Locals plan drug abuse program

Monday, October 24, local club organizations, church representatives, school officials, and interested parents planned the details of "The Chemical People" program. They decided on publicity, panel, and task force efforts.

The Chemical People is a nationwide TV broadcast designed especially to bring concerned parents and citizens together about drug and alcohol abuse and offers guidelines for helping school aged children. Nationally this broadcast will be hosted by First Lady Nancy Reagan and involve national organizations and PBS stations.

Locally the Chemical People project will be shown at the Civic Center, November 2 and 9 at 7:45 p.m. Following the first broadcast, a panel of local people will discuss the local drug and alcohol situation. Everyone will be invited to return for the second program which will focus on community involvement.

Many local churches, schools, club organizations, and parents are involved locally on the project. Get involved with the people in our community...join local efforts to promote nationwide "The Chemical People" project.

Rain runs draw

JOHNSON DRAW RUNS bank to bank from the bountiful rains which fell here Wednesday night and early Thursday morning. For the first time this year the bridge, in background was the only way to cross the draw. The rainfall measured well over four inches.

Little interest shown in November election

If absentee voting is any indication, Crockett County voters will stay away from the polls in droves for the November 8, general election. Absentee voting opened in the clerk's office a week ago today, and at noon Tuesday not one person had cast a ballot.

Lack of interest in this county is due to the fact that only eleven proposed amendments to the state constitution appear on the ballot, and have very little to do with Crockett County voters, except perhaps raise taxes.

Amendment number one would save counties some revenue, by allowing fewer justice of the peace precincts in counties of less than 30,000 population. This would not affect Crockett County, since there has been only one J.P. precinct here in the history of the county. Traditionally here the office has been designated Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1. If the amendment passes, instead of precinct 1, the office probably would be changed to J.P. at large. At least that would be the case in this county.

Proposition 2, would limit the homestead exemption to one acre of land, together with any improvements. As it is, numerous lots may be designated as an urban homestead and are exempt from forced sale.

Amendment number 3, if passed, would give the Legislature the power to grand agricultural producers associations the authority to collect a refundable checkoff on their product sales, the money to be used for research and marketing.

Amendment number 4, would authorize the Legislature to provide for temporary succession to offices in the Legislature when a senator or representative becomes unavailable to serve during enemy attack emergencies. In other words it would provide for the Legislature to operate under nuclear attack or war. To most, this seems a facetious addition to the constitution.

Proposition number 5 would authorize the use of the Permanent School Fund to guarantee school bonds. This bill would aid local school districts with construction needs but unfavorable economic conditions. It would save school districts million of dollars in long-term construction debt financing. On the face of it, it would seem this amendment is the only one worthy of passage.

Amendment number 6 would allow the courts to garnish wages for enforcement of court-ordered child support payments. Even if it passes, it will most likely not be effective.

Amendment number 7 would authorize $800 million in state bonds to finance home purchase loans for Texas veterans. According to the authors of the bill, the program would be self-supporting.

Amendment number 8 would allow local governments to exempt certain veteran and fraternal organizations from property taxes.

Amendment number 9 would assist in speeding up court cases by allowing probate court judges to serve in other courts.

Amendment number 10 would allow a city or town to expend public funds and levy assessments for the relocation or replacement of sanitation sewer laterals on private property.

Amendment number 11 deals with the Board of Pardons and Paroles. It would change the board from a constitutional agency to a statutory agency and give the board the power to revoke paroles.

Polls open here at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. with Precinct 1 voters casting ballots at the courthouse, Precinct 2, Jr. High School; precinct 3, Civic Center, and Precinct 4, at Ozona Primary School.

Contest winner

Winner of the weekly football contest, sponsored by local merchants and the Stockman, was Mani Enriquez, who only missed one game. Enriquez won over a field of over fifty contestants.

Eligibility for the weekly contest, is having entries in on or before 5 p.m. on Fridays, and the entry blank must be clipped from the pages of the Stockman. Entry blanks may be found on the sports page.

Lions downed by Crane crew

By-Gary Davis

"It's just the same old song and dance," said Ozona head coach, Don Abbott, as the Lions lost their fifth game, the fourth in a row, to the Crane Golden Cranes by a score of 35-14 in El Ave Stadium, Friday, October 21.

Jim Vasquez, Crane's senior running back, rushed for 204 yards and scored two touchdowns to lead the Golden Cranes to their eighth consecutive victory of the season.

Crane scored 21 first half points to take a 21-7 halftime lead over the Lions. Jim Vasquez ran for two touchdowns, Joe Vasquez completed a 15 yard pass to Todd Rogers for a score, and junior Bishop kicked all the PAT's as the Crane's jumped ahead of the Lions.

Ozona's only first half score came with 59 seconds remaining in the half. David Delgado fired a 35 yard pass to Robert Flores, which put the Lions on the seven-yard line. Delgado then connected with Flores again for the touchdown. Flores kicked the PAT. The Cranes then let the time expire and went into halftime 14 points ahead.

The third quarter was scoreless, but the Cranes outscored the Lions in the fourth period, 14-7. Jim Vasquez connected with Chris Walker for 20 yards, Joe Vasquez passed to Walker for 24, and Bishop cashed in the extra points to score 14 points for the Cranes.

With 10:46 remaining in the fourth quarter Ozona took possession of the ball. In three short plays, Diego Leal ran for 28 yards to the Crane 17 yard line.

Lion backup quarterback, sophomore Steve Sanchez, hit Mark Vallejo for the second Ozona touchdown. Flores kicked the PAT to make the score 35-14 in Crane's favor.

Leal topped the list of Lion rushers with 86 yards. He was followed by Delgado, 61; Matt Gutierrez 18, and Sanchez with 16 yards. Other rushers were Johnny Rodriguez, David Adams, and Oscar Vargas.

Delgado threw for 54 yards with two interceptions and Sanchez threw for 20 yards.

Top receivers were Florez, Manuel Perez, and Vallejo. Rowdy Holmsley received praise from Abbott as did player of the week, Ed Borrego. "Rowdy was back for the first week as a guard and played well, and Ed probably had the best game he's ever had," said Abbott.

Kent Hokit performed well on defense as he picked off two key passes.

The Lions who are 3-5 on the season will host the Coahoma Bulldogs at 7:30 p.m. Friday. "Coahoma. They're similar to us," said Abbott. "They're just trying to find the key. We'll just do the same old things and try to do them better."

Annual Halloween carnival on tap

Halloween festivities, sponsored by the Ozona Chamber of Commerce, will get under way Saturday, Oct. 29, with a parade, beginning at 5 p.m. Everyone is invited to take part, the only stipulation being, the participant must be in costume.

The annual Halloween carnival will begin in the park following the parade, around 6 p.m.

Sunday has been set for the annual Halloween trick or treat activity for local youngsters. Parents are urged to accompany their children on this annual outing to ensure their safety.

Several booths will be available to ensure the entire family an evening of fun and food. For the first time the chamber will charge for coordinating the carnival, proceeds to be used for some of the chamber's projects. The fee will be $15 for each booth or 10% of the gross profit.

Girl Scout troops 129 and 189 will have the duck pond and spook house booths.

Parent awareness program

A Parent Awareness Program was presented at the Community Center Monday night. Eighty parents and teachers were on hand to hear Betsy Sadler, Early Childhood Specialist from Region XV Service Center, and Jim Coffey, gifted and talented specialist, give parents some information about helping their children before and after they enter school. Parents had an opportunity to ask questions about problems.

