

SCOOP SAYS

By J. M. FORBES

We wish more would get city permits when adding on to their residences or business houses, or when beginning a new structure. The paper could run money talks of buildings here in Muleshoe, and even learn details that would prove interesting if carried in the paper.

In truth the city has an ordinance, enacted some four months ago, that requires us to get a permit for changing, adding on, or erecting new buildings. Some have been complying, some have not, so we don't get a true picture of activity here. But now, the city dads are about to decide the only way we'll comply with this ordinance is if a penalty applies for failure to do so. They don't want to set a penalty, but they might have to.

It costs nothing to get a permit, there is no fee of any kind.

If we now had the figures to publish, I believe it would surprise everyone that so much activity is going on at the present time. It's not like 1955, but it's surprisingly brisk.

In the Lubbock paper, a large grocery announces it has contracted yearly for choice grain fed beef direct from Mr. H. M. Gable feed lots at Muleshoe. The advertisement carried an excellent picture of the Gable Hereford steers and said the beef is fed a special grain mixture 110 days to obtain tenderness, texture, and full flavor.

The Gables are carrying on a large feeding operation at their place northeast of town. The Journal hopes to "do" the layout one of these days.

These farm stories carried by The Journal from time to time, written by Carroll Pouncey of our staff, are so good that I am about ready to start farming. Of course you know newspaper people had rather write and talk than to act.

Point of this is to bring out that The Journal is publishing some very interesting information about agriculture, our mainstay here in this irrigation area. Pictures used with the stories are an inspiration to us all, and a reminder that we are fortunate to be living in such a fertile, productive section.

Reflecting the general prosperity also are the stories and pictures of new homes in the city and on the farms. Next home to be described, I think, is that of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Andrews, which recently received a handsome addition. Pouncey does these stories masterfully too, in our opinion.

The Ernest Kerrs have developed a lawn in a short time that is a beauty spot of our fair city. It's large and well groomed and it's something nice to look at.

Well, with some 65 blocks to be paved in our city, perhaps more, you will see by another year more improvements of premises here than in many years. One can hardly imagine the change this additional paving is going to make. The paving company and the city dads have done a pretty wonderful job with the program.

"I have noticed", the Dallas business man said, "that towns which pave are the towns which grow. There are many unpaved blocks in the older parts of Dallas, none in the new additions."

Insurance Rate In Muleshoe May Be Reduced Soon

City officials were told this week that within 60 to 90 days, there is a possibility that the insurance rate for Muleshoe may be lowered by inspectors of the Texas Insurance Commission at Austin.

The inspectors were here talking with Mayor W. T. Bovell and members of the City Council, prior to ending in a team of men to make a re-evaluation of insurance statistics in Muleshoe.

The Weather

Hot and dry weather continued over the West Plains this week, with no reports of moisture to relieve the situation farm-wide. Outlook for the next five days appears to be for more arid and extra warm weather. Crops are needing moisture right at the moment, and some are beginning to show signs of the long dry period.

The group of visitors will be entertained at breakfast at Leigton's Cafe and taken for a tour of area farm lands before going downtown to visit in stores and business establishments. The flight to Muleshoe is the second goodwill flight to potential markets made this year by the Amarillo men. They are coming to Muleshoe to cement relations between the two communities based on the $14.6 million income potential to be derived from farm operations in the area.

The 18 planes will be met by Mayor W. T. Bovell and Chamber of Commerce president Murl Wilson, heads of a welcoming committee of local people. Presidents and representatives of the Lions club, Rotary and JayCees clubs will be official hosts for the breakfast and for a conducted farm tour of the impressive crops in Bailey County.

Mantooth Admits Mules May Win; Or On Other Hand, They Might Not

With all the optimism of a bear with a burned paw, Coach Wayne Mantooth admitted this week that all other things being equal, his 1956-57 Muleshoe Mules might win some games this fall. But on the other hand, they might not. This is considered equal to five star final when a coach even admits that he has given some thought to the possibility that his team might turn out to be winners. Poll takers would probably consider it a significant pronouncement, but Coach is tempering his optimism with fatalistic pessimism.

He has 10 returning letter men coming out for workouts beginning August 27, as well as a like looking crew of freshmen which hold the hopes for a district crown, as far as Mantooth is concerned. Of the returning lettermen, Dickie Johnson will probably be calling signals from the QB spot, after having spent the summer working on his pitching arm. Whether this portends an aerial attack this fall, Mantooth has not said, but he will admit that passing would help the team.

