The difference in being involved and being committed is often compared to a breakfast of ham and eggs. The chicken was involved, but the pig was committed.

The Ozona Stockman is committed to the betterment of Ozona, and committee in every way. We would love to see Ozona become the marketplace of West Texas, and the medical center of the area.

Although committed, we are not unrealistic, and we are aware that neither of these things are likely to happen. However, we do know that people working together and not pulling against one another is the best remedy for a town's ailing economy, and we would like to see this happen here.

We feel like the days are long gone when retail outlets could afford to close up when the notion strikes them. Also, indifference to patrons can sound the death knell for any business in this time of economic downturn.

Just the other day I was discussing a $5 item with a friend. The friend said "I have one just like it and I only paid $3 in San Angelo." After our discussion, I figured out how far ahead I came out on my purchase. If you count the gasoline and wear and tear on your vehicle, and of course at least one meal, I figured my friend's $3 item had cost about $19 at the least. I didn't have to fight the traffic nor hunt a parking place for my purchase. I just walked down the street and bought it. By the way, I only paid 4.125 in sales tax, while my friend paid 5.125 cents. So, who really came out ahead?

Every week we get out a last year's paper for the same week. This is mostly to see who advertised what and what was going on a year ago at this time. I was amazed. There was a front page story about the distinct possibility of two new physicians coming to practice in the hospital. Things were looking up, according to the then hospital administrator. New equipment was being added as needed and updating of the facility was an ongoing affair. This information was furnished to us by the hospital staff. Another bit of information stated the hospital was working toward a sound financial footing and was well within budget. In October, 1985, the hospital was well on its way to another 30 years of serving Ozona.

The story ended with, "Crockett County Hospital has been a valuable asset to the Ozona community for 30 years now. As the hospital enters its third decade at its current location, the staff continues to strive for perfection and continued good service. Crockett County Hospital pledges to provide the highest quality care possible to all Ozona residents."

What I want to know is...what happened? In one short year the equipment is outdated, the building is a shambles. Where there were two doctors, there is now one. No new doctors have appeared on the horizon. There are no patients in the hospital. They are losing more money than ever, and they are asking for an election to form a hospital district. These are not just my opinions. Every item has been brought up in Commissioners Court. There is no Medicare. Whether the hospital was dropped or whether the hospital dropped Medicare just depends on who you are talking to.

Was our 30th anniversary story just a bunch of hog-wash or is the dismal picture a distortion at the moment? Who knows? I would like to know and I'm sure members of the community would like to know. Does anyone know the real story? If so, please come forward.

Another stranger than fiction bit of news. Our new employee, Connie Jennings, was driving down Eleventh St. Tuesday, when she was struck broadside by another vehicle. It was driven by an employee of our opposition. Both vehicles were badly damaged but there were no injuries.

Large crowd due for fly-in events Saturday

An event-filled day will be in store for all those attending the Crockett County Fly-In Saturday at the Ozona Airport in celebration of Ozona Airport Appreciation Day. Hundreds of people from Ozona and the surrounding area are expected to attend.

The highlight of the day's activities for many will be the 20 Confederate Air Force planes which will be on static display immediately following the flag raising ceremony at 10 a.m. The World War II planes, belonging to members of the West Texas Wing of the CAF, range in size from BT-13's to a multi-engine B-25 bomber.

The public will be allowed to examine the planes at close range and to talk with the pilots during the day.

Six civic organizations will man food booths, selling hamburgers, Frito pies, hotdogs, fajitas, barbecue sandwiches, and baked goods by the slice. Iced tea, coffee, and soft drinks will be available.

The Ozona Women's League will pre-sell their new cookbook while selling food.

The CAF Women's Auxiliary's PX, a trailer mounted shop selling T-shirts, pins, buttons and other souvenirs of the CAF, will be part of the program.

An admission charge of $2 for adults and $1 for children ages six to 12 will be used to defray some of the fuel costs of the CAF warbirds, some of which burn up to 50 gallons of fuel per hour.

In 1935 E. R. Kinser organized the "Ozona Flying Club." Many Ozonans soon developed an interest in flying. The airport simply consisted of a smooth area in Cooke's field in the

Students place in cross country meet

Maria Sanchez of Ozona High School flashed across the finish line in first place Saturday in a two-mile cross country race against Irion County. Sanchez finished off the race in 14 minutes to cap off the girls' third meet of the year.

