I was as surprised as Col. Gaddafi, to wake up Tuesday morning and find that the United States had retaliated against this terrorist regime. Although there was surprise, there was also a certain pride. As long as the terrorists were operating in the middle east and doing it to each other, it did not concern me so much. However, when the colonel directed attacks against Americans all over the globe, we had no alternative but to retaliate. Had the Central Intelligence Agency not been rendered impotent after Watergate, it would have been simple to just have Gaddafi removed.

Cable News Network asked for and got hundreds of telephone calls between the hours of 3 and 5 Tuesday morning and only one found against the action. This woman thought we should be doing something in South Africa.

It is good to find oneself in the majority for a change. We applauded the President for Granada, now isn't it time we directed our lawmakers toward Central America and rid this hemisphere of the Communist tide?

Sharp death sentence upheld by court

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals last Wednesday upheld the death sentence of a man convicted of abducting and killing a mother and daughter in 1982.

Michael Eugene Sharp was tried for the crimes here in Ozona after the case was moved from Winkler County, where the slayings occurred.

Testimony in the Sharp case showed that Brenda Kay Broadway, accompanied by daughters Salina Kay Elms, 14, and Christy Michelle Elms, 8, went to wash her car on June 11, 1982. At the car wash in Kermit, Sharp forced the three females into his truck and drove towards Monahans.

He turned on a dirt road and tied the victims. Salina was able to escape and make her way to an oil rig where she got help. Her mother and sister were found in a shallow grave, according to court records. Sharp was arrested in Sweetwater June 16, 1982.

The OZONA STOCKMAN won a news award from the West Texas Press Association for coverage on the story.

Court is recipient of sprinkler system for County Library

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met Monday in regular session and found, for a change, they had been given something. Librarian Louise LeDoux reported the Mitchell family, of Circle Bar fame, had donated a complete sprinkler system for the Crockett County Library, and it is in the process of being installed. She also had plans of the landscaping planned for the grounds.

After bills were discussed and finally approved for payment, the meeting got underway. The court has been warned by the County Tax Assessor-Collector as well as the County Auditor, that tax money is going to be scarce this year and for next year's budget. Under these circumstances a little more attention was given to bills and especially questioned were physicians bills for treating wreck victims.

Onesimo Ortiz gave the park department report. He asked for a new blinking light at Ozona Junior High, and B. W. Stuart asked for a blinking light on Bailey Road between the Circle Bar RV Park and the restaurant-motel complex. This is for the purpose of slowing trucks down as they come off I-10 and into the Circle Bar. Stuart motioned and Castro seconded and the motion to purchase the new lights passed.

Ortiz requested the grandstand at the rodeo arena be renovated. He was asked to make a request of the Fair Association and to take bids on the lumber.

Stuart motioned and Castro seconded to have Olive's Nursery replace the trees at the cemetery as they need it, with Crockett County trees. Dirt is being taken from the cemetery, and the court asked permission to erect signs warning of trespassing in order that the Sheriff's Department could arrest those taking the dirt which is for the new addition to the cemetery.

The court set Spring Clean Up for next week, April 21-25. Those wishing to get rubbish and unwanted items off their premises should call 2-3030 for pickup.

Eddie Moore gave the road department report, and reported the Roping Club had asked for pens for steers to be built at the south end of the arena with a shed. A good deal of discussion followed with the court finally deciding to build the pen the easiest way and where there would be less interference with traffic.

Purchases for the road department were brought up, and county auditor Dick Kirby told the court they didn't need to buy anything they did not need right now. He warned money is tight and getting more so.

Garland Young gave the Civic Center report and was very enthusiastic about the all-night graduation party for the seniors which is coming up. He expects this year's party to even surpass the first one which was last year.

Young read a letter the board sent to parents, merchants and individuals, soliciting donations for the alcohol and drug free party which was so well received last year.

Janet Hill appeared before the court with a report on Helping Hands for the Elderly. She reported the building was finished on the inside and that approximately 35 meals were being served daily. When asked, she said the $25,000 originally set aside by the court, would amply carry the organization through the year.

Bill Boswell gave a bleak hospital report. (The complete picture may be

Hospital board in busy meeting April 10, at center

The Crockett County Hospital Board held its regular meeting on April 10, 1986, at the Care Center Dining Room. Members present were Fred Deaton, Alleane Jones, Jo Davidson, Maria Dela Rosa, Ray Borrego and Scotty Moore. Others attending were Dr. Carlisle, Lee Carlisle, Dr. Owensby, Elvira Caldwell, Jacquie King, Bill Boswell, Tom Cameron, Judge Al Fields, Carol Hunnicutt and Doug Meador.

Fred Deaton, President, called the meeting to order. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the Vice President, Alleane Jones. There were no corrections and they stood approved as read. Bill Boswell reported on some unfinished business. The employees' handbook will be changed to read that all new employees, prior to actual employment, shall have a complete physical examination from a physician, including chest x-ray, CBC and urinalysis. Additional tests ordered by the physician will be at the employee's expense. The employee must pass the physical prior to being employed. Current employees would be given only a yearly physical. They would have no x-rays or lab work unless the physician thought it was warranted.

The new telephone system is installed and working. The laboratory QBC equipment was delivered and is in service. There is a quality control system used to check results using the old test method and verification through Pathlab (reference lab) in El Paso. The new state mandated ambulance transfer policy went into effect on April 1, 1986.

