After a telephone call from Tom Loeffler's San Angelo office Monday informing us three more counties have been designated a federal disaster area in West Texas, I took it upon myself to attempt to find out the "technical problems" connected with having Crockett County left out of the federal aid program.

I don't like federal aid and I think ranchers go into the business knowing there will be droughts, but if all the rest of them are going to be so aided, I certainly think Crockett County should get its fair share of assistance. Since it is smack in the middle of the drought area, it makes little sense that it has been ignored.

So I decided, after finding the USDA could only act on a request from the governor, to call the governor and find out what's happening. I called Governor White's office for a comment. Talk about passing the buck, I really got the shuffle. First the receptionist answered and after I went through my complete spiel, she transferred me to a governor's aide. After I repeated myself verbatim, he transferred me to the governor's press office. The young lady there told me they only handled press releases and gave me another number to call at the Department of Public Safety, where she said, all disaster aid was handled. I called that number and it was busy, so I wasted at least an hour and a half and found out absolutely nothing.

Congressman Loeffler's office spokesman said the congressman had been particularly concerned about Crockett County, and was waiting only for the request from the governor, before taking action.

I was unable to speak with the governor. I guess he was too busy trying to explain about the high electric bills to constituents who voted for him on the premise he was going to lower electric bills. I didn't fall for that campaign ploy, but apparently enough did to get him elected, and I am sure he has a lot of explaining to do, since electric bills are higher than ever and keep going up. However, I do want to know about the drought designation, and intend to pursue it to the bitter end. When we have a technical problem, it means something has gone wrong with our computerized system of typesetting. I want to know State Land Commissioner Jim Hightower's definition of a technical problem.

Face lift

This old Ozona building is in the process of being renovated to house a music store. It was built as a motor car sales house and later housed a garage and filling station. The new business, Magicland, is scheduled to open in September.

Ozona's oldest house restoration completed

By-Evart White

Emerald House, the oldest house in Crockett County, has been restored.

Emerald House is ready for viewing and for using. Members of the Crockett County Historical Commission met at the House Monday afternoon in a called meeting to discuss plans for making the restored pioneer-era residence available for use of the public, as a meeting place for clubs, programs and family gatherings.

A moderate fee for such use will be charged, it was decided, and the Ozona Chamber of Commerce was designated as agent for the purpose of arranging and collecting for use of the house. Beth Boyd, Chamber secretary, was present for the meeting and agreed to act for the Committee in the matter of public use of the house. Fees collected for use of the house will be used in its maintenance.

A formal opening and patriotic program was planned by the committee for Veterans Day, November 11. Plans include a possible barbecue, patriotic displays and perhaps speeches. If the holiday is preempted by other planned community events, the Committee agreed that the open house and program would be postponed until the following day.

Under the close scrutiny of Mrs. R. A. Harrell, Historical Commission chairman for Crockett County, the restoration of the historical residence moved from Emerald, an 1890's community east of Ozona, to Ozona when the latter was voted as county seat of the new county of Crockett, became a work of art. Set on a firm foundation, the house was strengthened and the interior finished as nearly representative of the original interior as possible, but, overall, presenting a very attractive picture. Rooms have been wallpapered, floors painted, unobtrusive light fixtures, a modern looking kitchen with stainless steel sink and polished counters, a soon to be added refrigerator, and closet space. There is, also, a modern half bathroom and the whole is centrally heated and air conditioned.

The restored house is the culmination of a dream held by Mrs. Harrell. She and her husband, Alvin, originally bought the old house, moved it to its present park site and she worked tirelessly in following through on the restoration work, contributing not only her time but additional substantial sums in seeing the project to completion. Her devotion and untiring community spirit drew unstinted praise from fellow members of her committee.

Crockett Co. Historical members are honored

At the Annual Texas State Historical Commission meeting held recently in Austin, eight members of the Crockett County Historical Commission were awarded certificates of appreciation for twenty years, or more, of volunteer service in preserving local history.

Those honored locally at a meeting held in Emerald House on Monday, August 29 were Mrs. Joe L. Clayton, Mrs. Ira Carson, Mr. Evart White, Mrs. Fred Hagelstein, Mrs. P. L. Childress, County Commissioner Jack Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Harrell. Other members of the commission include Mrs. W. D. Cooper, secretary-treasurer; W. D. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Graves, Mrs. Leonard Boyd, Mr. John Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Montgomery, Mrs. Charlie Black, Judge John R. Jones and Commissioners Stewart, Castro and DeHoyos. The Crockett County Historical Commission has researched and erected the following official markers in the county: The Crockett County Courthouse, the Crockett County Jail, the old Ozona National Bank building, the old Junior High School building, Howard's Well, the O.B. Trap Company, the County's First Oil Well in the Powell Field, the site of Emerald, the First Water Well in Crockett County, the Ozona Water System, the Oldest Ozona Hotel, the Comstock Stage Stand, the Old Government Road, Escondido Water Hole, Fort Lancaster, Ozona Newspapers, the Perner House, and the W. P. Hoover Family. Application is now being made for the recently restored Emerald House, Ozona's oldest dwelling which was moved from Emerald to town and finally to Fairgrounds Park, to also have an official Historical Marker.

