Dr. Wayne Hayenga, Extension Economist and Management Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service from College Station will be at the Civic Center in Ozona on Tuesday, January 27 at 7:00 p.m. to discuss the 1986 Tax Reform Bill and its effects and implications on agricultural producers.

Dr. Hayenga is very knowledgeable on the tax reform bill and its implications. Some of the major topics that will be discussed are: changes in tax brackets, capital gains, depreciation schedule and the elimination of investment tax credit and income tax credit.

This program is being sponsored by the Extension Livestock and Range Committee.

Williams is speaker for Lions Club

Stephen Williams, manager of West Texas Utilities Company in Ozona will present the program to the Lions Club at noon on January 22. Steve will have a slide presentation about the production and delivery of electricity. He will also answer any questions about electric service in Ozona.

Geniece Childress gave an outstanding program to the Lions on January 15. Mrs. Childress brought a number of Indian artifacts and showed slides covering the outstanding Indian display that can be seen at the Museum. Crockett County residents should be proud of the fine museum and its director Geniece Childress as they are truly an asset to our community.

In other business, the Club treasurer gave a financial report that indicated funds are running low. The Lions Club must have some successful fund raising events if it is to fulfill its many obligations.

Sesquicentennial wrap up

The Ozona Womens League along with historical society members, met last week at Ozona National Bank to deposit a time capsule in the vault to be opened on the occasion of the 200th birthday of the State of Texas. Among the items deposited were a silver Sesquicentennial coin [donated by the bank], a 1986 school year book, graduation programs and Ozona newspapers.

Questa sets four gas wells for Crockett County fields

Questa Oil & Gas Co. of Denver today announced that it closed a $434,000 private drilling program in December and is proceeding with the drilling of eight oil and gas wells in Texas. The wells are expected to be completed by March 30.

The 1986 Program is targeting five gas wells, four in Crockett County and one in Hansford County; and three oil wells, one each in Irion, Borden and Garza counties. Each of the oil prospects, located on 640-acre tracts, has three potential offset locations.

The gas wells will be drilled to depths of between 6,000 and 7,500 feet and the oil wells will be drilled to depths of between 7,250 and 8,500 feet. The 1986 Program will retain working interests of between 6.25 and 33.25 percent in the eight wells.

"We are very encouraged to be able to raise these funds in what is a depressed environment for most oil investments," said Questa President Warren Meeks. "We see current conditions as offering an excellent opportunity for companies like ours, with low debt and sufficient capital, to acquire both exploratory and producing properties."

Since it was organized in 1981, the Company has completed six private drilling programs, which have raised a total of more than $4.6 million. The majority of the Company's exploration has been conducted through funds raised by its limited partnerships. Questa now has interests in 70 producing wells and is the operator on 35 of them.

Questa Oil & Gas Co. is based in Denver and has an exploration office in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Its producing properties are located in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and North Dakota. The Company is publicly-held and its stock is traded in the over-the-counter market.

Production opened in county field

San Andres gas production was opened in the Vaughn multipay field of Crockett county with completion of Wintershall Corp., Midland No. 33 J.M. Shannon Estate "B", 16 miles northwest of Ozona, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 580,000 cubic feet of dry gas daily.

Production was through perforations at 1,346-514 feet, which had been acidized with 12,750 gallons.

The following tops were picked on ground elevation of 2,637 feet: Queen, 994 feet; Grayburg, 1,214 feet; McElroy, 1,268 feet; and San Andres, 1,344 feet.

Drilled to 1,600 feet, with 5 1/2-inch casing set at 1,596 feet, it was plugged back to 1,552 feet.

Location is 1,320 feet from the north and 1,980 feet from the east line of 4-UV-GC&SF Survey.

Indian Wells Oil Co., San Angelo, will drill the No. 3 Montgomery "17" in the Canyon sand gas area of the Ozona multipay field of Crockett County, 14 miles southwest of Ozona.

Location is 1,700 feet from the south and 1,000 feet from the west lines of 17-NG-GC&SF Survey. Contract depth is 6,800 feet and ground elevation is 2,436 feet.

Two Crockett County fields were extended recently.

Strawn gas production was extended a 1/2 mile southeast in the Ozona, Northeast multipay field of Crockett County, with completion of J. Cleo Thompson, Dallas, No. 2 P.L. Childress "E", 13 miles east-northeast of Ozona, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 2,950,000 cubic feet of gas daily, with gas-liquid ratio covered trees, shrubs, highlines and streets. When it began to thaw Monday, the sound was akin to breaking glass all over town.

Bids in for plant construction

Election returns three directors

The three incumbent directors of the Crockett County Water District were returned to office in an election Saturday. Sixty-three votes were cast, including absentee.

Dan Davidson polled 57 votes, Harold Shaw, 60; Gene Perry 56, and Joe Moran 12.

Bids for construction of the waste water plant have been received and the board will accept the low bid in its meeting tonight.

Following this action several documents must be submitted to the Texas Water Development Board. After paper work is completed and funds released, construction will follow within 30 to 45 days.

While there may be some job openings for laborers, Dee Keilers, Water District manager, said most of the contractors bring their own crews. Time of completion is 150 days.

Site for the new facility is two miles south of Ozona on Johnson Draw. Negotiations for the site began in 1980, but litigation from a downstream property owner has held up construction until recently.

Plans for the facility have been underway for almost 20 years. The present facility was condemned by the state prior to 1980. Former manager Bill Cooper had plans drawn up for a new plant shortly after the Interstate 10 right-of-way was secured. A suitable site could not be found, and construction was delayed time and time again.

Permits for the facility have been issued by the Water Development Board and the Environmental Protection Agency.

Freezing rain covers Ozona in sheath of ice

Freezing rain left just a trace of rainfall in rain gauges, but managed to bury Ozona in a sheet of ice Saturday and Sunday.

