Kitty's Korner

By
Kitty Montgomery

We do not usually print unsigned letters, but we received a letter last week from a local man that gave me pause for thought. The letter was in response to a column I had written earlier giving my opinion about why the younger voter is almost overwhelmingly in favor of the Reagan-Bush ticket. After the polls close tonight, of course, that issue will no longer be moot.

The young man who wrote the letters begins with:

"You have said it well Mrs. Montgomery. Except like Mrs. Ferrero, you can only see it or tell it from your side, ever. A simple high school graduate like me can see it clearly. The question is what do we do about it."

"The reason I write this is that you failed to mention that farmers and ranchers also get welfare in the form So why should I feel bad if I get help from the government after I have practically begged the church and the town for a job and they would rather have outside people as long as they are cheap or white. I had a sign on my pickup for almost a year offering to do whatever job was offered in order to stay off welfare."

The letter goes on to tell how, this painter of 30 years, worked on a ranch recently where four or five illegal aliens were employed to do what local people could and should be doing. He tells of applying to the county for work and goes on to say that jobs which should be offered to the local public are given instead to choice contractors or outsiders by commissioners or individuals. His letter ends with:

"As the effects of the quarts of coffee that I drink to keep going wear off, I feel sheepish about having written this, but still hoping that someone can see it from my side of view. Thanks for listening."

I was somehow touched by the letter, since so much of it is true. Why don't we utilize our local workers? Why do we always take the low bid from an outside business or contractor when local bid is only a few dollars higher? Why do our public officials and school administrators go outside of Crockett County to do business they should be doing at home where local taxes enable them to operate? I have been paying county and school taxes here for over 25 years and there have been numerous incidents where business which could have been handled right here in this office was sent elsewhere. I do not have the answer. It remains a never-ending mystery.

When we were in the ranching business, we could not have operated without the illegals, or "wets as the letter states. Nobody else wanted to work sheep at any price. However, if the tide is not stemmed there will be no jobs for painters, carpenters, cooks, or other laborers and this is a sad fact.

I have always felt American citizens should not be forced to pay the price for those who have entered this country illegally, either in welfare or schooling children. However, the U.S. Supreme Court has a different opinion and that's the last word.

