I am amazed at what's going on in Austin. Surely the state lawmakers are not as comical as the media is painting them. I noticed when the state representative from Killeen proposed removing from sales tax exemption such services as advertising, home improvements, and car repairs, nobody suggested placing a sales tax on all services. That would take off the exemption for medical services, legal services, accountants, dentists, etc. Wouldn't that be a fine kettle of fish. Of course, the fair course would be to tax no service or tax them all. You may be sure there will never be a sales tax on lawyers' fees. Most members of the legislature are attorneys and that's the body making the laws.

We need to hold a town meeting over the deplorable condition of our once beautiful cemetery. We also need some rules and regulations and someone to enforce them. Many lots are overgrown with weeds, while others are completely dead. The only mowed grass I have seen are between the lots and at the side of the road. We heard a rumor that the commissioners court had ordered the cemetery workers not to water the lots. I had an opportunity to talk to one of the commissioners this morning and he said there was an apparent misunderstanding about the watering. The court ordered no watering between the lots, not the lots themselves, according to the commissioner.

Also, there are some questionable activities taking place on the weekends. We were out walking one Sunday afternoon and there were several kids rabbit hunting in and around the cemetery with rifles. In the new part, which has been opened recently, there was a baseball game going on.

Anyway, back to the watering, so many people heard the rumor, they go on weekends and turn the water on their lots. Some go back and move the water or turn it off, and some do not. It is not uncommon to see water from one lot running out to the street. It seems to me it would be much more sensible for the cemetery employees to water the lots a section at a time and notify lot-owners this was being done and it is not necessary to go out on weekends and water. Of course, if the lot-owner goes out and finds his grass dead, the consumption of water on weekends will go up. That is why someone needs to be in charge and see that the rules are followed. I do notice that the ball parks seem to be well-watered. I had to hire someone to renovate my lot and I am not complaining, but if the grass comes up and doesn't get mowed or watered, I will be complaining, long and loud. This would save the county a lot of money in water bills. There are a lot of dead flowers strewn about the lots and many, many faded artificial flowers which need to be removed.

I hope this is just a lack of communication and I assure you I will continue the investigation.

Everyone go out to the park for the July 4, celebration. Jana and Cathy will be manning a food booth for The Ozona Stockman.

Questa drilling program complete

Questa Oil & Gas Co. of Denver today announced the successful completion of six of seven wells drilled in three Texas counties in its 1983 Program. Daily production is approximately 100 barrels of oil and 700,000 cubic feet of gas. According to an independent engineering reserve study, the program's share of the wells has proved developed reserves of 23,107 barrels of oil and condensate and approximately 2.1 billion cubic feet of gas. Estimated future net revenues, discounted 10 percent, are $6.7 million. "This is the most successful drilling program of the three limited partnerships we have formed," said Questa President Warren Meeks. "This was originally a five-well program and already we've added two offset wells."

Questa has raised approximately $1.9 million in its three drilling programs, including $916,000 in the 1983 Program, which was closed in December of 1983. Producing wells from the latter include:

The Pierce State 106-2, Crockett County, was first completed in the lower Canyon sand for production of 100,000 cubic feet of gas per day, then recompleted in the upper zone and is producing 400,000 cubic feet per day.

The Childress 101-1, also in Crockett, initially produced 425,000 cubic feet of gas per day from the Canyon "C" zone, but had to be lowered to 300,000 cubic feet because of Texas regulations.

The Smith 59-6, Irion County, is producing 40 barrels of oil per day from the Canyon "B" zone. An offset, the Smith 59-7, produced 116 barrels of oil in a 24-hour test and daily production is 60 barrels.

Two gas wells in Crockett County are presently shut-in but are expected to be hooked up to a pipeline by September. The S.P.G.C. 9-1 and an offset, the 9-2, have been completed in the Canyon "B" sand.

The only dry hole in the program was a well drilled on the Harris Prospect in Tom Green County. Questa Oil & Gas Co. is a privately-held oil and gas exploration and development firm organized in February of 1981. It drills properties in Texas and Oklahoma. The company's corporate headquarters are in Denver, with an exploration office in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Electrical storm brings rain here

A terrific electrical storm hit Ozona Wednesday evening. The result was rainfall of from an inch up to two inches, depending what part of town the report came from. The official gauge at the Water District office recorded .9 of an inch.

The lightning sent Ozona firemen scurrying to three tank battery fires in different locations. The cable television tower was off for about an hour, after a truck wreck knocked a utility pole down north of town. It was several hours before electrical service was restored to all parts of town.

The electrical storm lasted a full half hour before the large drops of rain began to fall. The area was under a tornado watch at the time and funnels could be seen forming and dissipating. However, they failed to touch down.

The Crockett County Volunteer Fire Department had a busy schedule after the electrical storm. Wednesday night the team was called to a tank battery fire on the Jane Black ranch 16 miles east of Irion. Lightning had hit it and blew the top of the tank off. 1,000 gallons of water and 15 gallons of high expansion foam were used to extinguish the fire in 16 minutes reported fire chief, Doris Haire. High expansion foam is a chemical that works like soap. It makes a film which builds up like a sudsy material that will cover and smother the fire.

Also on Thursday, the department was called to two more tank batteries. One on the Shannon Estate north of town and one on the Mitchell Black Top. An additional run was made Thursday when what was thought to be smoke, turned out to be a powerful insect repellent bomb in a house on Ave. A.