Other returning varsity men include Black Will, Jennings Roark Sanders, Shepherd, Young, Eason, and Coralis. "B" squad men expected out for workouts include the Turnertwins, Edgar Martin, Jack Wright, Charles White, Marlin Mills, Roger Mitchell, Gerald Shanks and Travis Fudge. The Frosh coming up, and some of whom will undoubtedly play varsity ball include Oliver, Pierce, Camp, Shaefer, Lyndel Black, Clark and Hawkins. Coach Mantooth will tell you that Derrell Oliver and Donnie Shaefer show considerable promise in the back positions, and that he has hopes for them, either this year or in the future. The eighth grade team will have as its mainstays Julian at left tackle, Wyatt at center, Gore at right tackle, Patton at FB and Donaldson at HB. The first game will be played by the varsity squad at Portales September 7.

SCRIMMAGE

A pre-season scrimmage will be held in Benny Douglass stadium September 1 at 8 p. m., against Farwell. The public is invited.

Workouts will be held, beginning August 27 from 7-9 a. m. and from 7-9 p. m. daily, Mantooth said.

The Mules will play host to Sudan, Morton and Springlake on September 14, 21 and 28, before meeting Hale Center there on October 5. Conference play for district 2-AA will begin October 19 against Olton here. October 12 is an open date for the team. The Mules journey to Dalhart October 26, and meet Canyon at Canyon November 2. Canyon, incidentally, is the team to beat, as far as the present outlook in the conference is concerned. Dimmitt will play here November 9, and final conference game will be against Tulla there on November 16.

B TEAM SCHEDULE

The B team will play Olton Sept. 13 there; Springlake, Sept. 22 here; Friona here Sept. 27; and Springlake there on Sept. 29. Olton here Oct. 4; Tulla there, Oct. 11 and Friona there Oct. 18. Littlefield there Oct. 25 and Canyon Nov. 1 here. Despite authorization to hire another assistant coach, Mantooth reports no success so far in filling the post. A distinct

CLINIC REPORT
Chiropractic Has Brought Health and Happiness To These People—

Elbert Hubbard Writes of Health
The late Elbert Hubbard, one of the most brilliant writers of recent times, personally investigated the claims of Chiropractic. He wrote in his book, "The Science of Keeping Well":
"Above all things, a good chiropractor has faith in nature. He does not make the proud boast that he cures people. He knows that it is nature that heals. The Chiropractor puts his patients in line with the healing forces of Nature. The Chiropractor does not pin his faith in any single panacea. He simply knows the physical fact that a pressure of bone on the nerve brings about a condition where the telegraph system fails to act properly. With skilled hands he brings about the right relationship and proper adjustment. He finds the cause and removes it. Chiropractors are doctors of health. From them we get a new science which is adding greatly to the happiness and welfare of the world."
HEADACHES — BACKACHES
Case History: Lady, Age 62; Symptoms and Case History: Headaches; Backaches; Legs Weak; Hurting in arms and legs; Hurting in left side; Occasional stomach trouble; Constipation; and, insomnia or sleeplessness.
She came to the Chiropractic Clinic for an examination. The Spinal X-Ray Analysis revealed many distortions of the vertebrae in the spinal column. The Spinal Nerve Test Analysis determined the amount of Nerve Pressure leading to the affected regions of her body.
The nerves were partially blocked, or cut off in her vertebrae.
After taking a series of Chiropractic Health Service the causes of this lady's troubles were corrected as proved by post X-Ray Spinal Analysis. She now enjoys health and happiness as stated in her last visit for a check-up she said, "I feel so much better than I have in many years and I am thankful that I found out about chiropractic in time. It is a wonderful feeling to find out about chiropractic in time."

Child's Fever Vanishes After Adjustments
Back to school check-ups should include spinal check-up.
Falls or other jolts coupled with fatigue always precede fevers, colds, and even polio, because the fall or joints of the points of the spine, causes nerve end irritations that become inflammations of the spinal cord, or other membranes such as the nose and throat.
An eight year old boy was brought to us by a patient of ours. He had a fever and was vomiting. Our examination and X-Rays located the area of injury and nerve interferences. Immediately after the first adjustment, the fever receded and vomiting was replaced by sound sleep. In three days he was well.
Our children deserve the best. Don't let them suffer needlessly.

Formerly Miss Peggy Nell McCormick, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. McCormick, of Muleshoe. She is a graduate of Muleshoe high school and attended Draughon's Business College in Amarillo.

