We've been too busy to even think about this column this week, but after several complaints from last week, we decided to give it a try. It will be a sort of local trivia type meandering.

kk

Shirley Conaway came in last week with a copy of the Dallas Times Herald, containing an article entitled "Call him whatever; spell it: Gadhafi," giving me some vindication when I caught so much heat spelling it that way some weeks ago. It seems this was picked up by the dictator's own signature and news agencies are going to use it that way in the future if the occasion arises. Khadafi, Kaddafi, Qaddafi, Kadafi, Good Grieffi.

Some thoughts about graduation... We're glad the all night party has edged out going to Mexico as a graduation night tradition. For years, going to Mexico was just the thing to do on graduation night. When my son graduated in 1972 from OHS, the kids began at mid-term attempting to get approval for that trip. My answer was a flat "No!" However, my son, Jim, aided and abetted by husband, Tom, finally wore me down although for the life of me I can not say I gave my full approval, even passive. Graduation night arrived with all its pomp and circumstance. Evertime tears began to come to my eyes, I'd glance over at Wanda Stuart sitting next to me. Just the look in her eye seemed to say "I dare you," and I would control myself. I feel sure if I had broken down and shed a tear, she would have done the same, maybe worse. There we sat, Wanda and I, as stoic as could be during a very emotional time. It was too soon over. The prom had taken place a week before, it was time to go to Mexico. Jim had a friend spending the night, whose parents had forbid the traditional trip. They asked me to say they had gone to a movie in case the parents called. I flatly refused to lie. It wasn't necessary, nobody called. I guess all parents of seniors knew where their kids were going, by hook or by crook.

Tom went to bed at his usual time. I sat up all night long, one of the longest nights of my life. About 5 a.m., Jim came in with his friend. They were so sober I was amazed. Later, I found out they had to drive a group home and were afraid to touch some of the potent mixtures to be found there.

The senior trip to Garner Park was the next day and Tom and I were hosts, along with several other couples, for the breakfast. Mr. Held was up and ready for us at the Hiway Cafe. Jim had had a couple of hours sleep and was chipper. Tom, with a full night's rest, was in good form. But me, I was dragging my tail feathers. Anyone would have thought I had spent the night in Mexico.

The rain has been wonderful. The bankers are smiling, the ranchers are smiling and if oil prices would go up, we'd all be smiling. It's just been great and has turned the town emerald green almost overnight and the pastures look like Kansas wheat fields. I'm sort of like my granddaughter, Natalie. I could do without the thunder. She was here a couple of weekends ago when we really had a boomer, and it scared her to death. She said "I know the rain is good, but that noise scare me." I told her that was thunder, and to this day when she talks to me, she asks "Is it going to funder at your house tonight Gran-Gran?"

We've had a lot of media coverage about Alfredo's wall. If this keeps up, he will be as famous as Picasso. Seems such a waste of talent when he could be making money painting murals around the country. But if he wants to use this method of protest, it's o.k. with me. It's a free country.

Rain lets up for commencement Friday night-

Graduation held at Lion Stadium

Commencement exercises for the Class of 1986 took place at Lion Stadium Friday night with forty-six seniors receiving diplomas.

The night began with the seniors marching in to the music of "Pomp and Circumstance" by Elgar which was played by Barbara Burger. Raedene Flores opened the commencement exercises with the invocation.

Salutatorium David Adams presented a welcome to parents, friends, relatives, and the administration on behalf of the Class of 1986. Following Adams' speech, Harvey Fierro came forward and delivered a speech entitled "Memories." Fierro stated that memories were good, but it was not good to dwell on past memories because you need to look toward the future and move ahead.

The song "Friends" by Michael Smith was sung for the class by Flores and Amy Beth Scoggins. Brad Thompson presented his speech, "Striving for Excellence," which addressed the Seniors on working toward their goals.

The "Valedictory" was the last speech to be delivered and was presented by Bonnie Cameron, Valedictorian of the Class of 1986. Cameron encouraged the class to believe in themselves and have faith in their abilities.

Principal of Ozona High School, James Payne came forward for the presentation of awards. Payne first presented the Presidential Academic Fitness award to the six graduating seniors who met all the requirements.

The students must have scored in the 80th percentile on a nationally standardized college admissions examination. Maintained B plus average or equivalent and completed at least 12 units in English, Mathematics, Science, Social Studies, Foreign Language, and Computer Science. The six receiving the award were Bonnie Lea Cameron, Harvey Galan Fierro, Raedene Tambunga Flores, Annalu Lopez, Ty M. McKinney and Amy Beth Scoggins.

The U.I.L. Scholar Award was awarded to the students who graduated in the top 10% of their class and whose extracurricular achievements have been exemplary and whose self-discipline preparation and integrity in competition are model for others. The four receiving this award were: David Adams, Bonnie Lea Cameron, Harvey Galan Fierro, and Brad Thompson.

Payne then introduced Judge A.O. Fields to present the Dan Bean Memorial Scholarship to an outstanding 4-H member. This year's recipient of the scholarship was Julie Reagor.

Mr. Elliot Barrera was then introduced and awarded the Knights of Columbus scholarship of $1,000 to Harvey Galan Fierro. Fierro also received the J.B. Green Memorial Scholarship for $900 which was awarded to him by Garland Davis.

The Mildred North Scholarship was presented by Mrs. Jeffrey Sutton on behalf of the Ozona Woman's League. The recipient of this scholarship is voted on by his classmates and the recipients for this year was Jesus

Ozona blessed with wonderful rains all week

Rain fell with abandon on Ozona and this area all week long. In town, the rains fell beautifully with very little run-off. However, still raining at noon Tuesday, the ground was soaked and flash flood warnings were in effect.

