First of all, on the resignation of Johnny Jones from the county judge's office--we know no more than the rest of you as to the reason. It was a complete surprise. It is my guess he just got tired of the hassle. Or, maybe it is the dog days and he will have second thoughts later on. Heaven knows, these long, dry, hot summer days are enough to make a saint throw up his hands and move to Alaska. As the old lady gossip in Sainly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners, said "I only know what I've been told." In this case that is absolutely nothing.

While inflation fell to below 4%, and most counties and municipalities failed to give raises at all or did not exceed the 4% mark, Crockett County gave county employees and elected officials an across-the-board increase of 7%. What's more, besides travel expense, most department heads and elected officials get an additional auto allowance, ranging from $1200 to $2400 per year which is not taxed.

The private sector gives merit raises, and that is possibly why it pays the taxes to give across-the-board raises to public employees. Also, we never pay our employees to drive to and from work. I wonder if those persons living off tax monies were given the incentive of pay on their merit, if there wouldn't be a lot less bickering and a lot more cooperation. However, I don't suppose Ozona taxpayers care one way or another, since nobody showed up for the budget hearing at 11 a.m. Monday.

Next year will be an entirely new ball game. Appraisers are at work in Ozona as this is written, to reappraise all property at its true market value. They have been hired by the county to perform this function for an enormous fee. It will take approximately eight months and when it is finished the rolls will reflect an enormous increase in home owners property as well as business property. The law went into effect two years ago, but Crockett County got an extension in hopes it would be repealed. Since it has not, we found we must comply. The firm of Pritchard and Abbott has the contract for the reappraisal and their people are working now to reappraise every piece of property in town. The tax collector's office will appraise ranch property.

Next year at this time, I predict we will see a lot more interest on the part of the public when the commissioners set the tax rate and have the budget hearing.

After we had an article last week about a missing man on a motorcycle, we opened our daily paper this morning and found he had been found near Brenham. Apparently he had hit a deer as his wrecked cycle and decomposed body was found near the carcass of a deer. This was sad news indeed, but at least his wife, who has been frantic since June, will at last be at peace.

We've found ourselves in the middle of a controversy, as usual. After a little girl's goats were killed by dogs in

County Judge resigns in surprise move

After a routine Crockett County Commissioners Court meeting Monday morning, County Judge Johnny Jones tendered his resignation, effectively immediately, and left the courtroom. No explanation was given and none was asked by members of the court. After Judge Jones departure, the court voted unanimously to accept the resignation, and held some discussion on appointing a replacement.

County Attorney Tom Cameron advised the court they could get by indefinitely without a judge to conduct court meetings, but he had court cases set for Tuesday and must have a presiding judge. After some discussion the court agreed to acquire the services of Brock Jones, Jr. as a County Judge at Law. Later in the day Cameron informed the Stockman by telephone, District Judge Troy Williams had also offered to help out with the court cases.

Until a new judge is appointed the four commissioners will run the county, and all four must be present to constitute a quorum, according to County Clerk David Weant.

Judge Jones was appointed to the office in August 1979 when Judge Troy Williams resigned to accept the appointment to the office he now holds, 112th District Judge. He later ran unopposed and has been re-elected twice for four-year terms. His unexpired term has three years to run and must come up for election next year. In other business the court approved the budget for 1984 and set the tax rate. The tax rate for the county was set at .556, up .071 cents from this year's .485 per $100 valuation. The school tax rate was set at .635, up 8c from the current .555c. The action will bring total taxes for the property owner to $1.191 per $100 valuation when they get their tax bills in October, which constitutes an increase of just over 15c.

Estimated revenues amount to $5,568,214.00 while estimated expenditures amount to $5,560,248.00. The largest portion of the expenditures, of course, goes to the hospital and care center. The hospital budget is $1,496,700 and the care center is budgeted at $668,603. The general fund was swollen by a 7% across the board increase in salaries for all county employees and elected officials plus some pretty hefty increases in auto allowances. The increase does not include hospital employees, due to the large turn-over.

The court agreed to a plan for cemetery expansion, which would take in the trap to the east of the established cemetery. Notice will be given to the present leaseholder to vacate by the first of the year when the lease is up.

Don Hopkins and Dottie Tuttle brought the hospital report, reporting charges of $51,955 and $65,139 in deposits with a total of $116,000 expenditures. The occupancy rate stands at 30% with two patients currently in the hospital.