A Child Welfare representative looked at office space and will contact the hospital at a later date. The found in the hospital meeting report). He warned the court that without income, the hospital would continue to lose more and more money. He said in the past month, the hospital averaged .01 patient per day. He then asked for a new $3,500 copier. After some discussion DeHoyos motioned and Castro seconded that this piece of equipment be purchased. The court approved.

The court also agreed to enlarge the dining room in the Care Center and asked for bids on the work.

Bids for paving materials were opened at 11 a.m. with Reese Albert getting the bid for the pre-coat and Lilly Construction, the gravel.

The court voted to hire Joe Dewain Friend as a new employee for the Parks Department.

hospital received two bids for the Care Center fire alarm system. Parker Electronics of San Antonio bid $18,600 and Caprock Fire Alarm of Lubbock bid $13,300. No bid has been received yet from Simplex Corporation. Mr. Boswell also reported no funds are available for the EMS Association.

A discussion was held on the need of a copy machine for the hospital. A motion was made by Jo Davidson to recommend to the Commissioner's Court that a Canon NP270F with cabinet and 11 x 17 cassette be purchased at a cost of $3600. The motion was seconded by Alleane Jones and passed. A lifepac defibrillator/cardiac monitor system was discussed. No price was available at this time. It will be discussed further at the next meeting. Mr. Boswell also reported on the progress of locating new x-ray equipment. The new computerized billing system was installed and the first statements have been mailed. The hospital by-law proposed changes have not been returned from Austin at this time.

Elvira Caldwell reported an electrical outlet and minor plumbing changes are needed for installation of the new whirlpool tub. She has asked for bids but none are available, yet. The Board approved the installation. A discussion was held on the expansion of the present Care Center dining room to include the back patio, the air conditioning system in the kitchen and the possibility of using Room 11 as an examination room for the physicians. Scotty Moore made a motion to recommend to Commissioner's Court to extend the dining room and make Room 11 into an exam room.

County leaders to study changes

Crockett County leaders, as well as others throughout Texas, are concerned about rapid changes occurring in the state economy and population. Due to these changes which are placing challenging demands on resources of all state residents and their communities, a meeting was called Thursday evening to form task forces to assist in determining new directions the Texas Agricultural Extension Service should take as the state moves toward the 1990s.

Meetings of this sort have taken place or will take place all over Texas as community leaders attempt to identify the most critical issues facing their communities today.

The Crockett County meeting was held at the high school library. The kick-off meeting was held at 7 p.m. Beth Boyd, chairman of the Crockett County Extension Program Building Committee, gave the welcome and introduction. Dan Pullen, vice chairman of the committee, explained the purpose, telling the group local citizen input is crucial if Extension is to fully address educational needs that reflect the major concerns of all Texans.

Dr. Gary Vannoy presented a slide set explaining the purpose of the meeting and the importance of local input for the mapping of a new plan of action for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, which will be launched this spring, after more than 10,000 Texans, representing all 254 counties, complete a study to identify key local issues.

Dr. Vannoy discussed the four task forces and their duties. These include Community Development, 4-H and Youth, Agriculture and Home Economics. The four groups met in various areas of the building.

Dr. Steve Sessom was the discussion leader for the Community Development task force, with Mrs. Boyd as recorder. The group met in the main library.

Among their priorities were I-10 development, improvement of the economy of existing businesses, ways to identify and market local resources, diversification and evaluation of labor resources.

The 4-H Youth group was headed up by Dr. Vannoy as discussion leader and Debbie Arrott, the recorder. The discussion ranged from encouraging more family involvement to making some of the programs more attractive.

Agriculture task force was presided over by P. L. Childress, III, with Jane Black, recorder. Since agriculture is one of the most important subjects in the Crockett County economy, a lengthy discussion on various topics ensued. Predator control, labor problems and water management topped the list. Also discussed was more public awareness and involvement in government programs affecting agriculture marketing.

The Home Economics task force was headed up by Karen Huffman, Public Health Nurse. Lou Ingram, School Nurse, was the recorder. Among the main topics were teenage pregnancy and parenting. Also, small task forces to go out into the community helping with housekeeping, nutrition and money management.

Some of the task forces plan several meetings before turning in the final reports in May.

Savell's quilt picked for historical exhibit

Texas quilts will make history at the Capitol in Austin next week, as April 18-27 has been proclaimed Sesqui-centennial Quilt Week by Governor Mark White.

Of special interest to those in West Texas will be a quilt made and displayed by Barbara Savell, which she stitched as a tribute to her father, Leo Bishop, a Texas Ranger. Her quilt has been entered in the history category.

The exhibit will feature 100 entries in the statewide contest, which features quilts with Texas themes. The exhibit will open at Highland Mall in Austin, Friday, April 18. The contest offers $5100 in cash prizes. Barbara's quilt has been selected among the top ten which will hang in the rotunda over the weekend as part of the statewide celebration of Texas Quilt Appreciation Days.

Mrs. Savell, her husband, Bill, and their son, Chip, plan to be in Austin for the festivities.

The corner blocks of Barbara's quilt are called "Texas Ranger," the top center block is the Texas flag and the bottom center block, the Texas Ranger flag. The two outer blocks are appliqued with "tools of the trade," chaps, gun, handcuffs, holster, saddle, badge and spurs.

The center block is a Ranger on horseback, the sky behind him gently radiating the rising sun. The Ranger is appliqued in great detail complete with flaps on shirt pockets. The borders are all done in a stitch to represent rope.