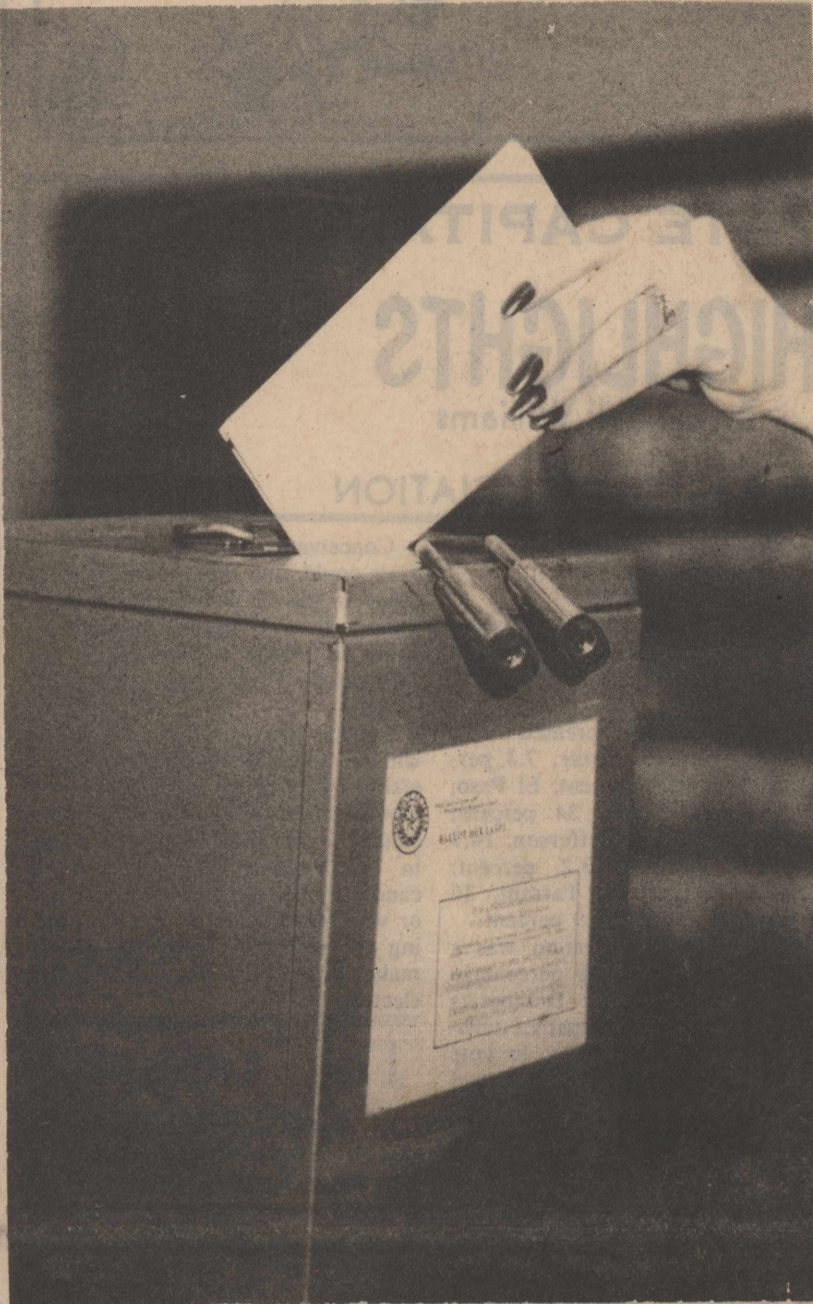

Mobil to drill Crockett Co. wildcat well

Mobil Producing Texas & New Mexico Inc., Houston, will drill the No. 1 Massie West, et al, a 9,000-foot prospector in Crockett County, surrounded by shallow failures, 5/8-mile east-southeast of the depleted opener and lone producer of the Wamoco, South (Canyon oil) field, 1 1/2 miles west and slightly north of the current one-well Tom T (Ellenburger oil) field and 15 miles north of Ozona.

Location is 3,774 feet from the north and 5,562 feet from the west lines of 1-A3-Runnels CSL, Abst. 2830.

The Wamoco, South opener, Dorchester Exploration Inc., Midland, No. 1-A Massie West, was finalized March 4, 1976 for 16 barrels of 43.8 gravity oil, plus 16 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 11,582-1, through a 14-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,655-74 feet.

The Tom T field produces from 8,175 feet.

Did your vote count?

A record number of absentee ballots, almost 400 were cast in Tuesdays election and a continuous stream of voters kept workers busy all day, indicating a record turnout for this election year. Due to our Tuesday evening press time, we are unable to give the results. Local results will be given next week.

Arts & Crafts Guild sets Christmas fair

The Crockett County Arts & Crafts Guild is sponsoring its first annual Christmas Fair Saturday, November 10, from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. The fair will be held in the County 4-H Show Barn at the Rodeo Grounds. This is a family-oriented event which will provide Ozona residents and out-of-town visitors with an opportunity to view the many talents of our artists and craftsmen, enjoy some good food and do some very special Christmas shopping.

There will be over 80 exhibitors displaying their handworks. Some of the varied arts & crafts offered for sale include stained glass, dolls, woodwork, crochets, soft sculpture, oil paintings, needlework and Christmas decorations.

In addition to arts & crafts booths, there are food booths offering barbeque, chili and hot dogs. A refreshment booth will have both hot and cold drinks ranging from hot spiced tea to iced soft drinks. Many baked goods and homemade candies will also be available at individual booths.

Other features at the fair include microwave candy demonstrations presented by the Crockett County Extension Service. A child care booth for parents who want to do some unencumbered Christmas shopping will be available. This booth is sponsored by Ozona Girl Scouts. Door prizes will be given away periodically throughout the day. All door prizes are handcrafted and donated by the artists and craftsmen participating in the fair.

Crockett County Arts & Crafts Guild is a civic organization formed to promote arts & crafts in Crockett County. Membership currently consists of 81 local artists and craftspeople. The Christmas Fair is the first major community-wide activity being sponsored by the Guild. Guild proceeds from the fair are being donated to Helping Hands for the Elderly and the Family Shelter programs.

First Baptist church plans special program for Saturday

A special program is planned at First Baptist Church Saturday night at 7:00 o'clock for Dr. George Knight, professor at Hardin Simmons University, to show slides of the archeological excavation he and his team made the past summer in the city of Capernaum, Israel. Other sponsoring colleges joining Hardin Simmons in this archeological expedition were: Notre Dame, University of British Columbia, Pepperdine University, Averett College of Virginia, and the Israeli Department of Antiquities.

Joining Dr. Knight on this expedition was Raimundo Penaforte, our student from Brazil. Raimundo is a music major at Hardin Simmons, and he is a member of the Abilene Philharmonic Orchestra. He will accompany Dr. Knight and will be presenting some special music for us. Both Dr. Knight and Raimundo will be with us for our Sunday morning services. Dr. Knight will be bringing the Sunday morning message, and Raimundo will present the special music.

