Kitty's Korner

By Kitty Montgomery

First a note to the Ozona Lions basketball team, who lost the play-off game with Ballinger Monday night, after leading throughout the game. This is what sportscasters would call a real heart-breaker, and rightly so. However, there is some consolation and some lesson to be learned. For the underclassmen on the team, there is always another season and for the seniors on the team; they can be proud of a game well-played even though victory was snatched by the opponents by a fluke and in over-time at that. Someone once said, Kipling I think, "It matters not whether you win or lose, it's how you played the game." This thought will also stand you in good stead in the future, when life's games are more demanding and there is more at stake.

Everybody in town is mighty proud of you.

Another concern this week is for the teachers, who are preparing for the TECAT. I personally think if there are teachers on the faculty who cannot read nor write, the administrator of his or her school should take the proper steps. I cannot for the life of me understand a blanket test for the high school physics teacher and the kindergarten teacher. Since neither could do the other's job, why on earth should they be taking the same test. There is nothing about the school reform bill, I personally feel will benefit education in West Texas. I do think any grade lower than 70 should be considered failing, and I don't think kids should miss school classes to participate in extracurricular activities. This was the norm when I went to school some years ago.

Teachers should not be blamed for poor education. In the past ten or even 20 years the entire spectrum of public education has changed. Colleges have been forced to lower standards in order to get more minority students in. High schools have passed students from the lower grades to graduation who could not do second grade work. Family structures have broken down and in many cases the parents just don't care whether their kids get an education or not. The welfare system has destroyed initiative and for many families it has become a way of life. In some instances the kids don't have a chance from birth. This cannot be laid at the teacher's doorstep.

Everyone is for better education, but are we going about it in the right way? This question remains unanswered. Are we ever going to face the reality that all students are not college material, and that some students are not educable under our system. Through no fault of our own we are unable to educate the mass of children of illiterates and illegals who swell our school systems today. This is a simple fact.

A humorous letter to the editor, clipped from the Dallas Times Herald is making its rounds around here. It's entitled "What's next? Strip searches? It follows:

To the Editor:

I have noted Gov. Mark White's suggestion that all teachers be tested for drugs. As the husband of an elementary school teacher, I know what a rowdy bunch those teachers are, and I am in full agreement with his proposal. However, I do not believe the governor's suggestion goes far enough.

I think teachers also should be strip-searched for weapons before each school day. And I believe they should be fingerprinted and their backgrounds checked by the FBI and Interpol every year, annual AIDS tests would be appropriate, as well as tests for venereal disease.

Finally, I think the funding for the programs should be deducted from teachers' salaries, since most teachers are independently wealthy and merely getting fat from the extravagant salaries they are paid.

Such programs should not be limited to school teachers, however. Nuns, nurses and Sunday school teachers

School board extends contracts for teachers

Contract extensions were granted nine professional personnel during last Wednesday's meeting of the Crockett County Consolidated Common School District Board of Trustees. Principals Walter Spiller, Bob Wallace, Jack Probst, and Jim Payne were given contract extensions through the 1987-88 school year, as were Assistant Superintendent Ted Cotton, head boys basketball coach John Curry, and high school counselor and Rhonda Yarborough, head girls basketball coach, were extended through the 1986-87 school year.

Assistant Superintendent Ted Cotton presented the Crockett County Consolidated Common School District Discipline Management Plan for Board review and consideration. Mr. Cotton explained that the Educational Opportunity Act of 1984 (House Bill 72) requires all school districts to adopt and implement discipline management programs which follow new state guidelines concerning removal of pupils to alternative education programs, expulsion of students, and discipline of handicapped students.

"The discipline management plan is the framework of a discipline management program," Mr. Cotton said. "To be approved by the Texas Education Agency, a discipline management plan must include: (1) community involvement in the development of the plan; (2) the designation of a person in each school with special training in discipline management to implement and assess the program in that school; (3) rights and responsibilities of administrators, teachers, parents, and students; (4) a Student Code of Conduct that clearly describes the district's expectations of student conduct and specifies the consequences of violating the code; (5) discipline management training for professional personnel; (6) a description of the alternative education programs offered by the district; and, (7) discipline procedures for removing a student from class, removing a student to an alternative education program, and expelling a student from school."

Mr. Cotton went on to explain that school districts are required to implement their discipline management plan no later than September 1, 1986. Following his presentation, the plan was approved as presented.

Superintendent Garland Davis gave the trustees a report on student failure rates in Ozona High School and Ozona Middle School for the third six-weeks and first semester. Of 257 students enrolled in Ozona High School, 21.79% failed one course or more at the end of the third six-weeks, and 12.06% failed one course or more at the end of the first semester. Of 220 students enrolled in Ozona Middle School, 34.55% failed one course or more at the end of the third six-weeks, and 24.09% failed one course or more

Deadline at hand for school board

Candidates for the three places on the Crockett County Common Consolidated School board of trustees, have until midnight March 5, to file for a place on the April 5, ballot.

Absentee voting by personal appearance will begin Monday March 17, and end Tuesday, April 1. Polls will open at 8 a. m. April 5, and close at 7 p. m.

So far four men have filed for places on the ballot. These include incumbents George Ybarra, Cecil Buckner, along with Dan Pullen and Dr. Steve Sessom. Joe Couch's term is up this year, but he has yet to make public his intention.

Emergency care course is offered

The Emergency Medical Service will offer a 40-hour course for Emergency Care Attendants, which will be open to anyone who wishes to help out on ambulance calls. The course is sponsored by Crockett County Hospital and COG, and is free of charge.

The first meeting will be March 10, at 7 p. m. at the hospital. Teaching the course will be Dub O'Bryant, Brian Henry, Joe Moran and Doug Meador. For more information, call Carol Hunnicutt or Meador.

Host of candidates beat the deadline

The filing deadline for county and state offices is past for the May 3, Democratic Primary and candidates are campaigning en masse for the several places on the ballot.

There will be no Republican Primary in Crockett County, so local political aspirants will be winner or loser after the May Democratic Primary.

Three county officials will run unopposed. These include County Judge A. O. Fields, County/District Clerk Debbi Puckett, and County Treasurer Jim Dudley.

Opposing B. W. Stuart for County Commissioner in Precinct 2 will be Jerry L. Hill, Western Auto Dealer, and Billy Carson, rancher.

Jesus Chuy Castro, incumbent County Commissioner in Precinct 4, has drawn two opponents. They are B. R. Jody Conaway, Ozona Gas Plant manager; and Carlos Lopez.

For Justice of the Peace, incumbent Raymond Davee is opposed by former county clerk David Weant, owner of Whitehouse Gulf, and Jerry Lay, former automobile dealer.

U. S. Representative, Dist. 21, of which Crockett County is a part, was vacated by Tom Loeffler, and fields a host of candidates, both democratic and republican. Democrats seeking the seat include David Hunnicutt, W. E. Snelson, Terry Lowry, and Joe Sullivan. A complete list of republican candidates was not available at press time, but among these are Lamar Smith, Jeff Wentworth and Henry Gandy.

