Miller wins contest

The winner of the weekly football contest was Keith Miller. Miller was tied with two others who only missed two games, Mercedes Martinez and Andel Wagoner, before the Dallas-Washington game Monday night. All three picked Dallas to win, but Miller was nearest to the actual score.

The contest is sponsored weekly by local merchants and the Stockman. Entry blanks may be found on the football page and anyone is eligible to enter. The winner each week may pick up a $20 check at the Stockman after the paper comes out.

Entry blanks must be in the Stockman office or in the mail by Friday afternoon at 5 p.m. All entry blanks must have been clipped from the pages of the Stockman.

DD course scheduled for Ozona

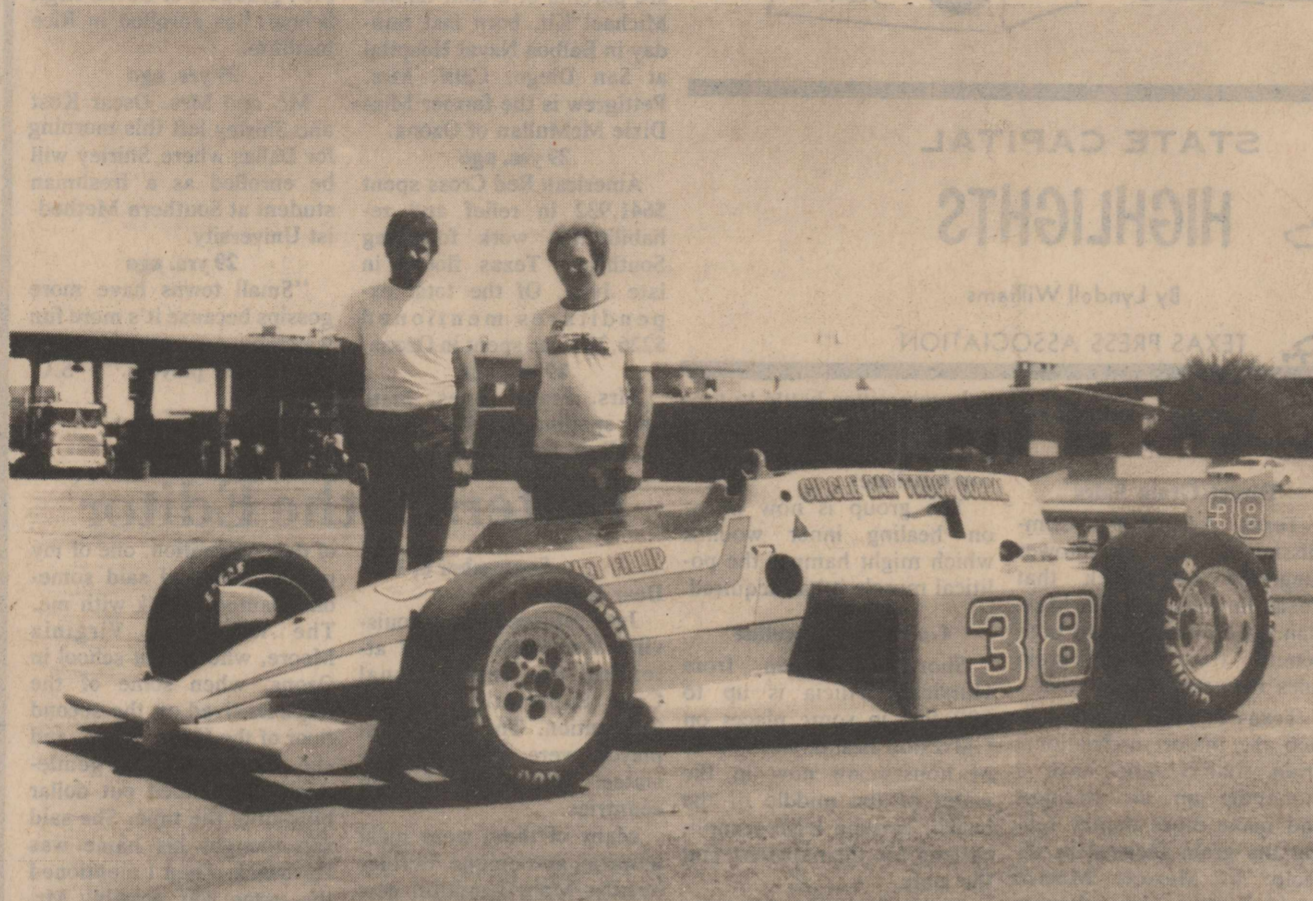

A defensive driving course will be held here at the Methodist Church Fellowship Hall Sept. 20-22, from 7 until 10 p.m.

The course is sponsored by the San Angelo Safety Council and pre-registration is requested. Ozona residents need to register at the office of the Justice of the Peace.

Miller is new board member

In a no-contest election Tuesday, Van Miller was elected to the Crockett County Consolidated Common School Board of Trustees.

Miller's was the only name to appear on the ballot and voting was slow. This was a special election to fill the term of Terry Lee, who resigned and moved away from Ozona.

Ozona Lions bring the Junction Eagles down

By Gary Davis

The Ozona Lions shot the Junction Eagles from the air Friday night as the Lions defeated the Eagles in Hill Country Stadium in Junction by a score of 25-13. Only 1 minute and 42 seconds of the first quarter had expired when the Lions crossed the goal line for the first time.