Sheriff's Department has busy week

The Crockett County Sheriff's Department made five arrests for the week ending July 2. These include one white male for Public Intoxication, one white female for criminal trespassing, one white male for Public Intoxication and reckless conduct, and one white male for DWI. The department also apprehended a 20 year-old white male on a warrant out of Houston for auto theft and theft of service.

Thursday, June 28, during the blackout, Texaco No. 2 reported a theft of service.

The suspects were stopped five and one-half miles east of Ozona on I-10. They returned to pay for the gas.

A road block was set up Friday on I-10 just west of the Pandale Road to await subjects considered armed and dangerous who were wanted in a homicide out of Presidio County. They were reported travelling east from Bakersfield but the subjects never came through so the road block was discontinued after two hours.

A one vehicle rollover was investigated Saturday eight miles south on Highway 163.

Leading the band at Ozona High School this fall will be this group of lovelies. They recently returned from camp sponsored by the Marching Auxiliaries of America at Brenham. Drum major Haley Anderson, center, also attended. Flag twirlers, l. to r., are Janet Diaz; Christy Parks, captain; Annalu Lopez, Pam Miles, Kim Baker, Frances Moran, Amy Jones and Barbara Clinton. Miss Miles was selected by the MAA to represent it at the Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin-A conference committee last week approved the education reform bill but postponed sending it back for a final vote so that the House could first hammer out a tax bill.

Meanwhile, generally mild mannered Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby criticized the state's largest teacher group for failing to support the reform bill, and said the Texas State Teachers Association was finished as the major voice for teachers.

The education bill must be funded with the tax bill, and will likely come out of the legislative chute at about the same time. Like comedy, legislation depends on timing.

The House, which originates all tax bills, has insisted that the education bill proceeds first...and it has. But with senators controlling the conference committee, they are now holding while the House brings up the tax bill from behind, urging that it be debated on both floors in front of the reform bill.

While it may seem like a cat-and-mouse game between factions who differ on reform and how much they want to raise taxes to pay for it, it's also important to coordinate activities to prevent a busted play. With time running out on the 30-day deadline, one misstep could necessitate another special session to wrap up the package, and who knows where that could lead.

Teachers Protest
Tempers flared Wednesday when leaders of the Texas State Teachers Association concluded they did not approve of the education reform bill and tried to derail it.

They denounced it in a press statement that compared teachers to dogs who were "being stumbled over and kicked."

The tactic angered Hobby, who reportedly banned them temporarily from his office. But TSTA leaders insisted they couldn't support the bill because it enforces competency tests for teachers and provides for too small raises.

Surprisingly, the bill is supported by another teacher group which has taken more radical stands, the Texas Federation of Teachers-AFL-CIO.

Salaries, Merit Raises
Acknowledging that the bill contained only half a loaf, their president said he didn't understand why teachers should throw almost $900 million in raises in the face of the Legislature with righteous indignation.
In conference committee the bill would increase starting salaries from $11,100 to $15,200 a year, while the top grade salaries would go from $21,500 to $26,000.

Up to 30 percent of the 140,000 Texas teachers can receive a maximum $2,000 in bonuses next year for exceptional work.

Higher Drinking Age
When the U.S. Congress voted last week to withhold highway construction funds from states that refuse to raise the minimum drinking age to 21, it hit the Texas Legislature in the pocket-book.

Last among the hubbub of this special session on education is the effect that federal action will have on the coming regular session.

Texas must raise the legal age by late 1986, or stand to lose $33 million in fiscal year 1986 and more than double that the next year.

Hurting for revenues as badly as it is, the Legislature will be under heavy pressure to comply rather than lose money.

Mattox, Railroad Panel
Em battled Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox seems to be in new trouble every time he turns around.

Last week it was reported he angered officials at the Texas Railroad Commission by intervening in a federal oil and gas regulatory case.

The case involves two of Mattox's campaign contributors who are facing regulation by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. Mattox intervened saying it was up to the Texas Railroad Commission to regulate production in Texas.

Railroad commissioners Mack Wallace, Buddy Temple and Jim Nugent in a letter in March asked Mattox not to interfere because it might prejudice a pending RRC case involving the same two contributors.

But Comptroller Bob Bullock also wrote Mattox that if the feds prevailed, the state could lose as much as $18 million a year in lost severance tax revenue and recommended he intervene, a Mattox aide said. The dispute involves production of "white oil."

5,000 Vet Loans
Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro presented a certificate to an El Pasoan and made him the 5,000th Texas veteran to get a home loan through the Texas Veterans Housing Authority.

Mauro, who pushed for passage of the constitutional amendment, recently completed another bond sale to finance the loan program.

The first child of a President to be born in the White House was Esther Cleveland, born in 1893 to President Grover Cleveland and his wife, Frances.

THE U.N. AT 40

By Edwin Feulner

Fortieth birthdays usually bring with them varying degrees of panic about one's life. Do I know what I want out of life? Have I fulfilled my goals? Do I have some idea what I want to accomplish in the years ahead?

As the United Nations approaches its 40th birthday, these same questions had better be asked. At 40, the U.N. is no longer a well-intentioned glimmer in an idealist's eye. It's failings can no longer be shrugged off as youthful enthusiasm. The U.N. is a full-grown organization with a real record and history — and not one to be especially proud of either. At 40, the U.N. faces a very real middle-age crisis.

