School board accepts gym project work

The Ozona School Board, meeting in regular session on Wednesday, Nov. 12, voted to accept "substantial completion" of work on the Davidson Gymnasium Addition Project. The new addition is located on the east side of the present high school gym and contains additional dressing room facilities for both boys and girls, a training room and laundry area, remodeled shower facilities, and a dressing room for basketball referees.

During the meeting the members accepted the 1985-86 Financial Audit Report as presented by Superintendent Garland Davis, and they approved the addition of Randy Upham and Sadie Davidson to the local substitute teacher list. Mrs. Susan Womack was also approved for employment in the school cafeteria during the leave of absence of Mrs. Linda Sessom.

Superintendent Davis gave the members a report on student failure rates for the district's four schools at the end of the first six weeks. He reported that of 968 students enrolled, 66 failed one or more subjects during the first six weeks of school, and this was an overall failure rate of only 7 percent. Mr. Davis also noted during his report that Ozona Junior High had only eight students who failed more than one subject, and out of 1,876 grades reported in Ozona High School during the first six weeks, there were only thirty-seven failures.

Detention center elects new directors

The Crockett Detention Center, Inc. board of directors elected J.C. Matthews, rancher of Woodson, Texas, as chairman of the board in a meeting Saturday afternoon at the Crockett County National Bank. Likewise elected to the board was E.R. Smith, also of Woodson.

Members approved the appointment of Cotton, Bledsoe, Tighe and Dawson as legal council for the corporation, following the resignation of local attorney Bill Mason. Corporate attorney Craig L. Evans was present representing the firm. Corporation bylaws were discussed and accepted as presented by Evans.

President Harry Sinclair informed members present that the blue prints for the proposed $4.5 million facility have been presented by architect Jack McDermitt to the Texas Jail Standards Commission in Austin. Plans are currently being reviewed by the commission.

Board members discussed a possible meeting with the county commissioners during their regular meeting Dec. 8 and decided to contact county officials about appearing before the court.

The first stockholders meeting was set for Feb. 11, 1987, at 7:00 p.m. prior to a motion to adjourn.

Rod Chalmers gives hunting tips to ole' timers

Lest you ole' timers think we've forgotten you, I'll tell you what you missed by staying home and watching the Cowboys play. Wednesday's cold snap seems to have kicked the deer rutting season into full swing across the county. Most of the older bucks are sporting swollen necks and doing stupid things, and this might be a good time to break out your rattlin' horns and see if you can lure one into range this weekend. Good time to take pictures, too. It's an exciting time to be outdoors, so turn off the tube and take to the field. They'll still be playing in January!

Icy roads cause mishap

A local couple managed to walk away from this wrecked vehicle after hitting a stretch of road covered with ice early Thursday morning on Hwy 163, near the intersection of Hwy. 190. Dr. and Mrs. Don Carlisle were on their way to San Angelo, when the accident occurred. They returned to Carlisle Clinic here following the wreck.

Crockett County Library to celebrate first anniversary

By Connie Jennings

Happy Birthday, Crockett County Library! It was one year ago Monday the library celebrated the grand opening of its new location at 705 12th Street in Ozona.

Pauline Perner Montgomery, Elizabeth Perner Wilson, P.C. Perner and Mary Perner Daniels donated the two-story Perner home in honor of their parents, Paul and Lizzie Perner for the purpose of serving as a public library. The Spanish-style library sits on a large double lot surrounded by huge Pecan trees. Donations were given by members of the community for equipment and to furnish each room. Every room is dedicated in honor and memory of outstanding people of Ozona.

In 1966, Miss Mildred North began receiving funds from Crockett County to provide books for the public in conjunction with the Ozona schools. One room was established in the High School Library as the Adult Room. Funding for the books also came from the Massey Memorial Foundation for a period of five years. The collection grew to about 4,000 volumes.

Three librarians, Mrs. Earline Jones, Mrs. Mary Helen Parks and Mrs. Sherry York continued to operate the library in this way until 1982, when Mrs. Sherry Scott and Mrs. York presented county officials with a proposal to form a library board and a new public library.

Plans were drawn up for the purpose, and the Perner home was donated to the county for the library in 1984.

The first anniversary celebration is in conjunction with National Children's Book Week whose theme is "Reach For A Book." Children of Ozona celebrated yesterday afternoon with a birthday party. Children dressed as their favorite storybook character and enjoyed poetry works by Lucille Bohannon of Ozona. Local authors will be honored tomorrow evening at 5:00 with a reception hosted by the Friends of the Library.

Mrs. Louise Perner Ledoux, Crockett County Librarian, recognizes the children's summer program as the highlight of the first year for the new library. Well over 100 children enjoyed regular story hours throughout the summer in what was declared by Mrs. Ledoux as a "big success." The Friends of the Library plans to continue the program next summer.

"We've also started a literacy program recently," says Mrs. Ledoux. "Ten volunteer tutors are working with the program. It has really taken-off!" she adds. Joan Nicholas is heading the local program.

Mrs. Ledoux is an Ozona native who claims to have always had a love for reading. The Angelo State University graduate attends workshops throughout the state in order that the library may continue to be a growing part of the community. "I love it," she says convincingly. "I plan to stay for a long time."

Plans for the future of the library include expanding the collection of books to 10,000. The State of Texas allows a library three years to build their collection to this capacity in order to be recognized as a county library. Mrs. Ledoux says the library should reach that goal within the next year.

Brrrrrrrr!! First freeze hits Ozona

Ozona was hit by the first freeze of the season along with the rest of West Texas when a very cold front moved into the area last Wednesday, Nov. 12. The weather was a balmy 55 degrees at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and when the front hit the mercury dropped 13 degrees in an hour and kept dropping.

Travel out of town in almost any direction was hazardous. Although Ozona failed to get the ice storm reported in most places, most vegetation was frozen and the high for the day Thursday on the Ozona National Bank sign registered a chilly 26 degrees. The high on the television weather service channel was 30 degrees. By 8 o'clock Friday morning a 31 degree reading was reported and a warming trend set in. Under sunny skies Tuesday, the weather had warmed to 75 degrees.

Sleet and freezing rain fell intermittently throughout the day, forming ice on vehicles, but there was no buildup and roads in town remained relatively safe. However, pot plants and hanging plants left outside were killed by the hard freeze.

The average freeze occurs in this area on or around November 28. An early freeze occurs once in ten years, according to the National Weather Service, and has been known to occur as early as November 5. According to the same statistics, a late freeze for the first one of the season occurs nine times in ten years and the first freeze has been recorded as late as December 22. Just when the first freeze will occur in any area is mostly speculation, but the above figures indicate the averages.

The National Weather Service outlook for November calls for temperatures to run below a normal in this area, indicating a cold winter in store. Ranchers are urged to prepare animals for wind, rain and cold temperatures. Also, equipment and buildings need to be winterized.

Carlisles escape injuries in wreck

Dr. Don Carlisle and his wife, Lee, narrowly escaped serious injury early Thursday morning when the late model Nissan truck they were driving skidded on an icy strip of highway just this side of the Hwy. 190 intersection on Hwy. 163.

After going out of control on the sheet of ice, the truck veered to the right, took down several yards of fence and overturned at least twice before coming to rest upright in a pasture. Both the Carlisles were wearing seat belts, and they attribute this to saving their lives.

