First Baptist construction underway

The Ozona First Baptist Church will soon have a new activities building to enjoy church functions in with the projected completion date being around October 1.

Location of the building will be across the street on the north side of the main First Baptist Church building. Construction began on the activities building during the later part of March.

The building will consist of three main parts. There will be one very large room in which church fellowships and dinners can be held. This room also will be used for recreational activities such as basketball and volleyball. It will not be a full size basketball court, but large enough to play games.

A fully equipped large kitchen will be a part of the new building where cooking for church dinners and other parties can be done. A foyer will be in the front of the building with restroom facilities for men and women.

The old fellowship hall which is located in the main building, will be completely renovated and remodeled into a parlor. This parlor will be used for special meetings.

The architect who designed the activities building is MWM, Inc. out of Lubbock. J.W. Cooper Construction Company of Odessa is the contractor.

Ed Hale loses Championship by bad luck

After leading through seven go-rounds of goat roping, Ozona cowboy Ed Hale lost the 1986 World Championship Goat Roping trophy Saturday when his last goat freed itself and got up at the second annual Championship Roping and Invitational Ranch Rodeo, in San Angelo.

Will Adair of Gatesville, who had trailed Hale by only a few seconds in the earlier go-rounds, took the championship along with a trophy buckle and a traveling memorial trophy.

Hale's misfortune also cost him a share of the big bucks as he ended up winning $1,800 during the two day competition.

In the Invitational Ranch Rodeo finals, Crockett County's team of Ed Hale, Cliff McMullan, Dean McMullan, Mike Hill, James Owens, Luis Bunger, and member/coach Jim Bob Bailey won with 36 points. Will M. Black and R.J. Everett were on Crockett County's injured reserve list.

Reagan County was the runner-up with 31 points.

Plans are currently underway to hold such a rodeo in Ozona.

Kimble County Tennis tourney set

The Kimble County Tennis Association is again sponsoring the Junction Annual Junior Open Tennis Tournament. The event will be held on June 20, 21, and 22 at the Ingram Tennis Center in Junction. Play will start at 8:30 a.m. each day. Boys' and girls' singles and doubles events include: Ages 10, 12, 14, 16, and 18. Special events are the mixed-doubles divisions for players 12 and under, 14 and under, and 18 and under. The entry fees are $7.00 per person per event and may be sent to Kurt Wasmer, 1717 N. Llano, Apt. #7, Junction, Texas 76849 (phone: 915-446-3620). Checks may be made payable to Kimble County Tennis Association. Players may enter two events plus a mixed doubles event. Trophies will be awarded.

Commissioners discuss next year's budget

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met in regular session Monday with a lackluster agenda until the budget discussion came up. The court was told to expect a drastic cut in the tax base for next year's budget, due to the declining economy.

Although the final figures from Prichard and Abbot are not in, officials have been notified to expect a significant drop in the tax base. County Auditor Dick Kirby said where the tax base was $664,000,000 for this year's budget, the estimate is $543,000,000 for next year. The final evaluation will come in July.

Judge A.O. Fields said he had contacted the hospital administrator, the care center administrator, plus all department heads Friday, in an effort to get their assistance in cutting the budget for next year.

Judge Fields said the county had only three options: cut salaries, terminate personnel or raise taxes. Taxes cannot be raised above 3 percent without a public hearing, and the court seemed reluctant to take this measure.

Prior to the budget hearing, department heads gave reports on the various entities and bills were approved for payment. Some discussion was held on child welfare expenses which amounted to $436.37 for the month for a fifteen-year-old girl.

Minutes of the May 22, special meeting were read, where the court appointed a Justice of the Peace to fulfill the unexpired term of Raymond Davee. At this time Tom Cameron announced the firm of Web & Stokes had been retained to attempt to recover the $600,000 in unclaimed money, recovered here last month by the DPS. Cameron claims the law states the money belongs to the county where found. The funds have been arrested by federal marshals and are presently in the hands of the federal government.

Eddie Moore gave the road department report and said several roads had been damaged from flood waters recently. He said one-half mile of pavement had been lost on Miller Lane and some bad washes on some other county roads. Moore was questioned about an electric eye on the new asphalt system which costs $800. This part was not under warranty, according to Moore.

Onesimo Ortiz gave the parks department report, telling the court that materials for the rodeo arena and cemetery had been purchased, but it was too wet to get to work on them. After questioning Ortiz admitted he could use another mower and tractor for his department.

The swimming pools were discussed and it was decided to turn the maintenance of the pools over the county maintenance superintendent J. C. Schroeder and eliminate funds paid to others for upkeep.

Garland Young gave the Civic Center report and said the all-night graduation party was very successful. He said the Youth Center is planning a dance for mid-July.

Louise LeDoux gave the library report. She said the sidewalk had been redone and was finished and the back porch is being remodeled for a computer room. She reported the board of directors is presently in the process of making a new meeting room policy and have begun work on the 1987 budget, which will be presented to the court next month.

Bill Boswell gave the hospital report and asked that the court consider a hospital district. The hospital board asked that this matter be placed on the agenda for next month.

In order to form a hospital district, a request must be made by the Commissioners Court to the State Legislature and in due time that body approves an election, and the people vote on the formation of a hospital district.

A hospital district would give the

Helping Hands healthy financially

The statement of condition of Helping Hands for the Elderly, Inc. was released by treasurer Janet Hill at Commissioner's Court Monday showing that the organization's total balance as of the end of May was $1,849.28.

The Meals on Wheels served 781 meals in May with a 37.19 meal daily average. The total amount of donations for the meals was $863.50, averaging $1.10 per meal. The average value of each meal was $2.95.

The meal donations, along with $1,486.82 from a school walk-a-thon, $600.00 from a League bake sale, $552.55 in memorials, and $1,102.07 from the county, amounted to a total income of $4,604.94.

The organizations total expenditures for May amounted to $5,153.59. For salaries, $1,027.77 was paid, $1,713.62 for food, $2,038.19 for fixtures, $142.28 for utilities, and $231.73 for miscellaneous items.