It was through the efforts of the commission and the generosity of the Meadows family that Fort Lancaster was preserved and finally made into a state historic site.

There are a number of other sites in the county designated for future marking and with the almost daily passing of our pioneers it is essential that accurate records of our history be preserved now.

Crime of the week

The crime of the week involves the butchering of a calf on the John Childress ranch north of Ozona on Highway 163. The offense was committed some time during the early morning hours of Tuesday, Aug. 16.

The calf was shot about 30 yards out in the pasture and dragged to the road where it was loaded into a vehicle. Evidence at the scene ties this crime in with several similar crimes that have occurred along the same stretch of road during the past year.

All together, seven animals have been killed. Any-one traveling the highways around Ozona should be alert for any suspicious vehicle or persons. Any information that you can give about suspicious vehicles or persons in the area should be reported to Crime Stoppers at 392-5000.

If the information that you give leads to the arrest or indictment of those responsible you will be eligible for a $300 reward. You do not have to give your name to collect the reward. Help the sheriff's department, call crime stoppers at 392-5000.

Lions show well in scrimmage

By-Gary Davis

The Ozona Lions took to the air Friday, August 26 and defeated the Stanton Buffaloes in the final pre-season scrimmage of the year. The Lions completed 3 passes for touchdowns, while Stanton failed to cross the goal line all night long.

The first Ozona touchdown came early in the scrimmage when Junior Quarterback, David Delgado completed a 52 yard pass to receiver, Bob Reneau, who took the ball in for a score. The Lions came firing back on the very next play, as Delgado completed another pass to Senior receiver, Robert Flores, who scampered in for a touchdown. The Lions moved the ball well, but failed to score again until near the end of the contest. Senior running back, Diego Leal, completed a pass to Flores, who scored his second touchdown for the evening. The Ozona offense only suffered the loss of two fumbles and two interceptions the entire scrimmage.

The defensive teams stood strong, as they did not allow Stanton near the goal line all night. The Lion secondary intercepted 5 Buffalo passes. Senior Kent Hokit, led with two interceptions, while seniors Oscar Vargas, Marcelo Hernandez and Mark Valjejo each had one.

One slight injury occurred during the scrimmage when Bob Reneau received a cut on his chin. Athletic trainer, Theron Morrow, indicated that Reneau should be able to play this week.

The varsity coaches praised the efforts of David Delgado, Bob Reneau, and Robert Flores. The varsity coaches for the 1983-84 season are Don Abbott, Pete Maldonado, David McWilliams and Milby Sexton.

Ozona's junior varsity team was also successful in its scrimmage, which was also against Stanton. The J.V. won the contest two touchdowns to one.

The junior varsity had 229 total yards rushing which accounted for their two touchdowns. The offensive abilities of freshman receiver, Andy Trevino, and sophomore quarterback, Harvey Fierro were commended by the J.V. coaches: David Porter, Mitch Rasberry and Thomas Hanson. Other J.V. standouts were defensive ends, Ronnie Pratt and David Adams, both sophomores and freshman, Butch Gonzales.

County still not in drought area

U.S. Representative Tom Loeffler announced Monday during a speech in San Angelo, the USDA had informed him three more counties in West Texas had been designated a federal disaster area. Crockett County was not one of these. The newly designated counties are Schleicher, Reeves and Loving. This latest announcement brings to 23 the declared counties.

Loeffler also announced the designated counties would be eligible to receive economic injury disaster loans. This means that small businesses in the now declared 23 West Texas counties could be eligible for the loans. These loans are available to small businesses unable to obtain credit and working capital from private sources, by the Small Business Administration. The loans are at 8% and the maximum available is $500,000 per small business.

The SBA notification in-principle regarding the pending declaration was in response to an August 3, letter from Congressman Loeffler. Loeffler said "this is further good news for those who have suffered economic and personal hardship due to this terrible drought, however, I will continue to actively pursue all forms of federal relief which are available and will continue to work actively with counties still awaiting a disaster declaration," which, of course, means Crockett County.

A spokesman in the congressman's San Angelo office informed the Stockman the request must come from the governor before action can be taken in Washington. A telephone call to Governor Mark White's office, however, produced no results, and after some time explaining herself to several different persons in various offices, the Stockman staffer gave up.

One injury occurred during the junior varsity scrimmage when Lionel Munoz sustained a sprained ankle. The varsity team will open regular season play Friday when they travel to Junction. The JV and freshman teams will be in action Thursday in Sonora.

Ozonans to observe Labor Day

Ozona businesses will be closed for the most part, including all county offices, the banks, post office, and most places of business.

A survey by the Chamber of Commerce indicates the only places open will be Perry's, Foodway and Thorn-ton, convenience stores, restaurants and service stations.

In order that the Stockman staff may have the holiday off, contributors are asked to bring in news items before 5 p.m. Friday if at all possible, also, advertisers need to reserve space by Friday for Wednesday's paper.

