Kitty's Korner

By
Kitty Montgomery

I've really been remiss in getting this column written the last couple of months, but I feel sure you all understand. Losing Tom the way I did put me in a state of semi-shock, and I have yet to recover. I seem to go around doing the things I always did. I look the same and don't seem to be doing anything any more abnormally than I always have, but I don't feel the same inside. I expect to pass a mirror or store window only to see a robot staring back at me. However, I'm sure I'll survive since I always have. Tom was my champion, my protector and my greatest fan. In the past year, during his illness, he was often my bad little boy who needed a scolding about once a week, but I miss him. I guess after almost 26 years, I always will.

And you, of course, and I mean all of you have been so wonderful, so compassionate and understanding, there are no words to express my gratitude. I just say "thank you," and that comes from the bottom of my heart. I appreciate the hundreds of cards and letters, the telephone calls, the wonderful food and lovely flowers, along with the many, many memorials. The staff has been wonderful to help me with thank you notes and I believe we are about caught up.

This is just one more wonderful part of living in Ozona.

As the political arena gets hot and heavy we are going to hear more and more ridiculous promises. I am most interested in the so-called nuclear freeze promise. I've heard it for months and still don't understand how a United States politician is going to control Russia when it comes to nuclear weapons. Although the Democratic party candidates all propose a nuclear freeze, I've never heard one of them explain how they are going to manage this feat with the Soviet Union. Do they propose to freeze all nuclear production in the United States and give Russia the green light to wipe us out? I hope someone will explain this to me as time goes on. I think the only way to be safe is to be strong, and I imagine the rest of the voters in this nation feel the same way.

Everytime four persons get together with signs in their hands the television networks point the cameras at them and call it a protest. I think in November the silent majority will make the decision, as they did that November four years ago.

Controversy continues in our district politics over the appointment by the governor of a judge for the 112th District. I was amazed to read in the Saturday Standard Times that the governor's appointments director said it did not matter how many calls the governor's office received about the matter, the appointment would be made on qualifications. I guess those who believe that, also voted for the present governor so he would get their utility bills lowered. My bills have climbed steadily since he took office. I'm sure all of those being considered are "qualified." I don't understand the director saying in effect "the voice of the people is not being considered."

Maybe by this time next week, we will know who has been appointed and can give you some further insight.

Students participate

BALLOONS TAKE OFF last week at Ozona Primary School. The Intermediate School took part in the Great Balloon Race Friday. The annual contest is sponsored by Weekly Reader.

The periodical will present a $500 prize to the school that gets back the message which has traveled the farthest distance. In addition, 100 runner-up prizes will be awarded.

OHS to host UIL literary meet Friday & Saturday

Ozona High School Principal Jim Payne announced today that Ozona will host the District 6AAA Spring University Interscholastic League Literary Meet Friday and Saturday, March 30 and 31. The meet will bring together approximately 200 students from Coahoma, Crane, Sonora, Colorado City, Ballinger and Ozona, all competing for opportunities to represent their respective schools at the regional meet in Odessa on April 13-14.

Progress report given to board

During the regular meeting of the Crockett County school board March 10, architect Ron Barbutti appeared before the board to give members a progress report on the Ozona Junior High renovation project. In his report Mr. Barbutti stated the project was approximately 15-20% complete, and he was extremely pleased with the contractor's competency and cooperation. Stein Construction Company of Fredericksburg was awarded the bid in January, and school officials are hopeful that renovations can be completed in time for the opening of school this fall.

Members approved the Ozona Textbook Committee's recommendations for the new 1984-85 state adopted textbooks in English Language Arts, English as a Second Language, Algebra I, Algebra II, Geometry, Trigonometry, World History and Vocational Agriculture. Board officials also accepted the bid of R. S. Crouch for heating the high school auditorium and girl's gym.

The majority of the regular meeting was spent in consideration of personnel evaluations and contracts. After meeting with principals Walter Spiller, Bob Wallace, Charles Womack and Jim Payne, the board voted to renew all teacher contracts.

Superintendent Garland Davis presented information to the members on a proposed 1984-85 school calendar designed to minimize the number of class periods that students would need to miss for athletic, U.I.L., and 4-H events. The calendar was based upon the recommendations of the Ozona School Calendar Committee and won unanimous approval from the Board.

The meeting was adjourned after reports were given by Mr. Davis on teacher certification, computer equipment for the business office, the E.S.L. summer program, and proposed changes in requirements for athletic physicals.

C of C attempts to get rid of peddlers

The Ozona Chamber of Commerce is circulating a petition to present the Commissioners Court requesting control over peddlers who set up shop at various times in Ozona.

The petition calls the court's attention to the serious concern about the uncontrolled, unregulated and often unsightly business activity engaged in by transient persons in Ozona.