The starting balance in May was $2,397.93.

Commodities were given to 181 families (529 people) in May, which represents a $1,983.00 food value. The next distribution date is June 20th.

Davee, Kenley and Hill take wins

In an unusually large turn-out for a run-off election with few local spots on the ballot, Crockett County voters went to the polls Saturday and made their choices known.

In the Justice of the Peace race, Raymond Davee polled 513 votes to challenger Jerry Lay's 336, to win the run-off. Davee passed away two weeks after the May Primary, and his wife, Christine, was appointed to fill the unexpired term. Davee's election will leave it up to the Democratic county committee to appoint a nominee for the November ballot. Mrs. Davee will be eligible for appointment to the post. Since there is no opposition in the general election, the appointee will serve the full four-year term.

In the May primary, Davee led the ticket with 582 votes, followed by Lay with 366 and David Weant with 350.

In the run-off election for county commissioner of precinct 2, challenger Jerry Hill beat the incumbent, B.W. Stuart, in a close race. Hill polled 122 votes and Stuart, 116, to give the race to Hill by 6 votes. With no opposition on the November ballot, Hill will take office January 1, 1987.

Longtime Crockett County Democratic Chairman Steve Kenley beat his opponent by a landslide. He polled 612 votes to challenger Robert Longoria's 194. With only a write-in space on the first Primary Ballot, Kenley got 19

Hospital board has busy agenda Thurs.

The Crockett County Hospital Board met in regular session June 5, 1986 at the Care Center dining room.

Bill Boswell reported on unfinished business. Continental Healthcare Systems was contacted on the Hospital T.V. sets contract. New rates are effective May 1, 1986, of $4.94 per occupied bed. Mr. Boswell was asked to contact them on a new proposal of 4 sets plus 1 spare for $60 per month for one year with the option to extend the contract for a second year. He will report at the next meeting.

A letter from Texas Department of Health in Austin stated that the care center dining room could be expanded if in compliance with their specifications. After discussion on the project and such standards Scotty Moore moved that we accept bids on the project. The motion carried.

Boswell reported a price had been quoted on fixing the fire alarm system. $5,056.00 will put the system in order and with an additional $3750.00 a certificate of Compliance will be issued. This will be a saving of

FREE MARKET ENERGY

By Edwin Feulner

In my neighborhood, lead-free premium is selling for just under a dollar-a-gallon these days: 98.9-cents-per-gallon, to be exact.

That's the good news. Unfortunately, there's a double shot of bad news: 1) the low prices won't last forever, and 2) when prices increase again, much of the money will be going to line the pockets of the Arab sheiks, rather than to domestic oil producers.

In fact, the sharp decline in world oil prices has sent many domestic producers into a financial tailspin. So serious is the situation, according to leading energy experts, that the United States could again end up dependent on oil from the unstable Middle East.

In a free market, of course, the rule is: to the victor belong the spoils. Unfortunately, U.S. energy producers don't operate in a free market. Their intellectual competitors are largely state-run enterprises. The OPEC oil cartel isn't run by a board of directors; it's run by governments. If these governments decide to pump more gas and oil out of the ground, they do so, regardless of the cost. If in the long run this causes U.S. oil and gas exploration and drilling to slow to a crawl, so much the better.

But there's more to the story. Not only must U.S. companies compete against OPEC nations which don't play by the normal rules, they must also fight the United States government. And that, today, is the real source of the problem.

During the Carter era, when it was popular to beat up on Big Oil, the United States took real good care of the oil industry by saddling it with a barrel full of regulatory and tax burdens, such as the so-called Windfall Profits Tax. The industry fought like crazy against the discriminatory regulations — but Washington had its mind made up.

The oil industry, of course, was able to live with the windfall profits tax when prices were sky high. It pumped the oil, made a profit, and passed the tax burden along to consumers in the form of higher prices.

Now there's nothing to pass along; profits are scarce; and there's no money left over for exploration and drilling, the lifeblood of the industry.

My colleague Milton Copulos, a member of the National Petroleum Council, details the results: Saudi Arabia in recent months has increased its oil exports to the United States by nearly 2500 percent; the other OPEC producers are following suit. If the trend continues, Copulos says, U.S. oil production could decline by 750,000 barrels-per-day by 1990, and 450,000 jobs could be lost in energy and related industries.

Hardest hit have been the independent producers. But they're the ones who produce most of the new oil and gas discovered each year in the United States.

Even without the windfall profits tax, U.S. oil companies are required to pay more in taxes than other companies. Such discrimination should be ended.

The oil depletion allowance — which recognizes the fact that wells eventually go dry — needs to be fully revived. And other steps should be taken to loosen the noose which threatens to strangle the U.S. energy industry.

Several years ago, Professor S. Fred Singer of George Mason University wrote a book called Free Market Energy. That, of course, is what we really need today in the United States.

The alternative is certainly not in the public's interest. (Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research institute.)

OBITUARIES

TAYLOR

Mr. C.G. "Grimm" Taylor, 85 of Rankin died Wednesday June 4, in Rankin District Hospital. Services were Saturday in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Ray Singleton officiating. Burial was in the Rankin Cemetery.

Mr. Taylor was born March 2, 1901 in Indian Territory, Okla. He had served as Justice of the Peace for a number of years and held numerous county offices. He was preceded in death by his wife Molly, and son Travis. He was a mason and member of the First Baptist Church.

Survivors were daughters, Charlene Cowden of Kerrville, and Neva Rody of Oxnard, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Ray Dunlap of Ozona, Mrs. Jacob Dameron of Stephenville, seven grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

RATLIFF

Dorothy Ratliff, former Ozonan, died on Sunday, May 11, 1986, in San Antonio, following a lengthy illness.

She is survived by daughters, Ann McMullan and Sandra Bloom, a son-in-law, Dr. Jim McMullan, all of San Antonio; grandchildren Blyth and Schyler Batey of San Antonio, Ashby McMullan and his wife, Joanie, of Lubbock, one great-granddaughter, Lindsay Ann McMullan, also of Lubbock, and one brother, Rod Alexander, of San Ysido, California.

