New system to benefit Ozonans

A new computerized system which increases accuracy and speeds dispatch of telephone repair personnel—it's just one of the enhancements General Telephone has added in the past 12 months to benefit Concho Valley customers, including those in Ozona.

"We call it 'Trouble Administration System'," said GTE General Manager E.O. Cambern. The new unit has replaced paper forms with an electronic record-keeping system, which means more convenience and speed for the customer who needs his telephone repaired.

Installation of new long distance equipment during 1985 in Ozona meant local customers could dial 1 plus or 0 plus long-distance calls. International Direct Distance Dialing (IDDD) also became available. IDDD makes it possible to direct calls to many foreign countries. Consult the front pages of your phone directory for details.

At the onset of 1986, General Telephone was providing nearly 1,700 telephone access lines to businesses and residences in Ozona, as well as 25 public coin telephones.

GTE continues to offer the convenience of a local service agency at the House of Flowers. At this location customers may initiate, expand, or discontinue telephone service, as well as pay telephone bills.

"Our goal is to continue to provide Ozona with the best possible service in 1986," concluded Cambern. "We look forward to continuing a good working relationship with our customers here."

Training session here for Dist. 6

The District 6 Texas Extension Homemakers Association (TEHA) met Thursday, January 23, at the Ozona Civic Center. Forty-two Extension homemakers and county Extension agents from fourteen Far West Texas Counties attended the training meeting.

Carolyn Hunter, District TEHA Chairman, from Ward County, presided and gave training to the Extension homemakers. Topics reviewed included: 4-H scholarships, club membership in the district, TEHA contributions, delegates for April meeting, program ideas, and TEHA chairman duties. The District 6 Spring TEHA meeting will be April 3, 1986 in Rankin.

The local Progressive Extension Homemaker Club and Crockett Heights Extension Homemaker Club hosted the meeting and noon lunch. Local members who attended training or helped serve lunch included: Polly Mayes, Tina Moran, Hazel Storms, Marilyn Chalmers, Goldia Kilgore, Nancy Hale, and Joyce Young. Polly Mayes is the Crockett County TEHA Chairman.

All instructional material is provided free of charge, and anyone who is at least seventeen years old and out of school is eligible to attend.

Interested participants may call Ms. Kathy Grendahl, program instructor, at 392-2843 if more information is needed.

Property taxes are delinquent after Feb. 1

On Feb. 1, most of the unpaid property taxes in Texas become delinquent property taxes.

"It pays to pay property taxes on time," said Ron Patterson, executive director of the State Property Tax

Board. "Delinquent taxpayers must pay additional penalty and interest charges, and they run the risk of lawsuits, clouded land titles, and even seizure and sale of their property if they make no effort to pay."

Patterson emphasized that even property owners who do not receive bills must still pay their property taxes on time or else face additional delinquent charges. "Texas law states that failure to receive a tax bill does not relieve the taxpayer of his responsibility for paying property taxes on time," he explained.

Most taxing units mail tax bills in October or November with a delinquency date of Feb. 1. "If Feb. 1 is drawing near and a taxpayer has not yet received a tax bill," Patterson advised, "he should contact the local appraisal district or taxing units to find out how much tax he owes and to make sure the correct name and address information is on record."

In most cases, property taxes that remain unpaid on Feb. 1 are considered delinquent. The delinquency date is postponed for tax bills that are mailed after Jan. 10. Special payment plans offered by some taxing units also result in later delinquency dates.

In all cases, the delinquency date will appear on the tax bill. All taxpayers must be given at least 21 days to pay after their bills are mailed before their taxes become delinquent. By paying before Feb. 1, the taxpayer avoids penalty and interest charges. Regular penalty charges can go as high as 12 percent, and interest is charged at the rate of one percent per month. "For example," said Patterson, "someone who pays taxes a year late will have to pay the original amount plus an additional 24 percent in penalty and interest."

Taxing units that hire outside attorneys to collect their delinquent taxes can charge an additional 15 percent penalty for attorney's fees. Tax collectors notify delinquent taxpayers at least once. Many collectors send additional notices and warning letters. "By responding to these warnings and paying their bills, taxpayers can avoid the expense of a delinquent tax suit and the risk of losing their property to pay the overdue taxes," said Patterson.

State law protects homeowners age 65 and over from tax suits and seizure of their homes. By filing a "tax deferral affidavit" with the appraisal district, an elderly homeowner can

Filing deadline near for Democratic primary

Aspirants for places on the ballot in the May 3, Democratic Primary, have until next Monday to file their candidacy with County Judge A.O. Fields.

Absentee voting for the primary will begin April 14, in the clerk's office and continue through April 29.

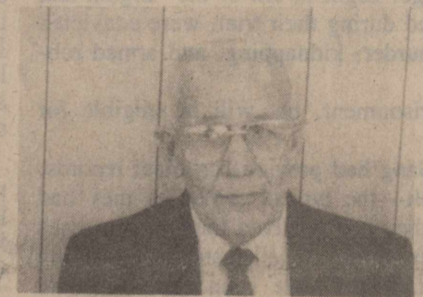

County Judge A.O. Fields has filed for re-election to that post and has no opposition so far. Raymond Davee has filed for re-election to the post of Justice of the Peace, and has drawn for an opponent former County/District Clerk David Weant.

Both commissioners, Precinct 2 and 4, have filed for re-election and drawn opponents. B.W. Stuart, Commissioner Precinct 2, will face Jerry Hill in his bid for another term. Chuey Castro, [Continued on pg. 8]

Davee asks re election to post of Justice of the Peace

Raymond H. Davee has authorized The Ozona Stockman to announce his candidacy for Justice of the Peace, subject to the Democratic Primary in May.