May proved to be the wettest month so far this year, bowing out with 2.75 inches of rainfall. June entered with a total of .92 of an inch recorded for the first day, with another .18 coming in the form of a heavy shower Monday night. These totals are from the official gauge at the water district office. Ranches around reported up to 6 inches before the Sunday fall.

Rainfall has been general throughout the area, with all parts reporting good rain. Some flooding has occurred in parts of the county to the southwest, but no damage has been reported.

Since 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, another .12 of an inch of rain was recorded before 1 p.m. from intermittent showers.

Consumer opinion survey results told and recommendations made for community

A consumer opinion survey was released last week by the Ozona Chamber of Commerce, prepared by James I. Mallett and Rachel Hall, of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and Beth Boyd, manager of the Ozona Chamber of Commerce.

The survey took place early in 1986, but since only 29 respondents were involved, the findings point out the limitations of surveying such a small sample of the community. However, a review of the comments and observations of the participants suggest the results are reliable for developing strategies for future community action.

Participants in the survey consisted of five oldtimers, five newcomers, eleven professionals and eight youths. After a study of the findings, the following recommendations were made. "These recommendations are based on the perceptions of consumers and their suggestions and comments. The report attempts to organize the information and suggestions in such a manner that local readers and officials can work with the community in bringing about desired changes and improvements. Since these observations and recommendations are based upon information provided by the citizens of Ozona, only the citizens and leaders of Ozona can determine the degree of their validity and the appropriate steps for improvement that will be most acceptable to the community as a whole. Hopefully, the community dialogue and interaction in examining the results of this survey will lead to a consensus regarding the method and focus for further development.

Subscriber line charges go into effect

Single line business and all residential telephone customers across the nation, including those served by General Telephone, will begin paying June 1, 1986 a monthly $2 subscriber line charge.

This $2 charge represents a $1 increase to the subscriber line charge and is the second phase of a federally mandated process that is intended to gradually eliminate the practice of charging customers more for long-distance service in order to keep residential rates artificially low. An initial $1 subscriber line charge became effective June 1, 1985.

Business customers with more than one line have been paying a $6 subscriber line charge since May 1984. This subscriber line charge will not change.

Under the Federal Communications Commission plan for implementation of subscriber line charges, the total revenues of the local telephone companies will not increase since the FCC

Absentee indicates large vote Saturday

As of noon Monday, 135 persons had voted absentee, in the upcoming June 7, run-off election, indicating a great deal of interest on the part of eligible voters in Crockett County. Absentee balloting closed at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

According to the voting roles, there are 2811 eligible voters in Crockett County. This is probably off by at least 25 percent, possibly 50 percent but the way the election laws are set up, a county may not remove a voter from the list until they receive notice of his or her death or are notified by another county tax office of the voter's registration there. Of course, the voter may ask to have his or her name removed from the role, but this is seldom the case. According to a spokesman at the tax office, 173 cards were returned in this year's mailing to voters. Those with returned cards will be taken off the voter list August 15.

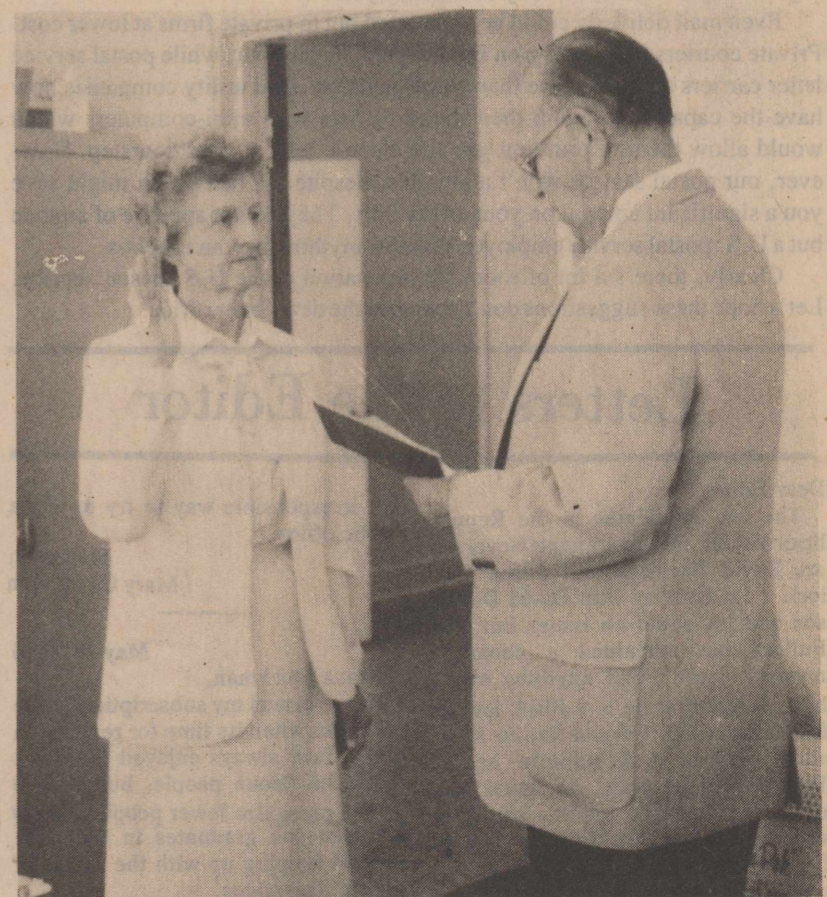

The cards are mailed every other year to all those who remain on the roles, whether they have exercised their right to vote or not, according to a spokesman at the tax office.

Polls will open Saturday at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. All voters will cast ballots in their respective precincts. There are two races locally for voters countywide, and three for those in precinct 2, where incumbent commissioner B.W. Stuart faces opponent Jerry Hill for that post.