Second and third places were captured by Irion County followed by Diana Sanchez at fourth. Lanessa Porter and Tricia Etheredge of Ozona came in next with fifth and sixth followed by Sarah Pullen at number nine.

southwest part of town. At times, a nearby road doubled as a runway. County Judge Charles E. Davidson saw fit to lease 268 acres of county land to become the first "official" Ozona Airport in 1942.

The flood of 1954 prompted the move to the airport's present site. Dick Henderson had a small private strip on his ranch north of town, and he leased the land on which the county would establish a paved, lighted runway. The lease was to run for 99 years and total $1. This contract was honored again in 1968 when Henderson sold his ranch to J. Cleo Thompson of Dallas, Texas. The county arranged for a deer-proof fence and a 5,695x75 foot runway, making it one of the best airstrips in the west Texas area.

In 1954 the airport operation was leased from the county by H. C. "Mac" McCorkle, who constructed a number of private hangers. After his passing in 1973, the lease was taken up by Mary Joan Hearne.

During the late 1970's, interest in flying grew. The community gained several new pilots and many who had flown before became interested once more.

By 1980 flying in Crockett County was booming, with 55 aircraft based in the county. Most of the local owners used their aircraft in ranching operations and pleasure, while much of the activity was generated by the booming petroleum industry.

With the increasing requests for jet fuel, Mrs. Hearne formed the "Ozona Jet Fuel Co." in 1982. This brought six to eight men here contributing to a boost in the local economy.

Danny Sanchez raced in first for the boys, clocking in at 17:24. He was followed consecutively by Luis Rico, Jose Gutierrez, Mark Trujillo, Rene DeLaRosa, Jason Montgomery and Richard Borrego.

"This was another race in getting ready for the District Cross Country Meet on the 17th," said Coach Pete Maldonado. "They are getting better and better every time...progressing nicely," he adds.

Both teams will travel to Eldorado on Monday for the district meet.

Amendments to face voters

Absentee voting for the November 4, general election opened Oct. 15, at the courthouse with Jean Connor as election judge. As of Monday very few voters had cast ballots. The absentee box will be open through Oct. 31. County Clerk Debbie Puckett reminds those who wish to vote by mail that applications must be returned to her by Oct. 28. Applications are available in the clerk's office at the Courthouse annex.

Besides Democratic and Republican candidates seeking election to various state and national offices, the ballots include four proposed amendments.

Proposition No. 1 on the ballot proposes to permit the legislature to provide by general law for the apportionment of the value of railroad rolling stock among the counties in which the property of the railroad is located for purposes of property taxation. This amendment is of no consequence in Crockett County, having no rolling stock, nor railroad to mention. There is .49 of a mile of track which crosses the very northern point of the county, and that is the closest thing to a railroad in Crockett County.

Proposition No. 2 proposes to replace the constitutional requirement that the subject of a bill be expressed in its title with a mandate that each house of the legislature adopt rules of procedure that would require the subject of each bill to be expressed in its title in a manner that gives the legislature and the public reasonable notice of that subject.

Determining compliance with the rule would be the responsibility of the legislature. Currently, a law in invalidated if a court finds the caption is defective.

The amendment would provide that past and future enactments may not be held void on the basis of an insufficient title and also would eliminate the suggestion that the state's laws be revised every ten years.

Proposition No. 3 proposes an amendment that would permit the legislature to authorize any county, city, town or other political subdivision to use public funds or credit to pay insurance premiums on non-assessable life, health or accident policies.

Due to the prohibition in the constitution against the lending of credit and granting of public money, political subdivisions currently are prohibited from becoming shareholders in associations such as mutual insurance companies, in which policyholders are shareholders.

A nonassessable mutual insurance policy does not allow a company to raise capital by assessing the policyholder an extra amount on a premium.

The amendment would allow mutual insurance companies and stock companies to bid for life and health group policies of political subdivisions. Public liability would be limited to the payment of premiums specified in the contract.

Proposition No. 4 proposes an amendment that would repeal the prohibition against branch banking by state banks and would allow state banks and national banks domiciled in this state to establish and operate banking facilities at locations within the county or city where they are domiciled.