Governor Mark White has filed to re-election to that post and is opposed by democrats and republicans alike. White was the only Democrat on the list received here, but at least two more filed before the deadline. Republicans seeking the governor's seat are Tom Loeffler, Kent Hance and former governor Bill Clements.

A full slate of state candidates will be on the ballot, but offices and names were not complete at press time.

Several opponents have filed for Gerald Giesweits seat as State Representative, 67th District. The only candidates on file at this office at this time are Giesweits and Lester Dalberg of Eldorado. Several republicans have also filed.

At the district level, Judge Brock Jones, 112th District, has filed for re-election. At this time he has received no opposition. He will run on the democratic ticket.

Debbi Puckett asks for another term

Debbi Puckett has filed for re-election for Crockett County and District Clerk subject to the Democratic Primary in May. Debbi has been employed by the Clerk's office since 1979. She was appointed by the Commissioners Court on October 26, 1983 and was elected in May 1984 to the office of County and District Clerk. Since that time, Debbi has been active in carrying out the duties and responsibilities connected with her office.

"By attending various seminars and conferences, along with my growing experience in this office, I have been able to stay abreast of most of the constant changing laws and times. I have done my best and will continue to do so in my capacity as County and District Clerk. The people of Crockett County can rely on the continued courteous and competent performance of myself and my staff."

Debbi, a resident of Crockett County for 25 years and a 1972 graduate of Ozona High, is married with two children, Derek and Jason, ages 10 and 2.

Your vote for Debbi will be appreciated in the upcoming election in May.

There is a market for everything on the square in downtown Ozona. Almost any day, you can find peddlers with almost anything to sell hawking their wares. Tuesday the parking places in front of the Davy Crockett statue held all kinds of ladies apparel and chalk statues of almost anything a buyer could think of.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

EMILY'S FREE LUNCH

By Edwin Feulner

I earn a good living. Yet my daughter Emily, who attends elementary school in Alexandria, Virginia, is eligible for a cut-rate school lunch five days a week—courtesy of U.S. taxpayers, many of whom earn considerably less than I do.

Am I insensitive, or is something wrong here?

We are going to find out just how wrong things are in the weeks ahead, as Congress, the White House, and the special interest lobbies engage in a free-for-all over the federal budget.

Some of this will be waged with statistics. Already the Congressional Budget Office has cooked up a new report showing that even without any changes in our tax and spending policies there will be a dramatic drop in the deficit by 1991. Some conservatives have gone for the bait, crediting the CBO with suddenly discovering that Reaganomics is working.

Others of us can read between the lines. The CBO report was no paean to Reaganomics. It was a backdoor attempt to guard special-interest spending from the coming budget cuts. After all, if things are peachy keen just as they are, why change them. There's something very Alfred E. Neumanish about it.

Which brings me back to Emily's subsidized lunch. There is really no reason under the sun why Emily and millions of other school children shouldn't pay the full cost of their lunches. The special-interest lobbies knew, however, that limiting subsidies to children whose families really need them would make it easier to keep costs under control. They lobbied, therefore, to subsidize everyone, regardless of need.

So prevalent are these subsidies that a new Census Bureau study indicates that one out of every three children in the United States now lives in a family receiving some kind of government welfare. The true numbers, of course, are much higher when all of the Emilies in the country are included.

When non-cash benefits from government and private employers are looked at, a separate Census Bureau report showed that 76.7 million of the country's 86.8 million households in 1984 were the recipients of one or more freebies. Of these non-cash benefits—valued at more than $300 billion annually—an estimated $250 billion worth were not based on need.

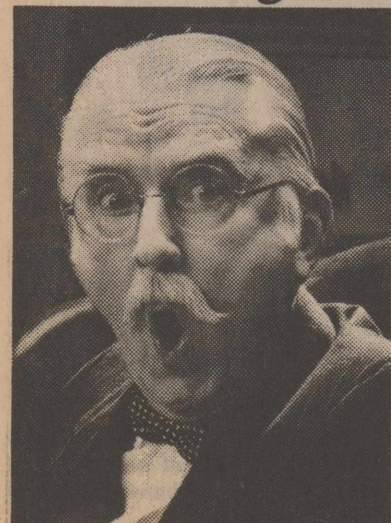

Let's face it: Ed Feulner's daughter and most other school children don't need federally subsidized school lunches. They were included in the program to make it politically more difficult to trim the size of the herd.

Cost-cutting changes in this and dozens of other federal programs are possible. Currently, the National School Lunch and National School Breakfasts programs provide cash and commodity assistance to schools, day care centers, and other institutions which serve meals to children. Children from families whose income falls below 130 percent of the poverty line receive free lunches (which comes to a subsidy of approximately $1.30 per pupil). Children from families between 130 percent and 180 percent of the poverty line receive a subsidy of 90 cents each. And children such as Emily from families with incomes above 180 percent of the poverty line receive a smaller 13-cent subsidy. But multiply that 13 cents by millions, and repeat the calculation every school day, and you're talking about big bucks.

The elimination of school lunch subsidies for middle- and upper-income children is the kind of belt-tightening the country should have started years ago. It's time to realize that there's no such a thing as a free lunch.

(Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institute.)

Did You Know That Last Year's U.S. Savings Bonds Average Rate Exceeded 9%?

