His and Hers

By Scotty and Linda Moore

His

Several calls to The Stockman this week have indicated that Ozona has been overrun with stray dogs, most of them in packs, and I'll have to agree - I've seen more than usual the past couple of weeks.

The danger lies not with the animals themselves, but with the possibility of them catching rabies and then biting young kids. And we sure don't want that to happen!

I called the Ozona Veterinary Clinic and talked to Janet Wilson who said that a fox and a skunk had tested positive recently. During our conversation, she said that Dr. Vannoy stressed the importance of keeping your pets in a fenced backyard or tied and to be sure that their shots are up to date.

Sometimes young children won't tell their parents that they have been bitten for fear of being scolded, and really all it takes to be infected with rabies is just a break in the skin. After that, without treatment, time is the killer.

Janet also said that the clinic cannot pick up stray animals. This job is for the Crockett County animal control officer who can be reached by calling 392-3293.

Better yet, please let's try to keep "Old Rover" in the back yard where he belongs instead of out digging up somebody's cherished flower bed or killing sheep and goats.

The past two issues of The Stockman have been printed early Wednesday morning in an attempt to have more time to collect and proof the news. So far it has been working out O.K. with the exception of later newsstand deliveries, but we hope that our readers will understand and wait an extra hour to get their papers.

Special day at Fort Lancaster

130 years after its beginning, Fort Lancaster stands in ruin, a very apparent reminder of how historical events help shape the way people think, feel and live in the world today. "We have to see the infantry soldier's point of view to truly understand life in frontier Texas," says Don Whited of the fort staff.

"We have a very special event planned for Saturday, July 11, 1987. A group of volunteers from Fort Concho will be here at Fort Lancaster portraying the 16th U. S. Infantry of the late 1870's and early 1880's. They will perform drill and firearms demonstrations, equipment and wagon displays, as well as other on-field programs. Glen Goode will be demonstrating lithic technologies (production of projectile points similar to those used by the Comanche and Apache Indian tribes). There will also be a barbecue in Sheffield Saturday evening. The event will be free here at the Fort, so ya'll come on out," invites Whited.

A benefit barbecue for the Ozona Little League drew record crowds June 18. Approximately 650 people were served at the ballpark beginning at 5:30. Two long lines of hungry people waited patiently in the heat as baseball parents served up the brisket and all the trimmings.

Suit against county claims civil rights violated

A Tom Green County resident has filed suit against some Crockett County officials in federal court. The civil action was filed June 11, 1987 in San Angelo.

Named as defendants in the civil rights action are: Sheriff Billy Mills, Deputy Aldo Gonzales, Chief Deputy Jim Wilson, Deputy Fred Fierro, Judge A. O. Fields and Commissioners Sostenes De Hoyos, Jerry Hill, Jack Williams and Jesus Castro.

The complaint by Robert L. Smith Jr. also reserves the right to include Maxine Brown, who was acting justice of the peace at the time of his 1985 arrest in Crockett County.

The complaint seeks monetary damages "for depriving the Plaintiff of his right of liberty without affording him due process of law".

According to the complaint, Smith, who is in the construction business, and one or more of his employees were working on the road to the old military base August 14, 1985 when several children appeared at the work site. After some of the children began to throw dirt at Smith and his crew, Smith physically removed "one or more of the children" from the location. One child persisted in staying near a backhoe being operated by Smith.

The child was requested to leave, and when he did not, "the Plaintiff placed that particular child in a mud puddle and thereafter the child joked with the Plaintiff, and after a while left the work site."

Thompson and Producers settle out-of-court

An out-of-court settlement was reached last week in a civil suit filed against Producers Gas Company.

Plaintiffs in the suit were J. Cleo Thompson and James Cleo Thompson Jr. and partnership, Thompson Petroleum Corp., Toxie E. Beavers, James Cleo Thompson Jr. as trustee for Jean Christine Thompson Trust #2, Wes-Tex Drilling Company, Cockrell Production Inc., Star Production Co. Inc., Norman W. Smith, Estoril Producing Corp. and Stringer Joint Venture.

The action was based on a written contract. The plaintiffs complained that Producers "wholly or partially failed and refused to take specified quantity" of gas and failed to pay the contract price for gas they were required to take or pay for by the contract.

According to the action, Producers began paying in May 1983 but "failed and refused to pay the price retroactively to first production".