Shortly following the kickoff, which opened the 1983 football season, Junior quarterback, David Delgado, released a picture perfect pass to senior receiver, Robert Flores, who darted his way into the end zone for 6 points. The extra point attempt by senior, Diego Leal, split the goalposts and the Lions went ahead of the Eagles 7-0.

In second quarter action, Delgado scampered a short 11 yards to cross the goal line for another Ozona touchdown. The extra point attempt by Leal was declared no good.

Just before the end of the first half of play, Junction quarterback, Marjarito Flores, completed a short pass to Eagle receiver, Bobby Carpenter for 8 yards and the first Junction touchdown. The extra point attempt by James Hernandez was good, making the score 13-7 as the first half ended.

Ozona senior, Mark Vallejo, made his 1983 scoring debut during the third quarter of play, as he hit paydirt twice in 12 minutes of play. His first score came on a 22 yard pass from Delgado.

The extra point attempt by Leal failed. The second Vallejo touchdown was the result of yet another Delgado pass, which covered 32 yards.

Ozona did not score during the final period of play; however, as the final seconds of the game elapsed, Junction's Monty Walker scurried 6 yards to make the final score for the Eagles. The touchdown added 6 points to the Eagle's tally, making the final score 25-13 in favor of the Lions.

Barnett services

Funeral services for Jester Ozel (Jack) Barnett, 66, were held Aug. 30, at 10 a.m. in Ozona First Baptist Church with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Barnett died Saturday, Aug. 27, at Audie Murphy Veterans Hospital in San Antonio. He was a retired oil company employee and a longtime resident of Ozona.

Survivors include his wife, Ada Crawford, of Ozona; three daughters, Mrs. Bill Crawford of Ozona, Mrs. Helen Carker of Galveston, and Nita Jolly of Rocksprings; 3 sisters, 3 brothers, 11 grandchildren and 7 great grandchildren.

Warning given on child safety

The following article is a public service by the Ozona Stockman through the cooperation of Bill Mason, District Attorney and Tom Cameron, County Attorney of the 112th Judicial District. Its purpose is to make you aware of a prosecutor's role, of your responsibility as a resident of Crockett County and how we can work together to alleviate some of society's problems.

September means school and for parents of young children, their child's trek to and from school each day can be a constant source of apprehension.

Parents should teach their children basic, common-sense precautions and work with school officials and the PTA to initiate crime prevention strategies in and around schools.

Give your child a healthy suspicion for strangers. A stranger is anyone a child's parents don't know, even if the person knows the child's name or "seems like a friend."

Children should never accept food, gifts, or an automobile ride from a stranger and should never play around public restrooms.

Teach your children never to open the door to a stranger and never to enter a stranger's home. If your child is selling Girl Scout cookies, Easter Seals, or Christmas cards door-to-door, make sure he or she is accompanied by at least one friend.

If a stranger bothers your child, the child should take note of the stranger's appearance, his clothing, and the color and license number of his car. Call the police immediately.

Know the length of time it takes your child to walk to and from school. Be aware of the schedule for any extra-curricular activities after school. Immediately check any delay in arrival home. Check out the safest route to and from school and instruct your children to follow that route. If possible, have them walk with others; there is safety in numbers. If your children are to arrive home after dark, arrange to meet them.

Parents of young children might consider organizing "child safety patrols" if child harassment becomes a serious problem. These patrols are composed of parents or concerned adults who walk the streets when school opens and closes each day.

Know your children's playmates and where they congregate. Visit the school and become acquainted with teachers and school officials. You may learn of delinquent behavior before it becomes a serious problem. Give the school instructions to release your children only to persons you have designated in writing.

Tell your children never to admit being home alone, whether to someone on the phone or to someone at the door. If your child is alone and the person asks where you are, the child should simply say that you can't come to the phone or the door right now. Teach your children to give as little information to a stranger as possible. Be sure your babysitter is a responsible person and capable of acting in an emergency.

Children should be encouraged to talk with their parents any time they have a problem, whether the problem is with a stranger, friend, or relative. Remind your children that the police officer is a friend who can be called on any time help is needed.

Woman seeking missing husband

Mrs. Charles T. Hudson of Burnet, has asked help from the Stockman, in locating her husband who has been missing since June 3, 1983. She thinks it is possible someone in Ozona might shed some knowledge on his disappearance.

Hudson left his Lake Buchanan home early in the morning, June 3, for his weekly motorcycle ride, which was his habit. He told his wife, Rubye, he would be riding between Burnet, Sonora, Junction, Eldorado and Ozona. It was his custom to ride early and return to his home around 3 p.m. However, on this trip he did not return and has not been seen since.