Regardless of the judges decision, Barbara plans to donate her quilt to either the Texas Ranger Museum in Waco, or to the Cultural Museum in San Antonio.

An awards celebration will be held at the Mall from 5 until 7 p.m. Friday. The show will then travel through Texas shopping centers until mid-1987.

Barbara is a member of the SOS (Sonora, Ozona, Sewing Club) which takes turns meeting in the Sonora and Ozona homes of its members.

TINSELTOWN MEETS TENDERLOIN

By Edwin Feulner

In 1982, with the economy in recession and the midterm elections fast approaching, opponents of what was then called "Reaganomics" were hard at work laying every conceivable social evil on President Reagan's doorstep.

Bag ladies and panhandlers were a part of the everyday environment long before 1982 and the sudden deluge of media stories about "homelessness." But private relief organizations were then at work to meet their unique needs—needs often grounded in, or complicated by, emotional illness.

However, the homeless are something quite apart from bag ladies and panhandlers. The homeless are fantasy figures created by the Left in their vain search for "victims of Reaganomics." They were created to justify continued high taxes and federal giveaway programs.

Despite the fact that tax cuts helped the economy to create an additional ten-million new jobs since 1982, advocates of the homeless contend that big government is the only available solution. And their know-nothing allies on the Hollywood cocktail party circuit are busy translating this misleading message into a made-for-television movie that will rival Apocalypse Now as a propaganda extravaganza.

The forthcoming film claims to depict the life of Mitch Snyder, head of Washington D.C.'s sixties-era street theatre relic, the Community for Creative Non-Violence (CCNV). Snyder's CCNV, always in the vanguard of the trendy Left, runs a widely publicized shelter for the homeless in an abandoned federal office building near Capitol Hill.

CBS television movie crews recently filmed scenes on location in Washington. The story, a typical Hollywood morality play, casts actor Martin Sheen as Snyder, with actress Cicely Tyson portraying a bag lady who ends up in Snyder's shelter after her home and beauty shop are taken over by "developers." The scenario certainly runs counter to reasons that real cousins individuals wind up on the streets.

Underlining the typical Hollywood flair for the bizarre, the film crew held a glittering cast party at Snyder's shelter. Ridgewell's, Washington's poshest caterer, provided the tuxedo-clad waiters, the silver candelabra, and a lavish spread of country pate sandwiches, kiwi-fruit tarts, and other trendy tidbits, while the cast and a slew of fur-clad ultra-chic partygoers hobnobbed with bag ladies and vagrants. The strawberry cake was adorned with the inscription "Gimme Shelter." One journalist noted, "Warhol should be here." And a mink-wrapped woman expressed concern about the safety of her purse and wondered whether she might "catch something." But the Hollywood crowd just couldn't allow such discomforts to spoil a "maahvalous" evening for making a political statement.

In contrast with Hollywood's attempt to depict the homeless as victims of federal policy, the homeless themselves have other ideas. In a recent Washington Post story, a vagrant calling himself "Big Fat" observed, "Being a bum's a good life. You get instant gratification. You don't have to work all week to hear the boss say you didn't finish something. You bum a nickel, a dime—that's instant gratification."

Big Fat, who sleeps in a downtown D.C. subway station, says most of those in his position avoid shelters by choice. "You gotta understand," he says, "bums are fairly independent people. Life's real free. A bum is free of responsibility. Who wants to get yelled at for $5 a hour?"

Big Fat doesn't sound much like a victim to me. (Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institute.)

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas Comptroller Bob Bullock released his latest budget update last week which reports state spending rose more than 15 percent last month, even as the state approaches bankruptcy.

Despite the ambitious budget-cutting proposals ordered by Gov. Mark White, now busy on the campaign trail, total state spending increased by more than $200 million.

Bullock also said that 889 workers were added to state payrolls, despite a hiring freeze ordered last month by White.

The spending in March was a dramatic increase over the monthly average for the preceding six months.

Bullock did not comment on why Mark White's austerity program did not appear to be working, and White's office disputed Bullock's figures.

A White spokesman said Bullock's staff erred by counting Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby as a White employee, a charge Bullock's staff laughed off as untrue.

State Rep. Bill Ceverha, R-Richardson, again lead a GOP push for White to call a special session to trim the budget.

Ceverha said White's austerity plan is doomed and digging the state deeper into debt. White responded no special session will be called. Hobby agreed with the governor.

Bullock, meanwhile, will monitor the progress of the austerity plan with monthly updates.

White Attacks Reagan White was gone most of the week, spending the latter days in Washington calling for an oil import tariff.

He accused Reagan of leading the nation "down the road to devastation" by ignoring calls for the tariff. He also attacked White House Texans Vice President George Bush for bowing down to OPEC and called Treasury Secretary James Baker a liar.

Meanwhile, Reagan last week signed legislation releasing some $420 million in offshore oil revenues to Texas.

Election Day Nears

Speculation continues that White could face a runoff opponent, probably Dallas attorney Don Crowder who continues to list new support, from teachers and blacks, particularly.

White and Crowder are going hammer and tongs behind the scenes.

White's staff denied arranging the job-firing of former House Education Chairman Dan Kubiak shortly after he endorsed Crowder. Kubiak was fired as campaign manager of the Greg Loughlin 14th district congressional race.

In the Republican Primary, former Gov. Bill Clements still continues to lead polls, but whether he can outdistance a runoff with either Tom Loefler or Kent Hance is unclear.