They were on their way to San Angelo when the wreck occurred around 14 miles north of Ozona. Highway conditions had not been reported at the time, but those on the scene shortly after, described the road like driving from a dry highway onto solid ice. Although the mercury dropped dramatically late Wednesday and the high for Thursday was below freezing, this area failed to get much precipitation and the roads were ice-free for several miles around town.

Tom Bingham was first on the scene after the wreck and assisted Dr. and Mrs. Carlisle. After assessing their injuries, they returned to their clinic here.

The truck was totally wrecked, and all belongings scattered over a wide area. Mrs. Carlisle's coat was hanging from a highline where it was retrieved. The truck was equipped with a roll bar. This, along with the seat belts, convinced the Carlisles spared their lives or at least more serious injury.

Mrs. Carlisle had removed her coat and refastened her seat belt just before the accident.

Cardona wins weekly f'ball contest

The weekly football contest winner was Richard Cardona, with only one miss on his entry. Out of the thirty-five entries, Cardona missed one; eight entrants missed 2, and ten missed 3. The remainder missed four or more.

The contest will continue through the play-offs and entry blanks may be found on the sports page, sponsored by local merchants. All entries must have been clipped from the pages of The Stockman and must be in the office or the mail by 5 p.m. on Friday.

Distribute livestock for good management

Distributing livestock as well as possible over an entire pasture and obtaining uniform grazing of the vegetation is a very important objective of a good range management program. The Soil Conservation Service will help ranchers obtain better livestock grazing distribution on their ranch.

Several methods can be considered when attempting to change an animal's grazing habits. Grazing systems have an effect by concentrating livestock into large herds and rotating the herds through two or more pastures. In large pastures where there are areas too far from water, the development of a new water supply generally improves distribution. New fence construction helps control animal movement and helps improve distribution. Moving salt and mineral blocks and feeding areas away from water to the back of a pasture will improve grazing distribution tremendously.

There are numerous other factors that influence grazing distribution as well as methods to improve livestock grazing pressure. The personnel at the local Soil Conservation Service who provide assistance through the Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District will help ranchers improve the livestock grazing distribution on their ranch.

Contract approved for juvenile center

Crockett County's contract with the Tom Green County Juvenile Justice Center was approved by the Tom Green County commissioners Monday. The county became the 12th to contract with the center.

Juveniles cannot legally be held with adult prisoners. The county also has a contract with the juvenile detention center in Fort Stockton. Although the county has very few juvenile detainees, Judge A.O. Fields said the law makes the contracts necessary. When a juvenile must be detained in one of the centers, it costs the county $50 a day, otherwise there is no charge.

Crockett County joins Coke, Concho, Sterling, Irion, Brown, Runnels, Sutton, Schleicher, Kimble, Menard, and McCulloch counties in using the new center.

Bazaar goodies

The annual Ozona Woman's League Bazaar will get underway Tuesday at the Civic Center. Helen Bean and Karen Childress show off some of the

SOVIET SPIES: 25 DOWN, MORE TO FOLLOW

On October 19, about a week after Soviet boss Mikhail Gorbachev huffed away from Reykjavik, Iceland, upset over President Reagan's refusal to exchange America's anti-missile research program for another "arms control" agreement the Kremlin would have violated, a small group of Soviets left New York for the motherland.

Their expected one-way trip had been on the pre-summit agenda, but in the words of Secretary of State George Schultz, time ran out before the matter could be discussed.

The United States had ordered their departure. The Kremlin hoped the U.S. would change its mind and allow the Soviets — most of them thought to be spies operating out of the three Soviet missions at the United Nations — to stay. The subject apparently never came up. So the Soviets packed their bags, as ordered, and left.

To which we should add: Good Riddance!

Less than a week before the summit, on October 7, the Senate Intelligence Committee said — in a 141-page report, 16 months in the making — that the U.S. has suffered great damage as a result of recent spy activities. The report said the damage was "far greater than anyone in the U.S. government has yet acknowledged publicly" and named the U.N. as a key Soviet intelligence outpost.

Intelligence Committee Chairman David F. Durenberger (R-Minn.) said there are "too many secrets, too much access to secrets, too many spies . . . and too little effort given to combating the very real threat which spies represent to our national security." One of the alleged spies identified in the report is a top aide to U.N. Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar.

Unfortunately, many Americans underestimate the problem. Among the 55 "diplomats" being expelled from the Soviet Embassy in Washington are a number of known spies.

In New York, hundreds of foreign moles cozily operate out of the United Nations. Gennadi Zakharov, for example, whose arrest sparked the Soviet KGB's set-up of U.S. journalist Nicholas Daniloff, was an "employee" of a U.N. scientific agency. In truth, he was a high-ranking operative in the Soviet KGB.

But Zakharov is just one of many. Approximately 450 Soviet nationals and more than 200 people from other Soviet-bloc countries are on the payroll of the U.N. Secretariat. Although the Soviets have traditionally been reluctant to use Secretariat employees for spying — since U.N. employees lack diplomatic immunity and are eligible for arrest — they are obviously growing bolder.

Just prior to the Zakharov arrest, the Reagan administration ordered the expulsion of 25 "diplomats" attached to the Soviet mission at the U.N. — all of whom were thought to be intelligence operatives. The last of the 25 left on October 19. The Soviets also were given until April 1, 1987, to reduce the number of people staffing their missions to 170.

An unclassified CIA report tells the story. "Approximately one-fourth of the Soviets in the U.N. Secretariat are intelligence officers and many more are co-opted by the KGB and GRU (the Soviet military spy service)," the report says.

The FBI estimates that approximately 1,000 Soviet and Soviet-bloc intelligence officers operate out of the U.N. The problem is massive.

Over the past few years, both Congress and the administration have taken steps to reduce this huge Soviet intelligence operation. Yet U.S. counterintelligence officials admit that restrictions are difficult to enforce, as the new Senate Intelligence Committee report clearly shows.

All of which adds up to a spy nest on our doorstep and a potential replay of the Daniloff incident the next time a high-ranking Soviet spy is arrested in the West.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—During the last weeks of the campaign, Mark White often warned black voters that Bill Clements would effectively do away with two black colleges by merging them with other schools.

Now it appears that White's people are pushing ahead with a program they accused Clements of hiding, and it promises to become one of the key irritants during the next session of the Legislature, and one that could wind up before the Supreme Court if the battle is waged hard enough.

Larry Temple, chairman of the Select Committee on Higher Education and appointed by Mark White, last week recommended three university mergers to save state dollars.

Temple wants to merge Texas Southern University with the University of Houston system, Texas Woman's University with North Texas State University in Denton, and Corpus Christi State University with Texas A&I in Kingsville.

Already, members of the Black Caucus are circling the wagons to defend predominantly black Texas Southern, a school created in 1947 under the old "separate-but-equal" doctrine.

have the votes on the panel, which will grapple with his plan this week.

The plan is opposed by TWU. Some black officials who want to protect TSU's heritage are also fearful that someone is waiting in the wings with a plan to integrate Prairie View A&M, their other predominately black state college, deeper into the Texas A&M University System.

Temple may have an ally in powerful state Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, D-Austin, because she has tentatively pointed out some of the benefits the merger may bring.

Fund The Promise?

Delco, who chairs the House Higher Education Committee and is considered the most powerful black on that side of the Capitol, said the merger could enhance TSU's role in urban education.

