Quiet holiday for Ozona

Crockett County experienced a quiet Fourth of July weekend according to reports from Sheriff Billy Mills and DPS Sergeant Glen Redmon.

The legal sale of beer in the county did not seem to increase the number of disturbance calls or arrests, said Chief Deputy Jim Wilson.

Shot's #2, Shot's #4 and Kwick Marc had been approved for sales with supplies arriving Friday afternoon.

Legal sales within the county are expected to end trips to The Line, long-time supplier of alcoholic beverages in the community.

No major accidents were reported in the county. Damage did occur to the lawn and a tree at the Terry Gries home caused by an unknown driver.

The Fourth of July celebration sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Monday had a modest attendance. The 4-H dunking booth drew the largest crowd of on-lookers as Tamie Reagor courted pneumonia to brave the icy water time after time.

Other activities included the EMS ring toss booth, Boy Scout bean bag toss and sand scoop and a late breaking washer pitching contest.

Rick Bachman demonstrated the art of making arrowheads at the Crockett County Museum booth, and San Angelo artist Lorenzo exhibited his Western watercolors.

Food booths included: Southside Lions, Matilda Camarrillo and Rebecca Sanchez, Knights of Columbus, Rebecca Martinez, Xi Sigma Omega and OLPH Church.

Offering crafts were booths by Alma Longoria and Margaret Castellano, Lupe Longoria and Laurie Martinez.

Leading the way to Crockett County Museum during Fourth of July activities Monday were Luke McMullan, Lana Stewart and Jake Stewart, grandchildren of Lorelei and Pancho McMullan. Lorelei's doggie lamb, Rambo, was the helpful sign carrier for the museum.

I-10 roll-over fatal to LA man

A pre-holiday accident took the life of a Metairie, LA man June 29 eight miles west of Ozona in Crockett County. John P. Bernard, 17, was the driver of a 1985 Ford Bronco II which overturned 3½ times in the 12:20 p.m. accident.

According to investigating officer Trooper Richard Barton, Bernard was westbound in the right lane of I-10 when his vehicle drifted to the gravel shoulder. The driver corrected, and the Bronco went into a side skid as it hit the improved shoulder.

Bernard, who was wearing a seat belt, was partially ejected when the left portion of the roof was crushed on the first roll.

A passenger, Cheryl Flo Metson of Phoenix, AZ, was also injured in the accident. She, too, was wearing a seat belt. She was taken to San Angelo for treatment and released the following day according to DPS Sergeant Glen Redmon.

Sales added to emergency feed assistance measure

Crockett County was approved for emergency feed assistance on June 1. At that time the ASCS was only assisting on feed that was bought by producers.

Crockett County has now been approved to sell government corn and grain sorghum. The price will be 75 percent of the loan rate for the county in which the feed is stored. Counties having corn and grain sorghum in storage are: Uvalde, Medina and Frio. Counties having grain sorghum in storage are: Tom Green, Concho, Runnels, Jones and Martin.

Producers can use their eligibility in the emergency feed program or the emergency feed assistance program of both.

"If you have not made an application and want to, please do so as soon as possible," said Laurie Hale.

If you have made an application and had feed on hand or have purchased feed, the ASCS office would like to have your bills through June in the office by July 8. The longer you wait the longer payment will be delayed.

Producers will be mailed a letter indicating the amount of feed they are eligible to purchase; again, this cannot be done until all feed tickets are in the office.

The feeding period for Crockett County will run for 60 days. The feeding period starts the day you sign your application, not on June 1. If conditions have not improved, then at the end of 60 days, producers will need to make another application. Payments will be made to producers every 30 days.

If you have questions on the feed program, please contact the office at 392-3702.

"Ozona, Land of Fleecy Flocks" considered as slogan ...

Ozona sign reflects history

An Ozona landmark was back in place last week after a long-needed refurbishing. The Ozona sign again sits atop its post at the corner of Ave. E and 11th Street after repairs and a paint job at Signco in San Angelo.

