Kitty's Korner

By
Kitty Montgomery

The town is still reeling from the tragedy which struck Friday morning taking the life of young Dan Bean and his employee in a senseless and avoidable accident. One drawback to living in a small town is when tragedy strikes it affects the entire community. We grieve for Dan and his family and at the same time are outraged at the circumstances which took his life.

The intersection of highways 163 and 190, known locally as Midway Lane, has been the scene of several accidents over the years, most all fatal. Every one could have been avoided had the driver of the vehicle traveling 190 just stopped at the stop sign or heeded the warnings preceding the signs.

There is talk about putting a caution light up at the intersection. One cannot help but wonder if that would have any more effect on careless drivers than the stop signs. The most sensible suggestion I have heard is an overpass. I know it would be expensive, but how can you put a price on human life?

We need to band together, petition our local officials and our elected state officials, and put enough pressure on them until we get this project done. It took no time at all to get the stop-lights at the high school after we contacted our then State Representative Susan McBee. With Susan retired and the county moved to another district, our state representative is Gerald Geistweidt of Mason. Our state senator is Bill Sims of San Angelo.

Henderson Sunday School Class.

Stanton chills Lions in 22-8 defeat Friday

By Gary Davis

The recent cold spell combined with the Stanton Buffaloes, put a big chill on the Ozona Lions last Friday night as the Buffaloes defeated the Lions 22-8.

Ozona will complete their non-district schedule this Friday evening against the Eldorado Eagles in Eldorado.

The Lions, who only had 46 total rushing and passing yards could never seem to hold on to the ball. They only ran 9 offensive plays in the first half compared to Stanton's 34. Stanton earned 15 first downs while the Lions only received 4. The Buffaloes racked up 185 rushing yards and 113 passing yards for a total of 298 yards. Stanton was penalized 8 times for 71 yards, whereas, the Lions were only penalized 5 times for a total of 25 yards.

S.C.S. sets election for one director

An election for a director to serve in Zone 1 on the Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District Board is scheduled for Tuesday, October 9, at the S.C.S. office located at 401 First Street, announced Bill Baggett, chairman of the board. The election will be held at 7:30 p.m.

State law decrees that to be eligible to vote in a soil and water conservation district director's election, a person must own agricultural land within the subdivision where the election is being held. The person must also live in a county all or any part of which is in the district and the voter must be 18 years old.

Legal qualifications state that a candidate for the office of a soil and water conservation district director must own land in the zone he represents, be 18 years of age and be actively engaged in farming or ranching. He must also live in a county all or part of which is in the district.

Zone 1 of the district includes all lands in Crockett County north of U.S. Hwy. 290 and west of State Hwy. 163.

Current members of the board of directors of the Crockett SWCD are Bill Baggett, chairman-Zone 1; Earl Acton, Vice-chairman-Zone 3; Joe Couch, Secretary-Zone 4; Gene Perry, member-Zone 2; and Bud Hoover, member-Zone 5.

The purpose of the Crockett SWCD is to promote sound soil and water conservation programs on farm and ranch lands within the district and to serve as a voice for ranchers on conservation matters and other issues affecting private property rights of landowners.

Stanton scored first when Junior quarterback, Kevin Glaspie, threw a 13-yard pass to senior receiver, Wayne DeLao. The extra point attempt was good by Bobby Almager and the Buffaloes took a 7-0 lead over the Lions with 6:52 remaining in the first quarter.

Midway through the second period of play Glaspie connected with Derek Sorley on a 12-yard score. Almager's kick was good, putting the Buffaloes ahead, 14-0. With only 15 seconds left in the first half, Glaspie hit senior, Danny Koonce with a 5-yard pass.

Moran is contest winner for second time

For the second straight week in a row, Eleno Moran won the football contest without benefit of the tie-breaker. He only missed on one game. Out of the 48 entries, Morans was the only one with one miss.

The contest is sponsored by Ozona merchants and entry blanks may be found on the sports page. Everyone is eligible for the contest. The only rules are having the entry in before 5 p.m. on Fridays and the entry blank must come from the pages of the Stockman.

Sorley ran in the extra point and ended the Stanton scoring surge.

Ozona's only score came on a 10-yard pass from Harvey Fierro to Chuy Hernandez, who took the ball in for the score. Fierro then ran the extra point attempt successfully, finalizing the score at 22-8.

David Delgado, Ozona senior, led the Lions in rushing with 16 yards. Fierro completed 5 passes of 13 for 30 yards and 3 interceptions. Lionel Munoz led his team in pass receptions with 18 yards.

Head coach, Jim Green said that his team just self-destructed. "They didn't stop us," said Green, "We stopped ourselves. We won the second half, but you don't just win half of a ballgame." The coach complimented Chuy Hernandez for both his offensive and defensive play.

Looking toward this Friday's game with the Eldorado Eagles, Green expects to see them throwing the ball quite a bit. "They'll be testing the airways this week after seeing what Stanton's passing game did to us." He continued by saying that the Eagles have a good, solid, and experienced ball club. The game is scheduled for 8:00 p.m. in Eldorado.

Vehicle crash claims 2 lives

A tragic accident took the lives of a 19-year-old Ozona rancher and a Mexican ranch hand, 58, Friday morning 15 miles north of Ozona at the intersection of State Hwy 163 and U.S. 190.

James Daniel Bean and Lorenzo Contreras Torres of Mexico, were pronounced dead at 11:15 a.m. by Peace Justice Raymond Davee.

The accident occurred at 10:20 a.m. when a tractor-trailer, loaded with oilfield frac-sand, and traveling west on 190 ran a stop sign and hit the pickup driven by Bean and south-bound on 163 at the left door.