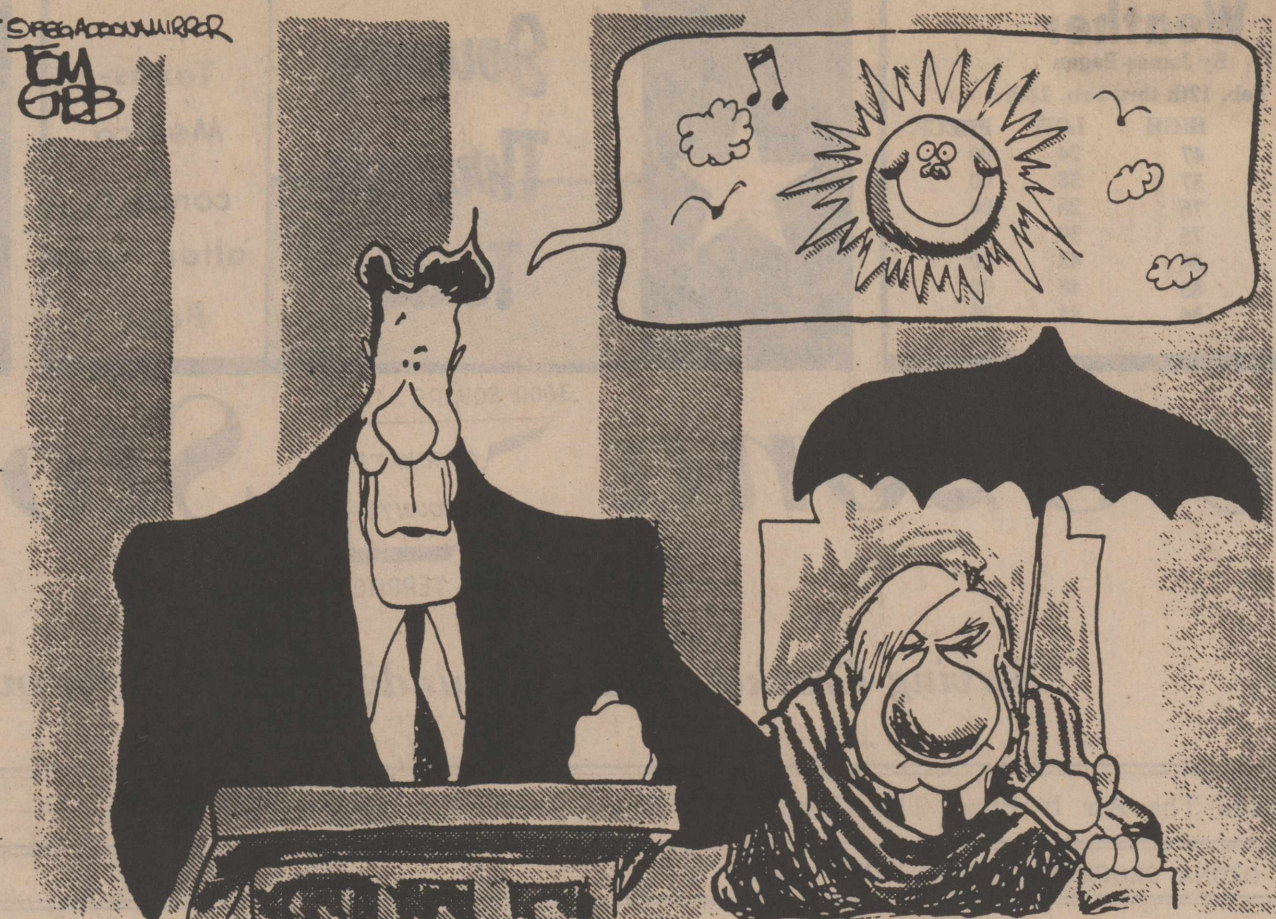

Surprise! U.S. Savings Bonds give you market-based interest rates—like the money markets—plus a guaranteed return. What's more, Savings Bonds give you big tax advantages, cost as little as $25 and are easy to buy. For more information, call toll-free 1-800-US-BONDS.

U.S. SAVINGS BONDS
Paying Better Than Ever

Market-based rates apply to Bonds purchased on and after 11/1/82 and held at least five years. Bonds purchased before 11/1/82 earn market-based rates when held beyond 10/31/87. Bonds held less than five years earn lower rates. A public service of this publication.

The idiot empire strikes back

By Don Feder

In the face of mounting criticism from organizations and individuals across the spectrum, guess who's come to the defense of the idiot box? None other than T. V. Gulde, the magazine which bills itself as a baedeker to the "complexities" of television.

In the current issue, commentator Jeff Greenfield attempts to debunk report of tv's baneful influence. "Television, powerful as it is, has shown precious little power over the most fundamental values of Americans," Greenfield insists. Surely. That's why major corporations spend billions annually to hawk their wares over the airwaves: because the tube has so little impact on viewer behavior.

Critics who blame tv for the decline in student test scores, the rise of adolescent promiscuity, and the deterioration of the family couldn't be more mistaken, says Greenfield.

On the matter of teen passion, the author avers: "I have my doubts whether young lovers really need the impetus of 'Dallas' or 'The Young and the Restless' to start thinking about sex."

As to plummeting SAT scores, Greenfield cites a book on educational testing which mentions diverse factors, such as junk food, fluoridated water, and nuclear fallout, as possible explanations for flagging intelligence.

The article is a tissue of rationalizations and excuses, some artful, others incredibly awkward. It does, however, make a valid point—there is no direct cause-and-effect relationship between images flickering across the tv screen and social trends.

Of course television's more discerning critics never alleged this type of stimulus/response reaction. Television is only one influence on human conduct, albeit a powerfully pernicious influence. (Studies inform us that the typical household has a set tuned in for over seven hours a day. Between the ages of six and eighteen, the average child will spend more time in front of a tv set than in school.)

The same issue of T.V. Gulde offers vivid illustrations of television's moral bill of fare. Full-page ads tout the following made-for-tv movies: "Club Med" (the ad pictures a nubile creature in tank top and microscopic g-string strolling in the surf, with the teaser "if all you want is everything"); "Passion Flower" ("a story of seduction and deception,"

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR FLUID INJECTION WELL PERMIT

The proposed injection well is located 33 miles southeast to Ozona, Texas, in the Farmer (San Andres) Field, in Crockett County. Bruce Boxleitner and Barbara Hershey are locked in a steamy, full-page, quarter-clad, embrace) and "Prince of Bel Air," the copulatory adventures of a pool cleaner with a stud service on the side ("And wherever he goes, he leaves the cleanest pools, and happiest customers in town").

Does this televised trash influence impressionable youth? (Is Colonel Qaddafi prone to violence?) From daytime soaps to evening sit-coms, the networks portray sex as casual, fun, an activity to be undertaken without obligation or remorse, even based on a short-term acquaintance. If kids have come to view intercourse on the same emotional plane as raiding the refrigerator, is it any wonder?

Reflect on the way in which television routinely stigmatizes, holds up to ridicule, various authority figures. Parents, police, military and business leaders regularly are depicted as either bumbling idiots or dangerous sadists.

The airwaves are saturated with propaganda for a variety of liberal causes. From "The Day After," described by critics as an extended commercial for the nuclear freeze to the recent made-for-tv movie "Right of the People," an unabashed plea for gun control, not to mention a November episode of "Cagney and Lacey" which was little more than a prime-time lynching of the right-to-life movement, television serves the same function as a Chinese re-education camp.

Television doesn't create social problems; it merely exacerbates them. Tv didn't make adolescents stupid. Public education and lack of parental concern are the principal culprits here. But the medium does help to keep them in a state of blissful ignorance. Time before the tube is time taken away from books, studies and healthy recreation.

Television distorts reality. It's the world viewed through Sunset Boulevard spectacles. In this fantasy realm, crime is rampant and sex ubiquitous. Success is effortless and all of life's problems are resolved between commercial breaks.

Tv's negative impact can't be overstated. It absorbs a large and growing portion of the nation's leisure hours, leaving little time for reading, reflection, and normal social interaction.

Just keep telling yourself it doesn't matter. You have T.V. Gulde's word on it.

It doesn't matter that kids sit zombie-like in front of a 26-inch screen, for hours on end, mesmerized by flashing lights. It doesn't matter that tv is a primary influence in shaping public tastes, and the values it purveys are as wholesome as a Hollywood drug party. It doesn't matter that for many viewers tv characters are more real than the people around them, thereby increasing alienation.