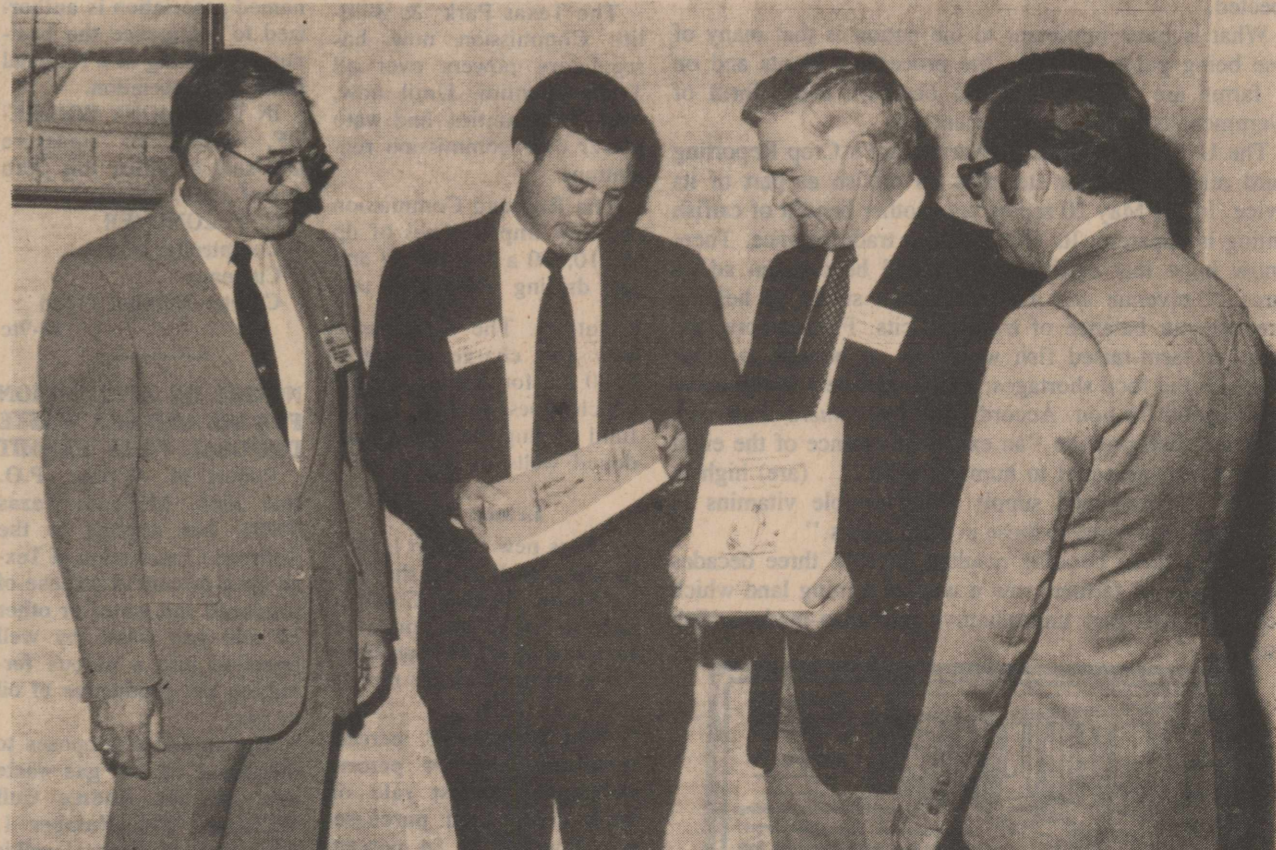

Charles Hudson is 5-foot 9-inches tall and weighs 145 pounds. He has brown eyes and white hair. When last seen he was wearing blue jeans, a short-sleeved blue western shirt, a red jacket, brown shoes and a white motorcycle helmet. His BMW 1981 red and black motorcycle, 1000 cc, motor No. 6240131, has black saddlebags, a windshield and crash bars. The Texas licence number is 4QF827. He has been listed as missing nationwide, and the Sheriff's offices of all the surrounding counties have been working on the case, but nothing has come to light. There has been no trace of the man nor the vehicle.

Mrs. Hudson writes "This is the most devastating experience one can imagine. I'm completely heartbroken. On days with hunting season near, I thought perhaps the public would be more watchful."

Mrs. Hudson is offering a $2000 reward to anyone who can produce conclusive evidence leading to her 68-year-old husband and his motorcycle. Anyone having such knowledge should contact the Burnet County Sheriff's office 512/756-8080, or Mrs. Charles T. Hudson, Star Rt., Box 1321, Burnet, Texas 78611.

Before Hudson retired in 1972, he was chief medical administrator at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Waco. Since his retirement, he has earned a private pilot's license and become a realtor.

CATFISH ARE COMING

By Edwin Feulner
Twice this year President Ronald Reagan has feasted on — of all things — catfish. Yes, that whiskered fish, so often thought of as a pond-bottom-feeding scavenger, is fast becoming standard fare on dinner tables in homes, at fast-food counters and even in fine restaurants around the country thanks to an organization of entrepreneurs marching under the banner of Catfish Farmers of America.

In fact, the Mississippi Business Journal recently described the catfish farming industry, with its auxiliary processing and feed-producing offshoots, as "the only truly dynamic force in Mississippi agribusiness today."

Mark Freeman, executive assistant to the state commissioner of agriculture and executive vice president of the Catfish Farmers of America, said last year alone catfish processing brought 1,000 new jobs to the state.

This new business is just a small part of what has become known as aquaculture, which is putting thousands to work in the "fields" — or as these instances must be termed the ponds, streams, lakes and even oceans — in the processing plants, and in the various support industries.

What is most important to the nation is that many of those being put to work in the processing plants and on the farms are people who had been on some form of government assistance in the recent past.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Crop Reporting Board releases regular statistics on catfish as part of its service. In the May 20 report yet another benefit of catfish farming is apparent: Its effect on our trade balance. There is now hope that catfish exports will become an added source of revenue and a factor, albeit small, in helping to reduce our balance of trade deficits.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The hubbub stirred by a grand jury's investigation of Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox's campaign finance practices has died down while the probe continues behind closed doors.