RAYMOND DAVEE

Judge Davee spent 30 years with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Service, as a game warden, retiring from that position in October of 1983, when he was appointed Justice of the Peace. He ran for the unexpired term and was elected without opposition in the next primary.

In making his announcement, Davee said "I am presently Justice of the Peace and County Veterans Service Officer, a position I have held for the past two and a half years. If elected, I will continue my services to Crockett County and the people of this county to the best of my ability," Davee concluded.

He assures voters their support and vote will be greatly appreciated in the May Primary.

David Weant announces for Justice of Peace post

David Weant, former Crockett County-District Clerk, has filed for election to the post of Justice of the Peace and authorized The Ozona Stockman to make this announcement, subject to action of the Democratic Primary in May.

DAVID WEANT

Weant feels his prior service in county office shows his qualifications for the job, and he asks the support and vote of all for the office. The 30-year-old former clerk resigned, when outside interests kept him from his elected job. Weant says anyone with a public service office needs to spend at least 40 hours per week in that capacity.

Weant was largely responsible for updating and modernizing the clerk's office. While in office he served as county and district leader for the County and District Clerks Association, and served as area director for the western part of the state.

While in office he was in Austin to testify for the election and parks and wildlife changes, for committee woman Susan McBee.

He has attended many schools and seminars having to do with the county judicial system.

Weant presently owns and operates Whitehouse Gulf.

Dr. Sessom files for trustee in school board election

Dr. Steve Sessom has filed for a place on the ballot for school board trustee and authorized The Ozona Stockman to make his announcement, subject to the election April 5.

STEVE SESSOM

Dr. Sessom has a vital interest in education, having two daughters in the Ozona School System, Staci 9 and Stormi, 6. He grew up in an atmosphere which stressed education, both parents being teachers. He feels the school is the pride of the community and he would like to be a part of the local system and see it continue to improve.

Dr. Sessom has continued his education and does so even now. A native of San Marcos, and a graduate of Southwest Texas State University and the University of Texas Dental Branch in Houston, he has taken continuing education courses annually. He recently finished a course qualifying him as an orthodontist, making it unnecessary for Ozonans to travel long distances to have their children's teeth straightened. He also recently received his fellowship in the prestigious Academy of General Dentistry.

He came here in February of 1976 and bought the dental practice where he is now located. He is a past president and present president of the Ozona Chamber of Commerce. He and his family are members of the First Baptist Church where he is teaching a Master Life Course.

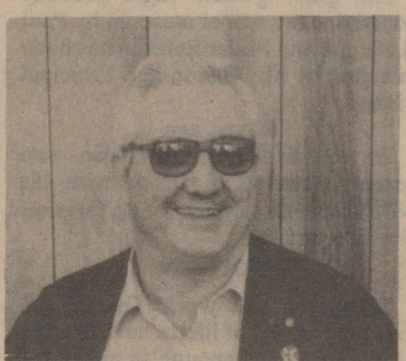

Dr. Sessom's wife, Jodie, is part-owner of The Teacher Store and active in civic and church work.

Dr. Sessom feels an interest in education and children is a very important part of being a school board member. He feels good about the administration in the present school system and feels it is on the right track. He wants to be a part of future improvement.

He will appreciate the vote and support of all those interested in education.

Hill is candidate in Prec. 2 for County Commissioner

Jerry Hill has authorized The Ozona Stockman to announce his candidacy for commissioner, Precinct 2, subject to the Democratic Primary in May, 1986.

JERRY HILL

The candidate has been an Ozona resident since 1971 and has lived in precinct 2 for 11 years.

He has been active in civic work having been a member of Ozona Fire Department for 8 years, and is past president of Ozona Chamber of Commerce and at present a Board member of Helping Hands for the Elderly and Senior Citizens.

"If elected I will work for the entire county" said Hill. "I will be available to meet with anyone about their concerns in the middle of town all week at Western Auto, which I own". "All votes and help will be appreciated," said Hill.

He and his wife Janet are the parents of three grown children.

Annual C of C Banquet is tomorrow at Civic Center

The Ozona Chamber of Commerce 22nd Annual Banquet will be held tomorrow evening at the Civic Center, Jan. 30, with registration in the foyer between the hours of 6:30 and 7:00.

The invocation will be given by Rev. Jim Gray, pastor of First Baptist Church in Ozona, and the meal will be served at 7 p.m.

Dr. Steve Sessom, who served as chamber president in 1982 and 1983, was appointed to the presidency upon the resignation of Stan Lambert. He was recently elected to another term as president and will act as master of ceremonies tomorrow night.

After the welcome and introduction of guests, Dr. Sessom will recognize the outgoing directors, Frank White, Betty Perry and Johnny Childress. The new board of directors will be introduced. Holdover directors are Sessom, Sandra Childress, Garland Davis, J.D. Brown, Fred Deaton, Bobby Aycock, Vince Huffman, Ken Harrison, Brock Jones and Jim Marks. Newly elected directors include J.B.

Miller, Scotty Moore, Drake McKinney, Dan Pullen and Carol Hunnicutt.

Recently elected officers include Sessom, president; Aycock, first vice-president; Fred Deaton, second vice-president and Sandra Childress, secretary-treasurer.

Sessom will introduce office manager Beth Boyd before introducing the speaker for the evening, Billie Scott.

Mrs. Scott was born and reared in West Texas, and is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University. She will present a Sesquicentennial program entitled "A Tribute", which is an insight into the lives of the pioneer women of Texas.

Following Mrs. Scott's presentation, the awards program will be held. These include Citizen of the Year, Young Citizen's Award, organization of the year and unsung hero.