The amendment also would authorize the legislature to permit a state or national bank domiciled in the state to engage in business at more than one place if it acquires a failed state or national bank domiciled in the state.

There will be no local or district races of note here. The winners of the Democratic Primary will appear on the ballot unopposed. The governor's race has generated some interest. Voters should be aware that they may vote as they wish in the general election, regardless of what primary they voted in in May. Lamar Smith and Pete Snelson vie for the spot of U.S. Congressman from this district. Snelson seems to have a slight edge here, as he represented the district as state senator for several terms, and voters were well pleased with his performance in Austin.

Elder Indian paintings on exhibit now

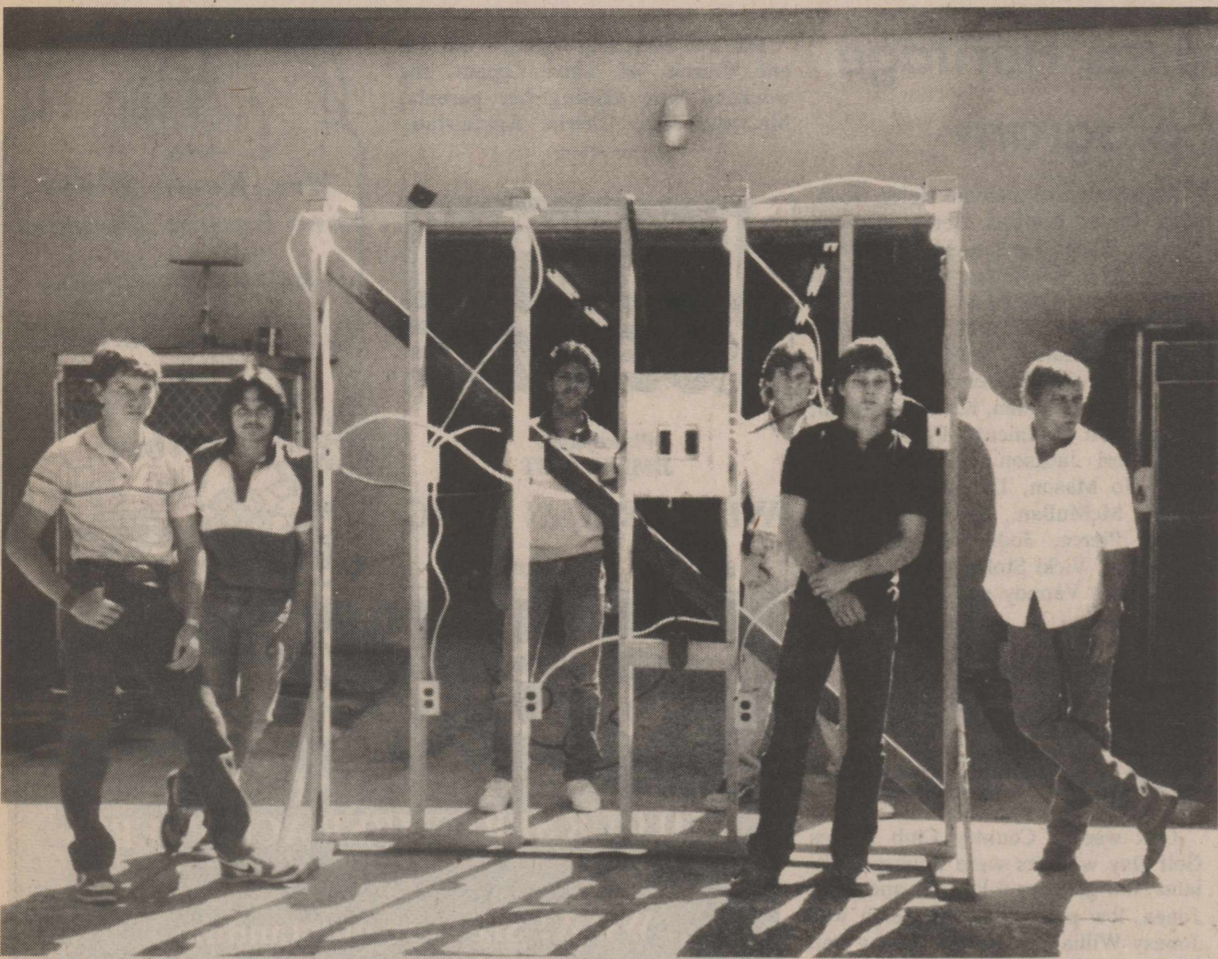

Portraits painted by former Ozona resident Mrs. Ray Sproul Elder will be displayed in the Crockett County Library through the end of October. Mrs. Elder studied with Robert Miller of Abilene and George Maxwell of San Angelo.

