Bang! Suddenly Thanksgiving was only a memory and Christmas is upon us. When the cold weather hit sometime in the night Sunday or early Monday morning we all realized that summer is gone, and will probably not rear its head until April or May of next year.

I used to love the fall of the year, however, I have joined the club of "aches and pains," cold weather brings and I am realizing I may not enjoy this winter season as I have in the past.

Our local merchants must have worked through the holiday period getting windows ready and getting things out for the Christmas season. I've never seen so many attractive displays and the new Christmas decorations are so lovely. I can't wait until they are lighted.

We didn't really know if we could close for the holidays Thursday through Sunday, until it was too late for last week's paper. However, we felt it was a well-deserved break. Christmas comes on Wednesday, you know, and I don't know what we will do about that. Guess we'll have to let the pressman decide. Our Christmas ads have arrived, and we'd be glad to have you come by and make a choice. It's much less expensive than buying cards and paying postage, plus you have an audience of over 1700. They are very attractive this year and we have some for all kinds of businesses. We expect the Christmas edition to come out on the 24th, but Heaven only knows if we will make that deadline.

Monday night football was really fun this week. I stayed up until the bitter end to see the Dolphins beat the Bears. After the Bears humiliated the Cowboys so thoroughly, I was glad to see them get their come uppance.

HOW TO RUIN A TOWN WITHOUT EVEN TRYING

*Go to the nearest large town to shop. You'll spend a ton on gas, meals and parking meters, but you'll save a couple of dollars on merchandise.

*Always talk "hard times" complain about business and the depression that's sure to come.

*Make fun of the fire and police departments. They are just out for the glory and pay.

*Knock the city council. This is a must. Every one of the councilmen is just on the council to get a little kickback.

*Stay out of church. You might go Easter and Christmas just to prove to yourself that the clergyman does not know what he's talking about and that everyone there is a hypocrite.

*Buy everything you can out of a discount catalog. These firms are the first to come through with the donations and service to the community.

*Don't support the hometown newspaper. The out-of-town papers and TV are a lot better and contribute much more to the town than the local bugle.

*Spread any story or rumor that is defamatory or uncomplimentary about the town. Never say anything nice about anybody. All kids are delinquents. All businessmen are crooks.

*Above all, always be cynical about anything that is supposed to be good for the community. Your motto should be, "If it's good, it can't happen here."

Holiday fire destroys family dwelling here

A Thanksgiving Day fire totally gutted the Juan Padilla home in the 1200 block of Hereford. Fortunately the family was not at home at the time. Mrs. Padilla and their 23-month old son were visiting relatives in Carrizo Springs, and Padilla was working a holiday shift at the Texaco Plant.

Fire investigators believe the fire started when a sheet draped over a lamp ignited. No one was injured but with the family gone the interior of the three-bedroom house was almost engulfed in flames before it was reported. A passerby noticed the fire and smoke and called the fire department at 7:45 a.m. Crockett County Fire Marshall Steve Kenley estimated the fire had been burning for about 30 minutes before it was reported.

The volunteer fire department was on the scene three minutes after the fire was reported with a pumper truck, two grass fire trucks and 18 men. They fought the blaze for 2½ hours.

The family had almost nothing left. Three closets full of clothes were burned or smoke damaged. Kenley felt some might be salvaged. A vacuum cleaner and silverware survived the heat and smoke.

Memorial service held for Mrs. Holt

Memorial services for Nettie Massie Holt, 83, were held Saturday at 2 p.m. at Ozona United Methodist Church, with the Rev. Ken Harrison, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Holt, of Fallbrook, Calif., died Tuesday, while visiting in San Angelo.

She was the daughter of Robert and Mary Massie, pioneer West Texas ranchers. She was raised in Ozona and San Angelo, and was a graduate of Mary Hardin Baylor College. She was a member of the Methodist Church. She had lived at various times in Ballinger, Paint Rock and Del Rio. She owned dress shops in Del Rio, Farmington, N.M., and Brentwood Village, Calif. She was in the ranching business in Del Rio for a time and had lived in Fallbrook, Calif., and Rosarito Beach, Mexico, for the past 20 years.

Survivors include a son, Robert Massie Hartgrove of McQueeney; one daughter, Joan Holt Williams of Fallbrook, Calif., and three grandsons. The family requests that memorials be made to the West Texas Boys Ranch.

New donations to Christmas fund

Several persons and civic organizations have donated money toward the purchase of Christmas decorations at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Beth Boyd, manager, added Charlie Frazier, the Ozona Woman's League, and the Crockett County Abstract Co. to the list of donors.

Right now the family is living in an apartment with only a stove and refrigerator. They are sleeping on the floor.

Padilla said he expected to talk to the insurance company on Monday, and he will borrow furniture from family and friends until the belongings can be replaced.

A firefighter, checking the house at noon saw the fire was smoldering and called the department back. A grass fire truck and six men responded and doused the fire for about 45 minutes.

"They pretty well lost most of their belongings," Kenley said. "The smoke and heat would be sufficient to make the furniture unsalvageable. They may be able to save 30 percent of their clothes."