Last year these awards went to Jonesy Williams, jointly to Gary Davis and Susan Scott, the Emergency Medical Service and to Sam Martinez, respectively.

MURDER ON 8TH & H

By Edwin Feulner

Catherine Fuller was born on Christmas Day. She was married on Christmas Day. The 99-pound mother of six met her grizzly end on October 1, 1984. The killers were recently convicted. But, the story is hardly over.

On her way home from the pharmacy that drizzly, gray day, Mrs. Fuller was dragged into an alley near Eighth and H Streets in northeast Washington, where she was subsequently raped and tortured in ways too revolting to describe on the printed page. Eight of ten of the "Eighth and H Gang," as the murderers were dubbed during their trial, were convicted one week before Christmas 1985 of murder, kidnapping, and armed robbery.

They were sentenced to life imprisonment, but will be eligible for parole in 20 years.

At least six of the Eighth and H Gang had previous criminal records, ranging from armed robbery to assault—the typical sentences they had previously received was probation. If they had received tougher sentences before, some of them would have been sitting in jail instead of roaming the streets, and Catherine Fuller would still have been alive to share another holiday season with her family.

The Eighth and H Gang, ranging in age from 17 to 26, were already career criminals. This is not an unusual phenomenon, for there is little incentive in the criminal justice system to discourage repeat crime. A recent New York City Police Department study of 235 career robbery specialists who had been operating throughout the past decade, found that they averaged 12 previous arrests, 7 of them for felonies. But the average aggregate time served for those 12 arrests was less than three months.

The January 8 Washington newspapers gave another example of the all-too-familiar scenario: a suburban Maryland woman was abducted from a shopping mall, raped, then thrown from a bridge into a frigid river bound and gagged. Miraculously, she survived. The prime suspect was identified in hours: a parolee, whose sentence on sex and drug offenses should have had him behind bars for at least another two years.

The story is the same in most big cities, especially when the repeat criminal is a juvenile, as the Justice Department's juvenile justice expert, Alfred Regnery, pointed out in a fall Policy Review article.

It is possible today to literally get away with murder. While the Eighth and H Gang counts time until parole, Catherine Fuller's children will grow up without a mother to care for them when sick, counsel them when troubled, or cheer them on when they are doing well.

Twenty years of finding excuses for hard-core criminality has bred an era where no one, no matter where they are, rich or poor, young or old, is safe.

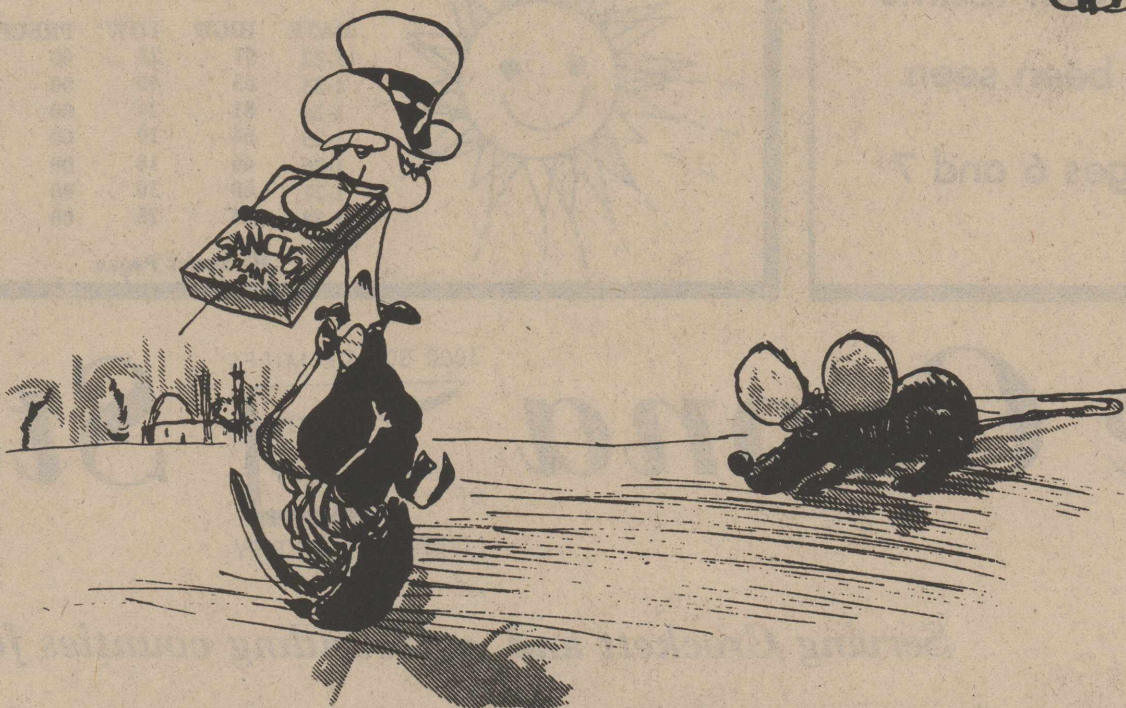

The only logical solution, or possibility of one, involves swift and sure punishment. One known way to cut crime is to give repeat felons mandatory sentences—no parole, no time off. As for the kind of heinous actions of the sort committed against Catherine Fuller, there is only one just retribution, and that is death.

A January 1985 Gallup poll showed nearly three-quarters of the American people favor the death penalty for murder.

Although execution cannot match the loss suffered by the victims and their families, it at least eliminates those who most seriously threaten society, and may also serve as a deterrent.

When asked by the prosecution what, if anything, Catherine Fuller said while the brutal gang inflicted agony upon her, one of the murderers mumbled, "Stop."