Some discussion was held about transferring the four hospital rooms nearest to the care center to that facility for use by residents. The reason most small nursing homes are losing money is the lack of rooms. The care center is full and there is a waiting list, while the hospital is seldom if ever full of patients.

Sherry Scott submitted a list of names for a county public library board and the list was approved by the court. Board members are Katherine Russell, Chesta Stuart, Mary Helen Parks, Thomas DeHoyos, Marilyn Cox, Sherri York and Mrs. Scott. She also reported they had not been able to find a suitable building to move the county library from the school library, but would inform the court when they did.

The court canvassed the school board election results in which Van Miller was the only person seeking the unexpired term of Terry Lee on the Crockett County Consolidated Common School Board. Miller received 95 votes and Robert Flores received a write-in vote. Ninety-six voters cast ballots. The election stands.

Before Judge Jones retired from the meeting he presented the commissioners with a letter from Judge Troy Williams asking that the court reporter's salary be raised 10% instead of the 7% in the budget. The court refused to make the change in the budget.

The court adjourned following the discussion about Judge Jones' resignation.

New pastor for Catholic Church

Father Richard L. Altenbaugh arrived here this week to take over the pastorate of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church, serving out of the Diocese of San Angelo. He expects to serve the church here and in Sheffield for the next three years.

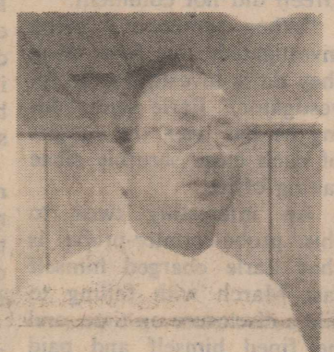

There are 400 families in the church here and 50 in Sheffield.

Father Altenbaugh comes here from Marianna, Fla. where he had been the pastor of St. Annes church for eleven years.

He was ordained May 26, 1960 in Mobile, Alabama, then served throughout the Florida Panhandle until his move to Ozona.

After discovering there was a great need for priests in rural Texas, Father Altenbaugh made his decision and made a commitment to the San Angelo Diocese March 25. He was on vacation during the month of June and in July he attended a mini-pastoral course in San Antonio at the Mexican-American Cultural Center, which is an intensive three-week program that attempts to look into the mind, heart and spirit of the Hispanic through the experiences of the Mexican-American in a Christian community setting. Asking to work in the rural ministry, he received his actual appointment in August and arrived here last week.

Crockett County Hospital Board in meeting

The Crockett County Hospital Board met in regular session Thursday evening in the Care Center dining room. Four members of the hospital board were present, plus several members of the hospital staff and others.

Bills were approved for payment after some discussion and minutes of the last meeting were read before the report from the administrator.

Don Hopkins, administrator, reported the budget for the coming year had been presented to the commissioners court and he had been asked to revise by cutting $50,000 from the hospital budget and $50,000 from the proposed care center budget. After discussion and recommendations by Hopkins, the requested revisions were made and approved in each of the budgets. Hopkins also presented an organizational charge prepared for hospital employees to have a better understanding of each department's responsibilities and who the immediate superiors are. Mrs. Ted Turnley, director of nurses, reported the hospital needs an R.N. to serve on the evening shift. The hospital is meeting nursing requirements at the present time, however, some of the staff is working overtime and double shifts to do so.

Jackie King gave a report from the business office. She said it is slowly getting more organized and it is presently taking from two weeks to four months for the hospital to collect insurance payments.

Dub O'Bryant reported the ambulances made 21 runs with 9 transfers in the month of August. He also reported 12 persons registered in the current EMT class. Mrs. Jim Caldwell reported everything going well in the Care Center. She reported all beds full with a long waiting list of would be residents.

Steve Peitel, an attorney for Texas Rural Legal Aid, appeared before the board on behalf of Rebecca Gandar and Delma Gandar. Both women were employed at the hospital and both were terminated May 30, 1983. Peitel told the board both women felt they had been wrongfully terminated and were treated unequally due to being Mexican-American. He asked for re-instatement as employees and that both be paid salaries retro-active from termination date. The board went into executive session to discuss this matter.

The regular session was called back to order and Dan Pullen, Chairman of the Board, informed Peitel the board had decided to take no action on the matter at the present time.

A new personnel policy for hospital and care center employees was discussed and reviewed in detail. Board members were pleased with the proposal with a few minor changes. The board will vote on the matter at the next regular meeting.