NICARAGUAN DEFECTOR WARNS WEST

By Edwin Feulner

The recent statements of a high-level Sandinista counter intelligence officer, who defected to the U.S., paint a chilling picture of the growing Soviet military involvement in Central America.

In a recent interview, Miguel Bolanos Hunter said that direct Soviet involvement goes back to 1979 when he saw five Soviet generals meeting with Nicaraguan officials to make plans for an invasion of Honduras.

Bolanos, whose position in the state security apparatus allowed him to obtain sensitive intelligence information, said there are now about 200 Soviets and 5,000 Cubans working as advisors to Nicaragua's Marxist regime, as well as 2,000 Cuban military personnel working undercover as teachers. While the Cubans plan the operations and Nicaraguans carry them out, "the Soviets have the real power," he claims.

The state security forces use the same handguns — the Makarov — as those used by the KGB. They were "gifts" from the Soviets, Bolanos said. Also, he said, the whole structure and operation of the state security system is patterned after the KGB. Security officers use training handbooks from Cuba, translated into Spanish from Russian.

The Sandinista defector, who was debriefed by State Department and Heritage Foundation experts before going public, said the fighting in El Salvador is completely "managed and directed from Managua," the Nicaraguan capital. Moreover, he said, the Soviets have promised the Nicaraguan army two AK-47 machine guns for every one they send to the guerrillas in El Salvador.

The recent ousting of three American diplomats from Nicaragua was part of a plan called "Operation Spiderweb," Bolanos explained. The whole affair was concocted by Sandinista intelligence operatives, and was designed to make it appear that the diplomats were CIA agents plotting against the Sandinistas. None of which was true, he assured us.

Bolanos also confirmed the existence of two missile sites in Nicaragua. One, he said, is in the Managua airport and the other — still under construction — is about nine miles south of Managua.

Bolanos said, "Nicaragua has become the new Cuba" and has "become the base of operations for the spread of international communism in the Western Hemisphere."

Bolanos was trained in Cuba; his instructor would teach the Nicaraguans in the morning, Bolanos said, and a class of Angolans in the afternoon.

Far from the pluralistic democracy that the Sandinistas promised, Nicaragua has become a living hell. Bolanos said the Sandinistas are responsible for the torture and killing of uncounted people, including church leaders, businessmen and many others opposed to the regime.

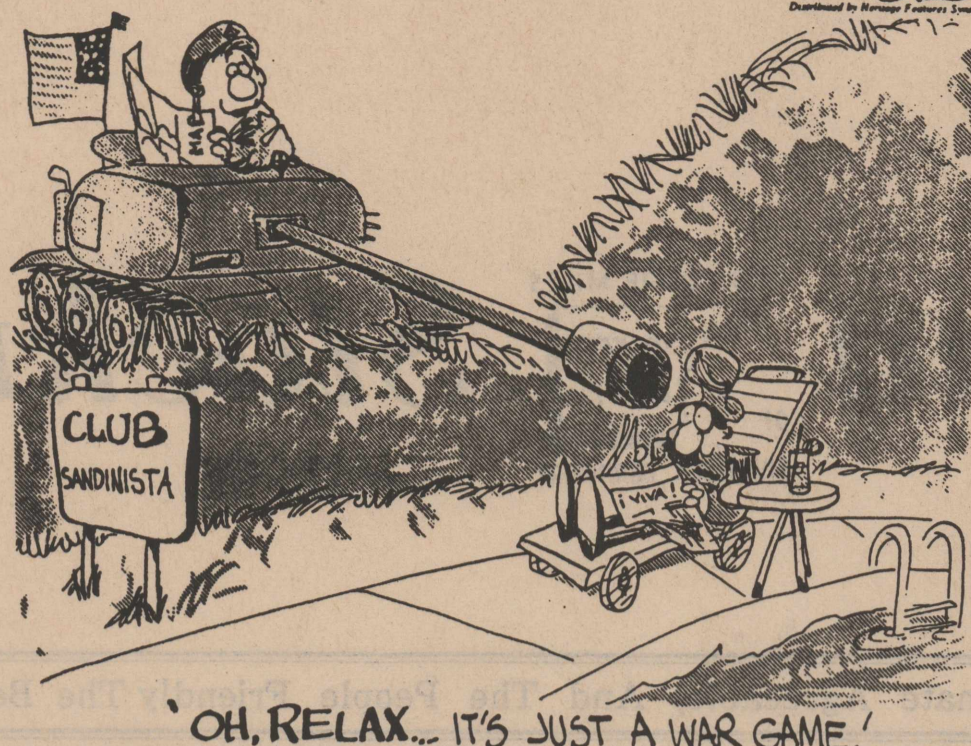

The former Sandinista guerrilla left Nicaragua in early May, after becoming convinced that the Sandinistas care nothing about creating a better life for Nicaragua's peasants.

Miguel Bolanos made it clear that the Sandinistas are up to no good in Central America. They are enemies of freedom, exporters of revolution, and murderers of the innocent.