It further states these activities often take place on county property, and often unfairly compete with the ordinary commercial activities of local merchants. The petition expresses the opinion that to allow transients to congregate on such public property is not in the best interest of the citizens or local merchants of Ozona.

It further requests the court to take official and formal action to implement control measures regulating the activity of such persons and insure that they comply with all laws, state and local. Petitions have been placed in 19 local businesses and anyone may sign who is a resident of Ozona and objects to this activity. We have a petition in the Stockman office if anyone is interested. The petitions will be picked up April 4, to be presented to the court at its regular monthly meeting April 9.

Poster contest closes today

A poster contest sponsored by the Ozona Teens Against Drugs will close today and be collected for judging at the various schools.

fifth grade, sixth through eighth grade and high school. The winner in each division will receive a prize of $20.

The primary school took the contest for class projects and held a school contest Monday. There were 20 winners in the school. These posters will also be entered in the school-wide contest.

Session set for course graduates

Starting time will be 2:30 p.m. Intermediate and sixth grade students participating in the track meet will be dismissed at 2:00, the remainder of the students will be dismissed at 3:15. Buses will run at the regular time.

Parents should be responsible for students getting to and from the track meet.

Highway Department to close doors here

The Texas State Highway Department, which opened quarters in the shopping center here some 20 years ago will be closing up shop around the latter part of May. The crew's mission was accomplished with the final portion of I-10 open to the public and some clean-up work finished.

Members of the department who will transfer to Sonora and commute are J. C. Schroeder, George Olson, Winston Koerth, Fred Ma-hannah and L.B. Taylor. Steve Poage has already sold his house and moved with his family to Fort Stockton.

Bill Dixon, Ray Mixon and Leslie Cole have been transferred to San Angelo, and Johnny Lowe will be transferred to the Junction office.

Virginia Hubbard, who has worked in the office, will continue to work for the department at the maintenance facility on Highway 163 North.

Wildcat tests slated for county field

J. M. Huber Corp., Midland, will re-enter and clean out to 8,114 feet for wildcat tests and also as a 1,500-foot south offset to the opener and lone producer in the Childress, East (Canyon oil) field of Crockett County at its No. 1 University 19-39, former producer in the Block 39-B (Ellenburger gas) field, 17 miles northeast of Ozona. It formerly produced from 7,929 feet, no other information available.

Location is 1,980 feet from the north and 660 feet from the east lines of 19-39-ULS.

The Childress, East opener, Maxwell Oil Co., Fort Worth, No. 1-A University-Crockett, was finalized Jan. 3, 1968 for 390 barrels of 44 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 1,400-1, through an unreported choke and perforations at 6,098-102 feet.

Building boom

CONSTRUCTION COMPLETED recently in Country Club Estates on the new home of Mary Hufstodler. Also under construction in the new addition is the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Burnet. A 36-unit apartment complex is being built south of Ozona on Hwy. 163. There seems to be no lag in construction projects in this area.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—In the wake of several executions in Texas and the nation, a prison-reform group is going grassroots to build support to abolish the death penalty.

The head of that organization, Citizens United for the Rehabilitation of Errants, wants precinct caucuses to approve resolutions opposing the death penalty and said CURE is considering endorsements of political candidates.

Up to now, CURE has been a non-partisan group lobbying the Texas Legislature for a fair shake for Texas prisoners.

But with the court system again permitting capital punishment and with a majority of legislators making no move to stop executions, CURE now has no alternative but to throw itself at the mercy of the electorate.

Charlie Sullivan, who leads CURE, argues that while several public opinion polls may have indicated support for the death penalty, the recent series of executions have produced a backlash.

"At one time, the majority of the people in this country were against the death penalty. Now that we're having executions again, we're hoping that people think again and go back to their roots by opposing capital punishment."

Both Parties

Sullivan is going to both major political party caucuses for support, hoping to join with anti-abortion or "pro life" forces among Republicans and to emphasize to Democrats that most death row inmates are poor or minorities.

President Reagan is an advocate of executions, while all his Democratic challengers are apparently against them. Mondale and Jackson are on record in opposition and Hart recently voted against the death penalty in the U.S. Senate.

Political Ads

The Texas law imposing discount rates for political advertising was struck down last week by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The High Court ruled 6-3 that the law was unconstitutional, upholding an earlier decision by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

A 1971 federal law requires broadcasters to offer discount rates just prior to primary or general elections, but a 1975 Texas law imposed the discount rates year-round. The courts upheld the federal law.

State Oil Lands

The controversial oil and gas leases which the state took back from Mobil Oil Corp. a couple of months ago may be bought by a Dallas-based corporation, American Resources, Inc.

According to Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, the agreement is tentative and other companies are still looking at the property, 78,000 acres on the Duval County Ranch.

The oil leases were the center of a $1.7 billion lawsuit the state filed against Mobil for failing to meet drilling requirements, and after the oil company surrendered them, several Texas politicians have clashed over the estimated revenues to be received on future energy production.