Texas Supreme Court

Two Texas Supreme Court justices who have been subpoenaed to appear before the House Judicial Affairs Committee obtained a court order last week to block enforcement.

The committee wants Justices William Kilgarlin and C. L. Ray to appear in connection with a probe into improper contact between judges and lawyers with pending cases.

Their attorney implied the panel chairman, San Antonio Representative Frank Tejada, was trying to draw attention to his state senate campaign. Tejada said he will continue to push the investigation.

Fundamentalist Rally

Over 4,000 people mobbed the Capitol Thursday to protest state regulation of private schools and home education.

The crowd spilled outside the LBJ Library where the State Board of Education was considering the rules. Protesters feared new rules would effectively wipe out several small unaccredited schools and hamstring homeschooling.

Republican gubernatorial candidates Bill Clements and Kent Hance addressed the crowd.

Clements called the state proposals "a bureaucratic power grab" and Hance threatened to sue the board if the rules passed.

Three state officials spoke to lobbyists for Israel last week and boosted areas of common interest.

Railroad Commissioner Mack Wallace criticized Reagan for not aiding independent oil producers here, and urged the group to support U.S. oil "so we don't have to bow on our knees to Saudi Arabia or anyone else."

Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, drawing parallels between Israel and arid West Texas state land, said his trip to Israel led to experiments here with pistachios and asparagus.

Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said the Texas-Israel Exchange is a program for trading technologies in dry-land farming, crop development and water conservation.

Cardinals ruin home opener for Royals

The San Angelo Cardinals came to Ozona Sunday afternoon and spoiled the Royals home-opener by sweeping a double-header 5 to 1 and 8 to 2.

A combination of Cardinals solid pitching and Royals rusty batting led to a long afternoon for the hometown Royals.

Steve Sanchez was on the mound for the Royals in game one and went the distance in a losing cause. S. Sanchez gave up five runs on six hits, one error, two walks, and ten strikeouts. With no score in the top of the second Larry Montolongo of the Cardinals hit a hard double up the third baseline. Sanchez then struck out two batters and walked one. With two outs in the inning Siegles hit an 0-2 pitch to right-center scoring two runs for the Cardinals. The Cardinals scored two more runs in the fourth, on a lead-off home run by Montolongo and one on a hit and an error. The Cardinals last score came in the fifth on a single and a double. The Royals had their chances but could only manage to score one run in the bottom of the seventh. The Royals found themselves in some early pitching problems in game two losing an 8 to 2 decision.

Veteran Richard Sanchez who pitched an impressive game last Sunday ran into early inning wildness on the mound and was picked up by Abel Lara in the third inning. The Cardinals scored five runs on three hits and four walks off R. Sanchez before Lara came on in relief. The Royals continued to have problems at the plate in game two and only scored two runs on five hits. R. Sanchez pitched 2 1/2 innings allowing five runs on three hits, four walks, and one strike out. Lara pitched 4 1/2 allowing three runs on three hits, two walks and five strike outs. The Royals only two scores of the game were in the fifth and sixth innings when Arnold Vargas and John Galvan crossed the plate.

Ozona manager Hector DeHoyos was disappointed with the Royals performance at the plate but plans to improve next week.

The Royals will be in Sonora to play a double-header against the Sonora Colt 45's Sunday afternoon at 1:00 p.m.

Round-up fifty years ago stirs memories

Joe Fleming of Seguin, was in Ozona Monday, and brought a photo he took several years ago, in 1931 to be exact, while they were working sheep on the Roy Henderson University country west of Ozona.

Fleming and a friend, during the Depression, were on their way from East Texas to Carlsbad, N.M. where they hoped to find work.

Each night they would camp out at a nearby windmill. After passing through Ozona one late afternoon, they stopped at a mill on the Henderson place. Fleming said he had never seen so many cowboys or horses in his life. They were extended hospitality by the ranch foreman, Zack Eppler, and spent the night hearing yarns about the range. Upon arising the next morning, about 4:00 a.m., Fleming said they were offered jobs cowboying. They were tempted, but resumed their trip.

After several break-downs and flats, Fleming said they arrived in Carlsbad. Through the years he has always remembered that night at the Henderson mill. He visited Miss June Henderson about two years ago when he and his wife were in the area.

He has been county judge in Guadalupe County for many years, but since his retirement, he and his wife travel some in their recreational vehicle, and this was their mode of travel when they were in Ozona Monday.

He left the photo he took of the ranch crew some 55 years ago, and asked that it be returned to Mrs. Henderson after its use in the OZONA STOCKMAN. He felt some were still around who knew the crew or knew of them.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

As the spring days grow longer, everyone should be enjoying this beautiful season of the year, even though we do need rain and maybe it will come before you read this. Of course the chores seem to double up as the days go by, but it pays off to accomplish all you can before the days get so long and hot.

Some tips that may help you maintain your garden easier and have more time to really enjoy it are:
First, a well prepared garden soil before the planting will reduce later problems.

Proper timing of various gardening practices will make work easier. A plant well past its proper pruning stage will be a much more difficult job than if pruned at the proper time. Watering at the correct time is important and planting in the proper season.

Mulch plants with a loose mulch to eliminate weeding to conserve moisture and control soil temperatures.

Avoid small patches of beds in open lawns that require edging and mowing around and general upkeep.

Proper edging of beds will make soil control easier as well as edging.

Maintain and select good gardening tools.

Gardening chores and methods geared to the north are not always adaptable in the south.