Parents were reminded children can learn at a very early age. They were encouraged to talk to children, read to them and take advantage of everyday experiences to teach children as much at home as possible before they enter school.

Later parent awareness programs will deal with other facets in the school life of children that parents can help with if they are aware of ways to interact.

Three Brownie Scout troops will offer the fish pond, nickle pitch and pumpkin house.

Crockett County 4-H leaders will be in charge of the pond rides, dart throw and basketball throw, along with the rat race.

Pete Maldonado and his gang from the OHS VICA chapter will have the car bash. The South Side Lions Club will have the cake walk this year and the Catholic Women will have a hot tamale booth.

Ozona High School Band Booster will man the concession stand, where hot dogs, sandwiches, Frito pie, Cokes, coffee and candy will be offered.

The Phi Sigma Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will have three booths, pocket man, bean bag toss and balloons. Alpha Alpha Mu chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will have the face-painting booth.

The chamber will be in charge of bingo and pop corn sales.

The carnival will take place in the park which will be well lighted and families are invited to come and have dinner from the many food booths on the grounds.

Ozona receives abundant rains

Rain came to Ozona and Crockett County in abundance Wednesday night and Thursday morning and when the final drops fell the official gauge at the Water District office had recorded 4.45 inches of the precious moisture. Added to the two inches which fell two weeks ago, an optimistic soul might venture to say the drought is broken.

The rain was steady and general, with reports of up to five and six inches from various ranches in the county. As far as could be ascertained there were no dry spots in the county Thursday morning.

Draws ran bank to bank and the only way to get across Johnson Draw in an automobile during the morning hours was the bridge on Hwy 290. City streets were flooded and in some places washed out, but there were no complaints.

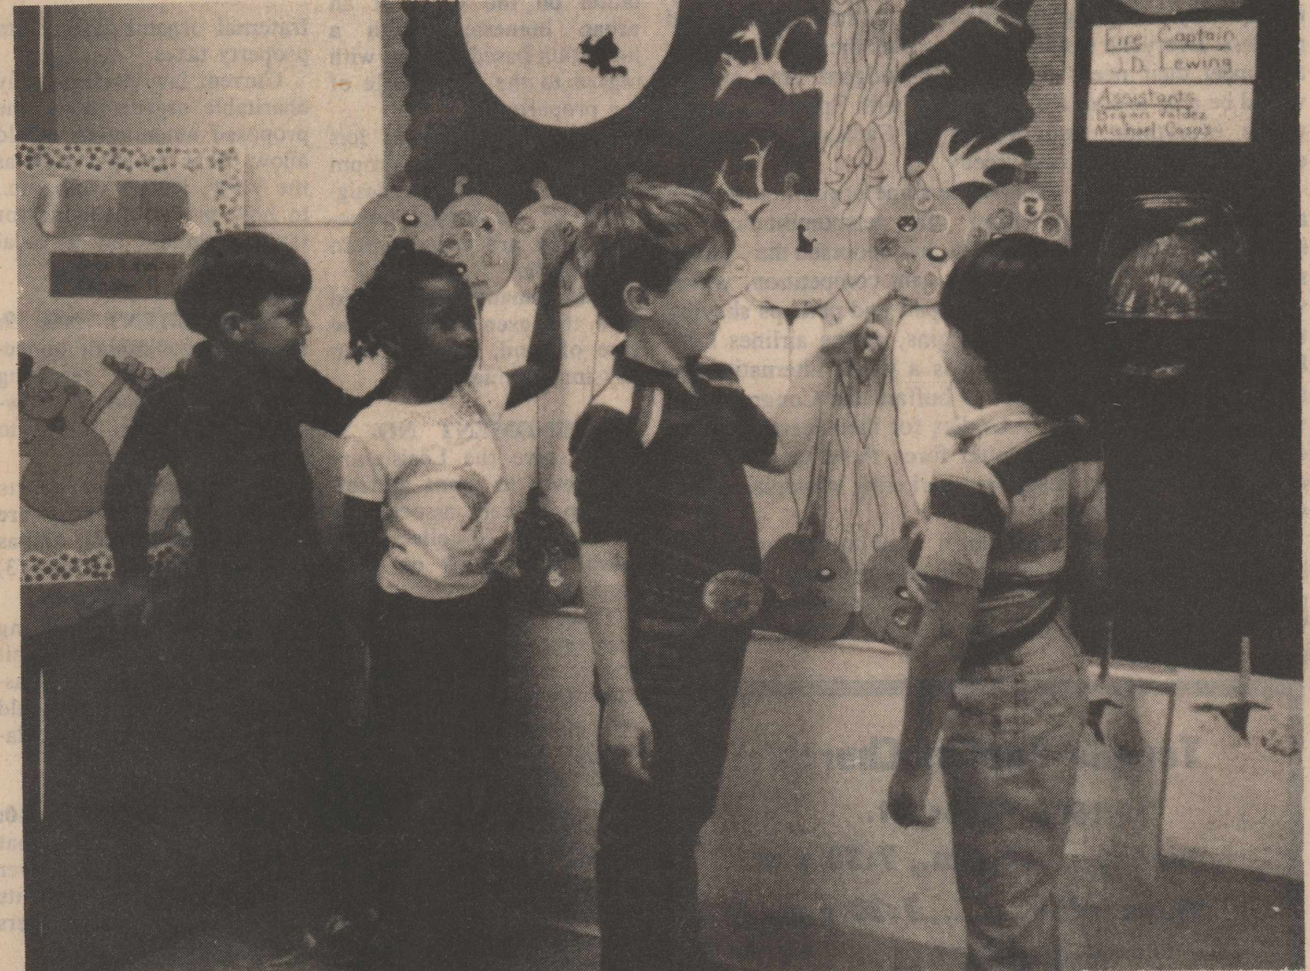

Another shower Tuesday morning brought an additional half inch of rain. The rain came on the heels of a front which brought fall weather to the area and the heavy overcast Tuesday afternoon promised even more precipitation.

Wildcat slated for county field

Echo Production Inc., Graham, will drill the No. 1 Henderson Ranch, an 1,800-foot wildcat and as a location south offset to the opener and lone producer of the Susita (San Andres oil) field and as a 1/4-mile northeast outpost to Shallow oil production in the Howard Draw multipay field of Crockett County, 13 1/2 miles west-northwest of Ozona.

Location is 467 feet from the south and west lines of 52-UV-GC&SF, Abst. 5120.

The Susita opener, Adobe Oil Co. No. 1 Henderson, drilled to 1,615 feet, was finished Sept. 15, 1967 to pump 35 barrels of 33.5 gravity oil, plus five barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 1,829-1, through perforations at 1,516-27 and 1,601-611 feet.

Spook time

DECORATING FOR HALLOWEEN is a fun time for these first graders. The entire class made the pumpkin faces the children are placing in the room, so it

AN OBSCENE CALL FROM MA BELL

By Edwin Feulner

Don't look now, but soon someone wanting to "reach out and touch someone" may put his hand in your pocket.

Because of a convoluted court decision handed down in the Justice Department's antitrust case against the American Telephone and Telegraph Company (AT&T), the national telephone monopoly affectionately known as "Ma Bell" is being broken up into seven regional telephone companies.

One benefit of the deregulation offensive is already bearing fruit. The tremendous growth of companies offering long distance telephone service has sharply cut the cost of making long distance phone calls.