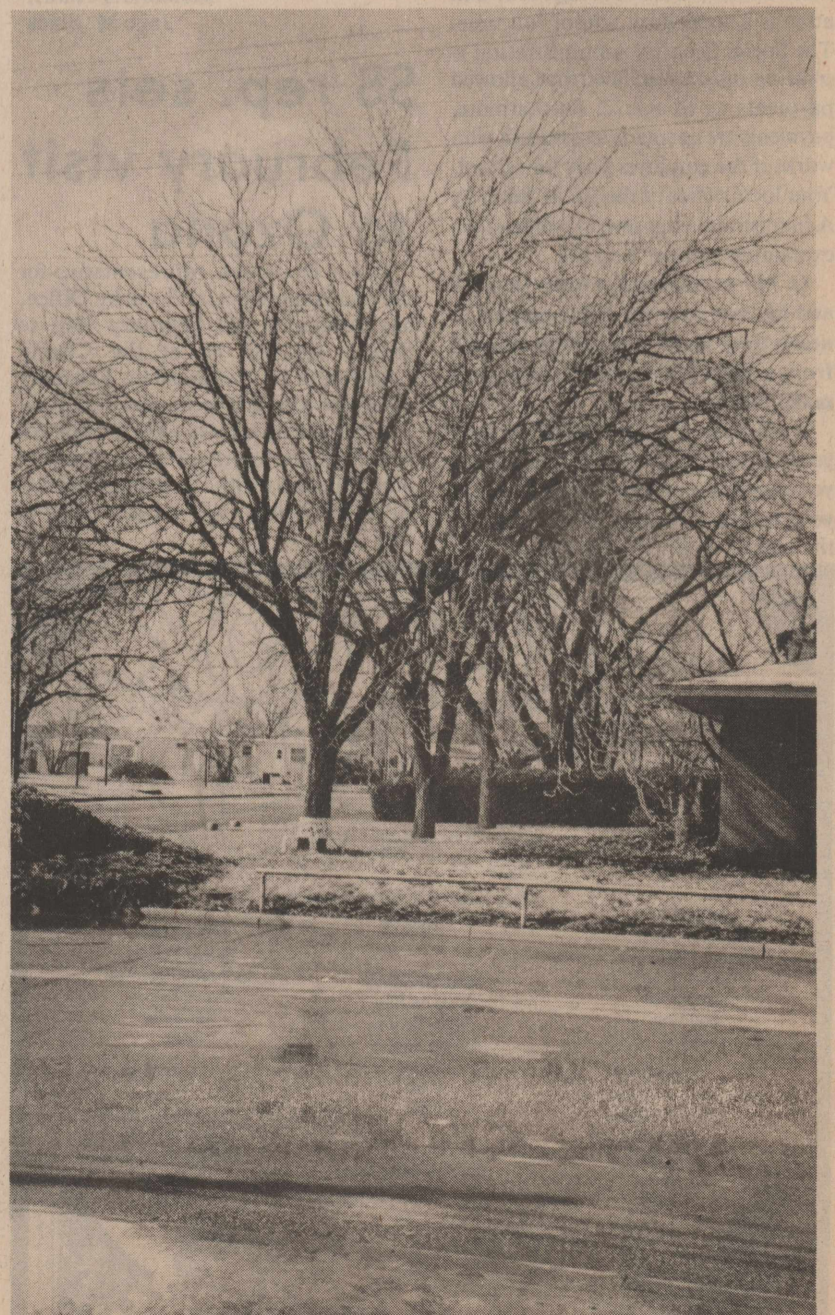

The intermittent mist fell Friday throughout the day, but roads did not become hazardous until a hard freeze hit the area early Saturday morning. The temperature failed to get above the freezing mark all day Saturday and Saturday afternoon sleet and some snow fell.

Road crews spent several hours sanding streets and highways, still there were several fender-benders and one potentially bad wreck on I-10 Saturday morning involving a van and trailer. This occurred at the overpass on Hwy. 163.

Heavy ice on utility lines caused electricity to fail briefly Saturday night in some areas, and for almost two hours in one part of town.

The sun was out Sunday, but temperatures were still below the freezing mark for most of the day. A cold north wind brought the chill factor to near zero and the mercury dipped into the teens Sunday night. As the temperature rose Monday the thaw set in, and falling ice created hazardous conditions for pedestrians.

Monday gave a brief respite from the bitter cold, but another front moved in Tuesday, and at mid-afternoon it was a cold 35 degrees in downtown Ozona, with snow and freezing rain predicted for the evening hours.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

Since the cold of December and this month has kept most planting postponed, the next three months should be busy ones if the weather permits. Container grown nursery stock can be planted later in the spring, but get established better if given time for roots to start growing before the days get too hot.

Some fruit trees are trouble free for they are seldom bothered by either insects, diseases or partial neglect. They need lots of sun and deep, fertile, well-drained soil for best growth. After planting, water plants thoroughly every three to five rainless days. Fertilize in early spring as new growth begins, then again in late spring and mid-summer. (5-10-10 is a good one to use.) Broadcast the fertilizer around the base of the tree and out as far as the drip line.

With careful selection of nursery plants, you may be able to find plants that have already developed a pleasing form. If not, prune plants at planting time to initiate a well-shaped tree. Some considered suitable for local growing conditions: the locust, a favorite, is a bush, sub-tropical evergreen shrub grown as an ornamental in most of the south. They can be grown as specimens, accents, tall plants for patio or deck or hedges. Pomegranates, although often thought of as unusual fruits, are hardy in much of the south and are often used as ornamentals in home gardens. They can be used as borders, specimens or the dwarf types as edgings, backgrounds, for flower beds, foundation planting, or container specimens. Few plants are easier to grow than elderberries. They are fast-growing shrubs that bear enormous clusters of tiny white flowers in late spring, holding their bloom for several weeks. Unpruned, the plants become tall, upright, multi-stemmed trees that make good specimens, accents, or tall base plantings.

Bananas are interesting for their tropical foliage, but seldom fruit here. Mass them together in a corner of a fence or wall for best landscape effect. Protect them from severe freezes.

Light Beef Barbeque

A tender, juicy steak cooked to perfection needs only a luscious green salad and a warm French roll to become a delicious feast. Steak and salad, America's favorite duo, can be a dieter's friend when chosen and prepared with calories in mind. Since salad dressings can contain many hidden calories, use herbs such as basil, oregano, or tarragon mixed with lemon juice or flavored vinegar for a low-calorie dressing.

Select cuts of meat with little visible fat, and trim the remaining fat after cooking. If you marinate the steak before grilling for extra flavor and tenderness, use an oil-free marinade. Tarragon, chopped onion, and wine flavor this marinade recipe. The wine and lemon juice help tenderize the top round, a lean yet less tender cut of beef.

As a piece of beef cooks, water and fat cook out of the meat. If you start with a piece of meat that does not contain much fat, such as a well-trimmed piece of top round, watch cooking time carefully so that you do not lose the juiciness so characteristic of beef. Cook to rare, or not past medium, to prevent a dry texture. Place the meat on a preheated broiler, or hot coals, so the exterior browns quickly, holding in the juices.

This recipe gives the ingredients and techniques for enjoying a juicy, grilled beef barbeque while controlling calories.

LIGHT BEEF BARBEQUE

- 1/2 cup dry red wine
  - 1/4 cup water
  - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
  - 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
  - 1 teaspoon dried tarragon
  - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
  - 1 pound beef top round steak
- Mix all ingredients except steak. Trim outside layer of fat from steak. Place steak in glass baking dish. Pour marinade over steak; turn to coat. Cover and refrigerate, turning steak occasionally for 24 hours, no longer than 48 hours.
- Cook steak on barbeque grill 4 inches from medium hot coals 12 to 15 minutes per side for rare or until desired doneness. Turn steak only once and baste occasionally with marinade. 4 servings.

Nutrient data per serving (based upon adult female's 2000-calorie diet): 164 calories; 58 percent protein RDA; 14 percent iron RDA; 9 percent thiamin RDA; 18 percent riboflavin RDA; 37 percent niacin RDA; 57 mg cholesterol; 5 g fat.

TP&WD seeking wildlife information

"Crockett County landowners and ranch foremen have the opportunity to provide valuable deer and other game harvest data for our Department," says Mary Haecker, Wildlife Technician with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in Sonora.

"Every person who was issued antlerless deer tags this year should have a landowner receipt card with the tags. At the bottom of the receipt card are 4 questions asking how many animals or birds of several species were harvested on the specific tract during the past hunting season. If the person in charge of the tags will see to it that the requested information is put on the card and that the card is stamped and mailed to the address on the back of the card, our department will get a valuable insight into the overall harvest that took place in Crockett County during the 1986 hunting season." Haecker stressed that "We need the cards back as soon as possible after the season ends on Sunday, January 4. If the cards are too late, we can't use them in developing our harvest estimates. Also, even if nothing was harvested on the specific tract of land, the returned card, with all zeroes, still gives us important data on the harvest rate."