A recently published book, A World Without a U.N., examines the U.N.'s performance in nine key areas — disarmament, economic development, peacekeeping, the environment, health, food and agriculture, education, human rights, and "its role as a kind of safety valve to reduce international tensions." The 12 contributors were asked whether the situation in the world would be better, worse, or unchanged if the U.N. didn't exist.

Their conclusion: the world would be "no worse off" and, in fact, might be better off without the U.N.

Why? Because the U.N.'s track record has become a mixture of failed or broken promises, and its character has undergone an obscene werewolf-like transformation from an organization embodying all of man's noblest goals and aspirations to a ritualistic, even tribal, circus where clubbing the U.S. and western values is considered high art.

The U.N.'s human rights activities, for example, involve mainly passing resolutions, rather than helping end human rights abuses or helping victims, the book explains.

The Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) generally ignores and even is hostile to the one agricultural system which consistently has multiplied the world's food supply — private-sector farming. So while millions go hungry, and the U.N. looks to the U.S. and the West for "emergency" food aid for the drought-stricken of Africa, and the Soviet Union produces another failed harvest, so-called corporate farming in the U.S. is denounced.

The U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) promotes none of these things, instead, it promotes the notion that whatever know-how the Western democracies possess they have developed at the expense of the less fortunate of the world and should now "return" their earnings to their underdeveloped victims.

The U.N. also has done poorly as keeper of the peace, the book shows. In the hundreds of wars and conflicts since the end of World War II, the U.N. has been a significant stabilizing force in only a handful. "The fact is that when it comes to peacekeeping, while the U.N. probably makes the situation no worse, it also makes it no better," says Burton Pines, editor of the new volume.

In the area of disarmament, the U.N. has done literally nothing. Those well-publicized and costly U.N. conferences on disarmament yielded only rhetoric, Pines says.

Ambassador Charles Lichenstein, former number two person at the U.S. Mission in New York, says in the foreword to the book that the U.S. should work for reform at the U.N. or consider withdrawing. First of all, he and Pines suggest, U.N. technical agencies—once again must deal exclusively with technical matters. The World Health Organization (WHO) should work on world health; UNESCO should work on science and education. And so forth. Second, the U.N. must stop funding the Palestine Liberation Organization, the South West Africa People's Organization, and similar terrorist groups. The U.S. should not be sending funds to terrorists through the U.N. or any other organization. And finally, the stature of the U.N. General Assembly — a circus within a circus — must be reduced.

I arrived in Ozona, Tuesday, June 26, 1984 for a brief but very gratifying stay. I found my sister, Carmen, (Mrs. Felipe Vargas, Jr.) and family enjoying health and well being. I noticed that the sons of my sister are all well established and managing businesses with success; they are respected and well appreciated in this community. The happiest moments I spent in Ozona, were those with my old and good friend, Samuel Martinez, whom I had not seen in fifty years. What a gratifying surprise! He has a lovely home and a fine wife and family. God bless them! I'll send my deeply felt regards from Tampica to Ozona and friends here.

Signed,
Samuel Alvarado C.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

There were many smiling and happy faces last Thursday morning after our most welcome rain Wednesday, and sincerely hope the front covered our whole area.

It's hard to believe that we are beginning our second month of summer, but the heat of the last two weeks told us it was coming. This slows down many garden activities, so you can now enjoy the results of your spring planning and planting. Perhaps you will notice some changes to the arrangement of your plants might be improved upon for next year.

Order madonna lily and amaryllis bulbs for August planting. Continue to divide iris and add some new varieties. Plant mint around doorways, as flies and rots do not like the scent of mint.

Sow a ring of radishes around each cucumber hill to control cucumber beetles.

Plant garlic around your roses to eliminate aphids. Pamper your roses with chopped banana peel. Be sure to work it in just beneath the ground. Keep all blossoms picked from annuals so the plants will continue to bloom.

This is a good month to start biennials from seeds. By fall the seedlings will be large enough to transplant into the garden for blooms next spring. Some you might want to try include hollyhocks, foxgloves, canterbury bells, and wallflowers. Always cut such flowers as roses, marigolds, and zinnias early in the morning, and immediately plunge the stems into a container of warm water. Let them remain in the warm water until it reaches room temperature, then recut the stems before arranging the flowers. Replenish water every day.

Fly the Flag on the Fourth. Join your neighbor in displaying the flag on this Fourth of July and others throughout the year. Respect should prevail when the flag is flown, no frivolous uses should be permitted. When the flag begins to look worn, dispose of it respectfully, preferably by burning. Wish you a Happy Fourth of July.

Periwinkles, tough but pretty flowers

Need a flowering plant that withstands summer heat, has few insect problems, and tolerates city smog? Try the Madagascar periwinkle.

This colorful plant is finding its way into more and more gardens each summer because it is so tough and heat tolerant, says Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

At the same time, plant breeders have been able to bring new characteristics into this plant that has made it even more desirable for home garden use. A good example is the variety Morning Mist. It's the first periwinkle with clusters of flowers. Each flower is pure white, centered with a red eye.

Periwinkle varieties presently available have white, pink, rose or lavender flowers (many with a contrasting eye), but flower breeders have additional varieties almost ready to release that will further extend the color range.

The foliage is one of the Madagascar periwinkle's most attractive features with its narrow, dark-green, glossy leaves, notes Janne. The contrast between the foliage and the flower is as attractive as any summer flowering plant available.

Periwinkles are superb for Texas gardens where heat frazzles many other plants. They will deliver a fine show in full sun throughout the summer until a killing frost gets them in the fall.

