Anything can happen around here on Tuesday and usually does. After some 20 some odd years, I've finally figured out the reason machines break on deadline day. It's because they are used more than on any other day. Kind of reminds me of the questions my son used to ask when he was little. Such as, "Mother why do you always find something that's lost in the last place you look?" I don't know if he has figured out that you usually quit looking after you find something or not, probably so. But I don't want to hear "Why does something always break down on Tuesday?" around here any more. If I can finally come up with the answer, everyone else should.

We are going to be forced to put a limit on our "letters to the editor" space. We had two this week I found impossible to edit. I don't know what is going on in the production department right now, but it's highly possible we might have to hold one up until next week. We are glad to have the "letters" column and are happy to give our readers a forum in our newspaper, but we cannot donate a whole page to one letter. I believe almost any point can be made in letters of 200 words or less, and this is probably going to be our policy in the future. I can usually make my point in much less space, but then a lot of what I have to say comes off the top of my head. I am not much for detailed research. Also, I have found an article which is long and redundant on one subject tends to lose my interest. I don't know how many of our readers have this same problem, but I suspect a great many. So if you have something to say, write it all down and then condense it to 200 words or less and get it off to us.

I would direct your attention to the story about the oil industry. The survival of the industry is life or death to West Texas, especially during these times of drought. We are all affected by a slowdown in the oil patch. What the federal and state governments are trying to do to the industry would have a terrible effect on West Texas and West Texas. The economy would be a shambles if these various proposals become law. Every voter should write their congressmen and senators at the state level as well as the federal level in an attempt to impress upon them how vital the industry is to West Texas and Texas in general, indeed, the nation.

We don't have a great voice in either government. Since the "one man, one vote" proposal became law the voice of West Texas was stifled and the city voters have called the shots. We do not have as much representation, but perhaps persistence is a better virtue.

Lion boosters to raffle Cowboy ball

Members of the Lions Booster Club are now selling tickets for a chance to win an official autographed Dallas Cowboy football signed by present and past great players.

Some signatures are Bob Brunig, Drew Pearson, Randy White, "Too Tall" Jones, Tony Dorsett and many more. Tickets are $1.00 each.

The football will be on display soon at the Ozona High School first, then at both local banks. We are awaiting the arrival of a solid glass dome and base for the football. All of this will be given away to some lucky person May 9, 1985, during the All Sports Banquet at the Civic Center. The main speaker at the banquet will be Ray Stone, who publishes and writes the Dallas Cowboy Football Report. He will draw the lucky ticket. You do not have to be present to win.

All proceeds from the sale of these tickets will be used toward the expenses involved in sponsoring the All Sports Banquet for high school boy and girl athletes. Tickets may be purchased from any Lion Booster Club member. Chairpersons for the ticket sales are Veve Vargas, Aurora Tobar and Bobby Aycock.

Arts and Crafts Show

sponsored by the Ozona Womens Forum enjoyed an unusually large turnout of exhibitors as well as spectators last week at the Civic Center. Forum members Arlene Clayton and Aleane Jones discuss the art of afgan making with guest Jo Davidson, center.

Tax proposal damaging to oil and gas industry

Ed Thompson, executive vice-president of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association spoke to the Noon Lions Club in Fort Stockton last week on the proposed oil and gas industry tax reform put forth by the federal government. Because this issue is so vital to Ozona and Crockett County, Thompson's remarks are reprinted in this story.

Thompson said the proposed reform poses a threat, not only to independent oil and gas producers, but to the national security. He blasted the tax reform proposal and urged his audience to contact their congressmen immediately with a strong message opposing it.

"You better see your congressman and any others you know," Thompson urged, "and tell them to stop spending (money to help their campaigns.)"

The PBPA's to official said the consumer will be the "fall guy" if the plan is approved.

Among the projected reforms are elimination of the depletion allowance and tax credits for intangible drilling costs.

"If legislators believe the nation will benefit by either eliminating or reducing incentives in the oil industry, they are sadly mistaken," Thompson said.

"With outside investments lost, the independent producer will have to cut back operations. This will be bad enough in itself, but the ripple effect will be devastating.

"There will be less drilling and fewer reserves found, which will make us more dependent on foreign oil," he continued. "It will increase the trade deficit, eliminate jobs in drilling, completion, servicing, supply, equipment and manufacturing in all phases of our economy.

"This, in turn, he added, "will cause a reduction in income to the employees of all the affiliated industries, and directly impact the retail sales of every business segment.

"And this," he said, "can only call for increased taxes to support those put out of work and the consumer is going to end up being the fall guy."

Thompson explained that independent oil and gas producers annually re-invest their profits and then some in the on-going search for new reserves.