New Farm Program

Two state officials, Gov. Mark White and Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower last week announced a new state program that will provide about $40 million in '84 to help small farmers buy land to begin farming.

Actually the law was passed in 1979 but never implemented, partially because of political opposition. Hightower has rejuvenated the program to allow farmers and ranchers with a net worth less than $100,000 to borrow with 90 percent backing from the Department of Agriculture.

The loans must be for land only, and cannot be used to buy stock, equipment or to refinance existing debt.

Glenn Supporters

With Glenn out of the presidential race, his Texas supporters last week were recruited by other political camps, and a good many were joining Hart's campaign.

The most notable is State Sen. Ray Farabee, but still uncommitted as of last week were Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and finance heavyweights Jess Hay of Dallas and James C. Calaway, Sr. of Houston.

Women's Caucus

The Texas Women's Political Caucus last week endorsed Democrat Lloyd Doggett and Republican Rob Mosbacher campaigns for the U.S. Senate party nominations.

The group considered giving a dual Democratic endorsement to former Ambassador Bob Krueger, but went for Doggett on the basis of his Texas Senate voting record.

PROPOSITION 13 LIVES

By Edwin Feulner

The taxpayer revolt that grabbed national headlines after the 1978 referendum victory of Proposition 13 in California has resurfaced in a most unexpected place: Michigan.

Not that the movement was ever dead. Over the past several years a number of states, including liberal Massachusetts (Taxachusetts to long-time residents), passed similar tax limitation measures. And 32 states have approved measures calling for the government to convene a new constitutional convention to consider a tax limitation/balanced budget amendment to the Constitution. If just two more states approve similar resolutions, the feds have no choice; a constitutional convention it will be.

Still, the tax-and-spend crowd has complacently ignored the anti-tax movement. Until now that is.

What's been happening in Michigan is this: After Gov. James Blanchard and the Democrat-controlled state legislature passed a 38-percent income tax hike, state voters decided they had had enough. Led by a young United Auto Workers (UAW) union member, they have organized a string of recall campaigns, intended to oust the tax-and-spend crowd from the legislature. So far, there have been four recall elections — two late last year and two at the end of January — and in all four cases, the fiscal conservatives have been victorious. Nearly two-dozen other recall efforts are reportedly in the works. But just the four victories already have changed the complexion of Michigan politics, giving the anti-tax Republican Party control of the State Senate. There is even an effort to oust the governor.

The victories have not been close. In the two most recent elections, anti-tax Republican Rudy Nichols defeated Democrat Stanley Kurzman by a greater than two-to-one margin. In the other contest, the anti-tax Republican defeated Democrat incumbent Mary Ellen Parrott by an even greater margin, 21,935 votes (69 percent) to 8,181 (26 percent).

An aberration? Hardly. The country is fed up. For example, though it was overshadowed last year by sex and diet and exercise books, one of 1983's hottest books was Irwin Schiff's How Anyone Can Stop Paying Taxes. The book sold some 185,000 copies and made the TIME magazine, Waldenbooks, and J. Dalton Booksellers' hardcover bestseller lists.

And Schiff is back at it again. He has a hot new anti-tax book, The Social Security Swindle — How Anyone Can Drop Out. Initial printing: 50,000 hardcover copies.

Howard Jarvis, who led the Proposition 13 battle; Warren Brookes, guru of the Proposition 2 1/2 initiative in Massachusetts; Dan Powers, youthful leader of Michigan's anti-tax forces, and Irwin Schiff, who fights oppressive taxation by refusing to pay, come from remarkably different backgrounds. But they all agree on one thing: government's appetite for our money has grown too big and must be curbed.

As Schiff notes in his new book: "The Federal government is now so huge and unwieldy that it is impossible for it to control its own costs." His solution is probably not for everyone. But the ballot box is. And while you've got to admire Schiff's courage, you have to admire the effectiveness of Michigan voters even more.

A re-run of "The Ozona Story" as gleaned from the files of the "The Ozona Stockman"

Thursday, March 31, 1955

When the drought of the early thirties broke in May, 1934, the soaker and the resulting flood on Johnson Drw was the first item of conservation in downtown Ozona but a second top news item of the day was the shooting by Ranger Captain Frank Hamer of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, notorious Texas outlaw pair.

"Lots of talk about the killing of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker by Ranger Captain Frank Hamer." the notation recorded after discussing the good rain news. "Hard to decide who's the most famous woman of the day - Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mae West or Bonnie Parker."

Letters to the Editor

March 22, 1984
The Ozona Stockman
Ozona, Texas

Att: Letters to the Editor
I lost my Ozona citizenship 51 years ago at age 11. Even then I lacked enough time for naturalization, but I often think of my schooling there grades three through six...and the friends I had there.

A few years ago I had the good fortune to accidentally run across Vic Pierce's book, "Yesteryear in Ozona," while it was in the bindery in Abilene. I devoured it in one sitting, enjoying every minute of it.