When originally ordered in 1929, the welcome sign cost $195 delivered from bidder Textlite Sign Company of Fort Worth. Another $155 put the sign in position at what was then the intersection of Powell Ave. and Broadway. The expense was paid by donations from townspeople and ranchers.

According to Don Long who spearheaded the repairs, replacement of the neon bulb, replacement of a broken letter and painting cost approximately $1,000. And again, the project is being paid for by public subscription.

Four major donations have been received, but more are needed to complete the project.

Long became interested in repairing the sign shortly after moving to Ozona. "I couldn't find anyone who knew who the sign belonged to," Long said of his early attempts to initiate repairs. About four months ago, he talked with a Signco representative who was in Ozona, and the project got underway.

Replacement of the neon bulbs and painting have been done in the past by former water works manager Bill Cooper, but this is the first major overhaul for the sign, Cooper said.

Community improvements by West Texas Utilities Company in 1928 paved the way for the well-known sign on the square. Installation of the "White Way" in March of 1928 consisting of "14 handsome iron light standards" in the downtown section, eight around the city park and the other six at corners in the business section, soon led businessmen to order lighted signs. In addition, a large 500 candlepower sign reading "Ozona" was placed on top of the courthouse to be seen for many miles by travelers on the roads leading into Ozona.

A grand celebration marked the official illumination of the White Way for the first time May 11, 1928. WTU commercial manager Onstott Drake and manager Tom Onstott hosted a reception at the company's new office building and ice plant prior to the lighting of the square. The day ended with a dance hosted by WTU.

which had been chartered Monday, May 7, 1928 with 34 members.

The suggestion that the name Ozona and a slogan be featured for the welcome sign planned by the Lions was made by WTU district assistant superintendent George Murphy of San Angelo at a meeting of the club. A slogan that would be easily read and remembered was the desired outcome.

In a report of the meeting in the Aug. 23, 1928 issue of The Stockman, Murphy told the Lions that "West Texas Utilities Company would furnish power for the electric sign and maintain it free of charge forever."

A prize of $10.00 was announced when a slogan contest began after the meeting. Prize money offered by the club mounted from a first place prize of $10 to add a second prize of $5.00 and a third place prize of $2.50. Every community member was urged to submit an idea for a slogan to be "emblazoned permanently in illuminated letters over the main business street of the city".

An Oct. 11 Stockman account of the selection of winners from a field of 168 lists "Ozona, Land of Fleecy Flocks", submitted by Mrs. J. H. Meredith as the winning slogan. However, Rev. and Mrs. Meredith asked that the choice be set aside as not being fully representative of the area. Second place winner was Mrs. P. T. Robison with "Home of the Rambouillet Sheep". Florene Adams submitted the third place winner, "A Good Place to Live".

The request that the winning slogan not be used led to a selection by Lions Club members at their Nov. 19 meeting. The tide was turned by Bill Jarratt, representative of Security Building and Loan Association of San Angelo who was a club visitor that day. In his greeting, Jarratt mentioned the search for a slogan and said, "In San Angelo, we think of Ozona as the 'biggest little town in Texas'."

That slogan had been originated by Lee Wilson several years before and was one of the contest entries.

"I understand some town in Texas has the slogan 'Biggest Little Town in Texas,'" Mr. Wilson said. "We can go them one better and take in more territory." Thus the name "Biggest Little Town in the World".

Although the sign didn't arrive in time for installation before the Fourth of July rodeo, the nine foot by almost five foot sign was in place by mid-July of 1929.

Set at a 45 degree angle to be visible from all roads leading into town, the sign once again welcomes visitors and stirs residents' pride with its soft neon glow.

TSGRA meet offers protection collar certification course

Producers may want to gather a little early for the 73rd annual Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association convention in San Angelo July 14-16. TS&GRA has arranged for the Texas Department of Agriculture to offer a livestock protection collar training and certification course Wednesday, July 13.