Mr. Corder is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Corder, of Seagraves. He graduated in 1954 from Seagraves high school, and attended West Texas State College in Canyon, where he majored in music.

The impressive double-ring ceremony was read at 8:00 o'clock in the evening by Delos Johnson, uncle of the bridegroom, of Midland. Mr. McCormick escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. Her floor-length gown of white lace and satin was designed with an empire waistline and portrait neckline. Long fitted sleeves tapered to points over the hands. A bouffant skirt stemmed from the waist. Bailey County is one of 14 counties which will have a county agricultural exhibit at the Panhandle South Plains Fair September 24-29, announced Superintendent Lowell D. Richardson.

The county's entry was submitted by County Agent J. K. Adams. Each county entering booths in the agricultural show automatically receives a $50 participation award, providing the quality of the booths is educational in nature and acceptable to the officials of the agriculture department.

Purpose of the agriculture building exhibits is to be a "Show Window" of South Plains agriculture, and only deserving exhibits will be paid the $50 cash award.

All county exhibits will be carefully and tastefully arranged. Neatness, attractiveness and general arrangement of the exhibits will be scored on a basis of 100 points. Each county must have 25 different kinds of agricultural crops which shall be selected and scored for a total of 900 points. The total possible score will be 1,000 points.

Golden pheasant, traditionally the delicacy of Oriental mahobos, is fast becoming as commonplace in American restaurants as the plebian hamburger. At least one Muleshoe cafe operator began this week serving half a pheasant on his menu, right alongside, and comparatively priced with the everyday fried chicken.

Butch Baker, genial host at Ye Cross Roads Cafe, is serving pheasant to his customers this week as a sort of trial gesture, to see if the fowl meet with the approval of the customers.

It they do, and Butch thinks they will, he plans to go into the business, on a small scale, of raising and processing his own pheasant and quail for the restaurant.

He has about 700 pheasant of the Chinese "ringneck" variety which he began dressing out last weekend. The birds are raised in broiler racks, after being hatched in Baker's own incubators.

His back yard has been converted into a maze of pens and runways, and his garage houses the incubator and brooder banks.

In addition to the ringneck and golden pheasant, Butch has Amherst and white pheasant; chukkar, blue, mexican and northern bob white quail, guinea and several head of frying size chickens, which he is disposing of this week also.

Began as a hobby, Baker has found the birds offer more than a pastime. They can form the basis of a profitable sideline business venture in connection with his cafe business. They can also serve as the basis for a breeding and stocking program to release hundreds of young game birds in the Muleshoe area to furnish sport for area hunters in years to come.

Baker points out that a large population of game birds in a farming area offer much in the way of insect control, citing the case of one farmer who credited a large covey of quail with saving his cotton crop from insect damage.

Any region noted for plentiful birds will attract hunters and thus bring more outsiders to an area, adding somewhat to the economy of the area, as has been done in the pheasant regions of North and South Dakota.

Last week, Baker released a flock of ordinary guineas in the sand hills near Muleshoe, hoping that they will survive and propagate. Guineas are naturally elusive and offer good sport to the more skillful hunter.

Housed in the backyard in close proximity to the bird pens is Butch's pointer dog. Strangely enough, having all those birds, right under her nose, so to speak, has had no ill effects on the dog's eagerness to point birds in the field.

If the experiment is successful, and patrons like the pheasant, which Butch declares resembles quail in taste and flavor, he plans to move outside the city next year and go into large scale raising of the birds.

The birds are fed on Purina game bird feed, high in protein, which is made for pheasant and quail. The birds do not eat this food rapidly, and grow off more slowly than chickens.

Cannibalism among the pheasant has cut down on the current output, as has some loss through birds escaping. Of those that escape, Baker hopes they elude housecats, town dogs, and other predators and live to find refuge in the sandhills, where they may propagate and eventually turn the area into a hunters' paradise.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

This year finds many acres of land with no crop growing on them; there are other areas which have insufficient cover to protect these areas from blowing during that critical season, November through April.

If you have such areas on your farm, it is suggested that you drill these areas to sorghum, sudan or millet to provide a dead cover which will not take moisture in the winter but will adequately protect the land from wind damage.

If you have preference to a growing cover which may be grazed or harvested for a cash crop it would be well that you consider rye, rye and vetch, or possibly some other small grain.

There was field of rye on very sandy land southeast of Muleshoe this spring which provided the best of cover crop during the most critical parts of the windy season. No doubt you observed this field of rye on the Vise farm if you travel the road to Sudan.