But she wants the Legislature to come up with the bucks to fund the promises that come with a merger.

Delco knows that for years other legislators have tried to close TSU on the grounds it perpetuates segregation, and they will try again.

She defends Texas Southern and Prairie View as no more racist than The University of Texas and Texas A&M.

The possibility exists that in the next battle for college appropriations, the two schools could fare poorly and might be better off funding-wise if the mergers occur.

Other Highlights

• Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox filed a lawsuit last week to stop the U.S. Forest Service from tree-crushing a 2,600-acre portion of national forest near Huntsville.

The feds plan to burn the pine-beetle infested area with a napalm-like gel and replant with pine trees.

Mattox said that would destroy the unique plant and animal life there.

• Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro disputes a recent court ruling in the lawsuit involving Mobil Oil Co. and South Texas oil leases. He may go to the Texas Supreme Court with it.

The appellate court gives $2 million to Exxon Corp. and rancher Clinton Manges instead of the state Permanent School Fund.

Mauro and Mattox also plan to retrieve millions in oil royalties from investors who failed to pay the state its share.

• Supreme Court Chief Justice John Hill said a poll of the state's lawyers and judges shows they favor repealing the present system of electing judges along political party lines, but do not demonstrate support for an appointment system favored by Hill.

• Governor-elect Bill Clements named Reggie Bashur to be his press secretary and James Huffines to be appointments secretary.

• Texas unemployment jumped to 9.5 percent in October, while the national rate remained stable at 7 percent.

• Outgoing Gov. Mark White lifted his hiring freeze of state employees. His office said the paperwork could be best handled by state agencies; his critics charged the action was taken so his staff could find other jobs.

• State Comptroller Bob Bullock told a taxpayers group that broadening the sales tax base and lowering the rate is the only good alternative to a state income tax for new revenues to resolve the deficit.

• State Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, warned that "Chicano yuppie-ism," or the new conservative trend among Texas Hispanics could hurt progress. He faulted Hispanics who recently voted for Republican AG candidate Roy Barera over incumbent Mattox, "whose heart and guts have been with the Chicanos."

More recipes from County 4-H Food Show winners

No Excuse Bread Leesa Haire

- 2 cups water
- 2 pkgs. yeast
- 2 tsps. salt
- 1/3 cup oil
- 1/3 cup honey
- 2/3 cup powdered sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup wheat germ
- 7 cups unsifted flour*

*For whole wheat bread, replace all or part of honey with molasses. Use 1/2 whole wheat and 1/2 white flour.

Have all ingredients at room temperature or slightly warmer. Put first eight ingredients and 3 cups flour in large mixing bowl. Beat 5-10 minutes at medium speed with electric mixer. Remove beaters. By hand, stir in another 2 cups flour. No need to make it smooth. Sprinkle 1 cup flour in a circle about 10" in diameter on kneading surface. Turn out dough on this flour. Oil your hands and begin kneading in flour, using fingertips only, until dough stiffens up and is not so sticky. Knead 5-10 minutes or until dough is smooth and elastic, adding additional flour if necessary. Cover with plastic wrap and folded towel. Let rest 20 minutes. Punch down by kneading a few strokes. Divide into two equal portions. On an oiled surface with oiled rolling pin, roll out each portion into an 8x12" rectangle. Roll up towards you in jelly roll fashion from small end, sealing well. Place seam side down in greased bread pans and brush with oil. Cover with plastic wrap. Refrigerate 2-24 hours. It is so easy to mix this up at night and bake it in the morning. About 10 minutes before baking, preheat oven and remove dough from refrigerator. Uncover and puncture with an oiled toothpick to release any air bubbles that may have developed. Bake at 375 degrees for 35-40 minutes.

Cherokee Casserole Terrie Willmon

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1 tablespoon oil
- 3/4 cup onion; chopped
- 1 1/2 teaspoon salt
- pepper
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/8 teaspoon thyme
- 1/8 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/8 teaspoon oregano
- 2 cups (1lb.) tomatoes
- 1 10 3/4-oz can cream of mushroom soup
- 1 cup quick cooking rice
- 6 stuffed olives; sliced
- 2 or 3 slices American cheese, cut in 1/2" strips

Breast cancer care unit due here Friday

In an effort to find breast cancer at the earliest possible stage, the Regional Breast Care Center will provide a mobile breast cancer detection unit for Ozona women.

The unit will be in Ozona Friday, Nov. 21, and will be parked at the hospital. Appointments may be made by calling 392-2671.

Examinations will begin at 9 a.m. and end at 7 p.m. with technicians taking a lunch break from 1 until 2 p.m. Total cost will be $50, including the x-ray and the radiologist.

Ozona Womans League bazaar set for Tuesday

The annual Ozona Woman's League Bazaar will be held Tuesday, Nov. 25, at the Civic Center from 5 until 6:30 p.m. The deadline for food orders, to be delivered at the Bazaar is Friday, Nov. 21. Orders are being taken by Patti May or Terri Jackson.

Some really great prizes will be offered to those who purchase tickets at $1 each. One of the door prizes will be a hand-knitted afghan, and the other a set of stenciled stuffed ducks. Especially attractive as a prize is a large basket of Texas items, including homemade jams and jellies, Lane Scott's honey, and a coupon for the upcoming cookbook publication.

Reindeer stickhorses should be one of the favorites at the children's booth this year, along with face-painting. There will be some really outstanding items at the Christmas booth. Also, handmade jewelry will be a new feature this year. These will be offered along with various other holiday and everyday items, all handmade by League members. Of course, the ever-popular food booth will be loaded with all kinds of pies, cakes, relishes, canned items, cookies, etc. In past years, the food booth has been most successful.

League members have spent most of the summer months in preparation of a cookbook publication. Each recipe has been tested in kitchens of members and most of the book has been compiled. Members held a week-long garage sale last week to raise money for the publication of the book, and advance orders are now being taken.

Overall chairmen for this year's bazaar are Helen Bean and Karen Childress.

Library to host reception for local authors Thursday

Boys cross country team ends season Saturday

The Ozona Boys Cross Country team ended its season Saturday, competing at the State Cross Country meet in Georgetown. The team ended the year with a 7th place finish in overall. Danny Sanchez finished 3rd overall with over 100 individuals running.

"This is not a bad showing for the first year of competing in cross country. I've gained a bunch of respect for this group of hard-working individuals. We had our ups and downs, but we finished the year on a high note. The future looks bright for the cross country program in the coming years," Coach Pete Maldonado said.

Other finishers in Saturday's state meet were: 3rd place-Danny Sanchez-17:52, Luis Rico-47th-20:29, Jose Gutierrez-71st-21:35, Mark Trujillo-72nd-21:42, Jason Montgomery-83rd-22:28, Johnny Lombrana-84th-22:36 and Valdo Galindo-91st-23:53.

Lockney won the team championship. Eldorado was 2nd and Ozona finished 7th.

4-H HORSE PROGRAM

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

With the arrival of Thanksgiving holidays nearly here, you may consider the time until Christmas very short. We should all be thankful for our late rains, and the lush coverage of grass on the land of our area. This furnishes food for the many animals, protects the soil from erosion by the gusty winds and dust storms that pollute the air we breathe.

This season should inspire heartily planned table settings for your Thanksgiving dinner. For the center of interest design there are many beautiful evergreens, shrubs, berries, vegetables, fruits and accessories to use in your arrangement.