The amount of the settlement was not included in the 17 folders of information in her office said County Clerk Debbi Puckett.

The complaint states that two hours later, at around 6 p.m., Smith was arrested at the site for "injuring a child". The complaint also states that Smith was taken to jail without being told what the exact charge against him was, was not presented any complaint alleging the offense, nor was he taken to a magistrate or a bond set.

The complaint states that Smith made bond the next morning after a complaint was filed and a warrant issued.

Smith filed a formal complaint in County Court which was dismissed Nov. 5, 1985.

The judge and commissioners are defendants in the complaint because they are the "titular head of Crockett County, Texas and set and pay all of the Defendants' salaries, and set its policies."

Labor secretary, ranchers to meet regarding aliens

Congressman Lamar Smith has announced his arrangement of a meeting in Washington later this month between leaders of two West Texas ranching groups and Secretary of Labor William E. Brock III.

The Congressman said the June 29 session would be held so that he and officials of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association and the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association can personally press their case for broadening the government's definition of "range livestock".

That action would allow more ranchers to use aliens as guest workers under the Labor Department's H-2A program for temporary and seasonal laborers, which is being revised because of last year's immigration reform law.

"As a representative of one of the biggest sheep, goat and cattle raising regions of the country," Smith said, "I think it is essential we make every effort to include ranch labor in the revised H-2A program."

"Ranchers have relied on undocumented workers for many years," the Congressman said, "and they need to have continued access to these skilled, willing and reliable workers."

"I am happy to have the opportunity to give the ranchers the opportunity to make this case to the top labor official in the country," he said.

Smith has already sent letters making recommendations about the new H-2A program to Attorney General Edwin Meese III and Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Lyng. He told them farmers and ranchers would encounter severe labor shortages if barred by the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 from hiring undocumented aliens.

Holiday deaths projected at 40

The Department of Public Safety estimates that 40 persons will die in traffic accidents in the state during the Fourth of July holiday period.

For counting purposes, the National Safety Council has designated the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. Thursday, July 2, through midnight Sunday, July 5, as the holiday period.

Last year, during the Fourth of July period, 41 persons were killed in Texas traffic accidents, with four others subsequently dying of injuries suffered during the time frame.

"Even though the 1986 and 1987 holiday periods are the same length, we're hopeful that fewer persons will die this year, in keeping with the steady decline in traffic deaths we have been observing in recent years," said Col. Leo Gossett, director of the DPS.

Though the number of holiday vehicle deaths varies from year to year, the causes of fatal accidents do not.

"Last year, slightly more than six out of 10 traffic fatalities resulted from accidents in which either speed or driving while intoxicated were listed as contributing factors," Gossett said. "The message is clear -- high speed or driving under the influence of alcohol, and often a combination of both, can kill motorists. It's also very important to remember to wear that safety belt and make sure very young children are in child safety seats."

As in years past, the DPS will conduct its Operation Motorcade program during the Fourth of July period, with periodic reports on the number of traffic deaths occurring during the 78-hour counting period.

Additionally, as part of Operation Holiday, DPS Highway Patrol commanders will be assigning added personnel to patrol the state's highways during the period.

Trucker robbed on I-10

An Alice man was robbed at gunpoint about 5 a.m. Tuesday morning while parked on Interstate 10 about three miles west of Ozona. The victim had parked his fracking truck on the side of the highway and left the truck.

Two suspects drove up in a car and robbed him of approximately $60

High winds and rain hit Ozona on Father's Day evening

By Cynthia Harrell Hodges

The peace and tranquility of Father's Day June 21 abruptly ended with the roaring of 48 mph winds, which gusted to 53 mph, followed by torrents of rain, amounting to approximately .5 inch here in Ozona.

The storm, which struck Ozona around 8:30 p.m., left behind broken tree limbs, and caused brief power outages at two residences.

The Crockett County Road Department reported no major damage to any of the local thoroughfares. Avenue C was almost impassable early Monday morning due to broken tree limbs. The area surrounding the town park and 11th street to the east of downtown, too, were littered with broken pecan limbs.

According to West Texas Utilities spokesmen, the service line was

Two sentenced in criminal court

Two defendants were sentenced June 17 in 112th District Court held in Ozona.

David Lopez Gonzales pled guilty on a burglary charge and was given a five year probation sentence. Gonzales was charged with the March 15 burglary of Ozona Wool and Mohair.