This will be an interesting and informative program, and we encourage the public to attend and benefit from it. The reason for the Saturday evening meeting is to give those of you from other churches an opportunity to attend and see the slides and hear Dr. Knight's report of the archeological finds they made near Capernaum.

Date set for annual County Pecan Show

The annual Crockett County Pecan Show will be held December 3-4 at the Civic Center. County Agent Billy Reagor says this year's crop is below average, but many times quality is better when the crop is short.

Quality should be good this year. Generally the earlier nuts to mature and crack out of the shuck are better than the later maturing ones. It is suggested that those who plan to enter the show should collect pecans for entry early, dry them and then store in the refrigerator or a cool dry place.

A $50 cash prize will be given for the Grand Champion Pecan and a $25 cash prize will be given for reserve champion. Plaques furnished by Pecan Growers Association will be given for Champion Shelling, Inshell, and Native Pecans.

Rules are much the same as last year. Those entering should put 45 pecans of the same variety in a bag labeled with their name. Only one entry per variety will be permitted. The pecans should be large, uniform, clean and free from insect damage. In order for the variety category to be judged, there must be two or more entries in the same variety. All varieties with less than two entries will be classed as "others." Pecans must be exhibited in their natural state with no artificial alterations. Entries are due Monday, December 3. First place winners in each class will be submitted to the regional show.

Food division entries are due the next day when posters for that contest are due. Any primary or intermediate student may enter a poster promoting the use of pecans. Posters will be judged on originality, appearance and promotion of pecans. Ribbons will be given the winners.

Food categories are cakes, pies, candy, cookies, breads and miscellaneous. Pecans must be used in all recipes. The recipe must be turned in with the food and an entire recipe must be entered. Divisions include adult, 13-19 years of age, and age 12 and under. Rosettes and ribbons will be presented in all food categories. Champion adult food entry will receive a pecan plaque.

There will be a tasting tea following the awards presentation on the day of the show. The final event will be Microwaving With Pecans, a demonstration by Rachel Hall, Extension Agent.

The show has grown the past few years and become a most popular event. It is sponsored annually by the Crockett County Program Building Committee. More information will be given along with a complete schedule in the weeks before the show.

League makes plans for annual bazaar

The Ozona Womans League is preparing for its annual Holiday Gift Bazaar to be held on Tuesday, November 20, from 4-6 p.m. at the Ozona Civic Center. A variety of booths are planned, including Childrens, Christmas, Crafts, and Personalizing.

A perennial highlight of the Bazaar will be the large food booth, which will include cakes, pies, cookies, candies, pickles, jellies, casseroles, and other culinary delights. A sampling of craft items available for purchase includes pillows, Christmas stockings, baby blankets, candlewicking, aprons, placemats, kitchen sets, woodwork, bird houses, and stuffed animals.

Balloons for the children will be plentiful as well as refreshments for shoppers and guests. Raffle tickets will be on sale in the lobby prior to and during the Bazaar. A basket of gourds, Christmas pillows, and a watercolor painting are the items to be raffled this year.

A new item appearing will be the "Ozona and Crockett County Address Book," which is a listing of mailing addresses for all Ozona residents. This club project will also be on sale throughout the year in various locations around town. Co-chairmen of the 1984 bazaar are Elizabeth Clark and Vicki Stokes. All proceeds of the Ozona Womans League Bazaar are used to support various community projects in Ozona, with special emphasis placed on the youth and the elderly. All ages are encouraged to attend.

Lions perform well in spite of loss Fri.

By Gary Davis

The Ozona Lions had possibly their best performance on Friday, November 2, against the Coahoma Bulldogs in Bulldog Stadium. Although the Lions looked good and played well, they could not hold on to the win and the Bulldogs won their second district contest, 15-13. The loss for the Lions brings their season record to 0-3-1 and their season record to 1-7-1.

The local team will conclude the 1984 football this Friday night against the Sonora Broncos in Lion Stadium. The Broncos, who were defeated last week by the Colorado City Wolves, are scheduled in Ozona at 8:00 p.m. Friday night.

The Lions claimed the lead in the first quarter of action when Junior signal-caller, Steve Sanchez, tossed a 9-yard pass to senior, Al Ramirez. Senior, Edward Borrego kicked the point-after-touchdown to give the Lions a 7-0 lead.

Coahoma came back on a reverse play in the second quarter with 5:45 remaining when Dee John Douglass took the ball 14 yards for the six points. Quarterback Brian Callaway successfully ran the ball into the endzone for the extra 2 points.

With only 45 seconds left in the first half, Ozona retaliated when a Bulldog punt was blocked at the Coahoma 14-yard line. Junior, Chuy Hernandez took the ball in for the touchdown.