As the days grow shorter in November and December the importance of timely gardening chores increases. The coolness and moisture offers you the opportunity to plant hardy ornamentals, trees, shrubs, bulbs, perennials and even hardy annuals.

A reminder of a few "whys"—
Why plant trees? To fight pollution, for valuable shades, to increase property values, to air-condition, to provide food for people animals and birds, to create beauty. Why plant shrubs? As a natural screen, for a sound barrier, to deter pollutants, for beauty with versatility.

Why plant flowers? To give beauty in decorating home, church or exhibiting in a flower show to name only a few uses.

Why plant energy gardens? To produce foods helping the budget and providing more vitamins. Raising your own fruits and vegetables can be a family affair.

Why plant dwarf trees, shrubs and plants? To conserve space in a small area. In this field are many new varieties to use. Why plant wild flowers? They share beauty with others for they are one of our greatest assets, transforming Texas into a fairland of color both Spring and Fall. Plant Texas—It's a matter of life and beauty.

Woman's League prepares for approaching bazaar

The Ozona Woman's League met Tuesday, November 11th at the Crockett County Civic Center for their annual Bazaar Workshop. Hostesses this week were Jodie Sessom and Shelley Conner.

Each year, members work on a group project to be sold at their Bazaar. This year's coordinators were Ann Childress, Susie Childress, Tammy Bunger and Barbara Malone. Members divided into two groups and one worked with arts and crafts while the other was busy cooking. Tammy Bunger and Susie Childress assisted their group with stuffed ornamental reindeer while Ann Childress and Barbara Malone assisted their group with the preparation of chicken spaghetti casseroles following the recipe of Cathy Dawn Moore. All items will be offered at this year's Bazaar, Nov. 25th along with all the usual cakes, casseroles, pies, cookies and arts and crafts.

Members present were: Sandy Baggett, Helen Bean, Tina Bean, Cynthia Berry, Tammy Bunger, Cathy Carson, Marilyn Chalmers, Ann Childress, Karen Childress, Susie Childress, Elizabeth Clark, Shelley Conner, Lou Deaton, Nancy Forehand, Debbie Glasscock, Jeannine Henderson, Karen Huffman, Benny Gail Hunnicutt, Teri Jackson, Camille Jones, Barbara Malone, Mary Jo Mason, Patti May, Lorelei McMullan, Susan McMullan, Shawn Mitchell, LuAnn Pierce, Jane Richardson, Jodie Sessom, Kay Stewart, Vickie Stokes, Carmen Sutton, Nancy Vannoy and Lisa Wagoner.

Heath instructs locals on elements to attract industry

The Program Building Committee of the Crockett County Extension Service held its annual meeting Monday, November 17, at the Civic Center. A chili supper was prepared and served by committee members.

Dan Pullen, chairman of the committee, introduced guest speakers, Mr. Jim Heath, Director of Economic Development of the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce and Colonel Charles Powell, Vice-President of San Angelo Southwest Bank. They spoke on Economic Development. Mr. Heath discussed the essential elements necessary to attract industry and industrial prospecting methods. Colonel Powell, a volunteer on the San Angelo Economic Development Task Force, discussed the roles of Chamber of Commerce Representatives and volunteers in economic development.

The presentations were very informative. Following their presentations and questions and answers, the Agents expressed appreciation to all the Extension committee members for their efforts in the local Extension program. A summary of major Extension accomplishments was provided.

Mrs. White wins high score at Thursday Club bridge

Mrs. C.O. Walker was hostess for bridge at the Country Club Thursday. High score went to Mrs. Evert White and second high to Mrs. Jake Short. Mrs. Hugh Childress and Mrs. Gene Williams won the bingos.

Others playing were Mrs. Clay Adams, Mrs. Charlie Black, Mrs.

George Bunger, Mrs. John Childress, Mrs. Joe Couch, Mrs. W.E. Friend, Mrs. Arthur Kyle, Mrs. Gene Lilly, Mrs. J.J. Marley, Mrs. Bill Mason, Mrs. J.B. Parker, Mrs. Sherman Taylor, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Byron Williams, Mrs. Jack Williams, and Mrs. Joe Friend.

FOR THE YOUNGER SET—Haley Holden and Julie Childress modeled the show was held in conjunction with the Teacher Store for the benefit of the sister fashions from Small Fashions. Care Center Auxiliary.

Old and new fashions modeled at holiday show

By Connie Jennings

Sweaters and suede, hats and stripes, jersey and velvet and more were presented by The Teacher Store and Small Fashions of Ozona at the 1986 Holiday Style Show Saturday at the Circle Bar Solarium. More than 100 people attended the annual show benefitting the Crockett County Care Center Auxiliary.

Styles dating back to 1912 were modeled with the utmost of poise by women and children of Ozona and nearby communities. Historic styles included wedding attire of 1917, 1943 and 1950, swimsuits from the 30's and 50's and graduation dresses from the early 1900's that would easily fit in to even today's most sophisticated wardrobe.

Current styles from J. Christopher, Intuitions, Her Majesty and Maggie

London included everything from denim and bandanas to silk and lace collars. On-lookers felt easily relaxed amid such a wide variety of styles.

Door prizes were furnished by the Crockett County Care Center, Happy Hollow, The Teacher Store, Maxine's Flowers and Small Fashions. Prizes were awarded to Shirley Kirby, Mary Friend, Betty Dillard, Louisa Pearson and Sharon Forehand.

The Care Center Auxiliary, under the leadership of Glenda Henderson, will add a whirlpool tub to its facilities with the proceeds from the show. They will also be furnishing a dining room addition upon its completion.

Bob and Elaine Bell, Ray and Marie Pierson and Forest Henderson square danced Friday night at San Angelo Square and Round Dance Club.

YOUNGSTERS FROM BOYS RANCH enjoyed the second annual hunt at the Perry Ranch over the weekend, and had a very successful hunt. Several local men assisted host Gene Perry and game warden Rod Chalmers. Shown with the boys are Steve Williams, Dee Keilers, Dorris Haire, Bob Harris, Lane Scott, Reggie Qulett, Jack Probst and Brock Jones.

CROCKETT COUNTY OUTDOORS

by Rod Chalmers

The Texas Game Warden Association held its annual West Texas Boys Ranch deer hunt Nov. 14-16 at the ranch of Gene and Betty Perry off Taylor Box Road. Nine boys ranging in age from 8 to 13 experienced their first deer hunt, and six of those nine had deer blood swathed on their faces in the traditional celebration of a kid's first deer.

The boys arrived at the ranch Friday evening and were treated to a supper of barbecued goat and tamales, followed by a short course from the Game Warden on the why's and how's of tagging deer and the hunter's role in wildlife management. Ray Shelton provided a video on field dressing deer, with some exciting footage of rattling-up bucks to get the boys in the proper mood for the rest of the weekend. Needless to say, it took the young hunters a long time to get to sleep!

Saturday morning brought lots of shooting but no hitting, so everyone got a turn on the rifle range with their "weekend Dads" for some instruction and familiarization. It was the first time most of these boys had ever shot a rifle, but youths learn fast. By dark that evening there were 4 bucks and 2 does hanging on the meat pole and six very proud youngsters in camp. The big day was topped off with the best batch of venison steaks and biscuits and gravy that you ever lapped a lip over.