Just keep telling yourself it doesn't matter. Maybe, eventually, you'll believe it.

DENTAL HEALTH MONTH—Three Ozona Primary second grade classes have been studying dental health and have had a toothbrush decorating

Toothbrush decorating contest

Three Ozona Primary second grade classes had a "Toothbrush Decorating Contest" to celebrate the conclusion of Dental Health Month.

Each student was given a large cardboard toothbrush to decorate. Three winners were chosen from each class. Mr. Spiller presented the winners with a "giant" toothbrush to be used as a backscratcher. They were also presented a "real" toothbrush. The winners were as follows:

Mrs. Cotton's Class—David Browne, first; Vanessa Tobar, second; Lupe Llanas, third.

Miss Lipsey's Class—Ray Fierro, first; Dana Bishop, second; Bryan Mendez, third.

Mrs. Winkley's Class—Benny Gutierrez, first; Cristina Cervantez, second; Rebecca Deaton, third.

The winners' toothbrushes will be on display on the bulletin board beside the cafeteria during Open House in March.

The second graders have spent about two weeks studying about tooth decay and how to take good care of their teeth. Dr. Steve Sessom visited the classes on Monday, February 17, to present a short program on dental health and to answer questions about the care of the teeth.

Reduce tax burdens now

The time to do something about reducing income tax burdens is now and not after the end of the tax year, says Billy Reager, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System.

He offers a number of timely tax management tips and reminders.

Pay cash wages to your children for farm work actually done by them and deduct as a farm business expense. The wages should be reasonable and for specific jobs. Wages paid to children by parents are not subject to social security tax until the child reaches age 21.

Give income-producing property, such as land, cattle and machinery to children and let them report income from their work and capital. Family partnerships and farm corporations through stock transfers are sometimes used to do this. It is another way to spread family income over the lower tax brackets.

If you are age 63 or 64, postpone income to age 65 to take advantage of the double personal exemption. Persons approaching retirement, however, may want to maintain income as near as possible to the maximum for social security in these years.

Do not hold breeding stock used for production of market livestock too long. By selling sows after only one or a few litters, a higher percentage of hog sales will qualify for capital gain treatment over a period of years and reduce taxes.

Buy machinery and equipment in years of high income and take advantage of accelerated cost recovery, and possibly of the expensing option.

Plan personal deductions. Some medical expenses or contributions that are normally spread over two years can be paid in one year and itemized as deductions. In the next year, the zero bracket amount (the old standard deduction) may be taken if higher than the total of actual itemized deductions. Be sure to choose the larger of the two.

Avoid wide fluctuations in income from one year to the next so you have enough income each year to take advantage of personal deductions and exemptions.

Installment sales of property can be used to spread income over a period of years and thus avoid high income in one year.

Check for loss years in the past. Is there an unused net operating loss deduction? If so, file an amended return and obtain a refund on taxes paid in the past.

Be sure to claim the investment credit on all items that qualify.

To insure a record of all income and expenses, have a checking account in which to deposit all receipts and to pay all bills.

Be sure that CCC loans are not counted as income twice (in one year when borrowed and next year when crop is sold). Farmers can elect to report the loan as income in the year the loan is received or wait until the grain is either reclaimed and sold or forfeited to report the income.

If you are using the cash method, deduct cost of purchased livestock that was lost, stolen or that died during the year.

If you are using the accrual method, deduct all purchases of livestock. Make a livestock number check to see that the total number purchased and born plus the beginning inventory equals the total number sold, died and butchered plus the ending inventory.

Deduct as many auto, utilities, telephone and other expenses as actually used in the farm business (half is not enough in many cases). Make certain this use is well documented.

Keep records to insure deduction of easily overlooked items such as farm magazines, farm organization dues, bank service charges, business trips, portion of dwelling used for farm business, household supplies used for hired help and cash outlay to board hired workers.

Itemize on bank deposit slips all gifts, borrowing and related actions so that they will not be considered taxable income.

Keep records of all medical, dental and hospital bills, including premiums for accident and health insurance.

Establish a charge account at a hardware store, elevator or other places where considerable business is done during the year. Pay account by check upon receipt of monthly statements. This prevents omitting many small items which might otherwise be paid by cash.

Keep exact records of date of purchase, cost and date of sale on all items purchased for resale.

Pay bills by check whenever possible. Record all cash expenditures at once in an account book. Always get receipts for farm expenses paid by cash. Obtain a bank statement each month and check it against the farm account book.

Do not include in income any indemnity for diseased animals if payment has been or will be used to buy like or similar animals within two years.

Do not report capital gains on the sale of your dwelling as income if you plan within two years to buy and occupy another dwelling that will cost as much or more than the selling price of your present dwelling. Also, you have two years to build and occupy a newly constructed dwelling. In addition, if you are 55 or older, you may choose to take a once-in-a-lifetime exclusion of up to $125,000 of the gain on the sale of your personal dwelling, even though you don't reinvest in another house.

Remember that if you have income subject to tax, every dollar to cost not deducted will result in unnecessary income taxes.

This information comes from Dr. Wayne Hayenga, Extension economist.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

Though this month has been too cold and damp for much outdoor action, be ready to start real garden work on warm days. Sow early vegetable crops and sweet peas if you forgot to start them as early as required. Try planting them along in the garden where they may be easier to care for along with the vegetables.

Even though we have had more severe cold days than usual, the spring flowering shrubs and trees are beginning to show bud growth. If you wish early spring blossoms, bring in a few of the budded branches, place in warm water to force bloom in a few weeks.

If you don't have room for a rose garden, try the climbing varieties. They are profuse bloomers and much more vigorous than the same hybrid tea rose. Too, they are ideal sources for cut flowers, and can easily be grown against a fence or without support in a sunny location. My favorites are Don Juan (red), Sutters Gold, Climbing Peace, Charlotte Armstrong, Chrysler Imperial, Crimson Glory and the showy yellow Lady Banksia. There are some new ones that I have not seen or grown, but inquire about them at the nursery.

Since our severe weather has caused the flowering shrubs and bulbs to be late blooming, why not try to design an exciting foliage arrangement for your home. They are long lasting and don't try to conform to a stiff formality. It sets a style of its own, in the line, form, color, and texture of living plants.

Before you begin to combine the plant material, identify the qualities that make a plant unique. Does it have a certain form, or an unexpected color, or a curiously textural leaf or a handsome line that will create a sense of flow within the composition? It's the interplay of mass and line and of color, form and texture that gives a foliage arrangement its grace and vitality. When you start collecting your material, you will need to give some thought to where the arrangement will be placed and how it will be seen. Too, that will determine the size and the size determines the quality and character of the material you use. Also it needs to be in keeping with the general feeling of the arrangement and with the character of your room. It also needs to be heavy enough to keep arrangement from tipping over and large enough to hold a supply of water for several days. When all these have been determined, the most important thing to keep in mind is naturalism. To help you select the plants you need for a specific effect, refer to the lists below and there may be others in your garden.