Mattox, himself, voluntarily appeared before the grand jury last week clutching an armload of documents he says will convince jurors he correctly reported some questionable campaign loans.

The effect of Mattox's testimony on jurors will remain unknown until the jury decides whether to indict him. Following his courtroom appearance, Mattox put the final touches on a controversial state-Exxon oil lease settlement.

Mattox said South Texas multimillionaire Clinton Manges' firm should get $1.3 million of a $4 million settlement that Exxon will pay the state. The dispute involves South Texas acreage where the state has contended Exxon has operated for over 50 years without a valid lease.

Exxon had fought Manges, who owns the land, in the case. Ironically, the grand jury is probing whether some of Mattox's loans were arranged by Manges, who also contributed several thousand dollars to Mattox. The question is not whether the loans were illegal, but whether Mattox reported them correctly.

New State Laws
Meanwhile, more than 800 new state laws went into effect last week as passed by the Legislature last spring. Among them are a $200 fine for cussing in class and a $1,000 fine and year in jail for knowingly passing venereal disease.

Eliminated is the traditional blood test for newlyweds, which the law's advocates say was ineffective in tracing the diseases. The Texas Parks & Wildlife Commission now has regulatory powers over all Texas counties. Until now, over 70 counties had veto power over commission regulations.

Lemon Law
Texas new "lemon law" is in effect and allows the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission to order car manufacturers to pay the consumer for a "lemon" car or replace it. The former 18 percent minimum and 24 percent maximum interest rate on bank credit card purchases was lowered to 14 percent and 22 percent in July.

Dear Kitty,
Just returned from Louisville, Kentucky, where I attended the International Cake Exploration Society Convention. The cakes displayed were from all fifty states, and nine foreign countries. Many of them were most unusual, and unique, in their beauty. Many beautiful new creations in chocolate flowers, which I was fortunate in having the privilege of taking mini classes.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

That faint tinge of Autumn you feel in the early mornings and after sunset is a gentle reminder that the fall planting season is but a few short weeks away. In the meantime, there is some garden grooming to be done as well as some September planting to be made.

If seedlings of such hardy annuals as petunias, phlox, solvia and others have germinated in your flower beds, take them up, spade the soil, and apply a complete fertilizer. Replant the seedlings, giving them plenty of space. Mulch them lightly. Your reward will be early flowers of good quality next spring.

To encourage roses and dahlias to bloom until frost, give them a light application of fertilizer now, if you haven't already done so. For blooms next spring, plant bluebonnet seeds this month. Scatter seeds over the seedbed, then lightly rake them about 1/4 inch of soil. They will grow during the Winter with no injury from frost or light freezes. They are a member of the lupine family and prefer to grow in soil that's poor rather than rich or heavily fertilized. They do best in slightly alkaline soil and need full sun and good drainage. Once established, they grow better when undisturbed by transplanting.

You may plant now for spring these perennials, Canterbury bells, English daisies, fox glove, hollyhock, Shasta daisy and snap dragons that grow as a perennial here.

If you plan to move broad-leaf evergreens, they should be moved this month so that the plant's cut roots may establish their sources of moisture supply before the ground freezes.

Deciduous plants that are to be moved before their leaves drop should be treated like evergreens and lifted only with a root ball.

If you have hedges to prune, this should be done this month to allow time for new growth to mature before freezing weather. Cut out any diseased, dead or damaged wood. Be sure the bottom of the hedge is broader than the top so all sides get adequate sunshine.

Ozona Garden Club begins a new year September 12.

Eggs..nutritious natural food

An egg is a bundle of nutrition sealed in its own package by the hen and delivered to consumers as fast as possible, practically untouched by human hands.

Americans spend millions each year for "health foods" and "natural products," yet often overlook the healthful qualities in ordinary foods like eggs, says Dr. Dymple Cooke, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Eggs are a "natural" food in part because there's so little interference in the production process. If a hen receives enough proper nutrients, she will form an egg, and all hens of the same species produce eggs of about the same composition.

According to Dr. David Mellor, poultry specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service, the commercial laying hen probably receives a better balanced diet than any other animal. The ration consists mainly of ground corn, sorghum grain, soybean oil meal, calcium, phosphorous and a vitamin-trace mineral mix.

Any difference a consumer might notice between eggs is minor and really has nothing to do with the composition or nutritional value of the eggs. For instance, the natural yellow color of the yolk is from fat soluble pigments in green or yellow plant products such as alfalfa, grass or corn is the hen's ration. Slight variations are due to the mixture of feed given the hens and don't affect the quality of the egg.

Eggs can also vary in flavor, although you don't find this often with commercial eggs, says Mellor. If a hen eats onion grass, field garlic or even cabbage, its eggs will be highly flavored.

Since most consumers prefer to add their own flavoring to egg dishes, however, commercial eggs are produced so that the bland natural flavor is not masked.

"It's most important for consumers to realize that when it comes to nutrition, an egg is an egg," states Cooke.

All of the fat soluble vitamins A, D, E, and K in the diet of the hen transfer well to the egg. This makes eggs a good source of vitamins as well as an efficient and inexpensive source of protein.

Consumers should look for eggs that meet the Texas egg law which requires that eggs be graded, have a clean, sound shell and be maintained under 60 degrees F.