Marlene Lied was given five years probation, fined $1,000 and court costs in connection with her June 2 arrest on a charge of possession of marijuana.

Linda Carolyn Mobley was sentenced June 18 in 112th District Court in Sonora following her May conviction of possession of a controlled substance. A two day jury trial was held in Ozona in May. Mobley had been arrested in Crockett County Aug. 9, 1986.

Her sentence to 10 years in the Texas Department of Corrections has been appealed and will be heard July 27 by District Judge Brock Jones.

Seven criminal cases were postponed when court convened here June 17.

burned in two on Houston Street. The intense lightning which accompanied the storm caused lights to dim throughout Ozona, but fortunately the main transformer line was able to remain functional. The damage would have been much greater had not Ozona citizens allowed the WTU workmen to trim the trees away from the power lines earlier this spring, the spokesperson explained. "This was a determining factor in keeping the damage here to a minimum."

No accidents due to the storm were reported by the Department of Public Safety. The State Highway Department also did not attribute any outlying road damages to the storm, which caused 160 mph winds near Del Rio.

The R. A. Harrell ranch south of Ozona reported gusting winds and .8 inch of rain. West of Ozona on the Pecos River, there was no rain reported - just high winds, and one inch of rain by B. B. Ingham. "There was lots of high wind, broken limbs, and a lightning show," Ingham said. East of Ozona at the Circle Bar Truck Stop, the only damage reported by Ed Reneau was to the umbrella awnings at the recreation center. Reneau said the awnings were torn down. Down Taylor Box Road south Buddy and Maggie Moore reported 1.0 inch of rain with moderate winds and no hail.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—John Hill, chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court, returned from China last week to find two of his justices, publicly disciplined two weeks ago, enmeshed in turmoil.

While Hill said he wouldn't ask Justices C.L. Ray and Bill Kilgarlin to resign, State Sen. Frank Tejeda said he will push a resolution to probe charges of judicial impropriety by the pair.

Meanwhile, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Speaker Gib Lewis said they will appoint a 15-member panel to study judicial reform in general. So far, they haven't responded to House Republicans who want to consider impeachment of the two Democratic justices.

Hobby and Lewis have more important things on their minds right now. Some lawmakers have publicly criticized them, along with Gov. Bill Clements, for the Legislature's failure to adopt a state budget during the regular session.

Budget All-Important

Right now, for them and Texas, the budget is all-important. This special session cannot fail to adopt at least a one-year budget. Too little time is left to allow the type of political games that were played in the regular session.

In fact, those who seem to know the rules say the budget decision was postponed to separate it, and save it, from the inevitable political maneuvering.

Chairman to Cut

So far, work on the budget hasn't been going all that well. The House Appropriations Committee, unable to agree on cuts, went home last week and left chairman Jim Rudd to make about $1 billion in cuts by himself over the weekend.

That act was remarkable, not only for the displayed trust in Rudd, a conservative Democrat, but for the gesture of throwing the ball back into the leadership's lap.

The committee won't necessarily rubber stamp the results, but it gives the leadership a chance to write its case.

Two Percent Hike

This version may well wind up being the form for the new budget. Lewis and the House have been caught from the start between Clements with his no new tax stance and Hobby and the Senate's pro-tax program.

Last week, Hobby met with some 50 business leaders and afterwards said all state taxes might be raised two percent.

Those attending the meeting said that several new taxes were discussed, including state income and corporate taxes. Apparently no one suggested cutting the budget to meet current revenue levels.

Burden on Lewis, House

The governor immediately responded by adding a ban on state income taxes to the special session agenda.

Thus, the special session opened last week with Clements and Hobby unchanged in their positions and poles apart.

The burden of compromise falls on the shoulders of Lewis and the House leadership, Democrats and Republicans alike, to come up with a state budget for Texas.

Bills Signed

Clements continued to sign bills into law, including a repeal of the sales tax on newspaper and magazine subscriptions.

He also signed a pro-business package which creates a state department of commerce, partially deregulates the trucking industry and rewrites civil justice laws.

Other Highlights

• Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro last week told Congress that ships use the Gulf of Mexico daily as a garbage disposal, causing tons of refuse to wash ashore.

A high-ranking Navy official promised that the U.S. Navy fleet would not participate in such pollution.