Accent plant material—cluster mahonia, aucuba fatsia, loquat-yellow edge California privet.

Deciduous line material—Crepe Myrtle, flowering dogwood, corkscrew willow, red twig and flowering dogwood, winged elm, and euonymus and pussy willow.

Evergreen line material—Horsetail-showy jasmine, thorny elaeagnus, willow leaf cotoneaster and Japanese yew.

Multi-purpose material—Nandina-long, leaf pine, luster leaf holly, southern magnolia, Virginia and white pine, and variegated pittosporum.

Mass plant material—Boxwood, burford holly, common camellia, photinia, Japanese pittosporum, Scotch pine and sweet olive.

February is a good time to take cuttings of spring flowering trees and shrubs to force into bloom indoors. Make cuttings 6 to 20 inches long, and place them in water in a suitable container.

Integrity

Who knows how much is riding on this handshake? Only the two men who have just made a commitment. Later, documents will be drawn up, details noted, the formal contract signed. That's good business—and it's the law. But right now, at this very moment, men who believe in each other's integrity have an agreement both will honor.

Nowhere in high school or college have we heard of a course in Integrity. Does that mean that something so important to our economic system isn't taught? Not in formal curricula.

Rather, it is taught in the home by parents who are people of integrity. Its teaching is reinforced at Church where religious beliefs mold the character of the children and adults. And its practice is encouraged daily in the marketplace by the example of those whose fundamental convictions make their handshake a bond of truth.

Goat feeding program ends with annual 4-H mohair show Thurs.

The 4-H Commercial Angora Goat Feeding Program climaxed Thursday, February 13, at the County Show Barn with the mohair show.

Whitney Vannoy had the champion fleece which came from the champion doe kid at the 4-H show. The kid was bred by Bob Childress. Terry House had the Reserve Champion fleece which came from the Reserve Champion doe kid at the county 4-H show. Sam Perner was breeder of Terry's kids.

Adrienne Dickerson placed 3rd. with West Ranch Company's goats, Cody Sutton 4th, with Jeff Sutton's goats, and Tamie Reagor 5th, with Nat Read's goats. Other placings were: Stefny Sutton, 7th, Terry House, 8th, JoLynn Vannoy, 9th, Cody Sutton, 10th, LoLynn Vannoy 11th, JoLynn Vannoy, 12th, Stefny Sutton, 13th, Jason Montgomery, 14th, JoLynn Vannoy, 15th, Tamel West, 16th, Terry House 17th, Stacy Grendahl, 18th, Stefny Sutton, 19th, Vickie Reagor, 20th, Whitney Vannoy, 21st, Adrienne Dickerson, 22nd, Trebie West, 23rd, Tamel West, 24th, Jason Montgomery, 25th Jason Montgomery.

Other exhibitors included John Williams, Diego Pena and Julie Carson. Jim Adams and Bryan May judged the fleeces.

The Commercial Angora Goat feeding program is different from the 4-H lamb feeding program in that local producers furnish the goats to the 4-H member. The members feed the doe kids (4) and receive money from the sale of the clips of hair to pay feed bills. Following the shearing the doe kids, then go back to the ranchers. This program is sponsored by the Extension Livestock and Range Committee.

These commercial doe kids were tagged, sheared and weighed on August 29, 1985. They were then sheared and weighed on February 13.

The following summary will give the top five breeders a comparison of how their goats compared to the other goats.

	Initial Weight	Final Weight	Gain	Fleece Weight
Entire Group	40.4	60.0	19.6	8.0
West Ranch (12)	38.8	57.8	19	8.1
Perner (4)	41.8	67.8	26	8.3
Read (8)	39.5	70.0	30.5	10.6

Childress (8)	43.4	68.0	24.6	8.4

Cultivating bacteria instead of trees and cotton plants to produce cellulose may one day lead to cheaper paper, clothing and medical supplies. National Wildlife magazine reports that a researcher at the University of Texas at Austin has discovered a strain of bacteria which produces cellulose requiring much less processing than wood pulp to produce paper.

Lions miss play-off slot by only one point in O-T

By Amy Beth Scoggins

The Ozona Varsity Lions stomped the Sonora Broncos 63 to 40 on February 11, and outscored the Ballinger Bearcats 50 to 39 on Friday, but the Lions missed taking second place in the district by one point against Ballinger Monday night with a score of 53 to 52.

The Lions led 22 to 5 at the end of the first quarter against Sonora. Ozona added to their lead in the second quarter and were ahead 40 to 17 at the end of the first half.

The Lions continued to lead in the third quarter by a score of 52 to 27. The Broncos were unable to gain on the Lions and Ozona dominated throughout the fourth quarter.

Harvey Fierro led in scoring with 20 points, followed by Steve Sanchez who provided 17 points. Brad Thompson scored eight points while Scott Denman contributed six. Scoring four points each were Bret Thompson, Isaia Flores and Mark Marshall.

Ballinger was trailing the Lions 12 to 8 at the end of the first quarter on Friday. The Bearcats managed to move one point ahead of Ozona in the second quarter and the first half of play ended with Ballinger leading 24 to 23.

The Lions regained the lead in the third quarter with a score of 33 to 28. The Bearcats were unable to catch up to the Lions while Ozona lengthened their lead in the fourth quarter to win the game.

"We had a real good week and the guys played well on Friday when they really needed to play good," Coach John Curry said. "Also, I would like to thank all the fans who traveled to Ballinger on Friday to support the Lions."

Fierro, Sanchez and Denman led in scoring with 14 points each. Sam Hightower provided four points. Contributing two points each were Roger Flores and Brad Thompson.

Ozona led 15 to 8 in the first quarter against Ballinger in Merton on Monday night. The Bearcats gained on the Lions during the second quarter, but the Lions continued to lead 31 to 26.

The Lions remained in the lead by five points in the third quarter with the score moving to 37 to 32. Ballinger caught up with the Lions in the fourth quarter which ended in a tie at 44 to 44 and threw the game into a 3-minute overtime. The lead seesawed back and forth during the overtime period, but the Bearcats came out on top to win the game.

"Once again, I would like to thank all the fans," Curry stated. "Their support was outstanding and it was important to the kids."

Sanchez was high scorer with 22 points, followed by Fierro with eight.

Roger Flores and Denman provided six points each, while Hightower scored five. Bret Thompson added on one point.

"Our goal was to make it to the playoffs and we fell only one game short of the playoffs," Curry added. "I'm disappointed that the season had to end like this, but I'm very proud of our season. I hope we can have an even better season next year."

John Willis, representative of the San Angelo Social Security Office, has scheduled his March visit to Ozona. He will be at the County Courthouse on Wednesday, March 19th, between 2:00 p. m. and 3:30 p. m.