"When told that," he said, "many people outside the industry, especially those in government, either scoff or stare in disbelief. Nevertheless, according to both industry and government surveys, independent producers during the past decade have re-invested 108 percent of their gross income each year."

He said what makes these figures even more impressive is that an independent producer is allowed to keep only 25 percent of the price received for a barrel of oil.

"Sixteen and one-half percent," he said, "goes for the Windfall Profits Excise Tax...17 1/2 percent goes for royalty payments...and 41 percent is paid in severance taxes, ad valorem taxes, other city, county and state taxes, plus income taxes.

"Except for the Windfall Profits Excise Tax," he added, "the gas producers pay the same taxes, and the 25 percent the producer has left goes to the pay company overhead, drilling and production costs."

Thompson said outside investors are what makes re-investment of 108 percent possible. He called outside investors the lifeblood of most independent producers.

"And outside investors are generated by the tax incentives of percentage depletion and intangible drilling costs," he said.

He explained that when the industry was in its infancy, the U.S. government passed laws in 1917 to help the industry grow. The laws provided tax benefits as incentives. The two most recognized today are intangible drilling costs and percent depletion.

"Both have helped the domestic industry grow, as the government originally planned-by attracting outside capital," Thompson said. "Strangely enough, the U.S. government, by calling them tax loopholes, is now using these same incentives against the independents.

"Today there is talk of eliminating the percentage depletion provision an requiring amortization of intangible drilling costs.

"Think of what it will do to the prices of fuel and gasoline, not to mention our national security and our defense posture," he urged.

"Most of the items we need to defend ourselves or to get somewhere to defend ourselves are dependent upon some form of oil or gas. We've got a 30 day supply of strategic petroleum reserves, above what we are using today.

"Should all imports be cut off, and that would be no great task for Russia, we could operate for 90 days," Thompson concluded. "After that, we would be facing monstrous shortages, rationing and possibly the loss of our freedom.

"You better let these folks know you don't want this tax plan passed because it will not do what the treasury says it will," he ended.

Thanks to both wool houses for assisting the wool team and Reggie Quiett for all the work with the range team.

Thunderstorm brings good rains here

A severe thunderstorm Tuesday night of last week, brought from three-quarters to an inch and a half of rain to Ozona and Crockett County.

The warm days which followed have brought forth spring weeds and grass, making the country look better than it has in many years the last of March.

So far this month, 1.31 inches of rainfall has been recorded in the official gauge at the Water District office. A very good rainfall for what is usually a dry month.

SPRING 1985 A sure sign of spring are the patches of Texas Bluebonnets peeping out around Ozona. When in full bloom, the hills and valleys will be in glorious color.

DPS announces child restraint loaner system

Your local office of the Texas Department of Public Safety announced today the initiation of its child restraint loaner program.

Child safety seats will be available for loan (free of charge) at the Drivers License Office. Distribution of the safety seats will be made available on a first come first served basis. Seats will be loaned for a period of 6 months.

Persons interested in obtaining a child safety seat will be required to present identification such as a Texas Drivers License, Texas Identification Card or any other valid I.D.

Texas became the 49th state to pass a child restraint law on 10-1-84. It states: A person commits an offense if the person:

1. Is a resident of this state.
2. Transports a child younger than two years of age by operating a passenger car or light truck on a road, street, or highway of this state and
3. Does not keep the child secured during the operation of the vehicle in a child passenger safety seat system according to the instructions of the manufacturer of the safety seat system.

Boy golfers take big win in Junction

Ozona High School golfers had a good week, both the girls and boys teams won first place at the Junction Invitational Golf Tournaments.

The boys team had to beat Sonora in a playoff. The Lions thumped the Broncos, by a total of seven points, on the first playoff hole.

Ty McKinney tied for tourney medalists, but lost in a playoff. Ty received the second place trophy.

The wind was a great factor and took its toll on all the golfers. Ty McKinney shot 40-40 (80), Diron Holt 46-45 (91), Will Seahorn 43-50 (93), Bret Hood 46-49 (95), and J.B. Green had a 49-49 (98). This gave the Lions a 359 total. Sonora also fired a 359 but lost to Lions in the playoff. Junction was third with 360. The other teams entered were Menard, Ingram, Neuces Canyon, and Center Point.

The Lions play in Big Lake March 30, and the District Meet in Sonora, April 19-20.

Or...a person commits an offense if the person:

1. Is a resident of this state.
2. Transports a child who is two years of age or older and under four years of age by operating a passenger car or light truck on a road, street or highway of the state; and does not keep the child secured during the operation of the vehicle in a child passenger safety seat system according to the instructions of the manufacturer of the safety seat system or by a safety belt.