Mauro said some 20,000 ships docked in Texas last year and only 90 turned in any garbage at port. The rest dumped their waste at sea, costing the state about $14 million to clean up.

• Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox accused airlines of practicing "bait-and-switch" advertising and asked consumers to send in complaints. He alleged airlines are advertising discounted fares but not making an adequate number of seats available.

Airline officials strongly denied the allegation. They will meet with Mattox to discuss consumer complaints.

• The Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority is reconsidering sites along the I-35 corridor from Dallas to Laredo.

JW Motor Parts changes hands

P-Nut Sanders
J. W. Motor Parts manager

J. W. Motor Parts has been sold to Gene and Betty Perry. The sale was effective June 10, said Mrs. J. W. Johnigan.

The store had been owned and operated by J. W. Johnigan since January of 1968 when he bought the business from Jack Probst Sr. until his death in December of 1986.

Four employees, Ross Huffstедler, Lonnie Doris, Byrl Allen and Roxie Smith, have been employed at J. W. Motor Parts during the 19 years of Johnigan ownership.

The most outstanding business related event which happened to the Johnigans was in 1969, said Mrs. Johnigan. While attending a products show in San Antonio, she signed up for and won, a door prize of a week's vacation for two in Paris, France.

"It was wonderful," said Mrs. Johnigan of the trip. Their daughter, Charlotte, and her family lived in Heidelberg, Germany at the time, and drove to Paris to be with her parents.

"That got us started traveling," said Mrs. Johnigan. The couple shared many wonderful trips to European countries and two trips to Hawaii.

"I want to thank all my customers for their patronage during the 19 years. It's been pleasant working with people in the city, and I hope they will continue to give the new owner their support," said Mrs. Johnigan.

Perry, a Crockett County rancher and owner of Perry Motor Company, which has two locations, has hired P-Nut Sanders to manage J. W. Auto Parts.

"We plan to give the same service and continue to maintain the relationship J. W. had with all other garages and his customers," said Perry.

The business will remain in its 11th Street location. The store will maintain its Car Quest affiliation and will also be doing business with a number of other suppliers to provide a good selection of automotive parts for Ozona.

Reavis, Hood attend symposium

Thirty outstanding students and teachers from the area served by West Texas Utilities Company attended the 27th Annual Texas Energy Science Symposium at the University of Texas at Austin. The Conference got underway Monday, June 8th and ended Thursday, June 11th.

Sponsored by WTU from Ozona were science teacher Frank Reavis and outstanding science student Bret Hood.

The 400 selected Texas high school science students and teachers who attended the sessions were offered the rare opportunity of hearing lectures by some of the nation's outstanding scientists.

The symposium was jointly sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the University of Texas. West Texas Utilities is one of the Foundation's sponsoring companies. WTU paid all expenses for the 30 students and teachers attending from schools in the area served by the company.

The Foundation was formed for the primary purpose of conducting the world's first and largest privately financed research effort in the field of energy. Currently, the Foundation and the University are sponsoring a program in nuclear fusion research aimed at controlling thermonuclear reactions for the production of electric power.

The goal of the Foundation and WTU is not research alone, but to also assist in the advancement of the knowledge of energy science in Texas schools. Of special interest to the sponsors is bringing to students and teachers a realization of the privileges, responsibilities and opportunities which scientific discoveries in the field of energy presents.

There are more than 1,000 accredited senior high schools in the state of Texas. Ozona High School was one of 150 schools in the state invited to send students and teachers

Miss June remembers early Ozona

By Cynthia Harrell Hodges

The legacy of generosity and love left by her parents, pioneer Crockett County residents Phil and Mary Ross Perner, continues today in the life of Mrs. June Perner Clayton Henderson.

Though Miss June represents the last surviving member of this pioneer family, the silver-haired gracious woman looks not to the past but to the future.

Her Crockett County roots started in 1893, long before her birth, when Phil and Mary Perner first moved to Ozona.

They established a general merchandise store on the corner of the town square where the Watson's Department Store, Upham Insurance and Happy Hollow now stand. The stone building held a variety of wares from horse collars, stoves, staples, tools, buggies to windmills, pots and pans and even fine fabrics, all purchased during biannual San Antonio buying trips. Not content to merely run a local business, Mr. Perner brought the first registered sheep to this area in 1894. The sheep were soon replaced on his ranch south of Ozona by registered Hereford cattle.