Ronald Reagan has suffered much abuse at the hands of his congressional enemies when he has tried to point this out. Perhaps they will listen to one who has been there, and learned the hard way.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—U. S. Senator John Tower created room at the top last week by announcing he would not seek re-election . . . and the political ruckus he started is not expected to calm down for several weeks.

Politicians with some muscle are checking their chances of taking over as king of the hill. Less strong politicians seeking publicity have taken this opportunity to announce they are not candidates, a publicity gimmick in itself.

As for Tower, the old GOP master is not a bit worried. He held a press conference in the State Capitol last week to announce his decision not to run again, saying he had "peaked." The news immediately set Republicans to wonder what he would do with the $1.5 million he raised recently to use on his campaign. The answer is: under federal law he can not spend the money for personal gain (unlike state election laws).

Though he does have options. Party sources believe he is leaning on contacting contributors and asking if they would like their money returned. He could also distribute it among political action committees and/or individual candidates.

Tower still has given no specific answer to why he is stepping down. Some say he is bored, others say he is tired, and Democrats say he simply read the handwriting on the wall which told him re-election was impossible.

Whatever his reasons, Tower is now viewed by some in his own party as a "take the money and run" suspect. Never one to buckle under pressure, Tower will reply in his own sweet time.

Aftermath Muscled

In the aftermath, two congressmen announced their candidacies and three others are seriously weighing their odds. The two U.S. House members, Republican Ron Paul of Lake Jackson and Democrat Kent Hance of Lubbock, showed no hesitation announcing for the race the same day Tower abdicated.

Paul, a physician, lacks name identification among Texas voters, but is known among party brethren as a member of the GOP conservative faction.

Hance, a Boll Weevil, is also among his party's right wing and lacks wide name identification. Popular in the Panhandle and some parts of West Texas, his chances may depend on whether Republicans cross over or stick to their own primary . . . and whether former Gov. Dolph Briscoe enters the race. Neither Paul nor Hance has a statewide organization.

Briscoe, Briscoe

Briscoe, they say, could finance much of a statewide race out of his own pocket, and while he lacks a visible organization, the man has ties to every nook and cranny in the state. Some sources have said they can't figure out how, but Tower's departure smells like Briscoe tinkered around the scene. Interesting, if true.

For all his influence and ability to be kingmaker, Briscoe has some negatives:

Democratic Party faithful have not forgotten that his wife campaigned for Bill Clements, and his recent role in the brucellosis fray has some of his ranching constituency still mad at him. The brucellosis issue can be resolved.

Krueger, Doggett

Hance's entry into the arena is taken as a signal that Briscoe won't run, and that leaves former Ambassador to Mexico Bob Krueger considered the front-runner over liberal challenger State Sen. Lloyd Doggett of Austin.

Doggett has raised some money, though not as much as his handlers are saying, but he has installed a significant statewide organization.

Krueger's organization has been in place for some six years since his narrow loss to Tower in '78. Almost as important are the back-up organizations: Doggett is regarded as receiving quiet help from Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower's minions, while Krueger can draw on the formidable machine of Land Commissioner Garry Mauro. In fact, many observers in Austin believe that the outcome of the Krueger-Doggett matchup may also decide the winner of the "inevitable" Mauro-Hightower confrontation in a future election year.

Temple, Gramm

Two spoilers who might emerge in the coming weeks are Congressman Phil Gramm and Railroad Commissioner Buddy Temple.

Gramm, a Democrat-recently-turned-Republican, for some months has indicated he wanted Tower's job. Gramm is a proven fundraiser, and while he has no statewide group, he is well known across the state.

Temple, a wealthy East Texas figure, could draw from what is regarded now as Krueger's support in that part of the state. His family money could build up the moderate organization he enjoys in Texas.

Hurricane Damage

Last week Gov. Mark White announced reports of damage in six counties from Hurricane Alicia were estimated at $1.2 billion. More than a week later, almost 100,000 households were without electricity and 40,000 without telephone service.

Letters to the Editor

August 23, 1983

Dear Editor:

Many of us in the Legislature are aware of the excessive burden caused by ever-increasing local property taxes and are attempting to provide relief to residential homeowners through reform legislation. We have proposed a significant relief measure called "Proposition Zero."

Unlike other proposals to enhance education funding, Proposition Zero seeks to greatly reduce the school tax burden on homeowners and generate millions of additional dollars for Texas school children.

Specifically, our proposal will exempt personal automobiles and the first $100,000 of value of residences from school operation and maintenance taxes, and replace the revenue with a 1-cent state sales tax.

Recognizing the local tax base funding problem, other states, such as Missouri, Vermont and Nevada, have provided significant relief to their homeowners through the sales tax.

Proposition Zero will be introduced in the next Texas Legislative Session. We are currently refining the proposal and quantifying the effects that Proposition Zero will have on specific school districts to ensure equity to every district and its taxpayers.