An offense under this new law is punishable by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $50.

Construction to begin on senior center

Construction on the Senior Citizen's Center will soon begin. Kathy Reavis submitted plans which allow for a fire lane down the side of the building to a restaurant supplier in San Angelo Monday. If the Masonic Lodge agrees to allow the center a fire exit across their property, this space will be used for something else.

As soon as the kitchen plans are final, the building will be plumbed and the concrete poured for the floor. Volunteers from all professions will donate their time and labor for various stages of the building.

Memorial donations may be sent to Kathy Reavis or dropped by the Chamber of Commerce office.

Southside Lions slate carnival

The Southside Lions Club will sponsor a carnival in Fair Park April 2 through April 6.

Proceeds will go toward the club's many civic projects sponsored throughout the year.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—It was bad news for college students but good news for state colleges and universities when the Texas House passed legislation that would more than quadruple tuition rates by the end of this decade.

Students at all public colleges and universities, including medical and dental schools, will be shocked with tuition rates this fall that are at least double the current rates, if the bill clears the Senate and is signed into law by Gov. Mark White.

New revenue generated by the proposed tuition increase would go to offset proposed cuts in college funding now being considered by legislative budget writers. Those cuts probably will range from 4 percent to 6 percent.

Under the bill passed by the House, which was sponsored by House Committee on Higher Education Chairman Wilhelmina Delco, Texas residents enrolled in undergraduate and most graduate programs at state universities would see a tuition increase from $4 to $8 per semester hour beginning this fall, with an additional increase to $12 per semester hour for the 1986-87 school year.

Tuition would then increase $2 per year until it reaches $20 per semester hour. Non-residents and foreign students would get even a bigger hike, from $40 to $120 per semester hour for 1985-86 and to $180 per hour for 1986-87. Their rates would then go to 100 percent of cost.

The bill also calls for law students and graduate students in architecture and engineering to pay twice the undergraduate rate.

Medical and dental students also would see the cost of their education increase, with resident students eventually paying $6,400 per semester, compared to the current rate of $400. Non-residents would pay roughly twice that rate.

Some 25 percent of all new tuition revenue would be set aside for need-based scholarships and emergency loans so the increased fees would not price low income students out of a college education.

Open Containers

While the House was socking it to the pocketbooks of college students, the Senate was striking a blow against Texans who enjoy sipping a cold brew while driving down the highway.

The Senate gave quick approval to legislation that would outlaw drinking while driving. Mothers Against Drunk Driving and other supporters of the driving while intoxicated crackdown had pushed for a ban on drinking while driving in 1983 when the Legislature adopted tough new laws of DWI.

However, the Senate did not give those groups the strict open containers ban they wanted.

The bill approved by the Senate applies only to the driver of an automobile. Passengers still can "pop a top" in the car, and drivers caught with an open container would be subject only to a Class C misdemeanor.

Critics of the new language say it will do little to prevent a driver from simply passing his drink to a passenger if stopped by a police officer.

Mattox Acquittal

Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox was reveling in his acquittal on charges of commercial bribery, and putting forth a very diplomatic front for a man who has rarely spared harsh words on his enemies.

Being very conciliatory, Mattox sent a letter to the Fulbright & Jaworski law firm assuring their attorneys that they will get fair treatment from the Attorney General's Office despite the charges leveled against Mattox.

It was that Houston law firm that claimed Mattox threatened to destroy their bond business if they did not stop attempts to question his sister in connection with the state's lawsuit against Mobil Oil Corp.

Fulbright & Jaworski was representing Mobil in that case.

Austin politicians said Mattox's conciliatory attitude was an astute political move on the part of the attorney general.

Vindictiveness might have been perceived poorly by the voters, compounding the damage already done by the trial and publicity that surrounded the case, those politicians said.

Blue Law Repealed

Lawmakers may finally lay the perennial debate over the so-called Texas "blue law" to rest this session.

The House Committee of Business and Commerce has given its approval to legislation repealing the 1961 law that prohibits the sale of some 42 different items on consecutive Saturdays and Sundays.

The repeal bill still would require car dealers to close on Sundays, a provision put in the bill at the car dealers' request.

Other provisions of the bill include protections to ensure that employees cannot be forced to work on Sundays if they do not want to and to guarantee each worker one day off each week.