Miss June, a mere three-year-old toddler when her father died suddenly in 1905 at the age of 46, cannot remember the Carmichael-Perner store. Her older brothers managed the store until it burned in 1926.

Following the death of her husband, Mrs. Perner struggled to keep her large family of 11 children together. A 12th son, Bill, a twin of the late Stephen Perner, died at the age of three months.

Mrs. Perner's proud German heritage and conservatism on family money matters helped her guide her family through the rough times. The Perner family opened its home to boarders during the school year, among them R. A. Harrell and the late Clay Adams. Though raised in the Catholic Church, Mrs. Perner was active in the Methodist Church and "marched her large family to church each Sunday".

Growing up was a lot of fun, Miss June remembered during a recent interview. "I was the youngest of the 12. Mike, Louise and I were the only ones at home when I was older. Stephen, an old bachelor, sometimes came home to see us."

Family life for the Perner children revolved around church activities. Wednesday night prayer meetings and Sunday night services were attended weekly. The youth participated in the Epworth League events (a predecessor of United Methodist Youth Fellowship) led by Mrs. L. B. Cox and Mrs. Elam Dudley.

During her teenage years, Miss June remembers "mama escorting us to dances at the courthouse. We had to have chaperones. A Mexican band supplied the music. The younger teens were chaperoned by the older teens and their parents."

"We also had dances in our own home. We had a Victrola, and every Saturday night, everyone would come to our home and dance," Miss June said.

"Charlie Coates had an old car. He used to pick up a Mexican orchestra and take it around town and serenade my sisters, Phil and Lilly, and their friends. It was quite fun to listen to the serenading."

During her early years, few people had cars. "We walked everywhere. All you had to worry about was an occasional buggy running over you. Antelope even grazed in the town park."

The late Crockett County Sheriff Dave Parker, for years a legendary keeper of the local peace, holds a special place in the heart of Miss June. "He was so good to all of us. He got us Perner orphans complimentary tickets to the circus when it came to town."

During the elementary years, all grades were in one room, Miss June reminisces. "My favorite teachers were Mrs. Margaret Harrison and her sister, Lena. After second or third grade, the rooms were divided, and later on we attended school where the junior high building now stands."

School in later years was a struggle for Miss June. Her troubles started during her freshman year. In 10th grade, she encountered another one, algebra. "I didn't pass algebra, so mama sent me to the Incarnate Word School in San Antonio. There were only 11 grades back then."

Miss June then returned home and worked at the phone company for one year for Mr. Bennett.

In 1923, she married Warren Clayton, and they ranched for 12 years on the Turkey Roost place north of Ozona. Her life suddenly and abruptly changed with Warren's death in 1936 following a bout with pneumonia. In 1937, Miss June married Roy Henderson, who had become a widower when his wife, Pearl, died in 1936.

With her marriage in 1937, Miss June became an instant mother to Roy Henderson Jr. who was 12, and Louise (Bunger). Despite her family obligations, Miss June became the youngest Worthy Matron in the Eastern Star organization in Ozona. She was also active in the missionary society (women's Methodist Missionary Society or MMS) at the Methodist Church.

Miss June's generosity to the people of Ozona is a Christmas tradition. The Santa Claus, which sings for all the young children and not so young, appears on her balcony each December 1. The first Santa was dressed "with Roy's underwear when Roy Jr. was young. We first put him on the chimney, but later moved Santa to the balcony because he broke some roof tiles. The second Santa, which now proudly graces the balcony, was part of a Christmas display at Nathan's Jewelry in San Angelo.

"The Santa Claus tradition was continued after Roy's death," Miss June said. "The children looked forward to Santa appearing. Oscar Kost added the music to the scene, and the youngsters thought Santa was singing to each of them. We used to put Santa on the balcony around the middle of December, but so many people called, he now makes his first appearance December 1."

During her 84 years in Ozona, Miss June has seen the town grow from a small place with only four stores (Mr. Cox's general store, the Perner-Carmichael store and the Bunger and Meinecke grocery stores) to a place with all the modern conveniences. "I remember Mr. Patrick used to bring milk on the milk wagon, and we had no lights. At the ranch, Warren and I had no lights, just Delta lamps until REA (Rural Electrification Administration)."

