His and Hers

By Scotty and Linda Moore

His

Boy, this year has been disastrous tax-wise for the Moore family. Last year was bad enough, but this one was sure enough a killer!

Each year we say it has got to get better this time. Surely that gob of money we spent on some whatch-ama-call-it will help in the end, but it never does. Something is always around to take its place, or the government changes the tax laws. It seems as though you can never win

The harder you work, the less you have in the end! and the more Uncle Sam has in his hip pocket to spend on whatever he pleases.

I wonder what is going to happen when the well runs dry. Put us all in prison? Surely not. They're already full of the bad guys. I guess they could turn them loose and let them pay the taxes for a change and let us common everyday honest folks take a

Hers

There's nothing like a big, glaring error to grab the maximum attention. Even better than that - there's nothing like starting a new job by making a big, glaring error. In the news business, a mistake gives you a starting point for the next week.

The first Moore issue of The Stockman hadn't been on the stands long before a parent called Kitty about the "Worst Score" headline on the golf story. (Evidently the caller hadn't read her farewell column Mistakes are going to happen this isn't my first (and yes, it is mine) and it won't be my last. The apologies go to the young golfers who actually equalled their best score of the year.

Told Kitty last week that she is the second red-headed newspaper woman I have followed. Maybe I should change my mousey-gray? I also told her that I'm not as fiesty as she is. Even a complaint by one of her fans that reading the paper after she left would be like reading a Sunday School lesson didn't get my dander

McKinney is new chairman of TBA

Drake L. McKinney was elected chairman of District Six, TBA, at the annual meeting of the group held in Midland on March 28. He is president of the Crockett County National Bank in Ozona. He succeeds Charles G. Grimes, chairman of the Texas American Bank, Midland. New board member is A. W. Bishop, president and CEO of the Sutton County National Bank in Sonora.

District 6 of the Texas Bankers Association covers an area from El Paso to San Angelo, Midland and Odessa and south to Del Rio.

William R. Carden was the principal speaker along with Bookman Peters, president of the Texas Bankers Association. Carden, who is president of The Carden Group in Waco, and a well known consultant to banks in the United States and abroad, spoke on the shortcomings of bankers in adjusting to the new problems confronting them today. Too many bankers, he said, continue to run their banks as they did before deregulation, and this practice results in mediocrity. Bankers must resolve to pursue excellence, to be the very best in relation to customers and community, and to hire the best employees for the job.

Peters reminded bankers about upcoming legislation and urged them to speak to legislators about their concerns, and by all means get behind those who are supportive of banking in their quest

The Sixth District will meet in San Angelo in 1988.

Commissioners study loss of revenue budget problems

Loss of tax revenue for the 1988 budget is expected to be $750,000 Tax Assessor Tom Stokes told commissioners Monday. "It's bad," Stokes said. $793,000 rolled into this year's budget from 1986 will also not be available, creating a dollar loss of one and one-half million for 1988.

A drop of 150 million dollars in valuations will create a loss of "about a million one for the school," Stokes said.

Cost cutting measures will be under careful scrutiny in the months prior to budget preparation. Hospital costs, county salaries and a tax increase were areas mentioned where more money could be found. A tax increase of seven cents per $100 valuation, the maximum without fear of a rollback, would only generate $240,000.

Commissioners did vote to put any major hospital expenditures on hold until after the hospital district elec-

Rancher Jackie Womack pressed commissioners for an answer to a road maintenance question he put before the court in March.

A bump gate placed across a paved road previously maintained by the county has resulted in no more county maintenance past the gate. Womack, who ranches further down the road, requested the county to remove its "county maintenance ends here" sign, put up a stop sign instead and continue maintenance.

He cited work on the caliche Scott Canyon Road as an example where maintenance is being done with privately owned gates in place.

"If these people would come to us, the law provides where we can put gates, but we can't have individuals putting up gates," said County Attorney Tom Cameron.

After a round of good-natured finger shaking between Cameron and Womack and further discussion by commissioners, the court voted not to work beyond the gate in Steve Dennis of Odessa, a reprsentative of West Texas Consultants, Inc., presented cost estimates for two airport improvement plans. At a recent Texas Aeronautical Commission meeting held here, Judge A. O. Fields was told that there is no state money available for airport improvements. Federal grants are unavailable because the county doesn't own the land where the airport is located.