All conservationists were very impressed by the excellent cover. The best dead cover for dry land is probably drilled sorghum or millet during the month of August. Rye is no doubt the best growing cover in dryland. It should likewise be seeded in August to give best cover to cotton land.

Where growing covers of rye are used on dry land it is believed that cotton should be seeded on sorghum stubble, while the cotton land which has the rye cover be followed by sorghum or sudan.

REMOVE DEAD FROM BLAST AREA — Rescue workers remove the body of a blast victim in Cali, Columbia, as the clean-up operation continues after seven trucks loaded with Government dynamite exploded. The death toll has been estimated to be as high as 1,000 and over 2,000 buildings have been destroyed or damaged. Pres. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla charged that the blast, which destroyed the center of the city, was an act of political sabotage.

COTTON INSECT REPORT

Scattered showers, with occasional heavier rains, fell over the area during the past week. Falls were generally too light to offer much relief where soil moisture was low. Weather conditions were favorable for insect activity, particularly that of the bollworm.

Fleahoppers were reported in light to medium infestations in most cases. Heavier infestations were found in occasional fields in Floyd, Hale, Hockley, Lubbock and Swisher counties. Where cotton is heavily fruited control may not be necessary even when fleahopper counts seem fairly high. In such fields terminals should be checked for loss of tiny squares as well as fleahoppers infestations. Where plants already have more fruit than can be matured, set of additional fruits by control of fleahoppers would offer little return.

Bollworm activity increased with a greater number of fields showing infestations. Although infestations were generally light, worms were reported in damaging numbers in many fields in most counties in the area. Many growers are now applying insecticides for control of the insects. All cotton should be checked at frequent intervals for appearance of eggs and small worms. Control infestations while worms are small, and repeat applications of insecticides until the populations have been effectively checked.

Cabbage loopers were present in most cotton fields. Infestations ranged from light to heavy. Where bollworm control applications have been made, populations of the loopers have generally been substantially reduced. Should infestations indicate a need for control insecticide applications should be made while loopers are small.

Lygus bugs were reported in light infestations in Briscoe, Scurry, and Terry counties and

Your directors have set the date for the annual Farm Bureau Convention a month earlier this year, in an effort to give you a better opportunity to attend. September 24, the date set, comes before milo harvest is too far under way. Your directors hope this will enable you to be on hand and support or protest any proposals that may be presented. They will be much happier if there is lots of discussion of all resolutions before they are voted upon. When nobody says anything, it indicates they may not understand the proposal, or that they inwardly do not favor it too highly. All resolutions prepared by your committee for presentation will be in the hands of all members several days before the convention. This will give you an opportunity to read and discuss them with anyone you wish before the convention.

Though you have until October 1 to file, if you haven't claimed the two cent per gallon Federal Road Tax refund on your farm used gasoline, do it now before you forget it. We will be happy to help you with it in the office, or you can do it yourself. All you need to know is how many gallons you used between January 1 and July 31. No papers need be sent in with your claim.

We met Lonnie Bass, columnist for Bailey County Farm Bureau, the other night at the Bovina experiment farm meeting. He is doing a good informative job of reporting to their people in the Muleshoe Journal. More people need to know what Farm Bureau is doing, whether they approve or disapprove. This way, they can change the part they don't like to what they do like. And people of experience all over the world say that only the honestly informed people can be free people.

THE SOIL BANK AND THE DROUGHT FARMER

In its clamor to relieve the bad situation of our nation's farmers through the recently adopted and inaugurated soil bank program, the administration is all but bypassing the very farmer who needs help most — the drought farmer.

Payments have already begun for those who choose to relieve surpluses by plowing under crops or letting potentially productive soil remain idle. But, for the farmer whose land refuses to grow crops because nature's water supply has been temporarily withdrawn, no help is forthcoming.

The intent of the program passed this year by Congress is to base soil bank payments on normal production, with the main purpose being elimination of surpluses.

A realistic interpretation of the measure would base consideration on production from a normal 10-year period. As it stands now, payments are being based on this season's potential production. This leaves hundreds of drought-ridden Texas farmers out in the cold with a small token crop failure sum, plus the right to graze their grassless land.

Are the drought farmers whose crops failed to come up relieving the surplus problem any less than those who set aside productive land for the same purpose? Our parched but otherwise fertile farms are just as idle as any soil "banked" in producing areas this season.

The soil bank system should not reward a man for plowing under a productive crop and then penalize a man for having a crop failure. The results are the same in both cases. Neither produces a surplus of goods, if that's what the program is for.