Clothes were ordered from a catalogue, like Sears, or Lane Bryant. Shoes, which were ordered, sometimes did not fit. "Now we can get things here. Later on we had dress makers, but there was no ready to wear," Miss June said.

Ranching, too, has undergone drastic changes. "We used to go to the ranch and stay for three or more weeks. When I served salmon croquettes, Warren always said it was time to go to town. We would buy 100 pounds of ice for the ice box. Wagons and horseback were used to repair fences and check on the livestock," she explained.

Though Miss June's life has often been touched with sadness, as in the death of her husband, Roy Henderson Sr. in Dec. 1976 following a long illness, her upbeat spirit was best exemplified in 1976 when the Santa Claus tradition continued for the children of Ozona.

Miss June has taken pride in the fact that her smaller extended family have chosen to make Ozona their home. Her step-daughter, Louise Bunger, has long been an Ozona resident. Miss June's grandchildren, George Bunger Jr., his wife Wanda, and their children Helen (Bean) and Louis, all reside in Crockett County. After living in Waco for a time, Miss June's granddaughter, June Bunger Cameron, her husband Tom, and their children, Bonnie and Katy, have returned to their Crockett County heritage.

Though physical limitations such as failing eyesight and a heart problem have slowed her activities, Miss June remains interested in the activities of her family and friends. She has always shared her good fortune with friends and those less fortunate. Ozona can count itself lucky to have Miss June as a part of its colorful past and growing future.

Citizens asked to help protect post office

Texas and Oklahoma continue to be the target of post office burglars, according to Postal Inspector in Charge D. C. Strader, Fort Worth. Strader, whose area of responsibility includes the northern half of Texas (north of Austin) and all of Oklahoma, said that over 50 burglaries will occur within the boundaries of the Fort Worth Division this year if the current trend continues.

Most of the burglaries have occurred at post offices that are located in rural communities that have limited or no local law enforcement available for routine patrols at night.

"A majority of the burglaries do not involve the loss of postal funds, because very little money is kept overnight in post offices and postal stations. Safes and security containers are used to secure the money and blank money orders which are kept overnight," stated Strader. "In addition to burglary-resistant security containers, we are continually adding and updating existing alarm systems where appropriate. However, we need for the residents of each city, town, and community to help us protect their post offices and stations from burglaries and vandalism."

Local postmaster Floyd Hokit emphasized the need for citizen involvement. "Even though postal funds are secured in a safe, burglars who are unsuccessful in attempting to break into a safe will sometimes steal mail left in customers' post office boxes. Even when they don't steal mail, they sometimes just cause malicious vandalism. In either event, it does cost the Postal Service money to repair the damage incurred and for the Postal Inspectors to conduct an investigation. Our local tax money is also spent by our local law enforcement officers who incur expenses, because they are usually the first agency to respond, and they also provide valuable assistance in the investigations to the Postal Inspectors."

Inspectors.

"But the most important reason for citizen involvement is because it causes a hardship to those whose mail is stolen or destroyed as the result of a burglary or a senseless act of vandalism," said Postmaster Hokit.

Residents can help reduce burglaries and vandalism by reporting suspicious activity at or around the postal facilities which occurs after business hours. This activity would include such things as automobiles or trucks with license plates from outside the local area, unfamiliar people asking suspicious questions about the post office or amount of law enforcement patrol at night, or loitering in the post office box lobby or around the post office by groups of young people at night and on weekends when the post office is closed. This information should be reported to the local law enforcement agencies and to the postmaster or station manager.

Post office burglary is a Federal crime which carries a penalty of up to a $1,000 fine or up to five years in prison, or both. The Postal Service offers a standing reward of up to $5,000 for information and services leading to the arrest and conviction of any person responsible for the burglary of a post office. Any information about a post office burglary, or any crime committed against the Postal Service or its employees, should be reported to the local postmaster or the Postal Inspector in Charge in Fort Worth.

The 24-hours number for the Postal Inspector in Charge at Fort Worth is 817/885-1111. Postal Inspectors are also located at Dallas and Lubbock in Texas, and at Oklahoma City and Tulsa in Oklahoma.

"It's your community, your post office, and your mail," said Hokit, "and we need the help of all our citizens in helping to reduce crimes against the Postal Service in our area."