Choose structural materials--brick, wood-surfacing in the place of plants in some areas of the landscape to reduce maintenance.

Apply a general fertilizer to all plants annually in the spring. A healthy growing plant reduces insect and disease attacks.

Do not overplant or plant more than you can properly maintain. Know the plant you select and its culture demands.

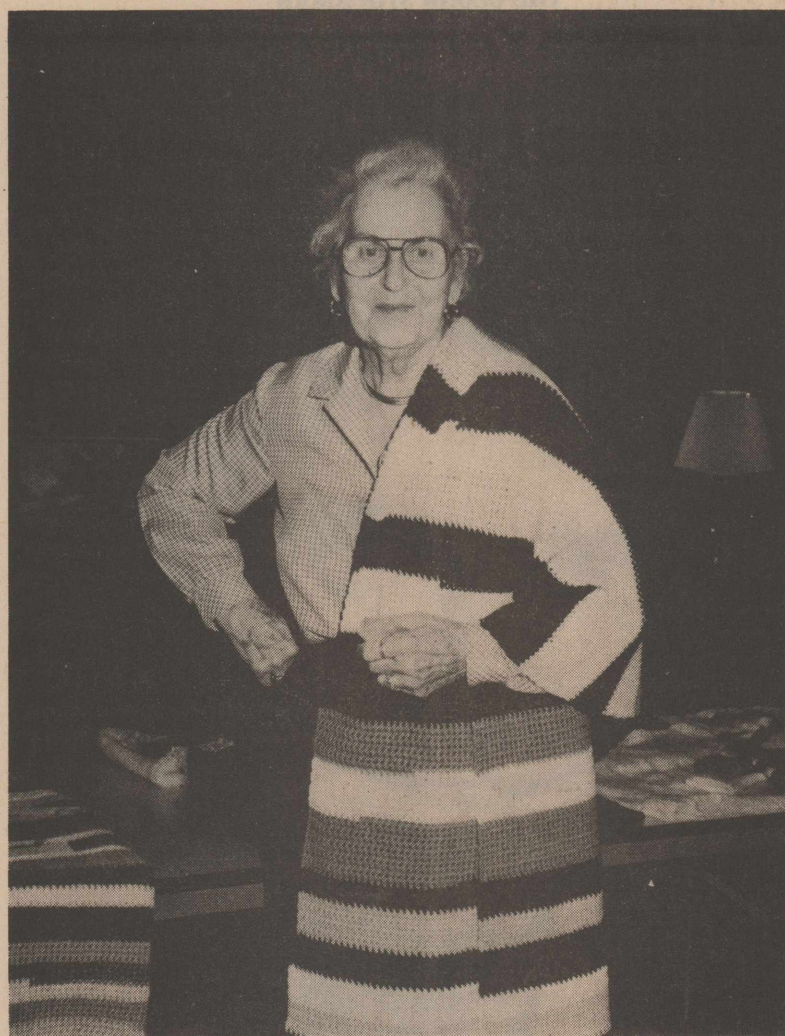

Be sure each plant is doing a job for you, such as screening shade, accent, etc. If a plant has no landscape value, eliminate it.

Consider ground cover planting in tight, difficult areas to maintain.

Minimize annual and perennial beds which require continual care.

Choose standard, easy to care for plants that are well adapted.

Anticipate insect and disease attacks and prevent rather than try to eradicate once they are well established.

Middle Age

"Middle Age?" It's an elusive age which no one admits reaching, denies when accused of being there, and resents insinuations as having passed it.

Dante fixed "the middle year of life at about 35." That squares with the Biblical "three-score and ten" if you divide it equally.

But Middle Age is not determined by calendar-year or birthday, but by the position of life. It is not a year but an era.

It is that time (position) of life when you are attending funerals of your mentors, saying farewell to your children, and welcoming grandchildren. And it happens at different ages for various people.

Your parents and other significant mentors have either died or retired. And suddenly you discover the legacy of leadership and heritage of tradition are in your hands. You turn to look up, as in days past, only to find that family and the lesser-aged are looking up to you!

Middle age is being in the middle of whatever is happening in your life and the little world over which you have certain obligations and responsibilities.

Scary? Sometimes. Exciting? Yes. Inevitable? You bet!

Alamo defenders get ready to battle forces

As dawn broke today, March 3, 1836, the 182 patriots in the Alamo could only watch as the last courier left the Alamo, taking with him a few letters-and the last hope for survival.

The Alamo and all of San Antonio has belonged to Texas for the last three months, since Ben Milam routed Mexico's General Cos from the city in a fine battle. But now General Cos' brother-in-law, General Santa Anna, has come to take back the Alamo. He's got 6,000 soldiers and no desire to take prisoners.

If Col. William Travis had followed orders, the Alamo would now be rubble. Gen. Sam Houston told him to blow up the fort and retreat to Goliad to solidify Texas' forces. But Travis wouldn't have it. He and 150 men decided to hold the fort. Only 32 men from nearby Gonzales have answered his call for reinforcements, but surely more will come.

Yesterday, the politicians signed the Texas Declaration of Independence in Washington-on-the-Brazos, but it seems independence will have to be earned here at the old mission.

Col. William Bonham has just hightailed it through the whole Mexican army outside the Alamo! He's come to tell Col. Travis that Fannin's men can't make it. No more men will be coming to the Alamo.

That leaves 182 Texas fighters to face 6,000 heavily armed Mexican troops.