Some newer varieties have a spreading growth habit, making them excellent for border plants, explains the horticulturist. These include Morning Mist, with its white flower and red eye; Little Delicata, a baby pink flower accented with a deep red eye; and Little Blanche, with its snow-white flowers.

Two others in the "Little" series include the deep orchid-colored Little Linda and Little Pinkie, which was initially introduced as Coquette.

For hanging baskets or a mass carpet planting, few varieties make a better show than Polka Dot, Janne points out. It has a low creeping growth habit, with each plant spreading about 2 feet across and only 4 to 6 inches tall covered with snow white flowers, each centered with a velvety cherry red dot.

Periwinkles will survive and thrive in locations where other plants would languish, such as by the foundation of houses with south and west exposures, on the balcony of high-rise apartments, or next to walks and drives with reflected heat. All they need for survival is an occasional watering plus a little fertilizer every six weeks or so, says Janne.

Because of its resistance to heat, disease, insects and air pollution, the periwinkle makes an excellent plant for summer color in the inner city and is also an excellent choice for the country home or suburban landscape.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED
Mr. and Mrs. Randel Wilson announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Gina, to Andrew J. Meitl, son of Mrs. Florence Meitl of Hoxie, Kansas. The couple plan to be married August 10, in Leoville, Kansas. Both are 1982 graduates of Hoxie High School and 1983 graduates of Northwest Kansas Area Vocational-Technical School in Goodland, Kansas.

Amenorrhea, common female condition

When a woman misses menstrual periods or never begins them at all, the condition is called amenorrhea.

The Texas Medical Association notes that it is not uncommon for a woman occasionally to miss a period. And in the case of runners who total 20 miles or more a week, they may miss two or three periods in a row and not have anything wrong physically.

But for a woman who is not a jogger and not pregnant, missing two consecutive periods should prompt a medical checkup.

Menstruation begins monthly with the release of a hormone in the brain. This causes the pituitary gland to release two other hormones. They in turn stimulate one of the woman's ovaries to mature, producing eggs ready to be fertilized.

This also causes the ovaries to secrete the hormones estrogen and progesterone. They control development of the uterus lining, which thickens each month to provide a "home" for a fertilized egg. If an egg is not fertilized by the sperm, the lining flows out of the body as blood through the vagina.

Amenorrhea, the absence of menstruation, is not a disease but a symptom of other problems, often related to hormones or chromosomes. The two kinds are primary amenorrhea, the failure of menstrual cycles to begin by the late teens and secondary amenorrhea, menstruation that stops recurring after it has begun.

The most common causes of primary amenorrhea are defects of the uterus, ovaries or vagina resulting from abnormal chromosomes.

Other causes are the lack of a vagina or one that has stopped developing. Primary amenorrhea can be treated with hormones to produce menstruation and to aid in physical maturity.

Causes of secondary amenorrhea include enlarged ovaries that fail to produce eggs, tumors of the pituitary gland, physical and mental stress, severe weight loss, a change in climate or sleep patterns, strenuous physical activity and diseases of the kidney and certain glands.

Treatment of secondary amenorrhea depends on the cause and several drugs are effective.

Picnickers beware: July marks food poisoning time

July begins the peak picnic-and food poisoning-season. But with a few simple precautions, this unpleasant and sometimes serious illness can be avoided, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service food and nutrition specialist.

The "poison" is actually produced by a certain bacteria, a type of staphylococcus, which contaminates the food, says Mary K. Sweeten. The poison is eaten with the food and produces symptoms such as nausea and vomiting. For most people, food poisoning is just a miserable experience, but it can be serious for babies, elderly people and those with other illnesses, she notes.

The bacteria often reach food from the hands of the person preparing it. But even when you're careful to wash your hands, bacteria from the skin, hair or throat, can be spread to food, she explains.

Since these bacteria are especially fond of protein, Sweeten recommends precautions when taking high protein foods--such as meat, poultry, salads containing egg, custards and some baked foods--on picnics.

The most likely sources of food poisoning are those dishes that you don't normally heat or reheat before serving on a picnic.

"It's never wise to assume that high-protein foods are safe after being kept at room temperature," she says.

WOMEN'S SOFTBALL MEETING SCHEDULED
The Ozona women's softball league will hold a meeting at 7 p.m., Thursday, July 5 at the Chamber of Commerce. One representative from each team should be present to discuss the upcoming second season.

temperature," she says. "Since refrigeration prevents the bacteria from making their poison, the most effective way to avoid food poisoning is to eat them right away or else keep them cold until they are served."

Couple's golf play

Winners of the couple's golf at the country club Tuesday was the team of Ricky and Darlyn Webster and Pon and Jill Seahorn.

Three teams tied for second place. They were the team of Dale and Jean Taylor and Bill and Debbie Glasscock; Jim and Judy Adams and Jerry Perry and Jeanne Henderson; Mike Williams and Marilyn Cox and Weldon and Joyce Maness.

Closest to the pin on No. 9 were Mary Webster and Jim Adams.

Ladies Golf Day winners

Ladies Golf Day winners at the Ozona Country Club last week were Low Gross, Marie White; Low Net, Jeanette Bailey; Low Putts, Mary Webster.

UPS and DOWNS

A roller coaster is an amusement. Ups and downs can be thrilling when you're only along for the ride.

Life brings a succession of ups and downs. How we meet them is a rather accurate measure of that intangible thing we call character. Most people discover the ups aren't all fun--the downs never are.