Hopkins also recommended the board members look into the possibility of getting insurance coverage. The Baggett Agency is presently checking of what kind of coverage might be available.

Gunshot wound injures Pasadena man here

An accidental gunshot wound sent a Pasadena man to the hospital with a serious leg injury near here Monday afternoon. The accident occurred west of Ozona near the Pecos River crossing on I-10.

Robert English of Pasadena and Howard Johnson, Jr. of Ozona, were traveling toward Ozona, and examining some pistols. They were having trouble with a 357 Magnum, according to a deputy sheriff, and it went off, striking English in the knee and inflicting a dangerous leg injury.

After the accident, the DPS office was notified and dispatched a deputy to the area. The call came in about 4:30, and the Deputy, Dan Simmons, met the two outside of town and to the hospital.

The wound was too serious to be taken care of here and English was transferred to Shannon Hospital in San Angelo, after receiving treatment here.

New DPS Sergeant stationed locally

Sergeant Tom Sharp of the Texas Department of Public Safety moved here early this month to take over the duties of the DPS in this area.

Sgt. Sharp moved here from Beaumont with his wife, Margaret, a son, Jesse, and a daughter, Monica, 10 months.

Sharp is a native of San Angelo, having been born and reared there, and is a graduate of San Angelo Central High School. He graduated from the DPS academy in 1974.

His first station was Eagle Pass. He was then stationed in Austin and in Georgetown where he made Sergeant. He was stationed in Beaumont a year before coming to Ozona.

The addition of a sergeant here makes the Ozona station the area headquarters, which also takes in Sonora, Mertzon and Eldorado.

SERGEANT TOM SHARP

Castillo winner of contest

Jesse Castillo won the football contest for the week, only missing one game. He picked Ozona over Wall. There were no ties before the tie-breaker, so Castillo was the clear winner.

Entry blanks for the contest may be found on the sports page, sponsored by Ozona merchants. The winner can pick up a check at the Stockman office after Wednesday each week. Anyone is eligible to enter the contest, but all entries must be in the Stockman office or in the mail before 5 p.m. on Fridays.

Remodeling nears end

The old Pascall Northcutt home on Eleventh Street was purchased and completely remodeled by T. R. and Shelley Connor. The work on the grounds continues, but the family has moved into the house. The couple and their children hauled the rock in from the ranch each weekend to rock the frame house, which took several months and a lot of hard work.

Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

Vacations are nice but there is always the catch-up to do when one returns. Because of the Labor Day holiday that affects the newspaper business, this will be a three week report. (Did not want you to think I had a three week vacation.)

Bingo winners these weeks included first place winners with gift certificates from the Teacher Store, Clayton Village Drug and Westernman Drug-Inez Biggs, Jesus Hernandez, and Frances Borrego. El Chato's dinners for two were won by Minnie Karr, Tomasa Ramos, Billie Whatley, and Jesus Hernandez. The monthly certificate from Baker Jewelers was won by Nila Turnell. Maude Pettit and Virginia Russell received second place awards. A total of twenty-seven volunteers helped with these six games.

Marie Pierson and a new volunteer, Judy Baker, directed ceramics the first week of my absence. Marie, Judy, and Ruth Hester directed the second week with Ruth returning for the session this past week.

Marie Pierson also directed a craft program, showing our ladies how to latch hook, as well as helping with bingo. A big thanks goes to her for her assistance.

Another big thanks goes to Dorothy Doll who helps in so many ways. She combs our ladies hair every morning, sometimes seven days a week, she assists with bingo, sunshine hour, and other parties. In addition to all this, while I was gone she presented an art program one afternoon and a musical program through the use of records one afternoon.

A new volunteer was welcomed this past week when Tina Moran came on Friday and called our bingo game. We are looking forward to having Tina often.

We are pleased to now have as a resident one of our faithful volunteers. A big welcome goes to Alice Ross! We love her and are glad to have her around.

Wednesday afternoon Sunshine Hour volunteers have been Joan Nicholas, Georgia Kirby, Bernice Jones, Jim at Foodway, and Gandy's, the latter two who furnished fruit and ice cream.

Maude Pettit, Ola Mills, Bertha Miller, and Paul Cavin all played dominoes several times. Then Paul had surgery at St. John's and the ladies have not been able to all get together. Looks like Paul needs to hurry back!

Maude has been feeding the birds for the care center and Billie Whatley is now the official fish feeder.