Property owner Jimmy Thompson told the court he would "try to cooperate in any way possible" if the county needed to buy the land.

Dennis estimated that $400,000 would be required to rebuild the runway. Application of emulsion to slow the deterioration would give two years breathing room, he said.

The first plan outlined by Dennis would consist of an emulsion seal and restriping the runways. His cost estimates totaled $25,700.00.

Plan B would begin with a grant application for a master plan which could go as far as looking at alternate sites if the location was found un-

If approved, 90 percent of study, land acquisition and reconstruction costs would be paid by the government. Dennis' estimate, including the study, reconstruction of runway 16-34, apron and ramp expansion, lighting improvements and radio tower removal, totaled $570,300.00 at a cost of $57,000.00 to the county. The figures did not include land

Ozona's airport is the only one which can handle large aircraft between Kerrville and Fort Stockton and San Angelo and Del Rio.

Discussion later in the day ended in a vote to apply for a master plan grant with the understanding that there would be no cost to the county.

A summer employment program enrollment for youth had 43 sign up Saturday, James Cox told the court. Cox, who teaches at Ozona High School, urged the county to apply for as many student workers as it can use. There will be 12 or more job slots for Crockett County teens in the Concho Valley Council funded program, Cox said. He already works with one such student at OHS and supervised the registration Satur-

State cutbacks in the Department of Health have resulted in plans to close the office which serves Ozona, Dee Keilers told commissioners. Keilers, water district manager, was in Abilene Thursday to attend a Region IV meeting and learned that Crockett County will be assigned to the El Paso office when Abilene closes.

The school, county, hospital and cafes are all affected by the department, which would also be contacted in case of a wreck involving perishable items or the spill of toxic or hazardous materials.

Keilers asked county officials to contact legislators and Health Commission Board members to request assignment to the Uvalde or Lubbock region because of the distance to El

Information packet progresses

The Ozona Chamber of Commerce is making progress in its development of a visitors and newcomer's packet. There was a very positive response from members to a recent survey about that project.

The Chamber has a rough draft of an interest grabbing promotional animated map. The map was drawn by Gary Davis who is making refinements for the finished product.

The packet will have emergency telephone numbers, church directory, civic club information, public facility locations and many other items a visitor or newcomer would need to know. There will also be discount coupons and information about those businesses who are members of the Chamber of Com-

Business members of the Chamber who did not respond to the survey but want to have information or coupons included in the packet still have time. They need to contact the Chamber office as soon as

The packet will be ready for widespread distribution by May of this year. Any citizen wanting to make a suggestion about this or any project of the Chamber of Commerce is welcomed to do so.

Danny Sanchez and Valdo Galindo again dominated in their long-distance and sprint events to aid the Lions in their first place win at the Ozona Relays last Friday, April 10.

Sanchez easily won the two-mile run with a time of 10:03.99 while the second place runner came in at 10:52.88. Sanchez barely edged the first place win in the mile however, as the top two times were 4:42.79 and 4:43.19.

In respect to sprint times, Galindo won both the 100 and 200m dashes with times of 11.04 and 22.63.

The mile-relay team won their event in a time of 3:25.29. The foursome holds a top-four time in the best of West Texas. Johnny Lombrana pulled off a third place finish in his specialty 800m dash. His time of 2:06.40 was four seconds off second and six off first, but enough to place him third.

Hood is District Individual Golf Champ

Bret Hood did it. Last Saturday at Ozona Country Club, Hood overcame a dismal front nine and fired a magnificent even par 36 on the back to shoot 78 and best Greg Avery of Stanton by one shot to claim the District 6-2A Individual Golf Cham-

Hood has been the tournament's most consistent player. Through four rounds he has never trailed and has never had a round above 78. His total of 311 was astounding considering each round of the tournament brought on a new set of weather conditions.

"I'm a little disappointed that the team didn't get to advance, but I still feel fortunate that I played good enough, consistent enough golf to win the tournament. It really fel great to have that gold medal in in hand," said Hood of his faring.

The team standings remained unchanged from the first three rounds except for the Lions who overcame the Rankin Red Devils to move into fourth place. The Stanton Buffalos took the team championship with a four-day total of 1333. Reagan County played the part of the bridesmaid, coming up one stroke short of the winning title.