Countywide, voters will have a choice for Justice of the Peace. Jerry Lay won the run-off spot against Raymond Davee, incumbent JP, in the May primary. Lay's name along with that of Davee will appear on the ballot although Davee passed away before the run-off. The commissioners court, in a called meeting, named Davee's widow, Christine Davee, to fill out the unexpired term of her late husband. Should Lay win the election, he will take office January 1, 1987. If Davee should win, the County Democratic Committee will appoint someone to be on the ballot in November. The committee is made up of the four precinct chairmen and the county chairman.

On the ballot for county chairman will be Robert Longoria and longtime county chairman Steve Kenley. In the May primary, dozens of write in votes were cast for the post, with Kenley receiving 19 and Longoria, 17, thus the run-off. The winner of this race will take office 20 days after the election, as will the four precinct chairmen. Chairman of precinct 1 is Luis Martinez; precinct 2, Arlene Clayton; precinct 3, Bobbie Fatout, and precinct 4, Nina Martinez.

Polling places will be the courthouse for precinct 1 voters, the junior high building for precinct 2 voters, the civic center for precinct 3, and the primary school for precinct 4.

JUDGE A. O. FIELDS gives Christine Davee the oath of office after she was appointed by the commissioners court to fill out the unexpired term of her late husband, Raymond Davee, at the post of Justice of the Peace.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—In the latest salvo of what promises to develop into a full-scale political struggle, Texas officials vowed to force the feds to put a proposed nuclear waste dump site somewhere besides the Panhandle.

Meanwhile, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby changed the complexion of summer political campaigning by confirming the likelihood of new and expanded state sales taxes next session.

Hobby said he would resolve a projected $1.3 billion deficit by broadening the state sales tax-base to include several professional services now exempted. Food and medicine would continue to be exempted.

When the most powerful man in the Legislature speaks, all listen. While others tend to play coy or demagogue about tax issues, Hobby's expertise and reputation for integrity lend the aura of "bottom line" to his statements.

Govs To Debate

This year Texas Republicans are using the specter of new taxes to attract support. They say they'll cut state spending rather than raise taxes.

Whether or not that's realistic, they've scared such tax advocates as Gov. Mark White, a Democrat, into silence on taxes.

Last week, White and former Gov. Bill Clements agreed to a Texas League of Women Voters debate. Their handlers are arranging a date now.

The prospect of additional sales taxes, now vague, may be polarized into aye and nay by then, because Hobby has said it must be considered. He makes other Democrats consider a tax increase; he makes Republicans reconsider how frugal they want to be.

Breadbasket Nuke Dump

President Reagan last week chose the proposed nuke dump site in Deaf Smith County for the final three sites being considered by the feds. It made residents and some Texas officials hopping mad, again.

Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox vowed a lawsuit to stop the project's location in a major Texas farm and ranch center. And Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower and others swore to get in on the fight, too, to protect the Ogilala Aquifer, as well.

Reagan's decision is considered one that will drastically change the farming community there, whether the high-level nuclear waste dump is eventually built.

The U.S. Energy Department plans to spend $850 million in six years studying the nine-mile square site. While the study will employ some 800, as much as 350 acres of privately owned farm land may be purchased or condemned by the government.

The fight will go on for a long time. For now, this issue puts Texas Republicans on the spot, just as the tax issue touches Democrats in the '86 general election.

Other Highlights

—Capitol architects planned to put up the aluminum Goddess of Liberty statue last weekend with a helicopter. In the time capsule were official letters, and a gold "GIB" lapel pin from Speaker Gib Lewis.

—Gov. White indicated last week he may seek a third term if re-elected, a move to counter rumors he has visions of the White House.

—The governor's wife hits the campaign trail this month to bring disillusioned and angry teachers back into his fold. A recent TSTA survey indicated some 41 percent of Texas public school teachers are thinking of finding new jobs.

—For those political observers who know Houston turns out the most voters, a local poll shows 21 percent of its residents plan to move within two years for economic reasons.

—In the area of state agencies, the Department of Human Services plans to seek a 20 percent boost in state funding next year, while the Texas Education Agency said they have trimmed $140 million from this year's budget.

—The longtime doorman of the Texas Senate, Joseph Lowell Gault, who died last week, drew tributes from Hobby and other leaders of the Senate.

—State District Judge Byron Croiser of Cleburne was indicted on two misdemeanor counts of official misconduct related to jury empaneling.

—Texas senior citizens are planning a "Silver Haired Legislature" for September, an exercise in electing delegates to participate in a mock government. The idea is to learn more about the legislative process in order to lobby more successfully for laws of interest to senior citizens.

THE ECONOMY AND YOU

STAMP COLLECTING IS NO INFLATION HEDGE

By Richard H. Fink

There are still people alive today who remember the penny postcard and the three-cent first class stamp. The sad fact is, some of them aren't even very old. I'm in my mid-thirties, and I remember using nickle stamps on the first letters I wrote as a child. So why do stamps cost nearly five times as much today?

The answer is simple. The government operates the U.S. postal service, and jealously prevents any business from directly competing with its mail delivery monopoly. Like any monolithic organization which need not fear competition, our postal service feels little need to cut costs and maximize efficiency.

In March, 1981, a first class stamp cost 15 cents. By February, 1985, only four years later, a first class stamp cost 22 cents. That's a 47 percent price increase in 47 months, almost triple the rate of increase in the consumer price index.

If our postal service felt the heat of competition, it might develop some of the innovative skill and entrepreneurial spirit that American businessmen have in abundance, and actually provide us with better service at lower cost. That this is not an unrealistic proposition can be seen from the case of a private firm called American Discount Stamps.

American Discount Stamps has recently begun selling 22 cent first class U.S. postage stamps for 17 cents apiece. That's right, they're selling 22 cent stamps for 17 cents. But that's crazy, you're surely thinking. How can they make any money?