The soil bank could be one of

Overseas Sales Of Farm Produce Upped In 1956

Surplus agricultural commodities valued at about $1 1/2 billion have been sold to foreign countries in exchange for their own currency since September 1954. Of this, sale of $750 million worth was arranged for in the first six months of 1956, says Extension Economist John G. McHoney.

He reports that the USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service has had primary responsibility for these agreements for sales of surplus commodities. The program of foreign surplus sales was provided for by Congress under Title I of Public Law 480. To date 59 agreements with 27 countries have been arranged with 27 of the agreements coming during the first six months of 1956.

Commodities sold for foreign currencies include wheat and wheat flour, feed grains, rice, cotton, dairy products, tobacco, poultry, fats and oils, dry edible beans, fruits and vegetables, meat products, cotton linters and seeds. In terms of dollar value, wheat flour leads the list of commodities exchanged ($526 million worth), with cotton second ($358 million).

The foreign money received is being used to buy strategic materials, for developing agricultural markets abroad, payment of U. S. debts, and loans to friendly countries for trade and economic development.

Public Law 480 provides other ways of disposing of surplus farm commodities. These include shipments for famine relief and other assistance abroad, donations for foreign and domestic relief through non-profit voluntary agencies and inter-Governmental organizations and barter contracts.

Under all these programs, about $3 billion worth of agricultural commodities have been disposed of since the beginning of operations under Public Law 480 in 1954.

It doesn't cost a cent to Take a Ford Test Drive... and you may save hundreds!

Would you trade 20 minutes of your time for a saving of hundreds?

Why put off the fun of a Ford Test Drive for a single day? As you know, it puts you under absolutely no obligation. And it may save you literally hundreds of dollars—we'll get to that a little further on.

By a Test Drive we mean more than a once-around-the-block "spin."

We want you to test the power that rocked Ford to a 500-mile stock car record at Indianapolis... the GO that won the grand prize at NASCAR's Daytona Championships. We want you to feel how this Ford scal pays off in your kind of driving: in traffic, passing on the highway, getting going at traffic lights. We'll put either a Ford Six or a mighty V-8 with up to 225 h.p. at your disposal.

We want you to drive and listen—drive and feel.

That fine-car quiet results from sound insulation under the hood, under the roof, in door and body panels—the most insulation in any car at anywhere near Ford's low price.

Some other things that contribute to that smooth, silent, luxury-car ride are things which Ford's leading competitor certainly can't boast: Ball-joint suspension with wide base control arms for better steering, more stabilized wheel alignment... shock absorbers that are mounted to the frame rather than the body.

"Sure," you'll say as you drive along the road. "Feels pretty good—but after all, this car is new."

Well sir, when you come in from your drive we'll show you why Ford will stay like new for a long, long time.

We'll show you how Ford has five cross-members (including a "K" member) in its frame. Ford's leading competitor only has two. We'll show you the deep-block Y-like engine design which enables Ford engines to take it.

Now—what you've been waiting for. How can you save hundreds of dollars by taking a Ford Test Drive?

Simply by proving to yourself that there really is a fine car in the low-price field.

You see, the reason a Ford does not cost hundreds of dollars more than it does, is Ford's huge production and the huge volume which we Ford Dealers sell.

But enough of this talk. Come in. And you do the driving and the talking. Bring the family, too.

Babson Discusses INSTALLMENT SALES

Babson Park, Mass., Aug. 16 — My grandson, Roger Babson Webber, is much interested in the study and relationship of future consumer purchasing to the books which people now read, the phonograph records they now buy, and the movies they now attend.

THE "SIXTEEN TON" STORY

This is a song of a man working in the mines, whose job was to dig sixteen tons of "number nine coal" every day and who bought all his supplies at the company store.

Of course, consumers have a perfect moral right to borrow in order to enjoy automobiles, refrigerators, radios, and probably television sets. There is no moral reason why a working man should not be entitled to use credit — as well as his employer — even though this is a custom which did not prevail fifty years ago.

MOST MERCHANTS MUST GIVE CREDIT

The "Five and Ten-Cent" variety stores have built up a huge business on an all cash, no delivery, and now self-service basis. There will always be a field for such stores, but to operate successfully, they must get the benefit of huge buying power through large chains.

CONSUMERS MAKE BUSINESS CONDITIONS

Business conditions are not determined by bankers or politicians or even by the leaders in your community. Now, my grandson's important question today is whether consumers are getting tired and want to rest, or whether they are still determined to "keep up with the Joneses".