"Mrs. Elder studied art later in her life," says Crockett County Librarian Louise Ledoux. "She liked painting Indians because of their faces. They are all a different shade."

The portraits have been loaned to the library by Mozelle Mears and Sam and Polly Perner.

October 19-Sheriff's Deputies were

Bobby Aycock to give Lions Club program

Fesco's Bobby Aycock will present the Lions Club with a program on October 23. Bobby will discuss the plight of the natural gas business. Aycock has been around the oil and gas industries many years and his presentation will be informative.

George had a number of slides, notable one of a very large buck that he used to explain what good range management could do for wildlife as well as commercial stock. The importance of the SCS's mission and purpose to Crockett county was emphasized.

Richard Berry reported the recent Lions and ladies night was a success.

Steve Williams reviewed some of the up-coming programs the Lions meetings will have. The club will have an interesting presentation each week at their noon meeting. These programs have been prearranged through December. Lions members are urged to attend every week and enjoy the wealth of information that is being presented.

Crockett County Library Notes

By Louise Ledoux

We have had some changes at the Crockett County Public Library. New Officers for 1987 have elected. Mrs. Sherry York is our new President, Mr. Elliott Barrera is Vice-President, and Mrs. Marilyn Cox is Secretary. We also have a new Board Member. Mrs. June Cameron has accepted a three year term beginning in January. I know she will bring new ideas and support to the Library.

We have just acquired a wonderful collection of Flower Arrangement, Flower Care, and Accessory books from Mrs. J.W. Howell. She has donated her collection to the Library in the hopes that they will be used and enjoyed by everyone interested in Flowers. The collection includes such books as "The Complete Flower Arranger," "The Madonna Story," "Complete Book of Flower Preservation," "Weathered Wood with Flowers," "Fruit and Vegetable Arrangements," "The New Book of Foliage Arrangements," "Classical Ikebana," "Color Notation," "Encyclopedia of Judging and Exhibiting," "How to Make Containers and Accessories" just to name a few. Hey, all you Garden Clubbers, remember where to come for great ideas or answers to those questions about flowers. Thank you, Mrs. Howell, for your donation. It is a great acquisition for our Library.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

Our locality is beginning to show fall color in some of the trees and shrubs and should reach its peak in brilliance this and next month.

Two factors are necessary for the production of red fall color - sunlight and cool nights. There must be warm, bright, sunny days during which time the leaves manufacture sugars. Such days must be followed by cool nights, so we should have a beautiful face for that is what we have had the last few weeks.

Brightly colored foliage of deciduous trees and shrubs interspersed with evergreen plants, presents an array of color. The blazing reds of native sumac, red maples, plums and oaks are the first fall colors. The trees with a multitude of colors, from wine red to yellow are the tallest (if a freeze or frost stays away, crepe myrtles, sugar maple and crabapple, also).

Then come the bright yellows of the elms, redbuds, persimmons, pecan, pomegranate, oaks, hackberry and chinaberry.

Garden cleanup is for garden health as well as for tidying up for winter. Next month is fall cleanup month, so be getting your trash ready as plants die and leaves fall, that you do not put into compost. We are very proud the county trucks stay on the job, but may state a later date for pick-up week. Remind your neighbors to help groom our city for the winter. Fall blooms on the roses may be the prettiest of the whole year, provided plants are watered regularly. To preserve autumn leaves with glycerin, stand cut ends of branches in 1 part glycerin and 3 parts water. Mix well and let them remain in water until you can see glycerin in the leaves, which will become pliable and will take on a sheen. Colors will fade slightly, but the leaves will retain enough to be attractive in dried arrangements throughout the winter. For grasses, use 1 cup glycerin to 2 cups water. For these, use a tall jar rather than flat containers.