Borrego's extra point was blocked, leaving the score 13-8 at the end of the half.

Coahoma put the icing on the cake when Callaway sprinted 19-yards for the final score. David Shaw added the extra point to cap the victory for the Bulldogs with less than 6 minutes left in the game.

The Lions had 14 first downs compared to Coahoma's 8. The Bulldogs carried the ball 38 times for a total of 139 rushing yards. The Lions carried 46 times for 115 yards on the ground. Ozona completed 7 passes of 13 for 115 passing yards, whereas Coahoma only completed 3 passes of 12 for 55 yards. The Bulldogs were penalized 9 times for 90 yards, where the Lions were only taken back 4 times for 20 yards.

Chuy Hernandez led his team in yards rushing with 140 yards to his credit on 30 carries. Junior, Harvey Fierro ran for 18 yards and sophomore James Sanchez rushed 13 yards. Steve Sanchez threw 7 times for all of Ozona's 115 passing yards. Al Ramirez caught three passes for 54 of those yards and a touchdown. Junior Diron Holt had 27 yards in the receiving department and Harvey Fierro had 20 yards. Hernandez also had 14 yards receiving.

Coahoma's Callaway led the Bulldog rushing attack with 97 yards and the passing game with 55 yards.

Womans League Bazaar

Co-chairmen Elizabeth Allen and Vicki Stokes show off some of the gift items which will be offered at the annual bazaar which will be held at the Civic Center November 20. Food orders are being taken until Nov. 16, for delivery at the bazaar, and the various handmade items may be seen in store windows around town.

GRENADA: DYING A SLOW DEATH?

By Edwin Feulner

Just a year after the defeat and expulsion of Soviet-bloc forces from Grenada, that tiny Caribbean island is again threatened with political and economic turmoil.

The Reagan administration has initiated a variety of public and private projects, in cooperation with other nations and international agencies, to help the troubled country. But Grenada's future is by no means assured; and there are no miracle cures in sight.

When Grenada's four-and-one-half years of Marxist experimentation and mismanagement under Maurice Bishop's People's Revolutionary Government (PRG) came to a dramatic end last October, the island was left in economic shambles. But there was a sense of hope among the people.

That hope still exists I learned during a visit to the island a few weeks ago. But the longer the international bureaucrats and paper-shufflers — including officials of the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID) — take to produce some visible improvements in the island's economy and political institutions, the more the optimism will turn to despair. And the leftists will be waiting.

Under Bishop's Marxist leadership, resources had been shifted, wholesale, from the private, productive sector of the economy to the government. A confiscatory tax policy and suppression of private enterprise nearly destroyed the native business community. Foreign exchange from the island's most important cash crop — cocoa — fell from $10 billion in 1979 to $4 billion in 1983. Banks and other credit sources were drained of funds. By March 1983, the net credit extended to the public sector amounted to roughly 35 percent of total deposits.

Currently, unemployment is estimated at 30 percent overall, considerably higher in the under-25 age group. And, as the saying goes, idle hands are the devil's plaything.