We do not yet know where such animals come from, but when they are caught, we must insist that the courts dispense punishment that will do what Catherine Fuller cried out for: force them to stop. Permanently.

"KEEP UP YOUR NONSENSE, KHADAFI, AND NEXT TIME, I'LL TAKE DRASTIC ACTION."

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Crude oil's price slide on the world market last week had state government leaders worried about the Texas economy, but Texas Gov. Mark White's re-election campaign felt slippage on another front.

Leaders of the state's second largest teacher group called on their 45,000 members to vote against Mark White after his remarks favoring drug tests of teachers.

White immediately issued a statement saying there was no drug problem among teachers, but the damage had already been done. Teachers worked to elect White in '82, but a number of issues he favored in the Legislature have caused him to lose some support, a crucial amount that pollsters wish they could determine.

Meanwhile, The Quorum Report, a political newsletter, released their poll results which indicated White would beat both Bill Clements (58-42) and Tom Loeffler (52-48) but lose to Kent Hance (45-55) if the election were held in January.

Clements, however, is given a solid name ID lead in the four major media markets which produce most Republican primary voters.

In A Nutshell

The news breaking around the Capitol complex last week covered lots of different ground, but the highlights included:

- A scrutiny of state government's "air force" reported that more than $10 million in tax money supports some 35 state planes and nine helicopters, more than the Honduran Air Force.

- One knuckle-rapping report alleged that Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower flew himself and five staffers in his state plane to Amarillo to see the movie "Country," at a cost of about $4,800.

- A Republican switched to the Democratic Party to run for governor, San Antonian contractor Bobby Locke, who twice won a GOP congressional nomination there, planned to start his campaign when he crossed a Houston marathon run finish line.

- Texas Republican Party chairman George Strake surprised everyone last week by opining that GOP state Sen. Buster Brown was not eligible to run for attorney general this year. Brown's challenge of that issue is in the Texas Supreme Court.

- The Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan wore his hood at a Capitol steps announcement of his write-in candidacy for governor. Later he stood on an Austin highway and waved to passing cars; one reportedly tried to run him down.

- The Capitol's new Goddess of Liberty statue will be forged out of recycled aluminum cans.

- A spokesman for the Panhandle "white oil" operators, Ron Slover of Amarillo, said he has given up his idea of running for governor, but urged producers to ignore a recent Railroad Commission directive on crude oil reporting.

- The U.S. Supreme Court upheld a lower court ruling requiring the governor to seek U.S. Justice Department clearance before setting the date for special elections. The issue reached the courtroom last year in the special election called by Mark White to fill a vacated congressional seat.

- Gov. Mark White refused an invitation by the Texas League of Women Voters to debate his primary opponents. The Republicans say they will all show up at their debate. White's letter said the debate "would not be a productive commitment of the governor's time."

- The Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority directors selected three potential disposal sites on West Texas state land, two in Culberson County and one in Hudspeth County.

Prison Financing

The race to find new ways to finance prison construction snagged last week after legislators disagreed on whether new prisons could constitutionally be built on a lease-purchase plan.

Instead, they asked the prison system to find money in its budget for a proposed maximum security prison. Two top members, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Sen. Ray Farabee said the lease-purchase probably violates the prohibition against deficit spending.

Cuomo Visits Texas

New York Gov. Mario Cuomo visited San Antonio last week, making the keynote speech at a fundraiser for Congressman Henry B. Gonzalez.

Cuomo was measuring Texas support for an '88 presidential bid, particularly among the Mexican-American Democrat crowd.

But look for them to also bring in Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt for a similar tailoring. He will address the MAD state convention at Corpus Christi.

CHILDREN STUDY ALASKA-Students in Mrs. Cotton's second grade class at Ozona Primary School have been studying Alaska and as part of the unit celebrated the invention of the Eskimo Pie. T&T Village Supermarket gave each of the students an Eskimo Pie. These two young ladies point out some of the interesting things Alaska has to offer and enjoy eating their ice

Students end study of Alaska

Second grade students at Ozona Primary School have been studying Alaska and the Eskimos and with January 24, 1922, being the date the Eskimo Pie was invented, they picked that day this year, to celebrate the invention.

T&T Village Supermarket donated enough Eskimo Pies for each of the students to enjoy and study. As the children ate their ice cream bars they had to fill out a worksheet. They had to write 3 description words for the inside of the ice cream bar and 3 words to describe the outside. They had to count the bites it took to eat it and measure the ice cream stick, and make comparisons with the other children.

The project not only was an enjoyable one but an educational one. Learning can be fun.

Dr. and Mrs. Tom C. Sparks of Ardmore, Okla., were in Ozona, Monday for a reunion and lunch with friends. Mrs. Sparks is the former Tommy Kirby of Ozona. She attended Ozona schools and graduated from Ozona High School. She was the daughter of Dr. O.A. Kirby, who practiced medicine here for several years.

Worthington to manage Alpine branch

When Mark Worthington takes over as Stockton Savings Association's branch manager in Alpine, Texas, he will bring with him a track record of solid success.

As manager of the association's Ozona branch, Mark doubled its size in just nine months, increasing deposits from $3.5 million to $7 million, an achievement that guaranteed his appointment to the Alpine management now that the Ozona branch is scheduled to close on February 1st.

Mark, his wife Carla, and their two-year old daughter Katie will move to Alpine just in time for the birth of their second child, due on February 25th. The whole family is looking forward to the move and the challenge that Mark's new responsibilities will entail.

Originally employed as a collection agent, Mark joined the association in March of 1984, working out of the Fort Stockton office. In only twelve months, he was made branch manager at Ozona. While there, Mark joined Ozona's Church of Christ and became an active member of the community's Lions Club. He is also a member of Fort Stockton's Masonic Lodge.