Continental Singers in concert

Singers thrill audience in concert

By James Pagan

The Continental Singers and Orchestra performed a memorable concert, Thursday evening in the Ozona High School Auditorium with a large audience in attendance.

Much appreciation should be given to the Ozona Ministerial Alliance and the School Board, who made this event possible.

The group presented the concert program entitled "All Over The World... Let Them See Jesus" under the masterful direction of Michael Mahoney. This is Michael's eighth year with the Continentals and he has directed tours throughout U.S., South America, Europe and Africa.

The songs presented ranged from the rousing, upbeat intro number "All Over The World;" to the inspirational "No Other Name".

Everyone in the audience was asked to sing along with the Singers on one of the songs and nearly everyone did so.

Midway through the program, the director, Mahoney, presented a slide show that briefly told about the beginning of the Continental Singers and Orchestra, back in 1967, when they started with just one group. Now, 19 years later, there are 19 groups that tour all 50 states and 15 countries including Russia and China.

The group that performed in Ozona is officially called Spring '86 Tour H. Comprised of 9 young men and 12 young women as vocalists and another 6 young men, playing in the orchestra, this particular tour will spend about 2 weeks in Texas, move east as far as Birmingham, Alabama; then back west towards Los Angeles; and on to Hawaii. They will finish up their tour in Canada.

After each concert, they hold auditions for any young man or woman who is between the ages of 16 and 26, and who is interested in joining the Singers or their orchestra. Afterward, if they are shown to have talent, they are sent a registration packet and make a demo tape and send it in. Through a selective process, they then may join up with a tour.

Rita Rios and Amy Beth Scoggins made audition tapes here.

At the conclusion of the concert, I believe that everyone, not only enjoyed the program, but could plainly see that these young men and women were dedicated to what they were doing and sincere about bringing the Love of God to everyone, through their music.

This became evident to me, as I had the privilege of talking to two of the young ladies, later in the evening. They were very polite, very attentive to my questions and eager to share their experiences.

I asked Michelle Gilmore, 18, from Albuquerque, New Mexico how she would answer if someone asked what the Continental Singers were all about. She very candidly said "The Continental Singers are very dedicated and work very hard to become professional, so that people can see the love that God has for all mankind, reflected through them and their music."

Jan Jenson, 18, from Lampoc, California, added "Without God's blessing and love they could not continue to go on concert after concert." She further stated, "They were not up on state to show everyone how talented they were, but to show everyone that God is always there; just have to reach for him."

After witnessing all of the above, I am convinced the young men and women of the Continental Singers and Orchestra truly believe in the title of the program they present "All Over The World... Let Them See Jesus."

Crockett County EMS sets cardiac classes

Since more than 50% of sudden deaths due to cardiac arrest occur before hospitalization, it is clear that the community deserves to be recognized as the "ultimate coronary care unit" and that citizens within the community should work toward making available certain defined capabilities, such as CPR. The Crockett County EMS Association is sponsoring CPR and Obstructed Airway classes for the community March 3, 4, and 6th from 6:30 p.m. till 9:30 p.m. at the Granny Miller Hall in Ozona. The class will be free of charge.

Class time will involve CPR and obstructed airway demonstrations, movies, lectures and a lot of basic practice of procedures. Upon passing the course you will receive a card stating that you are CPR certified by The American Heart Association standards.

Time is one of the most important factors in a CPR or obstructed airway incident and you could minimize the time factor by learning each of these skills, thus having the knowledge to help in possibly saving someone's life. Everyone should learn CPR. But if one of your family members is in the high risk category of heart attacks, you should definitely take the time to be a part of this course. The Crockett County EMS hopes that the community of Ozona will join together March 3 and learn these life saving procedures for yourself and others.

For more information contact any EMS member.

Texas Trivia

The Devil's Necklace-History credits an Illinois farmer named Joseph F. Glidden with the invention of barbed wire. However, a Texan was making and using "the Devil's Necklace" 17 years before Glidden patented the idea.

He was John Grinninger (or Grinninger), a European immigrant who worked for an Austin iron foundry. Grinninger had a small truck garden on Waller Creek near what is now the capital city's Town Lake.

To protect his garden, Grinninger strung two wires along the top of the fence surrounding his plot. These wires were twisted together with bits of hoop iron. Between the pieces of hoop iron, Grinninger placed sharpened pieces of wire with points projecting up and down.

Grinninger never tried to sell his idea, however. In 1862, he was murdered in Austin. Five years later, in 1867, the first patent on barbed wire was issued. Then, in 1874, Glidden patented his wire and founded a new industry.

Junior Varsity closes season with a win and a loss

By Amy Beth Scoggins

The Junior Varsity Lions overwhelmed the Sonora JV Broncos on February 11 by a score of 64 to 34 and suffered a loss of 49 to 39 against the Ballinger JV Bearcats on February 14.

"We played well against Sonora," Coach David Porter said. "Each team member got to play quite a bit during the game."

The Lions led 38 to 22 at the end of the first half. The Lions came out in the third quarter and continued to dominate throughout the second half.

Jim Etheridge led in scoring with 14 points followed by Jeff Sanchez with 12 points. Jaime Castellanos and Derold Vargas contributed eight points each. Providing six points each were Danny Sanchez and Javier Martinez while Bret Hood scored four points. Will Seahorn, Jose Gutierrez, and Juan Mendez scored two points each.

The Lions were trailing 10 to 4 in the first quarter against Ballinger. The Bearcats continued to hold the Lions in the second quarter with a score of 24 to 15.

The Bearcats lengthened their lead by one point in the third quarter and now led 36 to 26. The Lions were unable to move ahead of the Bearcats and lost the game.

"We were very cold against Ballinger," Porter commented. "We had lots of opportunities to score, but we couldn't hit the basket."

Etheridge was high scorer with 15 points followed by Seahorn with eight. Danny Sanchez, Copie Davis, and Jeff Sanchez provided four points each. Robby Tambunga contributed two points while Louis Perez and Vargas scored one point each.

"I was very proud of our season overall," Porter added. "We finished 16-7 overall and 6-4 in district. We also came out second in district 3A JV Basketball."

Tom Loeffler reports on the importance of small business

In past reports, I've emphasized the importance of small business to our economy and how essential I believe it is to maintain an economic and regulatory climate that continues to foster the growth of small business.

Some brief statistics give a glimpse into the critical role that our smaller companies play in the economic life of the nation.

Almost half the nation's private work force, 48 percent, is employed by small businesses, which account for 42 percent of all sales and 38 percent of the gross national product. Small businesses are also an important link in job training, providing about two-thirds of the initial job opportunities which give workers the basic skills they need to advance in the labor market. A record 635,000 new businesses were incorporated in 1984, and small business income grew by 17 percent.

Clearly, small business is thriving, but it is equally clear that to continue as a vital force in our economy, smaller firms need a business climate that rewards thrift, enterprise and innovation.