The pickup traveled an additional 108 feet west before striking a telephone pole, ejecting Torres and pinning the driver in the vehicle. The pickup burst into flames and both victims were burned. Identity was not immediately available and it was several hours before Bean's identity was established. Both men were taken to Sizemore Funeral Home.

The injured included Irving Ubanak, 41, and Allan Logan, 27, both of Madill, Okla. They were taken to Crockett County Hospital by ambulance, suffering cuts and abrasions.

The pickup was pulling a horse trailer. One horse was burned to death and the other was taken to Ozona Veterinary Clinic. The tractor-trailer overturned, spilling its contents and blocking traffic for several hours.

Dr. Tunnel to dedicate Hist. marker

Dr. Curtis Tunnel, Executive Director of the Texas State Historical Commission, will be in Ozona Monday for the dedication of the historical marker for the Emerald House. He will also meet with the Commissioners Court Monday morning.

Dr. Tunnel will be honored with a buffet supper Sunday evening for members and spouses of the Crockett County Historical Society.

The marker dedication will take place at the Emerald House at 7 o'clock Monday evening. Dr. Tunnel will speak on the importance of preserving our heritage during the meeting of the Historical Society which follows the dedication. All interested persons are invited to attend either or both events.

Hubbard Body Shop employees were still clearing the wreckage from the highway at 6 p.m.

Services for Bean were held Sunday at 3 p.m.

Two other accidents in the county were investigated Saturday. Shortly before noon a one-vehicle roll-over sent a California woman and her son to Crockett County Hospital with injuries. The accident occurred four miles west of Ozona at the Pandale Road intersection, when the woman apparently lost control. At 1:46 Saturday another one-vehicle roll-over occurred on I-10 two miles east of Circle Bar Truck Corral. A Suburban and a 30-foot trailer were heavily damaged, but there were no injuries.

Services for Dan Bean held Sunday

Funeral services for James Daniel Bean, 19, were held at 3 p.m. Sunday in Ozona First Baptist Church with Dr. Nelson Lanham, pastor, and Rev. Ken Harrison, pastor of Ozona United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial followed in Cedar Hill Cemetery under the direction of Sizemore Funeral Home.

Mr. Bean died Friday morning in a vehicle accident.

He was born Feb. 25, 1965 in San Angelo. A lifetime Ozona resident, he was a member of First Baptist Church and a graduate of Ozona High School. He married Elaine West in June of this year in Marfa. He was in the ranching business in Crockett County with his father and brothers. He also attended Sul Ross University in Alpine.

Survivors include his wife, of Ozona; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bean; two brothers, David Bean and Douglas Bean all of Ozona; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Powell and Mrs. George Bean, all of San Angelo; two nephews and a niece.

Chamber holds rifle drawing

The Ozona Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a drawing for a Ruger Model 77R .243 Cal. rifle to be given away November 30. Tickets are on sale for $1.00 at the Chamber of Commerce office.

The rifle was donated to the chamber by Jim Marks.

Scene of tragedy

Highway patrolmen investigate the scene of a fiery crash which occurred at the intersection of Hwy. 163 and Hwy. 190 fifteen miles north of Ozona Friday morning, killing two men and a horse. The pickup burst into flames after the impact, left. The eighteen-wheeler is turned on its side in the center and the charred remains of the horse trailer may be seen at the far right. The accident occurred around 10:30 a.m. and it was 6 p.m. around the debris was cleared from the shoulder of the roadway.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The U.S. Justice Department last week approved the new State Board of Education appointed by the Governor to oversee reforms in the public education system.

The new 15-member appointed board was created by lawmakers this summer to replace the 27-member elected board that was heavily criticized for shortcomings in Texas schools.

Voters will see the names of the original board members on the November ballots, but following Justice Department approval, those elected offices have been abolished.

The names of state school board candidates were printed on the ballot and certified before the federal ruling was made.

Meanwhile, state education commissioner Raymon Bynum indicated he would probably retire as soon as the new board gets its feet on the ground.

He intends to resign after helping the new board through a transitional period because H. Ross Perot, the moving force behind the new reforms, will "influence two-thirds of the new board."

"If the mindset is that the old board was horrible, then I was horrible," he explained.

Magna Carta

The colorful and controversial Perot made headlines last week for purchasing the only known copy of the Magna Carta still in private ownership for $1.5 million.

Perot bought the 687-year-old document from the British family Brudenell, whose ancestors received it when King Edward I signed this Magna Carta version in 1297, promising inalienable rights to all citizens that even kings cannot abridge.

Perot said he intends to loan the document to the National Archives in Washington for display alongside the U.S. Constitution, Bill of Rights and Declaration of Independence.

Israeli Agreement

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro last week reached an agreement with an Israeli engineering firm to identify at least two tracts of arid West Texas land suitable for large-scale water development projects.

Israel will then send experts to help plan demonstration farms relying on both sweet water and brackish water.

Three main goals of the project are to increase revenues for the Permanent School Fund, to make better use of water resources and to produce more food and fiber, Mauro said.

GOP Attack

Mauro and Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower were two more Democrats who came under attack from Republican Party chairman George Strake, who is taking Democratic officials to task for their upcoming budget requests.

Strake said Mauro is asking for too much money, a 47% increase, and blasted Hightower for putting his own salary at the top of the priority list.

Mauro countered his agency is charged with raising revenues to avoid raising taxes and that the money he is requesting will earn an additional $125 million for the state over the next two years.

A Hightower spokesman said the list that Strake read was not based on priorities.

