Gaddafi, Khadafy, Quadafy. A rose by any other name would smell the same. We decided to spell it Gaddafi in last week's column because that's the way it is spelled on the cover of Time magazine. Things were happening so fast this time last week, we had no time to do any research on the spelling of the dictator's name. This is hardly worth mentioning, but we have had our literacy questioned so many times this past week, we thought we would set the record straight.

kk
What OPEC did to the oil industry, the U.S. Postal service is doing to your small community newspaper. Since September of 1986, the changes in second-class postal rates have come so fast and furiously, even your local postal employees are thoroughly confused, to say nothing of this column writer. The rates go up and the service goes down. Where on earth will it all end? Our weekly mailing costs have more than doubled in the past year. This affects, not only the newspaper, but everyone who subscribes. When I read the Postal Service had directed that the nine-digit zip code be put into effect immediately by postal patrons, since the service had spent $200 million on equipment for it, I thought it had to be a mis-print. On checking, I found it was not. Can you imagine spending two hundred million dollars to add to an already cumbersome five-digit code? Then there are the new little wagons the service just purchased at a tremendous cost. We will never see one of these in Ozona, but we are going to pay for them just the same. You call that democratic? Shades of the 3 cent stamp.

The politicians are out in force, and the May 3 primaries are just around the corner. I should say the primary, since there will be no Republican primary in Crockett County, and this is where we cast our ballots. I've noticed none of the Republican contenders has been campaigning here since the word got around. Almost everyone wants a chance to vote for Tom Loeffler for governor, who served us so well as a member of Congress for this district. It looks as if we will not have that opportunity even in November. The polls have him running far behind, if you can put any stock in polls. Locally the election year will be over May 3. The next few years are going to be tough for local governments as well as state government. If I had any advice to give to voters, it would be "Vote for responsibility." Remember, it's your money they are going to be spending.

If you didn't see Halley's Comet in March, we believe you've missed your chance in this lifetime. It was supposed to be closer to the earth April 11, than at any other time, but nobody around these parts has been able to positively identify it even on dark nights this month. It was really no big deal, but everyone at our comet party, March 21, at 4 a.m. saw the comet, tail and all.

Congratulations to all our regional qualifiers in the various sports. I can't remember when we have had so many from the different fields. Apparently the "no pass-no play" rule failed to hurt Ozona athletes.

Davis named chairman of Ed. committee

Garland Davis, superintendent of Ozona Public Schools, was elected chairman of the Joint Committee of the Region XV Education Service Center in a meeting held on Thursday, April 17, in San Angelo.

The Region XV Joint Committee consists of one representative from each of the forty-six school districts in sixteen counties in Central and Southwest Texas. These counties include Crockett,

Range Judgers take honors

Worthington, John Williams and Anna Smith. Back row, Keith Fowler, Brock Jones, Scott Denman, Summer Shacklette and Angie Marshall. [See story for places]

Absentee voting for May primary underway

Absentee voting has not been brisk since the absentee box in the courthouse opened April 14, but as of Tuesday, 71 voters had cast ballots absentee in person. Absentee voting is being held in the law library with a fulltime clerk on duty Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Jean Conner is the absentee clerk.

In spite of errors on the ballot and some last minute changes, absentee got underway on time. Voting booths are provided. The voter may or may not vote in one of the booths, but the presence of the booths is required by law.

Registered voters in the county number 2,608. Broken down into precincts the number is divided as follows: Precinct 1, 825; Precinct 2, 411; Precinct 3, 643; Precinct 4, 705; and Precinct 36, or the power plant, 24. The law requires that precincts be within 10 percent of each other in voting strength. However, the commissioners court has not re-drawn district lines in years, thus the disparity.

Voters who had not registered or received their voter registration card by April 3, will not be eligible to vote in the primary. A voter must have registered at least 30 days before any election to be eligible to cast a ballot. However, voters have until October 1, to register and be eligible for the general election in November.

Precinct 1 voters will vote in the law library at the courthouse on election day, with Stella Valadez as election judge. Voters in Precinct 2, will vote at the junior high school building with Arlene Clayton presiding. Bobbie Fatout will be the election judge in Precinct 3, and ballots will be cast at the Civic Center. Precinct 4 voters will have the primary school as a polling place with Concha Zapata the judge.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. on May 3, election day.

There are a host of Democrats running for U. S. Representative, District 21, the post being vacated by Tom Loeffler. At the present time Pete Snelson leads the polls. Snelson is a former state senator from this district. Snelson, of Midland, is joined by Terry M. Lowry, Davie Hunsicker and Joe Sullivan. Sullivan has run unsuccessfully a number of times. He has gotten the Democratic nomination on at least one occasion, only to be defeated by Loeffler in the general election. The winner of this race will face the Republican nominee in November.

Mark White has five nominees in his bid for re-election to the governor's post. White is expected to be in a run-off with one of the other candidates. At any rate, the nominee faces tough Republican opposition in November when he will face Bill Clements, Tom Loeffler or Kent Hance.

Bill Hobby has drawn an opponent in the primary. David Young is the contender. The winner of this race also faces opposition in the general election.