To gather ideas on keeping small business healthy, the White House Conference on Small Business will bring together more than 1,800 delegates from small businesses across the nation next August in Washington, D.C. Who better to ask than the people who have been such a great source of innovation in the past, small business owners?

Texas will send 88 delegates to the White House Conference, and they'll discuss how government policies affect small business. From taxes and government regulation to international trade and interest rates, the decisions made in Washington have tremendous impact on small businesses.

For example, tax increases in the 1970's had a particularly harsh effect on small business growth and investment. However, Congress in 1981 provided for a three-year tax cut and made several changes in the federal income tax code to encourage small business growth and make it easier to keep family-owned businesses together. As a result, small businesses are finding it a little easier to survive April 15 each year.

I voted for these changes, and I intend to review very carefully the recommendations of this year's White House Conference on Small Business, because I want to keep America the sort of place where individual initiative still counts.

Multiplied thousands of times, that individual spirit of enterprise comprises the single greatest source of energy and innovation in our economy. Our small business owners believe in the American dream and they've helped to build it, so if we value America, we should listen to what they have to say.

Spring Break is next week

Ozona students and faculty will be free next week for Spring Break.

Schools will dismiss at the regular times Friday, Feb. 21, and reconvene March 3.

Journey through Texas-

1830's are peak years in Texas-Mexico conflicts, views are altered

By Sara Snyder

The 1830's, peak years in terms of the Texas-Mexico conflicts, have permanently altered the Mexican citizen's view of his native land and of his lot in life. He has seen his own country be steadily weakened from the constant whirlwind of revolutions. He has seen the new America growing with that special recklessness that seems to portend an expanding disregard for older, more classical conventions. America took Louisiana in 1803 and since then he has known, as have all Mexicans, that it will not rest until it controls Texas.

All of Mexico knows that Texas, with its particular fertility, riches, climate and position, will at best produce an extreme legal struggle between the United States of the North and his homeland. At worst, a bitter and fruitless war will ensue.

Mexico, though, needs to keep Texas. It has the life-giving advantage of its splendid, navigable rivers, which a Mexico without Texas lacks. At stake in its sprawling expanse are all the requisite conditions for prosperity in agriculture, industry and commerce. These people are ready and willing to fight for land that is rightly theirs.

Texas, Mexico proclaims, has had more than its fair share of independence! The Federal Act of May 1824 made Texas into a sovereign state with Coahuila, with the even more generous provision that Texas can become its own state when its population grows sufficiently. The act is only nine years old and already they're claiming it is not enough--they want to become their own state within the Confederacy of Mexico and they want to govern themselves. Who's ever heard of such a thing? The supreme government of Mexico, now under President Santa Anna, is the rightful ruler of all people in this confederacy.

Most Mexicans these days ask themselves and others, "Who is this newly colonized, upstart territory acting with such impudence and malice?" One moment Texans are claiming that the river Sabine is not the river Sabine, but the river Neches. Then they go to the Rio Grande region, claiming that they are fulfilling the treaty with Mexico that calls for Texas protecting the motherland against hostile Indians. They are, in fact, simply infiltrating the heart of Mexico as a war strategy!

Texas' distortion of facts can be tolerated. Its greed can be attributed in part to the United States of the North's inherent disregard for established territories and existing civilizations. After all, conclusive reports secure the Mexican conviction that their own armies are skilled beyond the capabilities of the Texas soldiers.

This superiority is proven, too, in these years of 1835 and '36, when the powerful Santa Anna storms the Alamo, wins at Goliad and conquers all the land in between. Victory continues until the heinous battle at San Jacinto in April of '36. The Mexican troops are viciously slaughtered with a chilling brutality that will burn in the hearts of all Mexicans forever. The defeated Santa Anna surrenders and is taken prisoner by Sam Houston. Bold and vicious Texas has won the war.

Mexicans watch the ratifications of peace being exchanged at Queretere--the long campaign to keep Texas has ended. The United States of the North evacuates a beaten Mexico with no regard for the evils produced by its encroachment. Mexican citizens learn the bitter lesson of what occurs when disorder, asperity and anarchy prevail.

This "Journey Through Texas" is a Sesquicentennial project of Office of Media Relations of the University of Houston-University Park.

The Value of Electricity

Just $1 will buy enough electricity to light your kitchen... make coffee in an automatic-drip coffee maker... cook eggs on an electric range... fix toast in a toaster... and cook bacon in a microwave oven, and you'll have CHANGE LEFT OVER!

The price of electricity to do all these things every morning during a week for a family of four is just 67¢! These costs are based on a WTU average rate and estimated kilowatt-hour consumption.

Electricity is still one of the greatest values for the money. And, it's one bargain you don't have to go out and shop for.

Trashing Texas hiways invite a fat fine

Better think twice next time you start to trash the highways.

The eyes of Texas are upon you. And it just might mean a fat fine as Texas law enforcement officers focus keen attention on litterers under a new highway department program.

The new antilitter enforcement program invites municipalities to enter into year-long contracts whereby they are reimbursed for issuing citations to persons who dump trash on state highway rights-of-way. The amounts awarded for contracts are based on populations, and will be approved on a first-come first-serve basis until the $1 million set aside for the program is depleted.

The enforcement effort is part of the department's $4 million antilitter "Don't Mess With Texas" campaign that was launched last fall to reduce litter along Texas highways by 20 percent. Litter cleanup cost taxpayers $24 million in 1985.

The antilitter enforcement program will reimburse a city $20 per citation. "We have to get tough with these litterers, and that's exactly what we're going to do through this program," said Craig Steffens, head of the department's landscape section.

"There is nothing more effective than to have a police officer stop you and give you a ticket," said Steffens. "We especially want to ticket persons who create illegal dump sites by the side of the highway."

The program is intended to provide an incentive to increase enforcement of existing litter laws. During the first six months of 1985, 237 citations for litter violations were issued statewide.

The department will provide reimbursement for the ticket, not for the conviction. The maximum penalty for littering has been raised to $400.

"Our goal is to reduce the overall litter in the state, but we know from research and past experiences that you don't reduce it by picking it up. You reduce it through public awareness," said Steffens.

In addition to the $1 million enforcement program, the campaign includes a $2 million public education and media program, a $300,000 subsidy for the statewide Keep Texas Beautiful, Inc. organization, and $700,000 in landscaping projects for winners of the annual Governor's Community Achievement Awards for Clean Communities.

Keep Texas Beautiful, Inc. will be contacting cities and furnishing contract documents to solicit participation. City officials interested in the program may contact Keep Texas Beautiful, Inc. at (512) 478-8813 or they can call their local highway district office.

Reimbursement for litter citations will be made quarterly. The population of a city will determine the total amount of the contract as outlined below.

A city with population 9,999 and below—amount of contract, $2,500—No. of tickets, 125.

USE HEAT TAPE SAFELY

Heat tape can keep exposed pipes from freezing this winter, but can also be a fire hazard if used improperly, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service housing specialist. Heat tape contains electrical wires and insulation and produces heat when plugged into an electrical outlet, says Dr. Susan Quiring.