Another loss was reported by fire over the weekend. The Tooter Malone home in Sheffield was destroyed by flames. The Malone's daughter, Robbie, was in the mobile home at the time. Smoke crept under her contact lens, awakening her to the danger. She then wrapped herself in a quilt and ran through the flames to safety. Details were sketchy, but reports were that she was only singed.

College admission exams scheduled

High school counselor Jim Williams has announced the dates for the SAT and ACT tests to be given in Ozona.

The SAT and ACT are National College Admissions exams designed to measure a student's verbal and mathematical skills. The ACT also includes testing in science and social studies. These tests are administered in test centers throughout the country. In order to register to take a test, a student must complete and mail a registration form by the set deadline (the postmark date can be no later than the deadline date.)

Ozona Test Center will give the SAT test on Jan. 25, 1986 and the ACT test

Feb. 8, 1986.

Students may pick up the application forms in the counselor's office, read it thoroughly, answer carefully, include a check or money order for the fee, and mail it. Within 2 to 4 weeks, a student should receive notice that he or she is registered to take the test.

When a student goes to the test center, he will need #2 pencils and some form of identification, such as a driver's license. On the registration form for both tests, the high school code must be listed. Ozona High School's code is 445290.

Lion roundballers remain undefeated

By Amy Beth Scoggins

The Ozona Varsity Lions squeezed by the Fort Stockton Panthers on November 26 in Fort Stockton to remain unbeaten thus far in the season.

"I was proud of the way we played on the road," Coach John Curry stated. "The fact that we played well as a visitor is important."

The Lions jumped ahead in the first quarter to lead the Panthers 16 to 9. In the second quarter, the Panthers quickly began to score. The Lions managed to hold their lead and the first half ended with a score of 34 to 33.

The game remained close in the third quarter and ended with the Lions still ahead 50 to 48. The game came to an end with a final score of Ozona, 69, and Fort Stockton, 65.

The Lions sank 11 of their 15 attempted free throws making them 74% accurate from the free throw line.

"We got behind a few times, but we kept playing well," said Curry. "The boys played with confidence. We also had a lot of help off the bench."

Senior, Steve Sanchez was the leading scorer with a total of 22 points. Next was Mike Morrow with 13 points. Harvey Fierro scored 12 points and Mark Marshall and Scott Denman provided six points each.

Bret and Brad Thompson each scored four points and Sam Hightower scored two points. Also playing were Roger Flores, Abel Lara, and Isaias Flores.

The Lions played Reagan County on December 3 at 8:00 p.m. The Ozona Varsity Lions will travel to Crane December 4, 5, and 6 to participate in the Crane Tournament. The Lions will open the tournament on Thursday night playing Kermit at 7:00 p.m.

Meals on Wheels

to resume here

Alleane Sutton has donated a building and will remodel it for the use of serving meals for Helping Hands for the Elderly. Kathy Reavis, chairman of the HH board, expects meal serving to begin February 1.

The building when remodeled will have ample space to serve 20 to 30 guests on the premises. Other meals will be delivered as in the past.

Fall is when the leaves fall and after some 80 degree weather last week some thought fall was a time away. However, after Sunday night there was hardly a leaf remaining on the trees and streets and sidewalks were ankle deep in the golden tones of fall.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Is Texas approaching a budget crunch worse than the deficit narrowly avoided last session by the Legislature?

Deficits seem to be the way of the world these days; even the Vatican has a $50 million deficit and wants the faithful to up their donations.

But Texas taxpayers don't like the idea of hiking their dues, and even though a $456 million windfall from the feds will help when it finally reaches state coffers, a continuing slide in oil and gas revenues may be the indicator of things to come.

Texas is going to need $2 to $3 billion in new revenue sources to maintain spending at current levels, some predict.

Comptroller Bob Bullock warns the only realistic way to raise large amounts of new revenues is a state income tax, and don't mistake that to mean he supports one. He does not.

Look for new taxes to be a fundamental campaign '86 issue, along with the governor's credibility on tax stands.

Money Squabbles

The money's not even in Texas banks yet, and already top officials are privately squabbling over how to spend it.

Some argue it constitutionally belongs in the Permanent School Fund, while others say the Legislature should spend as it sees fit. The governor wants all of it to go to education, as well he might since his tax reforms are pushing up the cost of public education and adding to the expected deficit, but how?

Bullock, who has the job of depositing the money when it arrives, has asked Attorney General Jim Mattox to rule where it belongs.

No-Pass, No-Play

The class-action trial to determine whether the controversial no-pass, no-play reform is kosher was postponed last week to let a special master gather statewide stats on its effect.

Meanwhile, a recent statewide poll indicated Texans overwhelmingly support the reform by 70 percent. However, a similar questioning found that only about 35 percent approve of Gov. Mark White's performance, even though he championed the reform. That discrepancy is liable to be picked apart and studied by politicians for months to come.

Veterans Saved

When the Reagan Administration unveiled its plan to scrap the Texas Veterans Loan Program next year, Land Commissioner Garry Mauro called on the Texas delegation for support.

Last week he thanked them, particularly U.S. Rep. Jake Pickle, for probably saving the program by writing it into the House version of the tax bill.

The Texas veterans program is the only one in the nation, a modern version of the Texas tradition of rewarding its veterans with land. The state now provides loans, not land, and the program will likely be continued.