But because local telephone service will still remain a monopoly, there are no incentives there to offer variety and cost-saving options.

This is where the pinheads-on-the-Potomac take their cue. Since skyrocketing phone rates may jeopardize access to telephone service for the poor and the elderly, they cry, Washington should jump into the picture by raising taxes and handing out subsidies.

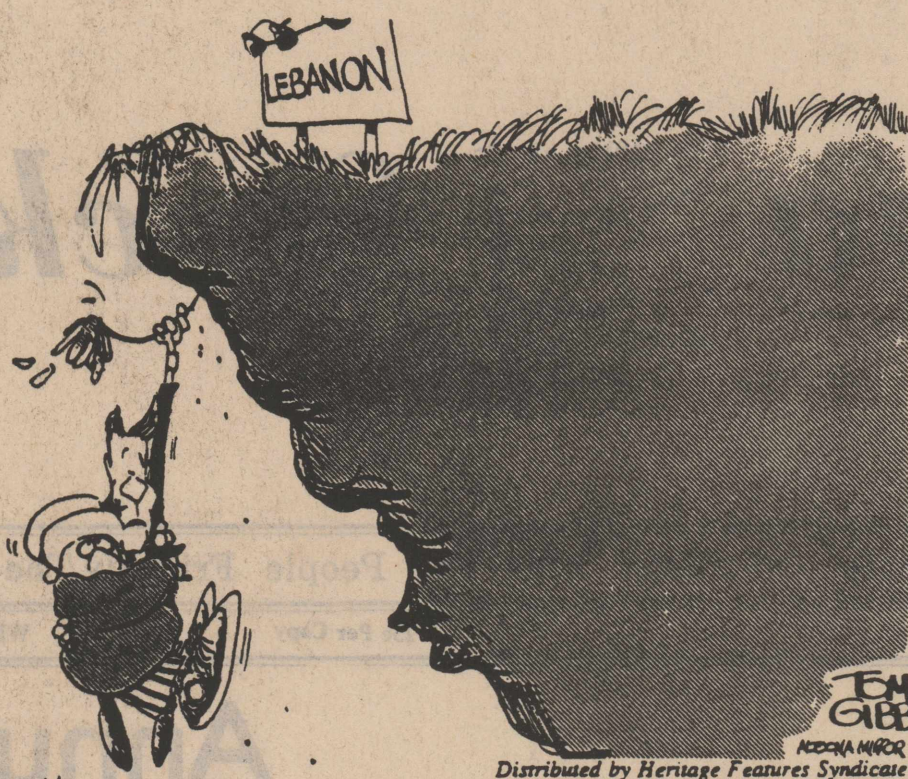

One proposal currently being considered in the House of Representatives involves increasing the federal excise taxes on telephone service, and using the new revenues to subsidize local telephone companies to keep rates down.

I think Washington should hang up and try again. Instead of attempting to perpetuate the elaborate subsidy schemes for which AT&T was criticized, they might consider instead a truly revolutionary idea: real competition in local telephone service, just like in the long-distance market!

That way, those who use their telephones only infrequently could sign up for more limited services and pay less. Everyone would be able to pick the phone services that meet their needs and fit their budgets.

Of course, there's likely to be some opposition to such a "radical" concept from the telecommunications industry—which, understandably, has endorsed the "phone stamps" idea.

If the American people don't want to end up paying higher federal taxes for telephone service, they had better pick up the phone and call their representatives in Washington. It may be long distance, but it's the next best thing to being there.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Almost lost in the flurry of an indicted attorney general, debates over dwindling state revenues, and lawsuits against giant oil companies is the Nov. 8 election, just around the corner.

In what is expected to be an off-year low turnout, voters will either approve or disapprove 11 proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

The underlying theme of almost all the amendments is government revenues, either state or local, and a.m at enhancing services without raising taxes.

The proposed amendments, in the order they will appear on the ballot, are:

AMENDMENT NO. 1: Authorizes fewer justice of the peace and constable precincts in counties with a population of less than 30,000 and provides for continuous service by county officials when precinct boundaries are changed.

This amendment, skillfully authored by freshman Rep. Dudley Harrison, D-Sanderson, is aimed at reducing the cost of county government in rural areas which do not need as many as the constitutionally required four JPs and constables.

Harrison convinced the Legislature that some rural counties could get by with as few as one JP and constable, and their county governments could save revenues if they could drop the unnecessary salaries.

If approved by voters, county officials would have until Jan. 1, 1987 to comply with the new requirements which would designate new precincts according to population.

AMENDMENT NO. 2: Proposes to replace the limitation on the value of an urban homestead with a limitation based on size, with regard to the forced sale of the property.

Currently, numerous lots designated at a maximum value of $10,000 are designated as an urban homestead and are exempt from forced sale.

This amendment would base the exemption at one acre of land, together with any improvements.

AMENDMENT NO. 3: Would give the Legislature the power to grant agricultural producers associations the authority to collect a refundable checkoff on their product sales.

These producers would first approve the fee collection in a members referendum. The proceeds would be used only for research, marketing, and educational programs relating to that particular industry.

AMENDMENT NO. 4: Authorizes the Legislature to provide for temporary succession to offices in the Legislature when a senator or representative becomes unavailable to serve during enemy attack emergencies.

It also provides for suspension of certain constitutional procedural rules during emergencies caused by such an attack.

Grand Saline State Rep. Bill Hollowell, a staunch veteran, authored this bill providing for the Legislature to operate under nuclear attack or war.

AMENDMENT NO. 5: Proposes to authorize use of the Permanent School Fund to guarantee school bonds.

This bill would aid local school districts with construction needs but unfavorable economic conditions for unaided bonding. The proposed guaranteed bond program would save school districts millions in long-term construction debt financing.

AMENDMENT NO. 6: Would allow the court to garnish wages for enforcement of court-ordered child support payments.

Current law prohibits the court from forcing part of a person's salary or wages to go to child support payments. Brownsville Rep. Rene Oliveira authored this bill aimed at parents who default on such payments.

This amendment does not allow any other sort of debt to be subject to garnishment.

AMENDMENT NO. 7: Authorizes $800 million in state bonds to finance home purchase loans for Texas veterans.

Modeled after the 34-year-old veteran's land program which helps vets buy 10 acres of land, the proposed program is aimed at the modern vet who may only want to buy an urban residence.

The program would be self-supporting.

AMENDMENT NO. 8: Allows local governments to exempt certain veteran and fraternal organizations from property taxes.

Current law exempts only charitable organizations; the proposed amendment would allow other groups, such as the VFW, Rotary Club, etc., to hold property eligible for tax exemption on a local option basis.

AMENDMENT NO. 9: Proposes to eliminate unnecessary delays in resolving certain court cases by allowing probate court judges to serve in other courts.

The 11 statutory courts affected by this proposal are located in Bexar (2), Dallas (3), Galveston, Harris (3) and Tarrant (2) counties.

If approved, judges sitting on these courts could sit state-wide according to an assignment system that would be provided by the Legislature.

necting the house to the main sewer line.

AMENDMENT NO. 11: Proposes to change the Board of Pardons and Paroles from a constitutional agency to a statutory agency, and would eliminate the Governor's power to revoke paroles.

If approved, the membership of the Pardons and Paroles Boards would be changed to a composition authorized by the Legislature.