The training program is a natural adjunct to convention activities and will begin at 10 a.m. at the San Angelo Research and Extension Center. It was not on TDA's original schedule of course, but is being offered because of increased interest in the collar as license users have begun reporting a string of successes against problem coyotes.

Collar developer and manufacturer Roy McBride of Alpine will be one of the featured speakers when the TS&GRA convention gets under way at the Convention Center, addressing the Predatory Animal committee at 1 p.m. Thursday, July 14. McBride will discuss the collar, its record so far and his recommendation for getting the most out of the device.

Air Control public meeting at Civic Center July 12

Interested citizens are invited to attend a public meeting at Ozona Civic Center July 12 to discuss concerns regarding possible air quality effects resulting from construction and operation by SPG Exploration Corporation of an amine gas sweetening plant.

The proposed plant will be located approximately two miles south of Ozona along State Highway 163 and 0.5 miles west of Hwy. 163 in the existing SPG plant site. SPG has applied to the Texas Air Control Board for a construction permit to authorize the plant's construction and operation.

The staff of TACB and representatives of SPG will participate in the 7 p.m. hearing.

Ozona Boy Scouts Bruce Beasley, Robert Gentry and Michael Gray prepare to raise the American and Texas flags during the Fourth of July celebration Monday.

Public Notices

PUBLIC NOTICE AS REQUIRED BY THE ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY [EPA] UNDER PUBLIC LAW "FEDERAL SAFE DRINKING WATER ACT" of 1966

Water Customers of Ozona

Dear Mr. Customer:

The United States Environmental Protection Agency [EPA] has adopted requirements that all public water systems notify their customers about the health effects of lead exposure. THIS NOTIFICATION IS INTENDED TO EDUCATE AND INFORM CONSUMERS ON THIS ISSUE IN LIGHT OF THE FACT THAT YOUR DRINKING WATER MAY BE A POTENTIAL SOURCE OF LEAD EXPOSURE. THIS IS BEING DONE EVEN THOUGH YOUR WATER SYSTEM IS NOT IN VIOLATION OF THE CURRENT STANDARD. There are also other potential sources of lead contamination in the environment.

The following specific language is required by the EPA in this notice:

The United States Environmental Protection Agency [EPA] sets drinking water standards and has determined that lead is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. THERE IS CURRENTLY A STANDARD OF 0.050 PARTS PER MILLION [PPM]. THE CCWC&ID#1 DRINKING WATER LEAD LEVEL IS LESS THAN 0.020 [PPM]. Based on new health information, EPA is likely to lower this standard significantly.

Part of the purpose of this notice is to inform you of the potential adverse health effects of lead. This is being done even though your water may not be in violation of the current standard.

EPA and others are concerned about lead in drinking water. Too much lead in the human body can cause serious damage to the brain, kidneys, nervous system, and red blood cells. The greatest risk, even with short-term exposure, is to young children and pregnant women.

Lead levels in your drinking water are likely to be highest:

1. if your home or water system has lead pipes, or
2. if your home has copper pipes with lead solder, and
 - if the home is less than five years old, or
 - if you have soft or acidic water, or
 - if water sits in the pipes for several hours

Ways to avoid potential lead exposure are to "flush" faucets before use and to use cold water for drinking and cooking. You may wish to have your home tap water tested for lead content by a competent laboratory. The CCWC&ID#1 can furnish address of a water lab to perform these tests for the public. You may also wish to check to see if lead pipes, solder, or flux were used in your home plumbing.

[a] Here are steps the water system is taking to mitigate lead content of the drinking water.

Discourage use of lead in solder joints in copper pipe. Locate and remove any lead pipe found in the system.

[b] Here are names and telephone number of water office to contact as a source of additional information.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—When it became official that state Treasurer Ann Richards will deliver the keynote speech to the National Democratic Convention, the Capitol gristmill immediately began to link her future to the White House.