GOP Switch

The victory couldn't have come at a better time for Pickle, who learned the day before that popular former Austin mayor Carole Keeton Rylander switched to the GOP, probably to run against him.

Rylander was appointed last year to the State Board of Insurance by Gov. White, who tried last week to talk her out of defecting. She will have to resign if she runs.

Word has it that several more top White personnel will leave his service in the coming months. Last week his head of the Texas Department of Community Affairs, Rafael Quintinilla announced he will quit in January for private law practice.

Short Takes

An interesting historical footnote came to light on JFK's assassination date: San Antonio Congressman Henry B. Gonzalez revealed he took photos of the dead president as he lay alone in a Dallas hospital. The camera with its unprocessed film was stolen from his car when he returned to San Antonio, and the record was lost.

The federal census bureau indicated last week that the Midland-Odessa area leads the state with a 37.5 and 25.2 percent growth rate the first part of the '80s.

Letters to the Editor

December 2, 1985

Dear Editor,

I would like to direct this letter to the recent bilingual secretarial position for the Crockett County Probation Office. At this time I'd like to emphasize this is not aimed at the individual who was hired, but instead to those who did the hiring.

This position requires many skills most of them on the job training. One of the most essential skills is to interpret for the Spanish-speaking probationers. The majority of the probationers are Spanish speaking and out of these 50% speak very little English. Since the probation officer is not bilingual, the secretary will need to assist the officer interpret and explain rights and provisions to the probationers.

The county officials must have acknowledged this essential need or they wouldn't have advertised for it. They acknowledged it, but then turned around and hired someone who was not bilingual. Maybe these officials feel another county courthouse bilingual employee can stop whatever he or she is doing and go to the probation office and interpret for them. But doesn't this defeat the purpose of hiring a bilingual secretary? I realize that with all the applications that were submitted for this position, a qualified bilingual person with adequate secretarial skills may have been difficult to obtain, but honestly, I find this line of reasoning hard to believe.

I hope that in the future when county officials advertise to hire employees with specific skills, they will, in reality, hire the appropriate applicant. After all, they claim to be an Equal Opportunity Employer, but realistically that is questionable.

Thank you Kitty for allowing me to express my opinion.

Sincerely,
Angelina A. Tambunga

ODOR IN THE COURT

By Edwin Feulner

Despite its pretentious name and stately quarters in the Hague, the International Court of Justice has spent most of its forty years harmlessly wasting U.S. tax dollars in the grand U.N. manner.

Commonly known as the World Court, the tribunal has on the average rendered fewer than two judgments per year since its inception in 1945 — a number which has been decreasing of late. So impressed are the nations of the world, that of the U.N.'s 159 members, only 45 have granted the Court "automatic" jurisdiction.

Now the goo-gos in Washington are putting heat on the Reagan administration for refusing to place itself at the Court's mercy regarding charges brought against the U.S. by the Communist regime in Nicaragua — that law-abiding bunch of small-D "democrats" that has turned strong-arm government into a high art form.

All that aside, why should the Reagan administration kowtow to the Sandinistas and their U.S. supporters? The World Court's own by-laws unambiguously specify that the court has jurisdiction only when parties to disputes grant the Court jurisdiction. This means that a state cannot be brought before the international tribunal, nor can a default judgment be given against a state, unless it has so agreed.

Indeed, many other nations have told the Court to butt out of their affairs. At one time or another, West Germany, Italy, Ireland, China, India, Iceland and France have told the white-wigs in the Hague to take a powder. The Soviet Union and its satellites have never accepted the Court's jurisdiction.

And there's an especially good reason for the U.S. to take such a stand. The World Court, despite its above-it-all facade, is just as highly politicized and biased as the U.N. itself. All fifteen of the Court's "judges" are chosen by the U.N. General Assembly and Security Council. This, of course, leaves the U.S. and other Western nations to be judged by such nations as Algeria, Poland, Senegal, Nigeria, and the U.S.S.R., whose nationals sit on the Court.

The biggest problem, however, lies in the fact that the World Court, now, as at its inception, threatens the very concept of sovereignty upon which a nation-state exists. Allowing an international body to render decisions binding on the U.S. is something which has been resisted by Americans since the Republic's earliest days — from George Washington's injunction against foreign alliances to the Senate's repudiation of League of Nations membership. For right or wrong, the U.S. and every other nation must be free to make its own decisions, or the concept of sovereignty is meaningless.

The Reagan administration's refusal to allow Nicaragua to use the World Court as an anti-U.S. propaganda outlet is an enlightened decision. Now the justices can sit down on their rocking chairs and get back to work.

was its usual great success. Only those who arrived early went away with the goodies. The food booth, shown here, is always the first to sell out and not a morsel was left.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Now that one of our joyous holidays of the year was observed in Ozona last week, everyone will be looking forward now to the most colorful, merry, and truly meaningful day, Christmas.

Many of you will be giving or receiving trees, shrubs, bulbs, potted plants, and roses for gifts. Maybe a few hints will help in the selection or care of them.