Madye Jo Humphreys has continued to man the beauty shop on Thursday mornings. She has been assisted by Arlene Clayton, Glenda Henderson and Lola Rios.

Thursday afternoon Bible study has been led the last three weeks by Charles Huffman. Five other church members assisted him. This was followed by Spanish Hour of Praise led by Maria Vitela and assisted by some nine other church members.

Monnie Boyd assisted me in obtaining volunteers while I was gone and also helped on at least two occasions her self. Thanks, Monnie.

Thanks also goes to Donuts, Etc. for sending donuts, and K. R. Staten for sending peaches.

A memorial donation has been received in memory of the mother of Lois Lock.

Geniece Childress gave a very interesting talk on Stetson hats on the last Tuesday afternoon of August. We appreciate her coming.

Residents had their August council meeting following my return the first week in September. One of the items suggested by them was that more people from the community come by and take two or three for a ride to see the pretty yards, fall gardens, and new homes that have been built. How about it, friends?

This Sunday was Grandparents Day and to further emphasize community interaction Vickie Stokes brought twenty-two fifth grade students who "adopted" nineteen of our residents for grandparents during this school year. These students asked their new grandparents to tell them what everyday life was like generations ago, what was their favorite pastimes, when they were fifth graders, what school they went to, what chores they had to do, what rules, how they dressed and what kind of music they liked.

Fun and fellowship was enjoyed by all.

Saturday morning Maude Pettit received flowers from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huffman and a birthday cake from Polly Mayes and C. O. Spencer Welding Services.

Monday morning Maggie Crawford received her cake for her birthday from Mayes and Spencer Welding.

Monday afternoon was the time for our monthly birthday party. September birthday honorees included: Maude Pettit, Maggie Crawford, Pearl Morris, Bertha Miller, and Billie Whatley. Ladies Hospital and Care Center Auxiliary President Doris Karr served the cake, baked and donated by Polly Mayes. All honorees received flowers from Maxine's Flowers. Jo Davidson and Dorothy Doll assisted with the serving.

Statistics predict oversupply of Liberal Arts degrees

The Bureau of Labor Statistics predicts that, due to an oversupply of college graduates with liberal arts degrees, one out of every five of these college grads may be forced to take a job that does not require a degree. In fact, of the 20 careers projected by the BLS to show the most rapid employment growth in the next decade, 14 will require vocational training that is available at America's trade and technical schools.

According to Mike Freedland, president of the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools (NATTS), "It's an age of specialized skills--and more and more employers are looking for people with skill training--people with the necessary skills to be a bank teller, commercial artist, computer programmer, electronics technician, medical technologist office manager, and secretary."

For those with specific training, especially in technical careers, there are many opportunities. Private career schools, such as those accredited by NATTS, an educational association representing more than 600 private career schools across the country, provide training for these technical jobs of the future.

Since these schools depend upon their students' success in the marketplace for their survival, they have to know what jobs will be in demand. The most important question then, for trade and technical schools--and one many students are asking themselves--is where are the jobs?

There are several career areas that labor experts see as having tremendous potential growth in the coming decade. All of these career fields are offered at NATTS schools with short, job-intensive training at a school committed to training students for jobs that exist today.

Computers. The Bureau of Labor Statistics predicts that computer-related jobs may rise from 1.2 million in 1978 to 2.1 million in 1990, an increase of 85 percent. Some of the specific computer occupations that are expected to grow are computer programmers, computer operators, and computer service technicians.

Health-related occupations. The future, as well as the present demand for people with these occupational skills continues. A recent survey by the American Hospital Association reveals that the most critical shortages will be in the medical laboratory field, X-ray technology and respiratory therapy.

Others. Engineering shortages are expected to continue through the 1980s and that means more trained workers to design, build and repair high technology equipment. Growth in the secretarial and auto mechanic fields is expected to be good into the next decade.

NATTS schools provide training in all these fields. According to Mike Freedland, "These schools' advantage is that they offer specialized training at a lower cost, and with a quicker training period than most colleges and universities. Also, they emphasize 'hands-on' training, using equipment similar to that used on the job."

For further information on America's trade and technical schools, their locations, and the courses they offer.

Registration for the short course will begin at 9 a.m. in the pavilion on the university farm just north of Stephenville.

Discussions will include the following: "Nutrition for the performance horse and brood mare" by Dr. Les Waymack, Tarleton State University horse program leader; "Preparing Brood Mares to Go to Stud Farm" by Dr. Jerry Rhuedasill, Lewisville veterinarian; "Foot Care for the Performance Horse" by Bernie Chapman, Lubbock farmer; and "The Tarleton State University Horse Program--

What Is It? Why Is It?" by Waymack.