I see no sign of this at the present time. In fact, if it should come now, Congress would take immediate steps to check it. Probably the proposed tremendous new road-building campaign is partly to insure continued prosperity.

WHAT SHALL WE ALL DO

We should not suddenly abandon installment purchases. But we all — whether merchants or consumers — should avoid getting into the pessimistic mood of the poor fellow digging the "sixteen tons of number nine coal."

I have often suggested to merchants that they have a price differential between cash and installment sales, but they tell me this is practically impossible. It seems, however, that the merchants' associations could prevent the situation from becoming worse.

THIS WEEK — In Washington

Clinton Davidson

Figures, they say, are nice to look at but make dull reading. Washington has mostly the kind intended to be read rather than looked at, but not all of them are dull.

Our favorite place to gather statistics is the Census Bureau. We think you will be interested in some called "Farm Population Trends." It isn't too surprising that since 1950 more than 10 million people have moved from farms to cities.

We've always heard that the country is a nice place to be born in and a fine place to live. The Census Bureau confirms that. Births on farms outnumber deaths by about three to one. From 1950 to 1955, the figures are 2,895,000 births, and only 963,000 deaths.

Farm births outnumber farm deaths by about 400,000 a year. Fewer than half of the babies born on farms live as we have now, to a time when there were fewer than half as many people in the United States.

Half of the farmers in the country live in the 11 Southern States. In 1954, Census figures show Southern farmers numbered 10.9 million out of a total farm population of 21.9 million. In 1920, there were over 17 million Southern farmers.

The next biggest concentration of farmers live in the North Central States. At the latest count, there were 7 million in those States, compared with 10 million in 1920.

The big migration from farms to cities began in the 1920-30 decade, when farm income was low and job opportunities in cities were increasing. But, with hard times in both cities and on farms, from 1930 to 1940, there was a small net gain in farm population.

The Census Bureau doesn't forecast population shifts, but officials say that, unless something happens to upset the present trend, the farm population in 1965 will be about 17.5 million, or about 10% of the total U.S. population.

Sand Hills Philosopher PAUSES TO GIVE THOUGHT TO FARM PROBLEMS

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has been listening to the national convention, but apparently not closely enough, his letter this indicates.

I have been following the national political conventions pretty close lately but in between major speeches and during recesses I've been keeping some newspapers handy to brush up on my mental work, and the other day while the delegates were recovering from a speech solving the farm problem and before they settled down to hearing the foreign situation taken care of, I flipped through a paper and ran into an article that said that in spite of the drought in many areas the nation's farm surplus will double in the next ten years.

If that's true, and despite the drought I notice the nation is going to produce about as much this year as it did last year, then the problem of what to do with surplus farmers still remains. I have seen several answers to this problem but haven't made up my mind.

For example, one expert says farms should be taken out of politics. Another says they should be taken out of production.

The only trouble with these two solutions is that they won't work. Trying to take the farm out of politics is sort of like trying to take Congress out of existence. And trying to take a farm out of production is sort of like trying to teach a cow to eat up to your property line and not step into the adjoining pasture when the fence is down.

To tell you the truth, and I don't want this to get around to the politicians as I like to see something in all platforms about the farm problem, it's sort of like seeing your own name in the newspaper, it doesn't mean anything but it reads good, but as I say, to tell you the truth, I don't think there is a solution to the farm problem. Eliminating the farm problem is about like eliminating the tax problem, or the problem of eventually needing a new car. All such problems are here to stay.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

Today's Meditation

Read Hebrews 11:23-29.

Hast thou faith? have it to thyself before God. (Romans 14:22.)

The people of a certain church had saved some money to build an education building by their church. An assembly of church members was held. The pastor presented the construction plans and estimated cost of the new building.

In opposition somebody said: "I consider it a great risk to take so large responsibility when our available money for this purpose is very little more than the amount of the first installment to be paid." The pastor replied: "If my brother has faith, let all be in the hands of the heavenly Father."

Two years later the building was finished. The beautiful building was an eloquent evidence of the truth how men can receive from God's hands when they have faith in God.

Now, if somebody talks of this building as a victory of men only, the pastor says, in protest, "No! It was a work of the faith!"

PRAYER

O God, we praise Thee for the unshakable faith Thou dost give. We praise Thee for Thy servants of long past days and of people we know today. Use us to do something for Thy great kingdom. We ask it in our Saviour's name. Amen. THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: God makes victories for people who have faith in Him. Tavares Franco (Brazil)