Lester Dahlberg, a Larouche Democrat, is the only Democratic contender for the District 67, State Representative post. He will have a Republican opponent in November.

Spring clean up week is now in progress in Ozona

Spring clean-up week began Monday in Ozona, with county road employees cruising the town in trucks to pick up any unwanted items or debris. There will be an extra truck on duty throughout this week for pickups.

Residents and businessmen are asked to take this opportunity to clean up and spruce up. With the Sesquicentennial year well underway, more tourists than ever are expected through Ozona. The town has a reputation all over the nation of being

Most of the other state offices are unopposed with the exception of Railroad Commissioner, Commissioner of Agriculture, and the various justices and judges posts. For Justice, Court of Appeals, 8th District, two attorneys are running for the post being vacated by the incumbent. Larry Fuller and Jerry Woodard face off in this race.

The only locally contested races are those of Justice of the Peace and County Commissioner, Precincts 2 and 4. Billy Carson and Jerry L. Hill are challenging B. W. Stuart for the post of commissioner in Precinct 2. Incumbent J. P. Raymond Davee has drawn opposition from Jerry Lay and David Weant. In Precinct 4, incumbent Chuy Castro is opposed by Jody Conaway and Carlos Lopez.

There will be write-in spaces for County Chairman and Precinct Chairman on each ballot.

Ozona twins named man and woman of the year at Sul Ross

Kaye Thompson Hufstедler and twin brother Jack Thompson became the first brother/sister act in Sul Ross State University history to share Man of Woman of the Year honors.

The two received the honors during student activities day at the university Tuesday.

Both are senior education students. Kaye will receive her degree in

Residents and business people are asked to stack unwanted items near a curb or an alley, where the trucks and employees may have easy access.

If the clean up has not been finished by week's end, help may still be available. If you are missed, call the county barn.

Other 4-Hers from Crockett County participating in the contest were Brock Jones, Summer Shacklette, Terry House, Anna Smith and Fleet Worthington.

Board approves short days on May 6 and 7

The Board of Trustees of the Crockett County Consolidated Common School District, meeting in regular session on Tuesday, April 15, approved a proposal presented by Superintendent Garland Davis which allows the local school system to conduct abbreviated school days on May 6 and May 7. "The purpose of these two abbreviated school days is to grant release time to teachers so that they can begin working on sequencing curriculum areas for future curriculum guides," he explained.

"On these two days, all schools will begin at their regular time, and students will be dismissed at 1:40 p.m. School buses will run at that time, and teachers will be in meetings until 4:00 p.m." The trustees also voted to rehire all paraprofessional aides, secretaries, administrative personnel, bus drivers, cafeteria workers, and maintenance employees for the 1986-1987 school year.

Board approval was also given for amending the 1986-1987 school calendar to reflect changes in Ozona's Spring Break. The new dates will be March 4, 5, and 6, instead of February 25, 26, and 27.

The trustees approved the low bid of Carpenter Insulation and Coating Company for school roofing equipment, and they approved expenditures for maintenance on the football fields at Ozona Middle School and Lions Stadium.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas Gov. Mark White was snubbed by President Reagan last week over the oil tariff issue, even while Texas Comptroller Bob Bullock warned that local property taxpayers may expect increases next year because of falling oil prices.

Reagan agreed to meet this week with only three oil state governors—and White was among the uninvited—following the highly hyped energy summit White hosted in Dallas last week.

While Reagan does not support White's oil tariff issue, the White House snub was probably aimed at keeping White from making political hay as he nears the May 3 primary election in Texas.

A Gallup poll released just days before showed White losing to all three of his Republican opponents: Bill Clement, Kent Hance, and Tom Loeffler. A simultaneous Houston Chronicle poll showed him facing a probable runoff in his own party with Don Crowder or Andy Briscoe.

Republicans Debate

Republican gubernatorial candidates made statewide gains with their televised debate last week, shortly after one poll showed 65 percent of all Texas voters now view the GOP favorably.

Meanwhile, Mark White would not debate Crowder and Briscoe on television, and the same poll showed Democrats behind in public favor at 50 percent.

Crowder, who hopes to push White into a runoff, told Capitol reporters that several top Democratic officials, including Attorney General Jim Mattox, are worried that Mark White will drag down the other candidates running on the ticket. Mattox's staff denied it.

Property Tax Increase?

Meanwhile, Texas Comptroller Bob Bullock warned that many Texas cities, counties, and school districts may face dramatic losses in local tax bases because of lower tax values on oil and gas reserves.

Bullock predicted local governments will face the prospect of raising local property taxes, an impact even bigger than the $1.3 billion deficit predicted for state government.

"When the shock does arrive, it will hit the tax bases of local government in virtually every part of the state," he said.

Officials Split

Several state officials are still split over how to spend a $424.8 million offshore oil windfall, but the courts will decide.

The difference of opinion pits Gov. White, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Speaker Gib Lewis and Treasurer Ann Richards on one side with Bullock and Land Commissioner Garry Mauro on the other.

Where does Attorney General Jim Mattox stand? He's the man caught in the middle.