Special training demonstrations at 1:30 p.m. will deal with "Starting the Calf" and "Maintaining Performance in the Mature Horse." Larry Reeder, Stephenville, horse trainer, will be in charge.

A registration fee of $15 for an individual or $25 per couple will include the proceedings and a noon meal, according to Ron Woolley, district Extension director. The fee for students will be $5.

Registration fees should be mailed to Woolley at P.O. Box 1177, Stephenville, Tex. 76401.

TDA to cancel herbicide registration Dinitro-3

The Texas Department of Agriculture intends to cancel the registration of a herbicide suspected of causing the death of a farmworker near Bryan, Texas. The herbicide, known as Dinitro-3, and other similar herbicides are suspected of causing a number of serious illnesses in several states, including California, Michigan and Wisconsin as well as Texas.

TDA began investigating Dinitro-3 after Sacaris Ruiz died August 5 in a Bryan hospital after applying the herbicide to a cotton field earlier in the day. An autopsy determined that Ruiz died from acute poisoning, and the Texas Tech laboratory in San Benito is performing further tests to learn whether Dinitro-3 did in fact cause the death.

"Our investigation has revealed that deficient labeling renders this product very dangerous to human beings, especially to farmers and other agricultural workers who use it," said Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower. "We're taking immediate action because this stuff is dangerous. The label is not clear about the serious results of failing to wear protective clothing, nor is it clear about medical treatment for those who have come into contact with the chemical. We need to do something before anyone else is hurt or killed."

Hightower said the action on Dinitro-3 is part of a general review of pesticide and herbicide label adequacy. The Texas Department of Agriculture is also preparing a series of educational programs on chemical safety.

Adding to the concern about the herbicide is the speed of its effects. Ruiz died only five hours after reporting the first symptoms of illness, according to the TDA investigation.

Because the herbicide is apparently very lethal, the TDA may begin administrative proceedings to alter the registration of the chemical from general use to limited or restricted use.

"A general-use registration does not convey to the user just how dangerous Dinitro-3 apparently is. The users need to know that this product is dangerous and must be used with great care," Hightower said.

Hot weather takes toll on home lawns

Hot summer weather has taken its toll on home lawns—and homeowners—throughout Texas. But there's still more work to be done to insure a weed-free winter lawn and good recovery of the lawn next spring.

"Lawn insects, including chinch bugs, white grubs and armyworms, must be controlled during late summer and fall," says Dr. Richard L. Doble, turfgrass specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Where these insects damage the lawn, winter weeds rapidly invade the weakened turf and spring recovery is often poor. Timely applications of insecticides such as diazinon or chlorpyrifos (Dursban) will control most lawn insect problems."

According to Doble, fall fertilization is another requirement for maintaining green color and promoting early spring green-up of lawns. A dense, vigorous turf produced by proper fertilization also keeps winter weeds from invading lawns.

He recommends applying a complete fertilizer with a 3-1-2, 4-1-2 or similar ratio of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash at a rate of 1 to 2 pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn. This would be 10 pounds of 15-5-10 fertilizer per 1,000 square feet.

"Straight nitrogen fertilizers and fertilizers high in phosphorus (the middle number in the fertilizer analysis) should not be used for established lawns," cautions Doble.

"If winter weeds have been a problem in past years, apply a preemergence herbicide (chemical weed killer) for additional protection against weeds," suggests the specialist. "Materials containing atrazine, benefin, bensulide and dacthal provide preemergence control of many winter annual weeds. Some preemergence herbicides are available in formulations with fertilizers, which simplifies application."

Of course, it's important to follow label instructions in regard to grass species and rates of application when using herbicides. Materials containing atrazine should not be used around trees and shrubs.

As far as disease control is concerned, Doble suggests applying a fungicide on St. Augustine lawns to prevent damage from brown patch. Not only is brown patch unsightly, but weeds generally invade the lawn in disease-weakened areas. Also, spring recovery is delayed in areas damaged by brown patch.

Fungicides containing PCNB (Terraclor, Ortho Lawn Fungicide), benomyl (Benlate, Tersan 1991) or chlorothalonil (Daconil) control brown patch when applied according to label instructions.