When choosing a cut Christmas tree which will soon be available, remember it will be inside for several days so select one that you know will remain in good condition until the holiday is over. Bend the needles to determine the tree's freshness. They should be supple and springy. If the needles break, the tree is not fresh. Bounce the cut end of the tree on the ground. If more than a few needles fall, the tree is not fresh. Also, feel the bottom of the cut end, the sap should be sticky, not hard and caked. To maintain color and minimize needle fall stand your tree in a deep bucket of water outside as soon as you get it home. Keep in a cool, shaded spot and turn it daily to allow the branches to retain their shape. When the tree is moved indoors, make a fresh cut across the trunk a few inches above the old cut to allow the tree to absorb water.

Place the tree in a suitable container that holds water and add water as necessary to replace moisture. You may want to consider a living tree that can be used later in the landscape, or as a tubbed specimen for the patio or deck. But remember, two weeks should be the maximum time indoors for such plants. Whether you select a narrowleaf or broadleaf evergreen, be sure to choose a tree that is known to grow well in our area.

Long-lasting and bright-colored Kalanchoes are holiday favorites. Available in colors from red to yellow, they have a flowering period that often extends into the spring. They are desert plants, so the dry air inside during winter makes Kalanchoes right at home. Water only when the soil feels dry, and do not mist. Place them in a bright window that receives at least four hours of sun daily. Fertilize monthly with water soluble fertilizer. Light pruning will prevent legginess.

You should drive around our city to see the beautiful nandina berries now at their peak in display and for holiday decorations.

The Joyous Heart

Only from the carefree heart of a child could come such happiness. Or could it? Is it necessary to lose childhood's happy laughter? Must we feel depressed and burdened with the yoke of adult cares? Certainly not! The God-given gifts of joy and happiness are possessions we can and must retain throughout all our years. But how can we keep this wonderful spirit? Here is a formula that is very simple: attend the church of your choice regularly. In God's house you will learn to accept life's burdens — and soon they will be ever so much lighter. His Peace will fill your heart. Here, in fellowship with others, you will receive the needed peace and understanding to reclaim and sustain the merry heart.

Fall is time to add beauty by planting trees

Fall is a beautiful season in many ways and it's the time of the year when you can add to the beauty of your own little "piece of nature."

Fall is easily the most ideal planting season for most ground covers, vines, shrubs and trees, points out Billy Reager, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Here's why.

The most critical aspect of any transplant effort is for the plant to re-establish an effective system of feeder roots before it's subjected to severe stress. By planting in the fall, new plants have several cool, leisurely months during which to proliferate new feeder roots before the rigors of summer heat and drought set in.

In fact, research indicates that planting now will give plants almost a full growing season advantage over planting next spring, says Reager. Furthermore, fall planted materials will have enough feeder root development by spring to be able to effectively use an early spring application of fertilizer for even faster growth.

Fall is also a good time to purchase landscape plants because individual specimens can be rated on the clarity and brilliance of their fall colors.

Finally, nursery and garden center personnel usually have more time now to answer questions and help with specific landscape concerns than during the spring rush.

To get your landscaping project off to a good start, select some authoritative books on do-it-yourself home landscaping. Most homeowners don't realize how large many trees and shrubs can get and, as a result, they plant too many, too close together and thus dwarf the house.

Next, choose tough, low-maintenance, pest-resistant plants that are adapted to local conditions. Smart homeowners will avoid poorly-adapted, troublesome or pest ridden plants so common in today's marketplace. Arizona ash, sycamore, cottonwood, poplar, fruitless mulberry, umbrella tree or chinaberry, silver maple, tree-of-heaven, arborvitae and euonymus fall into this category.

When planting, dig generous holes, backfill with an open, well-drained growing mix, and mulch the soil surface with 6-8 inches of dry grass clippings, leaves, straw or other organic material to moderate soil temperature. Water regularly throughout the fall and winter.

To make your landscaping venture a success, select some authoritative books on do-it-yourself home landscaping. Most homeowners don't realize how large many trees and shrubs can get and, as a result, they plant too many, too close together and thus dwarf the house.

smashing success, remember three things: enlightened planning, proper plant selection and lots of tender loving care.

FFA awards dinner donations

This is the last week to purchase chances for the Grand Champion pen of broilers from the Ozona FFA Project Show. All proceeds will go toward the annual FFA Awards Dinner and preparing judging teams for the spring contests.

This activity is the chapter's main fund-raising activity of the year and much of the chapter's success will depend on the response to these donations. The prize is 3 broilers to be chosen on Saturday, December 7, 1985. These chickens will be 8 weeks old and will average 4 lbs. dressed. The broilers were all fed the same top quality feed and raised inside in an environmentally controlled pen. The tickets are $1 per donation.

Information on purchasing tickets may be received by contacting any FFA member of Richard Bridges, Vocational Agriculture teacher at Ozona High School at 392-3142 or 392-3321.

Harris pickup stolen in San Antone

Tommy and Mary Bess Harris had an unpleasant surprise while in Houston, visiting their son, Brad, over the holiday weekend. Fortunately they had unloaded a stereo-television, a gift for Brad, and their suitcases.

They stopped at the Memorial City Mall and when they returned to find their pickup, it was gone. Mrs. Harris said they had been gone about 30 minutes. The pickup, a new 1986 Silverado belonging to Mr. Harris, had been hot-wired and taken in the space of 30 minutes. The vehicle was locked and the keys were not in it.

All the contents were taken as well. These included both the couple's coats, medicines, down pillows and comfort, and other personal belongings.