Currently, the three board members are appointed one by the governor, one by the Chief Justice of the Texas Supreme Court, and one by the presiding judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Letters to the Editor

October 21, 1983

Dear Ms. Montgomery: Texas taxpayers have a lot to gain and nothing to lose in voting FOR Proposition 5, the school bond amendment, in the November 8 constitutional amendments election.

The amendment could save our schools and local taxpayers $435 million in interest payments alone in just the next 17 years.

It comes as a surprise to many people that the awesome resources the State of Texas dedicates to education are not taken into account by national bond markets when setting local school district bond ratings and interest rates.

Proposition 5 would cure that by permitting qualified local school bond issues to be backed by the state's $3 billion Permanent School Fund. The result would be better bond ratings and lower interest rates for our local districts.

The state's Permanent Fund would simply be lending its good name; it would not be paying off the bonds. Texas schools have a fine bond record. In the unlikely event of a default, the state would simply pick up the payments by withholding the local district's state allotments.

I urge Texas voters to approve Proposition 5. Sincerely, Bob Bullock, Comptroller of Public Accounts

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Another month almost gone and with it the old time that I like much better, and I think most everyone else does also.

If you were successful with caladiums this summer, you may save the tubers for another year with proper care. As the leaves begin to dry up, lift clumps, remove as much soil as possible and place in a warm, dry, well-ventilated, and shady spot for three weeks to cure. After the tubers are dry, remove dead leaves and inspect tubers to be sure they are free of problems. Dust thoroughly with a combination of Captan and Sevin to protect them from insects and disease. Pack tubers in dry peat moss or vermiculite and place in a container so they do not touch. Store in a dry place where the temperature will stay as near 60 degrees as possible. Check once in a while and remove any that may rot.

If you haven't prepared soil for sweet peas, it should be done now for planting next month. Prepare soil deeply and generously, working in a layer of manure as the plants do best in a rich soil. Sweet peas do best here before it gets too hot, so plant for early blooming.

Plants of snapdragons, pansies, stock and other annuals may still be set out in the milder regions where they act as perennials when winter is not too severe.

Make cuttings of tender plants before frost. Select quality tulip bulbs and chill in vegetable tray of refrigerator 4 to 6 weeks before planting. Some have already had this treatment.

Perhaps you have noticed the colorful blue hardy Aster or Michaelmas daisies now in bloom. They are a perennial, so need not be disturbed each year. They can be used as a border, hedge, or specimen. Once established they are very little trouble to grow.

Spurred by fall rains and coolness, roses vie with chrysanthemums for attention at this time. Both should beat their best until frost comes along to spoil them.

If frost arrives this month or when it does, cut asparagus back to the ground when plants are killed. Then mulch with rotted manure or compost.

Now is the time to harvest many plants to dry seed pods and those that have already dried. Most of them need to be hung upside down if gathered while still fresh. Gather some small flowered and foliage sprays to use in miniature arrangements while no fresh flowers are available. For grasses or filler material, there are many beautiful varieties you may find in pastures, including Johnson grass and artemesia.

Garden ceremony unites Miss Allen and Mr. Dillard

Miss Becky Allen and Mr. Billy Dillard were united in marriage in a garden ceremony September 24, at the home of the bridegroom's parents. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James R. Allen of Santa Anna and Mr. and Mrs. Billy D. Dillard of Cross Plains.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight chiffon and Schiffl embroidery. The headpiece was a wreath of ivory silk flowers. She carried a bouquet of pink and wine carnations.

Mrs. Walker Tatum of Tullia, an aunt of the bride, was pianist. Jerry and Sharon Lewis of San Angelo, cousins of the bridegroom were the musical duet.

Tony Watson of Santa Anna served her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Barbara Akers of Clyde and Terri McColloch of Ozona. Angela Glasscock, niece of the bridegroom was train bearer.

Bill Glasscock of Ozona, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Tom Potter of Cross Plains were groomsmen.

Robin Hartman of Santa Anna registered guests. Guy Allen of Lovington, N.M. and Gip Allen of Santa Anna, brother's of the bride, served as ushers.

A patio reception was held following the ceremony.

The bride is an elementary teacher in the Ozona Schools and the bridegroom is employed with Blue Ridge Oil and Gas Co.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for a barbecue supper for members of the wedding party following the rehearsal on September 23.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Parker and Tom Lee were in Hugo, Colo. last week to attend funeral services for Mr. Lee's nephew and Mr. Lee's brother, Pat Lee. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Doc Lee, formerly of Ozona.

Religion and the Family

You'll find in the Sixty-eighth Psalm a remarkable statement: He setteth the solitary in families. The Bible is saying that the family as a social institution was designed by God.

Obviously for a purpose: His purpose! The family has long been the center for sharing and strengthening religious insights and convictions. The effectiveness of the Church in teaching and inspiring souls is generally dependent on the support and encouragement of the home.

But the ancient text says something more! It says God is concerned about those who are alone! He wants them to discover that we are all part of HIS FAMILY. The Church can be instrumental in helping the lonely find life rich in warmth and caring.

Whether next Sabbath you'll be with the family—or alone—God is expecting you!

Tex. Safety Assn. urges group fun for Halloween

Group activity is the safest way for children to celebrate Halloween, according to George R. Gustafson, Executive Vice President of Texas Safety Association. The threat to personal safety focused by the bizarre Tylenol-related deaths last fall caused many parents to seek for their children alternatives to the traditional house-to-house trick or treating. Although that particular scare has passed, the potential dangers of trick or treating, particularly in urban neighborhoods, have not vanished with last year's crisis, said Gustafson.

Providing the alternatives of structured and supervised activities such as parties is a wise effort, according to Gustafson.

Gustafson said that safety is not the only reason to choose a group activity. "Working parents can use Halloween as the focus for some high-quality family fun--the kind of time that you're always planning to spend, but keep postponing. A family party, with or without a few special friends, can create memories which will outlive the recollection of just another trick or treating expedition in the neighborhood," he said.

Ozona runners in Big Lake

Saturday, October 22, 16 runners traveled to Big Lake to participate in the Caliente Classic. The Big Lake Chamber of Commerce sponsored three races.

A one-mile fun run for ages ten and under and a three and six-mile run for ages eleven and up were held.

Runners placing from Ozona were Lonnie Martinez, first; John Babb, third; Leroy Martinez, fourth; Michael Vasquez, fifth; and Justin Moran, twelfth.

In the girls division Sandra Fuentes was first, Susan Pullen, third; Stacy Skains, sixth, and Candie Sessom, seventh.

All of these runners ran the one-mile fun run. In the three-mile run Donna Sanchez was first in her division and Ofelia Rios first in her division. Ruben Borrego was third in his division and Tina Moran was second in her division.

In the six-mile run Joe Moran was fourth, Jon Moran, first and Carol Sessom, first in their respective divisions. Runners placing in the top three places received medals and all runners entered got a t-shirt.

"If you do allow your children to go trick or treating," he said, "make sure that they go in groups and have some adult supervision; remind them of basic pedestrian safety including using sidewalks; and instruct them not to eat any treats until you have examined them at home, discarding any unwrapped or loosely wrapped items and anything suspicious, as well as washing and cutting fruit."

Antihistamines have wide variety of uses

From the Texas Medical Association

Although antihistamines no longer make headlines as miracle drugs, they have played a major role in medicine for the past 35 years, says the Texas Medical Association.

Antihistamines' importance stems from their effectiveness in dealing with a variety of medical problems including hay fever, motion sickness, itching, and stomach ulcers.