Corpus Christi Rep. Hugo Berlanga, sponsor of the bill, said his polling of House members is running about two to one in favor of the repeal.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

If you can grow weeds, you can grow vegetables with the right preparation of soil, care and water. We are very fortunate to have a plentiful amount of water. Vegetables need five or six hours of full sun everyday, so select a spot to meet this need. If you are planning to grow them for the first time, don't try more than you can manage without it being boresome. However, you will certainly want to include some home-grown salad ingredients, lettuce, beets, tomatoes, onions, sweet peppers and radishes.

Begin watering new roses regularly and deep. If you planted bare-root roses, they may be a little slower showing leaf growth than established plants. Keep the soil moist around the roots if rainfall is scant. If some canes or stems die, cut each back to a point just above a healthy bud growing on the outside of the stem. Moistened peat moss packed around the base will help to prevent stems from drying out.

If some of the shrubs beside your driveway show no signs of life this spring, automobile exhaust fumes may be the cause. Avoid this damage by parking a few feet away from shrubs.

If you are looking for white glads to be used for a summer wedding or other event, here are some good varieties with approximate number of days from planting to bloom: Albania (72), Albatross (63), Catherine Coleman (77), Early Snowflake (73), Maid of Orleans (68), Mammoth White (69), Helen Wills (70) and perhaps some newer ones. Plant corms at two-week intervals until midsummer to extend the times of enjoying their blooms. They are seldom graceful in an accent garden, but can be planted in groups in a bed of annual and perennials. To allow for good side cultivation which results in a better quality flower, plant glads in rows in the cutting bed or in rows between vegetables.

Watch for mealybugs. You may find them on outdoor plants as well as house plants. They grow in white, cottony masses on stems, under leaves, along the midrib, and especially where the leaves join the stem. They feed on sap, causing leaves to be deformed. If you discover them before they become too numerous, you may be able to wipe them away with a cotton swab dipped in alcohol. For houseplants, select an insecticide for spray. For outdoor plants spray with malathion or other sprays available now. Be sure to mix the correct concentration and spray the entire plant, soil service, outside of the pot, and adjacent plants. Repeat after two weeks or as the label recommends.

Mrs. Moran is chairman of St. Jude's bike-a-thon

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is proud to announce the selection of Mrs. Tina Moran as chairman for this year's bike-a-thon in Ozona. According to Clifford Damstrom, Southwest Regional Director, the cost of treatment, equipment, drugs, and research programs is primarily by contributions from private individuals through programs such as bike-a-thons.

The impact of St. Jude's research work is felt in every community where cancer and other killer diseases strike. Over 10,000 children will be stricken with cancer during this year alone. Next to accidents, cancer is the leading killer of children in the United States. St. Jude is the world's largest cancer research center in terms of treatment success and is the only institution of its kind dedicated solely to research and the care of children stricken with catastrophic illnesses.

Clifford Damstrom, regional director, stated, "It is gratifying that every year in towns all across the country, volunteer leaders organize bike-a-thons to benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. This would not be possible without the help and support of dedicated chairmen. Danny Thomas, founder of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital stated its purpose clearly: "To wipe catastrophic diseases of children from the face of the earth." Those interested in assisting with or participating in the bike-a-thon can get more information by contacting Mrs. Moran at 392-3453. Details of the ride will be announced later.

Now, in "the quiet years," he has a chance to put the finishing touches on that schooner. When a man's working with his hands, he has time for some thinking, for some looking back.

Our aged friend has a good many years to look back over—some of them good, some bad. But, through all of them, there's been one steady, continuing force, like a thread of steel woven through the pattern of his life.

This force has been the thread of faith—a faith that is sustained and strengthened when a man devotes great time and energy to the Church and its mission.

Now in "the quiet years" he can look back over what has been—he can rejoice because he is able to review a life full of devotion.

You see, it is all-important to be able to review the right kind of life. Don't wait. Start going to church now.

CROCKETT COUNTY CARE CENTER NEWS

By Ann McCartney
Director Of Activities & Social Care

Guess what we have new? We have a new large screen T.V., a gift from the Hospital and Care Center Auxiliary. The screen can be viewed from a good distance away. We really appreciate this wonderful gift.

Another gift was bought this week from memorial monies we purchased an outside bench. Now the residents have a place to rest while walking outside.

This has been movie week. On Wednesday and Friday afternoons and on Thursday morning the following movies, compliments of our regional service center, were viewed: "Hawaii", "Jade Snow Wong," and "Kathy."

We had a display of our ceramics at the Arts and Crafts Show. We hope many people saw them and will now drop by and buy some of our pieces or will commission us to make some. Residents attending the show included Juana Hernandez, Tomasa Ramoz, Alice Ross, Inez Biggs, Billie Whatley, Moriama Perez, and Phil Schneemann. Volunteers included Glenda Henderson, Jo Davidson, Anna Yruegas, and Earline Jones.