Mattox Sues

Texas Atty. Gen. Jim Mattox last week filed a lawsuit to prevent the merger of Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of the Southwest with Dr Pepper Co. in San Antonio.

Mattox said the merger would violate the antitrust laws by giving Coca-Cola control of over 90 percent of all soft drink vending machines in the San Antonio area.

He apparently is also going to challenge the legality of a controversial new state agency, the Texas Public Building Authority, which was created at Gov. Mark White's request to sell bonds to finance construction of new state buildings.

Mattox may challenge the agency for violating the constitutional prohibition against accumulating debt by the Legislature.

Another touchy point is the agency's request to hire the governor's former law firm as its legal counsel. Mattox has delayed approval of that request for almost a year.

Prison Cover-Up

A confidential report by a court-appointed monitor of the Texas prison system charges that top Texas prison officials engaged in deception and cover-ups to slow investigations of prison brutality.

The brutality involved misconduct by prison guards and officials.

The 110-page report was submitted to the Texas Attorney General's Office as part of an effort to determine whether the prison system is complying with federal court orders to stop prison brutality.

WHY HELP SOVIETS?

By Edwin Feulner
Though the summer Olympics are now well behind us, it is hard to blot from one's memory the one truly tragic story that emerged from the games: the effort by Soviet moles to turn the event into a hate-fest.

While it didn't have the dramatic impact of Mary Decker's spill at Zola Budd's heels, this was international gutter politics at its worst — something at which the Soviets are best.

Using classic Kremlin disinformation techniques, which scholars Roy Godson and Richard H. Shultz in their new book, Dezinformatia: Active Measures in Soviet Strategy, trace back to the earliest days of the Soviet state, Kremlin operatives sent forged hate letters to African and Asian athletes, calling them names and threatening them with bodily harm. The letters were made to appear as if they were sent by members of the Ku Klux Klan, and were intended to generate support for the Kremlin's Olympic boycott.

The forged-letters campaign wasn't carried out in Moscow. It was carried out by Soviet agents-of-influence here in our own backyard. Which has some cautious people wondering why the United States seems to go out of its way to make life as easy as possible for the Soviets.

That's a question being asked again these days as the final marble touches are being put on the new Soviet Embassy, built on Mount Alto, the highest point in the Nation's Capital. Everyone in a position to know realizes the new embassy will be an electronic espionage fortress — a cancer in the heart of Washington and the Free World.

How did it come to pass that the Soviets were allowed to build this new spy den in such a commanding locale?

The answer is that this is the price the U.S. had to pay to get permission from the Soviets to build a new U.S. Embassy in Moscow. In order to win approval from the Kremlin, our "tough-minded" State Department, in conjunction with other government agencies, gave the Soviets the one piece of real estate in the Nation's Capital that would most help the Kremlin's electronic eavesdropping. (The new U.S. Embassy, by the way, is being built in a swamp.)

A number of questions reasonably arise, among them: 1) Why did State Department bureaucrats feel it was necessary to potentially compromise U.S. security in order to get improved facilities for U.S. foreign service employees in Moscow? 2) Once they realized the importance of the Mount Alto property that was being leased to the Soviets for 85 years, why didn't they pull the plug on the deal? After all, they had plenty of time to do so; negotiations with the Soviets began in the mid 1960s. 3) How did the State Department careerists manage to pull off the deal without the White House putting the kibosh on the whole thing? Three successive administrations — Nixon, Ford and Carter — had an opportunity to veto the plan; yet they didn't.

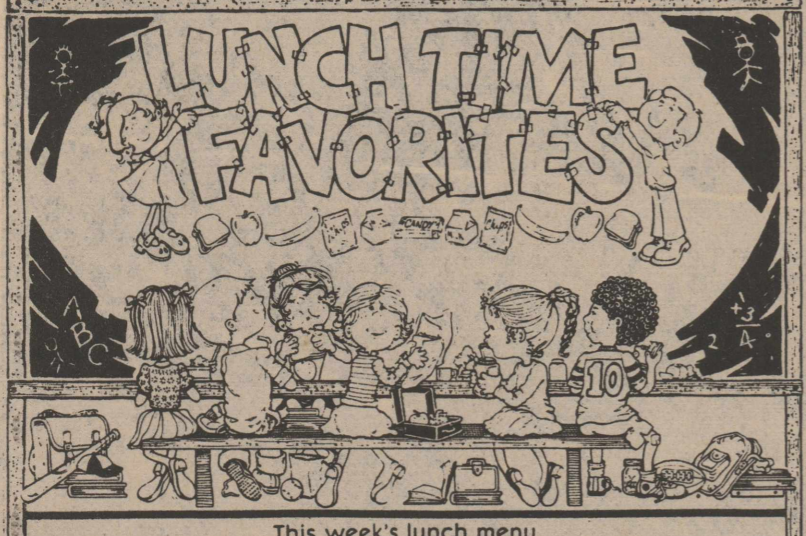

Part of the answer lies in the inordinate influence the foreign service establishment has over foreign policy. Although foreign service careerists undoubtedly believe they are acting in the best interests of the United States, presidents of both parties have learned the hard way that the foreign service doesn't always follow the mandate of the president.

According to a recent study by John Krizay, a former foreign service officer, this is due, in part, to the organizational structure of the State Department. Policy recommendations must pass through a "maddening clearance process," he says, and the policies that eventually emerge are so compromised that they are "useless, if not completely incomprehensible."

President Kennedy once described the State Department as a gigantic pillow. You can punch it, squeeze it and shove it into different shapes — for a short period of time. But, it always returns to its original form — and it always remains a pillow.