Use common sense to keep pets healthy

Take one look at the amount of pet food displayed in a typical grocery store and you'll have a clue to the popularity of pets in America. The Texas Medical Association says common-sense hygiene and attention to recommended immunizations can help pets and their owners avoid health problems.

Health problems caused by pets can include allergic reactions, bites, and infections. An allergic reaction (such as asthma or sneezing) is generally rather easy to spot and, unfortunately, treatment usually is removal of the pet from the household.

It is estimated that more than one-half million animal bites occur in the United States each year, and the dog is the most common offender. The major problems posed by bites are wound infections caused by bacteria. Careful washing of a wound and leaving it open after a bite are important measures in preventing an infection from developing. Humans should be immunized with tetanus toxoid and all cats and dogs should receive rabies immunizations.

To many people, the most worrisome problem posed by household pets is that they might transmit infections. Although a number of such diseases can be listed, the most important point is that most of them are rare.

Toxoplasmosis is one parasitic disease that humans can acquire by contact with feces (in litterpans and soil) from infected cats. When contracted during pregnancy, transmission to the fetus can produce blindness, mental retardation, and other serious birth defects. Pregnant women should wash their hands after handling cats and should avoid handling game populations occurring in Crockett County, and to determine the impact that annual harvest, changes in habitat, and other important factors have on the local animal populations," Haecker said. "We utilize these annual county harvest figures, along with other important game population data, to justify maintaining current harvest regulations or when proposing new regulations for the county."

Haecker, commenting on the situation here in Crockett County, said, "Last year, we received only 31 returned cards from the 140 tracts of land that we issued to in Crockett County during the 1985 season. The returned cards resulted in an estimated harvest of 1,883 bucks, 1,357 does, and 130 turkeys. This year, we've issued to about 148 tracts comprising approximately 1,456,003 acres. Hopefully, more landowners will submit the requested harvest information this year, and we'll end up with a reliable estimate of the 1986 harvest in Crockett County. I sure appreciate the landowners cooperation when they provide our department with any requested data, since without their assistance, it would be very difficult to obtain important information about our valuable game populations."

"The data allows us to monitor the

Sweaty palms are common problem during stress

Sweaty palms are a common problem in stressful situations such as job interviews, but for some people this problem reaches extremes.

About one of every 2,000 people has excessive sweating of the palms, or palmar hyperhidrosis, according to the Texas Medical Association's journal, Texas Medicine. This disorder causes a person to avoid shaking or holding hands and leads to social withdrawal.

The problem also affects a person's work. Truck drivers lose control of the steering wheel; electricians suffer electrical shocks; pianists ruin the wooden piano keys; bartenders drop bottles; students blur the ink on their writing paper.

The cause of excessively sweaty palms is unknown. The problem is not related to air temperature but is worsened by emotional stress.

The Texas Medicine article describes the case of a dental student who had to stop working several times an hour to wipe her sweating hands. She started wearing surgical gloves but had to change them at least every hour because the sweat collected within the gloves and dripped out of the cuffs onto her patients. At stressful social occasions, sweat would fall freely from her hands in droplets. A 28-year-old accounting supervisor with life-long sweaty palms could not drive a car without power steering and was unable to hold onto a softball bat or grasp gymnastic bars.

Another case involved a 27-year-old truck driver whose sweaty palms caused him to accidentally drive his car into a ditch. And a 12-year-old girl had to quit piano lessons because her sweating warped her teacher's piano keys.

Fortunately for all of these patients, surgery on certain nerves of the spinal cord solved the problem. Surgery is considered when the problem is significantly affecting a patient's daily activities and other treatments have failed.

Applying special creams, gels, or solutions to the hands is sometimes effective in the mildest cases of palmar hyperhidrosis. Other medications are taken orally, and radiation therapy is sometimes effective. Psychotherapy may reduce the anxiety that increases the sweating.

Mrs. Tommy Wilson returned to her home here Saturday after recuperating from surgery last week in a San Angelo hospital.

John Gabriel Vasquez celebrated his tenth birthday Monday, Jan. 19, with a fajita supper and slumber party hosted by his parents.

Judge and Mrs. Troy Williams are in Austin for the inaugural festivities for Governor-elect Bill Clements.

Douglas Stuart of Washington, D.C. is here this week visiting his parents, Wanda and B.W. Stuart, and his grandmother, Mrs. Ray Dunlap, along with other relatives.

Wade Garlitz of San Antonio, was here this week, visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Clay Adams.

Socorro Maldonado celebrated her birthday Monday.

New power station OKLAUNION POWER STATION - fired power plant now in operation near Vernon. West Texas Utilities Co.'s new coal-

New coal-fired plant generate all power in peak usage times

With its new Oklaunion Power Station in commercial operation, West Texas Utilities Co. is again capable of generating all the power its customers will need during the peak usage period of hot summertime.

The peak demand for electricity exceeded the capacity of WTU's installed general stations several summers ago and additional power had to be purchased from neighboring utility companies.

"This means that we literally have grown into this new power plant," explained Walter Meller, WTU's manager of system production.

"Often, when a new plant is brought on line it creates an immediate huge surplus of general capacity. In our case, completion of Oklaunion was timed to coincide with our needs."

The coal-burning Oklaunion unit eight miles southeast of Vernon has a net rated capacity of 665 megawatts, which is more than half the 1,070 megawatt capacity of all of WTU's gas-fired plants. WTU owns 54.69 percent, or 370 megawatts, of the new plant, which is the first jointly-owned unit in the Central and Southwest System. Other owners are Public Service Co. of Oklahoma and Central Power and Light Co., both members of CSW; the Oklahoma Municipal Power Authority and the City of Brownsville.

The new plant was officially declared commercial December 24. The power is under control of a central dispatcher in Abilene, who economically loads the various generating units in the WTU system.

As Plant Manager Chuck Adami of Vernon explains it, "When the load increases, the unit that can make the next kilowatt the cheapest is the one that is brought on line."

Adami's staff includes 126 employees, who work in shifts to keep the plant running 24 hours a day. Most of the staff has been on the site for several months involved in training and start-up operations.

Construction at Oklaunion was begun in May 1982, and almost all the news regarding the plant since then has been good. The best news is that it was completed on time and under original cost estimates.

The plant will provide over 25 percent of WTU's operating capacity and will end the Company's almost total reliance on natural gas as boiler fuel. The low-sulphur coal comes by rail from Wyoming. Each delivery averages from 100-115 cars, with each car holding 100 tons of coal. About 300 tons will be burned an hour when the plant is in full operation.

The plant is one of the most modern in existence. Equipment includes the most up-to-date pollution control facilities and complies with all air quality control requirements.

4-H in Texas serves large number of boys and girls

There are 305,000 Texas youth between the ages of 9 and 19 that are members of the action-oriented, "learning by doing" program called 4-H, points out Billy Reagor, county 4-H program leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

4-H is the youth share of the educational efforts of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, established in 1915 to diffuse among the people practical information relating to agriculture and home economics.

However, 4-H goes back farther than that. 4-H actually had its beginning in 1908 in Jack County when a boys' corn club was organized to help grow better corn. Shortly thereafter, girls got involved as organized groups such as tomato clubs, canning clubs and poultry clubs.

4-H in Texas has grown from an organization for farm boys and girls to one that is quite diverse in its makeup, Reagor points out. Girls and boys are about equal in number in the program. Current figures shown 152,499 girls to 152,533 boys.