Dressed in attire symbolic of her era, each woman gave a picturesque review of her life in the early days of Texas history. League members were able to capture the bravery and importance of each of these pioneer women through the professional and realistic performances given by these Forum members.

A short business meeting followed and a cover layout was voted upon for the Woman's League Cookbook. The winning cover was provided by Mary Jo Mason. The meeting then adjourned.

School board approves budget for materials

The regular monthly meeting of the Crockett County Consolidated Common School District Board of Trustees was held on Tuesday, October 14.

During the meeting the members approved a budget amendment for Ozona Primary School teaching materials, and they approved the addition of Sandra Hearne, Benny Gail Hunnicutt, Brenda Pool, and Nikki Sewell to the local substitute teacher list.

Two requests for leaves of absence were granted by the seven-member board. The leaves were requested by Mrs. Josie Mendoza and Mrs. Linda Sessom, school cafeteria employees.

Assistant Superintendent Ted Cotton gave a report on a seven-year comparison of Ozona's Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (T.E.A.M.S.) results to state results. After reviewing the history of test results in reading, writing, and mathematics at the third grade level, Mr. Cotton stated that an analysis of these results revealed that Ozona's students had attained an 82% success ratio in equaling or surpassing the state average on comparable objectives. Fifth and ninth grade test results were also reviewed, and a 77% fifth grade success ratio and a 53% ninth grade success ratio were reported for these two levels.

At the conclusion of his report, Mr. Cotton said that when third, fifth, and ninth grade test results were grouped together, the overall student success ratio in equaling or surpassing the state average was 72%.

Superintendent Garland Davis reported that Ozona High School Library was now open each Monday from 6:00 p.m. until 9:00 p.m. for students who needed to use the library after school hours. He also reported that satisfactory progress was being made on the Davidson Gymnasium Addition Project.

Perry and Baggett are re-elected to SCS board

Bill Baggett and Gene Perry were re-elected to the Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Directors. Baggett will represent Zone 1 of the district and Perry will represent Zone 2.

The purpose of the Crockett SWCD is to promote soil and water conservation programs on ranch lands within the district and to serve as a voice for ranchers on conservation matters and other issues affecting private property rights of landowners.

The board of directors coordinates the conservation efforts of various local, state, and federal agencies and other organizations and has authority to enter into working agreements with these governmental agencies and private concerns to carry out its purposes.

As members of the board of directors, Baggett and Perry will be responsible for district policies and procedures for carrying out the district program within the framework of the Texas soil conservation district law.

Texas has 201 soil and water conservation districts. Each is a legal subdivision of state government organized by local agricultural landowners with the assistance of the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board. Unlike most legal subdivisions of state government, SWCD's do not have the power of taxation or eminent domain. All conservation programs managed by the district are of a voluntary nature to the landowner or operator.

The Crockett district was organized in 1950. The purpose being to further soil, water, and plant conservation to the land within the district.

Community Center to celebrate

The Ozona Community Center will celebrate its 50th anniversary Sunday, Nov. 2nd from 2:30 to 5 p.m. at the Community Center building with an Open House.

The center was founded by the Women's Missionary Society of the United Methodist Church. Among those planning to attend the celebration will be Bishop and Mrs. O. Eugene Slater, instrumental in getting the center started; Mary Riddle, the first director of the center and Dorothy Price, an early director for 16 years.

Mrs. C. O. Standard of Longview, has been here visiting her son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Glaze and Michael.

Hunter safety course completed

Three people recently completed the Hunter Safety Course here in Ozona, instructed by Game Warden Rod Chalmers of the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department. Tom Anderson, Don Gibson and Jill House became lifetime certified to hunt in any of the 14 states requiring the certification.

The hunter safety program is administered by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. According to the safety program manual, the program's immediate goal is to make sure every trained hunter is courteous, considerate, careful and capable. The long-range goal is to make sure that every hunter is a safe hunter.

The course will not be offered again to adult hunters until next year. Chalmers hopes to have two or three additional certified instructors before then. A minimum of 10 hours of classroom instruction is required for the course.

Possible plans are, however, in the works for a safety program to be offered to local students. Almost 60 percent of gun casualties are caused by persons under the age of 21. Persons in this age group also make up about 40 percent of all accident victims, according to the safety manual.