Easy. American Discount Stamps has put the stamps on larger stickers, about 3 inches square, which have short advertisements for major products printed on them. Manufacturers of everything from fast food to hairspray want to get the name of their products before you in any way possible. American Discount Stamps charges them for the right to do so on its' stickers, and makes a tidy profit.

A recent Citizens for a Sound Economy report noted a number of different ways the post office could make greater use of competition and private businesses to cut costs and keep postage prices down.

One of these suggestions was to contract with private companies to offer retail services, such as selling stamps and weighing and putting postage on parcels. A private company, World Mail Centers of Los Angeles, California, already operates 60 outlets in three cities. They use a sophisticated computerized system which lets part-time workers such as college students perform virtually the entire range of retail postal transactions after only a few hours of training.

Another alternative is to contract out mail sorting to private firms. Private letter shops already process and pre-sort mass mailings to the great advantage of the postal service. Why not let these firms now sort regular mail—at a savings to the post office of nearly $1 billion a year.

Even mail delivery could be contracted out to private firms at lower cost. Private couriers in Washington DC are paid $6 per hour, while postal service letter carriers are paid more than twice as much. And utility companies now have the capacity to equip their meter readers with mini-computers which would allow them to print out gas and electric bills at your doorstep. However, our postal service won't allow this, despite the fact that it might save you a significant amount on your utility bills. They do not approve of anyone but a U.S. postal service employee sticking anything in your mailbox.

Clearly, there's a lot of room for innovation at the U.S. postal service. Let's hope these suggestions don't end up at the dead letter office.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor;

The two candidates in the Republican runoff for Lieutenant Governor are David Davidson and Aaron Bullock. I am familiar with David Davidson and his stand on issues but Mr. Bullock has remained a complete mystery. I can't find anything about him, except that he is a Black lawyer from Kingwood. I would like to know what kind of a Republican he is. Where does he stand on issues like education and tax reform—issues in which the Lieutenant Governor is very influential. So far he has been running on his last name. The fact that he has the same last name as the State Comptroller is hardly a platform, and is a irresponsible way to try to win a public office.

Sincerely,
Mary Gay Caven

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

Evert White deserved all the tribute paid to him in last weeks Stockman and will be missed in so many ways. Too, I must give thanks to Ruth for being such a true friend all those years since 1955. I first met her at the board meeting when we came down from Stamford for the interview for Bailey to become hospital administrator. We had rented a house near them, and the first morning, here she came with our breakfast. All these years I have considered her one of my best friends.

Since our rains the county landscape is beginning to display colorful native flowers growing along the highways. Two from the mint family are Salvia farinacea, blue salvia or blue sage which grows mostly in pastures between here and Austin in a massed glorious blue with gray foliage. To me, it competes in beauty with the blue-bonnets. Another is purple horsemint which grows in pastures and along railroad tracks. Bee keepers consider it one of the most important sources of honey in Texas. It grows 1 to 2 feet high with long, showy, purple rosesettes at intervals along the upper portion of the stems. The East Texas variety bears only one pink flowered rosette at the tip of the stem. It is easy to grow as it spreads from year to year by new plants arising from the root stalks. The tall spikes are especially delicate and pretty to use in spring arrangements.

From the phlox family is another tall and attractive plant to be seen now. Even the lowly Johnson grass is beautiful now. Try using it for large arrangements with day lilies or alone. It cures well in the glycerin solution (1 cup glycerin-2 cups water) for fall arrangements. Place in tall container so stems will be several inches in solution. Place where you can enjoy watching the process.

Planting calendar for June.
Above-ground crops: 9, 10, 16, 17, 18, 19
Root Crops: 4, 5, 22, 23, 26, 27
Seed Beds: 9, 10, 18, 19

The money that you donate for the poppies is used for a good cause, like helping the Disabled Veterans, Cancer or Heart fund, and to help a needy person, and for any small donation made, it is appreciated.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the V.F.W., Post 6109, will meet Tuesday, June 10, at 7:00 p.m. in the Emerald Room of the Ozona National Bank. All members are urged to attend, and any who would like to join, and are eligible, are invited to do so.

Library Notes

HELP! The Library needs book marks to hand out with the books. So a Texas Bookmark Contest is underway. Eight to ten year olds need to bring your design for a bookmark to the library. The winning design will become the official Sesquicentennial Crockett County Library Bookmark. The deadline for entries is June 30.

Of course, the summer is also the time for enrichment. The Friends of the Library have planned many other exciting activities. Beginning with the younger set, the three to five year old Story Hour will be held each Monday from 10 to 11 a.m. The Day Care children are coming, so bring your young ones and join the fun!

For the eight to ten year olds, there is a Celebrate Texas Reading Contest. Each time ten books are read, the student will receive a certificate. The top five readers will be given a surprise grand prize.

Entertaining and educational movies will be shown twice a month for Jr. High and High School students. Watch the paper or check with the library for exact times.

In July, Rachael Hall is co-ordinating baby sitting and grooming clinics for Jr. High and High School girls. There will be more about this later. Programs are still in the planning stage for the boys.

"Hello..."

"When you answer the telephone and announce the name of our organization," said the company president to his staff, "you are our company."

"You are the only person in our organization the caller may ever meet. If your voice does not communicate warmth, helpfulness, and cordiality, that person will have a negative view of who we are. Please remember," he pleaded, "that when you speak, you speak for all of us."

The company president's logic (and reality) applies to every area of life. When we speak, whether on telephone or in person, people not only judge who we are but also who we represent by what we say and HOW we say it.

I know one chief executive officer of a company who always calls prospective employees at home "just to hear their daily, unguarded telephone manners. It is a test they must pass to become part of our organization," he says.

HOW we speak and WHAT we say reveals not only WHO we are, but who we represent.