Even though special eggs, like "organic fertile" and "araucana" eggs may be sold as health food, there is no evidence to support the idea that they are any more nutritious than ordinary commercial eggs from the grocery store, adds the specialist.

First Day at State

Going to college has been part of their plans and their families' for a long time. So this is a time of realization... the fulfillment of a cherished hope. Yet there are moments of wondering what the future holds. Are they ready for the immediate challenges... and for those further down the future.

Preparation for secular education should begin with religious education. It should begin early. It should continue faithfully every week.

Our churches and synagogues provide the spiritual and moral training our youth need as they get ready for their opportunities and responsibilities in tomorrow's world.

The Ozona Lion Junior Varsity football team traveled to Sonora Thursday, September 1 and defeated the Bronco Junior Varsity 7-0, in the first game of the 1983 football season.

Sophomore quarterback, Harvey Fierro zipped a short 5 yard pass into the end zone, which was bobbled by several Sonora defenders and caught by Freshman receiver Jaime Castellanos, for a Lion touchdown. Arturo Gonzales, a sophomore, booted the ball between the goalposts for the extra point. The Ozona offense rushed for 132 yards, while Sonora only earned 116.

According to the Lion J.V. coaches, Freshman James Sanchez and Sophomore Harvey Fierro headed the list of outstanding offensive players.

The coaches were exceptionally pleased with the Lion Jr. defense, who worked together well in stopping Sonora's offense.

Coach David Porter expressed his views of the game: "I was pleased since it was the first game. Playing Sonora in Sonora is always tough. We saw the things that we were looking for in the linebackers and we looked more solid than we thought we would at first. The line blocked well and we were well pleased with the whole defense.

The Junior Varsity Lions will be idle this week, but will return to action next Thursday, September 15, against the Big Lake J.V. at 7:30 p.m. in Big Lake.

Lion Varsity wins first game of season

Brucellosis changes

Some changes in the Texas brucellosis program which will allow for more freedom of movement of cattle, along with changes in procedure for establishing a certified free herd, have been approved by Commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission.

The changes were approved at a recent Commission meeting in Austin, says Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Present for the commission session were newly-appointed commissioners Mrs. Mary Nan West of Batesville, Laurence Bostick of Brookshire and Robert Bartlett of Canton.

Three changes relate to movement of cattle and include:

In a consignment in which there is a vaccinated animal that is a suspect on the brucellosis test will now proceed in this manner: In such a situation, negative cattle in a consignment in which there is a vaccinated card test positive but rivanol or complement fixation negative suspect, may move. In a non-infected herd of cattle which has been adult vaccinated, those animals that are card test negative at the time of movement may move without restriction.

A change was made relating to testing requirements from a C state or area or within the Texas C area. This change would allow movement of non-vaccinated cattle if they are tested negative within 30 days prior to movement and either be from a herd in which all test eligible cattle have been together for at least 120 days and have been subjected to one negative test as a herd within the previous 365 days, or be from a non-quarantined herd and have been subjected to a negative test not less than 60 or more than 365 days before the test for movement.

Changes in procedures for establishing a certified free herd concern both dairy and beef cattle operators, Reagor said.

For dairy herds, the Commissioners made the change to require a minimum of four consecutive, negative milk ring tests conducted at not less than 90-day intervals. Previously, three negative tests were required.

Regulations also were changed to make it easier to establish a certified free herd of cattle originating from a certified herd as follows: All or part of a certified free herd purchased and moved directly to premises without other cattle may qualify without a test.

A proposed change yet to be approved by Commissioners relates to movement of cattle to slaughter from a quarantined herd without testing of that herd, when the cattle are to be sold exclusively for slaughter. This regulation, however, must conform to federal rules and at present, federal rules require that all cattle from a quarantined herd be tested.

Work simplification for household chores

The work simplification procedures used in business and industry can help the employed homemaker juggle the many demands on her time and energy, says Mary Clayton, a family resource management specialist.

According to Clayton, the first step in work simplification is to question the job. Homemakers should ask whether each household task contributes to the family's health, comfort, or happiness and is worth the effort given the amount of time and energy it requires.

"Many women find it easier to continue doing things the way they have always done them than to take a critical look at why they are performing certain tasks," states Clayton, a home economist with Texas A&M's Agricultural Extension Service.

Often times, says Clayton, women don't realize that they may also have created performance standards for household tasks which can be questioned.

For example, the homemaker who wants the beds made each day should consider whether it has to be done with military precision, or if simple smoothing over of the covers would be satisfactory.

Setting realistic standards for household chores can simplify things a great deal, says the specialist.

Selecting the tools and the set-up for a task is the second step in work simplification. Clayton stresses selecting the best tools and materials to suit the individual homemaker's work methods.

Although the stores are filled with labor-saving devices, some may require more time to maintain and operate than they save, she says. Where a food processor may be an invaluable kitchen aid in one household, for instance, it may do nothing but take up storage space in another.

Choose only those devices which will actually be used and avoid those which are mainly for eye appeal or prestige, Clayton suggests. It is also helpful to pre-position tools and materials by storing them at the place and position most convenient to their use. The final step in work simplification, says Clayton, is to examine the working conditions. For many years industrial managers have considered factors that can impair efficiency on the job, such as lighting, noise, temperature or clutter. Yet factors that impair job efficiency or even create extra work in the home are often overlooked.

Homemakers should consider the value of their labor as they evaluate the happiness and comfort provided by certain conditions in the home. For example, a pottery display that simply collects dust or throw rugs that require constant washing, might be removed for greater efficiency and yet not diminish the family's comfort.