As their name suggests, antihistamines fight histamine, a chemical substance found in nearly all body tissue. When released, histamine causes some uncomfortable reactions.

It contracts smooth muscles such as those of the windpipe and the stomach. At the same time, histamine relaxes other muscles including those of tiny blood vessels. The result is a redness particularly in the face and upper body, called the "flushing area."

Histamine also causes swelling particularly where many small blood vessels are located, such as inside the nose. The third main reaction in itching and pain caused by histamine's effect on sensory nerve endings.

Release of histamine from tissues can be triggered by an allergy, physical trauma, heat or radiation injury severe enough to damage cells, and reactions to certain drugs, foods, and dyes. Snake and insect venoms also stimulate histamine release.

Antihistamines are most useful in relieving the sneezing, runny nose, nasal congestion, and watery eyes that accompany hay fever. They also can prevent the queasy stomach and dizziness that come with motion sickness. In addition, antihistamines can relieve the swelling and itching that often accompany include: make sure that costumes allow safe movement and masks do not obstruct vision or breathing; use a flashlight instead of a candle for jack-o'-lanterns; make sidewalks, driveways, and porches safe for guests by sweeping and clearing away obstructions; turn on the porch light; and drive with extraordinary care, according to Gustafson.

"In short, courtesy and caution can help make this Halloween a safe one," Gustafson said.

allergic reactions to drugs such as penicillin or to foods and food coloring.

Antihistamines' tendency to cause drowsiness makes them useful as ingredients in sedatives. Drowsiness, in fact, is their main problem in common usage. Fortunately, not all antihistamines cause the same degree of sedation.

Here are some suggestions for using antihistamines safely: (1) Use a prescribed antihistamine makes you too drowsy, ask your doctor if another drug or a different dosage would work. (2) Avoid driving autos or operating machinery. (3) Don't drink alcoholic beverages or take depressant drugs such as tranquilizers. (4) When using over-the-counter antihistamines, don't take two products containing them at the same time. (5) If you have asthma, glaucoma, or prostate problems, check with your doctor before taking OTC antihistamines.

S.S. benefits no longer payable to felons

Social Security benefits are generally no longer payable to prisoners convicted of a felony. Recent legislation has expanded the previous restrictions for incarcerated disability beneficiaries to cover all types of Social Security beneficiaries.

Regulations for suspending the checks of a convicted felon while in prison depend on the type of Social Security benefits being received. Effective October, 1980, disability benefits for workers and disabled adult children and benefits for students who committed a felony after October 19, 1980, are not payable for any month or part of a month in which the individual is confined in a penal institution or correctional facility because of a felony conviction. The suspension of a disability benefit check does not apply for the months in which the prisoner is actively and satisfactorily participating in a rehabilitation program approved specifically for the individual by a court of law. The rehabilitation program must enable the disabled prisoner to work within a reasonable period of time after beginning the program and upon release from prison.

Effective May 1983, the new legislation extended the suspension of benefits provisions to imprisoned felons who are drawing retirement and survivor benefit checks.

The checks of a disabled widow or widower will not be suspended if he or she is participating in an approved rehabilitation program which will enable him or her to work upon release.

Even though the prisoner's retirement, survivors, or disability checks have been suspended for a felony confinement, other family members drawing benefits on the prisoner's record can continue receiving Social Security payments as though the prisoner were actually receiving benefits. If the prisoner is entitled to Medicare hospital and medical insurance, the coverage can continue even though monthly benefits have been suspended. For the medical insurance to continue, the prisoner must pay the premiums in advance since they cannot be deducted from the monthly check.

For more information, contact the San Angelo Social Security Office located at 2214 Sherwood Way or call 949-4608.

The Scientists Tell Me...

Animal Performance Is Best Measure of Forage Improvement Research

By-Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Animal performance is the one best measure of whether an "improvement" in pasture of forage really is an improvement, according to Dr. Ethan Holt at Texas A&M University.

Even though a plant might be hardy and prolific and yield heavy amounts of forage, if it's lacking in palatability and availability of essential nutrients, animals won't make satisfactory gains on it, says Holt, who is project leader in forage research for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES).

"Pastures and forage contribute directly to both domestic livestock and wildlife production," Holt says, "and have a significant influence on the economics of livestock enterprises."

"It is estimated that forages contribute 68% of the total nutrients utilized for cattle production in Texas, and beef cattle and calf sales totaled $9,960,000,000 in 1980, which represented approximately 50% of total cash receipts for all agricultural commodities."

"In addition, forages contribute 39, 70, 90, 30, and 75% of the nutrients utilized by dairy cows, sheep, goats, horses, and wildlife, respectively."

"Improved pastures and cropland used for grazing exceed 20 million acres. Grass production, whether perennial grasses for grazing or annual grasses for grazing and hay, is heavily dependent on nitrogen fertilization in humid areas of the state."

"Prior to the mid 1970's, nitrogen was relatively cheap and much of the pasture and forage production in the humid sections of the state was based on commercial nitrogen. Now, there's a growing interest in legumes because they can obtain nitrogen through a symbiotic relationship with Rhizobia (bacteria)

"The decision to seek top gain per animal or gain per acre involves many factors including level of risk, management expertise, current and future pricing situation, continuous ownership during the post-weaning phase, availability of credit, etc."

"But before any of these factors are relevant to the decision-making process, the producer must be aware of the potential animal response at more than one stocking rate or level of available forage, within a given climatic area."

"To provide this information, we initiated research at Overton to evaluate cow and calf gains at three different levels of forage availability.

"Coastal bermudagrass pastures were oversown with 'Yuchi' arrowleaf clover and 'Gulf' ryegrass during 1980, and 'Mt. Barker' subterranean clover and 'Gulf' ryegrass during 1981 and 1982. Pastures were grazed to three different levels of available forage (stocking rate) by mature F-1 Brahman x Hereford cows and their Simmental-sired calves."

"Pastures grazed to approximately 700 pounds per acre of dry-matter forage, supported an average of 3.36 cows and calves per acre, during the three-year trial. Forage grazed to approximately 1500 pounds of dry-matter forage per acre and 2,500 pounds per acre, respectively, supported stocking rates of 1.38 and .87 cows and calves per acre."

"The lightly- and medium-stocked pastures resulted in calf gains of 2.67 and 2.56 pounds per head per day, respectively, during the three-year trial. Suckling calves grazing the high-stocked pastures gained only 1.58 pounds per head per day, but produced total gains of 712 pounds gain per acre. Cows on high-stocked pastures (3.36 animal units per acre) lost a total of 50 pounds in this same time period."

"We know that with the use of high quality, quantity, and well-managed forages, fall-born steers can wean at 775 pounds and heifers can wean at 700 pounds, at approximately nine months of age. Thus, these calves have attained approximately 75 percent of their potential slaughter weight by weaning time."

"Our scientists at Overton initiated a trial to find out if the use of creep feed during pre-weaning periods would provide sufficient extra weight gains to warrant direct slaughter at weaning."

"Cows and calves, of the type previously described, were grazed on bermudagrass-clover-ryegrass pastures at low-stocking rates (.82 cow-calf pair/acre), and calves were offered supplemental feed from creep feeding."

"By comparison the three-year average daily gain for steers was 3.30 pounds, whereas, heifers had an average daily gain of 2.78 pounds. The average daily gain for all calves was 3.18 during the trial period. Creep-fed calves gained .54 pounds per head per day more than non-creep fed calves grazing lightly-stocked pastures."