AUSTIN-The Texas Senate is may have to be decided by legislapoised to challenge the veto powers of Gov. Bill Clements with a controversial budget that is $3.5 billion over the new taxes ceiling he set.

Politically, it's not pretty, but the Senate Finance Committee last week approved a $39.4 billion budget that is either too fat or too lean, depending on who's talking, and sent it to the floor for debate.

In the House, leaders said the Senate bill is too expensive, but members expect to report out a bill only $1 billion less, still over the governor's ceiling. Some senators doubted their version contains enough money for education and the prison system, but agreed it was the only way to get a bill out of committee.

The debate is expected to be tough and tedious as senators try to refashion the bill on the floor.

Crisis Plan Sought

State Treasurer Ann Richards, meanwhile, wants legislators to establish a priority system for paying bills in case the state runs out of money in the fall.

Richards says key questions concerning how much law enforcement to keep, or which lifesupporting hospitals to maintain, idea to spread costs of expensive water and facilities projects. "Texas is in an absolutely classic situation for an accelerated public works program," Hobby said, comparing the program to the federal Works Progress Administration (WPA) created during the Depression. Hobby will appear before the Senate State Affairs Committee this week to endorse resolutions permitting the state to issue $300 million in general obligation bonds for prison construction, $400 million for water development projects and $400 million in a state loan program for local public fa-

'The aim is job creation," said an official in Hobby's office. "The state will have 3 million more people, 20 million people, by 1990."

The package, called the "Build Texas Program," contains three separate proposed constitutional amendments. The three senators sponsoring those amendments are Bob McFarland, R-Arlington, John Montford, D-Lubbock, and Hugh Parmer, D-Fort Worth.

AT&T Deregulation

Senators approved by one vote a plan to deregulate AT&T, the only one of Texas' 165 long distance carriers that is regulated by the state, but only after adding an amendment that the sponsor called 'schizophrenic.'

Currently, AT&T can raise or lower its rates within a narrow range without asking permission from the Public Utilities Commisto lower rates without PUC approval, but if commissioners suspect an anti-competition situation, the PUC can investigate and invalidate the rates.

The House

The House passed a package of economic development bills, including three proposed constitutional amendments to end the state ban on investing tax money and state credit in private businesses.

One bill creates a Texas Department of Commerce to make business loans.

The House also approved legislation to allow the State Board of Insurance to watch more closely the job-safety programs of insurance companies.

Also approved was a measure allowing judges to order the installation of Breathalizer equipment on car ignitions of persons convicted of DWI.

Other Highlights

· A West Texas judge ruled in favor of the state in a dispute over millions in royalties from the Yates Field, and the Texas General Land Office could collect up to $13 million.

• Out-of-state businesses have been buying troubled Texas businesses at record rates. Last year, 114 Texas-based companies were acquired by non-Texas interests, compared to 71 in 1986.

 Meanwhile, farmland prices in Texas dropped an average 11 percent last year, compared to a 17 percent decline in 1985.

• The Texas House heard a plan to give property tax exemptions to mothballed offshore drilling rigs, which are usually moved to non-Texas waters to avoid such taxes. Owners spend $500 to $2500 daily to maintain mothballed rigs which sion. The new bill allows AT&T could mean more jobs in Texas.

Boiled eggs and ham rate special treatment

Hard-cooked eggs and ham are familiar foods that get special treatment at Easter. It's this "special threatment" of decorating and hiding Easter eggs or serving a fresh ham for a large family gathering that raises questions about food safety.

Consumers commonly have the following questions about food safety for these Easter treats:

Q?: Is it safe to eat the hard-cooked eggs used in an Easter egg hunt? A: Yes, but they must be handled properly. First, cool hard-cooked eggs in cold water immediately after cooking and them refrigerate until they cool all the way through. If any eggs crack while cooking, don't use them for the hunt since bacteria can easily get through the openings and contaminate the eggs.

When you plan the hiding and hunting of Easter eggs, remember that they should not be out of the refrigerator for more than two hours. Q: How long will hard-cooked eggs keep in the refrigerator?

A: Hard-cooked eggs in the shell should be used within one week. Use eggs with cracked shells or those with the shell removed within one

Q: Is there any danger of trichinosis from hams?