Thanks goes to Dorothy Doll for donating some 8 track tapes.

Wednesday morning Claudia Dominguez, along with her teacher Debbie Glasscock, came and gave us a talk, showed some pictures, and shared some balloons from their school experiment. We had found Claudia's balloon and had written her to come and give us a program. We were so glad she was able to come.

If we were currently having "Volunteer of the Week" we would have to include Jorge Briones, manager of Perry Brothers. He came and cleaned our aquarium for us. He spent several hours working on this project and we do truly appreciate his assistance.

We had reading on Wednesday. The Ozona Stockman was read to residents who needed assistance.

Katharine Russell came and played the piano for our residents on Wednesday afternoon. Marilyn Chalmers came to play on Thursday afternoon. We really appreciate these ladies coming for these two new programs.

Thursday morning beauty shop was manned by Clara Byrd and Vivian Hughes. Thanks, friends!

Letters to the Editor

March 25, 1985

Dear Kitty:

I, too, am tired of hearing about the abortion issue, and agree that it shouldn't even be a political issue. It wasn't, until January 22, 1973. That is the day the Supreme Court of the United States issued a 7 to 2 decision to legalize abortion on demand. They made decision by saying: 'We do not know when life begins'. However, in October of 1984 a group of 60 prominent physicians signed a statement titled "The Utmost Respect for Human Life". Among those signing the statement prepared for distribution by the Cambridge, Mass. based Value of Life Committee are Drs. Fredrick Hofmeister & Richard T.F. Schmidt, both past presidents of the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology (ACOG). Other signers include Drs. Joseph Faley, past president of the American Academy of Neurology; Bernard Nathanson, a former director of a large New York abortion clinic who now opposes the practice; & Micheline Mathews-Roth, of Harvard Medical School. Following are some pertinent excerpts quoted from the statement: 'The continuing debate on abortion has generated an atmosphere in which the biological facts may be ignored or can be forgotten...A human ovum fertilized by a human sperm produces a biologically identifiable human embryo. That embryo contains all the essential biological material and genetic information required for complete cellular maturation, human tissue and organ development...The developing fetus is not a sub-human species with a different genetic composition. As clearly demonstrated by in vitro (in a dish) fertilization, so also in vivo (in the womb), from the time of fertilization, the embryo is alive, human and unique, in the special environmental support required for that stage of human development.'

How clearly this shows that from the moment of conception, we are not 'parasites', or 'blobs', or 'lumps of flesh', or 'pieces of protoplasm'; to be dissected & discarded at a person's convenience! Medical specialists who study the unborn babies say that as early as 18 days after conception an electrocardiogram can record a heart-beat. At 6 weeks measurable brain waves send impulses throughout the infants tiny body-which is about 1/2 inch long. At 8 weeks the permanent skeleton has already begun to form, and at 11 weeks all body systems are working in the child-now about 2 1/2 inches long. At 12 weeks the growing baby squints, swallows, gets hiccups, wakes and sleeps. The biological information we have today is so clear that even a child can understand that human life begins at conception! It is not 'potential' life, it is already 'life' with potential! All doctors are supposed to take the Hippocratic oath, which says in part: 'I will maintain the utmost respect for human life from the moment of conception.'

However, since that disgraceful day of January 22, 1973, which continues to be a blemish on the history of this great nation of ours, more than 15 million babies have been legally murdered in their mother's wombs. Every day more than 4,200 abortions are performed in our country alone. Today, this very day, more human lives are being killed by abortion than make up the entire community of Ozona, Texas. Most often in our day and age of 'free sex' human life is conceived in promiscuity. Then it is callously condemned, brutally butchered, and inhumanly incinerated. Lately, many of the aborted fetuses are being sold to foreign companies for use in making cosmetics!

As indicated by the use of the word 'souls' in the article, we humans are more than just 'physical' beings. The God who created the universe and gave us life also made us 'spiritual' beings, and we are accountable to Him for our actions. Although 95% of the people in this country say they believe in God, it is quite evident that many do not 'know' Him, or believe Him. Besides the eternal consequences involved, He has also placed in this world a process of retribution against the violation of His will for human life. Any such violation is called SIN, which is not a popular word today since we have all these nice sounding euphemisms. Evidence of this retribution is seen in part by the fact that we have 20 million young people with 'herpes' in our nation, that drug abuse is rampant, that we have 1,300,000 youth between ages 12-17 with a 'serious' drinking problem, that in spite of legalized abortion 'out of wedlock' teen-age births have tripled since 1960, 'AIDS' disease among homosexuals, etc. 'Doing your own thing' and "My rights" are today's popular sayings which perfectly describe what is amiss in our society. This type of thinking makes no commitment to anyone but SELF, does not consider the welfare of others but is only concerned with SELF. Those who refuse to be responsible for their behavior, sexual and otherwise, are not thinking of others but only the pleasure of SELF. The major problem we face in our society is the fact that we are SELF-ISH; we're too busily engaged in looking at our own belly-button and can see not farther.