"By eliminating trimmings that give little return for the care required, homemakers can have more time and energy to concentrate on the things that have real value for them," advises the specialist.

The homemaker can also take a cue from modern management by involving other workers—husband and children—in decisions about work simplification, says Clayton. In the process, household chores may be made more "do-able" by all members of the family, she adds.

Sales tax rep. to visit Ozona

State Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his San Angelo office in Ozona on September 8, to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Esther Esparza will meet with local taxpayers in the Law Library in the Courthouse Annex from 10:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.

"If Ozona area merchants, or anyone else for that matter, have any questions about state taxes or need help in preparing state tax forms, Ms. Esparza will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office, and we believe these face to face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

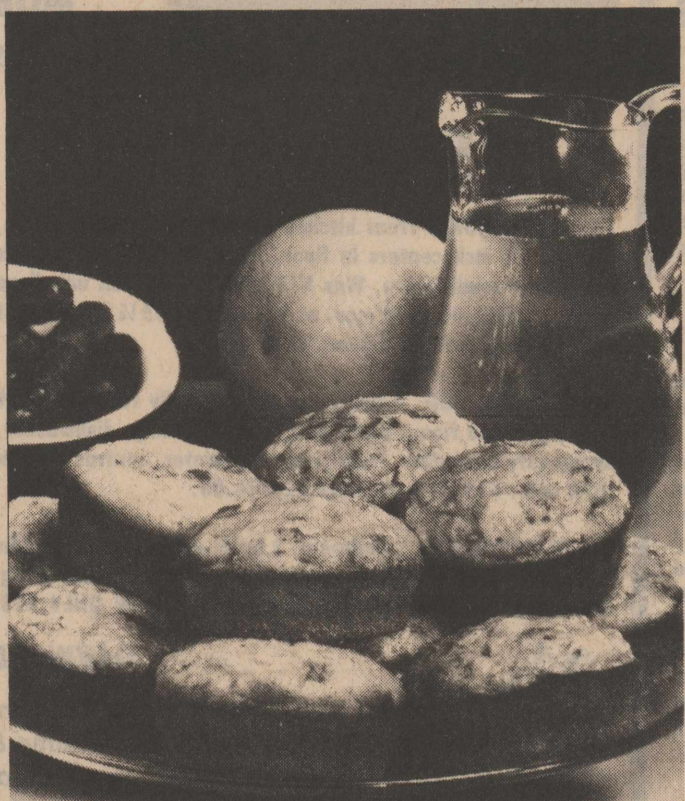

The San Angelo office, headed by Ron Parish, serves San Angelo and surrounding counties.

Church enjoys cookout

The members of Temple Baptist Church enjoyed an old-fashioned hotdog cookout over the Labor Day Holiday. The hotdogs were supplied by the church which used the hotdog package wrappers for a recent trip to Six Flags Over Texas. All other food trimmings were brought by the families of the church.

Following several rigorous games of volleyball, marshmallows were roasted for the enjoyment of all the youngsters while the adults relaxed with cake and coffee.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL BREAKFAST--Take a fresh orange or grapefruit for Vitamin C, a side of sausage links and a platter of oven-warm Honey Wheat Muffins, and you'll have a nutritious breakfast that will have the kids asking for more.

HONEY WHEAT MUFFINS

- 1 egg
- 1 C. milk
- 1/4 C. oil
- 1/4 C. honey
- 1/2 tsp. vanilla
- 1 C. whole wheat flour
- 1 C. white flour
- 3 tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 C. chopped pecans

Grease 12-cup muffin tin. Beat egg in medium bowl; add and blend in milk, oil, honey and vanilla. In separate mixing bowl combine flours, baking powder and salt. Add dry ingredients to egg mixture. Stir until moist and lumpy. Fold in pecans. Spoon batter into muffin cups until 2/3 full. Bake in 400-degree F. oven 20-25 minutes or until muffins are lightly browned. Cool slightly. Loosen muffins with spatula and remove. Makes 1 dozen muffins.

Vitamin B toxic in high dosage

Taking large doses of vitamin B-6 can increase your body's need for the vitamin or even poison your nervous system, says nutritionist Marilyn Haggard.

The USDA's recommended daily intake for vitamin B-6 is 2 to 4 milligrams, but some people are taking 50 to 500 milligram "mega-doses" of the vitamin, explains Haggard, a specialist with the Texas A&M University System's Agricultural Extension Service.

"Nutritionists have known for some time that vitamin B-6 is toxic at 200 milli-grams per day," Haggard says, "and a study published this month in the New England Journal of Medicine shows that it can poison the nervous system, causing numbness and loss of coordination in arms and legs."

Other research has shown that when patients are withdrawn from very high doses of vitamin B-6, they require greater than average amounts of the vitamin just to maintain a normal level. In short, large doses of B-6 just increase the body's demand for it, says the specialist.

People often take large doses of vitamin B-6 as a cure for hormonal imbalances. But according to Haggard, there is no evidence showing the vitamin is effective in treating this type of problem.

There's little danger that anyone eating a normal diet would become deficient in vitamin B-6, since it is found in liver, meat, whole grain cereals, and many vegetables.

Some elderly people, pregnant women or women taking oral contraceptives occasionally experience a shortage of vitamin B-6. But a physician should diagnose and treat the problem with appropriate doses of the vitamin, says Haggard.