Memorial services will be held in Benicia, California.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Capitol architects trying to put the recast Goddess of Liberty back on top of the Capitol have an easier task than the next wave of lawmakers who will balance the state budget.

The architects briefly tried using a Texas National Guard helicopter to lower the Goddess onto her post, but winds and wet weather aborted those attempts.

The day before, Texas House members convened in their Chamber for a special one-day meeting where Comptroller Bob Bullock warned them the budget deficit could hit as high as $2 billion.

Bullock said slumps in construction, retail, and manufacturing industries have compounded the problems caused by low oil prices, and a rapid turnaround in oil prices won't solve the problem.

He suggested the way out is to broaden the tax base, which perhaps would allow a lower tax rate.

Broadened Sales Tax

Bullock's news startled legislators, and in his speech he jabbed the cold, hard facts, including the reminder that some wouldn't be reelected. Naturally, with Election Day just a few short months ahead, many favored cutting the budget to meet available revenues without a tax hike.

Some, like Texas Education Commissioner Bill Kirby, urged a tax increase to avoid loss of state services.

Kirby asked lawmakers not to retreat from the reforms which, along with growth in enrollment, are driving up the price of public education. His preference was to raise taxes and make no budget cuts in education.

In the real world, Hobby is opposed for reelection; Bullock is not.

Clements' Alternative

An alternative plan is pushed by former Gov. Bill Clements, a Republican, and his plan could pick up some voter support.

Clements is for cuts, not taxes.

es. But he also wants to use dedicated funds, not taxes, to balance the budget after cuts are made.

His plan means changing state law to undedicate those funds, particularly for highways and education. While Hobby, a Democrat, hasn't commented on Clements' plan, he is thought to have no great love for dedicated funds.

Prison Construction

An unusual plan to issue bonds for prison construction was approved last week by the Board of Corrections to help the state immediately build a prison without going into debt.

Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox must still approve the legality of the plan.

The new, non-profit Anderson County Development Corp. will issue $78 million in bonds to build a prison on state land in Anderson County. The Legislature will decide next session to lease or purchase the prison.

The directors of the corporation are three county commissioners of Anderson County.

The procedure is modeled on the legal one for building state health facilities.

Mattox, by the way, revealed last week he is continuing to be harassed by an unknown source, the latest incidents being a dead cat someone left on his doorstep and veiled threats left on his answering machine.

Some months ago, two fires, both suspected acts of arson, broke out almost simultaneously in Mattox's state offices in Austin and Fort Worth.

Last week his home was picketed by a religious group opposed to state licensing of children's homes.

Texas A&M engineer has developed method for making robots 'see'

COLLEGE STATION — An electrical engineering researcher at Texas A&M University has developed a new method to make robots' camera "eyes" see much like humans do — with depth perception.

"It is very exciting because robot vision is important for space docking, autonomous vehicles (vehicles that drive themselves with artificial intelligence) and for robots on underwater vehicles," said Dr. Norman Griswold, the developer and an associate professor of electrical engineering.

With a grant from NASA's Johnson Space Center, Griswold has developed a new stereo vision model based on the mechanisms of human vision. Using mathematics, Griswold's system fuses the images from two parallel cameras into one image — an image that looks much like what is seen by the human eye. The process is performed by a computer in about 10 seconds.

"Once a robot has depth perception, it can reach out and grab something or know how far it has to travel to get something," the Texas A&M engineer said.

Griswold studied medical and biological journals to learn how it is believed humans see and to find out how to simulate brain function. His computer model is based on theories of how the brain's visual cortex fuses the two images from human eyes by directional filtering.

Feltners to retire after fifteen years in Ozona

Ozona will bid farewell June 16th to Herman Feltner, longtime manager of United Department Store, as he retires to his home in Eden.

"We would like to thank the people of Ozona for their support through the years," said Feltner, who has been with the store since 1970. "Ozona is a nice place."

Feltner has grown up very close to the merchant business years as his father owned a merchantile store when he was growing up.

He left the business once for about a year, but then he returned to Ozona. During his time gone, he was on his place in Eden where he kept in touch with the Ozona people.

Feltner is a veteran of World War II, and he also spent time on the volunteer fire department in New Braunfels.

He plans to spend his retirement time in Eden hunting, fishing and traveling.

Thomas Diehl, who has lived in Ozona since 1979, has been in training since March and will take over the manager position June 16th. Before training at United, he was a pipeline operator and an insurance salesman.

PH balance is normal in healthy hair in spite of ads

Television commercials constantly bombard us with promises of products that will make us the most handsome or the most beautiful person imaginable if only we will follow their advice and, of course, use their products. We seem to be especially sensitive when it comes to hair. Who, after all, wants the love of his life run off because of unsightly dandruff or those dreaded split ends. Often in commercials shampoos claim to be "pH balanced" to give us smooth shiny hair. What does pH have to do with hair anyway?

Let's begin by taking a look at the normal processes occurring with the hair and scalp. Glands in the skin of the scalp produce a greasy substance called sebum, which is released continuously at each hair follicle. The sebum coats the outer layer of each hair to prevent the loss of water from the shaft of the hair inside. This water keeps the hair soft and flexible. Sebum contains certain fatty acids that prevent bacterial infections and the spread of ringworm fungus on the scalp. It also makes the hair look shiny and smooth.

Accumulations of sebum in hair not shampooed often enough cause the hair to look greasy. Also sebum is sticky. Dirt can stick to the hair and cause it to begin to look dull. Shampoos contain detergents which remove this dirt and excess sebum. It is important, however, that not all the sebum be removed or the hair will become too dry and infections may result.

Hair is composed of chains of amino acids called protein. Any single hair is made of several of the protein chains. The separate chains are held together as a single hair by three types of chemical bonds. One of these types, hydrogen bonds, is easily broken by water. As a result wet hair is easy to shape and set. When the hair dries new hydrogen bonds form, holding the hair in its new set. The other two types of bonds, salt bridges and disulfide bonds, are not as easily broken. Changes in pH can cause the breaking of these bonds.