Days ago, when things began to look bad, Santa Anna had offered surrender and Col. Travis had considered it. But when the Mexican said "You must surrender at discretion, without any guarantee of life, which traitors do not deserve!" Travis decided it was better to fight.

Now, Travis can see that, no matter what, death awaits him and his brave companions.

The last bag of mail has gone out. Col. Travis sent a letter to the government at Washington-on-the-Brazos, telling them why everyone is still here, being bombarded for the 11th day by Mexican artillery.

"The power of Santa Anna is to be met here by the colonies," says the colonel. "We had better meet it here than to suffer a war of desolation to rage in our settlements. They have declared us rebels and demanded that we surrender at discretion or this garrison shall be put to the sword. Their threats have no influence on me or my men, but to make all fight with desperation and to die in defense of his country's liberty and his own honor. God and Texas! Victory or Death!"

That same letter pouch holds the last note from one Alamo defender, Isaac Millsaps, to his blind wife and six kids in Gonzales. "I hope help comes soon 'cause we can't fight them all," Millsaps writes. "If we fail here, get to the river with the children; all Texas will be before the enemy. If any men come through there, tell them to hurry with powder for it is short. I hope you get this and know--I love you all. I don't know what else to say. They are calling for all letters. Kiss the dear children for me and believe as I do that all will be well and God protects us all." Isaac

Now it is afternoon and Col. Travis gives the men one last chance to leave. With his sword, he draws a long, straight line in the dirt, right in front of the whole bunch of defenders of the Alamo. "Those who wish to stay and die, cross that line. Who'll be first March!" Travis shouts. After they carry Jim Bowie across in his sick bed, only Moses Rose takes the chance to leave, making him the last white man to escape the battle of the Alamo.

After 74 years- - -

A tale of two ships-- - -

by Jamie Pagan

In 1898, fourteen years before the Titanic's voyage, a popular novel written by Morgan Robertson and called "Futility" appeared in the United States. It was a story about a great "unsinkable" luxury liner named the Titan that sank in the North Atlantic after hitting an iceberg at top speed. Almost all of the passengers lost their lives because there were not enough lifeboats aboard. The similarities between the fictional Titan and the real Titanic are uncanny:

Ship Length	Titan	Titanic
Propellers	3	3
Speed at Impact	25 knots	22 knots
Number of Passengers	3,000	2,340
Number of Lifeboats	24	20
Month of Sinking	April	April

The Titanic was built at the Belfast, Ireland, shipyards of Harland and Wolff for White Star Line of Liverpool, England.

The Titanic was 882.5 feet long and 93 feet wide. She weighed 46,328 gross tons (103,774,720 pounds) and was 175 feet in height, from her keel to the top of her 4 huge funnels. She was, in short, 11 stories high and 4 city blocks long. The Titanic was built throughout of steel and had a cellular double bottom. Perhaps her most interesting feature was her water-tight construction. She had 16 watertight compartments, formed by 15 watertight bulkheads running clear across the ship.

The Titanic could still stay afloat with any two of the compartments full of water, and since no one at the time could imagine anything worse than a collision at the juncture of two compartments, she was labeled "unsinkable".

The Titanic was capable of delivering a top speed of 25 knots, supplied by 55,000 horsepower.

The "unsinkable" Titanic was launched on May 31, 1911. The next ten months were spent in fitting her out. She completed her trials on April 1, 1912, and arrived in South Hampton, England on April 3. She began her ill-fated "maiden" voyage from South Hampton to New York on April 10, 1912, at 12 noon.

The Titanic had Edward J. Smith, as her captain, a man with a good reputation as one of White Star Line's finest.

On board, were 1,480 passengers and the crew numbered 860.

One way passage in the most luxurious first-class suites, with private promenades, went for $4,350, equivalent to about $50,000 today. The ship, in addition to her splendid suites, cabins, dining saloons, ball rooms and lounges, housed a swimming pool, squash and tennis courts, sun parlors, a Turkish bath, a gymnasium and several libraries.

Several of the first class passengers on board had fortunes worth millions of dollars. The most noteworthy was John Jacob Astor (estimated worth $150 million), who was returning from Egypt with his 19 year old bride.

The voyage was uneventful the first 3 days out.

Lib and Charlie Applewhite were in Stephenville, over the weekend as spectators in a soccer tournament their grandchildren, Clifford and Derek Nicholas, were participants in.

It was Sunday afternoon, April 14, the fateful day, when passengers first noticed patches of drifting ice. What no one on the Titanic knew was that the ice conditions in the North Atlantic were the worst in 50 years for the month of April.

The Titanic received six wireless messages that Sunday warning of the danger of ice. The third message proved to be the most crucial one. The message was from the German steamship, Amerika, and it warned Captain Smith of two large icebergs sighted directly in the Titanic's path. The message never reached the bridge. The reason the message was not given to the Captain is not known. It has been theorized that Phillips, the senior wireless operator in the Titanic's marconi room did not realize the significance of the message and it was lost in the shuffle of the many messages dropped off by the passengers.

At 10:00 p.m., it was 32 degrees. At 10:30 p.m., the sea temperature was 31 degrees and still dropping. There was no moon, but the sky was cloudless and full of stars. The Titanic was making about 22 knots.

At a little before 11:40 p.m., seaman Fleet, stationed in the crow's nest telephoned the bridge reporting an iceberg straight ahead.

Almost immediately, first officer Murdoch, who had come on duty at 10:00 p.m., gave the order to "hard-a-starboard" and pushed the telegraph levers to "stop, full speed astern". The ship struck the iceberg well forward on her starboard (right) side.