The security guard told them this was the second pickup stolen that day. Brad brought them back to Ozona.

EXTENSION OFFICE NEWS

By Rachel Hall

Every year, Americans spend nearly $500 million treating coughs with over-the-counter products. Coughing is the body's way of clearing passages and should not be suppressed without a good reason.

There are two basic classifications of coughs: acute, where the cough is severe and temporary; and chronic, in which there is a slow-building and long-lasting cough.

Acute coughing is usually caused by a viral infection, such as a cold or flu, and is prompted by mucus drainage into the throat. Acute coughing can also be the result of inflammations of the voice box (laryngitis) or the lower major airways (tracheobronchitis).

Chronic coughing is commonly a result of smoking, although allergies and rhinitis (an inflammation of membranes in the nose) may also cause it. Dry coughs with little or no secretion should receive medical attention. Over-the-counter remedies are seldom effective with chronic coughs.

For acute coughs with a cold or flu, honey or hard candy may be as effective as commercial cough drops. Sipping warm liquids might also be helpful. Non-prescription expectorants are generally ineffective, but those with drug quafenesin or dextromethorphan may be useful.

The most effective cough suppressing drugs and codeine and hydrocodone, but they require a doctor's prescription. The preceding information came from the Texas Medical Association.

Lung cancer death decrease for young men

Lung cancer death rates are steadily decreasing in young Texas men, according to an article in the scientific journal Texas Medicine.

During the period 1970-1983, there was an 18.8 percent decrease in lung cancer deaths among white men aged 35-44 and a 39 percent decrease in black men of the same age. Fewer cigarette smokers have contributed to these decreases.

The article, written by Dr. Guy Newell, Dr. David T. Carr, and H. Keith Lynch, appears in the September issue of the Texas Medical Association Journal. The authors are all with the Division of Medicine at The University of Texas MD Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, Houston.

Differences occur when comparing the lung cancer death rates among white and black men of Texas aged 45-54. Over the 14-year period studied, there was a 14.4 percent decline in the number of deaths among white men, while the incidence of death among black men rose 10.3 percent. In both white and black men, the rate of death due to lung cancer increased in those aged 54-65. The authors note the increase was slower for white men and that this may mean a downturn in lung cancer deaths among white men aged 54-65 during the next five years. They add that it is reasonable to expect similar decreases among black men.

The article also mentions a reduction in lung cancer death rates among white men aged 35-44 in the US as a whole from 1969-1979. In addition, in 1964 slightly more than 50 percent of men were regular smokers, while in 1979 the prevalence of smoking among men was 37%.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Warren Friend and children of McAllen, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenny McMullan and children of Iraan, spent the Thanksgiving holidays here on the ranch with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Joe Friend.

New vaccine prevents meningitis in children

A new vaccine prevents children between the ages of two and five years from developing meningitis and other diseases caused by Haemophilus influenzae, type B bacteria (HIB). This childhood disease vaccine is the first new immunization recommended for use in children over 18 months, according to the Texas Medical Association.

Meningitis is a contagious infection of the membranes that cover the brain and spinal cord.

Nationally, about 10,000 children under the age of five develop meningitis from HIB each year. Most cases of bacterial meningitis are detected early, and recovery is complete, but between 5 and 10 percent of meningitis cases are fatal.

Symptoms of meningitis in a child include fever, intense headache, nausea, and often vomiting. The child's neck is held stiffly, or even arched backwards, and attempts to bend the head forward will be resisted. The child becomes unusually quiet and withdrawn, and turns away or tries to shield the eyes from bright lights.

The bacteria that cause meningitis live in children's mouths and noses. They are spread through droplets, like colds, but most people exposed to the bacteria will not develop the disease.

Only about one child out of every 200 exposed to meningitis during the first five years of life will become sick. The rest develop a natural immunity to the disease, but there is no way of telling beforehand who will get sick and who will become immune.

That is why the new vaccine has become so important. It is the first time physicians have been able to gain some control of this condition.

The only serious limitation of the vaccine is that it is ineffective in children under the age of 18 months.

New vaccines to protect this age group are being developed. In the meantime, vaccines for all two-to five-year-olds are recommended.

Freshman boys suffer Comstock loss

By Amy Beth Scoggins

On November 26, the Ozona Freshmen boys team journeyed to Comstock to take on Comstock's varsity boys with the Panthers coming out on top.

"We didn't move the ball as well as we should have," said Coach Gene Hood. "We had some early foul trouble, but the defense provided good pressure."

Comstock led at the end of the first quarter by a score of 13 to four. The Lions managed to shorten the Panther's lead in the second quarter and the first half ended with Comstock ahead 24 to 16.

The Lions came out in the third quarter and kept the Panthers from putting more than an additional seven points on the scoreboard. Ozona added on 12 points and the score was now Comstock 31, Ozona 28.

Despite the Lions' efforts, they were unable to hold Comstock's varsity and the Panthers won the game 51 to 40.

The freshmen Lions kept 35% accuracy in free throws sinking six of the 17 attempts.

Leading in scoring was Javier Martinez. Robbie Tambunga scored nine points, and seven points were provided by Landon Duncan.

