 3B and LF; Ernie Martinez, C and P; Rojelio Longoria, 2B and 1B; Beto Ramos, RF and 1B.

Felipe Castro is manager and assistant coach.

Football boosters to organize

An Ozona Lion Football Booster Club will be organized Tuesday evening, Aug. 23, in the high school auditorium. All Lion fans are urged to be present.

In addition to the organizational meeting, a varsity football film will be shown.

Purpose of the organization is to form a group of Ozona sports fans to support the fighting spirit of Ozona high school athletes during the year.

MAKING FAMILY LIFE MORE FUN

Planning a party for a youngster need not be a big problem—nor cost a small fortune.

Often, all it takes for a successful festival for children is a little ingenuity and a good idea of what little ones like.

One mother has three times the need for creativity as most; she's the parent of triplets.

According to Denise Skrivaneck: "When you've got triplets, you've got three times everything."

Her three sons, Cody, Dustin and Russell, like to have everything alike. For their third birthday she created individual—but identical—birthday cakes for the boys out of Big Wheels Triplets. Big Wheels are individually wrapped portions of ice cream sandwiched between oatmeal cookies and dipped in a chocolate coating. They are available at many fine grocery stores, frozen in packages of three. The cakes also served as a theme for the party. Even if you're only giving a party for one birthday-child, you might like to try some of

Car. This game is like Pin the Tail on the Donkey.

• Big Wheel Hop 'N' Somersault. Put a tire next to a mattress and let the children hop into the center of the tire, then do a somersault on the mattress.

• Throw the Ball Through the Wheel. Hang a tire from a tree (or lean it against a wall) and have the children toss a tennis ball or bean bag into the tire.

Skrivaneck advises parents to plan on having more games than they think children could possibly do in one typical party—and then have several "extras" just in case.

Then you and your youngster—plus the guests—may be able to have triple the fun.

• Big Wheel Hunt. Cut large paper wheels out of black construction paper and hide them around the house. The child that finds the most wheels wins a small toy with wheels.