The feisty Texas lady who keeps state money safe and drawing interest would be an excellent vice presidential nominee, her supporters say. Some observers contend that after national delegates hear her speech, they'll think so, too.

Richards, who enjoys great support among Texas women, would naturally be expected to broaden that appeal to women voters in other states. Dead serious about women's issues, she smooths her approach with humor that can match Jim Hightower's.

She would also add a home-grown Texas element to counter Vice President George Bush's residency claim, as well as a Southern appeal to balance Mike Dukakis' Northern base.

Here in Texas, Richards appeals to many in the banking and business communities; she is a favorite among minority leaders.

Gubernatorial Option

So far, Richards has publicly expressed only her goal to run for governor in 1990.

The speculation regarding a place on the national ticket does not come from her office; it comes from Democrats who want a Texan in the White House.

They point out how New York's Mario Cuomo set the Democratic Party on fire with his stirring keynote in 1984, instantly creating for himself a sizeable degree of national popularity.

The Cuomo phenomenon may not easily be duplicated, but Richards was instantly elevated in the eyes of Texas Democrats in her quest for the governor's mansion.

Texas Connections

Certainly, her selection underscores how serious Dukakis considers Texas in the presidential sweepstakes. When Richards delivers her speech, the entire nation will realize the Texas connection.

Richards was an early Dukakis endorsee; her likely gubernatorial opponent in 1990, Attorney General Jim Mattox, only recently climbed on the late train.

The connection list continued to grow when Land Commissioner

Bill and Marie Vanzura of Burleson, friends Beth Boyd had not seen in many years, visited her briefly while passing through Ozona Tuesday.

Lib and Charlie Applewhite had an enjoyable holiday weekend at the fishing lease with his brother, Gene Applewhite of Austin, their children and families, Kip, Vicki, Clifford and Derek Nichols of Shive, Richard, Jill, Trey and Hunter Preston of Eldorado, Shelley, Amberlie, Shannon and Randy Applewhite of Austin, and friends Buff and June Whitten, Holly and Cody Bill of Eldorado.

Shirley Kirby will be the birthday person at her house on July 12.

Birthday wishes go to Steve Williams on July 10.

Garry Mauro was tapped to lead Texas on the platform national committee.

Once Dukakis and Jesse Jackson work out their relationship, then Hightower, who endorsed Jackson early on, will surely receive a starting lineup assignment.

She's A Tough Cookie

Most party leaders agree Ann Richards is a tough cookie who can play hardball with the big boys of Texas politics. In fact, she can probably reach as many diverse groups as any politician around.

A roomful of bankers feel comfortable with her as she moves among them. And she can move a lesbian-gay caucus to tears with a speech about AIDS support.

Why do women voters like her? Because she's dead serious about their issues, and not just the major ones. She rose out of the women's movement and continues to strengthen those ties.

Serious, Not Offensive

Unlike Geraldine Ferraro, or how some perceived Ferraro, Richards knows when to soothe with softness and compassion, when to break the heaviness with comic relief.

She's serious, not overly offensive.

Does she have weaknesses? How will the rest of the nation accept her regional accent which some label a Texas drawl?

Maybe they'll like it. Perhaps they'll love it. Maybe they'll be offended. Richards is used to all three.

One thing is certain, the words she speaks will not be an apology for being Texan.

$2 Billion School Boost

Education Commissioner W.N. Kirby last week unveiled a proposal calling for a $2 billion per year boost in state funding for public schools and the use of state funds for the first time to construct new schools.

The plan was submitted to State Board of Education members as a potential alternative to a court ruling last year that the state's $11 billion-a-year public school finance system is unconstitutional.

Kirby acknowledged that his "blue sky" proposal probably requires more money than lawmakers would be willing to spend. He said the plan "would go a long way toward meeting the requirements of the court order" by state District Judge Harley Clark.

The state has appealed Clark's decision to the 3rd Texas Court of Appeals, and the matter is expected to wind up before the state Supreme Court by year's end.