And that is the basic idea behind sin, as Scripture points out, it 'separates' from God and from each other. This is not meant to be 'preaching' a sermon, or merely expressing an opinion, it is just a case of standing for freedom-which comes through the truth-and helps us align our priorities correctly. True Christians, who 'know' the true God through His Son, Jesus Christ, are not the ones who go around bombing abortion clinics and doing other violence but are helping to feed the hungry in Africa, and are helping abused and uncared for children. They are engaged in preserving all life, including that sacred life in the womb. This is so because they know Him who is 'The Way, the Truth, and the Life' (John 14:6). For the Christian, the final question that must be asked is if God's Son would abort life.

seeing that He suffered bitterly even to death on the Cross in order to 'redeem' life; ALL life?

There is abundant information available, both concerning our 'physical' and our 'spiritual' welfare for anyone who is seeking the 'truth'. Numerous passages in the Bible show clearly that abortion is strictly against God's will for us as His creatures. True believers also listen to what He reveals in His Word and try to live accordingly.

I myself don't have the statistics at hand on the number of men over-against the women who are leaders of the anti-abortion cause, but I would like to mention yet another woman who is involved, and that is Dr. Jean Garton of Pennsauken, New Jersey who is President of a pro-life organization called 'Lutherans for Life'. I sincerely hope the information provided in this letter will be helpful to others, as we seek to live together in peace and harmony.

Yours truly,
Charles Huffman, Minister
Faith Lutheran Church

To The Editor:
Because abortion is a legal and constitutionally protected procedure in this country, we at Planned Parenthood of the Permian Basin could justifiably choose to ignore the notorious film, "The Silent Scream."

However, we choose not to ignore it: This film points an accusing finger at our organization and implies that we are fellow conspirators with the "crime syndicate." Because we do not show films graphically portraying abortion, we are accused of a conspiracy of silence." We shall be silent no more.

We could, if we choose to copy the sensational tactics of the anti-choice groups, including Right-to-Life, publish a picture of a woman who had died because of a botched or self-induced abortion.

Such pictures are in the medical archives, along with detailed reports on the painful complications and suffering of the victims. These were not uncommon documents before abortion was legalized.

We could show you a grotesque picture of a woman or a young girl lying in a pool of blood and we could call our film, "The Not-So-Silent Scream." But we choose not to do that. There has been enough showmanship already.

I feel that the public should be aware that the anti-choice groups have, through their inflammatory tactics, created a climate of hatred and intolerance in this country. The worst expression of this intolerance has been the bombings of abortion clinics.

These groups disclaim any involvement in the bombings, yet these same people have charged the atmosphere with accusations of "Murderers!" which they have hurled freely at both abortion providers and pro-choice organizations. I feel there must be a public expression of dismay at the attempts of these people (led by Jerry Falwell and his so-called Moral Majority) to threaten the freedoms, if not the very lives, of American women. That is why I am speaking out.

The film which is being promoted by Right-to-Life was clearly designed to shed more heat than light on the subject. Anyone with any biological knowledge already knew the facts of fetal development, and knew that abortion is the destruction of a fetus. So the narrator did not add information to the debate; he added theatrics.

Nor did he help us understand an important character who co-starred in this film: the woman having the abortion. What was happening to her during this drama? What situation in her life drove her to this decision? Her plight must have been desperate, because an abortion is an uncomfortable, often painful, emotional and expensive process.

Planned Parenthood is an organization chartered to meet many needs.

It is the largest cancer-screening agency in the United States. Here in the Permian Basin we have eight clinics which provide a wide range of medical services, including pelvic and breast exams, Pap smears, contraceptives, and pregnancy tests.

We do not perform abortions, nor do we encourage them. We do provide counseling and referrals on such matters as problem pregnancy, sterilization and infertility. We have a strong education program and frequently hold Mother/Daughter and Father/Son classes throughout the region. These classes are designed to promote communication between parent and child.

Much research has been done on the matter of teen pregnancies, yet no single reason for these has been determined. Peer pressure, media influence, unhappy home life, ignorance, and loneliness can all be contributing factors. Any of these, combined with the powerful physical and emotional changes of adolescence, can compel a teenager into an intimate relationship.