Krizay and other foreign service exiles have proposed a number of concrete steps for transforming State into a competent agency to carry out White House foreign policy, instead of the independent and often contrary organization it has been for decades.

Though the reforms are sure to be resisted by the establishment, something needs to be done to make sure our foreign service doesn't barter away another Mount Alto.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Enjoy October's color. Why do leaves flame in the Autumn? This and next month a colorful foliage display will unfold. Why are the leaves yellow and sometimes red? Longtime residents often insist that the frost kills the leaves, turning them brown and leaving some more brightly colored. However, experts in the U.S. Forest Service find that frost has nothing to do with producing colors in the leaves. They say that change in coloring is the result of chemical processes which take place in the tree during preparation for winter. In the fall when the cool weather causes a slowing down of the vital process, the work of the leaves comes to an end. The machinery of the leaf factory is dismantled, so to speak. The green chlorophyll is broken up into the various substances of which it is composed and whatever food there is on hand is sent to the body of the tree to be stored for use in the spring. All that remains in the cell cavities of the leaf is a watery substance in which a few oil globules and crystals and a small number of yellow, strongly refractive bodies can be seen. These give the leaves the yellow coloring so familiar in the autumnal foliage. It often happens that there is more sugar in the leaf than can be transferred back to the tree. When this is the case, the chemical combination with other substances produces many color shades, varying from the brilliant red of the dogwood to the more astute red-brown of the oaks.

Here in Ozona, the maples are beginning to turn and we may soon watch for the red oaks, tallow, pecans, chinaberry, Spanish oaks, sumac and others. Also, Autumn's first leaves Boston ivy and Virginia creeper blushing red. I notice they are growing on several walls and trees in our city. Fast growth is typical of both vines and reach a height of 40 to 60 feet if given support. Plant in full sun or partial shade. Set out plants in either fall or spring, spacing them 3 to 4 feet apart. Do not let these vines climb on a wooden surface for the leafy mat will hold moisture in summer, possibly causing the wood to rot. Also keep clipped away from the windows, doors or painted trims.

New parking tax law is now in effect

Paying to park your car at Astroworld or Six Flags over Texas is nothing new.

But now there is added admission: A tax on parking beginning October 2. It's the new law.

The exact taxes Texans will have to pay for using parking lots, garages, or other parking structures will vary. The highest taxes will be in Houston and Dallas. Each city has an additional city sales tax and a special tax for mass transit.

The tax rate for those two cities will be 6 1/8 percent beginning October 2. How the new tax rates affect actual parking prices remains to be seen. But it is unlikely parking lot operators will swallow the additional tax.

It most likely will be passed on to Texas who use parking facilities while at work or while having fun.

For those Texans in larger cities who have to park their cars every day in parking garages, the tax will be felt immediately.

A monthly parking fee of $100 in Dallas or Houston will buckle up to $106.13.

Texans who park their car at Astroworld or Six Flags for the day or at parking lots in San Antonio not far from the Riverwalk will see smaller increases.

A $3 per day fee at Astroworld or Six Flags climbs to $3.18. In San Antonio an hourly fee of $2 will rise to $2.09.

However large or small the added parking tax to get into Astroworld, that is only the beginning.

You are going to have to pay an extra tax on admission to rides.

Get into the habit of saving money

People who say they "Just can't seem to save any money," may need a plan to get in the savings habit, says family finance expert Nancy L. Granovsky.

"Waiting to see if you have any money left over at the end of a pay period is seldom an effective way to save," explains Granovsky, a home economist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

If you feel uneasy about not saving enough money, either for financial emergencies or long-term goals like a downpayment or your child's college education, take some steps now to develop a savings plan, she advises.

Begin by taking a hard look to see where your money has gone over the last several months. Look at old bills, cancelled checks and credit card statements to decide if all the spending was necessary or whether some of that money could have been saved, says the home economist.

Then overhaul your family budget so some savings money can be set aside each month before you do anything else, recommends Granovsky. Make it a routine, like paying a bill. The amount doesn't have to be large, she says, what matters is that money is set aside regularly.

If your willpower is limited, try a payroll savings plan or have automatic withdrawals made from your checking account, she says.

Also reduce the temptation to spend by separating savings from checking account money. If necessary, put your savings in a different financial institution than the one which handles your checking account.

In addition to getting some money into a savings fund, make sure you put those savings to work for you, Granovsky says. Compare interest rates, and as soon as you have enough saved, move your money to higher paying accounts so your nest egg will continue to grow.

SMALL CHANGES EQUALS BIG RESULTS

Habits are easier to slip into than they are to break. This principle explains why extra weight creeps on from an extra doughnut every morning, and why we slowly develop flabby muscles from too many evenings in front of the TV.

But with a little concentration and determination, people can "slip into" positive habits the same way. The secret is to set reasonable goals and to plan to achieve them slowly. Take exercise, for example. Dr. Kenneth Cooper, author of Aerobics presents step-by-step charts for building fitness through running, walking, swimming and cycling. His hard-and-fast rule? Don't progress faster than the charts, even if you think your body is capable of it. The goal is to establish a habit of fitness, not to win an Olympic medal.

The first small step to establishing the exercise habit is to get out of the chair and do something—anything—every day. This could be a walk around the block, or some stretching exercises in the office before lunch. As you begin to feel the pleasures and benefits of moving your body, you'll want to increase the amount of exercise you get. Eventually, you may find that starting a formal exercise program seems like the next logical step.

Eating habits can be changed the same way. The first step is to pay attention to what you eat and become aware of your current habits. Do you eat a variety of foods? Do you often eat more food than you want? Watch your eating habits carefully for several weeks, and think about how you might improve them.