A: If you choose a fully cooked ham, there is no danger. They are specially processed according to USDA guidelines to kill trichinae organisms. These hams are ready to eat without further cooking.

If you choose a fresh ham, take extra care in preparation. Cook the fresh ham until the center reaches a temperature of 170 degrees F. To make sure this temperature is reached, insert a meat thermometer in the thickest part of the cut, not touching the bone or fat.

Q: How long can ham be safely refrigerated?

A: Uncured ham will keep in the refrigerator from 3 to 5 days. It will keep in the freezer from 4 to 8

Cured ham will keep in the refrigerator for one week. Leftover cooked ham that is tightly wrapped and refrigerated 1 to 2 hours after cooking will keep 4 to 5 days. Both uncooked and leftover ham can be kept in the freezer up to two months before losing flavor and texture.

Flores-King qualify for regional

by T. C. Tucker

Sylvia Flores and Suzy King clinched a berth in the regional tennis tournament with a decisive 6-4, 6-1 victory over a duo from Stanton

The Ozona doubles' team lived up to their no. 2 seeding by taking second place in the district tourney held in Big Lake Saturday, April 11, and Monday, April 13.

Flores and King met the no. 1 tournament seeds in the championship match. Already guaranteed a regional spot, they lost after a three set battle 3-6, 6-4, 3-6.

Summer Shacklette, tournament seed no. 4, received a bye then won her next match 6-1, 6-2 to advance to the semifinals. There she fell to rival Staci Helmers of Eldorado.

Shacklette lost the first set of the third place match, but bounced back to win 3-6, 6-2, 6-4. Third place could prove beneficial since an injury or drop-out by one of the top two winners in singles would allow third place to represent the district.

Mark Sellers upset the no. 3 seed in his first match then easily won his next match 6-3, 6-0 to gain the semis. Michael Kotsch of Eldorado beat Sellers in the semis, forcing the Ozona player to the third place

Sellers confronted teammate Tommy Tucker who lost in the semis to eventual winner Mitchell Bradley. Tucker beat Sellers after a three set duel 2-6, 7-6, 6-3.

After receiving a bye, Travis Burks and Marcos Gonzales won their first match 7-5, 6-3, then nearly upset the no. 2 seeds but lost 7-6, 1-6, 2-6. The duo placed fourth after losing the third place match.

Sharon McCrohan, the other Ozona girls' singles player, won her opening match, only to fall to the no.

Scotty Burks and Danny Vasquez came close to a first match win, but finally faltered.

Stacie Winkley and Jena Allen also lost their opening match, but put up a tough resistance 7-6, 3-6,

In junior varsity action, Tammy Arrott and Eileen Moran, both singles players, lost their first matches. Brian Cooke and Chris Ramirez lost their first match as well, but gave a good shot 0-6, 5-7.

Overall, the Lion tennis team showed more competitive spirit, as demonstrated by placing more persons in the top four at district than

The Ozona boys finished second in total points while the girls were edged out by three points. The entire team finished second overall.

Flores and King will play in the regional tournament at Big Spring, to be held May 1 and 2.

Ladies lag in Iraan

The Ozona Lady Lions' track team placed eighth in the Cactus Relays April 4 in Iraan. Only one Ozona team member brought home a medal, but several others placed in the fourth through sixth categories. Regina Cervantez was third in the 100m dash with a 13.25. Kelly Williams placed fourth in the long jump with a leap of 15'91/2". The 800m relay team of Regina Cervantez, Dee Frazier, Tressa Crawford and Kelly Williams also placed fourth with a time of 1:56.40. Kelly received a fifth place ribbon in the triple jump with 33'1134" inches. Tricia Ethridge also earned a fifth in the 3200 with a time of 14:43.48.

The remainder of the placings were sixth. The 400 meter relay team was sixth with a time of 54.96. This team consists of Cervantez, Frazier,

Crawford and Williams. Diane Sanchez' sixth was earned in the 100m hurdles after sprinting a

The 1600m relay team of Cervantez, Crawford, Katy Cameron and Bibi Cervantez also placed sixth with a time of 4:47.32.

Library features art of Charlotte Phillips

Crockett County Public Library's art exhibit for April features the varied works of the late Charlotte B. Phillips. Mrs. Phillips began her art work as a teenager and continued to find and bring pleasure in her work for the remainder of her life.