Wolv Rutherford scored four points while Oscar Galindo, Copie Davis, Ed Calvert, and Luis Perez each scored two points. Harvey Dominguez also provided one point.

Other team members are Johnny Mendez and Jose Gutierrez.

"I thought the boys played well against a varsity team," said Hood.

The freshmen boy's team and the freshmen girl's team will play Big Lake December 5, in Davidson Memorial Gymnasium.

Ozona's defense held the Pantherettes in the third quarter allowing them to score only six points and the quarter ended with the Lady Lions still leading 51 to 20. In the fourth quarter the Lady Lions kept their lead and went on to win the game adding 17 more points to their score and allowing the Pantherettes to score only seven additional points.

"We did several things much better," said Coach Rhonda Yarborough. "Six of the twelve girls who played shot better than 50% from the floor. This is a big improvement for us."

The Lady Lions maintained 33%

accuracy from the free throw line sinking six of the 18 attempted free throws.

Julie and Vickie Reagor scored 14 points each and Stacy Lay provided 12 points. Zelda Munoz scored ten points and nine points were scored by Lydia Pena.

The Panthers managed to stretch their lead slightly in the fourth quarter. The game ended with Fort Stockton winning 43 to 37.

Remind Your Crew to Play it Safe Around Electricity.

Don't leave lights unattended.

Never leave your Christmas tree lights or outdoor decorative lights unattended. Be sure to unplug them when you go to bed or leave the house. Another wise safety precaution is to check all outdoor and tree lights BEFORE you decorate. Discard strands with frayed wiring and replace burned out bulbs.

Avoid hanging ornaments on lights.

Make sure paper ornaments and tinsel do not touch light bulbs. Also, never adjust outdoor or tree lights while they are turned on or connected to a power circuit. Always use a wooden ladder or a metal one with rubber-tipped legs when installing outdoor lights. Be sure to stand on a dry surface.

Never overload circuits.

Avoid overloading electrical wiring by using more than one circuit for your Christmas tree lights. Use heavy-duty extension cords to run to other circuits.

Look for the U.L. seal of approval.

Only buy lights that have been checked for safety. The Underwriter's Laboratory's seal of approval is your guarantee that lights and wiring have been properly safety checked.

Congressional budget plan like prescribing aspirin for tumor

By Cesar V. Conda

A sigh of relief could be heard from people across this nation when the House and Senate finally agreed on a budget plan for fiscal year 1986. Some politicians have scurried home to their districts declaring to their constituents that the budget plan has "solved the deficit problem and put the American economy back on the road to sustained economic growth."

But upon close inspection, the budget really doesn't do much of either.

While we should be thankful that Congress avoided balancing the budget on the backs of the American people with tax increases, we should not celebrate the fact that we will be saddled with deficits of historic proportions for the foreseeable future. The budget plan just won't achieve its goal of cutting the Federal deficit by $56 billion next year and $277 billion over the next three years.

Why? First of all, the plan exempts almost one-third of the budget from any spending restraint. It contains no changes in cost-of-living adjustments (COLAs) for Social Security and other entitlement programs, and automatic COLAs have been one of the driving forces behind the explosion of government spending in recent years. The government would have saved about $30 billion over three years from a one-year COLA freeze which would not have caused any great pain.

Senate Republicans put forth a courageous budget proposal that incorporated a one-year COLA freeze, several program terminations and substantive domestic reductions that would have saved $295 billion over three years, bringing deficits under $100 billion by 1988. However, with the leadership of both parties in the House and the White House united in opposition to a Social Security COLA freeze, the senators were forced to back down.

The compromise budget plan also rejects most of the deep program cuts and terminations proposed in the original Senate budget plan and substitutes mild freezes and reductions. In fact, many of the domestic reductions are illusory cutbacks and speculative managerial changes rather than "hard" programmatic cuts in government spending. For example, the budget resolution:

*Assumes $4 billion in "savings" by counting four years worth of already-counted off-shore oil lease income into one year.

*Assumes $6 billion saved over three years from federal management and workforce reforms. These unspecified "reforms" are not "hard" programmatic cuts in government spending and thus will be difficult to realize.

*Proposes 20 percent reductions in Urban Development Grants, Appalachian Regional Development and the Economic Development Administration. But they aren't "reconciled" or enforced by the Congressional rules and spending committees do not have to comply with them.

*Terminate revenue sharing in 1987 but this recommendation will be difficult to achieve because the resolution's outyear targets are nonbinding and Congress can simply restore the program next year.

In fact, the compromise budget resolution is primarily a substantial defense cut combined with a variety of illusory nondefense domestic reductions. The Congressional Budget Office estimates that the plan will reduce the FY 86 budget by only $39 billion instead of $56 billion and that deficits will remain, at the very least, in the $150 to $160 billion range for the foreseeable future.

The American public must press their legislators to cut spending during the appropriations process. The president must be ready to veto spending bills that substantially exceed his own budget request. And finally, the budget process itself must be strengthened with modifications such as the line-item veto to instill a much needed dose of fiscal discipline.

In sum, the recently passed budget isn't the worst budget that Congress could have passed. A budget with a major tax increase would have been a recipe for economic disaster.

The budget cuts just don't go far enough. Like prescribing aspirin for a brain tumor--it just won't do the job--and it seems that the American people deserve better treatment for the deadly federal deficit.