Mattox will issue a legal opinion on the complicated issue, but the courts may still have to rule.

Mauro filed suit in state district court to keep Richards from depositing the check in the state's general revenue fund.

He contends the state's original lawsuit to claim the offshore money from the feds was filed on behalf of the Permanent School Fund. He and Bullock want the money deposited there, and Bullock said he won't certify it as general revenue.

Farmers Quitting

Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower reported 9,000 Texas farmers were driven out of business last year, and that one in six believes 1986 will be his last year to farm.

Hightower said last year was the worst for farmers since the Great Depression. The loss rate in Texas is more than 173 farmers each week.

Hightower also agreed to have his agency sponsor the July 4 Farm Aid concert planned by Willie Nelson. He asked University of Texas officials to let Willie use Memorial Stadium. They're thinking about it.

Teacher Make-Up Test

The Texas Education Agency has agreed to listen to some 1,400 Texas teachers who want to retake the controversial state literacy test.

Meanwhile, teachers should begin learning by May 1 whether they passed the test. A North Carolina firm is grading the exams. Teachers who flunk can get a second chance on June 28.

The agency reported complaints from more than 300 test sites about adverse test conditions.

A CON NAMED "SUE"

By Edwin Feulner

In a decision sure to make some ambulance-chasing lawyers east of the Potomac River jump right out of their briefs, the Maryland legislature, in the closing hours of its 1986 session, passed a law limiting the amount of money that can be awarded in personal injury cases.

The new law would place a cap of only $425,000 on "pain and suffering" awards in such lawsuits.

The state of California is considering a similar measure—only there the decision is being left up to the voters. Known as Proposition 51, or the "Deep Pocket Initiative," the measure is an attempt to close the circle on runaway litigation.

As things now stand, lawyers often take on personal injury cases on a contingency basis, meaning they collect their fees only if they win—and the larger the settlement, the larger their fees. As a result of this speculative game, lawyers are constantly on the prowl for potential clients, and when they sue, they sue for astronomically big bucks.

They win often enough to make this high-stakes crap-roll a profitable endeavor.

The flip side is that cities, counties, day care centers, doctors, pharmaceutical manufacturers, auto dealers, even the concessionaire who runs the pony ride at Los Angeles Griffith Park, are having trouble finding companies willing to insure them against liability, or insure them at a price they can afford.

Liability insurance for the Fairfax County Water Authority in suburban Washington, for example, jumped from $32,500 last year to $345,300 this year.

In California and most other states, this con named "sue" is the result of law and precedent which allows large damage claims even against defendants who may have had little to do with an accident or injury.

The result is near chaos. Obstetricians are refusing to deliver babies because they can't afford the skyrocketing medical malpractice insurance rates. Schaghticoke, New York—population 7,090—recently lost its liability insurance, even though the town has never been sued in its entire history. The only replacement policy the town could obtain was at a premium increase of 400 percent—for only one-third the coverage.

The crises has spilled over into virtually every segment of society. The U.S. Chamber of Commerce recently found that almost 20 percent of its member-companies were having trouble renewing their liability insurance. More than 40 percent reported cost increases of 100 to 500 percent.

A study by James Gattuso of The Heritage Foundation found that the number of product liability claims filed in federal district courts jumped 785 percent from 1974 to 1985. The size of the awards—especially punitive damages—also has soared. In Chicago and San Francisco, for example, the average punitive award increased 12,000 percent over the past 25 years.

Gattuso, a regulatory affairs attorney, said product liability and personal injury rules have been so distorted out of shape that "fault is almost a secondary issue" these days.

He suggests following Maryland's example and setting limits on "non-economic" damage awards other than hospital bills or lost income. Losing parties in lawsuits, he says, should be required to pay the attorneys' fees of the winning parties in certain situations to discourage people from suing unless they have been truly wronged.

He also suggests modifying "comparative negligence" rules, so those injured primarily by their own negligence cannot hold others responsible, and the "joint and several liability" rule, so those peripherally involved with an injury do not have to shoulder the full burden.

Much needs to be done to undo the damage caused by greedy lawyers and activist judges. Liability lawsuits must become a means to right wrongs, not a lottery to enrich plaintiffs and their lawyers.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

After the absence of a freeze before Easter, the early flowering bulbs, shrubs and trees have really been at the height of their beauty for several weeks. Even the white and pink dogwood seems to have found a perfect environment under the tall oaks and pecans in many of your yards. Also, the native white Mississippi dogwood that I have given a start to so many friends, has been unusually full and beautiful. This is one of the easiest and fastest shrubs to grow and does well in full sun. It looks very much like mock orange, but does not have the sweet fragrances. Many of our club members may have roots to share this fall.

Now that the soil is warm you can sow seeds of most annuals directly in the ground. Some of these are the most popular and do well here are marigolds, alyssum, ageratum, pinks, coleus, nasturtiums, four-o'clock, impatiens, celosia, gloriosa, daisies, periwinkle and zinnias. If you want your flowers earlier there are many plants available at the nurseries. Some of these that are easier to grow are geraniums, wax begonias, chrysanthemums, petunias, and impatiens.