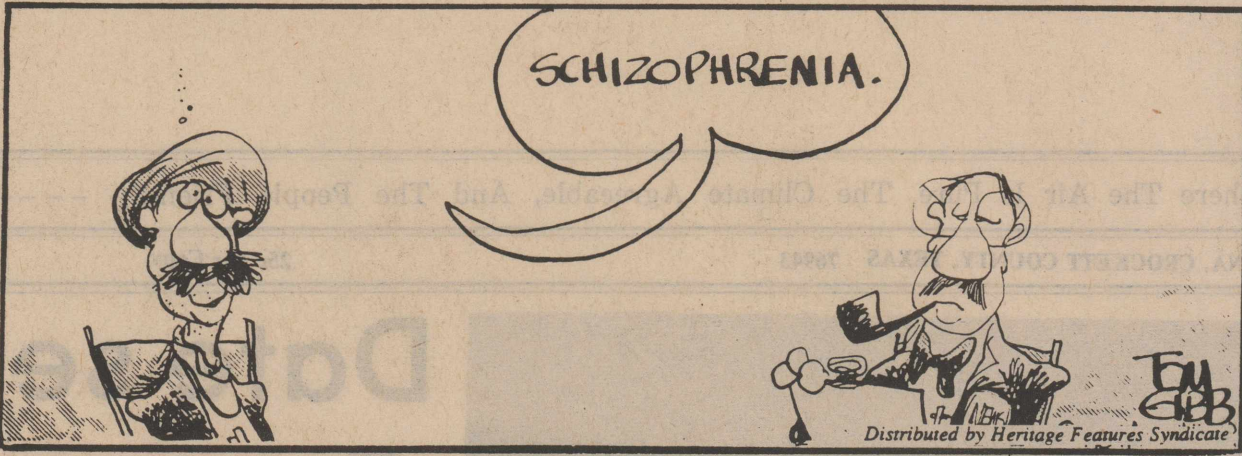

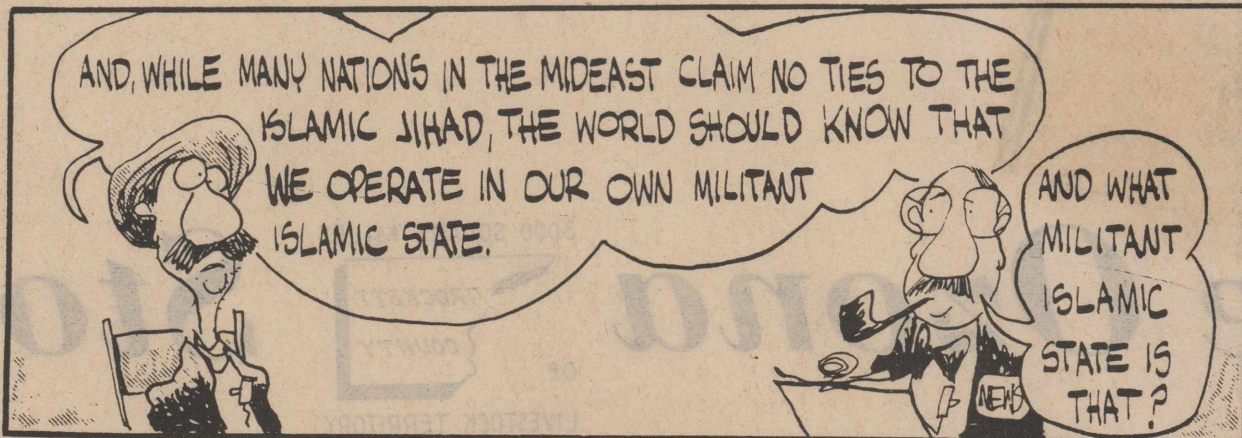

The seriousness of the situation can be seen in the emergence of a newly formed leftist political party calling itself the Maurice Bishop Patriotic Movement (MBPM) — named after the former PRG leader. According to veteran Caribbean-watcher Timothy Ashby, this bodes ill for the country. "While the MBPM's electoral base may be small, its domestic network, financial resources and contact with international leftist organizations give it potential influence."

Ashby reports that crime, particularly theft, is becoming a serious problem, encouraged by the MBPM. Also, there have been reports of organized terrorism on the island, leading authorities to believe arms caches still exist.

The initial euphoria we witnessed in the aftermath of last year's action is dwindling. Would-be investors are now unsure of committing capital to the island, because of a lack of new investment incentives and tax codes which are not competitive with other Caribbean nations.

Ultimately, political stability in Grenada can only be assured by the election of a moderate, reform-minded government.

While the United States needs to be patient, I'm not sure time is on our side.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—While the Texas Secretary of State checks preliminary totals of the massive voter turnout in Tuesday's general election, political party leaders are sorting the ballot returns to dissect the largest voter registration war this state has witnessed.

A month ago, party chiefs and others knew the election result would hinge on how the more than one million new registrants would vote.

The Democrats targeted precincts that traditionally vote 65 percent Democrat or better, figuring that statistically they would pick up almost seven out of every 10 new voters.

The Republicans weren't sitting idly, either—they concentrated on their key precincts and on college campuses, trying to take advantage of the wave of conservatism there.

In the final days before the election, each side claimed victory in the voter registration war, but privately most political observers felt that no one could say just who gained where. It will be a favorite subject of political reporting for weeks to come.

No Son of '82

This business of registering new voters was what Democrats were heavily banking on to overcome the point spreads that pollsters everywhere were shaking out of their computers. Until the last weekend, virtually every poll made public indicated the Republicans—Ronald Reagan and Phil Gramm—were leading the Democrats in Texas, anywhere from 10 to 20 points.

But the same polling results in '82 had Republicans overconfident that Gov. Bill Clements would defeat his challenger Mark White, the Democrat. And while the GOP basked in the security of summer poll results, the Democrats were changing the rules of the game: they were out registering new voters that the pollsters didn't even know about yet.

When the '82 returns came in, the Democrats knew that their registration drive, coupled with an energetic and modernized "Get-Out-The-Vote" effort, had done the impossible.

They tried to work that same plan again this year, but the Republicans had caught on, at least enough to neutralize the Democratic hopes of swelling the black and Hispanic percentages.