Conjunctivitis is common in childhood

Conjunctivitis, commonly known as "pink eye" is an inflammation of the lining of the inside of the eyelids and the white part of the eye. Adults are susceptible to the condition but it is usually a childhood disorder.

Conjunctivitis can be caused by an allergy or by an infection due to bacteria or viruses, according to the Texas Medical Association. An infection often comes from contaminated fingers, towels, handkerchiefs, or wash cloths that touch the eye.

In all cases of infectious conjunctivitis, the white part of the eye turns red and feels gritty. There is then a discharge of yellow pus from the eye which forms a crust overnight. Bacterial infection usually occurs in both eyes and produces a marked discharge, whereas viral infection is usually limited to one eye and causes a slight discharge.

Allergic conjunctivitis is caused by an allergy to pollen, cosmetics, or other substances. The eye is usually red and itchy, without any discharge of pus.

Conjunctivitis is quite common. It is a troublesome disorder but, usually it is not serious.

If a person has conjunctivitis, the eyes should be kept very clean. Try to prevent the child from rubbing the eyes with dirty hands or a soiled handkerchief; both might produce more damage to the eyes. A towel moistened with warm water can be placed over the closed eyelids to help clean the dried secretion from the eyelids and make it easier for the eyes to be opened.

In most cases, conjunctivitis clears within a week, but it is best to seek the help of a physician who can treat the condition with special antibiotic ointments and/or eyedrops. This is especially important if there is pain, decreased vision, or failure to improve by the third day. Medications should be used only under the direct supervision and instruction of a physician.

Immunization keep diseases in check

Largely because of advances in immunizations, many childhood diseases that used to cause serious illness and often death are now much less common, according to the Texas Medical Association.

Recently, a nationwide shortage of the diphtheria-tetanus-pertussis vaccine has brought about renewed interest in immunizations.

Lawsuits against drug companies whose vaccines have caused an occasional serious reaction have prompted at least two to stop vaccine production, causing the temporary shortage. Some parents who hear about child deaths from vaccines may decide to avoid them. But TMA notes that serious reactions are infrequent and that immunizations continue to play a primary role in reducing illness and death at an early age.

In 1950, 2,778 Texans were struck with a disease that permanently changed their lives. Today, some children may not even know what polio is. That's because since 1955, Texans have been vaccinated against this disease.

In the 20-year period from 1963 to 1983, there were 185 cases of poliomyelitis, 7 percent of all the cases reported in 1950. Polio and other diseases have been brought under control with vaccines. Smallpox has been wiped out.

Certain people, however, stand a greater chance of having a negative reaction to certain live-virus vaccines and should avoid them. At risk are premature babies, persons being treated for cancer, and those with immune-deficiency disease since birth.

Still, not only should most children receive vaccinations, but adults also should keep their immunizations current. A physician can advise you on this.

A pamphlet, "Immunizations--Investing in a Healthy Future," can be obtained by writing the Texas Medical Association, Communication Department.

Christmas without the tinsel

By Charles Huffman, Pastor
Faith & Hope Lutheran Churches
Ozona & Sonora

Read: 1 Corinthians 2:1-5
Lest the cross of Christ be emptied of its power-1 Cor. 1:17

Suppose we made no outward preparations for Christmas at all-no tree, no lights, tinsel, bells, wreaths, manger, angels, shepherds, wise men, no children's program, no gifts or toys, no cookies and treats, no visit to grandmother's. How would your family react to this?

Is the Christmas truth strong enough to give us a joyous Christmas, if all these outward observances and customs were stripped away? Would a contemplation of God's overflowing love provide us with a completely happy Christmas?

It might be good for each one of us to be alone for a while and meditate on the Christmas truth. We could do this also in our family group, in our prayer & Bible study groups, in our society group meetings in our congregations. We could turn our attention away from all the excitement of this season and take a long, honest look at the plain truth of Christmas-the love of God that compelled Him to come down to us.

Actually, we should not strip Christmas of all these ceremonies and celebrations. But somewhere through the season we should take a good look at the real gift-God's Gift. In the manger lies our only hope of salvation. Through the coming of the Holy Child we have been reconciled to God. His coming has opened for us the doors of heaven.

The angel that barred the way to paradise after our first parents fell into sin guards the gate no more. The enmity that separated us from God has been resolved. We can come to God as our loving Father through the atoning work of Jesus. So, let's open our hearts to Jesus and let Him in.

Crockett County Care Center News

By Ann McCartney
 Director of Activities & Social Care

December has arrived and it looks as though it will be its usual busy self. The weather may slow down our going out but we still have plenty else going on.

We began last week with bingo on Monday so that our ladies could get their hair fixed on Tuesday for Thanksgiving. This was followed by a program given by Joan Nicholas on her travels in England. (Thanks, Joan, it was great!)

That afternoon we had "Pauline's Music" which included solo's by Pauline, a style show of hats by all our residents and musical entertainment on the fiddle, banjo, and guitar by J. McCartney and Randy Kilpatrick. (Thanks for helping us out, guys!)

Beauty shop workers included Ale-na Faye Hokit, Jo Ann Williamson, and Clara Byrd.