As with all other vitamins, people should not prescribe vitamin B-6 for themselves, cautions the specialist.

P.B.P.A. Energy Report

Nine Permian Basin area elected officials were honored Tuesday in Midland. With about 250 people in attendance, PBPA told Congressmen Ronald Coleman, Kent Hance and Tom Loeffler, State Senators John Montford and Bill Sims and State Representatives Dick Burnett, Tom Craddick, Jay Gibson, Jim Rudd and Larry Don Shaw, thank you for their past support on issues important to the Petroleum industry.

Congressmen Loeffler and Hance talked to the audience about natural gas legislation and budget matters in Congress. Hance also casually mentioned he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate from Texas against Bob Krueger and Bill Doggett.

The PBPA "Top Hand Award" Honoree is Jno. P. Butler, Senior Chairman of the Board of the First National Bank in Midland.

Elsewhere, the OPEC nations will meet September 13th to discuss production quotas: There are reports that total OPEC production is already exceeding the quota by 1 million barrels a day.

September is time to plant and transplant cole crops

It's anything but cold in Texas during September, but that's the time to plant and transplant "cole" crops.

"Cole" refers to any of various plants belonging to the Cruciferae or mustard family, including such cool-season crops as brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, collards, chard, kale, kohlrabi, mustard, broccoli, turnips and watercress.

Cole crops have a common ancestry of wild cabbage originating in the Mediterranean and Asia Minor area, and this close kinship enables wide usage of plant parts, says Dr. Sam Cotner, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

For instance, brussels sprout plants are grown by most gardeners for miniature heads (sprouts) which develop in the axils of leaves. However, some consider brussels sprout leaves to be milder and sweeter than those of collards, which are especially grown for their leaves. Most gardeners are familiar with the fact that turnips can be grown for greens (leaves) or for roots. In other words, when growing a member of the Cruciferae family, the saying "what you see is what you get (to eat)" truly applies!

This group of cole crops enjoys cool seasons and is somewhat cold tolerant, says Cotner. Cabbage, for instance, can withstand cold down to 20 degrees or even 15 degrees F. Broccoli, collards, kale, kohlrabi or mustard can also withstand fairly low temperatures while cauliflower and chard are more sensitive to cold.

The conditioning of plants as influenced by weather conditions prior to exposure to cold temperatures determines plant survival, Cotner points out. Plant maturity also has much to do with the amount of cold which cole crops can survive. When broccoli plants have produced buds, even a light frost may cause considerable damage since clusters freeze, turn brown and ultimately rot.

Cole crops grow best at a monthly mean temperature of 60 to 70 degrees F. This occurs when temperatures are 80 degrees F. or less during the day and 60 degrees F. or less at night.

Of all the cole crops mentioned, broccoli is probably the best tasting, most nutritious and most economical of the entire group, says Cotner. It's surprising that such an excellent vegetable, known for more than 2,000 years in Europe and perhaps 200 years in America, has become popular only in the past 50 years.

Broccoli furnishes good eating while being high in vitamin C and supplying a substantial amount of vitamin A. It is the only crop which can be blanched and frozen and still retain its superb taste and quality. It actually is better after the freezing process which softens the stem tissue.

Fall is the best time to plant cole crops since they thrive in cold temperatures. Planting now can assure some fresh cole crops for Thanksgiving dinner.

Helping with home appliance repairs

More and more consumers are beating the high cost of service calls by doing their own appliance repairs.

Manufacturers of major appliances such as washers, dryers, refrigerators and ranges, have reported a surge of interest in repair information, says Mary Clayton, a home economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"High costs and the increase in unemployed people who have the time to make repairs but not the dollars to hire the work done is one reason for the growth in do-it-yourself activity," says Clayton.

More women and people with high-tech jobs are also entering the do-it-yourself market as they feel they have the skills to make home repairs.

Even the availability of more how-to information contributes to the appliance repair boom, she explains.

Some manufacturers now encourage home repair by supplying step-by-step manuals and specially packaged repair parts. These companies often provide a toll-free number that consumers can call to get help in diagnosing problems and performing repairs.

But not all manufacturers are responding to do-it-yourselfers' needs, says Clayton, a family resource management specialist.

Some companies do not recommend home repairs because of concern about potential liability due to injury or accidental death of the do-it-yourselfer.

Manufacturers also note customers may spend more money in the long run if they repair the appliance improperly and then need a follow-up service call.

"Safety is the big question all manufacturers raise about do-it-yourself appliance repair," states Clayton. Most companies contend that only those consumers who are mechanically inclined should tackle their own repairs.

"So consumers should consider their own competence to do repairs, as well as how much help they can get from the manufacturer before buying a new appliance," says the specialist.

Conservative lawmakers wanted by Texans

According to a recent poll, Texans want the next session of the state legislature in Austin to be more conservative compared to more liberal, Dick Collins, President of the Texas Foundation for Conservative Studies (TFCS) said.

The TFCS, a conservative policy research and education organization, commissioned the survey. One of the questions was to find out Texans' opinion on the state legislature.

The survey was conducted by Arthur J. Finkelstein and Associates and is accurate within 4% at the 95% confidence level.

According to Collins, 42.1% of the Texans surveyed want the next session of the legislature to be either a lot more conservative or somewhat more conservative while only 24.7% wanted it to be a lot more or somewhat more liberal. Twenty-one percent of the Texans wanted it to remain ideologically the same.