Just what is pH? It is a way of measuring how acidic or alkaline a solution is. The usual scale for pH runs from 0 to 14. Water is considered neutral and should have a pH of 7. Acids have pHs below 7 and alkalies have pHs above 7. For example vinegar is acidic and has a pH of 3; ammonia is alkaline and has a pH of 11. Many detergents are also alkaline.

Hair is slightly acidic and has its maximum strength at a pH of 4 to 5. At a pH of 8.5 some disulfide bonds break and the outer surface of the hair becomes ruffled. This roughness causes the hair to look dull. Repeated washing with slightly alkaline shampoos will damage hair by breaking even more disulfide bonds. Split ends result. At pH 12 all three types of bonds are broken and hair dissolves. Depilatories such as Neet and Nair work this way. So do many drain cleaners.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

After the most welcome deep moisture of last week our plants, trees and grasses should take on a lush new green that had been missing for so many months. Anyway, it will give you the urge to continue giving the average care to your plants.

When summer does turn hot and dry, the way you care for annual flowers affects how well and how long they will perform for you. Not much can be done for the early, cool weather sorts often started in late fall—best the spring-sown varieties are more or less renewable.

After the first heavy flowering, cut back plants leaving as much foliage as you can, but remove seed heads and lanky stems. For some, like cosmos and early zinnias, you'll have to work them over stem by stem. With sprawlers like verbenas and sweet alyssum, you can shear them. They will look shorn for a week, but soon, (after rain or a watering) new shoots will break and the plants look renewed. Shallowly loosen soil around plants and a drench of manure water or weak soluble fertilizer. Apply a loose compost mulch. Spray or dust to keep down summer diseases and pests. These methods will keep touchy kinds of blooming longer, or perhaps keep them alive to return into bloom after temperatures cool to their requirements.

So many of you here in Ozona have dense shade that you may want to try Hosta, sometimes called Plantain Lillies. They are among the best low maintenance perennials. Although most valued for their foliage, these lillies offer a bonus in summer; flowers that rise on spikes above the whorl of leaves. Hosta brings beautifully symmetrical mounds of green and variegated foliage to the shady garden. They are long-lived despite the fact that their foliage dies back to the ground in winter. They are available in every leaf marking imaginable in essentially two types—large and miniature. Each has its place in the landscape.

CREATIVE COOKING

Muffins make a good breakfast, or lunchbox dessert, or after school snack.

MUNCHIN' CRUNCHIN' MUFFINS

- 2 ripe, medium Dole Bananas, peeled
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1/4 cup plain yogurt
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 cup whole wheat flour
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup chopped dates
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Purée bananas in blender (1 cup). Combine with eggs, yogurt and oil until well blended. Combine flours, sugar, baking powder, cinnamon and salt. Make well in center of dry ingredients. Pour in banana mixture. Stir until all ingredients are just moistened. Stir in dates and walnuts. Spoon into 12 well greased 3-inch muffin tins. Bake in a 400° F oven 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 1 dozen muffins.

For more terrific banana recipes, write to Dole Bananas, Dept. B6, P.O. Box 7758, San Francisco, CA 94120.

When washing a sinkful of dishes, add a few tablespoons of vinegar to the water along with detergent. Dishes will be grease-free and sparkling.

All night grad partyfun

The all night graduation celebration was held May 30 honoring the Senior Class of 1986. The attendance count of 177 was up over last years total. The total count after the one o'clock lock in was 146, also above last years count. A total of 21 seniors spent the entire night with several more attending the dance.

The main ballroom was decorated in a tropical theme complete with palm trees, beachcombers hut, and Tiki statue. Teens received straw beachcombers hats and leis at the door which worn through out the night. Along with the dance, a dance contest was conducted by Carol Hunnicutt of KRCT. The single boy winner was John Tom Stokes. Sandra Ramirez won the single girls competition. These teens both received door prizes for their efforts. The couples dance contest was won by Sandra Ramirez and Butch Gonzales, who both received trophies for their performance. Just for fun, a hula contest complete with grass skirts was won by Roger Flores. This contest proved to be entertaining, for even the on lookers. Gary Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Davis, made a surprise guest appearance on the stage with his pal Lee Roy and entertained the crowd with a very amusing show. Gary ended his performance with his rendition of "Friends" dedicated to the Seniors of 1986. Many thanks to Gary for his contribution to the celebration.

The game room with tournaments and games through out the night was also very popular with the teens. Tournament winners were awarded trophies. The winners were pool-Larisa Schoenhals and Willie Vargas; snooker-Paul Galan; Ping-pong-Amy Jones and Chy Flores; darts-Shane Cooper; foosball-Gerald Salavas.

The movie theater was in operation during the night with several door prizes being given away during the movies. The movies became more popular later in the night as they provided a place to sit down and rest from the pace of the celebration.

The board members and parents who donated their night to the

The donors of food, money, time, and door prizes were very generous this year. We will be sending personal thank you notes to each of you. If we have forgotten anyone in all the last minutes, confusion of preparations, we apologize. The list of donors is too lengthy to publish, but we could not have managed without you. The second annual graduation celebration was a success due to each of you, no matter what the amount of your contribution. Due to your generosity eight $50.00 dollar savings bonds, and activities were: Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dews, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Van Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Brock Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Lopez, Mrs. John Denman, Mr. Jim Williams, Mr. Cliff McMullan, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Young, Mrs. Garland Davis, and Mrs. Tommy Stokes. Many thanks to the breakfast cooks who came in at four o'clock and prepared a delicious meal. Our cooks were Billy Reagor, Jerry Lay, Gene Fowler, and Jack Adams. Many thanks also to Brenda Newton and Judy Probst who helped us greatly with the decorations.

over one thousand dollars in prizes, was given away during the night. Michael Sanchez was the winner of the portable color TV in the raffle conducted by the Teen Council. Many of the teens went away winners of portable radios and cassettes players, car care kits, school supplies, hair dryers, cassettes, beach accessories, gift certificates of merchandise, etc.