Alpine residents will have an opportunity to meet Mark when the branch holds Open Days on the 13th and 14th of February. A keen fisherman and hunter, Mark is proud to be hosting an exhibition by Western artist Barry Arthur for the two days. Some twenty of Arthur's works, painted with the new technique of oil on masonite, will be on display.

4-H horse club meets at Shannon ranch

The Crockett Co. 4-H Horse Club held its regular monthly meeting at the Shannon Ranch. After a business meeting to discuss plans for participating in the Sesquicentennial Wagon Train, the members learned limbering exercises.

After lunch, the members viewed a training video tape on barrel racing.

During the afternoon the riders lead then rode their horses over the following trail course obstacles: a bridge, logs, and old tires.

The next meeting will be February 15, 1986 at the Shannon Ranch.

The members and leaders present were: Ed Martin, Patty Coates, Fletcher Coates, Kathryn Mayfield, Betty Martin, Martha Mayfield, Mindy Coates, Christy Hodges, Tracy Harris, Bonnie Martin, Tom Martin, Stacy Grendahl, Christa Chalmers, Jennifer Evans and Andy Coates.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

Home gardeners have always been ones to seek advice, and over the years there has never been a shortage of experts. Have the passage of years and development of new ways and means changed the value of old-time advice? Surprisingly, a good deal of it tracked down in faded magazines, in the brittle pages of old books and catalogs, is good today. We try to give you the latest news and methods of all phases of gardening too, as if at any time you have a special request or problem, leave it at the Ozona Stockman office or call me and we will do our best to find the correct information.

With the passing of the holidays, I'm sure all of you are making plans for a new garden year in both flowers and vegetables.

In roses, only recently introduced varieties, there are many older than three years that are still rated high. Ask your nursery or your new catalog.

Unless we have raid, if you haven't watered shrubs, small trees and grass the last month, this should be done before another freeze.

Notice that some of you haven't cut back your pampas grass. It should be cut back to about 6 inches above the ground this or next month. Divide old clumps before they become too congested.

Another small tree or shrub bearing leaves that resemble the block willow is the Desert Willow. The flowers are delicate, lavender and tubular with open throats like the common beard-tongue and just as delicately shaded and veined. It has long been a favorite throughout Texas and withstands droughts. Like the retama and senisa the plants have the habit of blossoming profusely after rains. The honey produced from the flowers is pure white and of an excellent quality. Like the willow, new plants grow readily from cuttings and easily transplanted.

February Planting Calendar
Above Ground Crops: February 10, 11, 14, 15, 16, 19, 20, 21.
Root Crops: February 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, 26, 27, 28.

Mrs. Jones then called attention to the display table loaded with products of her handiwork. She concluded her part on the program with a demonstration on two different sizes of looms, using woolen yarns.

NEVER TOO LATE

How I used to hate to practice the piano when I was a child! Yet, today, how I wish I could play well — and that I had the time to practice!

So often, we turn our back on opportunity, only to find, when we want it, that it's too late.

Not so with the Church. The Church gives you no reason for regrets. If, long ago, you gave up going to church, there is no reason why you can't start again now. Even if you've never gone to church, you'll find a warm welcome awaiting you this and every Sunday. For God's love is constant and everlasting.

In the Church it is, literally, never too late.

Prayer for life vigil service

On January 21, at the Town Square, over 125 persons took part in the Candlelight Prayer for Life Vigil Service. Addressing the group composed of membership from the different churches and local citizens were the Rev. Ralph Moore, Church of Christ; Rev. Jim Gray, First Baptist Church; Rev. Bekie Diaz, Templo Siloe Assembly of God Church, and Rev. Richard Altenbaugh, Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church.

Through sharing, prayer and song the group voiced their concern and respect for human life in all of its stages on the even of the Supreme Court's decision of 1973 legalizing abortion.

Asked what one can do, the following suggestions were offered:

Become informed. Follow the public debate on abortion and related issues.

Discuss the issue with relatives, friends and neighbors. Talk with your children and other young people who are being victimized by pro-abortion propaganda in the media.

Write letters to the newspapers and magazines, refuting factual errors and pointing out pro-abortion bias in articles.

Write you elected representatives. Urge them to support Human Life Amendment.

Join a Church or community group working to protect human life. Many such groups exist throughout the country, and everyone has something to give to help the total effort.

Pray. Prayer can be a constant source of strength and hope. Be mindful of the words of St. Paul: "In him who is the source of my strength, I have strength for everything" (Phil. 4:13).

Delinquent tax ---

postpone paying taxes on his home for as long as he owns the home and lives in it. If the over-65 homeowner has been sued for delinquent taxes, he can suspend the suit by filing a tax deferral affidavit with the court.

"The tax deferral only postpones tax payments-it does not cancel them," Patterson explained. "The taxes, penalties and interest will continue to add up. Once the property changes hands, these taxes become due immediately."

Appraisal district offices can answer questions on the over-65 tax deferral and provide affidavit forms.

Some tax collectors allow delinquent taxes to be paid in installments. By signing an installment agreement, the delinquent taxpayer is admitting that he owes all the taxes covered by the agreement. However, he cannot be sued for delinquent taxes as long as he makes the installment payments on time and keeps other property taxes paid up.

The tax collector's last resort is to sue the delinquent taxpayer. If a delinquent tax suit is successful, the court costs are added to the tax bill. The court will give the taxpayer one final chance to pay before ordering the property seized and auctioned to pay the taxes.