"Another fall task for homeowners is to remove excess accumulations of grass clippings or tree leaves from the lawn," points out Doble. "The excess debris from these sources increases thatch accumulation and creates a favorable habitat for insects and disease organisms."

So, for attractive lawns this fall and to insure good spring recovery, homeowners need to fertilize and use preventative pesticides as well as mow regularly.

Time to get Fall vegetable garden in shape

Although there is still plenty of hot weather ahead, it's time to start getting things in shape for your fall vegetable garden.

Much of Texas is well suited for year-round gardening, and fall vegetables generally have better quality and flavor than those grown in the spring, says Dr. Sam Cotner, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Many popular warm-season vegetables such as tomatoes, peppers, eggplants, pole beans, potatoes, okra, cucumbers and squash can be planted during the coming weeks.

Also, the so-called "winter" vegetables such as broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, greens, parsley and carrots can be planted now for early harvesting. Later plantings of these cold-hardy crops will supply fresh vegetables well into winter.

What are some of the important aspects of fall gardening?

First of all, get the land into good shape, suggests Cotner. If you had a garden this spring and fertilizer was applied, little if any additional fertilizer will be needed before fall planting.

For new gardens, apply two or three pounds of a complete fertilizer such as 10-20-10 per 100 square feet and work it into the soil, recommends the horticulturist. If plants make slow growth, apply a light amount of fertilizer between rows and water it into the soil.

Adequate water is vital for GED classes scheduled

G.E.D. classes will be held at the Ozona Community Center on Wednesday nights from 6:30-8:30. Tests will be given again on Saturday, Oct. 15, from 9-12 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. at Ozona High School. The people needing to retake tests must be involved in classwork in order to take the test otherwise they have to wait 6 months for retakes.

Eggs should be dated

An easy-to-understand "date" on egg cartons could be a big help to consumers looking for high quality, fresh eggs.

Present regulations do not require either a "pack" date or "pull" date on egg cartons, says Dr. David B. Mellor, poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. But, many egg cartons are "dated."

A "pack" date on cartons is usually based on the Julian calendar. Under this system, days of the year are numbered consecutively, explains Mellor. For example, Jan. 1 is 001, Jan. 31 is 031, June 25 is 176 and so on. Packers and store personnel use this date for inventory control and proper shelf stocking.

In addition to a "pack" date, many companies use a "pull" or expiration date. This is usually a month followed by the date and preceded by "exp" or "Sell a successful fall garden, particularly for seed germination and early plant growth. Cotner suggests "pre-irrigation" before Transplanting is a good practice in the fall since this allows seed to be started in areas sheltered from high temperatures and drying winds. Check at garden centers for recommended varieties of vegetables and strong, vigorous, healthy plants. Or you may want to grow your own transplants, notes the horticulturist.

Many sweets are hidden in food

Reducing the amount of sugar in your diet takes more than putting away the sugar bowl, since many sweeteners are hidden in processed convenience foods, drinks, baked items, confections and frozen foods.

About one-fourth of the average American's caloric intake is from sugar, says Mary K. Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist. Natural forms of sugar found in fruits, vegetables and dairy products contribute six percent of these calories and the remaining 19 percent come from sugars added to foods.

About two-thirds of the sugar added to foods comes from eating processed foods and the rest from sugar used for cooking or taken from the sugar bowl at home, she adds.

"Most people want to cut down on sugar because of health concerns," says Sweeten, who is with Texas A&M's Agricultural Extension Service.

While sugar intake has not been directly linked to diabetes or heart disease, it may be a contributing factor. Any dietary practice that results in obesity may contribute to the onset of these metabolic disorders, she explains.

"But we should not forget that sugar also plays an important role in the diet," says the specialist. "Although they offer little food value, sugars are absorbed quickly by the body and provide a quick form of energy."

Sugar also adds color, texture and flavor to baked goods. It prolongs the life of foods by inhibiting microbial growth in food preservation and helps firm, thicken and preserve fruits to be canned, frozen or dried.

To reduce sugar consumption consumers should carefully read the labels on processed foods, says Sweeten.

Since sugar comes in many different forms other than table sugar, it may be listed under a variety of names. Terms ending with "ose"—such as sucrose, glucose, dextrose, fructose, levulose, lactose, or maltose are all sugars. Other nutritive sweeteners include invert sugar, molasses, corn syrup, honey, maple sugar and syrup, and sugar alcohols such as sorbitol, mannitol, and xylitol.