We invite all citizens to write or call our legislative offices with their comments and inquiries on Proposition Zero.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Since in West Texas we usually have several summer months with very little rain, those trees and shrubs that require the least moisture should head your list of new plants.

Many gardeners long to try to grow the new and exotic plants described in the catalog, but after a few years and waste of dollars and care, they usually return to the planting of those that are known to thrive in our area. Now that homes are air-conditioned, trees are no longer necessary for shade for cooling as they once were. And for me, I prefer to be able to see the sky, stars etc. at night, the beautiful view from all directions and watch the approaching clouds and fronts which come our way.

For evergreen shade, the number one is the Live Oak. Some feel it is too slow growing, but if cared for and given plenty of water, they soon make a handsome tree. Even one grown from an acorn will surprise you how quickly they make a tree. The East Texas variety grows some faster, but to me they are not as handsome as our native ones. The multi-trunk live oak is being used in landscape quite often now.

Take cuttings of wax begonias, impatiens and coleus now to root for indoor winter color and for planting in the garden next spring.

Keep shrubs well watered, especially those with berries, such as nandina, pyracantha, and Chinese holly. The berries will drop if plants become dry.

If you will notice when driving around over our city the colorful lanterns are in bloom now. There are many ways to enjoy them in the landscape. Trailing lantern is a hardy ground cover, will gracefully cascade over ledges or spill from hanging baskets and with support will climb walls. Lantana transplants are readily available in garden centers, beginning in the spring. Provide a sunny site that is well drained and once established, they demand little water or attention. Allow plenty of room for them to spread. Dwarf types are ideal for pots, baskets, planters and window boxes. Use for summer color in shrub borders and flower beds. However, its best mixed with evergreens, then when the plant dies back in the winter, it won't be missed. Cut the plants back to the ground after the first frost. Place a layer of mulch over the root crown for cold protection. Each spring the plant will reappear.

In the days when we took energy for granted those high-tension lines were an eyesore. Now as they sweep across our hills and valleys they somehow seem less intrusive.

Let the energy crunch remind you that there is another Source of power upon which life depends. God's concern for humanity did not cool after our creation. Virtually all the world's religions stress the belief that He continues to provide for our needs—spiritual and physical.

There is then no shortage of The Power Above. Our churches and synagogues strive to bring us and our families into close and continuing contact with it. Religious worship and the study of spiritual truth are as essential to the character of humanity as power lines are to our industries.

Diabetic study results in mis-interpretation

A recent research study is being mis-interpreted to mean that diabetics no longer have to worry about their sugar intake, says Dr. Alice Hunt, a foods and nutrition specialist with Texas A&M University's Agricultural Extension Service.

both simple carbohydrates like sugar, and complex carbohydrates like starch. The results of the study indicated that diabetics did not differ from non-diabetics in their blood sugar levels after consuming meals which included sugar. "That doesn't mean diabetics should start consuming sugar at will, however," states Hunt. "It's still important to divide both complex and simple carbohydrates into at least three meals a day to be consumed with other foods," warns the specialist. Simple carbohydrates such as soda or candy consumed by themselves as a snack, will dangerously increase the diabetic's blood sugar level, she adds. Insulin-requiring diabetics should consult with their physicians before making changes in their diets, and all other diabetics should be wary of any radical changes, cautions Hunt.

Students need help with rules of walking

Each year many Texas students suffer serious injuries in accidents involving walking to eating establishments during school lunch periods. Garland Davis, Ozona Superintendent of Schools, would like to remind all parents, particularly those who have students in Ozona Junior High School and Ozona High School, to please discuss proper pedestrian safety and courtesy rules with their children.

The situation is particularly hazardous for those students in Ozona Junior High who elect to leave their campus for lunch and, during a peak traffic period, cross a dangerous major highway.

Mr. Davis said, "We need the support of all safety conscious parents to remind our students to walk off the roadways, cross only at intersections, and to respect the traffic."

Texas crime rate down

The Texas crime rate for the first half of 1983 declined three per cent compared to the same period last year, according to statistics released by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"Figures compiled by the Department's Uniform Crime Reporting Bureau showed a rate of 2,989.7 major crimes reported for each hundred thousand of population for the first half of this year," said Colonel Jim Adams, DPS director. "The rate for the comparable 1982 period was 3,083.1."

"Although the specific reasons behind this decrease would be difficult to determine, I'd like to think that widespread citizen participation in police crime prevention programs continues to be a factor," Adams said. "We hope this decrease in the crime rate will carry through the rest of the year."

A total of 456,840 major criminal offenses were reported by Texas law enforcement agencies from January through June of this year, reflecting a slight increase of 0.4 per cent in the actual number of crimes.

"Every major crime category except theft registered a decrease in the first half of 1983," Adams pointed out.

The number of murders decreased by 7.9 per cent, while rape declined by 7.1 per cent. Robberies and aggravated assaults were down by 5.7 per cent and 5.2 per cent respectively.

Motor vehicle thefts dropped 8 per cent. Burglaries decreased by 5.2 per cent. The number of thefts increased by 6.4 per cent.