March 15, I went to Abilene again for my Mother's 88th birthday...some oldtimers might remember that my Mother and Dad managed the Hotel Ozona 1928 through 1932. At the same bindery, my Abilene buddy said, "Here's another book you'll be interested in seeing."

The book was Jim Dudley's "Journal of World War II."

Jim did an excellent job of writing. My 'speed-reading' of it did not do it justice, but I did read enough to see that a masterful job had been done by the author in weaving the events of WW II and the participants from Ozona. And I remembered 15 or 20 of those participants. I played football with D.A. "Rodeo" Parker in 1938 and '39 at Hardin-Simmons in Abilene.

After my Letter to Editor on Vic Pierce's book was printed in the Stockman, Jack Baggett wrote me and brought me up to date on the names I had mentioned. Later, Maurice Lemmons saw my Letter in San Angelo when a patient brought a Stockman to his office and wrote me to bring me up to date on the Lemmons family.

This Abilene trip I was in a bull session with some rancher-horsemen and mentioned "Journal" and reeled off several names I remembered. When I mentioned P.C. Perner, two of those present, Larry Cunningham and Bill Cooper, said they knew P.C.

To Jim Dudley I say, "WELL DONE!" To Ozona I say, "READ IT! It will oe time well spent."

Sincerely,

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Now that March has almost gone by, we hope the winds are too, and that April will bring refreshing showers.

Even though we are having warm days, the nights have been from cool to cold, so the ground is still not warm enough for most seeds to germinate, well.

The lack of moisture hasn't seemed to discourage gardeners, for in most of the yards in our city there are signs of continuing to beautify by grooming, planting new trees, shrubs, roses, a new lawn or improving an old one. The severe freezes may cause some lawns to be replaced entirely.

Soon our state flower of Texas, the bluebonnet will be blooming all over our area for I notice they are already in

Millspaugh-Schoolcraft marriage

Judy Schoolcraft and Sidney Sanderson Millspaugh, III, were married Saturday, March 17, at Woodlake Country Club in San Antonio. Judge Phil Peden of Houston officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Sisk of Universal City. The groom is the son of Mrs. Sidney S. Millspaugh of Ozona, and the late Mr. Millspaugh.

Maid of honor was Cathy Sisk of Austin. Best man was Mike McDougal of San Antonio.

A wedding brunch followed the ceremony. The couple left on a wedding trip to Europe. They will reside in Olmos Park, San Antonio.

Sorority has pledge party

The Beta Sigma Phi pledge party was held Monday at the Civic Center, using a "Let's Make a Deal" theme with costumes and all. Dena Porter won a prize for the best costume and Celia Stone won the other prize.

Raife Sullivan was master of ceremonies. Other hostesses were Becky Dillard, Marcie Williams, Cindy Johnson, Marilyn Armentrout, Tammy Bunker, Rhonda Shaw, Karen Huffman, Leslie Reeves, Melissa Hintz, Lisa Wagoner and Rita Sigwing.

Other members attending were Debbie Glasscock, Elizabeth Clark, Nesa Chandler, Leslie Wilson, Philda Morrison, Jeannine Henderson and Lori Parker.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE

In Duplicate Bridge Club play Saturday afternoon at the Country Club there was a tie for the top spot between Mrs. Kirby Moore and Jean North and Mrs. Gene Williams and Mrs. Clay Adams.

Sunday afternoon Mrs. Evert White and Mrs. Adams won first, and Mrs. Sherman Taylor and Mrs. T. J. Bailey were second.

bloom on our east hillside south of the waterworks buildings. Too the redbud trees are blooming all over our city so be sure to drive around to see them and other blooming trees. You may want to start one of the new favorite crabapples. They have beautiful flowers and colorful fruit. Their newer selections are more disease resistant. Too, plant breeders have succeeded in introducing many medium-size (15 to 20 feet) that hold their fruit longer. Their flowers may be in white, pink, rose, and vivid shades of red that really sets them apart.

If you grow peonies be sure to fertilize if you haven't already done so when the peony buds reach six inches in height. Spread around each plant and water well, or use liquid fertilizer. For large specimens for flower show exhibit, disbud your peonies by removing all side buds as they appear on the stem, leaving only one at the top that appears to be best.

Plants that are not to be repotted will benefit from top dressing with fresh, rich soil after as much as possible of the old surface soil has been removed without doing too much damage to roots.

Extension office news

By Rachel Hall

When two-income families are earning money, the family budget takes on a new importance. As always, your family budget helps you monitor and control your spending, but now it can also clearly outline the financial responsibilities that each of you has agreed to bear.

Your financial decisions will be based largely on the stability of your incomes. If one of you plans to leave the job market for a time, or if one of your incomes is irregular, you may want to budget only as if you had only one income.