Paul puts it this way: "Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel. . . ." (Phil. 1:27)

Vitamins and minerals are undergoing a promotional craze. Health food stores, door-to-door sales, and newspaper and magazine articles promise that the consumption of vitamin or mineral supplements will increase good health. Americans are concerned about their health, but many have misconceptions about what vitamin and mineral supplements can do to improve health.

According to a recent USDA study, about 40 percent of the U.S. population uses vitamin and mineral supplements. Only 7 percent of these people take the supplements under the guidance of a physician. Vitamin and mineral "over-dosing" has become a major threat, causing problems from intestinal disorders to liver damage. Every 24 hours, 11 people in the U.S. are treated by a doctor for vitamin or mineral toxicity, while many more cases are never seen by a doctor.

The Food and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council/National Academy of Sciences publishes guidelines known as Recommended Dietary Allowances. These are defined as "the levels of intake of essential nutrients considered adequate to meet the known nutritional needs of practically all healthy persons." The RDAs are not "minimums" or "requirements" and the level for each nutrient is deliberately set higher than more people need.

Very small amounts of vitamins and minerals are needed by the body. Just one ounce (28.3 grams) of Vitamin B 12 is enough of this vitamin to supply the daily needs of 4,724,921 people. The RDA for an adult is 6 micrograms per day.

The average person can get an adequate amount of all essential nutrients by following the basic food groups—four servings of fruits and vegetables, four servings of breads and cereals, two servings of meats and two to four milk servings. Adhering to this recommended minimum, with reasonable portion sizes, provides about 1200 calories and adequate amounts of all essential vitamins and minerals that the body needs.

There are relatively few segments of the population who are at risk for deficiencies including: pregnant and lactating women, casual vegetarians, single eaters, persons that restrict a whole food group due to allergies, and those on extreme reducing diets.

Three issues should be involved in deciding whether to take vitamin supplements: need, safety and cost. Most people take supplements for "insurance" to be sure they get enough. Once the decision is made to take a supplement, the following will be useful in choosing safe amounts.

*Choose a balanced multivitamin, rather than specific nutrients (unless medically prescribed). Excessive levels can disrupt the body's balance.

*Choose a preparation that provides 100 percent of RDA, since extra doses create toxic effects.

*Avoid preparations containing unrecognized nutrients, since they only increase cost.

*Ignore "Natural" versus "Synthetic" claims since most synthetic preparations are more effective.

*Expiration dates are necessary since preparations lose potency with time.

However, the best way to get vitamins is from foods in a balanced diet. Rather than taking vitamins for "insurance", evaluate your diet to determine whether you are eating a variety of foods. The best course of action to save money, health and safety is to improve eating habits.

Applications for emergency farm loans now being accepted

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by this summer's drought and extremely high temperatures are being accepted at the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) office located in Eden, FmHA county supervisor, Ben T. Rucker, Jr., said today.

Crockett County is one of 17 in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the drought.

Rucker said ranchers may be eligible for loans up to 80 percent of their actual losses, or the operating loan needed to continue in business, or $500,000 whichever is less. For ranchers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest rate on the first $100,000 borrowed is 5 percent; interest rate is 8 percent on the balance borrowed over that amount. For ranchers who can obtain commercial credit but who choose to borrow from FmHA, the interest rate is 13.75 percent.

Applications for assistance in the disaster stricken counties will be accepted by Farmers Home until January 15, 1987, for physical and production losses.

FmHA loans covering actual physical and production losses may be used to replace installations, equipment, or buildings, (including homes) lost through this disaster. Funds may be used to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock, or to meet interest and depreciation payments on current real estate and chattel debts.

"Funds can be used for essential operating and living costs," Rucker said.

To be eligible for an emergency loan, an applicant must have suffered losses from the disaster. As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30-percent loss of production to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan, Rucker said. Farmers participating in the PIK or federal crop insurance programs will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until January 15, 1987, but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possibly carry over into the new farming season, Rucker said.

FmHA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognize farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens, and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold a major interest.

The FmHA office is open from 10:30 am to 12 noon in the ASCS office each fourth Thursday of the month, and in Eden is open from 8 am to 5 pm Monday through Friday, P.O. Box H, Eden, Tx. 76837; Telephone No. (915) 869-3941, located in the ASCS building.

Crockett County ranchers invited to FmHA committee

Eligible farmers and ranchers in Crockett County are invited to become nominees for the Farmers Home Administration county committee, FmHA County Supervisor Ben T. Rucker, Jr., announced today.

As a result of the 1985 farm bill, two of the three members of FmHA county committees must be elected. The third member is appointed by FmHA. The Crockett County committee assists the FmHA county office in reviewing applications for FmHA farm loans and on other farm credit matters.

Generally, farmers and ranchers who are residents of the county but not FmHA borrowers are eligible to become nominees for the FmHA county Committee.

"Farmers in this county, serving on the committee, can play an important role by assisting in the process of loan applications and reviews," said Rucker.

For this first election only, two members will be elected at the same time. One will serve a one year term of office and the other will serve two years.

In the future, all terms of service will be for three years each on a staggered basis.

Nominating petitions must be returned to the Eden FmHA office by Tuesday, June 10, 1986.

Additional information and application forms for those who are interested in becoming nominees for the county committee are available at the Eden FmHA office, Box H, Eden, Tx. 76837 or by calling (915) 869-3941

Journey through Texas-

Texas pioneer woman led unique life in two worlds

Austin, Tx.-1864-Cynthia Ann Parker died last month at her home up in Anderson County. According to her friends, her age was somewhere around 45 years.

She was a strong pioneer lady, having grown up in Texas during the time of the fight for independence. She shared the hardship and struggles of a people wanting to be free. Yet her life was just a bit different than her peers. You see, she spent more than half her life as a Comanche Indian, free to roam the traditional range of the Comanches.