She was a graduate of Daniel Baker at Brownwood and attended TCU to continue her art training. She later used her talents to teach others in a studio at her home.

Pastels and water colors claimed her attention, but in later years, she began working in oils.

For about ten years she gave up painting on canvass and worked with ceramics, pouring, firing and finishing all the items herself.

On exhibit at the library are examples of her paintings along with ceramics and china painting.

The southwest calls to those who view her work. Bluebonnets landscapes with the charm of the desert and the mountains beckon.

Born and raised in Sterling City, she grew up in a ranch environment which is reflected in her art.

Delicate dishes, many with gold rims or bases, remain to show her talent. Especially treasured by her family is a punch set painted lavishly with grapes. A faint grape design inside the cups and bowl show through a rose-colored wash.

Mrs. Phillips' ceramic work also extended to dainty porcelain dolls. She learned to do delicate lace draping in ceramics and created a bevy of southern belle dolls almost to fragile to look upon.

Delicately painted porcelain birds were also a specialty of Charlotte

Mrs. Phillips work has been exhibited in San Angelo at the Kendall Gallery along with the works of Ozona artists Fred Jones, Dorothy Montgomery and Mary Jo Mason.

Mandan Company Crockett County Library Notes Accidents investigated By Louise Ledoux

Books today

Dear Aunt Biddy,

The other day I stopped down at the library and picked up a few items. When I got home and stuck them into my video cassette recorder, nothing happened. I tried two or three of the dumb things, but with the same result. What's wrong? Wired in West Texas

Dear Wired,

I looked into the items that you checked out and quickly discovered the problem. These things you took home were something called "Books". They just won't work in a VCR. The truth is, you have to read them. While we do have movies and tapes, you might try some of these gook things; they're really kind of challenging. And if you're not quite up to a clean break with videos, we've even got some books with pictures to help you with the transition to the "old technology".

Just a little library humor! I realize that we aren't quite so mechanized and glued to the tube here in Ozona as in some big cities, but we do need to remember that books are very important. I don't think books will ever be completely replaced by TV or microfilm. Books are very personal, in contrast to videos. You can read at your own pace, conjure up your own pictures in your imagination, interpret the story your own way, and be able to take the book and read anywhere you want to without being tied to the tube. Books are still the greatest source of entertainment, information, instruction and guidance available today.

Herbicides in brush control following expensive mechanical or chemical control methods is one of the many problems faced by livestock producers. The expected vears of control of the initial brush control method could be significantly increased by controlling or suppressing the regrowth problem.

There are herbicides on the market today that are specifically labeled for individual plant treatment. These herbicides have proven effective in controlling plants such as mesquite, cedar, creosote, tarbush, whitebrush

The two most common herbicides are Velpar RP, a liquid formulation, and Spike 20P, a dry pellet. Both are soil active herbicides and are applied directly to the soil surface underneath the target species. For the Velpar RP there is an applicator gun available to apply the correct amount of the liquid directly on the soil surface. The spike 20P pellets can be applied by hand.

Both herbicides require rainfall to carry the chemical into the soil. Since rainfall is needed, application just prior to seasonal rainfall gives the most rapid response. Once in the soil, the chemical is carried throughout the plant. The chemical causes the plant to defoliate. The plant may grow new leaves and defoliate several times for two to three years before the plant's reserves are completely gone. When food reserves are depleted, the plant seems to be a practical, economical method of controlling regrowth following tree dozing or aerial spray-a rancher can control them and maintain the level of brush density he desires. They can also be used to control brush in fencelines and around corrals.

Three volunteers added to literacy program

A two-day training workshop for three more literacy volunteers was conducted by Joan Nicholas, tutor and volunteer coordinator, in the conference room at the Methodist Church last week

Jean Connors, Mencha Flores, and Glenda Henderson participated. On Thursday evening Joan evaluated five new students who have now been assigned to the new volunteers for tutoring. The new students have been waiting to start classes for some weeks, and they include some who can already read and write but want to improve their skills. Others need English language instruction along with beginner reading.

"The program is growing rapidly," Joan said, "and will be a major force in the community in assisting those who wish to improve themselves and who will eventually be able to train for a wider selection of employment opportunities."

One of the new students is an 82-year-old lady who is most ambitious, according to Joan.