Then, set small goals for each day or each week. Some examples:

"Today, I will try to eat only when I am hungry."

"Tonight, I will eat pasta with steamed vegetables, instead of a steak."

"I will try to make time for breakfast every day this week."

The "small changes" technique prevents the deprived feeling that can come from being officially "on a diet." Make desserts and snacks a regular part of your diet. Just remember to count the calories in these foods as part of your daily calorie quota.

A gradual increase in exercise and a gradual improvement in eating habits can lead to weight loss and better health; more important, taking it slowly can help make the changes permanent.

third quarter when Guz Garza blocked the punt and recovered the ball in the Buffalo endzone. The score was 20-0.

Again this week the defense was sparked by excellent play from Mark Fierro and Lalo Rodriguez. This win gives the Cubs a 2-1 record.

The 8th grade Cubs beat Stanton 14-12 in the traumatic come from behind victory after allowing the Buffaloes to score 2 TD's in the first and third quarters. The Cubs started to work with a 60 yard scoring drive. Leonard Garcia scored on a 3 yard run. The 2 point conversion was made good by Copie Davis on a keeper play around the end, bringing the score to 12-8.

The Cubs second TD came after a fumble recovery by Paul Galan on the Buffalo 38 yard line. Two plays later Landon Dunkin scampered in from 30 yards out. The conversion attempt failed, leaving the score 14-12. The last quarter was marked by some fine defensive play from Ed Calvert and Wolv Rutherford, keeping the Buffaloes from scoring again. Texans favor capital punishment

By more than a six-to-one margin, Texans strongly favor capital punishment for specific crimes, according to state-wide poll results released today by Senator J. E. "Buster" Brown and Richard Collins of ATAC (Associated Texans Against Crime).

The ATAC survey was conducted by Arthur J. Finkelstein and Associates, a nationally recognized polling firm. The survey of 605 adult Texans is accurate to within 4% at the 95% confidence level.

The Texans surveyed were asked if they approve or disapprove of capital punishment for specific crimes. "Over 81% said they approved while only 13% disapproved," Brown, who serves as ATAC's chairman, said.

He noted that the overwhelming support for capital punishment cuts across geographical, ideological, political and socio-economic lines.

"The poll shows that Texans believe that certain crimes are so serious that they warrant capital punishment.

"It is apparent from the overwhelming results that the people believe in certain cases, capital punishment is a just sentence," Brown said.

ATAC is an anti-crime, citizens action group which is holding public hearings across Texas. Police chiefs, sheriffs, district attorneys, judges and crime victims testify at their regional ATAC hearing on how they feel the Texas criminal justice system can be improved.

ATAC has scheduled 16 public hearings on crime.

Dating on food packages a mystery to all

Coded dating on packaged foods is a mystery that most consumers can solve with a little information, says a Texas Agricultural Extension Service home economist, Bonnie L. Piernot.

Perishable foods with less than 30 days of shelf life, such as milk or baked goods, frequently carry a "sell-by" date, says Piernot.

Some consumers believe the food is no good if it's still in the store on the sell-by date, she says. "Actually, the food will be wholesome if used right away, but consumers should buy before the package date if they want to allow for home storage—even in the refrigerator."

The open sell-by dates on perishable foods are easy for consumers to understand, but are not required on all foods.

Semi-perishable food with a shelf life of 30 days to 6 months, such as cereals and crackers, and foods with a shelf life of over six months, such as canned and frozen goods, also have sell-by dates. But these present a challenge to consumers, says Piernot, since they are usually expressed in a code.

The codes can be figured out if you know something of how the system works. Sometimes letters are used to represent the month, or in baked goods, the day of the week. So "A" in a code may mean either January or Monday.

Numbers represent the day of the month and year. For example, "B24" could stand for February 2, 1984. In other cases numbers can represent the day and year. So 2804 can mean the 28th day of this year, October 6, 1984.

Checking dates on packaged food can help consumers get the most nutrition for their food dollar. According to Piernot, the fastest loss in food value occurs during the immediately after the processing for packaging. But the loss of nutrient quality continues at a slower pace all during the life of canned and frozen foods.

Dating codes can also remind consumers to rotate their foods stocks at home, and to use foods roughly in the order in which they were purchased. Storing foods for too long—even canned goods—can mean a loss of nutrients and wasted dollars, cautions the home economist.

The Deficit Reduction of 1984 brings about a number of tax changes that remove all doubt that tax planning should be a year-round effort.

Farmers and ranchers as well as others need to take a close look at the changes and to start their tax strategy now to avoid new pitfalls and to capitalize on unexpected write-offs in 1984 and beyond, says Dr. Forrest Stegelin.

The new legislation reveals tax increases that stretch depreciation write-offs, squeeze income averaging and foreclose on most interest-free loans, adds Stegelin, an agribusiness economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. It also creates tax breaks, such as a shorter capital gains holding period for investors, and it effectively leaves open many legitimate tax-saving techniques. In addition the new tax law removes tax disputes from divorce and separation proceedings.

Regarding investments, assets such as stocks, bonds, gold and real estate bought after last June 22 must be held only six months instead of the old one year holding period to qualify for favorable capital gains tax rates. Long-term gains are taxed at 40 percent of an individual's tax bracket while short-term gains are fully taxable as ordinary income, Stegelin points out.

The new law also treats profits from the sale of market discounted corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds issued after mid-July as interest subject to ordinary income taxes instead of capital gains taxed at the more favorable rates.