Mrs. Parker didn't talk much about her years with the Indians. It is known that she had several children as the wife of a Comanche warrior. Her daughter, Prairie Flower, died just a year or so ago, and her two sons are still alive.

She did remember, vaguely, something of the day she was captured. As can best be recalled, it was sometime in May of 1836. Cynthia, then nine years old, was living with her family along the banks of Navasota Creek in Limestone County. Fort Parker was a small stockade built for the security of the Parkers and other farming families in the area.

Several hundred Comanches surrounded the stockade after most of them had left for the fields. Defended by only three men, the fort was quickly overrun. Cynthia and her little brother John were captured and both grew up as Indians, with John becoming a warrior. (He later left the Indians and, according to reports, lives south of the Rio Grande.) All told, five people were captured that day, and four of them had been accounted for. Until Cynthia turned up in 1860, it was presumed that she was dead.

She was "recaptured" during an attack led by General Sul Ross (Lawrence Sullivan Ross) on a small village of Comanche Indians. Ross and a small band of military and civilian men had been patrolling the area near the headwaters of the Pease River for some Indians that had rampaged through Parker County. After their short skirmish, it became apparent to Ross that one woman, although she was "as perfectly an Indian in habit as if she were so born," was actually a white woman.

Suspecting that she was Cynthia Ann Parker, Ross sent for Isaac Parker, a survivor of the Fort Parker incident, who quickly identified his niece.

Her readjustment was slow. She repeatedly tried to escape and had to be watched very closely. When she attended the Secession Convention in Austin in 1861 as a guest, she thought the formal meeting was a group of "chiefs" meeting to decide her fate, instead of the state's stand in the impending conflict.

But slowly she regained her knowledge of English and assimilated back into society.

GTE rates up

in turn will reduce by an equivalent amount charges to long-distance carriers for use of local facilities and equipment. It is the intent of the FCC that this increase in long-distance carriers' expense will be passed through to consumers in the form of reduced interest long-distance rates. AT&T has already announced plans to reduce its interest rates.

General Telephone officials said the subscriber line charges are designed to shift from local-distance users to local customers, a larger portion of the actual costs of providing the line from their residence or business to the telephone switching equipment. It was pointed out that long-distance rates have been artificially high to pay a portion of these costs, thus keeping local rates artificially low.

Depending on the amount of interest long-distance calling, the proposed reduced interest rates could offset the $2 fee for many customers especially high volume users.

The $2 subscriber line charge applies to all residential and single line business customers of all exchange telephone companies providing local exchange service.

Bank sets management for profit seminar here

A two-day management for profit seminar will be held on June 16 and 17 at the High School cafeteria in Ozona according to Don W. Long. The seminar is being sponsored by Ozona National Bank.

The seminar will be taught by ranch and farm management specialist Blake L. (Skipper) Duncan and Gary R. Briggs. The seminar is designed specifically for agricultural producers and will expose the participants to many management principles which they can use in their own businesses.

"Because agriculture has emphasized increased production and technology over basis management, many producers have little understanding of how to analyze their business practices or to project where they are going", said Duncan. "They are losing money and overlooking significant profit opportunities."

"This seminar will help the producer to achieve control over his business", said Duncan.

Instructor Skipper Duncan owns and operates Duncan Ranch near San Angelo, Texas. He is also a professional ranch management consultant specializing in improving business management in agriculture. Gary Briggs is a former agriculture lender with broad experience in both agricultural credit and range and resource management.

For more information about the seminar, contact Don W. Long or phone 915-392-5545.

For what it's worth-----

A tribute to a newspaper man

By Bekie Diaz

Gosh! I have been trying to put things-or thoughts-together, but to no avail since I'm not a writer or a journalist. It's nearly impossible for me to try to put and piece it together. Somebody once asked me, "How long did you work for Evert and the Ozona Stockman?" Well, I said, "I remember I was going to grade school, I think I was around twelve years old, when I started working for Mr. White." Oh, it was a long time ago. I was here when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor, May 7, 1941. Of course, he sold his business to Kitty Montgomery in 1972. But still, he was there bringing in the news, write-ups, commentaries and ads, etc.

When I started working for him, we were hot-type printing. I'm sure any old timer in the printing business would know what I am talking about. Most of the machines were old, some very old, but Mr. White knew every bit of the machine's parts and, of course, I learned nearly every trick of the business along side of him in about a 30 year stay at the newspaper.

Sometimes, we would break down and we just had to fabricate parts to get things going. Once, somebody said, "The Mother of Invention is the necessity" and we had to do things that were in nobody's book. Mrs. White "Ruth" used to operate the linotype. There were front-mouth squirts, mats, hang-ups, dirty tumblers, clogged magazine channels, and of course, don't ever let your medal pot freeze up. During winter time when cold weather was here, sometimes the gas would freeze and our linotype pot would go out. Somebody would run the office before the pot medal would freeze and put an iron plunger in so the pot, with the force of the cold metal, would not break. Hand operated type 14 linotype.

Also, there was the "Caster," a pot that whenever you wanted to use it, you had to light up and wait about two hours before the metal melted in. Once the metal was melted, it was ready to use. We had to cast dealer, car ads, some grocery ads, and oh yes, all the pictures that were used in the front or any other page where we had to use a picture.

I'll try to explain how this casting was done. We would get a mat of a picture or ad, then we would put a long paper tail glued with brown tape, heat it on top of the pot considerably, then get it before it got cold, square it on the caster table, block it with iron, tie it down, and pour the hot metal over it. If it was hot and usable, we kept it to place in the pages of the paper. These metal plates were about 3/8 of an inch thick.