"DWI arrests were up almost 42 percent in the first half of this year compared to the same 1982 period," Adams said. "This indicates that Texas police agencies are keeping the pressure on the potential DWI offenders and removing increasing numbers of these violators from the roads."

Statewide arrests for criminal offenses totaled 458,926 in the first six months of 1983, posting a 4.1 per cent increase over the 1982 period.

Three Texas law enforcement officers were killed in the line of duty by criminal action during the period.

Shoppers are paying more and getting less

If you think you're paying more but getting less when shopping for clothes lately, you fit the current profile of the American shopper, says Nancy Brown, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Recent surveys give interesting results about opinions of shoppers, some of which are:

More than half of the men and women surveyed believed the quality of apparel in stores today is inferior to that of five years ago.

Only 10 percent thought that prices for clothes were increasing less than prices of non-apparel items, and 44 percent thought they were increasing more.

Sixty percent preferred to shop in self-service stores rather than in stores where a salesperson assists them.

Almost 75 percent believed American-made apparel is a better value than imported apparel.

Opinions don't always agree with facts and figures, however, Brown points out. The actual dollars may have gone up, but since 1960 the percentage of our incomes spend on clothes has actually gone down.

"This means prices for clothes have increased at a lower rate than for other items, and comparatively speaking, clothes cost less," she explains.

But even at "lower" prices, it's hard in these times to get enough dollars to cover all the expenses, she says.

"Perhaps it is an attempt to increase the buying power of the clothing dollar which has brought about the move to self-service shopping. But this requires a better-informed consumer, because when there is no salesperson to help, you have to make the decisions alone," Brown says.

She suggests that if you want to get the most for your clothing dollar, you should always read the labels on the clothes you are considering.

"The Care Labeling Law provides for a permanently-affixed label on all apparel which gives appropriate care instructions. In addition, other valuable information is available on labels, such as fiber content, fabric finishes, and the country in which the garment was made."

"These will give you some facts to consider before making your purchase," says the specialist.

But even the careful and well-informed shopper occasionally makes a disappointing buy, she explains.

"So, if a fabric or garment does not perform acceptably, take it back to the retail store immediately," she advises. "Explain the problem to the salesclerk or consumer complaint clerk. If you do not get satisfactory results, see the manager."

Bears win trophy

The Ozona Bears brought home the third place trophy from the Sonora Colt's Tournament held over the weekend.

The Bears lost the first game by a score of 4 to 3, but came back and won the third place trophy by beating the Ozona Astros by a score of 10 to 4, as Skeeter Ramirez playing only his first year of semi-pro baseball, put the Bears ahead getting 2 RBI's as the bases were loaded and put the Bears ahead 6 to 4. The Bears scored 4 more runs as Tweety Mendez also had 2 RBI's to ensure the Bears the victory.

This is the first year for the Bears and they have won two second place trophies and one third place, the team is managed by Jesse Fierro and coached by Edward Ybarra.

Lion Booster club organized

The newly organized Ozona Lion Booster Club met for the first time Tuesday evening in the High School Auditorium.

The following were elected to lead and direct the various activities for the 1983-84 school year. John Parks is president, Mrs. Reid Holmesley, vice-president; Mrs. Ted Dews, secretary-treasurer; and directors will be Bobby Aycock, Jerry Lay, Matt Gutierrez, Jack Bailey, Robert Flores, and Coach Don Abbott during football season.

The theme for this year's Lion backers is "Gold and Growing" and various ways were discussed to get the public to show their support by wearing something gold to all the upcoming games. Gold was decided as the color to wear as it is easily seen.

The club will meet every Tuesday night at the high school auditorium to view the previous Friday night's game film and hold business meetings.

Anyone interested in backing the Ozona Lions in all athletic events should come to these meetings and show their support.

Temple Baptist vacations

The members of Temple Baptist Church of Ozona enjoyed a family vacation trip to Six Flags Over Texas Friday, August 26. The trip was planned as a "Beginning-of-the-Year Trip" for the students and families participating in the Christian Education ministry of the church.

The Pastor, Rev. Larry Bennett, operates this ministry of the church under the principle and philosophy that the education process is best accomplished through a program of exciting, rewarding, and challenging activity—the kind of activity that fosters and promotes a healthy home environment.

The trip to Six Flags represented another step toward the goal of returning to total family involvement in the area of education. Activities such as this one are designed to unify the family structure in a complex society that normally tends to pull the family members in different directions.

CARD OF THANKS
I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation for the many cards, letters, visits and telephone calls I received while in the hospital. I have managed to get notes off to those who sent flowers and gifts, but it would be impossible to send notes to all who expressed concern. I am deeply grateful to all, and expect to soon be up and at 'em again.

Chairmen appointed for rehab roundup

Area chairmen have been appointed for the Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children, according to Jim Alexander, general chairman. Vernon Jones has been appointed for Ozona. The Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children benefits the West Texas Rehabilitation Center with campuses in Abilene and San Angelo, stated Shelley V. Smith WTRC president/executive director.