If you separate your incomes, you'll need to determine various expenses. Some couples split costs evenly. Others share on a proportionate basis. There are basically three options: 1. Pool both incomes and draw from that pool for every expense. 2. Pool part of your incomes and reserve part of your separate uses. 3. Separate the incomes entirely and contribute individually to joint expenses.

Each option has its advantages and disadvantages. Pooling all income has the advantages of simplicity and economy. It requires only one joint checking account with minimal bookkeeping and a high degree of cooperation to maintain account.

Pooling part of your incomes and reserving the rest, has a flexibility advantage. You can provide for your joint and separate needs as labeled appropriately. The disadvantage is that bookkeeping is increased--three checking accounts (2 separate and 1 joint). This method also brings up the question of who will write, pay bills, and balance joint account.

Separating the incomes and expenses, has the advantage of preserving each spouse's financial identity. This could be important for tax or business-related reasons or if income is received from one source. A considerable amount of bookkeeping may be involved when you use this method.

Most jobs involve some extra spending--transportation, lunches and additional clothes. Job related expenses can extend to such items as child care, household help, time-saving appliances, and more frequent meals in restaurants. To figure the cost of two incomes, subtract any expenses that are a direct result of both spouses working. Calculate present benefits of having both jobs--insurance, fringe benefits, and retirement. If added costs outweigh benefits, it may be time to reconsider the value of a two-income household.

UPCOMING EVENTS

Six local 4-Hers will be competing in the District VI Food Show, March 31, at the Odessa Permian Mall in Odessa. They will be competing with contestants from 21 other counties. Contestants will be judged on knowledge of nutrition, food, menu, and record books. Representing Crockett County will be: Terrie Lynn Willmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Willmon; Jason Montgomery, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Scottie Houston; Trebie West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley West; Robin Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Myers; Susan Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lane Scott; and Tonya Carter, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Davee.

Public Health Nurses will be administering free immunizations, Thursday, April 5 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 Noon and 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the Ozona Civic Center. Preschool and schooled youth will be immunized for measles, mumps, rubeolla, diptheria and tetanus.

FASCINATING FISHES

"See! See!" Amy cries, using one of her new-found words. Her voice trembles with wonder, and suddenly the fish Bob brought her become more than ordinary. They're magical creatures, slashing through the water with a flick of their tails, golden gleams of fascination.

How thrilling is a baby's world -- changing, growing. Every day brings a new experience, some added lore to shape the growing personality.

Bob and I know how important these days are in Amy's development. Her acquaintance with the world now will affect her life greatly. That's why we take her to church every Sunday. We want her to learn of God's love from earliest remembrance.

God is the light of the world. His Church offers you and your family the opportunity to make His presence a joyous reality in your lives.

Remembering Scott Peters---the banker

By-Evart White

He walked tall in Ozona. Such a statement might conjure up different faces to different people. And, in fact, it does for me, but the first face to come into focus for me is that of Scott Peters.

There may be a few who read this that didn't know Scott Peters. When I first knew him, he was cashier of the Ozona National Bank, a position which was in fact equal to executive vice president to which position he later ascended. In other words, Scott Peters, to me, was the Ozona National Bank. I don't know anything about banking or what it takes to make a successful banker. But from observation, I am convinced that Scott Peters had all the qualifications of personality, astute judgment of people, personal appeal and an abiding love of people and faith in the town where he lived.

He was friend of the high and mighty, and of the lowly and humble. Racial and color lines did not exist in his thinking. To have heard him banter and cajole some broke cowboy or oil field worker, one would have thought the applicant would never get the money he needed at that bank. But nearly always in the end, the fellow would get his loan and you could bet your last dollar that he'd bust a gut or pay back 'Mr. Peters'. It seemed almost sometimes that Scott was lending his own money rather than the bank's, but if he did, neither he nor the bank ever lost anything---at least a mighty little if any.

Scott was a community leader of a stature rare in his day. His opinion was sought on most important community decisions of the time. Little escaped his keen observation and he made use of his innate knowledge of people in accomplishing objectives that might stall a less astute man. He was always available to help the county's ranchmen, the town's business men and the working men and women of the area. He was a boon to the ranchmen through his help in rounding up those who would be interested in selling at a broker's offer, left with Scott, or in all manner of dealings with government regulations and requirements---not to mention his readiness to make loans to worthy prospects in business or ranching. (There's a great softness in the writer's heart for him on both counts.)

Like most people who are conscious of their own well-meaning attitude, and confident, therefore, that he would be understood, Scott Peters would shake up a visitor by observing that "you have a hole in your shoe" or "are you going to let ole so-and-so steal your lambs again this year," and then put him at his ease with a charming chuckle and a kind and encouraging word. Ozona today has many fine bankers, manning two strong and healthy banks to form a tremendous asset to the community. The men who serve their customers in these banks, no doubt, are every bit as capable, as personable, as helpful and as capable of leadership as Scott Peters was in his day, but from my memory and the many personal dealings I had with him, Mr. Peters must remain my favorite all time banker---and friend.