Sunday morning's hunt was plagued by an all-night moon, but the boys began to realize that bagging a deer is not the most important part of hunting - it's just being out in God's Great Outdoors that makes a hunt successful.

Hunting buddies for the boys were Dorris Haire, Dee Keiler, Bob Harris, Reggie Qulett, Lane Scott, Jack Probst, Steve Williams and Brock Jones from Crockett County and TGWA Executive Director Bob Daigle and Game Warden Lieutenant Royce Wells from Austin. Cooking for the group was done by members of the Crockett County Sheriff's Department, and fine fare it was. Groceries were furnished by the Ozona National Bank, The Crockett County National Bank, House Fuel Co., Collett Gun Shop, Buttery Motors, and Thorntons Supermarket.

It takes teamwork to pull off a project like this, and the Texas Game Warden Association thanks its associate members and the Ozona community for making this annual event possible.

Whitetail deer has many remarkable advantages

By Ray Bronk

The whitetail deer enjoys many evolved physical qualities which give it advantages not enjoyed by other members of the animal kingdom. Many of these qualities are shared by other species, but the wide range of unique qualities would be difficult to find in any other animal.

Some of these unique qualities are found at birth. The birth of a whitetail is rapid and apparently bloodless. This is important to an animal when predators are near. During the birth process and immediately thereafter, the hair on the metatarsal gland on the rear hocks of the doe will stand erect, emitting a unique odor. If necessary, the doe can dash off, emitting this odor to attract predators away from the fawn. If left undisturbed, the doe will consume any birth residue, keeping the birthing site odor free. The fawn is born free of odor. Dogs have been seen walking past newborn fawns without scenting the newly born animal.

In times of poor range and weather conditions, the whitetail doe is able to resorb the fetus, thus conserving precious body nutritional components, and preventing the birth of a poorly grown fawn into unacceptable living conditions.

The fawn is born with a spotted coat, enabling it to blend into the background while still vulnerable to predators. Although the fawn can move about within a few minutes of its birth, it spends its first few days within an area about 10 feet in diameter. Newborn fawns will instinctively hide rather than flee, waiting for the mother to return to nurse them, although by the fifth day of life, the fawn may make a desperate attempt to flee.

The milk of the doe is very rich in butterfat. While the Jersey cow milk, the richest of cow milk, contains about 5-6 percent butterfat, the milk of the whitetail doe consists of 11-12 percent butterfat. This rich milk provides nourishment for quick growth and energy, and enables the fawn to gain survival strength quickly.

Within a month, the fawn's interdigital glands, located between the hoofs, secrete an individual scent, allowing the doe to track her fawn should it wander away.

The whitetail can bounce back rapidly from herd decimation. When conditions are ideal, a mature buck and doe could increase their numbers to 22 animals in five years. This is possible because some healthy doe fawns are bred their first year of life, producing one or two fawns. Fawn bucks, under a high nutritional diet, show rut behavior as early as five months, although they generally do not participate in breeding until their second rut season. If a doe should die, one or the other of the other does in the herd will care for the fawn as if it were hers.

The whitetail has four stomachs. This is a definite advantage when predators are around. The whitetail can eat food rapidly, spending a minimum amount of vulnerable time, then return to its hidden bed, and leisurely chew cud brought up from its first stomach. After chewing sufficiently, the cud is then swallowed to the second stomach, starting the digestive process. Another cud is then chewed, until all the stored food has been finally chewed and swallowed.

The whitetail can run extremely fast for short periods of time, but has very little stamina for the long chase. It can usually outdistance a predator with a short burst of speed, then has been observed to stop and continue grazing, keeping a wary eye on its backtrail for any continued pursuit. When pursued for lengths of time, the deer has been observed to use cover and water to intelligently confound its pursuer.

When cornered, its sharp hoofs are its usual weapon, with the antlers usually not used for defense. The antlers are used mostly during the rut, for pushing, shoving, and intimidating, although some fighting bucks have gored their opponent to death.

The whitetail has very sharp senses. It has good eyesight for movement, although it cannot determine color with any great degree of success, and a motionless observer will usually not be detected by sight.

The hearing of the whitetail is superb. The snap of a twig is enough to start it running in flight. Because it relies upon its hearing for protection, the whitetail is uncomfortable and tense during windy conditions. It will usually hole up and wait for wind conditions to improve, since the noise of the wind covers up the sounds of danger.

The nose of the whitetail is extremely sensitive. Even masking scents such as skunk odor will not completely cover the scent of man, and many wary deer are able to pick up the man-scent and flee.

The whitetail shares many survival qualities with other members of the animal kingdom, although some of its qualities are unique. Few, if any, other animals on earth are blessed with as many protective qualities bestowed on them by nature.

Sell by dates not required but give consumer info

While "sell by" or expiration dates are not required on egg cartons, they do tell the consumer something about the freshness of the product.

"Most companies use a two-week or three-week period (from pack date to expiration date) for Grade AA eggs and three to four weeks for Grade A eggs," points out David B. Mellor, poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Use of some kind of dating system on eggs or egg cartons enables store personnel to keep a better check on their stock and to rotate eggs so that some don't get left behind," notes Mellor.

However, he emphasizes that just because eggs have passed their "sell" by" date doesn't mean that they are bad.

"Usually, the fresher the egg, the better," says Mellor. "However, month-old eggs that have been kept refrigerated are usually still Grade A."

The specialist points out that eggs are usually washed, sanitized and refrigerated immediately after lay and are shipped as rapidly as possible. Most of the time eggs are purchased by consumers within two to three weeks after lay.

"Use of 'sell by' dates probably does not speed up this process," contends Mellor. "But some type of date or identification is good to assure proper rotation in the store."

S.S. checks usually arrive on same date

Social Security checks usually arrive in the mail about the same day each month, most often on the 3rd; however, if the 3rd is a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, the check should arrive on the last banking day before then, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

The check received in one month is actually for the previous month's benefit.

Occasionally, a check may be late, whether because of delays in the mail or for some other reason. If the check is not received by the 6th of the month, the beneficiary should contact the San Angelo Social Security Office, Upp said.

The people there will help get the check delivered as soon as possible. The San Angelo office is located at 2214 Sherwood Way. The telephone number is 949-4608.

Extension Office News

by Rachel Hall

If you missed the WTU Baking Program last week, recipe booklets may be obtained at the local WTU office. Some of the baking ideas and recipes are listed.

Christmas baking tips from WTU program:

*Store flour in a cool dry place in an airtight container to retain moisture. For extended storage, flour can be frozen or refrigerated in an airtight container.

*Ovens vary a bit, so check for doneness at the minimum time given, especially the first time you try a recipe. Too hot of an oven causes cakes to peak, while too low oven temperature causes cakes to fall.

*When cooking candy, use a large, heavy metal pan with a smooth bottom. Cook candy over moderate heat so that it comes to a boil gradually. Cooking too rapidly is one cause of a granular texture in creamy candies.

*Lower your oven temperature 25 degrees if you use a light weight baking sheet or any pans other than those made of aluminum. Glass, porcelain, and dark colored aluminum absorb more heat.

Pizza Bread

1 1/2 buttermilk baking mix
2 eggs
1/3 cup milk
1 teaspoon Italian seasoning
1/4 cup chopped green onions
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1 package (3 1/2 ounces) pepperoni, chopped

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Combine baking mix, eggs, milk, and seasoning; stir until ingredients are moistened. Add onion, cheese, and pepperoni; spread in greased 9 inch pie plate. Bake 20 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Serve immediately. 6 to 8 servings.