About 66 percent of today's 4-H'ers - 203,447 - come from towns and cities larger than 50,000 people. More than 33,000 still live on farms and ranches while more than 46,000 live in small towns and rural non-farm areas. Another 22,000 live in towns and cities with a population of 10,000 to 50,000. Of these 4-H'ers, more than 62,000 are active in 1,887 community 4-H clubs. The remaining 243,000 4-H'ers participate in 4-H through a number of different programs.

Assisting county Extension agents and the Texas 4-H staff to carry out effective learning activities and programs are some 21,000 volunteer leaders, says Reagor. 4-H relies heavily on volunteer leaders to organize 4-H activities and to conduct worthwhile learning experiences for 4-H boys and girls. Volunteer leaders are a vital cog in the total program, from recruitment to providing expertise in teaching various subject areas. Of course, 4-H welcomes any interested individuals to join the volunteer leader ranks.

4-H continues to be a vibrant organization that is leading the way in helping youth to learn practical skills and to gain a knowledge of their environment that will make them better citizens and leaders of tomorrow, Reagor points out.

Reduce stress in caring for Alzheimer patient with help

Seeking information and obtaining outside help are the most effective ways to reduce stress that can result from caring for someone with Alzheimer's disease, according to the January issue of Texas Medicine.

Seeking information about the disease can help raise the awareness of the family about personal adjustments and time requirements that will enable them to better prepare for the impending stress, write the authors from Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

Illnesses which prove most disruptive, and thus most stressful, are those that produce psychological alterations, they write. While the majority of Alzheimer patients are cared for by family members, little has been written about the stress caused by progressive mental diseases, add Jean Pearson Scott, P.N. McKenzie, D. Slack, and Dr. J. Thomas Hutton.

In their study of 21 persons who were primary caregivers for a family member with Alzheimer's disease, the authors found that certain coping strategies contributed to stress. These are an increase in the amount of time spent with the patient, disruption in sleep patterns, and a change in recreational activities. "It is surprising, that the strategy of future planning was not more strongly associated with decrease in stress," according to the article in the official journal of the Texas Medical Association. "In fact, planning appears to be more indicative of a stress increase (34.7 percent) rather than a stress reduction...this may be due to the progressive deterioration of the disease and acknowledged lack of cure."

"It is also important to note that most of the coping strategies associated with an increase in stress involved a change or modification of the personal life of the caregiver," write the authors. They add that strategies such as changes in recreational activities, sleep patterns, time commitments, and financial status are inherent in the role of a primary caregiver.

The article also suggests that health care practitioners can play a valuable role in providing needed information and encouraging the use of outside assistance for persons caring for an Alzheimer patient.

Apply for SS number before it is needed

People in the San Angelo area who plan to apply for a Social Security number should remember to apply at least 2 weeks before they will need the number, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

It takes this time to process the application, evaluate the evidence, search the files at Social Security headquarters, and to issue and mail the Social Security number card.

When applying, a person must have evidence of age, identity, and citizenship or legal alien status, Franklin H. Upp said. In addition, a person 18 or over applying for the first time must apply in person.

The best evidence of age and citizenship is a public record of birth issued before age 5. If this is not available, religious records established before age 5 may be considered. Only if these are not available can other evidence be submitted, Upp said.

Evidence of identity can be any document showing identification data such as a physical description, photograph, or signature. Examples include driver's license, voter's registration, school record, report card, identification card, marriage record, draft card, military ID, building pass, adoption record, court order for name change, clinic, doctor, or hospital record, or organization membership.

People applying for a duplicate card to replace one lost must provide evidence of their identity. Also, a person who wants to change his or her name in Social Security records must provide evidence of identity under both the old and new names.

Lions hand opponents five losses during week

By Lisa Colin

Last week, both the Lion varsity and JV competed in district games against Rankin and McCamey. The varsity Lions also competed against Stanton. In all five games, the boys successfully defeated their opponents with a certain awe.

The varsity team's first game of the week was played against the Rankin Red Devils. The Lions demolished Rankin 87-48 with no trouble whatsoever in what seemed to be a workout for the boys rather than a district game. Leading the scoring drive was Will Seahorn with 23 followed by Roger Flores with 13. Scott Denman wasn't far behind with a total of 12 points, and following him was Mike Morrow with 9. Others scoring for the team were Abel Lara with 8, Sam Hightower with five, Chi Flores with 4, Oscar Payne with 3, and Derold Vargas with 2.

The boys' second game was seemingly closer with a 55-44 win over the McCamey Badgers. Although the competition was much stiffer in this game, Ozona led all four quarters and had a very successful game. Scott Denman contributed 20 points for the team, followed by Roger Flores with 10. Will Seahorn added seven points to the scoreboard and Mike Morrow also scored 7. Others contributing points for the Lions were Sam Hightower with 6 and Danny Sanchez and Abel Lara, both with 2.

The Lions' final competition of the week was a 53-43 victory for the Lions. Stanton was leading at the end of the first half but the boys made a comeback and went on to win the game. Mike Morrow scored the majority of the points with 17 followed by Scott Denman with 15. Also included in scoring points were Sam Hightower with 10, Abel Lara with 9, and Roger Flores with 2.

In the JV division, the Lion's first win of the week was a 63-50 victory over Rankin. The boys played well both offensively and defensively scoring 32 points in the first half and 31 in the second. Pete Ramirez led the team in scoring with 14 points, followed by Lalo Rodriguez and Oscar Galindo with 10 points each. Chris Denman scored eight points while Roger Martinez contributed 6. Others scoring were Copie Davis and Jason Tumlinson with 4, Tommy Tucker with 3, and Sotero Fuentes and Robby Tambunga with two points each.

The JV Lions last competition of the week was a 52-42 victory over McCamey. In the first half Ozona jumped ahead to a 27-14 lead and McCamey attempted a comeback in the second half, but to no avail. Scoring for the boys were Lalo Rodriguez with 15, followed by Pete Ramirez with 12. Chris Denman contributed 8 points to the score, while Oscar Galindo contributed 6. George Ybarra scored 4, followed by Robbie Tambunga, Roger Martinez, Tommy Tucker, and Jason Tumlinson all with two.

State officials express concern about future tourism in Texas

State officials are praising the Sesquicentennial as a positive promotion for Texas but are expressing concern about the success of future tourism as negative publicity about the state's uncertain economy continues to spread.

"Through the eyes of Texas tourism, the Sesquicentennial was a bright success," said Larry Todd, executive director for the Texas Tourist Development Agency (TTDA). "The celebration resulted in millions of dollars in free national and international publicity; inspired many Texans to vacation in the state; and boosted TTDA's advertising budget with $350,000 in royalties from sales of official merchandise."

Patrick Terry, executive director for the Sesquicentennial Commission agreed with Todd.

"Texas had the longest wagon train in history, the world's largest birthday cake, the world's largest coordinated fireworks display, a visit from Prince Charles, the "Lone Star" PBS series, television movies about the Alamo and Sam Houston, and the prime-time "Texas 150 -- A celebration Special" which was seen in 11 million homes," Terry said. "How can anybody call those results disappointing when it didn't cost the taxpayers anything?"

During the first four months of 1986, when many historical events took place, the eyes of the world were on Texas. Most national magazines featured stories on the "London Times" and "Le Figaro" -- sent journalists to Texas for stories. That was the kind of publicity money can't buy.

Of course not all was perfect with the year.