"The addition of creep feed had similar weight-gain effects on both steers (.42 lbs/hd/day) and heifers (.36 lbs/hd/day). Cow gains were not substantially affected by the use of creep feed on lightly-stocked pastures."

"Although the three-year average pounds of creep feed per pound of gain was 5.5, the two-year average of 7.3 may be more representative of the feed conversion efficiencies."

"Only slightly more than an extra 100 pounds of gain resulted from the use of creep feed. This additional gain was less than anticipated, but was low due to the high-quality pastures used in both the creep-fed and pasture-only treatments."

"This research shows 900 pound steers can be weaned with the use of creep feed. However, creep feed may prove to be used most economically to supply a special slaughter market and/or buffer a poor forage system."

"On high-quality pastures, the most economical use of creep feeding fall-born calves may be to teach them to eat supplemental feed at an early age but not offer free-choice creep feed until the last 60 days (June-July) of the grazing period."

In other research, Tifton-44 and Coastal bermudagrass were grazed continuously at four stocking rates over a two-year period. Tifton-44, you may recall, was released primarily for its cold tolerance and as an improvement over Midland bermudagrass.

On the Texas A&M Farm in the Brazos River Bottom near College Station, Texas, average daily gains did not differ between the two cultivars. Tifton-44 was slightly earlier in the spring."

"These examples from our comprehensive forage research program," Holt said, "illustrate some of the ways we're using research to enable producers to increase the productivity of the land and the animals that graze it."

"Work is underway, to be reported later, that contrasts animal performance on grasses alone, legumes alone, and legume-grass mixtures," Holt concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Elledge have as guests this week Mrs. Elledge's sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith of Nashville, Tennessee and her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ling of DeLeon, Texas.

Lola Mae Daniel to be honored at distinguished alumni banquet

Lola Mae Daniel will be honored at the Distinguished Alumni Banquet given by the alumni associations of Howard Payne University and Daniel Baker College, Friday, Oct. 28, at the Veda Hodge Hall Dining Room in Brownwood. She has been named Outstanding Alumni of 1983. She is a member of the class of 1926. Several Ozonans plan to attend.

Miss Daniel taught first grade in Ozona for several years before taking a mission post in Taiwan, where she taught for fourteen years.

Her life's only regret is that God didn't see fit to send her sooner. She was 58 years old when her teenage dream of working in the mission field in China finally came true.

During her youth, China was the Southern Baptists' largest mission field. But by the time the foreign mission board sent Daniel there, mainland China was closed to missionaries. So, she went to the nearest available place, Taiwan.

Martins compete in show

Saturday, October 15, Bonnie, Tom and Betty Martin competed in the West Texas Rehab Center Benefit Open Horse Show in San Angelo. It was held at the San Angelo Saddle Club arena.

Tom and Bonnie Martin competed in the 10 and under division. Tom placed fifth in western pleasure on his 20-year-old quarter horse gelding, Nick. Bonnie, riding her quarter horse gelding, Bozo, placed first in western horsemanship and second in reining.

Betty, competing in the adult division on a 4-year-old quarter horse gelding Mr. Tom Missile, placed second in reining.

Emergency loans are available here now

Emergency loans for farmers, ranchers, or aquaculture operators are available through county offices of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), Sam Ferris, FmHA assistant county supervisor, said today.

Sam Ferris asked that those who need farm credit as a result of the recent drought #S082, in Crockett County, make their needs known at the Farmers Home Administration office at the ASCS building in Ozona, on October 27, 1983, from 10:00 a.m. till 4:00 p.m.

Applications for assistance in the disaster stricken county will be accepted by FmHA until April 9, 1984 for physical and production losses.

FmHA loans covering actual physical and production losses may be used to replace installations, equipment, or buildings lost through this disaster. Funds may be used to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock, or to meet interest and depreciation payments on current real estate and chattel debts. Funds can be used for essential operating and living costs, Sam Ferris said. Applicants that certify that other credit is not available may receive loans covering actual losses at an interest rate of 5% for the first $100,000, and 8% on any amount over $100,000, and are scheduled for repayment as rapidly as feasible consistent with the applicant's ability to pay. Applicants who certify that other credit is available may also receive these loans at a higher interest rate. To be eligible for an emergency loan, an applicant must have suffered losses from the disaster.

Carlisles attend horse show

Dr. and Mrs. Don L. Carlisle attended the U.S. National Arabian Horse Show held last week in Albuquerque, N.M. and watched their purebred Arabian mare, KM Wedeia, named Top Ten Purebred Trail Horse.

In order to compete in the U.S. Nationals, horses from all over the United States and Canada have competed against each other and won their respective performance classes to accumulate enough points to be eligible to enter the Nationals.

By being placed Top Ten, KM Wedeia was judged to be one of the ten best trail horses in the United States.

Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

We had a new activity this week. Letters were written about the lives of residents living in the Care Center. These will be typed and sent to the "Caring" magazine for judging. We will try to share the finished products with our readers in the coming weeks. Residents participating included Juana Hernandez, Tomasa Ramos, Frances Borrego, Ola Mills, and Billie Whitley. Volunteers helping with this activity were Dorothy Doll and Sammy Patino. Ola Mills won the El Chato dinner for two certificate on Tuesday and was the overall bingo winner on Friday as well. She received a gift certificate from Watson's Department Store. Maggie Crawford received the second place Avon prize. Volunteers included Doll, Elodia Zapata, Veronica Tebbets and Anna Bell Patrick.

Ceramics on Wednesday were led by Ruth Hester and enjoyed by residents.

Thursday morning's beauty shop was manned by Arlene Clayton, Lola Rios, Eglantino Estrado, Clara Byrd, and Mary Capley.

Bible study Thursday afternoon was led by Charles Huffman and several members of his church. This was followed by Maria Vitela's Spanish Hour of Praise. She, too, was assisted by several church members.

Thursday night was once again time for our monthly band and dance given by Jamie Knox, J. D. and Don Kilgore, and Larry Petron. It proved to be a very enjoyable two-hour performance. Friday afternoon Nina Mayfield's sisters from Oklahoma, Martha Emert and Odessa Capps, along with Erlene Jones assisted some of the residents on their field trip to Clayton's Drug where they were treated to a drink of their choice. All other residents were sent back a milkshake. We really appreciate this monthly treat given by Clayton Robinson.

Sunday church services were brought by the Church of Christ. J. W. Johnigan gave the message, John Temple Hoover led the singing. They were assisted by Mrs. J. W. Johnigan and Mrs. Ralph Anderson.

Monday morning dominos were played by Paul Cavin, Maude Pettit, Ola Mills, Nila Turnell and Nina Mayfield.

It was my pleasure to give a slide presentation to a group of Home Ec students at the high school on Monday. I appreciate the invitation from Mrs. North and her volunteer work with these girls. Next Monday morning they are bringing us a Halloween party.

Volunteers, keep coming our way!

Brownies tour Sheriff's Department

Brownie Troop #95 met Monday at the home of Peggy Phillips and toured the Sheriff's Department. They also planned a bake sale for Saturday, Oct. 29, at the Village Shopping Center and Thornton's Supermarket to begin at 10 a.m.

The girls heard an interesting talk by Steve Kenley, special investigator for the sheriff's department, on kidnapping and burglaries. They were also fingerprinted and given a copy to give their parents as a precaution and for identification.