"The support for a more conservative state legislature cuts across party lines," Collins said. "Among those Texans who called themselves Republicans, 54.4% favored a conservative shift in the legislature compared to 16.5% who wanted a shift to the left."

"Among Texas Democrats 40.6% wanted a more conservative legislature during the next session, while 28.3% wanted a more liberal session. Texas Independents favored a more conservative legislature to a more liberal one by a 33.7% to 27.2% ratio," Collins said.

Collins noted that there were some differences by geographical areas.

The Scientists Tell Me...

Ways To Increase Economic Efficiency Of Ranches In The Edwards Plateau

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Ranch managers in Texas and the U.S. have faced considerable economic pressure in recent years to reduce their production costs, per pound, in order to survive economically. A Texas banker and an agricultural economist at Texas A&M University collaborated on a recent study to evaluate alternatives that a ranch manager might use to become economically more efficient. A typical ranch firm in the eastern portion of the Edwards Plateau was selected to evaluate alternative grazing systems, alternative livestock combinations, programs, brush control options, and the potential of stocker animals to increase economic efficiency of the ranch.

"While findings are specific for the typical ranch firm in the study, it is anticipated that these results will be applicable to a wide range of livestock situations," according to Robert E. Whitson, assistant vice president, Frost National Bank, San Antonio, Texas (formerly associate professor, Department of Agricultural Economics and Range Science at Texas A&M University).

Whitson collaborated on the economic study with Gwynne K. Lundgren, research associate in the Department of Agricultural Economics and Range Science at Texas A&M. "A fifteen-year linear programming representative ranch model was developed for the Edwards Plateau resource region in Texas," Lundgren says, "to evaluate the economic potential of adopting alternative grazing systems, brush control and combination livestock, and of maintenance of weaned steers on rangeland."

The model was specified to maximize the present value of net returns to land, management and owners capital over the fifteen-year planning period, and included annual cash flows which varied with projected livestock prices, production costs and livestock performance factors over time.

A real annual discount rate of ten percent was selected as appropriate. Sources of input data included previous research as well as expert opinions.

Findings indicate that ranch managers who are willing to properly adopt planned grazing systems and utilize combination livestock in the eastern half of the Edwards Plateau can expect net returns to increase over time.

"For the representative ranch, shifting from an overgrazed year-long, cow-calf operation to a planned grazing system resulted in a 20% to 40% increase in net returns to land, management and owner capital," Whitson says.

A short-duration system was found to have the greatest potential to increase net returns. By utilizing a deferred-rotational grazing system with cattle and goats (1:1) returns were projected to increase from 55% to 80%.

Maintaining steer calves beyond weaning increased annual net returns a maximum of 7% to 15% when small grains were available and steers were maintained when prices were favorable (40% to 50% of the time). When steers were maintained on rangeland, the breeding herd was reduced 5% to 11% and net returns were increased from 1% to 10%, depending upon the specific livestock situation.

The marginal profits to be made from maintaining steers on rangeland indicate the need to identify potentially profitable years. One important advantage from maintaining steers on rangeland would be the increase in

Stocker Feeder Show is set

The first Special Stocker Feeder Show and Sale for 1983 has been set for Tuesday September 13 at the Union Stock Yards in San Antonio.

South Texas cattlemen will have an opportunity to show English Blood cattle, Cross-breed cattle and Santa Gertrudis cattle for awards in steer and heifer classes in lots of 10, 20, and 30. This sale is open to all classes of cattle, and cattle need not be shown for awards to enter this sale. There is no age or weight limit for livestock.

This special sale provides a better market for quality Stocker-Feeder cattle and gives producers an opportunity to display and sell cattle in shaped up uniform lots. The large number of cattle together at one time and place enables many buyers to meet their requirements and a broad buying demand is expected.

Judging for the September 13 Stocker-Feeder show will begin at 7:30 a.m. and the auction will begin at 9:00 a.m. Prize winning cattle will be sold at 11:00 a.m. Judges for the show will be selected from South Texas cattlemen with a practical knowledge of the needs of the cattle industry.

The Commission Companies will be in charge of the sorting, showing and selling of the livestock. Regular tariff charges for the sale of cattle at auction will be assessed at this sale. The two other sales to be held this year will be on October 11 and November 8.

Dews receives scholarship

More than 400 beginning freshman students at West Texas State University from seven states have been awarded a $200 Don and Sybil Harrington Scholarship for the 1983-84 academic year.

Ozona's High School's honor scholar is Allen Dews, son of Ted and Wanda Dews.

Scholarships are awarded each year to students who will attend WTSU as freshmen and who were members of high school National Honor Society chapters or similar organizations.

Don and Sybil Harrington Honor Scholarships were begun in 1979 with an endowment from the Don and Sybil Harrington Foundation of Amarillo. Additional grants have grown to a total endowment of $1.2 million and students are eligible to retain the scholarship for four years at WTSU.

The scholarships are renewable each year if the student maintains a 3.0 grade point average on a 4.0 scale.

Don and Sybil Harrington honor scholars may receive an additional President's Honor Scholarship if they score 28 or more of a possible 36 on the American College Test or 1,220 points of a possible 1,600 on the Scholastic Aptitude Test college entrance examinations. They receive an additional $100.

A competitive scholarship of $200 or more at WTSU waives out-of-state tuition which often is 10 times greater than in-state costs.