I'm sure many of you are moving your house plants to outdoor areas, so be sure to take care and not expose them to direct sunlight between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Also protect from too much wind while foliage is tender for four or five days. Outdoor plants will require more water than while indoors because of increased rate of evaporation. As the hottest months approach, some—especially hanging baskets, will need daily watering.

To help keep off insects, use a fine mist from the garden hose to wash the leaves.

Fertilize plants monthly during the summer with available houseplant fertilizers. Be sure to use by directions.

Remember its clean-up time and the county truck will pick up debris, so be sure to have yours ready and show your appreciation for this convenience.

Sack lunch hard to beat for nutritious and filling meals

For economy and convenience, it's hard to beat the humble sack lunch.

But unless the sack lunch provides at least one-third of your daily food needs, it may not do much for you nutritionally, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service specialist.

According to nutritionist Marilyn Haggard, a sack lunch should contain two to three ounces of meat or other protein food; a cup of milk or plain yogurt or two thin slices of cheese; one or two slices of bread or a serving of cereal and a serving of fruit or vegetables to meet this nutritional requirement.

"Including vitamin C rich and deep green or yellow vegetables in lunches helps to round out these frequently neglected nutrients, although these foods can also be provided in morning or evening meals," she says.

"Many children—and adults—think that a sack lunch has to have sweets and fats to be satisfying," Haggard notes. "But if you pack these foods, remember that they're a concentrated source of calories that should be consumed in small amounts."

Potato chips, lots of dressing on sandwiches or salads, soft drinks and candy bars can quickly add many calories with few minerals and vitamins, explains the specialist.

For both economy and good nutrition, the best food buy for school children is probably the lunch served at school, Haggard advises. But if parents carry sack lunches too, it may be just as convenient to pack them for the whole family at once.

A variety of lunch meats, prepared spreads, snack foods and even sandwiches are available for instant lunch packing. But because pre-packaged individual servings of foods are more expensive, it can sometimes cost more to pack a sack lunch than to eat in a restaurant, notes the specialist.

Freezing sandwiches ahead can save total preparation time. All breads keep good quality in a freezer, but some usual sandwich ingredients should not be used in frozen sandwiches, Haggard says.

Raw vegetables, whites of hard-cooked eggs and mayonnaise do not keep good quality when frozen.

Vegetables lose their crispness, cooked egg whites become tough, and mayonnaise and jellies have a tendency to soak into bread and make it soggy. Instead, she suggests using butter or margarine as a spread on sandwiches for freezing.

Evening glove is rally point for Texas army

A slender white evening glove was a rallying point for the Texas Army of Independence when it routed Gen. Santa Anna's Mexican forces at San Jacinto on April 21, 1836.

The glove was given to Capt. Sidney Sherman at a farewell ball for the Buckeye Volunteers of Kentucky as they left for Texas. A beautiful young girl said "Here, Sir, is a gauge of battle; let it be bourne foremost in the fight!"

The slender little glove, waving defiantly over the Texas Army's battle flag, went proudly into the attack at San Jacinto. The glove was lost, the flag survived. It is displayed today behind the Speaker's Rostrum in the House of Representatives at Austin.

Summer jobs available to local youths

Jobs will be available for area youth again this summer through the Summer Youth Employment and Training Program operated by the Concho Valley Council of Governments. The nine-week program will be operated June 3-July 31 and will allow youth to work up to thirty hours per week.

The purposes of the program are to provide basic work experience to better prepare the youth for the world of work, perform meaningful work in the community, and provide economic resources to enable the youth to return to school in the fall. Counseling and labor market information will be provided each participant working this summer.

To qualify for the program, youth must be at least 14 years of age and meet family income guidelines. Applications will be taken April 30 at the Ozona High School Building at 3:30 p.m. Students should bring a copy of their social security card and birth certificate.

The here and now

Nancy clasped her hand firmly in granddad's as they roamed the large forest on the back of his farm. He helped her through the underbrush, careful that no whipping limb lash her face as they fought the small trees struggling for a bigger place among the tall ones.

They came to a clearing in the dense woods and stopped. "Nancy," he said to the six-year-old "apple of his eye" as he stood gazing at the trees. "What is here now that was not here a hundred years ago?"

Nancy looked around, combing the little clearing filled with wildflowers and their backdrop of huge trees. But no answer came.

"Think, Nancy, think," he urged.

Then her eyes lit up. "Me!"

Whether that was the answer granddad had in mind, I don't know. But I do know that Nancy's answer is on target. She and all her friends are the new generation. They were not here a hundred years ago; not many of us were.

Nancy, you and the rest of us have a legacy, a heritage, and responsibility to do something good and great with all we have inherited.

We were not here a hundred years ago. But we are now!

Texas crime rate increases

The crime rate in Texas increased by 9 percent in 1985 compared to 1984, according to statistics furnished to the Texas Department of Public Safety.

The crime rate is the number of crimes per 100,000 population. It is calculated from figures provided to the DPS by 796 Texas law enforcement agencies representing 99.9 percent of the state's population.