Staff Disciplined

Sen. Richard Anderson announced last week that one employee has left "by mutual agreement" and several others have been reprimanded in connection with reports that his office billed the state for hundreds of phone calls to campaign consultants.

The Marshall Democrat said that he has also taken other steps to "see that such a mistake is never repeated in my office."

Payne, Rodriquez attend orientation

Oscar Payne and Alfredo Rodriquez of Ozona were among the approximately 85 students and 50 parents attending freshman orientation at Sul Ross State University in Alpine June 23-24.

Mr. and Mrs. Jose Rodriquez accompanied their son Alfredo and attended the activities for parents.

The orientation session was designed to prepare both incoming students and their parents for the fall semester at Sul Ross. The purpose was to acquaint students with the university, give them a preview of college life and the opportunity to meet other incoming freshmen as well as consult with their major advisor and register for fall classes.

While the students were learning what to expect from college life, parents were learning about university programs meeting university personnel and learning about financial obligations. The parents were also taken on a tour of the campus and downtown area.

A second orientation session is scheduled for July 14-15. Anyone interested in attending should call 915-837-8059.

Sheppard tours PAVE PAWS military site

by Susan Sheppard
A I drove through the gates into PAVE PAWS radar facility July 1, I was awed by more chain link fences and patrolling guards. Honored with the privilege to tour this military facility, the prospect of meeting Sen. Phil Graham was just as exciting. It was ushered through a complicated system of turnstiles, then escorted to the main building. Once inside, Lt. Col. John Paul, the 8th Missile

Warning Squadron commander, led me upstairs to the conference room where other reporters and T.V. cameramen were awaiting the senator's arrival. Within a minute of my perfectly timed arrival, the senator arrived. Lt. Col. Paul promptly began with a slide-show and a brief description of what the facility does and how it is crucial to our nation's defense. We then went through a bank vault-type door to the control room where Air Force personnel monitor the computer screens 24 hours a day. After a demonstration of a missile attack as it would appear on the computer ballistic screens, Sen. Gramm briefly fielded questions about current problems and their possible solutions. On the lighter side, he declined to comment on the presidential race. All too soon, time was up, and we were ushered out of the high-security facility and I still hadn't spoken to the senator. I saw my opening as he stopped at the door and held it open for a lady in front of me...and...my pen fell out of my notebook. The senator was gone before I could retrieve it and get outside. Well, I didn't meet a senator, but I did get a first-hand look at the hard work these military personnel do to protect our country.

Drought sales of livestock

 Texas Agricultural Extension

Taxpayers may elect to postpone for 1-year reporting the proceeds from a sale of livestock, including poultry, if the sale was due to drought conditions. This election applies to all livestock held for sale, whether raised or bought for resale. It also applies to livestock used for draft, breeding, dairy, or sporting purposes and held less than 2 years in the case of cattle and horses or less than 1 year in the case of cattle and horses or less than 1 year in the case of other livestock. A drought sale of livestock held for draft, breeding, or dairy purposes may be an involuntary exchange, regardless of how long they have owned the animals.

If, because of drought conditions, a taxpayer sells more animals than he would have sold had he followed his usual business practice, he may elect to include the proceeds from the sale of the additional animals in his income next year instead of this year, but only if the following conditions are met:

- 1) His principal business is farming.
- 2) He uses the cash method of accounting.
- 3) He can show that, under his usual business practices, the sale would not have occurred this year except for the drought.
- 4) The drought has resulted in an area being designated as eligible for assistance by the Federal Government.

Sales made before the area became eligible for Federal assistance still qualify, as long as the drought that caused the sale also caused the area to be designated as eligible for Federal assistance.

Usual business practice. The number of animals a taxpayer would have sold if he had followed his usual business practice in the absence of the drought will be determined in light of all the facts and circumstances. If he had not yet established a usual business practice, the usual business practices of similarly situated farmers in his general region will be relied on. An election to postpone for 1 year reporting the proceeds from drought sales will not affect the determination of his usual business practice for other years.