Delinquent taxes cannot be avoided by selling or transferring the property. Taxing units hold a tax lien on each item of taxable property. This tax lien gives them the power to foreclose on the lien and seize the property, even if its ownership has changed. "As a result," Patterson explained, "someone who buys real estate can't get a clear title until all the delinquent taxes on the property are paid."

In addition, the law makes each person who owns taxable property on Jan. 1 personally liable for the taxes. The Jan. 1 owner can be used personally for unpaid taxes even if he has sold or transferred the property.

"Property owners can avoid these extra charges and legal problems by paying their property taxes on time," said Patterson. "If their taxes are overdue, they should contact the tax collector without further delay and make arrangements to pay."

Sesquicentennial bull is unique program for 1986

One of the most unique programs for the Texas 1986 Sesquicentennial has been developed by Fort Worth rancher, Larry Smith. The program is built around a Texas Longhorn bull that sports a natural map of Texas in his forehead. This bull, who is aptly named "TEXAS, U.S.A.", will be the predecessor of "Official Commemorative Products of the Texas 1986 Sesquicentennial." All of his calves born during the Sesquicentennial year will be so designated by the Texas 1986 Sesquicentennial Commission. The Texas Longhorn Breeders Association of America, which headquarters in Fort Worth, will affix the official Sesquicentennial seal to their registration certificate.

A minimum of 150 registered Texas Longhorn heifers are to be artificially bred to "TEXAS, U.S.A." to produce these "living" Sesquicentennial souvenirs. A heifer can be purchased for $1500.00 which includes all health tests, registration certificate, and all expenses that are incurred when she is bred to TEXAS, U.S.A.

Delivery of the first heifers took place on December 4 at the Fort Worth Stockyards with their calves due about July 4, 1986.

$50,000.00 cash will be offered for the calf that inherits the exact marking that appears on the forehead of Texas, USA, a map of the state of Texas.

Additional information can be obtained from L S Ranchers, 131 E. Exchange Ave., Suite 100-1, Fort Worth, Texas 76106 or by calling 817-625-4144.

J. W. Audubon's Cougar from Audubon's "The Viviparous Quadrupeds of North America". From Special Collections, M. D. Anderson Library, University of Houston-University Park.

J. J. Audubon describes early animals of Texas on 1837 visit

by Fran Dressman

A rabbit as large as fox, a "small pig saddled with the shell of a turtle," and a legendary lion that steals small children from cabins, but only by the light of a full moon: some of the fantastic creatures told of in the vast territory of Texas. And these are the animals, J.J. Audubon, the renowned chronicler of American bird life, has set out to document in his next project, The Viviparous Quadrupeds of North America.

He and his son, J.W. visited the new republic in 1837, in search of birds for Audubon's fourth edition of Birds of North America.

At Red Fish Bar, on his way to Houston, Audubon found what he believes is a new species of rattlesnake: one with double, curved rows of fangs. Along Buffalo Bayou he has also found the Ivory-billed woodpecker in abundance, as well as plentiful mosquitoes.

Now, in 1845, J.W. is back in Texas, collecting specimens, observing the animals and producing his own pictures for the new collection. The elder Audubon longs to travel West again, but poor health prevents it.

His son has roamed all over, lived with the Indians and made an invaluable acquaintance in Texas Ranger Jack Hays, who serves as both guide and friend.

The Shawnees have brought Audubon the specimen of a "rare species, called the 'jack-ass rabbit' in Texas, owing to the length of its ears. Since the Mexican War broke out, several have been sent home by our officers."

J.W. has also drawn the armadillo which he calls a singular product of nature, being more peaceable than the opossum."

Farther west, with Colonel Hays, he encounters the prairie wolf or coyote which seems to be "more abundant than other species" and a "great annoyance to settlers" although "its call is 'sometimes welcomed, as it often announces the near approach of daylight.'"

Another legendary creature Audubon has wanted to find the truth about is the baby-snatching mountain lion or cougar. Even though he portrays the animal feeding on a black heifer which it has killed, he reports that the animal is usually forced to "subsist on small animals or birds. His courage is not that great, and unless very hungry, or wounded and at bay, he seldom attacks man."

J.W.'s drawings of the mountain lions have most pleased his father, causing him to remark on the artistic skill of his "Johnny." The styles of the father and son are very much the same and the works of both have the same feel of reality which accounts for the Audubon fame.

But gathering specimens and observing animal life is not always exciting and pleasant. At his father's request for a specimen, J.W. has captured a skunk alive near San Jacinto, and put in in his saddlebags. It is not until returning to camp, however, that he realizes the animal has escaped-its strong scent has remained.

This "Journey Through Texas" is a Sesquicentennial project of the University of Houston-University Park Office of Media Relations. This piece is based on material housed in the Special Collections Department of the M.D. Anderson Library.

Changes affect health

Marriage, a new home, a death in the family, a new job, retirement; such changes occur in everyone's life. Whether good or bad, changes can affect health.

To help people learn how to deal with the stress and anxiety of change, specialists at Baylor College of Medicine have developed a brochure called "Coping With Change."

Advice is offered for dealing with situations such as moving, cited as one of the most dramatic changes a family experiences. It often means the end of familiar surroundings and separation from friends and family members.

To keep stress at a minimum, Baylor specialists suggest: Learn as much as possible about a new locale before moving. Involve children in researching a new locale to lessen their anxiety.

After arriving at a new city or neighborhood, explore it; don't let the new area be strange for long.

Regarding divorce or separation, usually a most difficult change, Baylor specialists suggest: Newly divorced people should work to maintain their existing friends and social contacts.

Parents can help children cope by discussing the divorce openly and honestly. Parents should reassure and support their children, have one set of rules for both parent's homes and never argue through the children.