Accompanying the girls were troop leaders Phillips and Karla Blackledge. Brownie scouts attending were Amber Clark, Michael Collins, Tandra Blackledge, Jana Deaton, Jo Lynn Vannoy, Stephanie Derrington, Leigh Chandler and Courtney Phillips.

Stock up on meat in freezer while plentiful

"Now is an excellent time for cost-conscious consumers to stock up on meat for the freezer," says Mary K. Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

More cattle and hogs are being marketed because of the summer drought. This increased supply has resulted in lower prices.

According to USDA economists, steady to slightly declining prices for red meat are expected from October through December, says Sweeten. The economists expect that price levels for meat will be relatively unchanged at the first of the year, but anticipate moderate price increases through 1984, she adds.

Consumers can take advantage of lower prices by buying a whole carcass, side or quarter; wholesale cuts; or retail cuts of meat. Before buying meat in quantity, Sweeten suggests that you consider your available freezer space, the amount of meat your family can use within a reasonable amount of time, the type of cuts your family enjoys, and the amount of money you have to spend.

A carcass, side or quarter is sold by its "hanging weight," or total weight including fat and bones, says the specialist. The amount of edible meat will be about 75 percent of the hanging weight, with the other 25 percent lost in cutting and trimming.

The carcass or side will yield a variety of all cuts, and not all of them will be equally tender or equally liked by your family. A quarter is limited to only certain cuts, so the buyer can choose more specifically the type of meat wanted, she says. The hindquarter includes the short loin, sirloin, round and flank sections and will yield more steaks and roasts. It will also cost more per pound than the forequarter. The forequarter contains the delectable rib section, but also has more of the less tender cuts coming from the chuck, shank and brisket sections, says the specialist. The yield of edible meat is actually greater in the forequarter.

If freezer space is limited or you prefer cuts from a particular section, then whole or primal cuts (also known as wholesale cuts) will probably be your best buy, says Sweeten.

Wholesale cuts usually are bought from locker and freezer provisions and others who sell meat as sides or quarters, although sometimes they can be bought at a supermarket.

Individual cuts of beef, like pot roast or T-bone steak are called retail cuts. Their wide variety allows consumers to buy as little or as much of a particular cut as they want. Even though the price per pound is usually greater, it is not as costly initially as buying a large quantity of meat all at one time, she says.

But retail cuts usually must be rewrapped for long-term freezer storage, notes Sweeten.

"Comparing costs and making sure you are getting a good value can be difficult when buying a product with which you are unfamiliar. And most consumers are unfamiliar with meats in carcass form," she says.

That's why it pays to find a dealer who has a well-established reputation for honesty and fairness. In general, beware of advertisements which offer meat bargains which are too sensational to believe. No dealer can afford to give meat away, and reputable ones will not pretend to do so, adds the specialist.

Elderly may postpone taxes

A taxpayer aged 65 or older may take advantage of a special type of property tax relief--deferred payment of delinquent taxes on his homestead--by filing a sworn affidavit at the office of the appraisal district in which he lives.

If a lawsuit has already been initiated to collect delinquent taxes on the elderly taxpayer's homestead, an affidavit asserting age and ownership of the property must be filed with the court in which the suit is pending.

According to Kenneth Graeber, executive director of the State Property Tax Board (SPTB), the Texas Property Tax Code provides that, after an "over-65 tax deferral" affidavit has been properly filed, taxing units may not press or initiate delinquent tax suits on the homestead involved as long as the applicant owns and resides at that property.

Graeber said that forms for the deferral affidavit are available from appraisal district offices. The form should be completed and signed by the applicant and his signature witnessed by a notary public or other official authorized to take oaths.

For the elderly homeowner considering application for tax deferral, Graeber stressed that it allows postponing payment, but that a lien remains on the property for delinquent taxes, penalties and interest. "Those amounts continue to accrue during the period of deferral," he said. "Once the applicant no longer qualifies for deferral--that is, if he no longer owns or resides at the homestead--all those accrued amounts become due and payable. Taxing units at that time may sue and foreclose on the accrued delinquent taxes, penalties and interest."

The over-65 taxpayer may pay, or fail to pay, any taxes due on the homestead without altering the protection of the deferral.

PBPA Energy Report

Amoco Production Company will spend 40 million dollars on a waterflood recovery project in the South Cowden Field west of Odessa.

The 43-well program includes 27 new producing wells, 16 new water injection wells and converting 20 existing producing wells to injection wells. Amoco said it expects to recover an additional 20 per cent of the original oil in place. Work on the project should be finished by the end of 1984.

In other energy news, Texas produced 901 million barrels of oil in 1982 which was four million barrels more than 1981. The Lone Star State produced 6.1 trillion MCF of natural gas last year and that's 500 million fewer MCF than 1981. The total value of the oil and gas was 41 billion dollars. The number of producing oil and gas wells in Texas as of April 1, 1983, was 236,000. State production taxes totaled 2.2 billion dollars in 1982.

And, the petroleum industry payroll was 9.3 billion dollars last year.

Our Permian Basin rig count for this week is 324. Last week 311 and one year ago 284.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wilson returned home late last week from San Antonio, where Mr. Wilson recently underwent heart surgery. He has recuperated well and is up and about.

Pipelines... make good neighbors

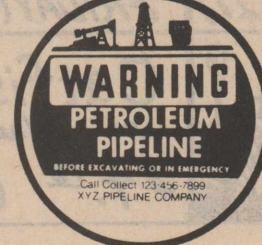

America has over 220,000 miles of petroleum pipelines carrying crude oil and products to refineries and storage terminals across the United States. Each day, more than 1.5 billion ton/miles of crude oil and products move through this network. These pipelines have a safety record second to none in the transportation industry... and we want you to help us keep it that way.

liquids on or a mist above the ground in the area of a pipeline.

- Flames originating from an opening in the ground.
- If you become aware of a pipeline leak...
- LEAVE THE LEAK AREA IMMEDIATELY.
- Avoid driving into vapor clouds.
- Avoid direct contact with the escaping liquids.

AERIAL MARKER

When you see signs like those shown above, they tell you that there's a pipeline nearby. If it's underground, you can't see it, of course. But it's there, working quietly to provide energy for you and other consumers throughout this nation.

Some of these signs list the commodity transported in the pipeline, the name of the operator, and a telephone number where the operator's representative can be reached at all times.

Although pipelines have an exceptionally good safety record, once in a while a leak can occur. Indications of a leak might include:

- A strange or unusual odor in the vicinity of a pipeline.
- A hissing or roaring sound (caused by petroleum or product escaping from a pipeline).
- A dense white cloud or fog.
- A spot of dead or discolored vegetation.
- An accumulation of petroleum

- Avoid creating sparks or sources of heat which could cause the liquids or vapor to ignite and burn. If you find yourself in a suspected vapor area, do not light a match, start an engine or even switch on an electric light.
- Notify the pipeline operator as soon as you reach a safe area. Call collect. Give your name, a description of the leak and its location. If you do not know who the pipeline operator is, call your local fire, police or sheriff's department, or the state police. Advise them of the nature and location of the emergency.

If you see someone digging near a pipeline or doing other construction work... or if you plan to do such work near a pipeline yourself... please call the telephone number shown on the sign and let the pipeline company know so damage can be avoided. It's in your interest... and the nation's.

America's Petroleum Pipelines
Pipelines are the safest way to move petroleum and products and you can help keep it that way!