After all the ads, pictures, and all the type was set up, there were the "forms;" they were page size cast iron forms to put in the type, ads and pictures to go in the paper. Of course, this paper is weekly, it was at that particular time put out on Thursdays. That was the paper dead line. Also, after the forms were ready, there was the old "Hand Fed Open Cylinder Bab-Cock Press." It ran about 1000 sheets of paper every two hours. It ran 4-page at a time. When I came to work with Evert, he was running a 4-page paper. It later developed to an 8-page paper.

What kind of type did we have? Well, the linotype had 9-point, 14-point and 24-point. Type? Yes, we had all kinds of hand-set type; Old English, Gothic, Roman, Cooper, and Caslon, just to name a few. Some of these types were from 6-point up to 72-point. Also, 3-inch type was used occasionally to emphasize something. Also used were metal rules, hair-line on six-point base, with up to 12-point on 14-base.

I will not go into detail on all the commercial printing we did. It would probably take from now on to detail it for you. Some of the things we printed were letter heads, envelopes, bills for local firms, club books, report cards, church pamphlets, wedding invitations, birthday cards, funeral notices, log books, church and school programs and football programs. Name it. We printed it.

You might ask anybody here in town what I have been writing about and not 2 percent of the people have had an experience like this.

And, of course, at the start of this column, I mentioned that I didn't go to college to learn all of what I have written. But there was the "Old Master" keying in on every thing that was done. No, I don't think I have exaggerated on how good a man Evert was. But I tell you, he's just one of the few that have pioneered this world. I'm sure his family is very grateful to what all he accomplished. So enough is enough for, like I use to say "The Old Boss."

There is a lot more that can be said, like when he was working in Austin, in Waco and in San Angelo; tales of what he use to tell me about long ago. I would never get through. The more I think about, the more comes to my mind.

FAA plans to recruit traffic controllers

The Federal Aviation Administration has announced a nation-wide Air Traffic Controller recruiting program.

The agency plans to hire 2 to 3,000 controllers in the next year and is actively seeking candidates through its "We Need more of the World's Best" recruiting campaign.

An FAA spokesman said the agency wants U.S. citizens, age 30 or under, with 4 years college, or 3 years work experience, or an equivalent combination of the two.

Candidates must pass an aptitude test, with a high score, for final selection. Aviation experience is not necessary. Persons hired at the $17,824 starting salary receive free training at the FAA's Oklahoma City Academy with final placement throughout the US. Depending on their assignment controllers can receive up to $55,000 in basic annual salary through Civil Service advancement.

Those interested should send a postcard to the FAA, Dept. 140, Box 26650, Oklahoma City, Ok 73126 for further information.

Guadalupe Gonzales enlists in U.S. Air Force program

Guadalupe Gonzales, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lupe L. Gonzales, recently enlisted in the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP), according to SSGT Bobby Tucker, Air Force representative in San Angelo.

Airman Gonzales will enter active duty on September 17, 1986 and has selected the administration career for training after completing the Air Force's six-week basic training course. According to Sergeant Tucker, the delayed program is for qualified applicants who have reserved an Air Force job or received and Air Force assignment. The time spent in the DEP will increase a member's seniority for pay purpose once on active duty.

Gonzales is a 1980 graduate of Ozona High School.

Danny Sanchez ends successful track season

Danny Sanchez placed third at the state track meet in Austin. Danny placed third in the 3200 meter. Running time was 9:39.34 enough to be the top time in West Texas in all divisions. Danny, only a sophomore, has two more years to top this excellent performance.

Danny ended a very successful track year along with the track team. The majority of the team finished the year with a personal record.

In anticipation of the classification drop the Ozona Lions track team is looking for even a more productive year next year.

Donna Jo Patrick is Miss Rodeo Texas contestant

In special commemoration of Texas' 150th Sesquicentennial birthday celebration, the most famous town in our great state-Fort Worth, "Where the Wild West Begins"-will host the Miss Rodeo Texas/Miss Rodeo Texas Teen Pageant and the 10th Annual Chisholm Trail Round-up extravaganza, June 11-15, 1986.

A local contestant in the Miss Rodeo Texas Teen Pageant is Miss Ozona Junior Rodeo 1985, a 15 year old resident Del Rio, Texas, Miss Denna Jo Patrick. Miss Patrick is currently a sophomore at Del Rio High School, and plans to attend Texas Tech University in Lubbock and Texas A&M in College Station to major in veterinary medicine.

Donna's high school activities include Spanish club and varsity girls basketball team manager.

Donna is currently a member of the National High School Rodeo Association, 4-H, American Junior Rodeo Association, American Junior Quarter Horse Association, and the American Quarter Horse Association.

Miss Patrick has won several awards in her rodeo pursuits including 1983-1984 Buckle for best All-Around, Ozona Junior Rodeo; 1985 4-H State performance Runner Up, and many more.

A showcase of hundreds of special attractions and adventures in the spirit of the untamed West, the Chisholm Trail Round-Up and all its glory will attract an expected crowd of 200,000 to 300,000 fun seekers to the most famous stomping ground of the old West, the historic Fort Worth Stockyards area (located five minutes north of downtown, at N. Teen, will be judged in three categories, including Horsemanship, Personality and Western Attire. The Horsemanship Competition will be at the Cowtown Coliseum in the heart of the Fort Worth Stockyards, on Friday, June 13. The Miss Rodeo Texas Teen Division contestants will compete from 9:00 a.m.-11:30 a.m. and the Miss Rodeo Texas Division contestants will compete from 1:30 p.m.-4:00 p.m. The public is invited. All of the contestants will be featured participants.

Firemen called on three runs this week

The Ozona Volunteer Fire Department was called to duty for three fires during this last week.

Firemen answered a call around 1:50 p.m. for a car wreck near Howard Draw. A car pulling a U-Haul collided into another vehicle with the car and trailer receiving heavy damages. One lady received minor injuries. The firemen were back at the station at 3:05 p.m.