Investment specialist to speak to Lions

Michael W. Smith from Sonora will have a presentation for the Lions Club at noon on November 20. Michael is an investment specialist with Edward D. Jones Company. He will have an interesting audio/visual program and will answer questions about money management and investments.

Frank Galindo with the Texas Department of Human Services told the club, Nov. 13, about his duties in Child Protective services. He explained the different kinds of child abuse cases he must address. Frank works from the hospital building and he will gladly respond to any child abuse inquiries.

The noon Lions Club board of directors met on the twentieth to discuss the activities of the club. Lions president Garland Davis was satisfied that most of the goals he established earlier are being met. The Lions will meet its many charitable obligations but must carefully manage its funds as there is no excess of capital available.

J.W. Johnigan is in Medical Center Hospital, room 220, in Odessa, where he was taken after sustaining injuries in a fall at his home here Sunday.

Ham Roll-ups
1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
2 tablespoons finely chopped green onion
1/4 cup finely chopped bell pepper
1 can (8 oz) crushed pineapple, drained well
3/4 teaspoon seasoning salt
1/2 cup finely chopped nuts
1 package (12 oz) cooked sliced ham
1 jar (10 oz) stuffed green olives

Combine all ingredients except ham and olives; mix well. Spread cream cheese mixture on each ham slice. Roll up each slice of ham. Chill several hours or overnight. Slice each ham roll into 5 to 6 pieces. Pierce an olive with a toothpick and then secure each ham piece.

5 to 6 dozen ham appetizers.

Microwaved Peanut Patties

2 cups sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup water
1 3/4 cups raw peanuts
2 tablespoons butter
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract
2 - 3 drops red food coloring

Combine sugar, syrup, and water in 2 quart microwave safe dish. Microwave on full power 3 1/2 minutes. Stir in peanuts and continue to microwave on full power for 9 minutes stirring after 5 minutes. Stir in butter, vanilla extract and food coloring. Beat hard with wooden spoon 2 minutes until creamy. Pour into greased miniature muffin pans.

About 24 to 30 patties.

The Savings Really Add Up

with WTU's Energy Saving Plan!

Energy Savings

Your energy savings will really add up when you qualify your home for WTU's Energy Saving Plan. You'll save money in energy bills for years to come when your home meets the energy-efficiency standards of the Energy Saving Plan.

Cash Allowances

WTU's Energy Saving Plan will now pay you larger cash allowances for installing energy-efficient equipment in your home. Consider a central system electric heat pump:

WTU WILL PAY YOU:

$140 per ton	SEER 9.6 & above
$110 per ton	SEER 8.0 to 9.5

To qualify for the cash allowances, your home must meet the E.S.P. requirements and be served electricity by WTU.

Resale Value

An E.S.P. Home will have a better resale value than other homes on the market, because it offers home owners lower energy bills. Energy bills are an important consideration for most families, so your E.S.P. Home will fit into a prospective home buyer's budget easier than a non-E.S.P. Home.

E.S.P. Book

The new E.S.P. Book clearly outlines all of the programs, cash allowances and requirements of the New and Improved Energy Saving Plan. The E.S.P. Book also has specific information on insulation, air infiltration control, energy-efficient equipment and much more!

Pick up your FREE copy of the new E.S.P. Book at any WTU office, and start adding up your savings today!

A View of the World Through The Word

By Ralph O. Moore, Minister
Ozona Church of Christ

The Homeless

The recent spell of cold weather has called attention once again to the plight of the homeless throughout the country. Television newscasts show the down-and-outs huddled together around make-shift stoves in abandoned buildings or sleeping on floor mats in social agency quarters across the land. Newspaper accounts tell of deaths that come to many because there was no place for them to go when the Siberian Express rolled in. They are different, yet alike. Brown, black, white, and yellow they are in the North, South, East and West. But, they all are battered, torn, hungry and homeless.

Have you ever wondered where these people come from? How did they become homeless? Will additional accommodations answer their needs? Some are run-aways, some fugitives, some seeking jobs, and some who are just wandering. They became homeless by purposely leaving good homes, running from the law, or looking for work. Additional shelters and halfway houses could be built, but housing alone will not meet their needs.

It seems strange that some homeless people prefer to sleep on the street, in deserted buildings, or on a park bench with other homeless folks rather than go to shelters provided for them. Maybe they try to avoid being shamed, having to beg, or having to associate with people who don't understand them or their desires. Whatever the reason, some homeless people don't seem to want homes.

The fact remains that these homeless, at one time, had a home. One can understand someone leaving a home where they were mistreated or where there was no provisions made for them, but it's difficult to understand or feel obligated to provide shelter for the rebellious teen who was sick of parental guidance and wanted to "live free", for the habitual criminal who has spurned every attempt at rehabilitation, or for the dead-beat who doesn't want to work for a living. You see the homeless fall into two categories: the helpless homeless and the deliberate homeless.

The helpless homeless are in dire need because of circumstances beyond their control. They need our help. We must not enjoy the warmth of our homes, sip hot chocolate, and fill our plates while these people are feeling the biting chill of winter and experiencing the terror of loneliness.

The deliberate homeless, on the other hand, try to make society feel guilty for their own misguided conduct. They want a place to spend the night and something to eat, but they resist efforts to change their lifestyle from useless to useful. To cater to these types is to encourage their rebellion, crime, or laziness.

Looking at this situation through the Word of God enables one to take some positive action. Jesus, at the time of His birth and at times in His ministry, was homeless. In fact, in His entire sojourn upon this earth, He was away from His heavenly home. His leaving heaven's home was for man's good. He never griped. He did not rebel, cheat, steal, or lie. He was homeless because He came to call sinners home.

Christ established "a home away from home". The church is heaven's extension in caring for man's spiritual need. The lost are invited to "Come Home." The Lord sought the homeless (Lk.19:10) and taught them to remain in His earthly dwelling where accommodations are provided (Eph. 1:3).

But, today, there are homeless souls wandering the world. At one time each of these precious ones were at home with God. Some are lost and seek shelter, some have rebelled against the authority of Christ, some cannot work out their own salvation. These too, fall into categories: the helpless homeless and the deliberate homeless.

The spiritual helpless homeless are those who have lost their way. Sin has robbed them of feeling Christ's warmth in His house and eating at His table. We dare not shun them or refuse to look for them. Their plight and need makes demands on us to bring them home.

The spiritual deliberate homeless are those who walked out seeking to "live free" of Christ's authority or church direction, those who habitually continue in sin, and those who want the blessings of God but refuse to do His work.

My friend, the indications point to a long, cold winter. We will be hearing about the homeless for a long time. As a society, we must direct attention to care for the helpless ones through proper accommodations and provisions. We must also seek to motivate the deliberate ones through instruction toward usefulness. In either case, we don't want to see people freezing or starving to death.

Conditions also point to many souls that are away from God. Christians must aid the helpless ones who have lost their way in finding Christ. We must also rebuke deliberate souls who have rebelled against God and instruct them toward forgiveness in Christ. In either case, we don't want to see souls confined to a devil's hell for eternity.