Jim and Debbie Montgomery, Natalie and Hunter of San Angelo were here for the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Tom Montgomery.

CROCKETT COUNTY OUTDOORS

by Rod Chalmers

Motor vehicles and deer don't get along too well. When they come together, there's damage. Damage to personal property and damage to one of Texas' most valuable resources—its wildlife. Every year we lose thousands of pounds of good venison, tens of thousands of pounds of Detroit steel (or should I say plastic), and hundreds of thousands of dollars of hard-earned money in vehicular-deer crashes. Sometimes folks get hurt, sometimes killed. It all started when we laid down the first ribbon of road through wildlife habitat, and it's a problem every driver in rural Texas is going to have to learn to live with. Every time we flip on the headlights and head out of town into deer country we're venturing out onto Nature's obstacle course—running the gauntlet, you might say. But there's a few things you might keep in mind to minimize the risks, and I'd like to relate some ideas that I've acquired through many nights on the road in some of the highest deer density areas of the state.

Don't get me wrong—I'm no expert. Sunday night proved that! But I guess I've either been pretty lucky for the last 55,000 miles, or I've been doing something right. Many of you have got a lot better record than that, but not everybody has to cover the same roads in the same way that a Game Warden is all too often called on to do. I've heard just about all the theories and procedures known to man about how to keep from hitting deer on the highway, and I guess I've just about put them all to the acid test. I've watched drivers blinking headlights off and on, or alternating high to low beam, or turn 'em off altogether and race through the herd in blind oblivion, hoping for the best. I've heard of slowing down, and speeding up, and holding a constant speed, and even aiming for the deer's rump. When a collision is eminent, some say try for a glancing blow, and some say hit 'em straight on. Something here sound familiar? Work for you? Fine. If it works for you, do it. But I'm convinced that you have to understand what causes a deer to turn kamikaze if you're going to learn how to avoid him.

There's little doubt in my mind that most night collisions with deer are a result of the deer being blinded by the headlights. Often the situation is aggravated by a rapid change in the sound of the motor as you take your foot off the gas and start braking in anticipation. Or the staccato sound of tires running over those bumpy little reflectors on the center stripe as you veer away from the deery side of the road. Or horns honking to try to send him off the other way. Remember the time the deer started running down the shoulder of the road, apparently away from your car, and suddenly reversing or cutting across in front of you for no apparent reason? In his panic flight, he was probably dodging the fast moving object on the ground in front of him—his shadow. And he was running toward the only lighted area he could see—your headlights. I've had the best luck doing it like this: maintain your speed (keeping the same pitch to your motor), dim your headlights (don't cut them off—the damage will be the same whether you see the collision or not!), hold your course (stay off the reflectors), and be ready for some fast diversionary action (if all the above fails!). This'll all work better at 55 than at 70 mph, but then I know that none of you would exceed the speed limit.

OK, Mr. Expert, so what do I do about the one that I don't see till he jumps out of the weeds 'n there he is right in front of me? Sorry, no answer to this one. The problem is compounded this year with the high rainfall and resulting overgrown bar-ditches all over the county. The Crockett County Road Department and the Texas Highway Department have been really helpful in the past about cutting the grass and weeds along our roadways. I haven't discussed the problem with the administration this year, but I bet they're having the same problem these days that the rest of us are having—money! Or maybe they just can't keep up in a wet year; but regardless of the reason, we've got what's known as a situation. High grass and weeds, in many places right up to the shoulder of the road, at a time of year that deer just naturally start frequenting the thoroughfares. Just be aware of the situation, and allow for it till things change.

As if things aren't bad enough, we're now getting a new bunch of deer coming to the road that aren't used to traffic. The cool nights and cloudy days we're now having are not conducive to growth of forbs and tender vegetation in the pastures, and we're starting to get "new" deer in our paths that have never seen these monsters roaring down on them. This year's fawns, or bucks coming out of summer's seclusion with does on their minds. The old regulars are used to cars and never lift their heads, but the new arrivals are liable to do anything, so watch them carefully.

How do you thread your way through a line of five deer strung out from one side of the road to the other, with no time to stop? Simple. Pick the smallest one.