"While heat tape itself is a safe product, it's often used improperly, and is a frequent cause of home fires," she adds. One study shows that 40% of home fires involving heat tape were caused by the tape being incorrectly installed so that it lapped over itself. The specialist advises consumers to know the diameter and length of the pipe to be protected before buying heat tape. Manufacturers usually suggest specific lengths for various pipe sizes to avoid either the hazards of overlapping or excess tape.

Anytime we feel under pressure, when we are afraid of falling at ourselves, or feel lonely, sad, hurt, or insecure, we are in a stressful situation. Certain foods are often ingested during stressful times and often increase the stress even more. Caffeinated drinks, sugar products and alcohol are common examples.

Primary sources of caffeine include coffee, tea, soft drinks, and chocolate. One cup of coffee or tea isn't harmful to most people, but excessive amounts can put the body under undue stress. The amount of caffeine in two cups of coffee is enough to raise blood pressure 10 points. Contrary to popular belief, caffeine does not help a person lose weight.

If one is accustomed to drinking large quantities of caffeine, a month of gradual weaning from the drug is helpful. Some people experience withdrawal symptoms such as fatigue, sleepiness, and headaches when going off caffeine, but these symptoms should dissipate after two weeks.

Sugar can be considered addictive, since one frequently craves sweetness or more sugar within 2-4 hours following sugar ingestion. Sugar also raises the pulse rate by 10 to 20 points after ingestion and remains high for several hours. Sugar also sends the body on a rollercoaster ride alternating high and low blood sugar levels and insulin secretion levels, shortly thereafter.

When sugar enters the stomach it is absorbed rapidly in the small intestine and goes directly to the liver and bloodstream. In response to a sudden increase in blood sugar, insulin is quickly produced in the pancreas to reduce the blood sugar level. Often times too much insulin is pumped into the bloodstream resulting in anxiety, weakness, a flushed feeling, and cold, sweaty palms. This is a clear indication that your body is in a state of stress.

The best way to avoid sugar stress is to eat complex carbohydrates—starchy vegetables, fruits, and cereals. Eating on a regular schedule and small meals provides a constant source of energy.

Alcohol is a prototype of most tranquilizers and sedatives that produces a relaxing effect for 2-3 hours and then issues a low grade stimulation for the next 12-18 hours. Various tranquilizers assumed to be relaxants do not relax muscle tension. One recent study done by electromyograph, a machine which measures levels of muscle tension, proved that the commonly used tranquilizer imparted the relaxation feeling, but did not reduce muscular tension.

The effect of "calmative" drugs is long lasting—as long as 50 hours. Most tranquilizers and sedative drugs share the stimulation effect of alcohol. On the contrary, 15 minutes of walking after work is much more effective in relieving tension and improving relaxation than drugs.

Buffet supper to benefit senior center

A buffet Mexican supper will be held at the Civic Center Friday, Feb. 28, for the benefit of Helping Hands for the Elderly. Prices will be $4 for adults and $2.50 for children. Proceeds will be used to purchase a hood for the cook stove which has already been installed in the center.

At present the Meals on Wheels program is operating out of the Catholic Church kitchen. Operations began Feb. 10, with 35 meals being served daily. Work is almost finished on the senior citizen center. Painting on the inside has been finished and most appliances installed. Kathy Reavis expects the center to open by March 1. Until that time the meals will be prepared at the church Monday through Friday. Juanita Delgado heads up the kitchen staff and says more volunteers could be used to deliver the meals.

Dan Pullen asks school board spot

Dan Pullen has authorized The Stockman to announce his candidacy for school board trustee, subject to the April 5, election.

In asking for this position, Pullen cites his background in teaching and business as qualifications for the position. Pullen moved to Ozona in 1966, as a member of the Ozona School faculty. He married the late Katrina Hardberger in 1968, also a school teacher. He left his teaching career and went to work at Ozona National Bank from 1972-74 then returned to teaching.

He returned to the bank in 1980 and was recently promoted to Senior Vice President of that institution. He has two daughters in Ozona public schools, Sarah, 13, and Susan, 11.

He is a graduate of Texas A&M and native of Fort McKavett. He feels he is fully aware of the responsibility of school board trustees, having been on both sides of the fence, so to speak. He assures the voters he will give his full attention to the betterment of education in Ozona schools, and asks the vote and support of all.

should be subject to these same precautions. After all, we cannot be too careful.

White is on a roll. His crusade against public school teachers has gained him all the publicity he expected. As long as he does not propose an IQ test for governors, he should be in good shape.

Spring blood drive is today at Chamber

The spring blood drive will be held today from 3 until 8 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce office. The quota for this drive is 50 pints.

Officials from the United Blood Services, which serves this area, stress there is no possible way to contact disease of any kind when giving blood. All needles and syringes used are in a sterile bag, one of which is used for each donor.

Most healthy people age 17 or older can donate, through age 65. The donor must weigh a minimum of 110 pounds and wait at least 8 weeks between donations. Approximately one pint of blood is taken from the donor's arm. Since the average person has 10 to 12 pints, giving one doesn't hurt.

Blood drives here in the past have met the quota and many times gone over quota. Everyone in good health is asked to donate at this drive.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor;

Feb. 10, 1986

I work with the Drug Program in the Ozona School System. My work allows me to visit each school in Ozona on a drop-in basis.

I would like to share with you my thoughts about your school system.

While visiting the Primary School one day, I saw Mr. Spiller talking with a class of Pre-Kindergarden children. Some of these students cannot speak English. Mr. Spiller had their undivided attention, all of them. He captured their attention by the kindness and caring in his voice. After Mr. Spiller left, the teacher looked at me and said "He does this all the time."

"Bo" and I delivered a program to several classes of young people in the Intermediate School. Mr. Wallace sat in on this program. He made it his business to see what was being presented to his students. The students have a good rapport with him because they were in no way inhibited by his presence. They asked some very good questions. I could tell that they feel his keen interest in their education.

I have never seen a Principal who spends as much time in the halls as Mr. Probst, (Jr. High Principal) does. He has an excellent one on one relationship with his students. When classes change, Mr. Probst can be found in the halls with the students. This very real interest in young people is apparent in Mr. Probst's way of daily school life. The students will always find their Principal ready and willing to talk with them concerning all matters large or small.

My impressions of Mr. Payne are varied. Mr. Payne is the Principal of the High School. Mr. Payne has a great respect for his students. He always treats them as adults, never as children. I have heard Mr. Payne talk with a student about school policy and when the conversation was ended, the student came away with a total understanding of Mr. Payne's wishes and a memory of a good conversation. No hard feelings. Believe me, when I was raising my children, I was never able to master this ability. Mine always came away mad or grounded. I guess the message I am trying to convey, is that your students in Ozona are in terrific hands.

Scharlotta Smith