"The sale of official souvenirs wasn't what we expected but the year ended on a positive note with the Christmas season," Terry said. "We won't have any sales figures for another four weeks but the royalty fund could reflect a significant increase from the holiday season. Sure, I was a bit disappointed that more souvenirs didn't sell but that's a sign of the economy."

The negative publicity about Texas' economic woes are beginning to worry tourism officials.

"There's no doubt the negative exposure will hurt Texas tourism unless we can counter with positive stories and more national advertising," said Rupert Richards, chairman of the Texas Tourist Development Board. "Tourists will think we are a rusting, dust bowl economy if the negative publicity continues."

"The entire country has begun to realize the importance of tourism and travel to each state's economy. Texans were beginning to realize it too, but there wasn't enough money to maintain even previous advertising levels," Richards said.

"Economic stories must be reported accurately but some of the stories are giving potential tourists a poor impression of Texas. If we continue to talk about how bad the economy is, with out advertising the virtues, potential tourists will stay away in droves. Texas must advertise the opportunities we offer to the traveler. We not only have to overcome the state's economic difficulties but we have to compete against other states and countries that have more money for advertising than we," Todd said.

The agency requested a budget of $5.2 million for national advertising and a toll free response number for each of the next two years.

"That's what it's going to take to keep Texas in its position in the international and domestic market place," Todd said. "Travelers like to visit the 'in' places and Texas is certainly a super place, but we must continue to show tourists that we offer them the best economic buy in the country."

TTDA is responsible for advertising and promoting Texas in foreign and domestic markets to attract visitors to the state. The agency returns three dollars to the state tax coffers for each one dollar of advertising monies spent.

The U.S. Travel Data Center in Washington D.C. reported that travelers to Texas spent $16 Billion in 1985. TTDA hopes that figure will increase for 1986 due to the Sesquicentennial and other factors.

1987 Goals for the Library

CCPL has set some new goals to achieve in 1987. Plans are being made for a Book Sale. The Library is getting quite a collection of all types of books that we either have several copies of the same book, or books are all in good condition and will make excellent additions to your home library. July 4th is the proposed date of the sale. This will be held at the Library in conjunction with other 4th of July events scheduled in Ozona.

CCPL is also planning to continue with our Landscaping. Now that the Sprinkler System is in and grass established, we plan to plant shrubs and trees and to build a backyard patio to enhance the look of the Library and provide a pretty setting for Library and Public events and functions. These trees and plantings would make lovely lasting memorials. The Library will furnish plaques for memorial gifts.

CCPL plans to greatly expand our reference collection in 1987. We have had a lot of very good reference books donated and the bulk of the 1987 book budget will be spent on reference materials. The good thing about reference books is that they are always available. They cannot be checked out, so the whole collection is always in the Library for everyone to use.

Come Check It Out!

Hubbard retires from Highway Department

Virginia Hubbard retired from the Texas State Highway Department as of December 31, 1986, after serving almost 20 years. She was honored with a retirement party at the maintenance facility prior to that date.

Virginia started to work for the department when they opened offices in the Village Shopping Center, Sept. 1967, prior to the building of I-10 in Crockett County. When the interstate highway was finished and that crew moved out, she transferred to the maintenance section north of Ozona on Hwy. 163, and worked there until her retirement the last of the year.

Virginia is married to Perry Hubbard. They moved to Ozona in 1958. He owns and operates a body shop. They have two children, Connie Hall of Del Rio and Steve of Ozona, and four grandchildren.

Virginia, who is active in First Baptist Church, has made no plans, other than making the transition from business woman to homemaker.

LETTER TO THE PUBLIC

My term on the Crockett County School Board of Trustees is expiring and is subject to the regular election of trustees called by the board for the day of April 4, 1987.

I wish to announce, for purpose of public information, that I have decided not to run for re-election to the board.

At the completion of my present term on May 1, 1987, I will have served for six years. The service has been an interesting and educational experience for me. Public education needs the participation of able, qualified citizens. I have found that there are many such people in Ozona and Crockett County. I would hope that this vacant position would be of interest to them.

Heat Pumps Save Money In All Seasons Because They MOVE Heat!

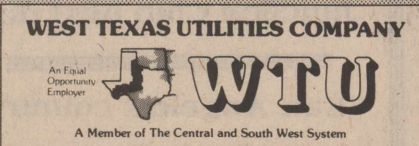

The electric heat pump is the most efficient system for heating and cooling your home. The reason it is so efficient is because it MOVES heat rather than producing it.

There's heat in the air all the time ... even in the winter! The electric heat pump pulls heat from the outside air in the winter months and pumps it into your home. In the summer months, it reverses the process and pulls the heat OUT of your home, so you get even comfort in all seasons.

You'll not only save money in home energy bills with a heat pump, but WTU will pay you a cash allowance for installing an energy-efficient electric heat pump in your home. (Your home must meet the E.S.P. requirements and be served electricity by WTU to qualify for the cash allowances.)

For more information on the electric heat pump and the E.S.P. Cash Allowance program, call your local WTU office or any factory-trained electric heat pump dealer today.

Remember REDDY supplies the energy but only YOU can use it wisely!

Workshops set for new county officials

To help individuals newly-elected to county commissioners courts "get in the groove" of their job responsibilities, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will be conducting five regional workshops over the state in January.

The workshops will be conducted by the V.G. Young Institute of County Government, a part of the Extension Service, according to this schedule: Jan. 21, Hale County Agricultural Center, Plainview; Jan. 23, Inn of the Concho, San Angelo; Jan. 27, Lakeside Ranch, Waxahachie; Jan. 28, Rodeway Inn, Lufkin; and Jan. 30, Wayne's, South 281, Alice.

"The aim of the workshops is to help new county commissioners court members in the discharge of their administrative duties so that they can serve their constituents in the most informed manner possible," points out John Gilmartin, county officials program specialist. "By helping these new county officials learn more about their jobs, we can continue to have strong county government in this state."

Topics to be discussed at the workshops will include "ABCs of County Government," "The Commissioner Asks Questions," "The Role of the County Judge and Commissioners Court," "The Administrative Responsibilities of a Commissioner," "Commissioners Court," "1987 Annual Calendar of Duties," "Overseeing the County Funds," "Public Officials' Liability," "Good Public Relations" and "Miscellaneous Important Responsibilities."

"Each workshop will focus of basic, what-you-need-to-know elements of county government," says Gilmartin. "Nuts-and-bolts kinds of information will be presented to help newly-elected members of commissioners courts prepare for future decision-making."

ARTIST OF THE MONTH is Alfredo Tobar at the Crockett County Library. Librarian Louise Ledoux poses with Tobar's pen and ink of an oil rig. His works will be on display through this month.

Pap test necessary to detect cancer

Patty was a healthy 23-year-old woman, and although she had let 15 months go by since her last Pap test, cancer was the last thing on her mind when she came in for a routine exam from her gynecologist. That was until her lab results reported pre-cancerous cells on her cervix.

"My initial reaction was shock," Patty (not her real name) said. "I never expected it and couldn't think of what to ask first."

The development of abnormal cells on the cervix, or opening of the uterus, is called cervical dysplasia. If left untreated, the condition has a 25 percent chance of developing into cervical cancer.

Each year about 14,000 American women develop cervical cancer. Almost half of these women are expected to die of the disease. Patty's gynecologist, Dr. Matti O. Korhonen, assistant professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Baylor College of Medicine, says most of these deaths could be prevented if every woman would have an annual Pap test.