Breakdown

Some estimates of the '84 voter pool ranged at about 76 percent Anglo, 13 percent Hispanic and 11 percent black.

Voter registration increased in the following counties: Bexar, 7.3 percent; Dallas, 16.9 percent; El Paso, 26.9 percent; Harris, 24 percent; Hidalgo, 30 percent; Jefferson, 14.7 percent; Lubbock, 13.2 percent; Nueces, 14.3 percent; Tarrant, 26 percent; and Travis, 31.9 percent.

The Hispanic registration was a one point gain over the percentage signed up in '82, but Democrats counted heavily on Hispanics turning out in record numbers to vote for Walter Mondale and Lloyd Doggett.

Meanwhile, absentee balloting in rural counties across the Lone Star State indicated that the real key voter was the Independent Anglo, still the majority here.

More Polarization?

In the election aftermath, it may never be determined which party actually profited from the massive number of voter-citizens participating at the ballot box, aside from the bottom line indicator of who won and who lost.

Two years ago, the Democrats swept the entire ballot and promptly installed a bevy of liberals in the party headquarters, alienating or angering the conservatives of the party. The bitter primary battle featuring personal attacks from liberal Lloyd Doggett against his two conservative rivals, Kent Hance and Bob Krueger, further divided the party. It was symptomatic of the thinking of some liberal Democrats that they could win without the conservatives once and for all because of the new minority voter registration.

But whatever the final, official outcome, the Republicans have bounced back from their shattering defeat only 24 months ago: Texas is again, and probably for all-time, a two-party state. All signals indicate that more polarization is likely to occur.

Or Reconciliation?

However ignored or overlooked the moderate voter was in this election, they could find themselves the target of persuasion from both parties in the coming months.

Conceivably, conservative Democrats could find themselves more at home in the GOP because of fiscal philosophy and liberal Republicans could feel more comfortable in the Democratic Party because of social issues.

Perhaps the most obvious factor will be how the liberal party leadership treats conservative Democrat Kent Hance, an all-but-announced candidate for some statewide office in '86. Whether they embrace his candidacy as good for party unity or whether they urge his final ousting on grounds of party purity will make a big difference on future elections.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

November begins cool season planting time for woody plants, so this should be a busy month. Both balled and burlapped and bare-root stock will be appearing on local and out-of-town retail markets as plants become dormant for the winter.

Perennials of nearly all kinds can be set out, divided and transplanted this month. Proceed with basic soil improvement work until frost. The surface of ground turned over in the fall should be left rough so that the maximum benefit of winter rains is received.

Anytime now you may be warned of a freeze so you may want to trim back some of your plants so they won't take up so much room. Give them some water but do not overwater during the winter.

Provide special protection against sweeping winds and intense winter sun for slightly tender evergreens. Screens of burlap or other material are especially useful for plants newly planted or in drafty locations.

If caladiums have not been dug or stored for the winter, don't delay too long. Tubers left in the soil over winter will have poor chance of living for next year's planting. Wash tubers, let dry in shade, dust in sulphur and place in a net bag where they won't freeze.

Houseplants that have been outside for the summer or a few weeks, should be moved inside before too much heat has to be turned on for the winter.

If you want a new exciting experience, try the growing of Sedum Morganianum, known as donkey's or burro's tail. The plant is for a hanging basket or container, as the tails grow 3 feet or more long. If they cascade all around the pot you have a spectacular specimen. When it is young, you can set it on a window sill and let the tails hang, but put the plant where people won't brush against it. The

Thanksgiving dinner for Pandale Club

Members of the Pandale Study Club and their guests met at noon Thursday, November 1, at the Pandale Community Center for a traditional Thanksgiving dinner. Hostess-coordinators were Jessie White and Barbara Malone. Bronze chrysanthemums and Thanksgiving decorations were centered on the tables and a fruit cornucopia and Fall arrangement were on the serving tables.

Lou Deaton, Club President, introduced Ken Harrison, minister of the Ozona United Methodist Church, who presented the afternoon Thanksgiving program. After leading the group in the singing of "America The Beautiful" and "My Country 'Tis of Thee", Ken spoke of his thankfulness for Reliance—self-reliance when one does what one has to do, reliance on others during times of need, and reliance on God in all things. With the singing of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and a prayer, the meeting was adjourned.