For in this life none of us is simply along for the ride. We have obligations and responsibilities, opportunities and duties, challenges and concerns.

All of us need the spiritual enrichment that effectively molds strong character. Faith in God and its earnest expression through worship and Christian service prepare us for the ups and downs of life.

Be among the millions who are discovering the higher and deeper dimensions that really make life thrilling. This week attend the church or synagogue of your choice.

New warden protects wildlife

By Jana Harris

Born free and intended to maintain a life of this nature are the animals of wildlife.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department game warden, Rod Chalmers, came to Ozona shortly over a month ago from Laredo. With his trek to Crockett County, Chalmers brings the goal to protect people from injury because "wild animals will always be wild animals" regardless of the attempts to make pets of them.

Deer and raccoons are the most common wildlife animals to be taken into captivity. These particular ones are usually picked up from the side of roadways or found stray, seemingly lost from the mother. Instead of confusing the animal between the wildness and domestication, Chalmers advises to contact him so that proper procedures may be taken to secure the health of the animal and the human.

Aside from the risk of being bitten, clawed, seriously injured or even killed by a wildlife pet, it is also a violation of State and/or Federal law. One who captures any type of wildlife that is protected by law is subject to a fine of $200. Game animals held in captivity may signify fines up to $200 per day that the animal is kept.

Permits are available for the domestication of some animals but these are basically classified as rehabilitation, scientific collection or game breeders, not for pets.

Chalmers, received a Wildlife Science degree from Texas A&M University in 1969. Thereafter, he worked numerous ranches in south and west Texas. He worked with livestock and as a wildlife manager until 1978 when he joined forces with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department as a game warden. His first duty station was Galveston and he previously spent five years in Laredo. His wife, Marilyn, and their two daughters are also here.

"I've never really run into a friendlier bunch of people," Chalmers said. "Everyone has gone out of their way to make us feel at home."

The local warden is one of the less than 400 officers statewide. Crockett County lies in Region 1, District 2 of the 10 regions with some three districts per region in the State. This District encompasses Crockett, Val Verde, Pecos and Terrell counties. Del Rio holds the District office and the Regional office is based in San Angelo.

Chalmers works closely with Don Jackson, the warden in Sheffield. During seasons of heavy water usage, a great deal of time is spent patrolling Lake Amistad and area rivers for water safety and fishing violations. "I've been spending most of my time learning my way around the country." He also welcomed the opportunity to meet area landowners, "we rely on them heavily to help us combat illegal hunting."

In and out of hunting seasons, the game wardens face a 24 hour job. A typical day during deer season may consist of leaving home at sundown, patrolling roads all night, checking bag limits of hunters the next morning and then returning to the highways to watch for road hunters both daylighters and spotlighters as well.

Although game wardens respect the concept of private ownership, they have the right to enter any land where wildlife is known to range astray for the purpose of enforcing the game laws of Texas.

"Everyone who cares anything about wildlife conservation needs to be on the look out for flagrant game violators," Chalmers said. Violations may be reported across the State by dialing a 24-hour toll free number 1-800-792-GAME (1-800-792-4263). A caller should provide the nature of the violation, where it occurred, vehicle description, names and other pertinent information. A nearby warden will then be dispatched to the scene. Callers may remain anonymous and a monetary reward may be offered if the violation results in a conviction.

Tentative dates for Crockett County hunting seasons include Morning Dove season, Sept. 1-Oct. 30 and Jan. 5-Jan. 14. These proposed dates pend final decision from the Parks and Wildlife Commission. White Tail deer, Nov. 17-Jan. 6; bow hunting, Oct. 6-Nov. 4; Mule deer, Nov. 24-Dec. 9; Black Tail deer, Oct. 6-Nov. 4; quail, Oct. 27-Feb. 3, turkey and bow will be the same as deer season. The spring hunt is billed for April 13-28.

"Every game warden likes to feel like he's contributing something to maintain conservation of wildlife for future generations," Chalmers said. He assumed the post held by Raymond Davee who is now the Justice of the Peace. Acknowledging the great tribute to Davee, "Apparently he did a pretty good job because they made him a judge," he said smilingly. "They trust his judgment on the judicial side of law and order."

"I'm very appreciative of the way we've been received in the county. I'm looking forward to meeting everybody," Chalmers said. "I especially need to make contact with the ranchers who have the game that I'm hired to protect."

For further information on hunting regulations or to report a violation, call Chalmers at home, 392-3972; office, 392-2253 or through the Sheriff's Department or the Department of Public Safety.

The Scientists Tell Me...

Both Cattlemen and Consumers Benefit From Computerized Comparisons of Methods

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Cattlemen have always been eager to compare notes and improve their techniques of production. A computerized-comparison method in use by feedlot managers may serve as a prototype for development of a similar system for producers, according to Dr. Lowell Schake, Professor of Beef Cattle Nutrition at Texas A&M University, and a researcher for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Since 1975 feedlot managers have been learning more about their industry, and themselves, through a computer-assisted interfirm comparison developed by Schake and Phillip W. Ljungdahl, formerly of the Accounting Department at

A&M.

This interfirm comparison has resulted in feedlot cattle being managed more efficiently, allowing beef to be offered to consumers at more competitive prices.

Schake explained that this is one of the more exciting aspects of agricultural research... "as industry efficiency and productivity improve as a result of research, the consumer becomes the ultimate beneficiary."