Seriously, (and it is quite serious) the only answer I can give is to be aware of the problem and make allowances. For the sake of your own safety and the well-being of the wildlife, slow down and use good common sense while driving in deer country. Just look at it this way, how would you like a high speed highway running through your back yard?

A Game Warden can't talk about wildlife without mentioning the law—just the nature of the beast, I guess. So what do you do if you hit a deer? There's a fat doe with a broken neck lying in the middle of the highway, and you just can't see leaving it to rot. This probably won't make much sense till I explain it, but it's illegal to pick up a deer that you or anyone else hit on the highway. Wardens can document cases across the state each year where jerks actually use their vehicles to kill deer, thinking they could holler accident if they get caught. A jacked-up 4-wheel drive with a roll-pipe bumper and grill guard can usually win a fight with a 100 pound deer with no visible scars to the vehicle. So we have a law to prevent it, and the rest of us have to abide by it. However, we've got a list at the jail of needy persons in Ozona, and a phone call before transporting should exempt you from prosecution under the law. I believe we have to be flexible here to prevent waste where hunger is an issue. Again, application of common sense after the occurrence is as important as it is as a prevention of the occurrence.

Antiques, Etc. is featured business

Fall and Halloween decorations and designs added to the cozy nature of Antiques, Etc. this past weekend when owner Cynthia Berry featured creations by Irene Epperson and Tam Honaker of Sanderson, Texas.

"We were real pleased with such a good turn-out," said Mrs. Berry of the special showing. "We had a good, steady crowd both Saturday and Sunday."

Mrs. Berry and her husband, Richard, are partners in the business with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Conner of Alamogordo, N.M. The Connors have been in the antique business themselves for 14 years. Their plans are to someday sell their interests in New Mexico and join the Berry's here in Ozona. "We would really like to do shows when we can all get together," Mrs. Berry says of their future plans. "Mom is really good at doing antique appraisals."

Antlerless deer tags to be issued

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will issue special antlerless deer tags for Crockett County on October 28, from 8:00 a.m.-noon and 1:00-5:00 p.m. in the county courtroom of the District Courthouse (2nd floor).

The special tags are required for any antlerless deer harvested in this county during the upcoming hunting season. All landowners, regardless of acreage owned or controlled, are eligible to receive the tags this year.

After the opening of the hunting season, tags will only be available through the State Office in Austin and through Regional Offices located in Rockport, San Angelo, Tyler, and Waco. Tags will not be issued by local department personnel after the season opens.

Landowners or their agents are urged to pick up tags on the scheduled issuance dates.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Perry were in Austin last week at the bedside of his mother, Mrs. E. W. Perry, who suffered a heart attack. She is scheduled for surgery Wednesday.

The Berrys first became interested in antiques prior to the birth of their first daughter 14 years ago. "We got one of those old high chairs that converted into a stroller," Mrs. Berry recalls. "Now every time we go somewhere, we go antiquing."

The Berrys travelled to three different states in June looking for nostalgic and primitive merchandise to include amongst their collections. Antiques, Etc. then debuted with an Open House on June 30.

"We have really been pleased with the success so far," says Mrs. Berry of the venture. "We have a lot of travellers come in off the interstate amazed at what an oasis Ozona seems to be."

Mrs. Berry looks forward to doing estate sales and auctions. She is currently looking forward to the upcoming Christmas season. Plans are being made for a Christmas showing Nov. 22-23 much like the holiday show this past weekend.

She hints of many things to come for Antiques, Etc. "I'm not ready to go public with my ideas right now, but we have a lot of plans in store for the future."

Tom Cameron to head up Bill Hobby's campaign here

Lieutenant Governor Bill Hobby announced that County Attorney Thomas Cameron has been named county coordinator of Crockett County for his fall reelection campaign.

"I am proud to be represented in your county by such an outstanding leader," Hobby said. "We will run an aggressive, low budget campaign."

"The two special sessions kept me in Austin and away from campaigning. I will be counting on the campaign coordinators to represent me in your area," Hobby said.

Hobby is the most experienced statewide office holder in Austin today, having served as Lieutenant Governor for 13 years.

Speaking of the current budget crises, Hobby explained, "The decline in oil and agriculture prices, reduced federal contributions, and increased population have combined to confront the state with its first budget deficit in years."