It's not easy

Parents search for answers

By Jim Gray

A few years ago a desperate mother called my office - she needed to talk to me right away. Her daughter, a beautiful 15 year old sophomore in high school, was having problems. Her grades were falling; she stayed on the phone constantly; she lied frequently; she was sneaking out of the house at night; it was feared she was sexually active; and on, and on, and on. Conflict between mother and daughter was frequent and heated. Dad, a salesman, was out of town during the week, and could not, or would not, help with discipline. Mom was a school teacher, and that made things worse as calls from her daughter's teachers were a constant source of embarrassment for her. Things looked hopeless. Mom was near breakdown, and the daughter was ready to explode because Mom had decreed "no phone, no friends, no nothin'." The cry I heard was "help".

Parenting is easy if you don't have kids, but if you do, it's not always so easy. You might have to change some of the details but you may see yourself in the above story. Where is the help? Let's look to God's word. Ephesians 6:4 tells us "and you, fathers, do not provoke your children to wrath, but bring them up in the training and admonition of the Lord." (New King James)

Why is this passage addressed to fathers? Because fathers are God's constituted authority in the home whether or not they accept that authority and responsibility. A father should exercise leadership in every area of the home including discipline. If he does not, that in itself will create problems. If there is no father in the home, the mother must do the best she can. In a sense, she becomes father and mother. If there is a father in the home but he refuses to accept his responsibility to discipline, the mother has no choice but to provide discipline, but she should always leave the door open to Dad to accept his God-given responsibility when, and if, he will.

What are the guidelines in this passage? First of all, parents are told something they are not to do - "Do not provoke your children to wrath." To provoke means to irritate. Parents irritate or provoke their children when, out of desperation and/or frustration, they resort to extremes in accusation and punishment. How many times do we hear "you never do your homework," or "you never come home on time." The guilty child protests the exaggerated offense, and the parents find themselves defending an indefensible position while the "case at hand" is lost in the shuffle. Or, how about extremes in punishment? Have you ever heard someone else or even yourself say, "go to your room and don't ever come out!" It's embarrassing but isn't that the way it happens? Thus, we provoke them to wrath and they boil over with anger. "Do not provoke your children to wrath."

Secondly, parents are told some things that they are to do. First of all, "bring up" means to nourish tenderly, to provide continuous, loving care to our children. In order to bring them up we are to train and to admonish them. "Training" or "nurturing" as the King James Version has it means that we are, as parents, to provide all that our children need for their development physically, mentally, and spiritually. Proverb 22:6 promises us "train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old, he will not depart from it." Are you training or teaching your children, or are you leaving that up to someone else? Does television have more influence on what our kids believe than we do?

Finally, "admonish them" means to employ corrective discipline. Discipline is either instructive or corrective. Training is instructive discipline, but we are also told in the Proverbs that if we "spare the rod we will spoil the child." Parents who do not discipline their children are undisciplined themselves and disobedient to God's will. Train and discipline - discipline and train - train and discipline - discipline and train. This is obviously not a quick and easy process. If you thought that raising your kids was going to be easy, welcome to the real world. Next week we will look at what God requires of children.

Oh, by the way, remember the mom and daughter and their hopeless situation? After several months of counseling with both, after many gains and as many set-backs, things looked only slightly better than hopeless. However, a few weeks after we moved to Ozona, I received a letter from the daughter thanking me for the time I had spent with her and her mom and telling me that their relationship had really turned around. What had I done? I introduced them to Ephesians 6:1-4, and helped them accept God's guidelines for their lives.

Pleas Childress honored for 50 years service award

The Ozona Masonic Lodge No. 747, A.F. & A.M., was honored to present Pleas Childress, Jr. with a 50-year Masonic service award. This presentation was made in an open meeting, Nov. 17 in the presence of Pleas's wife, Geniece, and other friends and relatives. The gold 50-year pen was awarded by Pleas's cousin, Graham Childress, who is currently serving as Grand Senior Warden of the Grand Lodge of Texas.

Pleas is one of six Childress family members, through the years, to be a member of the Ozona Masonic Lodge. He is also the third Childress to receive a 50-year Masonic service award.

Pleas is an honest, just and upright citizen and exemplifies the teachings of Masonry. The Ozona Masonic Lodge congratulates Pleas on this high and distinguished recognition.

Phone news to The Ozona Stockman.

Thanksgiving services set for Nov. 25

The Annual Community Thanksgiving Service will be hosted by the Templo Bautista Jerusalem Church, on the corner of Santa Rosa and Blas Street. This annual expression of gratitude of the community of Ozona and Crockett County is sponsored by the Ministerial Alliance in connection with local church communities. All are invited to the 7 p.m. service on Tuesday, November 25th and enjoy the fellowship following.

Ministerial Alliance to meet Thurs.

The Ozona Ministerial Alliance meets on Thursday, November 20 at 12:00 noon. The luncheon meeting will be at the Senior Citizen Center on 12th Street. The final arrangements for the Community Thanksgiving Service is on the agenda. All pastors of local churches are invited to attend.

FEAR!

By Rev. Bekie Diaz
Assembly of God Church

Starting a new day should be exciting; yet, for millions of people it is haunted by fear.

What is fear? The dictionary defines it as a "painful emotion marked by alarm or dread or disquiet." Fear began in the Garden of Eden where Adam and Eve disobeyed God. Genesis 3:10.

It has shadowed each member of the human race ever since. We fear as babies. We fear as children. And the fears of our youth seem to multiply and hound us through adulthood and into old age. Rom. 3:23. But not all fear is bad. The Bible repeatedly tells us that the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. Pro. 1:7. Do you have this kind of fear - a reverent respect and awe for God & only those who do can expect to know Him and enjoy His blessings.

Faith in God is the key to overcoming fear. God holds the future. If we fear the future, we do not have faith. If we have faith, we cannot live in fear. Gal. 2:16.

For years David was hounded by King Saul. But God's servant found help: "I sought the Lord and he heard me, and delivered me from all my fears." (Psalm 34:4) David looked to the Lord and found relief.

Psychologists cite four basic fears. The comforting truth is that God, in His word, provides the solution to each one.

The fear of want. "What if I lose my job?" you say. "What if I take a cut in salary or get sick and cannot work?" Are these legitimate fears? The Bible says no, because God is the great Provider. (Ps. 37:25)

The fear of suffering. Suffering - the pain of body or spirit - may be for the glory of God. It may be for the accomplishing of His purposes. Or it may be used to refine our character. Whatever the reason, we can trust the God who permits it, rest on His gracious provision, and leave the outcome totally in His hands. (1 Peter 4:12-13, 19)

The fear of failure. We fear failure because we rely on ourselves and not on the Lord. The first chapter of Joshua gives three good rules for success; go forward, trust God, and be guided by the Word of God. And then, God promises, "I will not fail thee." (v 5)

The fear of death. This is the greatest fear of all, but Jesus says, "I am the resurrection, and the life; he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?" (John 11:25-26) He can make this promise because when He died on the cross, He paid the penalty for man's sin. If we accept this payment, death only leads to eternal life. (John 19:30) God does deliver us from a fear-filled world, and from all our personal fears; but only as we believe Him. Mat. 8:26.

Have a nice day and let the spirit of the Lord have His way in your life. Lord Bless You!

Clayton and Jeannette Robinson work together to promote personal service for the citizens of Ozona. "Hats off" to the employees of Clayton's Village Drug.