Today, this interfirm comparison program is managed by the Texas Cattle Feeders Association of Amarillo. Each month, participating feedlots transfer 48 input items from their in-house computers to a computer in the association office.

In a few days, each participating feedlot has a printout with over 80 items of comparison (each individual feedlot vs. industry averages for current month, last month, and a 12-month average).

Items of comparison include cattle performance, cattle inventories, production cost, fuel usage and utilization comparisons, plus employee statistics. The program is managed so that confidentiality of all data is maintained.

In 1977, Schake and Ljungdahl surveyed the feedlot managers that used the IFC Program and they agreed that they were more aware of industry trends and performance characteristics than previously. At present, over 800,000 cattle-on-feed are represented by each monthly report which accounts for about one-half of the feedlot cattle in Texas.

Schake recently reported on the analysis of the historical interfirm comparison data, to participants of the Fifth World Conference on Animal Production in Tokyo, Japan. Cattle performance was found to be significantly influenced by year, season of year, and geographical location, but not by size of feedlot.

Average conversion of feed dry matter to cattle gain averaged 7.2 pounds for steers and 7.5 pounds for heifers, while they were on-feed for 145 and 154 days, respectively. Currently, cattle are being fed for fewer days than previously, with improved feed conversions and rates of gain.

It was also reported that turnover of feedlot employees had declined from 160% per year in 1975 to less than 40% in 1982. This highly favorable trend may be attributed to implementation of the interfirm comparison, Schake says.

He indicates that increased awareness by feedlot managers and industry leaders, of high employee turnover rates gave them reason to concentrate upon improving a situation that was both expensive and unnecessary. It requires only 1.4 resident feedlot employees to manage 1,000 cattle per month in the modern, efficient feedlots of today.

Efficient utilization of feed and fuel energy is another area of interest to feedlot managers, who have been creative in finding ways to reduce consumption of high-priced fuels and have sought out the feeds offering the greatest net energy content vs. cost. The interfirm comparison has allowed each manager to compare his cost with the average of the industry, in these and other categories.

"The future prospect of developing similar interfirm comparisons for the farmers and ranchers of Texas seems well within our grasp," according to Schake.

Lead contamination has severe health effects

Two Texas A&M University scientists studying the psychological and behavioral effects of lead contamination in laboratory animals said even low levels of lead may have serious health consequences.

In humans, low levels of exposure might cause increased anxiety or tension which might lead to a kind of self-medication like the use of alcohol or depressant drugs, said Dr. Jack Nation, an associate professor of psychology.

While very low levels may increase anxiety or tension, larger dosages significantly suppress response rates--most likely as a result of motivational deficits or a general state of malaise, he said.

"What we are talking about here, in effect, are things that circumscribe the very existence of humans. If you can't learn, if you can't retain information you have learned, it's going to seriously affect the tenure of humans on the planet," Nation said.

Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

What a fun time we had on our Hawaiian vacation last Monday. Bernice Phillips came and made us all feel as if we were there in person. She was assisted by Earline Jones. They brought pictures, taught us words, and served us a fruit plate. This was really an enjoyable program and I wish some of you readers would share your favorite vacation spots in the same manner. Call and we will put you on the schedule.

It is hard to believe that June is gone and the July schedule time is here.

Besides our Hawaiian party, we have also been entertained every Wednesday afternoon this month by the Davee youth, Barbara Dwyan, Monica and Tammy and several times by Clara Byrd on the piano. Clara just drops by and plays awhile and we love it.

Tuesday afternoon Maude Couch and Dorothy Doll joined the ladies sewing circle and shared some of their latest works of art. Maude made us 6 dozen new bibs. Ruth Hester once again led our ceramic class on Wednesday. Residents participating included Juana Hernandez, Alice Ross, Hilda Dy-sart, Nina Mayfield, Maude Pettit, Ola Mills, Billie Whalley and Moriama Perez.

Wednesday afternoon's Sunshine Hour was led by Mary Leigh Jones and Bonnie Warth. They served a very attractive cookie and fruit bowl inside because it was so hot outside.

Alice Ross did not let falling and hurting her wrist stop her from watering the yard. She was pleased to have the rains come and help her out, though.

Thursday morning beauty shop was manned by Clara Byrd and Lola Rios.

A special thanks this week goes to the Faith Lutheran Church ladies for bringing 8 containers each of baby powder and baby oil. We really appreciate these faithful volunteers.

Tuesday and Friday bingo winners included El Chato dinner for two, Jesus Hernandez; Baker Jewelers certificate, Nina Mayfield; Perry Brothers $5 donation, Ola Mills; and second place winner Alice Ross. Volunteers include Lelia Tambunga and Sophie Tijerina from the hospital, sitters Angelita Pena, Linda Vasquez, Elsa Ramirez, Amalia Lumbreras, Elo-dia Zapata, and Sammy Patino as well as resident volunteers Maude Pettit and Alice Ross and outside helpers Dorothy Doll, Anna Bell Patrick, Mattie Cooper and Ruth Dorris.

Friday afternoon our residents had a council meeting and expressed their views on policies and procedures as well as previewing the July calendar.

We will have a noon picnic in the Care Center yard July 4th.

Happy 4th of July to everyone!

Calvary Bapt. to feature film July 8

"God's Prison Gang," a newly released film featuring Al Capone's getaway driver, the last member of Bonnie and Clyde's gang and two other notorious criminals who have become Christians will be shown at Calvary Baptist Church on Sunday, July 8. The showing is scheduled to begin at 7:00 p.m.