"In 1985, 6,570.9 crimes were reported per 100,000 population, compared to 6029.2 per 100,000 population in 1984," DPS Director Colonel Jim Adams said.

The incidence of all categories of crime—murder, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, theft, and motor vehicle theft—increased in 1985, the statistics show.

"In 1985, the number of major offenses reported in Texas grew by 11.6 percent, from 964,014 crimes in 1984 to 1,075,656 in 1985," Adams said.

The largest increase was the number of rapes reported, which rose by 14 percent compared to 1984. The smallest increase was in murder, with 1.6 percent more homicides reported, Adams said.

Summer story hour set at library

The first Saturday will feature two films: "Something Queer at the Library" and "Petunia". Following the films, the children will be issued library cards and served refreshments.

If the response is good for this age group, there will be additional sessions added for older children of six to ten years. Volunteers are needed in three categories: Readers, monitors and refreshments. Please call Louise Ledoux, Librarian, at 392-3565 to offer your services.

Rain falls on thirsty Ozona area

Ozona and Crockett County got its first appreciable amount of moisture last week on the heels of two fronts which moved through the area. A total of .28 of an inch of rain was recorded Thursday, April 17, and an early morning shower Saturday, April 19, added another .31 of an inch, making the total for the month .59 of an inch of rain and the wettest month so far in this year.

Extremely dry weather and high winds have prevailed on the weather front this far in the year. An inch of rain has yet to be recorded as drought rears its ugly head and rangelands begin to parch. Spring rains failed to materialize, limiting weed and wildflower growth.

Late tax payments

Paying taxes late can be an expensive decision, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The current interest rate of 10 percent, compounded daily, plus a late payment penalty of one-half of one percent per month, is added to late payments.

If your tax return is more than 60 days late, a penalty of the smaller of $100 or 100 percent of the tax due will be assessed.

Video tapes on cattle supplement available

A videotape on "Supplementing Beef Cows" is available through the County Extension Office, announces Billy Reager, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The 27 minute videotape presents a simple four-step supplementation system that guarantees an economical winter feeding program, points out the agent.

Extension beef cattle nutritionist Dr. Dennis Herd and several ranchers are featured on the videotape discussing such topics as:

The most costly mistake cattlemen make when supplementing.

The most critical time of the year nutritionally for the beef cow.

When supplementation is least likely to pay.

Two conditions where forages must always be supplemented.

And supplementation priorities to get the most return per dollar invested in feed.

The videotape provides everything a cattleman needs to plan a feeding program that pays for itself. Discussions revolve around the four basic nutrient groups—minerals, vitamins, protein and energy.

Groups interested in viewing the videotape should contact the county Extension office, says the agent.

Elderly Texas residents can obtain medical eye care help

There is a toll-free number older Texas residents can call to obtain help with medical eye care.

By dialing 1-800-222-EYES, people age 65 and older may obtain information about eye care or a referral to a volunteer ophthalmologist in their area.

To qualify for referral to a physician, a person must be age 65 or older, a US citizen or legal resident, and have no personal ophthalmologist.

Members of the Texas Ophthalmological Association are encouraging seniors to call the toll-free Helpline if they think they have medical eye problems but do not have an eye physician. Disadvantaged elderly are eligible for medical eye care at no out-of-pocket cost.

(Important note: the program is for disadvantaged elderly who do not have a personal eye physician. Please do not call the Helpline if you have an ophthalmologist.)

The Texas Helpline is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Other states will be opening at two-week intervals until July 21, when the Helpline will be operating throughout the country.

The program, supported by voluntary donations from ophthalmologists and by contributions from corporations associated with the eye care profession, is sponsored by the Foundation of the American Academy of Ophthalmology, the Texas Ophthalmological Association, and other state ophthalmology societies across the U.S.

The American Academy of Ophthalmology is the world's largest association of eye physicians and surgeons, with nearly 14,000 members. Ophthalmologists are physicians who provide comprehensive eye exams, prescribe corrective lenses and diagnose and treat eye disease medically and surgically.

After suffering another heart attack, Martin Harvick was transferred to the VA hospital in San Antonio, Sunday.

Eva Walraven and Beverly McFaddin, representatives of the San Angelo Alzheimers Support group recently presented two educational programs on Alzheimers Disease. Although much research has been dedicated to Alzheimer's disease, the cause and cure is unknown. Alzheimer's is a complicated and degenerative disease which destroys the mind. The disease can occur at any age, but is especially prominent beyond age 65.

Many Alzheimer's victims remain in homes and receive constant supervision from a caregiver (spouse or relative). The caregiver commonly feels overburdened by the responsibility of constant care. Family support groups are essential to caregivers.

Family support groups offer caregivers a variety of benefits—therapy, respite, education, and research. Caregivers are able to express feelings and receive help in dealing with their patient.

Many Alzheimer's patients eventually require 24 hours care, which is virtually impossible for the average caregiver. Nursing home care is usually the next step. Coping with separation thereafter can present real problems for the spouse, who is neither divorced or widowed. Feelings of loss, loneliness and guilt are common.