Rachel's Reviews

by Rachel O. Hall

Grandparents' role in families

Some older people feel that they get mixed signals regarding their role as grandparent and their relationship with the grandchildren. On one hand a grandparent may feel needed when asked to babysit the grandchildren but may feel used if this happens too frequently. On the other hand, a grandparent may be so busy she has little time to be involved with grandchildren, but then feels hurt when she is not included in every family event. Another dilemma occurs when a grandparent offers advice to their children on disciplining grandchildren which is sometimes welcome but at other times rebuffed.

In the situations above, as in many other family interactions, it is not only the grandparents who feel as if they are walking a fine line but their adult children as well. It takes clear communication and a willingness to give and take to keep good family relationships. Both generations also need time to themselves. Interdependent families who provide services for each other often "feel" their way through doing too much vs. too little, being too available vs. not available at all and offering too much advice vs. no advice at all. Mutual respect for each other will help the two generations keep a balance, sometimes with little formal discussion.

But even with mutual respect and a sense of give and take, signals can get mixed and result in hard feelings. Clear and open communication regarding needs and concerns is important for reducing mixed signals.

Plan in advance for babysitting needs. Requesting grandparent time in this way demonstrates respect for the older person's personal time. When babysitting is done on a regular basis by a grandparent, have alternative arrangements for days the grandparent wants to attend Senior Camp or a special event. Grandparents can make such needs clearly known well in advance so other sitting arrangements are possible.

If grandparents feel left out of the younger family's activities they may want to think about signals they may be sending. Being rarely available for the younger families may signal a lack of interest. Demanding consideration because of age or status may signal a lack of mutual respect. Criticizing child rearing techniques may signal a lack of trust in the younger generation's abilities and values. Check out signals with adult children when questions arise to foster open communication.

Grandparents have an important role to play with younger families. They can help children bridge the gap between past and present, giving children a sense of values based on years of living. They can share their love and strengths as well as their time. Grandparents can also gain a great deal from positive relationships with their adult children and grandchildren. They can feel needed and loved. They can be part of future generations and achieve a sense of continuity through this.

Stamina, courage mark Jeremy Moran's life

Despite his smallness of stature, the first thing a person notices about five and one-half year-old Jeremy Moran is his love for life.

During his continuing battle against heart trouble, young Jeremy has inspired all who have met him with his continuing courage and stamina.

Jeremy, the young son of Francisco and Gloria Moran, was born with a heart defect. He is scheduled to undergo open heart surgery at Santa Rosa Children's Hospital July 21 in San Antonio. The surgery hopefully will correct the defect, "pretology of fallot on the left artery of his heart," his mother, Gloria, explained. The surgery, to be performed by Dr. Rouse and under the guidance of Dr. Rebolledo, a pediatric cardiologist, is expensive. A benefit dance for Jeremy was held June 19 to assist the family with the medical expenses.

The vivacious youngster first underwent surgery when he was only 15 days old. A second operation followed six days later. Jeremy had to have a third operation when he was 18 months old. "We have taken him to the San Antonio doctors every six months (and sometimes as often as every three months). This past June 1, Jeremy underwent a catheterization. "He has really shown us, his parents, what a real fighter he is," Mrs. Moran said.

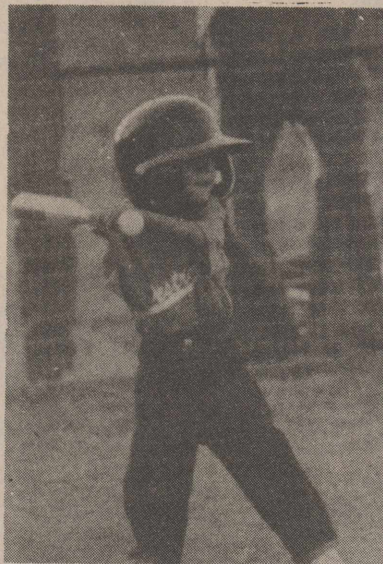

The surgery planned for July hopefully will enable Jeremy to have a more normal life. The youngster plays with his older siblings, Frankie and Frances, and attended pre-school. Recently, Mrs. Moran has noticed the energetic child has started to get tired more easily. "I keep him out of the sun. A Frigidaire (air conditioner) has helped him be more comfortable. I try to do everything I can for him," said Mrs. Moran.