The first office building in the world to contain an elevator was in New York, in 1869.

Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

Sometimes nice surprises come in small packages. That is exactly what happened when Kim McBrier, Kellye and Dannette Robinson made arrangements to come and visit with Elsie Bishop, Paul Cavin and Maggie Crawford. In fact, these girls "adopted" these people and promised to come back soon. The girls were among the many young people who helped with our fundraising for the heart association.

Not so small a surprise came when Mrs. Steve Kenley brought a lovely arrangement of flowers following its use at the Sunday night services of the First Baptist Church. In fact, we were double gifted with flowers because the ones used at the Jr. and Sr. Banquet were also sent to our center. We really appreciate flowers being shared with us.

A different activity held recently involved using corn cobs, filling them with peanut butter, rolling them in bird seeds, and placing them outside for the birds to enjoy. This idea was shared and directed by Alice Ross. She was assisted by Dorothy Doll.

Billie Whatley had a nice treat this past week when aide Alice McGuire came on her day off and took her shopping and out to lunch. Movies, sent to us through the school system, were enjoyed on Monday and Tuesday afternoons.

Domino players this week included Johnny Henderson, Paul Cavin, Maude Pettit, Ola Mills and Bertha Miller.

Ceramics were led on Wednesday morning by Doris Karr and Ruth Hester. (Welcome back, Ruth!) Residents participating included Moriana Perez, Juana Hernandez, Ola Mills, Nina Mayfield, Maude Pettit, and Tomasa Ramos.

Lola Rios and Eglantino Estrado manned the beauty shop on Thursday morning.

Thursday afternoon Ted Turnley led Bible study in the living room. This was followed by Spanish Hour of Praise in the dayroom led by Maria Vitela and assisted by Paulita Leal and Carmen Vargas. Residents attending were Tomasa Ramos, Juana Hernandez, and Moriana Perez.

Tuesday and Friday bingo winners include: Paul Cavin, winner of the certificate for two dinners from El Chato's, Virginia Russell, winner of the certificate from Western Drug, and Ola Mills, second place winner.

Volunteers included Dorothy Doll, Anna Bell Patrick, Amalia Lumberras, Lisa Gutierrez, Mattie Cooper and resident volunteers Maude Pettit and Alice Ross.

Friday evening Marlys Thurman brought her piano students for a recital. Students playing for our residents included Tammy and Trey Mayfield, Candie Sessom, Mat Willmon, Tess and Fleet Worthington, Terri Harms, Jennifer Jones, Mary Turnley, seven mamas, two daddies and two grandparents. How nice for this group to come and share their talents.

Sunday afternoon church services were conducted by the Church of Christ. Approximately eight members were in attendance.

Our certificates of appreciation from the American Heart Association finally arrived and will be mailed this week. Businesses who contributed to our fundraiser and will be receiving certificates include: The Flower Basket,

The Baggett Agency, Baker Jewelers, Circle Bar Restaurant, Motel and Gift Shop; Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber, Jim's Foodway, KRCT, Ozona Inn of the West, Ozona National Bank, Crockett Co. National Bank, Perry Bros., Scott Honey House, Small Fashions, South Texas Lumber Co., The Line, Thornton's Supermarket, Village Barber and Beauty Shop, Young's Barber Shop, Dairy King, Watson's Department Store, Western Auto, White's Auto, Donuts Etc., Happy Hollow, Montgomery Wards, Westerman Drug, Clayton's Drug, The Ole Steak House, White's Auto, Brown Furniture Co., El Chato's Restaurant, Charlie's Restaurant, Ozona Stockman, Maxine's Flowers and the Potter's Wheel.

Keep visiting!

S.S. office improves service

The San Angelo Social Security Office is trying a new appointment procedure to improve service to the public and to insure more timely and accurate handling of Social Security applications.

Anyone wanting to file for monthly benefits should call before visiting the San Angelo Office. If an interview is needed, an appointment, either in-person or by telephone, will be scheduled at the caller's convenience. This should be particularly helpful to individuals needing to file for survivor's benefits, since the caller will be advised what documents to have available for the interview and will have an opportunity to obtain them if necessary. The end result is a faster payment to the family. Call 949-4608.

In the discus, Vanessa Miller placed fourth with a throw of 83'10". In the shot put Rita DeLaRosa placed sixth with a throw of 28' 4 1/2". In the long jump Vanessa placed first with a jump of 16'3 3/4" and Zelda Munoz was third with a 15'1 1/4" jump. In the triple jump Sherri Buckner placed third with a jump of 32' 8 3/4", and Zelda Munoz was fifth with 31'2 1/4".