Business of the week - Personal service most important at Clayton's

[In an effort to better acquaint Ozonans with their local merchants, the following story features Clayton's Village Drug in our business appreciation series. A different business will be selected each week.]

By Connie Jennings

Personal service ... that is the outstanding priority amongst customer services in the minds of Clayton and Jeannette Robinson of Clayton's Village Drug in Ozona. "I've gotten out of bed at one o'clock in the morning to go get a pacifier for a customer," says Clayton. But, as troublesome as that may seem, that's the way he wants it. Clayton Robinson worked for Walgreen's Drug Store in Odessa for a year-and-a-half while completing his internship. "We filled four to five hundred prescriptions a day and many days never saw a customer," he says outwardly disturbed about the past experience. "There was a clerk in front of who would meet customers and then bring the prescription back to be filled."

Robinson went to Okinawa for 14 months on tour duty with the United States Marine Corps after completing high school in Odessa. He returned and married his high school sweetheart, Jeannette, of whom he said, "That's who I'm gonna marry!" the first time he ever saw her. "I can always remember our [June 6th] anniversary, because it's also the anniversary of the invasion of Normandy," Robinson confesses.

After marriage, Robinson worked as an operator for Shell Refinery for three years in Odessa and then decided to go to college. He graduated from the University of Houston in 1972 with a Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy, and it was then that the Robinsons returned to Odessa for Clayton to complete his internship.

The Village Drug, owned by Ray Boyd, was searching for a relief pharmacist at about the time Robinson was becoming annoyed with the impersonal aspects of large chain stores. Robinson worked in Ozona for Boyd only one day and returned to Odessa raving, according to Mrs. Robinson. "He flew me down the next weekend to look at the town," says Jeannette. "I don't think he wanted me to know what a long, deserted drive it was," she surmises. She was sold on the idea, and here they came, mobile home and all.

The Robinsons bought the store from Boyd in 1980 and formed a corporation. They rearranged the department locations and saw a 40 percent increase in sales the first year. The notorious soda fountain, however, remained the same. "I'm feeding the kids' kids now," says Katy Maney, 17-year employee. The store employs seven in all.

Daughter Danette, 13, helps out at times. Younger daughter, Kellye, age 10, will be coming around before long. Both girls were adopted as newborn babies. Danette was six months old and declared legally a "Robinson" the day of the move to Ozona. A social worker was scheduled to make a routine inspection of the baby's home, and when Jeannette opened the door to let the social worker in, she found none other than a long lost cousin with a big smile on her face. "You could have saved me a lot of worry," Jeannette told her, even though she knew there was nothing to worry about.

Kellye became part of the family in similar style, however the Robinsons were already residents of Ozona when she was born. A lawyer in Odessa picked her up from the hospital and took her to "Grandma's" house for the few hours it took the new family to make the trip to Odessa. Big sister was always convinced that babies come from grandma's house.

The store was one of the first establishments in The Village. Among the most profitable changes since early years has been the computer system. It has taken over the work of one clerk and saved endless hours of filing. The system is capable of everything from A to Z as far as a pharmacy is concerned. 30 minutes of report compiling by hand is easily printed out in 10 seconds for patients. Convenience . . . it's becoming more and more the name of the game.

The Robinsons watched the economy drop in 1983. "It hasn't been the same since the highway crew left and the oil and gas industry fell off at the same time," Clayton realizes. "An improvement in local medical facilities would help some. The detention center would help a lot, but it won't cure the problem," he adds speaking of the proposed detention facility at Crockett Heights. Robinson serves as vice-president of the board.

The Robinsons stay busy with church work as well as hobbies. The First Baptist Church of Ozona sponsors the town of Los Norillas, Mexico, and Clayton and Jeannette make periodic trips carrying medicine, clothes, and supplies to the citizens 270 miles from Ozona. "We're where we're supposed to be," says Mrs. Robinson. "We've always felt that way."

Crockett County Care Center News

by JoAnne Marshall

Monday was spent relaxing in the lobby and visiting with our pet, Lady Bretany.

Tuesday morning's bingo volunteers were: Dorothy Doll, Mattie Cooper, Georgia Kirby, Sophie Kyle, Lillian Tambunga, and Nancy Forehand. The El Chatos gift certificate was won by Ola Mills. It being Veterans Day, a special game was played for an American flag. Sam Martinez was the lucky winner. Winners of various small prizes were: Tomasa Ramos, Maggie Crawford, Edna Wallace, Theo Burns, Rebekah West and Alice Ross.

Tuesday afternoon, the monthly residents' birthday party was held, honoring Floy Clare Short, Alice Ross, Jean Beardmore, Moriama Perez, and Lucia Rios. The Senior Girl Scouts, under the leadership of Mrs. Thelma Janes, hosted the party. The girls were Stephanie Heffner, Janet King, Helen Lukima, Angie Marshall, Edna Olivira and Stephanie Rice. The cake, made in the shape of a pumpkin, party favors, and punch were made and served by the girls. Thank you girls, it was a very nice party.

Ceramic pieces ranging from turkeys to Christmas trees were worked on in Wednesday's ceramic work shop. Residents attending were: Ola Mills, Juana Hernandez, Moriama Perez and Tomasa Ramos. Marie Pierson and Ruth Hester were the helpful volunteers.

Wednesday afternoon, the following residents were kept busy in the dining room making oatmeal and raisin cookies for the style show: Juana Hernandez, Tomasa Ramos, Moriama Perez, Lucia Rios, Bertha Miller, and Virginia Hoover. The volunteer for this activity was Angie Marshall. Needless to say, the cookies were great.

Volunteers Vivian Hughes, Joann Williamson, Lola Rios, and Clara Byrd not only styled hair in Thursday morning's beauty shop, but also uplifted residents spirits with friendly conversation.

Clara and our own resident, Inez Biggs, further uplifted spirits by playing joyful piano music. Residents joined in a sing-along.

Thursday afternoon, the Spanish Hour of Praise was presented by Germana Onofre, Anita Fierro, Maruca Vitela and Norma Flores. The hymns, sung in Spanish, sounded lovely.

It was Ola Mills' lucky day Friday. She won three bingo games. A necklace with matching earrings were among the prizes she won. Other prize winners were: Edna Wallace, Tomasa Ramos, Theo Burns, Rebekah West

Gutierrez is awarded

Emilio L. Gutierrez with the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation in Ozona was presented a certificate of Service honoring him with 5 years of service.

Emilio began work for the DHT in 1981 in Crockett County as a Maintenance Technician I under Cecil F. Hedrick, Maintenance Construction Supervisor III. He has been promoted to the position of Maintenance Technician II where his duties include truck driver, roller operator, signman and crew member.

The presentation was made by District Roadway Maintenance Superintendent Carol W. Templeton and was accompanied by a letter of congratulations from District Engineer Ben W. Bohuslav on his long and dedicated service and hoped his continued service would be pleasant and productive.

SONORA-OZONA SEWING CLUB

Elizabeth Hemphill's home in Sonora was the meeting place for the Sonora-Ozona Sewing Club, Tuesday. Attending from Ozona were Mary Friend, Benny Gail Hunnicutt and Marie Pierson.

J.D. and Lillian Brown and Ray and Marie Pierson square danced in Crane with the Castle Gap Square Dance Club Saturday night.

Forest Henderson attended the High Hopes Dance in the Suez Temple, San Angelo, Saturday night.