Another provision of the tax act is that deductions will be disallowed for interest or business expenses charged off one year but actually paid in a future year. This primarily affects private real estate partnerships, research and development ventures, and cattle feeding programs with the main purpose of tax avoidance, Stegelin says.

The deadline for IRA (Individual Retirement Account) contributions has been shortened to the April 15 tax filing date. Regarding IRAs, pensions and annuities, heirs have been given greater flexibility as to when to take taxable distributions. Also, part of the tax on long-term gains in variable annuities has been eliminated, and such annuities will now be able to completely defer long-term capital gains until they are paid out to the annuitant.

Some changes also have been made regarding tax credits and depreciation write-offs for business related use of a personal computer or a car bought after June 18 of this year, notes Stegelin. Henceforth, the IRS will want proof that a computer is required for work and that it is used for business use more than 50 percent of the time. Regarding personal cars for business use, the 6 percent tax credit on cars costing more than $16,666 has been reduced, and annual depreciation ceilings have been changed so that the write-off period has been nearly doubled.

Phil Gramm names county chairman

U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm, the co-author of President Reagan's economic recovery program in Congress and now a candidate for U.S. Senate, has appointed Sonny Henderson, of Ozona, to be his Crockett County Campaign Chairman.

"I am honored to have the active support of key leaders in the economic and civic life of 225 counties across Texas," Congressman Gramm said in making the announcement.

"These men and women of courage are the strong right arm in our fight to insure that traditional Texas values win out over the out-of-state special interests represented by the Mondale-Doggett ticket," he noted.

"Strong grassroots organization, I believe, is the key to overcoming the anti-Texas proposals of my opponent and his supporters in the Northeast," said the congressman.

Congressman Gramm, of College Station, earned a Ph. D. in economics, the subject he taught at Texas A&M University for a decade prior to winning election to Congress in 1978.

Gramm said he would have active coordinators and steering committees operating in all of Texas' 254 counties by election day.

"As Texans become increasingly aware of the clear choice which faces our state in this election--Reagan and Gramm vs. Mondale and Doggett--our campaign is gathering momentum in every region of the state," he said.

Choosing in-home care for children is serious matter

Choosing an in-home caregiver for young children is a serious matter for parents.

Of the children in childcare, about 85-90 percent are cared for in their own homes or in small groups in a caregiver's home, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist Diane T. Welch. The caregivers are often friends, relatives or neighbors, she adds.

Parents often prefer in-home care because it can be less expensive for two or more children, it saves the time and cost of transporting children to a day-care center, and in rural areas, it may be the only kind available, she explains.

When the in-home caregiver is a friend or relative, parents often feel awkward about asking for an interview, notes Welch. However, it's just as important to spend time talking with a friend or relative about child care since you may find your views on child care are not compatible.

"Make the time to sit down and discuss your views of child care with your friend or relative," Welch suggests. "Don't take anything for granted and tell the person what you expect of the child and what you would like a caregiver to do for and with the child."

Just because the caregiver is a friend or relative, don't avoid the issues of work time, the fee and agreement on how to end the services, she cautions. Getting business matters settled may help preserve a positive relationship between parents and the caregiver.

According to Welch, a family life education specialist with the Extension Service, any potential caregiver, whether a friend, relative or stranger, should be carefully interviewed before hiring. She suggests asking questions such as:

What kind of TV programs do you think children should watch? What activities do you think are good for children? What do you do when a child disobeys? What do you do when you become angry with a child? What are some things you do with children to help them learn? What do you know about first aid? How do you feel about what children eat and drink? What kind of facilities for play, naps and eating do you have available?

Parents should inspect the home for safety and cleanliness as well.

Before hiring an in-home caregiver, prepare a written agreement about what you expect and what the arrangements will be, says the specialist. Both you and the caregiver can refer to the statement later, thus minimizing misunderstandings.

A written agreement might include such things as days and hours the caregiver will work; the amount of payment, when it is due, how it will be paid, payment for additional duties or overtime and Social Security to be paid; agreement about visitors, phone calls, television and radio while the caregiver is working; other non-child-care tasks the person is to perform, and the amount of notice (and pay) necessary to end the agreement.

Interview more than one person and hire the one you feel most comfortable with, says Welch. "If you don't, you will find yourself worrying about how things are going at home."

Annual 4-H awards to be presented

The Crockett County 4-H Parent and Leaders Association invites the community to attend the Annual 4-H Awards Supper on Monday, October 8, at 6:30 p.m. at the Civic Center.

Highlights of the evening include awards presentations and recognition of club officers and leaders. The senior high club will present their "Share The Fun" skit, which they presented in state competition at the State 4-H Roundup at College Station this summer.

The climax of the evening will be the naming of the 1984 Gold Star winners and the winner of the Mother Davidson Award.

Cold snap brings much needed rain

The first really cold snap of the fall season blew in the latter part of last week, dropping temperatures and leaving almost an inch of rain. The three-day total amounted to .91 of an inch in the official gauge at the water district office.

The rainfall seemed to be general throughout the county with some areas south of Ozona reporting up to 2 inches of rain. The weather remained pleasantly cool and at mid-afternoon Tuesday the temperature was 70 degrees with overcast skies.

The rainfall saw September bow out with 1.65 inches recorded for the month.

Movies to continue each week at county youth center registration deadline near

The Saturday night movies, cokes, and popcorn at the Crockett County Youth Center have been attracting a steadily growing number of youths. Garland and Joyce Young reported over fifty teenagers attending the last movie and about twenty youths around the other activity room.

The Youth Center Board is pleased with the interest shown by the youth and appreciates the parents that have encouraged their youth to attend. Several comments have been made to members of the board by teenagers and parents that Ozona has needed an activity of this sort for the youths.