We feel that you have shown your approval of our celebration by your support of our effort, and the teens have shown their support by an increase in attendance over last year. In a sense everyone went away a winner, in that with the help of the entire community, each teen had been given a fun filled way to spend a safe graduation night.

Thank you

Local musicians compete

Two Ozona High School Band members competed in the University Interscholastic League (UIL) State Solo And Ensemble contest on June 2 in Austin.

Michael Glaze, trombone soloist, and Chantele Pesson, bass clarinet soloist, earned the right to compete in the state competition after winning first division ratings on their solos in UIL regional competition earlier during the year.

Glaze earned a third division at the state contest.

"I did not do as well as I had hoped," said Glaze. "I became nervous and made some mistakes."

Pesson earned a fourth division at the contest. She too said that she did not do as well as she had wished.

Their solos were accompanied by Barbara Burger.

Both bandsmen say that they will be back next year and do better.

Crockett County Library Notes

By Louise Ledoux

The "Celebrate Texas" Reading Program got off to a great start Monday with 25 Readers signed up to enrich their summer with reading and fun. There are two groups-6 to 8 yr. olds and 9 to 12 yr. olds. Each child reads at his or her own pace and chooses their own books. The kids also enjoyed films. I want to thank Friends Chairman Shawn Mitchell and all her Committee for their hard work organizing and putting on these wonderful summer activities for the kids. They still need volunteers to help each week on Monday mornings, so come by the Library and sign up to help and have a lot of fun too!

"Story Hour" is continuing for the 3 to 5 yr. olds. We had 19 little ones Monday that had their pictures taken for our "Story Hour Flower Basket" that will be on display in the Library. New books are coming in every day at the Library. Come browse through our Texas Fiction books on display.

Be there Dad!

His dad was a good dad. A professional man, a busy man, schedule always stuffed full, but he loved his son and his son loved him.

Yet something was missing, the son, now grown and a businessman in his own right, told me. With tears in his eyes he said, "You know, I played baseball and football almost from the time I could walk. I was the high school quarterback and baseball catcher. In college (at a major university) I had a baseball scholarship as catcher."

Then he paused as the tears came freely. "But my dad never saw me play one game in either sport! I used to search the stands hoping to see him, but I never did. Much of the glory I received on the athletic field had an emptiness about it because I could never share it with my dad, a man I love and respect deeply."

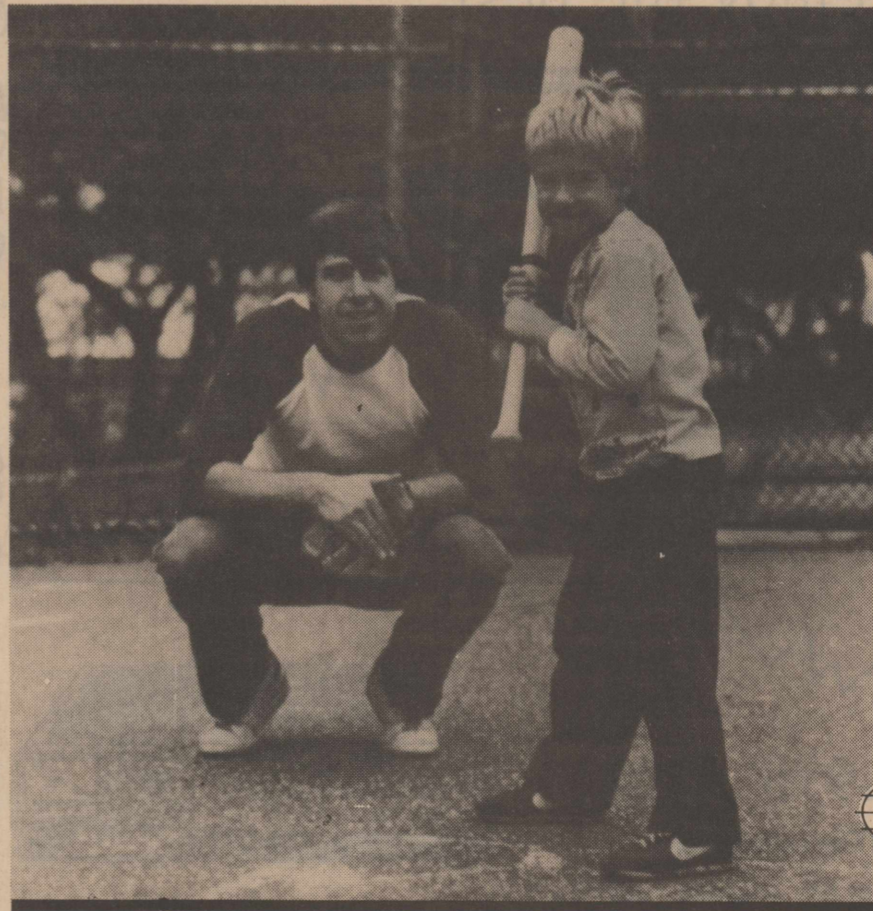

By the time the 30 year-old man had finished, I was in tears, but tears that moved me to see every game my children played in. I had to shuffle schedules many times, but I'm glad I did. My son died at 17, and our two daughters are now gone from home. But, I still have great, comforting memories of catching their eyes from the stands as they look up to see where their mom and I were sitting. (I think they FELT better.)

And, I thoroughly enjoyed watching my own flesh and blood learn the early struggles of life that would equip them for the future.

"Train up a child in the way he should go..." means also being with him at times important to him.

The discovery of fire was the first and probably the single most important factor in the civilizing of mankind. In ancient Greece and in several other cultures, fire was considered one of the four basic elements, one of the substances from which all things were composed.

In sun-worshipping cultures, fire was considered a god, the representative of the sun, and to this day the sanctity of fire is universal. There is hardly a country that doesn't have an "eternal flame" somewhere, and every culture has a legend about the discovery of fire which involves a god.

But fire's true contribution to civilization was in the kitchen—initially food cooked over an open fire. It took the development of the barbecue, however, to make it fun.