"Livestock donated by ranchmen are collected at a designated point in each community and transported free to the auction site," Alexander explained. "The area chairman's role is to make a personal pledge, then ask friends and neighbors to join them in the annual CRCC drive."

Sales of livestock are converted to dollars and the amount provides care for about 11,000 handicapped persons throughout the Southwest at Rehab campus.

Cowboy cheerleaders to appear

The Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders will appear at Sunset Mall on Monday, September 5th (Labor Day), to kick-off the Sunset Mall/KBIL Radio "Going In Style With the Dallas Cowboys" ticket promotion for the upcoming home game season at Texas Stadium in Irving.

The cheerleaders--Kim Bateman, DeeDee Murphy, Michele Perpetua and Beth Elias--will be at center court from 11:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. to sign autographs and visit with mall shoppers. They will also pose for individual photographs with shoppers, and will answer questions about the squad and the Dallas Cowboys.

During the week, Sunset Mall will man a "Cowboy Booth" where shoppers who present a proof of purchase from any mall store will receive a Dallas Cowboys or Cowboys Cheerleader souvenir to have autographed by Kim, DeeDee, Michele or Beth.

The ticket giveaway, which begins with the first home game (Dallas vs. New York Giants), works as follows: shoppers register in any mall store, and the winners for each game receive two reserved seats at Texas Stadium. Since the Stadium is quite a distance away, the winner and a person of his choice will be flown from San Angelo to Dallas/Fort Worth Airport, where a limousine will pick them up for the ride to Texas Stadium and back to the airport. If the game is a late one, the winner will receive first-class accommodations at the airport hotel and return to San Angelo the next day.

Order in which children are born plays major role

The order in which children are born within a family can play a major role in their psychological development, a Baylor College of Medicine psychiatrist says.

However, parental attitudes also affect the child's psychological development, said Aida McKellar, M.D., who has experience in counseling families with problems.

McKellar summarizes the different characteristics of first, middle and last-born children like this:

First-born children get the most attention and pressure from parents. They are generally competitors and set high goals for themselves.

Middle children face possible sibling rivalry or jealousy. They often have to search for their own identity that is often lost because they are in the middle.

The last-born, or "babies" of the family have the least amount of parental pressure and expectations. They tend to be more extroverted and relaxed.

"Today's society views the first-born as the most important child," McKellar said.

Parents expect this child to take the responsibility of carrying on such things as the family business. He is also the child that they "practice" with while learning to be parents. Some studies have indicated that first-born children may be more likely to develop high blood pressure in later life.

The arrival of the second child is the beginning of sibling rivalry.

McKellar said parents should anticipate a certain amount of rivalry, but avoid being the cause of it.

"By showing favoritism to the new child, parents may cause the eldest to mistreat this child," she said.

Last children, known as the "babies," usually have the easiest role. The parents are experienced in child rearing by this point and easily adapt to childhood problems.

A parent's attitude toward such things as the child's gender can also affect psychological development.

"There is usually not a gender preference in first-born children because of the parent's excitement over the birth itself," McKellar said.

However, the gender of later children does affect the parents and siblings' treatment of that child.

"If a third child arrives and the parents say, 'Another girl!,' the siblings may perceive that the new child is unwanted and treat her as an outcast," McKellar said.

Each child has a different role in the family and it is that role, along with the role of the parents, that make them into a family.

"Although each child is psychologically different, birth order is not a reason for any of the children to have psychological problems," McKellar said.

McKellar advises couples planning to have children to prepare for them just as much as they did for their marriage.

"If we are going to have children with quality lives, we must prepare to be responsible parents and partners in child care," said McKellar.

Parental awareness and understanding is the key to encouraging healthy interaction between siblings and assisting in their psychological development.

The Crockett County Appraisal District has hired the firm of Pritchard and Abbott to re-appraise each house in Ozona. An appraiser will be working in Ozona for the next few months.

If you have any questions concerning this matter or the appraiser who is working your part of town, please call the Crockett County Tax Collector's office, 392-2674.

VICA officers elected

The Ozona High School VICA members recently elected officers at a meeting in the shop building. See story for results.

Chamber is pledge center

The Ozona Chamber of Commerce will be the site for the 1983 Jerry Lewis Telethon pledge center; the telephone pledge number to call during the telethon is 392-3066. Coordinating this year's pledge center is Connie Nelson, MDA's Community Chairperson.

Over 100 stars will shine on the 1983 Telethon titled "Jerry Lewis' Extra Special," the Labor Day Telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. The main advertising slogan for the special show is the use of the term "THE" Telethon. Top entertainers representing every aspect of show business--from comedian David Brenner to jazz vocalist Sarah Vaughan--have already signed up for the 2 1/2-hour show.

Sinclair completes training

Kelly H. Sinclair, son of Clitis H. and Patsy S. Sinclair of Ozona has completed training in fundamental military skills at the Army ROTC basic camp at Fort Knox, Ky.

The basic camp is designed to give junior college graduates and college sophomores who have not taken ROTC courses the chance to enter the program. The camp also qualifies high school graduates for the ROTC program at any of the nation's six military junior colleges.