Connection with drought area. The livestock does not have to be raised in a drought area and the sale does not have to take place in a drought area to qualify for this postponement. However, the sale must occur solely because of drought conditions that affected the water, grazing, or other requirements of the livestock to the extent that the sale became necessary.

Amount to be postponed. The taxpayer must make the election separately for each broad generic class of animals—for example, hogs, sheep, cattle. He must also figure separately the amount to be postponed for each class of animals. Do not make a separate election solely because of the animal's age, sex, or breed.

Scouts earn new badge

Six Cub Scouts of Troop 153, Den 1, have become the first Ozona Scouts to earn the Texas Badge.

Under the direction of den leader Mrs. Sarah Hignight, the boys learned the state bird, flower and motto and the words to the song "Texas Our Texas".

Each drew the six flags of Texas and is able to tell something important that happened when Texas was under each flag.

Also required were learning facts about a famous Texas, visiting an historical place in Texas and learning about the important events which happened there.

The Scouts completed their requirements by reading and reporting on a story about any Texas subject and learning of the Indians who lived near the community at any time.

Badge recipients are: Adam Onofre, Steven Montes, Thomas Young, Toby Davee, Tres Bailey and Jason Hignight.

Range management critical after fires

Ranchers that have seen much of their rangeland engulfed by wildfires in recent weeks need to give particular attention to certain range management practices in the days ahead.

Wildfires have run rampant over an estimated 400,000 acres of western Texas, destroying buildings, pens, equipment and hundreds of animals.

With those losses comes the rebuilding of fences and related properties, and special attention to range management, points out Dr. Jake Landers, a range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, who is located at San Angelo.

"The most critical thing is not to put livestock on the burned area too early," says Landers. "The worst damage from a fire comes from too heavy grazing too early."

"How fast burned ranges recover will depend greatly on weather conditions," he notes. "And that will dictate how soon they can be restocked. Grass must be allowed to recover, though, and a rule of thumb to follow in this regard is 60 to 90 days. However, in a dry year, recovery will take much longer."

Landers points out that range grasses are adapted to fire and will resprout when moisture and temperatures are adequate.

In addition to paying particular attention to grass regrowth, the specialist recommends balancing animal numbers with the amount of pasture burned. If half the pasture is burned, restock when the burned portion has recovered, using only the number of animals that the burned portion can handle. This would be about half the usual amount stocked on the particular pasture.

Another option, says Landers, is to fence off the burned portion and to treat the burned and unburned pastures separately.

The specialist also advises ranchers to follow through with a good brush control program. That means controlling prickly pear and tasajillo with picloram, since these normally resprout after a range fire.

"Apply a small amount of picloram in April or May to wipe out prickly pear and tasajillo," recommends Landers. "In studies involving prescribed burns in February, an aerial application of picloram in late April at 1/8 to 1/4-pound per acre gave a 98 percent control of these two brush species."

'Texotics' offer new opportunities for ranchers

Exotic game ranching is a rapidly expanding field in Texas agriculture. Just how rapid may be seen in the 1988 edition of TDA's Texas Hunters Clearinghouse Directory, which added listings for 106 new exotic game leases this year.

The phenomenal growth in the number of Texas producers raising or stocking African, Asian and European game animals has even given rise to a new word—"Texotic"—as a generic term to describe the game now roaming pastures in the Hill Country and other areas of the state.

Wild game meat appeals particularly to calorie-conscious consumers. A six-ounce serving of venison or antelope has one-third the calorie content of beef. Wild game meat is only three percent fat, and most types of exotic game meat are lower in cholesterol than any domestic meat including chicken. A growing number of consumers on restricted diets have found wild game meat to be a healthy substitute for domestic red meat.