The origin of the word "barbecue" is hazy. It could have come from the language of the Arawak Indians, who lived on the Caribbean Islands and cooked game over the "barbacoa," a frame of green sticks. Or it could have derived from French speaking pirates, who called this feast "de barbe et queue", which translates to "from beard to tail."

Whatever the source of the name, many cultures have their own style of barbecuing. Eskimos and Alaskan Indians, for instance, used a split-log grill for meat or fish fillets, or grilled whole fish-on-a-stick. East Coast American Indians cooked their seafood and vegetable over hot rocks in a hole dug in the beach covered with seaweed, and called it a clam bake.

The French grill their foods over the clippings from, naturally, grape vines. In southern Asia, from the Indian subcontinent to Indonesia, barbecuers spice both the food and glowing coals to add taste to the meal and aroma to the atmosphere. Texans would light a fire in a hole in the ground and when there were lots of hot coals, they would start cooking on a spit.

Bassin' with the pros

Trey Foerster

Over the many years I've been fishing, I often have found myself in a situation where I've asked, "Now how would a pro handle this?" "Bassin' with the Pros" is a new column that will feature professional bass fishermen providing the answers to many of the questions I've asked, and I hope to many of your questions as well. The column also will offer tips on fishing equipment and its proper use and care to help all of us catch more bass.

Before you hit the water for the first day of the new season, you should make sure your equipment is as ready for bass action as you are. Spring is the time of year that most anglers inspect their tackle. That is, if they inspect it at all. 'Tis the season to check over your rods, reels, line, lures and tackleboxes. With the costs of these items going up each year, proper maintenance can keep these tools productive for many, many years.

Here's the basic "Spring workout" that I take my gear through.

Tackleboxes--Completely empty the boxes and sort the contents according to types of tackle. Once the box is empty, remove any rust left by the lures and any film residue. I use an old toothbrush and a mild dishsoap for this job. Rinse the box thoroughly, blot it dry, and then let it air dry. I complete the cleaning process with an inspection of the box's hardware, such as handles, latches, etc.

Sharpen hooks--This is probably one of the most important areas overlooked by most anglers. A good, sharp hook will catch more fish. There are two types of hooks, the straight-point and curved-point. Each is sharpened differently. The straight-point hook is sharpened with a file at three different angles to make a triangular-shaped cutting edge. The curved-point hook is attacked with a rounded hone, which sharpens the two sides of the hook. If you can't eye the sharpness of the cutting edges, here's a test that my father taught me. Drag the hook across your thumbnail. If the hook sticks into your nail while you are applying little or no pressure, then the hook is sharp.

Plugs--Polish your plugs with a damp cloth. Eliminate any rust on the hooks and put the original shape back into them with a needlenosed pliers.

Check the lips, hook hangers, propellers and blades.

Spinnerbaits--Check all the metal parts for the slightest sign of rust. I touch up any lead heads that show chipping. I look at the skirts and replace those that have seen better days. I wash each lure with a damp rag and wipe dry.

Spinners--Check all the metal parts for the nasty rust and remove it wherever it occurs. Inspect the clevises and blades for effortless operation. Then, give the spinners a quick coating of demisterizing oil.

Jigs--Check the lead heads for chipping and repaint them if necessary. Also, look over the skirts for wear, tear and discoloration. Re-tie the skirts out of bucktail or FisHair.

Soft plastics--I keep all my soft plastic lures in a separate tacklebox, or transfer a few of my favorite plastic worms to baby food jars for leak-proof storage. The soft plastic lure contains plasticizer, an oily substance that gives the plastic its pliability. The plasticizer can leak with age or heat and can damage other lures stored nearby. If your soft plastic "Springs a leak," be sure to scour the affected compartment and discard the pieces struck by the "oil spill."

Line--If you remember that the only thing between you and a trophy bass is your line, you might start taking a lot more interest in its condition. Cut off about five feet of line after every two or three hours of fishing. Remove any portion of line that shows nicks or abrasions.

Rods--Wash your rods with a dishsoap solution and wipe them dry. Inspect the blanks, handles, guides, tips, and wrapping for wear. If there is something wrong, don't hesitate to take the rod to a qualified repair shop for the necessary improvement.

Reels--All reels need to be periodically oiled and greased according to the manufacturer's instructions. As a rule of thumb, I take my reels to a repair shop every year for their "Spring tuneup", much like I take my car in for its checkup. I have the shop check parts for wear, repair or replace parts necessary, oil and grease the reels and put on new line. With the proper care and maintenance, reels should last you many, many years.

Ozona Day Care Center closed

The Ozona Day Care Center closed today for the summer. The board of directors expects to re-open August 18.

Financial problems have plagued the center almost since it opened at the Ozona United Methodist Church some years ago. The center only had two children Monday. The board hopes to enlist more children when the fall season begins.

Indian chiefs tried for committing atrocities

For the first time, here in Jacksboro, two Indian chiefs are being tried for the murder of white settlers in Texas. They have been brought back to Parker County Texas, across the Red River from Indian Territory, to stand trial in the civil courts for the wanton murder of seven mule drivers and the theft of 41 mules earlier this year, 1871.

Despite the continual border raids from Indians who had signed treaties in the 1860's with the U.S. government and are now living on reservations in Indian Territory, the Texans have been frustrated by government's refusal to arrest the raiding Indians once they cross back over the Red River. It is estimated that in the 20 years since Parker County's founding, the Indians have killed nearly 400 people and destroyed $6 million worth of property within a 100-mile radius of the county.

Chiefs Satanta and Big Tree have been assigned counsel who will plead their case, while the Parker County District Attorney graphically describes the massacre to the jury. Satanta, who signed a peace treaty in August of 1869, is on trial for leading 100 Kiowa braves on the raiding party against the teamsters.

He has been described as "the very embodiment of treachery, ferocity and bravado" and now stands in handcuffs before the jury, ready to plead for his life. He speaks in the Comanche tongue (the standard language of all Plains Indians) and delivers his impassioned plea in a combination of signals and speech.