Consumers should remember that ingredients are listed in order of amount on food labels and that several types of sugar may be used in one product. Processed foods where sugar is among the main ingredients can then be avoided, Sweeten says.

Substituting fruit juices or water for regular soft drinks and other drinks containing sugar; reducing pastries, desserts and candies; buying fruits packed in light syrup or water; and avoiding processed sweetened cereals are all good means of reducing sugar intake, notes the specialist.

Experimenting with favorite recipes to reduce the amount of sugar or substitute artificial sweeteners can also help reduce the sugar consumed in home cooking, says Sweeten.

TAC will sponsor course

The Texas Aeronautics Commission (TAC) will sponsor a flight instructor recertification and refresher course Sept. 30-Oct. 2 (Friday through Sunday) at the University Inn, South Bryant at Jackson, in San Angelo. Class on the first day begins at 8 a.m.

The three-day course will be conducted by Texas A&M University personnel in cooperation with the Federal Aviation Administration. A $35 registration fee payable to the Texas Aeronautics Commission covers all texts and materials. The TAC will make refunds only if notified before Sept. 29.

Developed by Texas A&M's Engineering Extension Service, the clinic is recommended for certified flight instructors seeking renewal of their certificates, commercial pilots working toward flight instructor ratings, and teachers of aeronautical subjects. A select staff of professors and leaders in aviation education will present the material.

A flight instructor certificate with all ratings will be revalidated upon successful completion of this course, provided the certificate is current (expiration date within two years). If the certificate has expired, a check ride with a local FAA General Aviation District Office will be required. Room reservations in San Angelo should be made through the TAC.

Shrine Circus to open in Sonora

The Tri Cities Shrine Club is sponsoring the Shrine Circus in Sonora at Sutton County Arena on September 17. The well known circus is produced by Carden, Int. and performance will be held at 2:00 P.M. and 7:00 P.M.

The Shrine Circus performances held annually throughout North America are the main source of income for the Shrine's Crippled Children's Hospital and burn institutes. The annual budget for 1983 is $96 million. All this is made possible by the combined efforts of local merchants, business people, news media, ranching and oil and gas industries, and our local Shriners and their ladies.

Tickets for the circus can be purchased at the gate or advance tickets can be purchased by calling 392-3093 after 5:00 p.m. Tickets are $4.00 each or can be purchased in groups of 8 tickets for $25.00. Area school children will be given free tickets at school.

The circus will feature all the exciting acts associated with the Big Top including trapeze artists, clowns, wild animal acts and thrilling acts to excite everyone.

This is the first circus the Tri-Cities Shriners have sponsored but if the response is as expected it certainly will not be the last. Officers of the club are Nelson Malik, president; Wayford Tyler, vice-president; Joe Moore, secretary; Les Robertson, treasurer. Directors are John Mitchell, Scott Shurley, B. A. Rogers and Herb Kerby.

The new club was chartered in early 1983 and is comprised of 30 members from Sonora, Ozona and El-dorado.

Church observes mourning

Members of Temple Baptist Church observed Sunday, September 11, as the National Day of Mourning declared by President Ronald Reagan.

In memory and in honor of the lives lost on the Korean Air Lines flight 007, shot down by the Soviet Union, flags were flown at half-mast at the church.

Both the morning and evening messages preached by Rev. Larry Bennett were relevant to this disaster and its meaning and effect upon us.

Health-Wise

By Dr. Steve Seassom

After much travel, study, and clinical practice I have become increasingly aware of the marvelous capabilities of the health sciences and the lack of knowledge of these capabilities on the part of the general public. Unfortunately, there hasn't yet been a good way for the public to stay abreast of the opportunities available. In this day of amazing technology it has been discovered that many of the health problems that plague us can be prevented and I think knowledge of the origin of some of these problems and ways to prevent them could possibly enable people to value, reach, and maintain the level of health they desire.

There is much more to health than just the absence of disease. In addition to physical vigor, true health involves a state of mind, an attitude, a certain quality of life that enhances a person's enjoyment, satisfaction, and achievement. Some of us highly value this thing called health and it has been said that, "If you don't have your health, you don't have anything." Health is rare--you can't buy it or have it given to you--only those who desire it and work for it have it.

In this time of rapid, unpredictable change in which we are constantly confronted with changes of many kinds, the ability to sort through things and choose what is important to us, is truly an asset. We hope to enhance your ability by simply helping you be knowledgeable enough to make informed, value-based decisions about some aspects of your health. We hope to accomplish this

VA regional director appointed-this region

Daniel Cooney, Director of the Minneapolis Veterans Administration Medical Center since 1976, has been appointed Regional Director for the Western Region of VA's Department of Medicine and Surgery. He succeeds John Peters, now retiring.