The film, shot behind the walls of New York's Attica prison, is hosted by Art Linkletter. It tells the story of how the work of International Prison Ministry is accomplishing what more guards, higher prison walls and greater financial expenditures have failed to do—keep released inmates from returning to lives of crimes.

Telling their stories in the 44-minute film are George Meyer, Al Capone's favorite driver; Floyd Hamilton, (Public Enemy No. 1) the last of the Bonnie and Clyde Gang; Jerry Graham, the "robber king" of California; and Ted Jefferson, convicted of crimes from drugs and robbery to murder.

Also featured is "Chaplain Ray," whose Dallas-based International Prison Ministry has changed the lives of thousands of inmates over the past 18 years.

Calvary Baptist Church, invites all citizens concerned about the problem of rising crime to attend the free screening of the film.

JULY 4th

MRS. JACK WEINBERG
...nee Miss Kathleen Appel

Appel, Weinberg exchange vows Sat.

Kathleen Appel became the bride of Jack Weinberg in an afternoon ceremony Saturday, June 30, at the First Baptist Church Chapel in San Angelo, with Dr. Jerold McBride officiating. The bride is the daughter of Ms. Louise Bean Appel of San Angelo and the granddaughter of Mrs. George Bean. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Weinberg of Akron, Ohio are the parents of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, James Appel, of Friendswood, wore a gown designed by Paula Varsalona. The ivory off the shoulder gown is made of tulle with alencon lace. The puffed sleeves encircle the bodice to create a dramatic neckline. The chapel length train falls gracefully from the dropped waist. The coronet head piece is made of alencon lace beaded to match the bodice of the wedding gown. She carried a cascade of gardenias, stephanotis and rose buds.

Honor attendant was Cynthia Underwood of Hunington Beach, Ca. Bridesmaids were Jennifer Beard of Arlington, Nancy Pumphrey of Lubbock, Marla Weinberg of Plano and Carolyn Kirschner of Dallas. Jennifer Weinberg of Plano, was flower girl.

The attendants wore off the shoulder dusty rose silk chiffon gowns fashioned with petal-shaped matinee length skirts. They carried cascades of lilies and rose buds. Best man was Mike Weinberg of Plano. Groomsman were Randy Pumphrey of Lubbock and Jim Mooring of Bedford. Violin selections were played by Paula Woyton. Fred Baker of Alpine played the organ.

The groom was host to the rehearsal dinner at the River Club in San Angelo.

The bride graduated with a BBA from Texas Tech University. She is currently employed as a certified public accountant with Peat Marwick and Mitchell of Dallas. The groom received a BBA and MBA from Ohio State University. He is currently employed as a Vice President of Bell Helicopter Textron of Canada.

After a wedding trip to Jamaica the couple will be at home in Montreal, Canada.

Pinkston, Carroll unite

West Texans donate new carpet to Senate session on education reform and taxes, they had a surprise waiting for them. And, to their collective sigh of relief, it wasn't the kind of surprise that keeps some members from getting re-elected.

It was the beautiful new carpet adorning the Senate Chamber, made possible by many generous donations from West Texas wool and mohair producers.

The carpet, a deep royal blue criss-crossed with oak and olive leaf clusters and studded with red Texas stars was made in response to the upcoming 150th birthday of the State of Texas, scheduled in 1986.

State Senator Bill Sims of San Angelo asked several members of the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association for donations of their home-grown angora mohair and wool. Enough ranchers responded to make 1,000 square yards of the specially-designed flooring.

Producers making the contributions were Bob Johnson of Eldorado, Fred R. Campbell of Paint Rock, Lee Pfluger of San Angelo, Robert Allison of San Angelo, Jack Riggs of Dryden, Sid Harkins of Sanderson, Monty Harkins of Sanderson, Bob Childress of Mohair Industries, Inc., of San Angelo, Herman Moore of Brownwood, James Leo Greer, Jr., of Rocksprings, J.W. Adams of Evant, Dr. Joe David Ross of Sonora, Jeffrey Sutton of Ozona, Perry Bushong of Mountain Home, Lanny Leinweber of Mountain Home, Ranchman's Wool and Mohair of Ingram, D.L. Cloudt of Rocksprings and Delton Sweatman of Ranchman's Wool and Mohair of Brownwood.

"The State of Texas and its citizens owe these gentlemen a lot of thanks," Sims stated. "Through their generosity they have enriched the history of Texas."

New store opened Sunday

A new convenience store, Shot's, opened here Sunday, the largest yet for Ozona. The new store offers one-stop dining, grocery shopping and self-serve gasoline. Located on Sheffield Road, or old Hwy. 290, the new building stands where the old Phillips 66 service station was.

Also, open house was held at Crockett Apartments and several Ozonans toured the facility. The ribbon-cutting ceremony was held at 10 o'clock Saturday, at the apartments on Juno Road or Hwy 163 So.

4-Hers attend camp

Some 115 4-Hers, leaders and County Extension agents participated in the State 4-H Camp in Brownwood, June 27-30.

Campers were actively involved in educational sessions in canoeing, sailing, swimming, nature hikes, riflery, archery and adventure programs. The evenings were complete with dances, movies, games and campfires.

Attending from Ozona were the following 4-H members: Carri Chandler, Coy Corbell, Terry House, Marandy Keith, Robin Myers, Susan Pullen, Chad Upham, and Marnady Keith. County Extension Agent Rachel Hall accompanied the 4-Hers to camp and assisted with camp activities.