The movies scheduled for the coming weeks are:

October 6-The Right Stuff
October 13-Hard To Hold
October 20-Tank

A listing will appear in this paper for the coming weeks as movies are scheduled. The teen council is also posting movie schedules on the Ozona High Bulletin Board and in several merchants' windows around town.

Crockett County residents have until Oct. 7, to register to vote or report address changes to make them eligible for the Nov. 6 general elections.

Only individuals not currently registered in Crockett County need to register.

Those who wish to register or report address changes may do so at the office of the Crockett County Tax Assessor-collector. Applications will be accepted if dated before Sunday, and mail applications must be postmarked before midnight Sunday.

4-H theme reflects a rich history

"4-H: Building on Experience," the year-long theme of the 4-H program across Texas and the nation, reflects on the rich past of this youth program as well as on a bright future.

This year's theme will receive special emphasis during the upcoming National 4-H Week, Oct. 7-13.

"The 4-H program has long taken pride in its roots and the practical learning experiences that it has provided for millions of youth," says H.T. "Tom" Davison, state 4-H program leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M Un-

Infant death rate shows slight increase

The infant mortality rate, long considered as an index of the quality of health care, showed a slight increase in Texas to 11.0 deaths per 1,000 births in 1983, reports the Texas Department of Health (TDH).

The increase followed a string of four straight years in which the Texas infant mortality rate (deaths under one year of age) decreased and remained below the national average. The all-time low rate of 10.8 was reached in 1982. Just 10 years before, in 1973, the infant mortality rate was 19.2, according to the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the TDH.

The provisional infant death rate for the United States last year was 10.9, a decrease of 2.7 percent from the 1982 rate of 11.2. The United States' provisional information is based on a 10 percent sample of all deaths which are forwarded monthly to the National Center for Health Statistics.

Despite the above, health officials were heartened by the continuing decrease in the Texas neonatal death rate—infants under 28 days of age—to another record low of 6.9 deaths per 1,000 births. There were 2,028 deaths of infants under 28 days.

In Texas last year 295,178 births were recorded, 2,505 fewer than the previous year. It was the first decline in births since 1973. The number of infant deaths rose from 3,223 the previous year to 3,254 last year.

The birth rate of 18.8 per 1,000 population in Texas last year was the lowest since 1978 and follows the national trend.

The state's overall death rate in 1983—7.3 deaths per 1,000 population—equalled the record low first reached in 1982. The number of deaths—114,714—increased by 3.1 over 1982, but the death rate remained unchanged due to the increase in population. The U.S. Census Bureau estimated the state's population at 15,724,000 as of July 1, 1983, up from 15,280,000 the previous July 1.

iversity System. "4-H, which now reaches some five million youth each year in the U.S., actually had its beginning in Texas in Jack County back in 1908," notes Davison. "From the early corn clubs for boys and canning clubs for girls, 4-H has grown into the nation's largest youth organization outside of schools that today reached young people from all backgrounds and walks of life."

Conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service in each state and supported by each state's land-grant university and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the 4-H program is built around a "learning-by-doing" philosophy that has stood the test of time.

"We now have more than 190,000 Texas youth between the ages of 9 and 19 enrolled in 4-H, and they are engaged in some 50 project areas that provide a host of learning experiences to prepare them for the future," Davison points out. "These educational projects help young people gain practical skills, develop good nutrition and health habits, explore career opportunities, generate leadership capabilities, and become involved citizens."

From the traditional projects of field crops and livestock to baking and sewing, 4-H has expanded over the years into such areas as small engines, shooting sports, gardening and veterinary science. And now computers are finding their way into 4-H. "With new projects and programs to challenge today's young people, the future of 4-H looks bright," says Davison. "4-H has a proud past on which to build as it continues to help youth prepare for the future."

The Pecos and Devils Rivers Watershed consists of: the Pecos River and its tributaries from the Texas-New Mexico state line to its confluence with the Rio Grande, excluding Barrilla Draw Watershed, but including all use of water under Permit No. 1217, as amended, of the Red Bluff Water Power Control District; and, the Devils River and its tributaries from their headwaters to the river's confluence with the Rio Grande.

The Closed Basin consists of that portion of the basin located within the State of Texas.

On or before December 27, 1984, all persons claiming a right to divert state water, except for domestic and livestock purposes, in the Pecos and Devils Rivers Watershed, and in the Closed Basin, shall file with the Texas Department of Water Resources a sworn claim in accordance with Section 11.307, Texas Water Code, setting forth the following: the name and post office address of the claimant; the location and nature of the right claimed, including a description of any permit or certified filing under which

Notice is further given pursuant to Section 11.308, Texas Water Code, and Commission Rule 31 TAC §275.12(e), of the commencement of hearings to receive evidence on all claims of water rights filed or asserted in accordance with Section 11.307, Texas Water Code, in the Pecos and Devils Rivers Watershed of the Rio Grande Basin, and in the Closed Basin.

At 8:30 a.m. on Monday, January 7, 1985, at the Large Community Hall in Rooney Park, Sanderson Highway, Fort Stockton, Texas, the Texas Water Commission, through a hearings examiner, will convene and commence public hearings in accordance with Commission rules. Individual hearings to receive evidence substantiating claims will continue thereafter at the times and places provided by docket notice which will be sent to each claimant. The evidence received at the hearings will form the basis for the Commission's determination of all claims of water rights in the described adjudication area. Failure to appear and present evidence will jeopardize the right to divert and use water asserted in the claims.