Most of the teenagers who come to our clinics come for the first time to get a pregnancy test. By the time we see them, they have been sexually active at least six months.

But teenagers are not the only ones falling victim to their emotions; the majority of abortions are performed in the 20-24 year age group. Again, the psychological aspects are complex; there is no one easy answer that will explain these unintended pregnancies.

There has been much clucking of tongues and remarks such as "these promiscuous girls should be forced to carry their babies full term." Is that really what we want? Compulsory pregnancy to teach these girls a lesson? Is this the basis for a mature mother-child relationship? There is also the argument that there are plenty of adoptive parents available. There are indeed, but they usually have precise specifications for the kind of child they want.

If a woman wants to complete her pregnancy to term and put the child up for adoption, it is certainly her choice to do so. However, no woman should be forced to go through the trauma of an unwanted pregnancy and childbirth just to gratify the desires of a childless couple. It should also be noted that our institutions are already crowded with unwanted children who need to be adopted.

Abortions are considered by the women in many different situations. Some are women who already have children, are living at poverty level, and are concerned about their ability to sustain another child. Some are women whose fetuses have been diagnosed as suffering from a severe genetic abnormality. Some are the victims of rape or incest.

It is not ours to decide whether these women (or girls) should have to endure whatever life hands them. Only they can determine what quality of life the child might face. I could not presume to exert power over a woman in such a predicament.

We at Planned Parenthood shall continue to educate and to encourage young people, both male and female, to examine their motives before acting. Our goal is simply to teach them to think first, then make an informed responsible decision before entering into any relationship.

Planned Parenthood will also continue to protect the lawful right of every woman, and this includes women from the ages of 10 to mid 50's, to have a free choice when she is faced with an unplanned pregnancy.

We cannot and we refuse to let anyone-set limits on their choices. There are too many different situations and we cannot legislate for every woman's particular circumstance. We must work to assure that abortion remains a legal and safe procedure for any woman who chooses to terminate her pregnancy.

What we must also do, as medical technology continues to lead us into an ethical jungle, is to approach many medical matters very cautiously. We are continually facing tough moral decisions which involve the quality of life, and abortion is only one of them. Life is full of hard choices that we, as human beings, must make. Abortion is, and must remain, one of these choices.

Therefore, we challenge the group which calls itself the "Right-to-Life." We challenge you to let your concern for life include those already born. We challenge you to acknowledge and accept that America is a pluralistic and free society and that no citizen should be forced to conform to your set of values.

We challenge you to turn away from simplistic answers and face the complex world which exists. Above all, we challenge you to consider the full range of human situations which lead to unwanted pregnancies.

We at Planned Parenthood are working to prevent such situations. Are you:

Gay Patterson

EXTENSION OFFICE NEWS

By Rachel Hall

April 1-Deadline for completing Fashion Show entry forms. These are due by 5:00 p.m. at the County Extension Office.

April 4-The District Texas Extension Homemakers Association will be meeting in Mentone for their annual spring meeting. For more details contact the Extension Office.

Last week, we discussed some of the techniques utilized by questionable nutrition experts promoting various foods or supplements. By distorting facts and attempting to divert our attention with scientific-sounding phrases and astounding promises, he or she tries to confuse us so we'll buy the product being sold.

Government Protection

How do they get away with it? Doesn't the government regulate these things? Under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetics Act the federal government can seize products that cannot prove their claims to improve health. However, after the food supplement is seized and taken off the market, many producers simply repackage it—or a similar phony product—and start a new advertising campaign with a new name. Enforcement does not keep up with the shifting companies.

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) also has the power to prosecute companies which use deceptive advertising. To do so, FTC must first accumulate the evidence and gather expert witnesses. The job of proving falsity rests with FTC. The advertisements and the product are assumed genuine until proved otherwise.

The next step is for the FTC to serve a complaint on the advertiser. The advertiser is allowed time to respond. During all of this time the advertiser can continue advertising and selling the product.

If the judgment goes against the defendant, he or she may either modify the ads, stop the ads, or appeal. Most appeal, because this gives them even more time to continue selling the product. The appeal process is long. FTC must hold a hearing, with expert opinions and scientific and legal documentation. The hearing must wait for an opening in the crowded FTC docket.

At last, the FTC may make a final order, prohibiting further advertising and sales of the product. At this point, the advertiser may wish to take the case to the courts. A trail involves more delays for preparation of briefs and setting a court date.

After the court decision, there can be further appeals. If the case gets all the way to the Supreme Court and the decision to prohibit further advertising is upheld, the advertiser may revise the ads slightly to make the same claims but in different language. He or she may create a new corporation to give a new name to the same old business. Then the process starts all over again. The advertiser still has not paid any fine. The only punishment was to cease and desist.