During the encampment, cadets received training in basic rifle marksmanship, military drill and ceremonies, communications and individual and small unit tactics.

Sinclair plans to enter the ROTC program at New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell.

He is a 1983 graduate of Ozona High School

Genealogical society meets

The San Angelo Genealogical and Historical Society will meet Tuesday, Sept. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the Western Hills Church of Christ, 1902 N. Childress.

Mrs. Doris Jean Morrow will speak on the topic, "Genetics". The public is invited.

School enrollment inches upward here

Student enrollment in Ozona schools continues to move upward, and reports issued by school authorities indicate that a total of 1,035 students are now attending classes. This is an improvement of 26 students from last Monday's opening enrollment of 1,009, and, with more students expected this week, it is beginning to look as if student enrollment during the 1983-84 school term will not decline as much as was first projected.

First day enrollment in Ozona Primary School was 241 students, and the current number now stands at 246. The school has 79 kindergarten, 87 first grade students, and 80 second grade students, for a total of 246.

Ozona Intermediate School has enrolled five students this past week, and their student count has increased from 274 to 279. There are 110 third graders, 83 fourth graders, and 86 fifth graders.

Ozona Junior High School has increased by eleven students, and enrollment currently stands at 259. Of the number, 84 are in the sixth grade, 88 are in the seventh grade, and 87 are in the eighth grade.

Five more students have enrolled in Ozona High School, and the student population has moved from an opening day count of 246 to 251. There are now 70 freshmen, 60 sophomores, 61 juniors and 60 seniors.

Couch named commander

Cadet 1/Lt. Michael J. Couch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Couch of 604 Circle Dr., has been named a troop commander for the 1983-84 school year at New Mexico Military Institute.

The corps of cadets at NMMI is organized as a cavalry regiment consisting of four squadrons, each containing three troops. A headquarters troop makes a total of 13, each containing about 75 cadets.

Couch is a first classman at NMMI and will graduate from the junior college division in May 1984.

V.A. ups interest rate

The Veterans Administration increased the basic loan-guarantee rate for single-family homes and condominiums by a full percentage point August 1 to 13.5 percent, said R. L. Cobb, VA Loan Guaranty Officer for Houston.

It was the third rate hike in two months and returned the basic rate to the level set last September 24.

At the same time, the VA maximum interest rate for Graduated Payment Mortgage loans was increased to 13.75 percent.

Other current VA loan-guarantee rates: 14.5 percent for purchase of manufactured home units; 14 percent to buy both a mobile home and a lot, and 14 percent for loans to purchase a lot and the cost of necessary site preparations.

For a veteran buying a home with a 30-year, average GI loan of $55,000, the rate increase of one percent will raise the monthly payments by $43 over the previous 12.5 percent rate.

The change, however, doesn't affect existing GI loans, whose interest rate remains the same for the life of the agreement.

VA guarantees loans made by private lenders to eligible veterans, widowed spouses of veterans who died as a result of service-connected disabilities or spouses of service personnel officially listed as missing in action or prisoners of war for more than 90 days.

The basic home-loan guarantee--now set at 13.5 percent--is for a maximum of $27,500, or 60 percent of the loan, whichever is the lesser amount.

Pre-heating oven is waste of energy

Most recipes for oven-cooked foods traditionally call for a preheated oven, but recent studies have shown that preheating is not essential for food quality and may even waste energy.

Researchers at the United States Department of Agriculture's consumer nutrition laboratory compared a variety of foods prepared in preheated and non-preheated ovens and found few significant differences in the quality or size of the items, reports home economist Bonnie Piernot.

The non-preheated ovens required five minutes or less extra baking time than the preheated ovens, says Piernot, who is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The energy savings from not preheating averaged about 10 percent.

"Overall," Piernot says, "the findings confirm that preheating the oven is not essential for good quality baking, so it's an unnecessary use of energy."

The foods used in the research study included pies, cakes, casseroles, souffles and meat loaves. The dishes were prepared in preheated and non-preheated standard gas, continuous-cleaning gas, standard electric and self-cleaning electric ovens.

The variability in baking times reported between preheated and non-preheated ovens was often less than that reported among the different types of ovens, adds the specialist.

HAVE YOU SEEN CHAMA VALLEY?
Your Ozona neighbors, Tom and Corle Lane, are now part of it! Spectacular Chama Valley, in beautiful northern New Mexico, is bounded by towering Rocky Mountains, lush rolling meadows, sparkling lakes and rivers and virgin wilderness. A scenic 100 miles north of Santa Fe, Chama Valley is a last frontier land for an excellent selection of properties, including secluded cabins and wooded cabin sites in the Brazos River and Heron Lake areas, unique retirement investments, vacant lands and ranches, and second homes in the historic narrow gauge railroad town of Chama. Recreation is year-round, with New Mexico's best trout fishing, elk, deer and bear hunting, snowmobiling and cross-country skiing. It isn't too good to be true, it's Chama Valley.