In the running events Donna Sanchez was third with a 13:07.27 in the 3200 meter run, and she was fifth in the 800 meter run with 2:42.31. Vanessa Miller placed third in the 400 meter run with a time of 64.67 and fifth in the 200 meter dash with 29.39. The 1600 meter relay team of Donna Sanchez, Vickie Reagor, Vanessa Miller and Sherri Buckner were fourth with a time of 4:32.47. Scoring points for Ozona were Vanessa with 24, Donna

Commercial tax preparers regulated

If you choose to have your tax return completed by a commercial tax preparer, the IRS notes that you should be aware of certain regulations. In brief, your paid preparer is responsible for providing a copy of the completed return to you when you sign the return. Preparers are required to keep copies of returns or a list containing taxpayers' names and identification numbers for three years. These records must be available for IRS' inspection during this period.

Paid preparers are also required to sign completed returns and to provide their employer identification number on the return. Rubber stamps and signature facsimiles are not acceptable.

The handling of your refund check is also regulated. Paid preparers (other than bank preparers) cannot endorse, cash, or in any way negotiate a client's refund check. The preparer can be penalized $500 for each violation. In addition, understating your tax liability can result in the preparer being penalized $500 for willful understatement or $100 for negligent or intentional disregard of rules and regulations.

By Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan

For a number of years taxpayers saw their real income and purchasing power actually decline even though their wages (income) were increasing.

American workers got pay raises, only to find out later that the increase pushed them into higher tax brackets. What started out as a bigger paycheck became, in effect, not so big after being ravaged by inflation and then subjected to an even larger government bite.

Americans were finding that the harder they worked, the less they got to keep—a classic case of diminishing returns, a recipe for resentment and a powerful prescription for destroying incentive. The years 1979 and 1980 were especially harsh since many wage earners' pay increases didn't even keep up with double-digit inflation, not to mention the extra taxes on that inflation.

Beginning on January 1, 1985 this patently unfair "inflation tax" will no longer hit the wage earner. As part of President Reagan's 1981 Tax Act, inflation indexing will begin.

To the average taxpayer, this means that increased taxes will be owed only when real income gains are made. A real gain is that portion of a pay increase above and beyond the inflation rate.

Indexing will work by having the tax rate schedules and the $1,000 personal exemption adjusted at the end of each year to offset any increase in the Consumer Price Index. You—the taxpayer—will have to make no additional calculations since any changes will be incorporated into the Internal Revenue Service tax tables.

Indexing is, one of the most equitable reforms of our system since the modern-day tax code was instituted in 1913. Currently, because of inflation and our progressive tax rates, every 10 percent increase in prices and wages nets the Federal government a 16-17 percent increase in tax revenues! This 6 or 7 percent "windfall" simply is not fair. Especially since the excess revenue collected by the government amounts to a non-legislated tax increase.

My staff at Treasury estimates that inflation-induced bracket creep would cause income tax increases totaling almost $100 billion for fiscal years 1985-1988 if indexing were not in effect. That's $100 billion collected in higher taxes without a single vote being cast in Congress.

Indexing eliminates this problem, but that is precisely why there could be attempts in Congress this year to repeal, revise or at least delay this important reform. Many legislators realize that inflation has provided them with more and more revenues for higher and higher spending. And the extra revenues have been provided without having to vote -- on the record -- for tax increases.

Efforts to change or do away with indexing must be resisted. The President has made it clear that indexing is a cornerstone of his economic program.

And, even though inflation has dropped dramatically under this Administration and should remain low, moderating inflation should not downgrade the importance of indexing. Because inflation forces income to rise fastest through the bottom tax brackets, this reform offers the most protection to lower-income taxpayers. For example, even a 4.5 percent inflation rate would produce a 9.4 percent tax increase for wage earners with less than $10,000 in adjusted gross income.

For too long the average taxpayer in America has been a poorly represented constituency. The Reagan Administration entered office with a commitment to the taxpayer and is honoring its pledge. Indexing is central to that commitment.

Excess SS tax can be a credit

If you worked for two or more employers during 1983 and received wages totaling more than $35,700, IRS suggests you check the Social Security amount on your Form W-2. If it shows more than $2,391.90, you can claim the excess as a credit on your tax return, the IRS says. However, if you file a joint return, you and your spouse must make separate computations.

The IRS added that, if you worked for only one employer and more than $2,391.90 was withheld, you may not claim the excess as a credit against your income tax. Your employer should refund the overcollection to you.

Work at home king gets lengthy prison term

Two San Antonio area men who were convicted of operating numerous nationwide work-at-home envelope stuffing schemes, which grossed approximately 7 1/2 million dollars during the past five years, were sentenced to lengthy prison sentences on Monday, March 19. U.S. District Judge D. W. Suttle sentenced Alan Louis Chavis, of San Antonio, to serve 15 years in prison and fined him $19,000.00. Lambert Daniel Slisz of New Braunfels was sentenced to serve five years and was fined $7,000. The fines imposed were the maximum that could be levied by law. Both men had been con-promotions were operated out of New Braunfels, Tx. They also operated the Keystone Homemaker Program using a San Antonio address.