Captain Smith rushed to the bridge to find out what they had hit. Murdoch reported to him that they had struck an iceberg. Captain Smith then summoned Thomas Andrews, chief designer of the Titanic, and both went below to examine the damage.

The ice had sliced the Titanic open about 10 feet above the level of the keel for a distance of 300 feet. Five compartments were completely flooded and the Titanic was a doomed ship.

Captain Smith summoned his crew and told them the worst. He also told them that first priority to the lifeboats would go to the women and children.

He then instructed his senior wireless operator to start sending S.O.S. signals. This was at 12:15 a.m. At approximately 12:25 a.m., the liner Carpathia responded to the S.O.S. The Carpathia's captain, Arthur Rostron wired back and said he was 58 miles away and coming to the rescue. He was too far away to help the Titanic.

At approximately 12:30 a.m., the lifeboats were loading up with women and children. The men stood on the boat deck bidding the wives farewell, knowing that they would probably never see them again.

One of the most inhuman acts done by the crew of the Titanic on that tragic early Monday morning, was that they did not tell the third class passengers about the ship sinking and would not allow most of them out on the boat deck. Only a few of these passengers survived.

At 2:05 a.m., the last boat was lowered to the water. There were 12 boats in all and about 8 of them were only half full. More could have been saved, approximately 240 more.

At 2:20 a.m., with the ship's band, in a remarkable display of courage playing the Episcopal hymn "Auld Synn", the magnificent "unsinkable" Titanic slipped beneath the surface taking 1,520 people with her.

Approximately 328 dead were later recovered, including John Jacob Astor, but all of the rest of the 1,520 went down with the Titanic.

It would be over 73 years before the Titanic would be located on September 1, 1985, by scientists aboard the research vessel, Knorr, operated for the U.S. Navy by the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution.

The Titanic rests in the North Atlantic, approximately 2 1/2 miles deep.

Many proposals have been made about taxing to raise her from her watery grave. I can only say let the lady rest. She belongs to the ages now.

Eating at Fast Food Restaurants

Many people eat meals at fast food restaurants. Fast food establishments have limited menus and generally specialize in fried foods, milk shakes and other high-calorie selections.

Even in fast-food restaurants you can make lower calorie choices in line with good nutrition. The following tips will help cut calories.

Select broiled or grilled meat. If it is breaded and fried, remove the breading. Order the smaller hamburger or the smaller bun instead of ordering the larger hamburger. If ordering the larger one, eat only one-half the bun.

Add generous servings of lettuce, tomatoes, and pickles to the hamburgers. These add nutrients and a minimum of calories.

Some fast food restaurants are adding salad bars because of consumer demand. To control calories, select a restaurant that includes this choice. Oil and vinegar is a good low calorie dressing choice.

Avoid fried potatoes and onion rings.

Drink skim milk or skimmed buttermilk instead of whole milk for a good calcium source with lower calories. Avoid drinking milk shakes. One cheese slice on a hamburger adds calcium without excessive calories.

Orange juice is available at some fast food restaurants and is high in Vitamin C as well as low in calories. Diet beverages, coffee, tea or water are good choices. Avoid adding extra cream or sugar to these low calorie beverages.

Avoid thick tartar sauces or mayonnaise-based dressings. Use mustard for flavor without adding calories.

Use mustard for flavor without adding calories.

A variety of health related exhibits will open at 10:00 a.m. and include: American Optometric Association, Department of Public Health, Associated Milk Producers, Social Security, Belton Hearing Services, Home Health Care, Family Shelter, Department of Human Services, Planned Parenthood, Local Fire Department and Emergency Medical Technicians, American Cancer Society, Local Dentist, Shannon Hospital and Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Crockett County Library Notes

By Louise Ledoux

Crockett County Public Library is proud to announce a variety of new projects at the library. This Sesquicentennial year marks the beginning of CCPL offering many new programs for the people of Crockett County.

First, and most obvious, new Landscaping. A big Thank You goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Gary Mitchell for getting our Landscaping off to such a great start. We are sorry for any inconvenience to our patrons during all this yard remodeling. We will be installing a sprinkler system and then we can begin planting grass and other plants.

Second, a new Literacy program. We want to thank Mrs. Joan Nicholas for her participation and enthusiasm in starting off the Literacy Reading Program at the Library. Anyone interested in becoming a Tutor or a Student, please contact Mrs. Nicholas.

Third, and very exciting are our Children's Programs. With the help of our Friends of the Library group, we are starting in May with a Story and Film Hour for the little ones - 3 to 5. Then after school is out, there will be programs beginning for the older children. We plan to have a Sesquicentennial Reading Program with certificates and prizes for books read, films and filmstrips, contests and much, much more. It's going to be a fun summer at the CCPL. All volunteers interested in helping with these programs are urged to come by the Library and sign up. High School students are welcome as volunteers.

Crockett County Arts and Craft Guild will hold a general meeting, April 17, 7 p.m. at the Civic Center. All members are urged to attend.

WTU receives PUC O.K. to send refunds

West Texas Utilities Company has received permission from the Public Utility Commission of Texas to refund more than $9 million in over-collected fuel costs to its retail customers.

The PUC's action was in response to a request filed March 17 by WTU. The total amount to be refunded includes $9,146,092 in actual fuel costs savings which have accumulated since the current fuel rate for WTU was set by the PUC last August, plus $215,837 in interest.