"In spite of how simple and effective a Pap test is, the number of women having regular exams in this country is declining," Korhonen said. "If women become complacent about having their annual exams, the number of cervical cancer cases may increase."

Korhonen said that a woman should begin having annual Pap tests from the time she becomes sexually active. This test is especially important for women who are exposed to sexually transmitted diseases, those with multiple sexual partners, and who smoke. These women run an even greater risk of developing cervical dysplasia.

Depending on the type of abnormal cells, a gynecologist will either repeat the Pap test or order a colposcopy, which involves examining the vagina and cervix using a magnifying instrument called a colposcope.

"A colposcopy shows us where abnormal cells are located so that we may remove a small portion of the affected tissue to determine if the cells are cancerous," Korhonen said.

Because Patty's case was diagnosed as pre-cancerous, she had the option of either having cryo surgery or laser surgery, two of the most common forms of treatment. Cryo surgery uses a probe to freeze abnormal cells and laser surgery evaporates the affected tissue.

"In some situations a cone biopsy is needed," Korhonen said. "A cone shaped sample of the cervix is removed and if the cancerous growth is small, and confined to one location, this treatment is about 99 percent effective."

Korhonen said a hysterectomy, radiation therapy, or both are needed when cancerous cells have invaded deeper tissue and cannot be reached by laser of freezing techniques.

"If every woman would have an annual Pap test we would catch all the cancers before they invade deeper tissues, and we could cure 100 percent of them," Korhonen said.

All indications are that Patty's laser surgery was a success. But she will be monitored closely for the next two to three years. As she waits for the results of her follow-up visit, she reflected on her experience.

"It never occurred to me that someday I would have to be treated for a pre-cancerous condition," Patty said. "When it did happen, it was a tremendous shock. I had always put off having my annual exams, but I'll never miss another one again."

Small business objects to unfair competition

Unfair government competition tops the list of small-business concerns this legislative session, according to a spokesman for the National Federation of Independent Business. Small-business owners will not only press lawmakers on unfair government competition, but also on bad checks and equal-access-to-justice legislation.

"The government should stick to governing and stop competing with small businesses," said NFIB/Texas' director of governmental relations Robert Stluka. "Under the current circumstances, the state can't afford to subsidize government agencies performing in-house jobs that small businesses can do cheaper," he added.

Stiffer civil penalties for bad-check writers are another legislative priority for small-business owners. Stluka said. "Under current law, the cost of pursuing a bad-check writer far outweighs the loss of the check. Bad-check losses seriously hinder cash flow for small businesses," he added.

4-H range and plant members to meet

We will begin meeting on January 22nd, Thursday, at 5:00 p.m. at the SCS office to start studying and practicing plant identification. Our first contest will be March 14th in San Angelo. This will be a plant ID contest only.

We will meet once a week on Thursdays at 5:00 p.m. until further notice. The SCS office is located at 401 First Street (rock building) next to B&C Automotive. Rides will be furnished to take kids home after all meetings. If you have any questions, please call Reggie Quiett or George Peacock at 392-2301.

Medicare payments may be made two ways

Medical insurance payments under Medicare can be made in two ways - either directly to the doctor or supplier, or directly to you, the patient. If the payment is made directly to the doctor or supplier, it is called an "assignment".

The assignment method of payment can save you time and money. Under this method, the doctor or supplier agrees that his or her total charge for the covered service will be the charge approved by the Medicare carrier.

Medicare pays the doctor or supplier 80 percent of the approved charge after subtracting any part of the $75 annual deductible that you have not met. You are responsible only for that part of the $75 deductible that has not been met, and for the remaining 20 percent of the approved charge.

If payment is made directly to you, the doctor or supplier can bill you for the actual charge even if it is more than the amount approved by Medicare.

Each year, doctors and suppliers are given the opportunity to sign agreements that make them "Medicare-participating" doctors and suppliers.

If they do sign such an agreement, it means that they have agreed in advance to accept assignments on all Medicare claims.

The names and addresses of "Medicare-participating" doctors and suppliers are listed in the "Medicare-Participating Physician/Supplier Directory." The directory may be reviewed at all Social Security offices and at State and area offices of the Administration on Aging.

Tryouts for the Crockett County 4-H Rifle Team will be conducted at 9 a.m. Saturday, January 24 at the 4-H Barn. Any Crockett County youth from 3rd grade through age 19, enrolled in 4-H, is eligible for a place on either the senior (14-19) or junior (under 14) team.

Those trying out for a place on the senior team will shoot from prone, kneeling, and standing positions. Juniors will shoot prone and kneeling only. Rifles and ammunition will be provided, but personal bolt action .22 rifles will be permitted. In each division there will be four team places, with two alternate places. Practice sessions will begin in February and continue until the final match in the spring. Those selected for places on either team will be required to attend weekly practice sessions to prepare for shooting competition on the inter-county-district levels. Both junior and senior teams will represent Crockett County at matches with nearby counties. The senior team will compete at the 4-H District Rifle Match in Monahans on April 24 and possible the State Match in May or June.

4-Hers completing a shooting project in the fall of '86 can come by the Extension Office and pick up their completion certificates. Also, if you qualified for a patch (marksman, pro-marksman, etc.) it can be picked up at the office.

Water increase in Amistad makes for better fishing

Like many West Texas reservoirs, Lake Amistad on the U.S.-Mexico border is looking better these days because of higher water levels.

Biologist Bob Zerr of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department said the 20-foot rise since August should have far-reaching effects on the big lake's sport fishing pictures.

"I expect the additional nutrients provided by rain runoff and the structure created by inundated vegetation will have a positive impact on Amistad's fish populations," Zerr said. Forage fish should be able to expand their populations, and predator fish such as largemouth bass will take advantage of the improved forage and cover conditions with a good spawn this spring, he explained.

Zerr said bass populations were sampled this fall by electrofishing. Bass were collected at all 10 sites sampled, and they ranged in length from four to 21 inches. Of the 46 bass collected, nine percent were above the 14-inch minimum length limit.

Lady Lions slaughter Rankin opponents

By Lisa Collin

The varsity and JV Lady Lions played against Rankin and McCamey last week in district competition. The girls were successful in defeating the teams two times, their defeats being the JV and Varsity girls games against McCamey.