Members and guests attending were Jessie and Ted White, Sue and Larry Arledge, Opal and Tom Everett, Myrtle and Carl Malone, Becky and Tommy Young, Josephine and Henry Mills, Lela Bunger, Barbara Malone, Lou Deaton, Ronnie Womack, Ginger Perner, Myrtle Everett, W.O. Mills, Sr., Mary Jo and little Clay Everett, Sarah and Jim Hardgrave, Ronny Frithiof, Ken Harrison and Herbert Kunkel of Ozona, and Belle Borth of Austin.

leaves are barely attached and fall off at the slightest pressure. This plant needs more water than most succulent plants—a light watering 2 or 3 times a week. If the leaves shrivel and fall off, you need to give it more water. Grow in bright light, or even full sun, but not directly to glass.

Children and Snacking

Dietary likes and dislikes, along with many eating habits and patterns have their roots in a person's early years. Sensible snacking is a good eating habit to foster.

Start teaching children that portion size is an important part of healthy eating. This can be done in a very natural way. You can show portion size by preparing your child's plate and children will become used to seeing reasonable servings of various foods. (For example, if you're serving a sandwich with potato chips, place sandwich and chips on a child's plate before bringing it to the table.) Also, avoid forcing children to clean their plates.

Team snack foods with other nutritious foods to encourage children to appreciate a variety of different tastes. For example, potato chips and cheese dip, ice cream topped with fresh fruit, or peanut butter on carrot strips are all good, tasty snacks to try.

Look for ways to include children in food preparation. Here are some examples:

Prepare simple foods like salads. Set the table

Serve or pass foods. Help with clean-up. Put leftovers away.

Start to teach your children basic nutrition information. When you are in the kitchen together, start a dialogue about the food you are preparing, where it comes from, how we prepare and cook it. A good place to begin is a discussion of food that comes from plants and food that comes from animals.

Let children help prepare their own snacks. Fruit kabobs, home-made granola and popcorn are all fun activities kids will love.

This simple recipe is a good example of combining various foods for a nutritious, delicious snack. In fact, potato chips are a good way to combine nutrition with fun in all types of recipes. Kids and adults with both enjoy this nutrient-packed dip. The yogurt and cottage cheese provide protein and calcium for growing bones. The vegetables and potato chips supply carbohydrates, vitamin C and the B vitamins. And kids will love the adventure of making and eating a dip.

Easy Cheese Dip

1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped vegetable defrosted and drained
 1 cup creamy style cottage cheese
 1/2 cup unflavored lowfat yogurt
 1 package (.6 ounce) salad dressing mix

In blender or food processor blend together vegetable and cottage cheese till smooth. Add yogurt and dressing mix; blend 30 seconds. Serve with chips. Makes 3 1/2 cups.

ENERGY STOP

We may grumble about the price of gasoline — but we keep coming back for more. These "life lines" provide us with what it takes to keep our wheels turning.

There are other kinds of energy which are essential. One of them is the spiritual vigor that we experience when we link our lives to God.

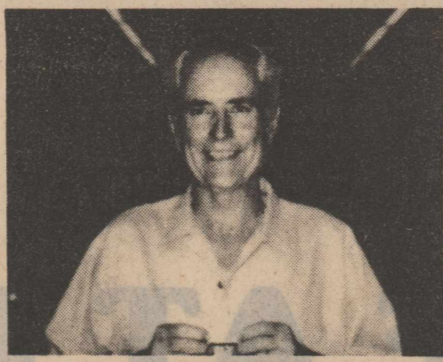

Our churches and synagogues are energy stops. They are helping men and women, boys and girls, discover and make use of the power God provides.

Federal Land Bank to up interest rates on farm loans

The Federal Land Bank of Texas variable interest rate will increase from 11.00 percent to 11.50 percent on Farms loans and from 11.50 percent to 12.00 percent on Rural Residence and Farm Related Business loans, effective November 1, 1984, said Michael W. Smith, president of the Federal Land Bank Association of Sonora.

The increase comes as an effort to narrow the widening gap between what the Land Bank pays for money on the financial market and what it charges borrowers under the variable interest rate plan. Over the last three years, the bank's average cost of funds outstanding has been in the 12 percent range, exceeding the loan rate to borrowers.

At the bank's annual stockholders meeting in March, directors from the Federal Land Bank Association of Sonora joined other association directors and voted to forego compensation for their local association in 1984, enabling the bank to postpone an interest rate increase at that time.

"It is imperative that the bank continue to post adequate earnings to ensure that our bonds can be sold in the financial markets at the lowest possible costs, which results in lower interest rate loans for our borrowers," said James A. Rogers, president of the Federal Land Bank of Texas.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Sonora makes long-term real estate loans on farm and rural residence property in the counties of Crockett, Edwards, Schleicher, and Sutton.