In addition to operating HJO, AMFICO, and Keystone with Slisz, Chavis also operated other work-at-home promotions under the following names:

American Association of Home Income Programs (AAHIP), San Antonio, Tx.; The American Home Income Association (AHIA), San Antonio and Boerne, Tx.; Bond Industries/CPP (Bond), Kenedalia, Tx.; Financial Advisors Service, San Antonio, Tx.; Consolidated Industries, San Antonio, Tx.

Promotions operated by Chavis and Slisz have been the subject of civil actions taken by the U.S. Postal Service in the past. In 1980, False Representation Orders were issued against AAHIP, FAS, and Consolidated Reliance Agency, San Antonio, Tx. HJO was the subject of an FRO in February, 1981. Tri-Co, Boerne, Tx, which was operated by Chavis, was discontinued by an FRO in March, 1981. In March and October, 1982, FROs were issued against AHIA and Bond.

False representation orders are civil actions which forbid the postmasters at the offices of address from delivering mail to the addressees. They are issued after presentation of evidence to an administrative law judge which indicates false representations are being made to induce victims to send money through the mail to order products, programs, or services.

Assistant U.S. Attorneys Mitch Weidenbach and R. Michael Duffey, who prosecuted the case for the government, stated they hope that sentences imposed on Chavis and Slisz will serve as a warning to work-at-home promoters around the country that white-collar crime of this nature is serious and will not be tolerated.

Excercise allergy can be serious Drs. say

Exercise can produce a disorder resembling an allergic reaction that can be life-threatening for some people, according to an article in Texas Medicine.

Children and adults of both sexes can be affected by "exercise-induced 'allergic' reactions," write two Dallas allergists, Dr. John E. Erffmeyer and Dr. James Holman. Their article appears in the March issue of the monthly journal published by the Texas Medical Association.

They say the symptoms may vary from one person to another and from one episode to another. Initial symptoms include flushing, sensations of heat or warmth, itching, nausea, fatigue, weakness, and dizziness. These may begin within minutes of exercise or may not develop until later in the activity.

Then hives usually appear, the doctors write. Some people also may experience respiratory and stomach problems and headaches, and may even collapse with low blood pressure.

Physical activities that have been reported to cause this syndrome include running, football, basketball, skiing, snowmobiling, tennis, soccer, dancing, ice skating, and construction work. Warm weather may be a factor in some cases, the doctors say.

The cause of exercise-induced reactions is not known. The doctors say the disorder may be inherited in some instances. In addition, high levels of histamine, a compound released during allergic reactions, have been found in some patients. They also note that some people have certain cells that seem to be particularly susceptible to physical activity.

"The fact that exercise-induced symptoms tend to occur in an unpredictable fashion suggests that multiple factors are involved," the doctors write. They note one case in which the patient avoided these attacks by waiting a couple of hours after eating before exercising.

People who have this problem should avoid situations that bring it on, Erffmeyer and Holman say. "They should stop exercising at the appearance of their initial symptoms. This may prevent an attack." Antihistamines may help.

People with frequent or severe attacks should change their exercise programs or find a replacement exercise that does not cause the problem, they say.

"Some patients insist upon continuing exercise despite recurrent, severe attacks. These individuals should be encouraged to exercise with a friend who is aware of the patient's disorder," they write.

During exercise the patient can carry a special treatment kit, allowing the person to administer a drug called epinephrine in case of an attack, the doctors say. But some severe attacks come so suddenly that the patient is unable to administer the drug. In these cases, a knowledgeable friend is invaluable.

P.B.P.A. Energy Report

There is a move on in Texas to increase the state motor fuels tax. It has not been raised since 1957. The revenue from the tax, 5 cents a gallon for gasoline and 6.5 cents a gallon for diesel, is designated for road maintenance and construction and public education. Texas has the lowest gasoline tax in the United States. The national average is 11.3 cents per gallon, more than double the Texas rate. The Lone Star State also has the lowest diesel fuel tax in the nation. The national average is 11.8 cents a gallon. Seventy-five percent of each dollar goes for roads and twenty-five percent for education.

In 1957, the cost for resurfacing a mile of farm road was $920 per mile. Today, it is seven times that much, $6,600 per mile.

27 years ago, it took $235 a year to educate a student in McKinney, Texas. This year, it'll take 10 times more, $2,400 per student.

Also in 1957, motor fuels taxes funded 32 percent of state highways and education expenditures. In 1983, the tax paid only 8.4 percent of those costs.

Two proposals have been made to increase the tax. One would be to raise both taxes to ten cents a gallon. The other is to impose a tax based on percentage of either the wholesale or retail price of fuels. This information provided by the State Comptroller's office.

Our Permian Basin rig count for this week is 307. Last week 299 and one year ago 233.