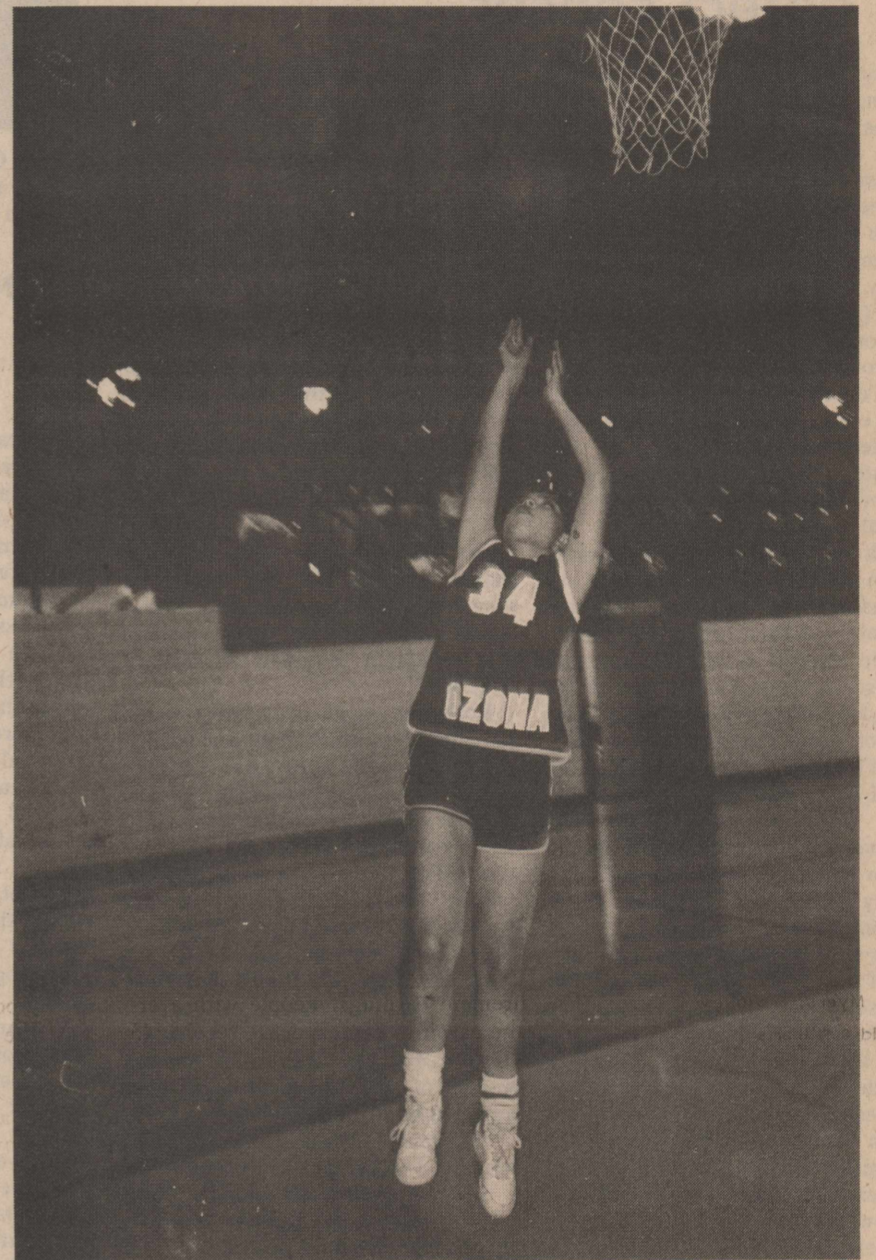

In the JV game against Rankin, competition was high and the score seasawed back and forth until the final minutes when Ozona pulled out a 26-22 victory. Leading the scoring for the team was Polly Villarreal with 13, followed by Terel Seahorn with 3.

The varsity girls game resulted in a 49-19 slaughter of the Rankin girls varsity team. Ozona played well both offensively and defensively scoring often and keeping their opponents away from the basket. Stacy Lay led in scoring with 16 points. Also scoring a large amount of points were Vickie Reagor and Adriane Wilson each with 11.

In the JV Lady Lions' second game, they suffered a 43-34 loss against McCamey. The girls fell behind early in the game and could never overcome McCamey to achieve a lead. Scoring 10 points for the team was Griselda Hernandez, followed by Eileen Moran with 9. Kristina Martinez and Dottie Gonzales both scored 6. Leading in rebounding were Griselda Hernandez and Kristina Martinez both with eight, followed by Kriss Corley with 6.

The varsity girls ended their first half of district play 2-7 and were defeated by McCamey 51-42. Although the Lady Lions put forth much effort, McCamey grabbed a victory from them during the fourth quarter. Leading the scoring drive was Kelly Williams with 19, followed by Stacy Lay with 11. Vickie Reagor also contributed 7 points. Leading rebounder was Stacy Lay with an astronomical 18 rebounds. Lydia Pena and Vickie Flores followed behind with 6 rebounds each.

Polly Villarreal is high point girl

House fire keeps firemen busy

A lamp caused a fire Thursday in this house on Fairview. The lamp was in flames when the homeowner found it and threw water on it. It fell to the floor and caught the carpet on fire. Most of the damage was caused by smoke.

Building on Social Security base important for retirement income

It's important to remember that Social Security is a base on which to plan for retirement. It was never intended to provide 100 percent replacement of earnings or to guarantee everybody the same standard of living in retirement. In planning for retirement, a person should know how to build on that base. As a start, you should know generally how much to expect in retirement benefits from Social Security so you can plan how much you need from other sources. Secondly, a person should have some idea of how other types of retirement income will affect Social Security benefits.

It is estimated that a person will need about 75 percent of his or her preretirement earnings to maintain the same standard of living in retirement as he or she had before.

The amount of Social Security benefits depends on a person's earnings over a working life. People earning the maximum covered by Social Security can generally expect to receive initial benefits which replace approximately 29 percent of pre-retirement earnings. People with average earnings can expect to receive 43 percent of pre-retirement earnings, and people earning at the minimum wage level over their working lives may expect to receive initial benefits equaling 60 percent of their pre-retirement earnings.

The replacement rate is higher for low earners because they are less able to tolerate a reduction in income. Higher earners are expected to have more resources to build a base of retirement income, including investments, savings and private insurance.

This brings me to the second important point to remember in building retirement income on the Social Security base. A person needs to know how other retirement income will affect Social Security checks. The following rules generally apply:

*Investments, savings, etc. Since a person is expected to build on the Social Security base, other types of typical retirement income generally do not affect Social Security benefits. This means that a person can use investments, savings, and private insurance to build on the Social Security base up to any level and individual requires.

*Pensions -- most company pensions are actually figured to supplement Social Security benefits and employee may expect so these pensions will not affect Social Security benefits. But, those people who receive a pension from work not covered by Social Security will probably find their Social Security benefit reduced. A third rule applies to the spouse receiving a government pension based on work not covered in Social Security and also expects to receive a benefit on his or her spouse's work record. The Social Security benefit is reduced to reflect the amount of the government pension.

*Earnings -- While earnings are not traditionally considered "retirement income", more and more people continue to work after retirement. There is a limit on how much a person can earn while getting all Social Security benefits. The annual limit increases with increases in wage levels. Currently, it is $7,800 for people 65 and over and $5,760 for people under 65. The rule does not apply to people 70 and over. Benefits are reduced if annual earnings exceed these amounts.

Keeping these facts in mind, a person can build a retirement income that will sustain his or her standard of living in retirement and assure that they are indeed the golden years.

Airman Maldonado receives Air Force commendation

Staff Sgt. Robert G. Maldonado, son of Ramon and Armandina Maldonado of Ozona, Texas has been decorated with the Air Force Commendation Medal at Goodfellow Air Force Base, Texas.

The Air Force Commendation Medal is awarded to those individuals who demonstrate outstanding achievement or meritorious service in the performance of their duties on behalf of the Air Force.

Maldonado is a vehicle operations supervisor with the Goodfellow Technical Training Center.

His wife, Diana, is the daughter of Jesus and Blanca Castro of 1510 Mulberry, Ozona.

He is a 1971 graduate of Ozona High School.

Alzheimer patients can benefit from exercise

A regular exercise program can help Alzheimer patients avoid health problems that often result from a sedentary lifestyle, according to the January issue of Texas Medicine.

Although persons with Alzheimer's disease are obviously limited, Dr. Berry N. Squyres writes that risk factors can be reduced with low levels of stretching and aerobic activity. Psychological benefits to exercise include reducing tension and decreasing the chance of becoming depressed, writes Squyres in the official journal of the Texas Medical Association.