The well spouse may find it difficult to relinquish day-to-day responsibility for the care of a loved one. This feeling is similar to feelings of relief and loss by a mother whose children have left home.

The loneliness and emptiness spell and "end which is not an end". Caretakers roles are not over and thereafter include frequent visits to the nursing home.

It is estimated that 50% of all patients in nursing homes have Alzheimer's Disease—regardless of whether or not it has been positively diagnosed. Alzheimer patients generally die of normal causes—failure of heart, kidneys etc., rather than the Alzheimer disease.

U. S. Savings Bonds sales up by 40 percent

Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds during January 1986 in Texas amounted to $28,095,341, and increase of $5,163,035 for 39.9 percent over the January a year ago. T. J. Morrow, District Director for U.S. Savings Bonds Division in Dallas, Texas, announced today. These sales represent 7.6 percent of the state's 1986 assigned dollar goal of $370,000,000.

Sales of Series EE Bonds amounted to $2,170.00 during January 1986 in Crockett County, Lowell Littleton, Volunteer County Chairman, said. These sales represent 5.9 percent of the County's 1986 assigned dollar goal.

Nationally, January 1986 sales of Series EE Bonds totaled $575 million, an increase of 39 percent over 1985 sales, highest January total since 1979. Savings Bonds held by the public topped $80 billion in January, increasing $451 million in the month to $80.25 billion.

Much of the growth in sales is due to Savings Bonds' new market-based rate which was effective November 1, 1982. This rate is adjusted on May 1 and November 1 each year. Bonds held at least five years earn 85 percent of the average rate on 5-year Treasury securities or 7.5 percent, whichever is higher. The current rate for the six month period ending April 30, 1986 is 8.36 percent. The average rate for the period November 1, 1982 through April 30, 1986 is 9.69 percent. Bonds held less than five years earn interest on a fixed, graduated scale. The latest information on Bonds can be obtained by calling toll free 1-800-US BONDS.

Association worried about valuations of gas and oil

Richard C. Hudson, chairman of Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, today expressed his concern about the valuation of oil and gas properties by local jurisdictions in light of the dramatic drop in crude oil and natural gas prices.

"These dramatic declines in oil and gas prices are unprecedented in the last 50 years that the Texas oil and gas industry has been supporting our state and local governments through severance taxes and local property taxes," Hudson said. "This economic condition was recognized by the State Comptroller in May of 1985, almost a year ago, when he gave his estimate for revenues for the current biennium, and there have been many other factors that have heralded this dramatic event."

Never before in history has the oil and gas industry experienced such an economic downturn. Drilling operations and the workover of older wells have been curtailed or in many instances abandoned. Oil and gas exploration projects are being postponed or totally scrapped as companies restructure their organizations to survive.

"The property tax law provides that valuations be on a fair market value," said Hudson. He urged that "local taxing jurisdictions make their valuations based on market conditions that have existed for well over a year and currently exist in the values of oil and gas."

Hudson stressed that "in areas where major oil and gas properties are located, government officials must seriously consider drastic reductions in budgetary funding requirements for 1986 and subsequent years." He said, "All taxing entities which are touched by the current economic downturn should trim operating budgets and defer capital spending in all cases where possible."

El Paso cancelled as CPA examination site

Three examinations sites, including the University of Texas at El Paso Special Events Center, have been cut from those scheduled to seat candidates for the May, 1986, Uniform CPA examination.

The Texas State Board of Public Accountancy announced today that sites in El Paso, Austin, and Corpus Christi are being cancelled as one means of complying with budgetary cuts outlined in Governor White's Executive Order MW-36 dated February 18, 1986. The three locations were expected to seat over 1200 persons.

Candidates who have already submitted applications requesting Austin will automatically be assigned to San Antonio unless the Board is advised otherwise by the individuals. Candidates requesting El Paso and Corpus Christi should contact the Board to name alternate preferences. Every effort will be made to match candidates with choices, but space limitations are expected to complicate the May assignment process.

The examination will be conducted as scheduled at Tarrant County Convention Center, Fort Worth; Moody Convention Center, Galveston; Albert Thomas Convention Center, Houston; Lubbock Civic Center, Lubbock; and San Antonio Convention Center, San Antonio.

The examination, conducted throughout the US in May and November annually, is a requirement for certification and licensure as a Certified Public Accountant in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Applewhite were in Kerrville, where they attended Christening services for their youngest granddaughter, Amberly Applewhite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Applewhite.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kost returned Sunday from a week in Oklahoma, where they visited several relatives of Mr. Kost's.

Time to spring clean medicine chest

With warmer weather on its way, you may be feeling the spring cleaning urge. The Texas Medical Association suggests now is a good time to give your medicine chest a good cleaning and check-up.

There are two good reasons you may wish to consider moving your medicine supplies out of the bathroom. First, the bathroom cabinet generally is above the sink, making the medicine more accessible to children.

Another problem with many medicine chests is that they resemble small drugstores. Overstocking drugs in the home should be avoided.

Supplies in a medicine chest should be checked annually. Items to get rid of include tablets that have become crumbly and medicines that have changed color, odor or consistency, or are outdated.