"...I am a squaw...I have never been so near the Tehannas (Texans) before. I look around me and see your braves, squaws and papooses, and I have said in my heart, if I ever get back to my people, I will never make war upon you.

"I did not kill the Tehannas...If you will let me go back to my people I will withdraw my warriors from Tehanna. I will take them all across the Red River and that shall be the line between us and the pale faces. I will wash out the spots of blood and make it a white land and there shall be peace and the Tehannas may plow and drive their oxen to the banks of the river--but if you kill me it will be like a spark in the prairie--make big fire--burn heap."

The jury is unsympathetic, and the Texans rejoice when the verdict is read, "Guilty in the First Degree." The two chiefs are sentenced to hang on the first of September, 1871.

Indian agents quickly begin writing to Governor Edward J. Davis pleading for clemency. They fear severe reprisals and suggest that it would be a "more severe punishment to confine for life." The Governor agrees and commutes the sentence to life imprisonment at hard labor because, "the killing for which these Indians were sentenced is an act of savage warfare," not murder.

Two years later, both Indians are paroled from Huntsville and taken back to Fort Sill in Indian Territory. In less than a year Satanta is back in Huntsville after leading additional raids into Texas. He spends his final days there, much like a caged animal, and eventually kills himself. However, the Indian Wars are just beginning and will continue until the great buffalo herds are killed off by white hunters, and all Plains Indians are driven onto permanent reservations by the U.S. Cavalry.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Joslin were here this week with their daughter, Barbara Strickland. They have been living in Coleman with Barbara for some time now.

THE OZONA LOBOS placed third out of a field of sixteen teams in a softball tournament held June 6-7 in Sonora. The Lobos are sponsored by Perry Motors and coached by Gene Hood.

Crockett County oil and gas

Flowing 1,220,000 CF gas per day on a 10/64 choke, the No. 25 University Lands has been completed in Crockett County's Howards Creek Field 17 miles southwest of Ozona.

Harrison Interest Ltd. is the operator.

The well showed flowing tubing pressure of 1,868 PSI and was given a 6,750 CFD on absolute open flow.

It probed to an 8,861-ft. bottom and will produce from a perforated interval in the Canyon Formation, 6,556 to 6,594 feet into the hole.

Showing ability to pump 41 barrels of oil daily along with 619 barrels of salt water, the No. 32 J.W. Shannon Estate "B" has been finished in Crockett County's Vaughn Field by Wintershall Oil and Gas.

Location is 16 miles northwest of Ozona.

Wintershall took the well to total depth of 1,602 feet and perforated the San Andres Formation for production at 1,424 to 1,501 feet into the wellbore. Oil tested at 26-gravity.

First production figures have been posted for a newly completed gas well in the Ozona Field 30 miles southwest of Ozona.

The well is designated as the No. 10 Bill Clegg "B."

It showed ability to flow 729,000 CF gas per day on a 14/64 choke and came in with a rating of 1,200,000 CFD on absolute open flow. Flow pressure stood at 661 PSI on choke.

With Anderson Energy as the operator, the well was drilled to total depth of 6,600 feet. It will produce from a perforated interval in the Canyon Sand, 5,611 to 5,723 feet into wellbore.

Flowing 1,931,000 CF gas daily on a 12/64 choke, the No. 2 Henderson "38-8" has been completed in Crockett County's University 31 Field about 15 miles southwest of Ozona.

It was assigned a 5,800,000-CFD rating on calculated open flow.

James C. Thompson is the operator. The well probed to total depth of 9,010 feet and will produce from a set of Strawn-Detrital perforations at 8,450 to 8,660 feet.

Flowing tubing pressure was gauged at a sturdy 2,425 PSI.

Pumping 25 barrels of oil per day on an open choke, the No. 2 Getty University "SA" has been brought on line in Crockett County's Farmer Field.

Location is about 25 miles northwest of Ozona, with H.B. Rhoads as the operator.

Rhoads took the hole to a 2,475-ft. bottom and perforated for San Andres Formation production at 1,962 to 2,076 feet into the wellbore. Oil tested at 31-gravity.

Wintershall Oil and Gas has junked and abandoned its No. 20 M.A. Shannon Estate in Crockett County's Vaughn Field 16 miles northwest of Ozona. The well was involved in a re-entry and deepening operation after being completed originally in 1951. The operator encountered junk in the wellbore above 500 feet and could not proceed further.

Robert G. Cox and Associates have abandoned two undrilled locations in Crockett County's Shannon Field. The wells were designated as the No. 2 Todd Estate and No. 2 Todd Ranch, both carrying permit for 2,700-ft. TD and both situated about 27 miles northwest of Ozona.

Bayou Bend Petroleum has posted first production potential for three new gas wells in Crockett County.

Ingham Field. The wells showed combined potential to flow 483,000 CF gas daily on 14/64 chokes.

Absolute open flow ratings ranged from 285,000 to 1,250,000 CFD.

The wells are designated as the Nos. 3-Q-A, 4-Q and 5-Q Ingham-Gulf. The 3-Q-A well is about 25 miles southwest of Ozona. The other two wells are five miles southeast of Fort Lancaster.

Production intervals ranged from 1,331 to 1,500 feet in the Queen Formation. Total depths ranged from 1,480 to 1,551 feet into the wellbore.

On choke, the wells showed flow pressures of 168, 157 and 131 PSI, respectively.

Pumping at the rate of seven barrels of oil with 139 barrels of salt water daily, the No. 46 M.A. Shannon Estate has been completed in the Vaughn Field, Crockett County, by Wintershall Oil and Gas.

Location is about 16 miles northwest of Ozona.

The well was drilled to a 1,601-ft. bottom and will produce from a set of San Andres Formation perforations, 1,451 to 1,551 feet into the hole. Oil tested at 28-gravity.