The author recommends 15 to 20 minutes of exercise at least three times a week or perhaps daily because of the lower level of activity. The program should begin with stretching and progress to exercise that may include walking, stationary cycling, or extension and rotation of the arms and legs. This should be followed by a cool-down period including stretching for flexibility, according to the author.

Other benefits of such a program include reducing muscle fatigue and treatment and slowing of osteoporosis, a condition where the bones become brittle and can break easily.

According to Squyres, who is with the department of family medicine, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, an exercise plan for Alzheimer patients can aid in the treatment of other illnesses the person may have to provide an environment that will enhance the patients ability to function.

Moments lost can be fatal in emergency

One out of four persons who are injured or became ill fail to realize the seriousness of the medical problem, according to emergency physicians. And the Texas Department of Health (TDH) warns that the moments lost while a person hesitates to call for emergency help can be fatal.

Dr. Robert Bernstein, Texas Commissioner of Health said, "Emergency medical service (EMS) personnel report that in many cases of serious injury or illness not involving obvious trauma, indecision costs valuable minutes-even days-when the victim could be getting help. Some victims still say they don't want to 'bother' EMS, even when they decide they need medical help."

"The fact is that EMS is not always seen as a public service, much like the police or fire department. The same person who might call the police with a relatively minor complaint about noise in the neighborhood can delay calling EMS during the first stages of a heart attack or equally deadly illness," Dr. Bernstein said.

Dr. Bernstein cautioned that especially those persons with histories of serious health problems should be alert to the first signs of trouble. He said heart attacks, respiratory distress, strokes, and other illnesses usually have early warning signs that should be heeded.

A View of the World Through The Word

By Ralph O. Moore, Minister
Ozona Church of Christ

An increasing number of preachers throughout the land are becoming involved in politics. The pulpit (where God is proclaimed) is being traded for a podium (where man is praised.) There seems to be an inherent danger in that for many reasons.

For one, no man can serve two masters. In the case of the preacher turned politician, he will start to pay more attention to polls than to prayer. He will lose his faith and start walking by sight. Take, for instance, Pat Robertson. He wants 3 million supporters before he announces his candidacy for President. I would think that he would realize that God holds more power than a mere 3 million voters.

Another reason that the pulpit should not be prostituted to politics is that the gospel, not governments, is man's hope of redemption. While some think that man can pull his way out of his problems by legislation and legal maneuverings, the New Testament denies it. The Word speaks directly to man's greatest need saying, "There is salvation in none other - preach Christ!"

Another valid reason why preachers should avoid politics is that it is a step-down rather than a step-up. While God does use governments for a purpose (cf. Romans 13:1-7; 1 Peter 2:13-17), He does not endorse one over others. The work of civil servants is subordinated to the work done by servants of Christ.

There is a legitimate fear expressed in this country about the entanglement of politics and religion. Remember the hysteria associated with John Kennedy's election as President? Who would he serve: the people or the Pope? Jimmy Carter was another whose born-again tactics jack-knifed in the political limelight. His morals were mocked, and he was ridiculed for his faith more than he was respected for it. While neither of these was a preacher, I think you can see the problem.

If God had intended for His spokesman to run for office, or even be involved in political poppycock, He would have so spoken. The messenger of God must have his eye centered on the Christ and the cross - not Congress or constituents.

A preacher, if he takes his eyes off the cross and his mind out the The Book, can become more involved in city-hall than in his congregation. Many have silenced their mouths in preaching Christ because someone applauded their efforts in a political or social endeavor. Satan has a way of turning attention to lesser issues and making wrong seem right, but God triumphs by putting violators of His trust out of the garden.

The New Testament directs the proclaimer of Christ to participate in government by submission and prayer. The herald of Christ is to submit to governmental authority unless it stands in defiance to God's Word (Acts 5:29.) The preacher is to instruct others to pray for those in authority (1 Tim. 2:1-2), but only to the point of having freedom to live and proclaim Christ.

In future days we'll probably see an increased number of preachers subjugating themselves to the notion that man's salvation is declared at an Oval Office, Governor's Mansion, Mayor's Office, or Commissioner's Court.

Working in politics, whether at the national, state, or local level, preachers forfeit their time and energies for a mess of pottage that claims their birthright. I'm reasonably sure that there is a moment of glory involved in a preacher's secular pursuits, but I'm certain that there is an eternal glory in the sacred pursuit of preaching Christ.

School nurse week honors Mrs. Ingram

This week has a special meaning for Mrs. Lu Ingram, school nurse for Ozona Public Schools.

In recognition of the important role that school nurses play in the lives of children across the nation, President Ronald Reagan has proclaimed the week of January 19-23 as National School Nurse Awareness Week.

Mrs. Ingram functions as the heart of the school health program in Ozona, and her duties include keeping current immunization records on approximately 950 students in the local school system, administering first aid, taking sick children home, and checking on children with communicable diseases.

She is also responsible for screening all children for vision and hearing difficulties, screening junior high students for scoliosis (abnormal curvature of the spine), and conducting spot dental checks for students in grades one, four, and six.

"Nurse Lu", as she is commonly called by teachers and students, is married to Huey Ingram, and they have two grown sons, Don of Dallas and Drew of Midland.

For the past thirty-one years, Lu has lived in Ozona and has worked for various doctors, as well as the Crockett County Hospital, as a Licensed Vocational Nurse. She has been Ozona's school nurse for six years, and her interests include travel, fishing, and working with children.

Community service also claims Mrs. Ingram's time. She is an active member of the Crockett County Welfare Board and is a past president of the Ozona Women's Forum. Lu teaches an adult Sunday School class at the First Baptist Church and in the past was honored by the Ozona Chamber of Commerce with its "Unsung Hero Award" for her many acts of unselfish love and caring throughout the community.

Girl Scouts get paint donation from local firm

Brownie Troop # 24 met for their 2nd regular meeting of January. They discussed the workday held on the 10th, when the inside of the Girl Scout House received a new paint job. It is quite a surprise to walk in the door, because each of the walls are painted a different color. But it is bright and cheerful and the paint was donated.

Along with Mr. and Mrs. Alejos Lara, the girls want to thank South Texas Lumber for their generous contribution of approximately 7 gallons of paint. There is still much work to be done but you can now see a definite improvement.

The girls' next big project will be cookie sales. Those attending the meeting received their cookie packets and will begin taking orders for cookies on Friday, the 23rd, when the cookie sale officially begins. They will be out in full force this year. Since this is their 2nd year to sell cookies they all feel they are pros.

In the next month or so there will be new signs put up on Hwy. 163. The troop has joined up with many other Texans to keep our highways clean in the "Adopt a Highway" program. Watch for them on Hwy. 163 as they will be working very hard keeping it clean in 1987.

Is He Yours

It can be pretty disturbing the first time you realize that your baby really isn't yours at all — that you do not possess him. Yet the sooner you do realize it, the better. We can't possess another person no matter how dearly we love them. And in the case of our children, we are custodians, not owners.

You take him for a walk around the block and people stop you to say, "What a beautiful baby!"

You try to be modest about it, but your heart is bursting with pride. He is the most beautiful baby — and — he's yours!

Or is he?

Start going to church this Sunday. Chances are that they've even got a nursery for beautiful babies!

He is a beautiful baby — and you, naturally, want nothing more than for him to grow up into a fine young man. It is your responsibility, in the years ahead, to help him do so — and you will find the strength and guidance to aid you in your task in your church.