The medicine should not be thrown into a trash can, where a child could find it. Rather, empty the bottles of medicine into the toilet and flush it.

Contents of a family's medicine chest depend on the age and health of family members. Here is a general list:

Non-drug items: adhesive bandages of assorted sizes, sterile gauze, cotton, adhesive tape, elastic bandages, blunt-end scissors, tweezers, thermometer, hot-water bottle, heating pad, eye cup, ice bag, dosage spoon, and first-aid manual.

Drug products: Aspirin or aspirin substitute; Ipecac, to induce vomiting for some poisons; antacid; calamine lotion and hydrocortisone creams for skin problems; petroleum jelly; cough syrup; decongestant; burn ointment; and anti-diarrhetic.

Letters to the Editor

April 14, 1986

Dear Kitty,

In last week's issue, there was a short acct. of "sheep theft" under investigation appearing in the "Weekly Activities" of the Sheriff's Dept., D.P.S., etc. Not that I think I'm someone "special" but happenings of this nature should not be thrown together with D.W.I.'s, no. of traffic tickets issued, Stolen Vehicles from "Little Rabbit, Australia", etc.

Should this be the beginning of such "Incidents", it could gravely effect the whole area, especially Crockett County.

I believe this "affair" should be made much more "public" to livestock owners. Certainly "others" will agree 100% as my "experience" will serve as a WARNING, at least the knowledge of such will cause certain precautions to be taken and possibly thwart future attempts within the area.

Throughout the past few years, all of us have been made aware of this type livestock theft, but in other localities and have not been overly concerned.

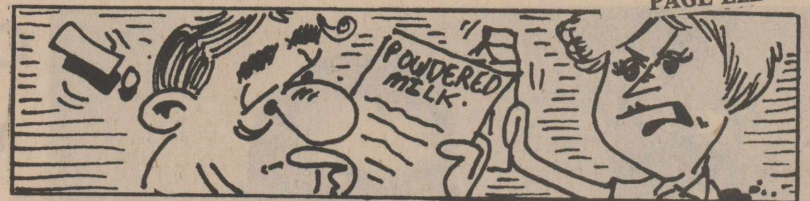

From the "beginning" and for years that followed, Crockett County's industry was livestock and this business alone was responsible for the enviable reputation of it's area and the "birth" of Ozona, "The Biggest Little Town in the World" (and the most "unique".) The Industry survived the Depression, however shortly thereafter we became victims of inflation. Ever increasing prices and wages were rampant while our sale-prices remained static (even downward) and conditions today are even worse.

My last two paragraphs are not "rambling" county memoralia nor my own philosophical outlook. It is only a sordid account of two giant industries reduced to ruin through world politics and no foreseeable solution.

I believe this "affair" should be made much more "public" to livestock owners. Certainly "others" will agree 100% as my "experience" will serve as a WARNING, at least the knowledge of such will cause certain precautions to be taken and possibly thwart future attempts within the area.

This written "account" is intended only as an "alert" and "warning" to others. Armond Hoover, Jr. P.S. The above "losses" are based from June 1985 through March 1986 (9 mos). The $180,000.00 is based on a 12 mo. basis for five (5) years at the "above" (same ratio).

Cecil Westerman known as unique humanitarian

Reprinted from the Devil's River News
If you have lived in West Texas for any length of time, you have read or heard it—Cecil Westerman wants to be your pharmacist.

Much of the material in this article is gleaned from an article in DRUG TOPIC and was compiled and written by Majorie T. Mathis during an interview with Cecil Westerman.

Westerman, a pharmacist for over 58 years, had owned stores in Waco, Lamesa, Ozona, Sonora, Big Spring and San Angelo.

A unique humanitarian, Westerman, who owned a drugstore in Eldorado from 1974 until 1984, refused to desert his former customers in Eldorado. If they had a prescription or drug need, they called him in his San Angelo store and he got in touch with the Sonora store.

He is quoted as saying, "Well, it isn't a profitable situation, but if you have a conscience, and I do, how are you going to leave your customers that have traded with you for many years? They've raised their children, and now they're old, and they can't get out of the house. No, I don't charge them extra."

A question posed to him by Ms. Mathis was, "Have you ever had a parent with no money come in needing medicine for a sick child?" Answer: "Oh, yes ma'am. Many times I wouldn't know how to estimate the amount of medicine I've given away to babies over the years and just counted it as the tithe. The Lord's blessed me because it's come back to me 10-fold."

When asked when he came to San Angelo, Westerman answered, "I came to Angelo in 1965 and bought a little store out by the old Clinic Hospital. I was in Sonora at the time. I turned that one over to a fine young druggist. He's still with me."

In closing, Ms. Mathis asked Westerman, "What plans do you have for the future?" Westerman answered, "I never intend to live a day without working in my drugstore."

Retirement doesn't fit me. I just hope the good Lord lets me come down some night around 10 o'clock to fill a prescription for someone with a toothache and then go home and go to sleep and not wake up. I hope this will be about 25 or 30 years from now."