Due to the fact that tiredness often overtakes the energetic youngster, Mrs. Moran, a homemaker, restricted his attendance at pre-school somewhat, over Jeremy's loud objections. His father, Francisco, works for the Gene Lily Construction Company, while Mrs. Moran copes with the home front.

Jeremy loves life. He constantly complains about the fact that the day has ended. "He doesn't want it to get dark." The latest, most exciting thing for the pre-kindergartener has been his acceptance on the T-ball Destroyer team. As a member of the Destroyers, Jeremy played in his first game June 22.

Gloria Moran said that her family had "faith in the Lord. We know that something which is impossible for us is possible for the Lord. I want the people of Ozona to know that their thoughts and prayers have helped keep us strong. We would like to express our gratefulness to the people of Ozona, especially what they have done for our son Jeremy, and the love they have shown him. Our faith stands strong on our belief in Jesus."

As for Jeremy, "we look forward to his recovery," Mrs. Moran said.

Williams to attend range workshop

John Williams has been chosen to attend the Youth Range Workshop at the Texas Tech University Center, Junction, June 21-26. Selection was based on outstanding projects or interest in range management. John's local sponsor is Crockett County Soil & Water Conservation District, a strong supporter of range education and leadership of local youth. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Williams.

The weeklong Youth Range Workshop, sponsored by the Texas Section of the Society for Range Management, is arranged to recognize outstanding range and ranch youth and to provide them an opportunity for complimentary training in range management and leadership skills. According to Barron Rector and B. J. Ragsdale, workshop coordinators from College Station, participants will learn to identify range plants, evaluate rangeland potential and current condition, manage rangeland from livestock production and wildlife habitat and practice ranch planning. Leadership training will feature discussion of interpersonal relations, communications skills and group leading practice. Field trips away from the Center will be to a Kimble county ranch and the Kerr Wildlife Management Area in Kerr County.

Range workshop instructors include Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists, teachers from Texas A&M and Texas Tech Universities, a range specialist from the Soil Conservation Service, and other members of the Texas Section SRM.

This will be the 32nd consecutive year for this educational activity for youth. More than 1,000 youths have benefited.

Sunrise

by Sandra Hancock Stark

Sunrise brings joys anew
 To see and feel and hear.
 Somehow I can understand
 How God is ever near.

Trees of green so silently
 Sway and brush the sky.
 The sun rises and touches heads
 Of hills somewhat nigh.

Birds sing their melodious songs
 As if they were only for me.
 My heart cries out and seems to say,
 "How beautiful can this world be?"

Dew lies sparkling on the rose
 Like tiny stars that have fallen before.
 I suddenly realize what majestic power
 Has made them for us to adore.

Warmth anew. Love. Gratitude.
 A soul restorer which daily dies
 Yet springs anew each new day
 God's reward:

Sunrise!

Morning Prayer

by Sandra Hancock Stark

Thank you, Lord, for this new day....
 For the whisper of birds I can hear;
 For the peach you've given in every way;
 For knowing I can reach out and find You Near.

Thank you, Lord, for guiding me down life's path....
 And for doing all that You have done.
 You've given strength when I have asked
 And saved my soul through Your Son.

I've felt unworthy sometimes to be
 A child of God. Yet, You love me.
 You reached out and laid your hand on my head.
 You left no doubt that your love lives on,
 and I know----

GOD IS NOT DEAD!

Thoughts

by Sandra Hancock Stark

Some birds cannot fly so high
 And brush silver-tipped wings
 Against God's sky.

Some foxes are not so swift
 That they can run
 Across green carpeted hills
 Toward the setting sun.

Just so are some thoughts
 Which cannot be expressed,
 Yet, they burn as a fire
 Within one's breast.

To Share

by Sandra Hancock Stark

The flowing creek
 Through the wood
 That loves to play hide'n seek.
 I would catch it if I could.

The windy day
 In early spring
 Lifts my spirit and makes it sing
 Would forever be mine if it would.

The craggy mountains
 Reaching upward to the sky
 Like solid bastions,
 And sparkling fountains make me wonder why
 They cannot be mine.

The fresh green leaf
 Upon a tree
 Causes my heart much grief
 That it does not belong to me.

But these things, God given,
 Were heaven-sent.
 Their beauty is to be shared.
 They were not meant
 For only me to have and to hold.
 So with my fellowkinsmen,
 Until I am oh, so very old---
 I'll share all Nature's beauty---
 More precious than silver and gold.