Sunday morning, June 1, the firemen received a call for a motor home fire on Highway 163 North at a Roadside Park. Fifteen gallons of water were used to extinguish this fire. The motor home was owned by an Odessa man. The firemen were out for approximately one hour and 15 minutes.

A truck caught fire Monday at the Kwik Marc and the fire department was called out around 6:45 a.m. The fire was cooled down quickly and the firemen returned in about 20 minutes.

Head of senior league says more players needed

With half the season over, Enriquez

Local artist wins awards of $100 for her paintings

Judging of the C. Russell Myers Memorial Art Exhibit sponsored by the San Angelo Art Club at the Kendall Art Gallery, was held last week.

The judge was Melvin C. Warren, a member and Gold Medal Winner of the Cowboy Artists of America, and the exhibit was open to artists throughout the West Texas area. Those interested in art may view the oil, watercolor and acrylic paintings at the gallery, located at 119 W. First St., on Wednesday mornings, and Saturday and Sunday afternoons throughout the month.

Local artist, Joan Nicholas, received $100 in awards for her oil paintings "The Fishin' Hole" and "Where We Met", the latter work being that of the rugged coast of Cornwall, England, where she and her husband met during World War II.

Community opinion survey-----

This survey indicates Ozona has an excellent combination of public services and community organizations that has developed an attractive community with a broad array of social and recreational activities. Since the population of Ozona appears to be stable, no major expansion in services or facilities would be indicated. However, there were some suggestions that should be noted. It was suggested that the museum could use additional space. A senior citizen center or a place for the older citizens to meet would provide for social activities. There appears to be significant support for a combination of entertainment opportunities, particularly for the dating aged youth in the community, such as bowling, skating, a theater or a well supervised community center program.

Law enforcement officers and officials seem to be highly respected and appreciated in Ozona. However, there was a serious concern about the automobile safety for the youth. Other communities have been successful in dealing with this problem by involving the youth or representatives from youth groups in establishing rules and procedures and helping to monitor the situation. However this problem is approached, it seems to merit further consideration by the community.

The retail business sector received high marks by consumers, particularly with regard to customer relations, reasonable prices and acceptable selection and convenience. A review of the comments for each category would assist in further analysis of the retail mix available for Ozona consumers. The following areas may be indicated for attention and further study might indicate other potentials; additional fast food and family restaurants, appliance repair services, entertainment facilities, such as a theater, bowling, skating, etc., and availability and information about housing.

Community pride is strong incentive for community support. The leaders and citizens of Ozona can further community pride through a consistent and continuous information and communication program about the advantages of Ozona and the contribution each citizen can make by shopping at home.

Copies of the survey are available at the Chamber of Commerce office for those who may find it useful. A copy of the survey is also on hand at the Ozona Stockman and will be made available to all who are interested in complete results.

There's a hanging in Austin you won't want to miss.

We won't be using a rope.

Instead, we'll be using easels—to display the winning entries of the "American Dream in Texas" photo contest. And your photo could be one of the winners on exhibit at the Texas State Capitol this fall.

If you've got a camera, you can enter.

Amateurs and professionals of all ages, you're invited to take a shot of what you think best represents the American dream. Your house in the suburbs, your name up in lights, a cafe packing them in on a Saturday night, a flashy car, or your very own family. However you picture the American dream, shoot it. And then send your entry to this newspaper (see contest rules below).

What better Sesquicentennial tribute to the indomitable spirit of the state of Texas and its people than a photo exhibit depicting how today's Texans are achieving their American dreams?

So grab your camera, and get that winning shot. Deadline for entries, Monday, September 1, 1986.

JUDGES

Finalists will be selected from entries received at each of the participating Texas Press Association member newspapers. Each newspaper will submit at least three and no more than 10% of its entries as finalists.

From the finalists, three winners and 24 runners-up will be selected by the "American Dream Photo" panel of judges: former astronaut Alan Shepard, Elvin Hayes, Special Assistant to the Athletic Director, University of Houston, University Park, and photographer Geoff Winningham.

PRIZES

Winners will receive gift certificates for photographic equipment and supplies from Houston Jewelry:

- 1st Place: $500 certificate
- 2nd Place: $300 certificate
- 3rd Place: $200 certificate
- 24 runners-up receive certificates of merit.

CONTEST RULES

Photos may be black & white or color. No slides accepted.

Photos should be firmly mounted on at least a 8" x 10" size board, but no larger than 20" x 24". No frames.

Entries must be clearly identified with the following information printed on the back of the mounted board: ENTRANT'S NAME, ADDRESS, CITY, STATE, ZIP, PHONE, TITLE (if any) OF PHOTO.

Photos must have been completed within the last two years. Non-refundable $4.00 entry fee per photo to offset contest costs. Make checks payable to Anti-Defamation League.

DEADLINE FOR ENTRIES: Monday, September 1, 1986.

Ship entry & entry fee (prepaid) to this paper (address below). Hand delivery of entry is not acceptable.

Final judging and selection of winners will be made from the actual works.

No limit to number of entries per person.

No accepted work can be returned or may be removed from the exhibit until after the closing date. To have your entry returned, please enclose a self-addressed postage-paid full-size envelope; otherwise all entries will be destroyed. Entrants are totally responsible for postage and insurance of entries during transit, judging and exhibition. Although all entries will be handled with the greatest care, the sponsoring organizations are not responsible for loss or damage to work submitted for judging. Sending an entry to this competition shall imply an agreement on the part of the sender to the conditions set forth above. The participating sponsors and underwriters assume no liability. By entering this contest you acknowledge that this newspaper and the Anti-Defamation League reserve the right to reproduce and/or exhibit any entry.