Jobs are a daily source of stress since Americans spend most of their waking hours on the job. Many spend more time with coworkers than with family and friends. The brochure offers suggestions for coping with changes on the job.

Retirement is a change which some people look forward to with enthusiasm and others dread. Either way, individuals should begin financial planning for retirement right away.

After retirement, those who like to be active may find that volunteering is a valuable way of maintaining a feeling of usefulness. Baylor specialists say people who stay active are likely to live longer and healthier lives.

For more information on coping with change, send for a free brochure. Write: We Care For You, Baylor College of Medicine, P.O. Box 13567, Houston, Texas 77219.

Bill Glass to visit

By Jim Gray, Pastor of First Baptist Church, Ozona
For about four years now I have been working as a Bill Glass volunteer counselor in Bill's Prison Ministry. Recently, I received a beautiful trophy commemorating my fifth prison weekend. The trophy is in the shape of a cross and is made out of prison bars.

When I first started with Bill Glass, I was invited by a friend in our church in Dallas. Twenty years ago, Gary had spent some time in prison but has stayed out of trouble and out of jail because of his faith in Jesus Christ. Now he helps other ex-cons. The most important thing he does is to go and tell them about Jesus but he also helps them after they get out.

In December 1985, two other Ozonans, Ken Eppler and Dale Hobson, and I went to Sugarland, near Houston, to work in a Bill Glass Prison Weekend. It is our understanding that several hundred men received Christ during that one weekend.

Bill Glass was a "first class" football player but more important he is a "first class" human being. I just finished reading the first book Bill wrote, Get in the Game, and Bill is a winner! Bill says that there is nothing good about being a loser. Sure, we should be a good sport when we lose but we shouldn't want to lose. We should never be a "loser"! Bill has written eight books altogether and it seems as though the overriding theme is "live to your potential--God wants you to be a winner."

There is not a person in Crockett County who will not benefit from hearing Bill speak. He'll tell you what you can be and not what you're not. He will be speaking Friday, Feb. 14, at 7:30 p.m.; Saturday, Feb. 15, at 6:30 p.m., and Sunday, Feb. 16 at 11:00 a.m. at First Baptist Church in Ozona. Please don't stay away because you're not a Baptist. Please come.

Who will speak for the oppressed in today's world?

by Charles Huffman

There is violence in our world today—violence in geographically isolated areas and in countries where the authority of central government is lacking. There has always been violence, since Cain killed his brother Abel (Genesis 4). The New Testament speaks of violence. Jesus' well-known parable of the Good Samaritan in Luke 10 pictures the ever-present danger of attack that threatened the traveler in Israel. St. Paul writes a catalog of crimes of violence—robbery, rape, murder, highjacking, and terrorism.

Today violence is not only accepted but is also glorified. If you doubt that, just turn on your TV for 15 minutes! There is an ongoing debate between those who feel that such portrayal of violence encourages violence and those who insist that it does not. But in any videos, and in novels. Going beyond a mere acceptance of activities contrary to God's Fifth Commandment ("Thou shalt not kill"), violence is often glorified.

But less obvious is the unseen and often unrecognized violence, which is practiced against the helpless: the ruthless killing of those who cannot defend themselves—because they have not been born yet.—Who will speak for the oppressed? The Psalmist writes: "LORD, You hear the desire of the oppressed. Encourage them and listen to them. Give the orphan and the oppressed fair treatment so that nobody on earth will terrify them again". (Psalms 10:17-18)

History tells us countless stories of people's inhumanity to one another. There has always been oppression and violence, always the need for someone who will come to the defense of the oppressed. Who are the oppressed? Women have been the victims of violence and oppression in heathen societies. Wife abuse is common even in our society. We deplore that violence and oppression, whether it occurs in heathen or in Christian societies. Ours is a land of liberty, but liberation does not free us to oppress others. People's inhumanity to one another has made possible the institution of slavery, with its accompanying violence and oppression. Who will speak for the oppressed? God made all nations of the earth of one blood. It is people who practice genocide, as they seek the 'final solution' by wiping out people of a different color, race, or culture. Today people practice violence against the unborn. In Vietnam

USDA issues changes in food stamps

The U.S. Department of Agriculture recently notified the Texas Department of Human Services of policy changes regarding food stamp applicants who voluntarily quit their jobs.

Since January 4, 1985, food stamp applicants who voluntarily quit a job within 60 days before they applied for food stamps were ineligible for 90 days from the day they applied.

The new policy changes the period of ineligibility to 90 days from the date the applicant quit rather than the food stamp application date.

Anyone who applied for food stamps on or after January 4, 1985, and was denied because someone in the household quit a job, may be eligible for restored benefits and should contact the local DHS office for information.

46,397 lost their lives. In World War II 292,131 Americans lost their lives. In 1983, the last year for which statistics are available, 1,573,920 Americans lost their lives—not in war but because of the deliberate decision of their parents (or a parent) to terminate these lives. And this new holocaust is met with public apathy and indifference.

Who will speak for the oppressed? God does, thru His Word of truth and life. God speaks for all the creation which is oppressed by sin. Sinful man is held hostage, suffering from the terminal illness of sin. God loudly proclaimed the end of oppression when He sent His own beloved Son, Jesus Christ, to suffer and die to release the captives. Our Lord and Savior loudly proclaimed the accomplishment of His mission on earth when He rose from the grave on Easter morning as the Victor over sin and death. Only in Christ is there true liberation, only in Christ can people recognize that in God's sight there is neither male nor female, neither slave nor free person, neither Jew nor Gentile.