Though Cecil Westerman is gone, this magnanimous man has left a legacy which will never be forgotten and we will always hear, Cecil Westerman wants to be your pharmacist.

Carlos F. Castro was born on June 8, 1938, in Ozona, Texas, where 19 years later, in March, 1957, he entered the Air Force. Following basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas, he completed the Communications Operations Specialist Course at Francis E. Warren AFB, Wyoming. His first assignment was with the 10th Tactical Communications Squadron at Spangdahlem AB, Germany, where he served as a Communications Operator in the communications center.

In May 1960, Chief Castro was assigned to the 4660th Support Squadron, Richards-Gebaur AFB, Missouri. There he initially served as a switchboard and communications center operator and later as assistant Shift Supervisor in the torn-tape relay.

Chief Castro was selected to attend the Technical Instructor School in 1962 with follow-on assignment as an instructor in the 3ABR29130 Communications Specialist Course in the Department of Communications, Sheppard AFB, Texas. Here, he specialized in the area of Automatic Digital Network (AUTODIN), which at that time was the state-of-the-art computerized store and forward communications network that became DoD's primary means of formal record communications. In addition to his teaching duties, he developed study guides and workbooks, and provided in-house workshops for instructor personnel assigned to the course. Chief Castro qualified as a Master Instructor in June 1964.

His next assignment was a remote short tour in 1965 on Mactan Island, Republic of the Philippines, assigned to Detachment 1 of 1961st Communications Group. His outstanding performance as a Shift Supervisor in a tactical communications center resulted in his selection as the Air Base's Airman of the Year.

Chief Castro returned from overseas in May 1966, and was assigned to the 46th Communications Squadron, Barksdale AFB, Louisiana. There he served as a Shift Supervisor and Squadron Operations Training NCO.

Chief Castro was selected by name to return to instructor duty at Sheppard AFB, Texas, as lead instructor in September 1968. There, he developed a training package on a new complement of equipment related to a major upgrade of the AUTODIN system.

In September 1970, Chief Castro was assigned to the 1876th Communications Squadron, Tan Son Nhut AB, Republic of Vietnam, providing support to the 616th Military Airlift Group as Non-Commissioned Officer-in-Charge (NCOIC) of both the Military Airlift Command-Airlift Command Post (MAC ACP) Communications Center and the Airlift Element AUTODIN Digital Subscriber Terminal Equipment (DSTE) Vans. His support to the 616th was so outstanding that the Commander of the Group presented him the Green Dragon Award which was normally awarded only to members of the 616th.

Following his tour in Vietnam, Chief Castro's next duty assignment was at Lackland AFB, Texas. There he served as a Military Training Instructor with the 3711th Basic Military Training Squadron from October 1971, until September 1974, at which time he became a Section Supervisor with the 3703rd Basic Military Training Squadron.

After completing the Automatic Digital Switching Technician Course at Tinker AFB, Oklahoma, in March 1976, Chief Castro was assigned to the 1928th Communications Group, MacDill AFB, Florida. There he simultaneously served as the Group NCOIC of the Base Telecommunications Center, the 56th Tactical Fighter Wing Command Post Communications Center, and the Aeronautical Station Communications Center.

Chief Castro's next assignment was once again a by-name selection., In January, 1979, he was selected to help establish the 2033rd Communications Squadron, Fort Belvoir, Virginia. As the senior enlisted member, he formulated and implemented unit policy for security, morale, welfare, and discipline.

In March 1981, Chief Castro was assigned Major Command Staff Officer duties within the Directorate of Support Matters, Headquarters, Air Force Communications Command (AFCC), initially as the Meteorological Communications Network Manager, and later, as a Communications Security (COMSEC) Systems Integration Manager and as Chief of the Communications Security Division. He successfully submitted the Command's Product Improvement Fund (PIF) for the KG-84A Cryptographic Equipment which resulted in a $50 million dollar upgrade of Air Force cryptographic equipment.

Chief Castro's final military assignment has been with the Defense Communications Agency (DCA) as an AUTODIN System Engineer with the Defense Communications Systems Organization, DCS Data Networks Directorate, Data Operations Division. Here Chief Castro combined his years of communications and military experience; as the KG-84A AUTODIN Program Manager, he was instrumental in implementing as KG-84s in AUTODIN and still found time to spearhead enlisted recognition programs within DCA.

Chief Master Sergeant Carlos F. Castro retired March 31, 1986, with 29 years of faithful and dedicated service to the Air Force, the Department of Defense and the Nation.

Cadet Curtis M. Couch, son of Mrs. Joseph B. Couch and the late Mr. Couch, will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army on May 16 at New Mexico Military Institute. The following day he will receive an Associate of Arts degree from the nation's largest military junior college.

Cadet Couch will continue his studies at Texas A&M University, Bryan, Texas, majoring in Agribusiness. While working on his baccalaureate degree, Cadet Couch will be affiliated with the 1st-133rd Field Artillery National Guard-Houston, Tx. Upon completion of his baccalaureate degree requirements, Cadet Couch will go on reserve duty for a minimum of eight years.