Responding to the needs of ranchers and demands of consumers, TDA helped remove legal blocks to the expansion of this industry. The 1987

Legislature passed a law supported by TDA, specifying that exotic game, when used for meat, is an agricultural commodity eligible for the agriculture exemption in the tax code. A second law enacted gives the Animal Health Commission authority to inspect exotic game meat, a measure which makes it possible for restaurants and markets to sell exotic game.

A pioneer entrepreneur in marketing Texotics is Mike Hughes of Ingram, Hughes, who is also head of the Exotic

Wildlife Association, started a business, Game Ranching, Inc., five years ago. The company has portable slaughtering facilities and contracts with ranchers to slaughter and market their Axis deer and Black Buck antelope. Hughes can pay the ranchers $2 per pound dressed weight for their game and still make a profit for himself.

For both hunters and ranchers, Texotics offer new opportunities.

Does Anybody Care?

Life isn't always fair. In fact, life can sometimes be very cruel. And sometimes during those lonely hours when life has been so cruel, we find ourselves asking the question, "Does anybody care about this burden that I am bearing, or the pain that I feel inside?" I want you to know that Jesus cares.

Sometimes we get the wrong idea about God. We picture Him as some terrible monarch sitting somewhere in heaven, having no concern for us. But that isn't true—"God is Love" 1 John 4:8. Sometimes it seems like no one understands, especially God. After all, how could almighty God understand the problems and the heartaches of a frail, mortal man? Simple. Look at Hebrews 4:15-16. "For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy and find grace to help in time of need."

If you feel lonely, Jesus understands, for he, too, was lonely and misunderstood, even by those he came to save. But you don't have to be lonely. Jesus has promised those that will accept him as Savior and Lord of their lives. "I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee." Hebrews 13:5.

It is so comforting to know that Jesus can be touched with the feeling of our infirmities and weaknesses. Jesus knows, He understands. He cares, and He is able to supply your every need. The invitation is open to all:

"Come unto me all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light." Matthew 11:28-30.

God bless you.

Fire calls for week

Lightning caused two of the fires Ozona volunteers responded to last week. A tank battery at the Joe Couch Ranch was reported at 6:49 p.m. July 2.

A vent had been blown off the tank and the fire was out when the trucks arrived at the Henderson Trust #1 Exxon well. Volunteers used their equipment to cool the tank.

The Bob Bissett Ranch was the location of a 3:41 grass fire the same day. Approximately 80 acres burned northwest of highways 163 and 190.

A June 29 fire at the Tite Bishop home resulted in little damage. The electric fire originated when wires overheated and tripped out a transformer.

A June 28 tank battery fire on the Elliott Ranch was called in at 10:32 a.m. Located 11 1/2 miles north on Hwy. 137, the fire involved two tanks and a pit.

The blaze started when a pump motor ignited from gasoline while a pumper was transferring oil from one tank to another.

Volunteers were also called to an accident scene 10 miles west of Ozona on I-10 June 28. They were not required to assist.

Belated birthday greetings go to Manuel Longoria Jr. who celebrated a star-spangled birthday on July 4.

Happy birthday to Taylor Williams who will be seven on July 10.

PUT A LITTLE LOVE AWAY
For the things you'll want someday.

As we look back on our lives, one thing that we all know is that childhood was truly a magical time filled with fond memories that never fade. It seems as though it only took a moment.

None of us would feel this way if someone hadn't put a little love away for us-someone who cared about making our childhood fantasies come true.

At Ozona National Bank, we know all our lives are filled with hopes and dreams; that tomorrow's dreams can come true if you plan for them today. Having a good bank should be a part of those plans.

We're proud to say people have trusted us since 1905. Through the years, we've repaid that trust, and we always will.

So whether it's a savings account, checking account, NOW, NOW Plus, CD, IRA, loan, or any other service we can help you with, see us first. Don't put it off. Put a little love away for the things you and your family will want someday.

Proudly Serving Ozona & Crockett County Since 1905