Wildlife management program is important

Wildlife management is becoming more important each year since the wildlife of this area create a large revenue of income not only to the landowners but also to the town merchants.

One of the first steps in beginning a good wildlife management program is to take some type of census of the wildlife population. Since the white-tailed deer is the primary concern in this area, discussion of census techniques will be held to this species.

There are several census techniques that will work in this area and will give a fairly good estimate of the number of deer and in some cases buck:doe ratios on a given area or ranch.

Any type of census taken is only as good as the person taking it. A wildlife census requires complete honesty in the conductor without any fudging along the way. A properly conducted census will reveal valuable information to be used for management recommendations. After conducting a census on a given area or ranch, a wildlife biologist or other trained specialist can tabulate the data collected and recommend a proper harvest of deer that can be removed from the population without causing damage to the population itself.

Three of the more commonly used census techniques that will work in this area are: Hahn Walking Deer Census Survey, Spotlight Census, and Helicopter Census. The Hahn walking deer census was used by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in the Edwards Plateau for 20 years. This technique is inexpensive and is highly recommended for the laymen. Usually 2 or 3 survey lines are established on a ranch and conducted about two times before the opening of deer season in order to collect more accurate data. These survey lines are normally walked in the last hour of daylight.

The spotlight census technique is an expanded form of the Hahn technique, but much more information may be collected since there is not a restricted time limit as to the last hour of daylight as in the Hahn census.

The third technique is a helicopter census which is taken by flying strips across a ranch rather than flying the entire ranch. Information collected from this technique is expanded the same as the others to fit the entire ranch. This technique is the most expensive but is probably less time consuming than the others.

The Soil Conservation Service has available, upon request, a wildlife biologist that can and will assist any interested persons free of charge. Contact the local Soil Conservation Service office for additional information.

Changes in tax law affects families

Changes in the tax law affecting the amount of uninsured personal casualty or theft losses that can be claimed as deductions have important implications for family finances.

Under the old rule, you could deduct all but the first $100 of uninsured losses, explains Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist.

But beginning with the 1983 tax year, you will only be able to claim total losses in excess of 10% of your adjusted gross income, says Granovsky, a home economist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Under the new rules, only the most catastrophic unreimbursed losses would probably be deductible for an average-income family, although any loss could cause a financial hardship, says the specialist.

"People who haven't experienced a fire, theft or other loss this tax year, may be unaware of how this rule change could affect them," Granovsky says.

It would have the greatest impact on those consumers who raised their insurance deductibles over the past several years, thinking they could write off any uninsured losses on their income taxes, she adds.

Some of these consumers may wish to decrease their deductibles again as a shield against losses that would not be offset by a tax deduction.

Families will need to choose between increasing insurance-and premiums-to compensate for the loss of tax advantages, or risking a greater casualty or theft loss with a high deductible, says the home economist.

In making this decision, consumers should remember that the purpose of insurance is to cover those risks and hazards that we would not be able to cover ourselves, says Granovsky.

I, Dick Kirby, County Auditor of Crockett County do solemnly swear that the above statement is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Dick Kirby
Dick Kirby

A Journal of W. W. II reviewed by Mr. White

By-Evart White
World War II and Crockett County's part in it came to life in a magnificent way when nearly twenty years of research and study resulted in a new book written and arranged by Jim Dudley, Crockett County's treasurer and practicing public accountant. The book, 224 pages long, contains a meticulously researched history of the service records of a large number of men from this county.

The book is a thumbnail history of the big war, traced year by year and month by month from the earliest sabre rattling by Adolph Hitler in Europe to his death in an underground bunker in Berlin and from the Japanese dastardly sneak attack on the U.S. fleet at Pearl Harbor to their abject surrender to General Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo Bay. It is, at the same time, also a thumbnail account of the participation in that war of the people of Ozona and Crockett County. To those of us who participated in the war at home in one or more of the many facets of home-front warfare available to us, the tome brings back all the paths, the joys and sorrows of the time, the satisfaction of "doing something" to further the war effort, the heartbreak of every casualty that came to our notice, the patriotic fervor that ran through us at every Allied success, the good-natured griping at the shortage of sugar, the rationing of gasoline, etc. but always the patriotic glow of a job well done and the comforting certainty that the Huns and the Japs would be brought to their knees once "our boys" got to them. (Oh, for a return of a bit of that patriotic fervor to the end that the stream of Toyotas, Subaru's, Hondas or VW's could be turned back from our shores.)

In a foreword, Jim gives a hint of the tremendous amount of effort it took to assemble all the chronological facts of service records, and at the same time keep a running account of home-front events through a painstaking search through The Ozona Stockman's files of the time. As bits of levity in the grim business of war, the author throws in scores of the Ozona Lions football games of wartime. And of course, there are the inevitable, but a minimum of, the well known GI baudy humor. "And, as usual, the party goes on New Year's Eve stayed up to welcome in... 1941." If they could have known the tragedy this year was to bring—the abrupt start of a world wide war for the people of the United States. Then comes a charming, masterful and absorbing account of the men and women of Crockett County participating world wide in that conflict.

Page after page of pictures of these Ozona boys, in their uniforms and with their youthful charm, bring the days of war and preparation for war more graphically to mind. And we could agree more, with the author's concluding line—"Lon ago now—but not forgotte."

WTU rate raise is in effect now

West Texas Utilities Company has filed notice that it intends to put a major portion of its requested retail rate increase into effect October 22 on an interim basis.

The interim rates will reflect an annual increase of $18.8 million, a level about halfway between the company's original request and the Public Utility Commission staff's recommendation. WTU asked for $26.5 million and the staff recommended $10.6 million.

Texas law allows a utility to place a rate increase into effect subject to refund 125 days after the original request is filed if the PUC and the cities have not taken final action by that date. A hearing on the WTU request was completed September 12 in Austin, but the final rate order from the Commission has not been issued.

"We had rather not place interim rates into effect," said G. Holman King, WTU vice president and director of corporate affairs, "but we have an urgent need for rate relief and cannot afford the revenue loss caused by waiting for final rate approval."

King said the interim rates will be subject to refund, and probably will create a certain amount of confusion when final rates are approved and adjustments are made.

The interim rates will result in an increase of about 7.5 per cent to residential customers. A residence using 600 kilowatt-hours would be billed $49.56 under the interim rates and $46.11 under the present rates, a difference of $3.45. A customer using 1,000 kilowatt-hours would see his bill raised from $72.02 to $77.61, a difference of $5.59.

Halloween Safety

Some common sense safety precautions can help your children avoid the tricks and get more of a treat out of Halloween this year:

Light sticks are a bright idea that could cast a glow of safety on your children this Halloween night.

• Make certain children stay in a group. If they are very young, a parent should go along to supervise.

• Be sure masks have holes large enough for normal breathing and good visibility.

• Give children a meal or snack before they go out and emphasize that no treats should be eaten before they get home. Discard commercially-produced candy if the wrapper is loose or the seal has been broken. Wash fruit and slice it into small pieces, checking for inedible additions. When in doubt—throw it out.

• Children who go out trick-or-treating after dark should carry light-colored or colorful trick-or-treat bags or use reflective tape on treat bags. Another bright idea for Halloween fun is to have your children carry a light stick, such as the Lite-Up® Lightstick, available at local retail stores everywhere. Just bend it once, shake it and it lights up and lasts all night, lighting your little witches, ghosts and goblins on their Halloween way in safety. Light sticks can also be used in place of candles inside jack-o'-lanterns.