Cooney also has directed one of the agency's 28 medical districts and has served as a member of the Chief Medical Director's Field Advisory Council, a panel of senior VA facility managers advising the Chief Medical Director on the nation's largest health care system.

A Providence College graduate with a degree in accounting, Cooney also holds a masters in public health from the University of Pittsburgh. He served in the Army from 1954 to 1956. He joined the VA in 1961 and served in posts of increasing responsibility, including tours as assistant director of three VA medical centers, before assuming the top job in Minneapolis.

Among special recognitions accorded Cooney during his more than two decades with the VA was the Meritorious Executive 1980.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to take this opportunity to thank our many friends for the many expressions of sympathy on the death of our loved one and to express our appreciation to the care center staff. We deeply appreciated the food, lovely floral offerings and other condolences. You have been a wonderful help to us in our time of sadness. May God bless you each day.

The Scientists Tell Me...

Faster Processing Of Beef Cuts Both Time And Costs

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Hot-boning of beef, or accelerated processing-the fabrication of carcasses, prior to complete chilling, into boneless primal and sub-primals, and including the removal of excess fat and certain bones has been suggested as a more economical procedure than current fabrication systems used by the meat industry. Tests at Texas A&M University showed this procedure saved 16.45 percent in time, yielded 1 percent more meat and had 1 percent less shrinkage.

An economic feasibility study of hot-processing beef carcasses at Kansas State reported that hot processing could reduce the space, energy, and labor requirements by as much as 48, 42, and 25 percent respectively, when compared to the more conventional method of fabrication-chilling the carcass for 24 to 48 hours prior to boning. In that study, the combined savings with hot processing amounted to an estimated $2.75 per carcass.

A potential problem associated with hot processing of beef is that rapid chilling of prerigor meat, which lacks the physical restraints imposed by the attachment of the muscles to the skeleton, may cause cold shortening. Cold shortening generally results in decreased muscle tenderness of the cut, according to Dr. Gary Smith, a nationally recognized meats researcher for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and head of the Animal Science Department at Texas A&M University.

Smith and a team of meat researchers, recently completed an investigation of 1)boning time requirements and yield differences between on-the-rail cold-boned carcasses, and 2)comparison of shear force values (a measure of tenderness) and sensory panel evaluations of strip loin and bottom round steaks from electrically stimulated hot-boned and not-stimulated cold-boned carcasses from 33 forage-fed steers.

Electrical stimulation of carcasses, a process developed at Texas A&M and now in wide use by industry, can tenderize and increase palatability of meat.

As noted earlier, the hot-boning process saved 16.45 percent in time, gave a 1 percent greater yield, and resulted in 1 percent less shrinkage loss, compared to the standard cold-boned process. There was less than 1 percent difference between boning methods for fat trim,

Aggie designs house with cheap bills

A Texas A&M University architect is designing a house that will be cool in summer and warm in winter with the goal of using less than $30 a month for energy.

Raymond Reed, professor of architecture and a member of the American Institute of Architects' Task Force on Energy Conservation, is drawing up plans for the house which will eventually be built in Port Arthur as part of a project sponsored by Gulf States Utilities.

Although Reed has not completed the designs, he said the house will have a double roof that will be a shading device in the summer and a heating device in the winter.

When completed, Reed's design will be made available to the public.

Bill Sims objects to proposal

State Senator Bill Sims of San Angelo Friday voiced strong objections to a proposed rule change for the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department concerning the maintenance of traps.

"Essentially, the proposed rule in Section 65.379 (a) (8) requires that traps set up to catch furbearing animals be examined every 24 hours," Sims said.

"However, the TP&WD rule change would not differentiate between traps set up for furbearing animals or predator traps that accidentally catch furbearing animals."

Sims further stressed the hardship such examinations would pose in the wide-open areas of West Texas.

"Trapping for predators is our major method of control at this point," Sims said. "Out here, the rule would simply become unenforceable."

Senator Sims urged those with concerns about the proposed rule change to contact the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department in Austin at AC 512/479-4974 or 800/792-1112.

"I urge the Parks & Wildlife Department to take into consideration the vastness of this area, the distances between traps and the heavy use of traps for predators," Sims added.