National Fire Prevention Week geared to fire safety

October 7-13 is National Fire Prevention Week and a good time to think about fire safety, since cold weather is approaching, says the Building Advisory Council of Texas. Most fire fatalities in Texas occur in residences, and most of these are related to home heating and water heaters, according to data supplied to the State Fire Marshal's Office in Austin.

"Most of these fatalities result from gas-fueled space heaters being placed too close to combustible materials such as walls and furniture," says Dennis Gissell, information specialist with the Fire Marshal's Office. "Placing combustible materials too close to water heaters also causes a number of fatalities."

"We strongly recommend smoke and fire detectors to provide early warning of fires such as these," he adds. "They clearly reduce the amount of lives and property lost in fires."

Gissell recommends that nothing burnable should be placed next to any heating device, especially the open flame of a gas or kerosene heater. Combustibles should be kept three to six feet away from wood-burning stoves and fireplaces, and the floor beneath should be non-combustible. Consult the manufacturer's instructions or your local fire department or building inspector for information on fire precautions for other heating appliances.

Many fire fatalities result from defective heating equipment. Gissell recommends that any kind of heating device should be a tested and approved model. If installation is required, it should be done by a qualified professional. Afterwards, household heating units should be inspected once yearly to ensure they are operating correctly.

Taxpayers claim moving expenses

Last year, almost 1,135,000 federal tax returns were filed by the nation's taxpayers who claimed adjustments for job-related moving expenses, according to Internal Revenue Service officials.

Wage earners and self-employed individuals may qualify for this tax benefit. The moving expenses must be connected with starting work at a new job location, and the move must meet certain time and distance requirements.

If you are a wage earner, you must work full time at your new location for at least 9 of the 12 months following your move. Self-employed individuals must work in the new location for at least 9 of the first 12 months and for at least 18 of the first 24 months to qualify for moving expense adjustments.

Your move meets the distance requirements if your new job location is at least 35 miles farther from your former home than your old job location was.

More information about moving expenses appears in the free IRS publication 521 which may be ordered from IRS. Call the Federal Tax Information number listed under U.S. Government in the telephone directory.

Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN MCCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

Another busy week is behind us, a week that started warm but ended with a touch of fall in the air. What a welcome change!

Sara Hignight came with a new kind of art demonstration called stenciling. Our residents were so pleased that they asked her to come back soon with another demonstration.

Another new activity was created when five of our residents mounted Glenda Henderson's van and rode over to Kiddy Club. Here they were treated with songs sung by some forty-eight students. They also presented the students with toys made in our crafts class. Everyone enjoyed this nice exchange of talents. Dorothy Doll was another volunteer who assisted residents Paul Cavin, Maude Pettit, Ola Mills, Alice Ross and Tomasa Ramos on this trip.

Ceramic class was led this week by volunteers Doris Karr and Ruth Hester. Nancy Vannoy and Ann Shaw assisted in cleaning some ceramic pieces for us. Residents participating this week included Juana Hernandez, Tomasa Ramos, Hilda Dysart, Nina Mayfield, Maude Pettit, Ola Mills, Billie Whitley, Moriama Perez and John Henderson.

Volunteers manning the beauty shop on Thursday included Lola Rios, Clara Byrd and Diane Martinez.

Ted Turnley led the Thursday afternoon Bible study. Maria Vitela, Paulita Leal, Carmen Vargas and Felipa Munoz led Spanish Hour of Praise. Residents attending included Tomasa Ramos, Moriama Perez, Juanita Hernandez and Jesus Hernandez.

Janet Henry came down during her break and sang some songs Thursday. Clara Byrd accompanied her on the piano.

We received flowers this week from the Pettit family and from the family of Leona Harris. Clayton's Village Drug dropped by some cosmetics for our residents.

Bingo winners from Tuesday's and Friday's games include Billie Whitley, first place winner of a certificate from Westerman Drug; Minnie Karr, second place winner of Avon donated by Monnie Boyd; Juana Hernandez, winner of the El Chato dinner for two certificate; and Moriama Perez, winner of the Baker Jewelers certificate. Volunteers on Tuesday included Dorothy Doll, Neil Mayfield, Lola Rios, Inez Gutierrez, Maude Pettit and Alice Ross. On Friday we had four sitters helping but I didn't have time to get their names written down. We also had Doll, Anna Bell Patrick and Mattie Cooper assisting. Twenty-one residents played on Tuesday and twenty-two played on Friday.

Eleven residents attended Friday's Resident Council meeting. The October calendar was presented and discussed.

Dominoes were played this week by Maude Pettit, Paul Cavin, Ola Mills and Tina Holmsley, volunteer.

The Calvary Baptist Church brought our fifth Sunday church services Sunday afternoon. Ken Eppler from McCamey brought the sermon. He was assisted by seven fellow church members.

Another treat we had this week involved a visit by Joyce Ames from the San Angelo Standard Times. She is doing a feature story on Dorothy Doll, isn't that great? Be watching for it.

DON'T SHOOT AT POWER LINES!

Never shoot at power lines or the insulators that hold them. A severed line could cause a dangerous power outage, and the downed line itself could also be a very serious safety hazard.

Here are a few other tips on how to live more safely — electrically:

Keep Children Away from Outlets!

Don't let small children play near electrical outlets. A child could easily put a finger or some object in an outlet when you're looking away. A wise safety precaution would be to put safety caps in all wall outlets.

Use Power Tools Wisely!

Be extra careful when using power tools. Always be sure the wiring is adequate for the job. See to it that there are enough circuits of the right size, and that all circuits are grounded. Also, never use electric tools in the rain or on wet surfaces.

Electricity

It's the Power of Choice.