Tuesday afternoon our residents who wanted to went over to see the pretties at the Civic Center sponsored by the League Bazaar. Since we go to look and not buy, this nice group always lets us go early and we really appreciate this. Residents going included: Juana Hernandez, Tomasa Ramoz, Pauline Clinton, Jean Beardmore, Bertha Miller, Hilda Dysart, Ola Mills, Inez Biggs, Doris Robnett, Moriamia Perez, Edna Wallace, and Phil Schneemann. Volunteers helping with this project included: Nancy Forehand, Sharon Forehand, Jo Davidson, and several of our sitters.

Following this activity, Jo and I got the van out and made two runs around town to see the fall leaves with the following residents: Bertha Miller, (and her sitter Elvira Martinez), Pearl Morris, Juana Hernandez, Pauline Clinton, Hilda Dysart, Emma Taylor, and Inez Biggs.

Thanks also goes to Jo Davidson for coming for dinner on Thanksgiving, decorating the tables with tableclothes, napkins, and a centerpiece so our residents could all have a fancy Thanksgiving dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Perez brought three dozen cookies for our residents to have for Thanksgiving dinner also. Thanks, friends.

Further thanks goes to Jo Davidson and to James Pierson of Perry Brothers for furnishing some new fish for our aquarium.

Perry Brothers also was our fifth Friday donor for our first place bingo winner this week. Tomasa Ramoz was our lucky winner. Bertha Miller won second, Emma Taylor won the certificate for two dinners from El Chato's, and Jesus Hernandez won the Baker Jewelers certificate. Volunteers included Bonnie Warth, Elodia Zapata, Alice Ross, Lelia Tambunga, Anna Bell Patrick, Mattie Cooper and Dorothy Doll.

The Knox Band played for our residents this week. Jamie Knox, J. D. Kilgore, and Don Kilgore gave our residents a fine performance.

During ceramics this week we laughed that all our volunteers were home baking turkeys and so there wasn't anybody here but "us chickens." Residents coming down to paint included: Tomasa Ramoz, Hilda Dysart, Nina Mayfield, Alice Ross, Ola Mills, and Moriamia Perez.

Katharine Russell played the piano for our residents enjoyment on Wednesday afternoon.

Friday afternoon Elvira Martinez brought her granddaughters Mary Angela Sedeno, age 8, and Rosemary Flores, age 9, to give our residents a delightful dance program. Angela is from San Angelo and holds over 21 local, state, and national titles in beauty, modeling, and talent pageants. Rosemary is from Lubbock and she, too, has won some 14 titles in local, area, state, and national competition. Grandma has a reason to be proud and we really appreciate her bringing the girls for us to see. Others accompanying the group included Mary Jane Flores, Mary Frances Lower Clearfork gas production was re-opened in the Tippett multipay field of Crockett County with completion of Shell Western Exploration & Production Inc., Houston, No. 3 Cowden "37", 27/8 miles west of the depleted opener and nine miles south of McCamey, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 235,000 cubic feet of dry gas daily.

Production was through perforations at 4,291-459 feet, which had been acidized with 8,976 gallons and fractured with 1,610 barrels.

The following tops were picked on ground elevation of 2,246 feet: Yates, 770 feet; Seven Rivers, 890 feet; San Andres, 1,641 feet; Glorieta, 2,150 feet; lower Clearfork, 4,291 feet; and lower Leonard 4,500 feet.

Drilled to 4,652 feet, with 5 1/2-inch casing set at 4,650 feet, it is plugged back to 4,530 feet.

Location is 660 feet from the northwest and 9,400 feet from the northeast lines of 37-31-H&TC.

Music is for everyone to be presented in Sonora

A series of concerts, "Music is for Everyone", is being presented by the blind concert pianist-composer, Don Lardie. The concert under the above theme to be held in Sonora, Saturday, Dec. 7, at 7 p.m. at the Sonora High School Auditorium has already been enjoyed by audiences in Goldthwaite and Kerrville.

This concert will feature original compositions in the classical vein written by Mr. Lardie since he lost his sight in an accident five years ago. A unique feature of this series is that they will all be "open concerts", and no admission charge will be required. "The reason for this," Lardie says, "is that many persons who are on fixed incomes or have limited financial resources are seldom able to avail themselves of musical experiences." He further said that "those who attend and who desire to contribute toward the expenses of such concerts will be able to make a donation while in attendance."

One aspect of Mr. Lardie's concerts that has been well received is that he gives a running commentary throughout the presentation to acquaint the listeners with the origin and inspiration of these compositions. Up to this point, Lardie has composed ten major piano sonatas, assorted geographic or national pieces, nocturnes, waltzes and preludes. Critics have described his music as being typical of early baroque as well as reminiscent of the romantic composers such as Brahms, Schumann and Rachmaninoff.

"A real source of joy to me," Lardie said, "is having three hymns accepted and published, which I composed, in a book of completely original religious songs or hymns that is being distributed world wide, translated into scores of languages, and used in some 50,000 congregations throughout the world."

Mr. Lardie has taught and performed in Texas, Michigan, New York and in Scandinavia. He is presently teaching in Sonora, where he also resides. "Many persons do not realize why they prefer one type of music over another, and we will explore the reasons for this as well as encourage musical awareness in the concert presentation in Sonora," Lardie said.