The refunds will be made through one-time credits on bills customers will receive in May. The typical customer should receive about $22.

Also approved was WTU's proposal to reduce its fuel rates, technically known as the Interim Quarterly Fixed Fuel Factor, for the three-month period beginning in May. WTU officials estimate that fuel charges to customers will drop by 8.2 per cent during that period. Base rates for kilowatt-hours used have not changed since 1984 and will remain the same.

WTU's fuel costs have declined for two years in a row, largely due to a softening natural gas market. Utility companies are allowed to pass the fuel costs to customers. Adjustments for over-collections or under-collections formerly were made automatically each month, but since 1983 utilities in Texas have collected fuel costs through fixed factors, which have necessitated refunds. This will be WTU's second refund within a year.

Youth board and teen council needs help with grad party

In April 1985 the Crockett County Youth Center Board and Teen Council decided to honor the Sr. Class of '85 with an all night celebration involving the entire high school. It was a large undertaking, but with hard work and the generous donations from parents, individuals, and business people, the celebration was a huge success.

Our idea was conceived to provide an alcohol and chemical free alternative to the traditional drinking parties that seem to have become the accepted form of celebration following graduation. Far too often in our community, the future potential of young adult lives and the happiness of special events have been marred by the tragedy of drinking-and-driving accidents.

Our plans are now underway to honor the Sr. Class of 1986 with another all-night celebration to be held May 30th at the Crockett Co. Civic Center. Our activities include movies, dance contests, with music by KRCT in a live broadcast from the center, ping-pong, pool tournaments, darts, games and drawings for lots of door prizes. The celebration will be closed after one o'clock, and after that no one will be allowed to leave the building. We will have lots of prizes, food and fun until 6:00 at which time we will serve breakfast and say goodbye to a safe, fun-filled graduation night.

If you as a parent, individual, club, or business person would like to donate money or food for snacks or breakfast, or gift certificates or merchandise that we could use as door prizes, that would be a big help. You may contact Garland or Joyce Young at 2-3266, Patti Jones at 2-3601 or Alice Lopez at 2-5227. Please help us with this project with your donations. We would also ask that you encourage your teens to attend. A group of adult chaperones will be at the center all night helping with the food and games. A check in list will be available so that you may call to make sure your teen is present. Let's all work together to make this a safe and memorable graduation night.

Screening clinic for pre-schoolers next week on Wed.

There will be a free screening clinic at the Ozona Primary School between 8:30 and 4:00 p.m. Wednesday, April 23. There will also be a free shot clinic held on this day only.

If your child will be five before Sept. 1, 1986, bring your child's birth certificate and his shot records. These will be needed before he can begin school next fall. If your child will be four on or before September 1, 1986, bring him to the school between 8:30 and 4:00 p.m. Thursday, April 24. A free fingerprinting and photographic clinic will be held in conjunction with the screening clinic both April 23 and 24.

To love one another is comandment

By Rev. Richard Altenbaugh

One of the great characteristics of our Christian faith is a life of love for one another. "By this sign will all know that you are my disciples, your love one for another." Jn. 13:35 Our love for one another has it's ideal the love that Jesus has for us. "This is my comandment: love one another as I have loved you." Jn. 13:12. To love another is to seek their wellbeing, to do what is good for them, to decide, to choose what is for their spiritual, emotional, mental or physical good. The art of loving another is begun and supported by God's grace, but it is an art that one has to work at continuously. One is to learn how to love different persons. In some instances it takes time, more patience, more understanding; with other persons live is very easy...a great joy.

The basic of all love, however, is the virtue of justice. Justice is the virtue whereby we respect one another for who we are, not what we have or don't have, nor how we speak or don't speak. Justice is to render to each person what is their due. Justice is to see the value of the other person as a person and to be given the dignity and respect accordingly. To honestly see, admit and live the equality that we are in the eyes of God...equally redeemed by Jesus, His Son, is the foundation. Real love begins with living a just life. Even real peace begins with justice. (cf. Isaiah 32:17-18) Might as work more at justice in our lives, relations and community and then see our love and peace flourish!

Festival held April 11.

All 29 students competing in Spanish II, and advanced levels of Prose, Poetry, Extemporaneous Speaking, Sight Reading, and a written test received certificates of award for their participation.

"The festival was an enjoyable educational experience," Ozona High Spanish teacher Emma Franco said. "It gave both students and teachers an opportunity to meet and share ideas."

In the written test, Delma Fierro won a superior rating in Spanish I competition while Annalu Lopez and Linda Villarreal earned superiors in Spanish II.

Receiving excellent ratings in Spanish I competition were Sandy Phillips, Sandra Ramirez and Jim Etheridge. In Spanish II, Olga DeHoyos, Steve Sanchez, Harvey Fierro and Mark Sanchez won excellent ratings.

Larisa Schoenhals earned a superior in Spanish II Prose and Rita Rios received an excellent rating in Spanish I Extemporaneous Speaking.

In poetry, Rita Rios, Spanish I, Valerie Fierro, advanced, and Raedene Flores, advanced, won superior ratings. Julie Carson, Griselda Hernandez and Stacie Winkley, all in Spanish I, earned excellent ratings as did Darla Judd, Spanish II, and Ellie Tijerina, advanced.

Delma Fierro, Spanish I, and Linda Villarreal, Spanish II, received superior ratings in sight reading and Todd Jones and Steve Sanchez, both Spanish II, won excellent ratings.