Crockett County Care Center News

BY ANN McCARTNEY
DIRECTOR OF ACTIVITIES & SOCIAL CARE

Halloween is a fun holiday! The staff and residents alike dressed up and had fun laughing at the looks of one another all day. The Tiger Cubs, under the directions of Esmi Barrera, came with cookies, candy, and fellowship. Sue Linthicum, Jo Davidson, and Ruth Hester all dropped by in costume as well as several children. Mary Helen Parks' art students made some witches to decorate everyone's dressers. So, as you see, it was a busy and delightful holiday.

Before the arrival of our Trick-or-Treaters we filled those bags we decorated last week with candy so all would be ready to treat. Jeanette Butler, a visitor from Oklahoma, helped Dorothy Doll, Lola Rios, and a host of residents and aides prepare these sacks.

On to other events. One afternoon last week we retrieved our closet and made some of our own music. We might not be professional, but we had fun!

This was the week for our residents' council meeting. We always go over the schedule of coming events for the next month at the end of the previous month. This month the residents made several decisions concerning what they would and would not like to do.

We also made that trip to El Chato's. Glenda Henderson brought her van and cars were brought by Dorothy Doll, Carmen Fuantoz, Jo Davidson, Anna Yruegas and Anna Hufstetler. Residents going included Paul Cavin, Tomasa Ramos, Alice Ross, Hilda Dysart, Nina Mayfield, Pearl Morris, Nila Turnell, Maude Pettit, Inez Biggs, Phil Schneemann, Minnie Karr, Johnny Henderson, and Floy Clare Short. Dinners were brought back to Bertha Miller and Ola Mills. Ola was our winner on Tuesday but wasn't up to going.

Johnny Henderson won the Baker Jewelers certificate this month. He also won first place on Friday and won a gift certificate from Claytons Village Drug. Ola Mills won the second place

4-H Horse program is organized

Saturday, October 27, thirteen 4-H members and six parents met at Ed and Betty Martin's home on the Shannon Ranch. They participated in the first meeting of the 4-H Horse Program.

Members learned how to catch and tie a horse using two different types of knots. They observed stalling of a horse and feeding of the animal. They demonstrated proper grooming techniques and hoof care and learned how to make a war bridle and use of it.

Members also watched two video tapes on the use and training of the American Quarter Horse. Afternoon refreshments were enjoyed by the group.

The next meeting will be November 10, 9:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. at the Shannon Ranch. 4-Hers are asked to meet again at the courthouse square at 8:00 a.m., Saturday, Nov. 10. Please bring a sack lunch and notebook.

Mrs. Tom Montgomery spent the weekend in San Angelo with her children and granddaughter, Dr. and Mrs. Jim Montgomery and Natalie.

prize. Bingo volunteers included Eledia Zapata, Amalia Lumbreras, Nina Mayfield, Maude Pettit, Alice Ross, Dorothy Doll, Anna Bell Patrick, and Mattie Cooper.

Ceramics assistants on Wednesday were Ruth Hester, Marie Pierson, and newcomer Patti Racher. Welcome aboard, Patti, and welcome back Marie.

Thursday mornings beauty shop was manned by Lola Rios, Clara Byrd, Vivian Hughes and Velma Marley.

Bible study was conducted this week by the group from the Faith Lutheran Church. Betty Huffman came dressed like a pumpkin and passed out some belated Halloween treats, husband Charles Huffman gave our sermon, Charlotte Trull played the piano, and Ruby Olson, Phyllis Harms and Marie Walker all assisted with the singing.

Spanish Hour of Praise followed Bible study. It was conducted by Maria Vitela, Paulita Leal, Carmen Vargas and Norma Flores.

We reported some of our outdoor plants on Friday afternoon. Then some of the ladies worked on their handwork while others watched TV with the men.

Dominoes were played on Monday by volunteer Tina Holmsley and residents Maude Pettit, Paul Cavin and Ola Mills.

Sunday church services were conducted by the United Methodist Church. Rev. Ken Harrison conducted the service, Glenda Henderson played the piano, Grace Dorsey brought the communion elements, Katharine Russell, Earline Jones, and yours truly assisted with the singing.

Thanks goes this week to the Knights of Columbus, Council 8572, for sending apples, Marie Pierson for mending some clothes for our residents, to Massie West for treating all our residents to bananas, to R. L. and Maxine Brown for memorials in memory of Dan Bean and the mother and step-father of Abe Morris, to Vernon and Earline Jones and another special friend for memorials in memory of Leona Harris.

Ozona's defensive unit tightened their belt in the second half as Woly Rutherford once again led the Cubs in tackles.

The winning touchdown came with only four minutes remaining as Eloy Gonzales scored from four yards out. The extra point was good, giving the Cubs a 14-8 lead. The defense shined on the next series stopping the Bull-Pups in just four plays.