Delta changes name

Delta Drilling Company officially has a new name today: DeltaUS Corporation. The change, which was approved May 23 by the company's shareholders, became effective July 1 at company operations in Texas, Louisiana and Pennsylvania, as well as in other states where the company does business.

DeltaUS Chairman of the Board and President Keating Zeppa said the new corporate identity "will convey to the business and investing community, as well as our local communities, that we are much more than a drilling company."

He said Delta has expanded its exploration and production activities over the last several years, enlarged its role as a natural gas processor, and moved more into the gas marketing area.

Outdoor cooking is a natural for West Texas. The delicious charcoal flavor is just one advantage. It doesn't heat up the kitchen, which saves cooling energy, and there is usually less clean-up.

Here are some recipes for the outdoor grill. Add some fresh fruits and vegetables for delicious summer meals.

Onion Potatoes
1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 (2 3/8-ounce) envelope onion soup mix
6 medium baking potatoes
Combine butter and soup mix; blend well, and set aside.

Scrub potatoes thoroughly. Working with one potato at a time, cut each into slices 1/2 inch thick. Spread one side of each slice with butter mixture, and reassemble potato. Wrap in heavy-duty aluminum foil.

Cook potatoes on grill over moderate heat 45 minutes to 1 hour or until done, turning once. Yield: 6 servings.

Cheesy Potatoes
3 large baking potatoes, peeled and thinly sliced
1 large onion, thinly sliced
Salt to taste
Coarsely ground pepper
1 (8-ounce) package sharp Cheddar cheese, cubed
4 to 5 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled
1/2 cup butter or margarine

Place potato slices on a large piece of heavy-duty aluminum foil; cover with onion slices. Season with salt and pepper. Sprinkle with cheese and bacon; dot with butter. Wrap foil tightly. Cook about 1 hour on grill or until potatoes are done, turning several times.

Grilled Tomatoes
8 firm ripe tomatoes
Salt and pepper to taste
Ground oregano
Shredded Cheddar cheese or grated Parmesan cheese
Butter or margarine
Cut each tomato in half crosswise; sprinkle cut surfaces with salt, pepper, and oregano. Place each tomato half on a square of heavy-duty aluminum foil. Sprinkle with cheese, and dot with butter. Fold foil securely around tomato halves.

Cook on grill over moderate heat 10 to 15 minutes or until tomatoes are tender and cheese is melted. Yield: 8 servings.

Savory Bread
1 (1-pound) loaf French bread
1/2 cup butter or margarine softened
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1/4 cup chopped green onion

Slice bread in 1-inch slices, not quite through the bottom crust. Combine butter, parsley, and onion; spread mixture between slices and on top of bread. Wrap loaf in heavy-duty aluminum foil; place on grill over coals 15 minutes. Yield: 8 servings.

Indian Roasted Corn
8 ears fresh corn
3 tablespoons salt
Softened butter or margarine

Remove large outer husks from corn; turn back inner husks, and remove silk. Pull husks back over ears, and tie with heavy twine or fine wire. Dissolve salt in enough cold water to cover corn. Soak corn in salt water for 1 hour (a weight may be necessary to keep corn submerged).

Drain corn, and place on grill over hot coals 15 to 20 minutes, turning frequently. Serve at once with butter. Yield: 8 servings.

Luau Beans
1/2 pound sliced bacon, cooked and crumbled
2 medium onions, chopped
4 (16-ounce) cans pork and beans

1 (8 1/2-ounce) can crushed pineapple, undrained
1/4 cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons molasses
1 1/2 teaspoons dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
Combine all ingredients in a 3-qt. Dutch oven. Cover and cook on grill over moderate heat 1 to 1 1/2 hours, stirring occasionally. Yield:

12 to 14 servings.

Marinated Chuck Roast
1 (3 to 4 pound) boneless chuck roast

Meat tenderizer
1 (5-ounce) bottle soy sauce
1 1/2 cups water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

1/2 cup bourbon
Sprinkle roast with tenderizer, and prick with fork; place roast in a shallow pan. Combine remaining ingredients, stirring well. Pour marinade over roast. Cover and place in refrigerator at least 12 hours, turning at least once.

Remove roast from marinade, and place on grill; cook over hot coals 30 to 45 minutes, basting often with marinade. Yield: 8 servings

EVEN WHEN YOU'RE AWAY...YOUR HOME KEEPS RUNNING

You may naturally expect your home to use less electricity while you're away for a week or more. The reduction may not be as great as you think, however. That's because there are many factors that can affect your usage: weather conditions, billing periods and even vacation preparation.

1. Very hot weather before you leave and after you return means increased use of air conditioning; this makes it difficult to compare your bill with a previous month of milder weather.
2. Hot weather causes your refrigerator/freezer to run longer, particularly if your home air conditioning is turned off while you are away.
3. If the time you're away falls within two billing periods, the reduction you expect will be split between two bills.
4. If you didn't turn off your electric hot water heater before you left, it continued to keep your water hot 24 hours a day, even though you weren't there.
5. And don't forget... when getting ready for a vacation, you often use more electricity than usual for cleaning, washing, drying, ironing, cooking and general preparations. The same is true about your return.

Check your meter.

If you learn to read your own meter, you can find out just how much electricity was used while you were gone. And, you'll see just how much energy you're using during the summer, the heaviest electricity consuming season, with your air conditioning operating most of the time.