"Since much of the state's budget is dedicated by the Constitution and laws to specific uses, only a small percentage is available for legislators to cut," Hobby said.

The Lieutenant Governor explained, "The state's revenue base has changed from one based on oil and agriculture to more of a service economy."

"We're facing readjustments that other areas-New England, the smoke-stack states, the Pacific Northwest-have faced. They have all come through it stronger than before. With courage and vision, we too can rise to the challenge and be stronger for it," Hobby stated.

"I'm proud of our record on education reform, on highways, on water, and on basic health care. Now we have to protect our gains," Hobby said.

"When you study the problem carefully, when you care about our future, the Choice is clear. We have to do what is right for Texas," he said.

Brent Pool wins contest this week

Winner of the football contest this week is Brent Pool. Pool missed two games along with Gene Castro, Wyna Boyd, Terry Harris, Margarito Galindo and Olivia Martinez, however Pool won the tie-breaker with a perfect guess at the score, Dallas 17 and Philadelphia 14. There were 33 entries in this week's contest.

The weekly pick'em sheet can be found on the sports page each week and must be clipped from the Stockman and turned in to the office or be in the mail by 5 p.m. each Friday.

Band set to compete in UIL Contest

The Ozona Lion Marching Band will compete in the University Interscholastic League District VII Marching Contest at 2:00 P.M. Saturday, October 25, in Brady's Bulldog Stadium.

The "Pride of Crockett County", the largest conference AA band in the district, will compete among eleven other AA bands including Reagan County, Hamilton, Wall, DeLeon, Goldthwaite, Eldorado, Mason, Dublin, Coleman, Hico, and Junction.

Bands participating in the contest hope to earn the coveted first division rating for a superior performance. The two bands in each conference with the best performances will advance to the regional contest in Temple on November 1st.

"Based on the hard work and winning attitude demonstrated by the bandsmen, I'm highly optimistic about the possibilities of earning a first division," said band director Kelly Glaze. "I think we stand a real chance of advancing to regionals."

The two conference AA bands advancing to regionals last year were Eldorado and Glen Rose. Glen Rose has since moved up to class AAA. While in conference A last year, Goldthwaite also advanced. Ozona dropped down to class AA this year after earning a first division last year in AAA.

The Lion Band's twirling line will also compete in the solo and ensemble contest held concurrently with the marching competition.

Juniors take TEAMS test assessment

As a result of the passage of House Bill 72 by the Texas Legislature, juniors in Texas high schools will be taking math and English language arts competency tests on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 28 and 29. Passage of both sections of the T.E.A.M.S. (Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills) test will enable these students to become eligible to receive a high school diploma at the end of their twelfth grade, provided that all graduation requirements have been met.

Students who fail one or both sections of the state-mandated examination will be required to retake the failed section(s) of the test in May, 1987. If successful mastery has not been accomplished by that time, students will have two additional opportunities during their senior year to pass the T.E.A.M.S. test before being denied a diploma in May, 1988.

The mathematics section of the Exit-Level T.E.A.M.S. will consist of 72 multiple-choice questions covering eighteen objectives. The English language arts section will also contain 72 multiple-choice questions over eighteen reading and writing objectives.

All juniors in Texas public schools are required to take the Exit-Level T.E.A.M.S. except those students who have been formally evaluated and determined to have a physical, mental, or other impairment which entitles them to receive special education and related services.

Ozona school officials will be notified as soon as possible. Remedial instruction will be provided to those students who fail either the mathematics or the English language arts section of the state test.

Lowell Littleton is in Baptist Memorial in San Angelo, receiving therapy for a recent stroke. LaNell and Jeff George and Melanie of Midland spent the weekend here with her mother, Mrs. Oscar Kost.

Don't Blame Your Age For Poor Hearing.

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest hearing aid Beltone has ever developed will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

It's yours for the asking, so send for it now. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. The actual aid weighs less than an eighth of an ounce, and it fits completely into the ear canal.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Although a hearing aid may not help everyone, more and more people with hearing losses are being helped. For your free sample write today to: Department 69985, Beltone Electronics Corporation, 4201 West Victoria Street, Chicago, IL 60646.