Who will speak for the oppressed? God empowers His people to speak up. We who have been brought to faith in Jesus Christ have been freed to celebrate a new life; to raise our voices to protect these unborn children, to provide love and care and support for them and for their mothers. God Himself looks down from Heaven at our situation and provides protection and ways of escape for them. The situation of the unborn and their mothers is not a hopeless one, for He empowers Christians to be His agents, not only in speaking out but also in providing support for the neighbors God calls us to love.

Its easy to become apathetic, to pass by on the other side, to find excuses for not providing care to those who are in need. But history shows us that it is only a short step from tolerating the taking of the lives of the unborn to accepting the killing of the handicapped, the aged, and individuals of a different race or color. Who will speak up for the oppressed? Indeed God will, but so can we. We can speak even when we ourselves are not personally threatened. We can speak out as His agents. God's wrath will be directed at those who do not heed His Commands. But that terrible wrath, so justly deserved, is not what motivates Christians to action.

It is God's undeserved love, offered freely in His Son Jesus Christ, that compels us to act. In God's mercy, there is indeed forgiveness; forgiveness for those who have been apathetic, forgiveness even for those who have participated in taking the lives of the unborn. And with the forgiveness there comes the privilege of going and doing. God calls on us to speak-and act for the oppressed.

We will be observing LIFE Sunday on January 19. Come join us and hear what God, the Lord and Giver of life, has to say on this issue.

Time for garden transplants

It will be time to set out garden transplants before you know it. Although nurserymen try to stock representative varieties of vegetables and flowers during the spring garden rush, it's just not possible for even the largest nursery to have every variety. For this reason, you may want to start some of your own transplants.

The 1986 mail order catalogs are arriving at a steady rate. View them and make purchases with a purpose. Inexperienced gardeners (or those unfamiliar with the Texas climate) should not waste money on seeds that have no chance of coming to bloom or fruit in Texas. Experienced gardeners may want to try new and different varieties of the old standards. Restraint is not easy when you look at page after page of pure horticultural perfection, but remember that ordering seed is the easy part.

Sow seed for your transplants at the proper time. Some transplants such as cabbage, broccoli, lettuce, green onions and spinach can be set in the garden 4 to 5 weeks before the last frost. Now is the time to sow the seeds of these early transplants.

Use a soilless or commercial potting mix available at nurseries. Expandable peat pellets also work well. Germination temperatures should be near 75°F during the day and 65° to 70° during the night.

Seeds can be started in milk cartons, cake pans, flower pots or almost any container that you are willing to punch holes in for drainage. Thoroughly moisten the planting medium and evenly space the seed on top. Cover lightly, re-water and then enclose the container in a polyethylene

Overweight or just plain underactive?

The average person gains 15 to 25 pounds between the ages of 25 and 50. Most of this weight is gained gradually, a pound or two a year.

The good news for people who like to eat is that this weight gain typically does not result from overeating.

The bad news for people who don't like to exercise, is that extra pounds most result from our decreasing physical activity and lower calorie needs as we get older.

To maintain your weight, the calories you burn through physical activity has to equal the calories you consume. If you stick to certain eating habits, but become less and less active, those extra calories will be stored as fat.

So the key to losing those extra pounds is becoming more physically active. That can be a tough problem for people who work at sedentary jobs, and don't have the time or money for exercise classes or equipment.

But added physical activity doesn't have to be time or money consuming. It can be as simple as taking the stairs instead of the elevator at work; walking around the block while you wait for the kids instead of sitting in the car; or taking a bike ride instead of watching television after dinner.

Weight loss researchers agree that one of the best methods for increasing physical activity is to walk every day.

By walking for 30-40 minutes five times a week, you can raise your metabolic rate to more efficiently burn calories. Over a year that can add up to a weight loss of 10 to 20 pounds.

bag. Keep the plastic covered container out of direct sunlight or it will overheat.

When seeds begin to sprout, gradually remove the bag during a several day period. This lessens shock. You'll have to water more often when the poly bag is removed.

Most would-be transplant growers make two big mistakes. They start seed too early and they provide insufficient light for the developing seedlings. Both maladies allow trans-

School to offer computer courses

plants to become spindly, weak and yellow. Florescent grow lights help overcome the second problem. They must be within 4 inches of newly developing seedling leaves to be of much benefit.

In mid-February sow tomato, eggplant, pepper and flower seeds. You may want to try these tomato varieties in comparison plantings with your usual ones: Spring Giant, Early Girl, Park's Whopper, Floramerica, Big Set, Super Fantastic, Celebrity and President. The results may be very enlightening.

Sowing small-seeded annuals directly in the bed usually ends in failure and frustration. For this reason, start your own transplants of Alyssum, moss rose, fibrous rooted begonia, petunia, cockscomb, impatiens and coleus. Move your transplants to their final location when they are of adequate size (at least 3-5 true leaves) and conditions are suitable for plant growth outdoors.

Lu Ingram honored as school nurse

Lu Ingram, Ozona Public School Nurse, was honored Wednesday at the Primary School on the occasion of Nurse's Appreciation Week. Friends and co-workers dropped by to visit with Lu during the day, showing their appreciation of her many years of dedicated service in nursing.

Lu moved to Ozona 29 years ago and began her nursing here, working for the local hospital and various doctors for 13 years. She took a break from her nursing career when she and a friend, Mae Lewis, put in a dress shop, Mae-Lu's. She worked in the store for 10 years before she went back into nursing. Lu said, "I'm back where I belong, in nursing."

Lu is married to Huey Ingram, an employee of Ozona National Bank. They have two sons, Donnie and his wife, Gene, live in Dallas, and Drew and his wife, Laura, live in Midland.

The cake served at the reception said "Nurses do it with care" and those knowing Lu during her years of nursing will agree that she is indeed a very caring and dedicated nurse.