If the advertiser ignores the court order and continues to use the same deceptive advertising, then the court may impose a maximum fine of $5,000. The sales of the product during all this time easily pay the fine with plenty left over for a splendid profit.

The FTC admits that it takes about four and one-half years to go from filing of the complaint to the commission's cease-and-desist order. The court decisions and appeals drag out the process even longer.

Any company determined to reap a profit by selling nutrition fakery will not be discouraged by current laws and their enforcement. A White House conference report on deception and misinformation in nutrition concluded, "The American people falsely believe that they are well protected, both by Government and by the ethics of commerce."

Suggestions for protecting yourself, family, and friends from nutrition nonsense include:

Actively seek out research based nutrition information from government agencies, universities, the Extension Service, the American Dietetic Association, the American Medical Association, the Nutrition Foundation, and American Heart Association.

Be skeptical when extravagant claims are made or unusual diets are promoted.

Be cautious when a specific product is promoted. Statements made to sell a nutritional supplement or diet plan are seldom dependable.

Write your congressman (Gerald Geistweidt-State Representative) announcing that you feel an advertisement is deceptive and have him refer it to the appropriate agency.

Contact the Better Business Bureau about company references. Contact Glenna Friedrich, San Angelo BBB representative, at 653-2318 or Linda Truit, Midland BBB representative at 563-1880.

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS HOW IT WORKS

Rarely have we seen a person fail who has thoroughly followed our path. Those who do not recover are people who cannot or will not completely give themselves to this simple program, usually men and women who are constitutionally incapable of being honest with themselves. There are such unfortunates. They are not at fault; they seem to have been born that way. They are naturally incapable of grasping and developing a manner of living which demands rigorous honesty. Their chances are less than average. There are those, too, who suffer from grave emotional and mental disorders, but many of them do recover if they have the capacity to be honest.

Our stories disclose in a general way what we used to be like, what happened, and what we are like now. If you have decided you want what we have and are willing to go to any length to get it--then you are ready to take certain steps.

At some of these we balked. We thought we could find an easier, softer way. But we could not. With all the earnestness at our command, we beg of you to be fearless and thorough from the very start. Some of us have tried to hold on to our old ideas and the result was nil until we let go absolutely.

Remember that we deal with alcohol-cunning, baffling, powerful! Without help it is too much for us. But there is One who has all power--that One is God. May you find Him now!

Half measures availed us nothing. We stood at the turning point. We asked His protection and care with complete abandon.

Here are the steps we took, which are suggested as a program of recovery:

1. We admitted we were powerless over alcohol--that our lives had become unmanageable.
2. Came to believe that a Power greater than ourselves could restore us to sanity.
3. Made a decision to turn our will and our lives over to the care of God as we understood Him.
4. Made a searching and fearless moral inventory of ourselves.
5. Admitted to God, to ourselves, and to another human being the exact nature of our wrongs.
6. Were entirely ready to have God remove all these defects of character.
7. Humbly asked Him to remove our shortcomings.
8. Made a list of all persons we had harmed, and became willing to make amends to them all.
9. Made direct amends to such people wherever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others.
10. Continued to take personal inventory and when we were wrong promptly admitted it.
11. Sought through prayer and meditation to improve our conscious with God as we understood Him, praying only for knowledge of His will for us and the power to carry that out.
12. Having had a spiritual awakening as the result of these steps, we tried to carry this message to alcoholics, and to practice these principles in all our affairs.

Many of us exclaimed, "What an order! I can't go through with it." Do not be discouraged. No one among us has been able to maintain anything like perfect adherence to these principles. We are not saints. The point is that we are willing to grow along spiritual lines. The principles we have set down are guides to progress. We claim spiritual progress rather than spiritual perfection.

Our description of the alcoholic, the chapter to the agnostic, and our personal adventures before and after make clear three pertinent ideas:

That we were alcoholic and could not manage our own lives.

That probably no human power could have relieved our alcoholism.

That God could and would if He were sought.

Letters to the Editor

March 25, 1985

Dear Editor,

We would like to thank everybody in Ozona for their generosity. We think its great the way the town has pulled together to help our daughter, Michele. The money has been a help with the traveling expenses. We also would like to thank people for the nice gifts and cards that have been sent to Michele.

We also thank the Fesco Ramblers and J. Cleo Showboats for the benefit basketball game. (Fesco 77, J. Cleo 70) Thanks to the coaches and score keepers and all the people who helped with the game. $254 dollars was raised and donated to the Michele Marshall fund. Thanks to everybody. We deeply appreciate it.