Crockett County Care Center News

Staying fit was the objective of Monday mornings exercise class, with exercises being done to improve circulation and muscle tone, ranging from the head to the toes. Residents participating were: Juana Hernandez, Lucia Rios, Tomasa Ramos, Manuela Perez, Moriana Perez, Bertha Miller, Theo Burns, Doris Robnet, Pauline Clinton, Ola Mills, Edna Wallace and Elzy Bishop. A game of basketball followed with almost all of the residents making at least one basket.

The jewel boxes, started in April, were finished in Mondays afternoon craft class. Juana Hernandez, Ola Mills, Tomasa Ramos, Theo Burns, time and effort that went into the making of these jewel boxes was worth it. Each one has a unique design and beauty of its own. These boxes are not for sell, but if you would like a new craft idea, come by and see them. They are on display at the Care Center.

Juana Hernandez won the first place prize of an El Chatos gift certificate in Tuesdays bingo. Tomasa Ramos and Charles Watson were back on their winning streaks. They won 3 bingo games a piece. Grace Cotter, Maggie Crawford and Theo Burns also were winners. Volunteers assisting were Mattie Cooper, Dorothy Doll and Lillian Tambungs.

Tuesday afternoon was spent watching television and playing dominoes.

Wednesdays Ceramic Work Shop was assisted by Ruth Hester and Doris Karr. Residents putting their skills to work were: Juana H., Tomasa R., Ola M., Theo B., Pauline C., Edna W. and Moriana P.

Laughing, singing and visitation took place Wednesday afternoon during our Sunshine Hour spent on the front porch. Bananas and juice was served.

Thursday morning beauty shop volunteers were Clara Byrd, Vivian

Hughes, and JoAnn Williamson. As usual the residents left the beauty shop looking stunning.

Immediately following the beauty shop, Clara Byrd and our own Inez Biggs, entertained the residents with piano music. Clara sang several familiar songs and residents joined in the singing.

Thursday afternoon residents gathered in the lobby to listen to a Patsy Cline cassette. A game of dominoes followed.

The Spanish Hour of Praise came next with Herberito Gutierrez playing the guitar and several visitors singing hymns in Spanish. Visitors included Father Richard, Cecelia Ramos, Anita Fierro, Lorenza Gutierrez, Victoria DeLa Garza, Maria Torres, Germana Onofre, Maria Vitela, Felipa Munoz, Norma Flores, Sulema Martinez and Mary Ellen Fay.

The winning pace was fast and furious in Fridays bingo. Fourteen games were played in an hours time. There were several games in which 2 residents bingoad at the same time. Winners included Tomasa Ramos, Maggie Crawford, Emma Taylor, Alice Ross, Ola Mills, Minnie Karr and Edna Wallace. The first place prize of a Claytons Village Drug gift certificate was won by Tomasa Ramos.

Friday afternoon, a few residents matched their skills against volunteer Tiny Holmsley in a game of dominoes.

Sundays worship services was presented by O.L.P.H. Catholic Church. Father Richard read scriptures. Visitors sang hymns for the residents.

We would like to thank the volunteers who helped us this week. We appreciate you. We would also like to thank Claytons Village Drug, El Chatos, Tropical Sno, Teachers Store, Watsons Dept. Store, and Westernman Drug for their generous donations of gift certificates each month.

Rainfall abundant in Ozona

Rainfall has been abundant in this area lately. Although Ozona missed the flooding which took place the past week to the north and the south, plentiful rains have fallen.

A thundershower last Wednesday amounted to .13 of an inch of rain. A fierce electrical display Friday night and Saturday morning produced not one drop of rain, but a slow-falling rain Sunday morning and afternoon brought .39 of an inch to an already wet Ozona. This brings the total for the month of June to 1.62 inches.

Some other parts of the country were not so lucky as the roving storms flooded some areas and washed out roads in others. Bakers Crossing, below Ozona on Hwy. 163, was closed Sunday, as was Hwy 67 near Mertzson the previous Friday night. Reports of up to 4 inches of rain in 30 minutes reached Ozona from the Mertzson-Barnhart area.

Lois Smith is in St. John's Hospital in San Angelo, where she underwent surgery Saturday morning.

BEAUTIFICATION OF DOWNTOWN OZONA began recently when Jamey Sawyer placed whiskey barrels full of red geraniums outside the doors of the hospital to do the laundry for the Care Center, Hospital and Jail.

Circle Bar Cable T.V. Other merchants are encouraged to take steps to improve their premises.

Boswell reported on the Life Pac #8 and a new one patient monitor, Life Scope #6. The price of the Life Pac #8 would be $8455.00 and the Life Scope #6 with our discount $4405.00. A motion was made and seconded to recommend to the commissioners Court that purchase of this equipment be made. The motion carried.

After reviewing a resume from Dr. Harold Fain, Jr. the board suggested to Mr. Boswell that he contact Dr. Fain and discuss the possibility of his locating here.

Boswell reported on the hospital finances. Total deposits for May were $36618.65. Total disbursements $62177.79. Total deposits at the Care Center were $34,720.09. Total disbursements $58,775.57. The motion was made and carried to pay the hospital and care center bills.

On other business Bill Boswell reported the State inspector had inspected X-Ray equipment and found two problems that can be repaired. This will be taken care of as soon as possible.

Fred Deaton appointed a Finance Committee to meet and complete the new budget by July 1, 1986. Drs. Owensby, Carlisle, Bill Boswell, Jacques King, Jo Davidson and Fred Deaton will comprise this committee. Bill Boswell reported the hospital will be responsible for verifying patients requesting indigent care. Paper work and investigation will be necessary. A motion was made and carried to accept Medi-Credit cards. Dr. Owensby suggested that we look into updating the X-Ray equipment. After a discussion Mr. Boswell agreed to have Dr. Jackson come to discuss the possibilities.

Stick with your bank

There are hundreds of people out there telling you how to invest your hard-earned money to make you rich. The sad truth is many of these programs are risky, at best.

That's why the best place for your savings program is right here at home.

We have a variety of options available at rates and terms to best suit your individual needs.

See one of our employees soon for complete details on the plan best for you.

And, best of all, your money is insured by the F.D.I.C. to $100,000.
