Tragic auto accident claims lives of two Ozona women

Two Ozona women, mother and daughter, died Monday in an automobile accident north of Ozona at the Midway Lane intersection. Maria Vargas Rodriguez, age 84, was dead at the scene. Nilda Rodriguez Villarreal, age 51, was treated at Crockett County Hospital and transferred to Shannon Hospital in San Angelo where she died of her injuries.

Mrs. Villarreal's daughter, Carmen Villarreal of Ozona, driver of the car, was transported to Shannon Hospital, treated for deep lacerations, and released.

Also receiving deep lacerations and transported to Shannon for treatment was Beatriz Ramirez Vasquez, age 64, of Ozona, a passenger in the car. Mrs. Rodriguez and Mrs. Villarreal are believed to be the ninth and tenth persons to die of injuries caused by accidents at the Hwy. 163 and 190 intersection.

The Villarreal vehicle, a 1983 Pontiac, was northbound on Hwy. 163 when a pickup pulling a camper trailer crossed into its path from the east.

Alton F. Hughes of Ranger, age 70, driver of the 1985 Chevrolet, did not stop at the stop sign according to investigating officer Richard Barton of the Department of Public Safety.

The impact demolished the camper trailer. Neither Hughes or his wife, Annie Lee Hughes, were injured.

Charges of criminal negligent homicide and disregarding a stop sign were filed against Hughes, Trooper Barton said.

Assisting in the investigation were Sgt. Glen Redmon and Deputy Sheriff Tommy Wooten.

County looking at $10,000 fine per day from TDH

A Texas Department of Health inspection of local landfills could lead to the county's being cited and fined up to $10,000 per day, Judge Kathryn Mayfield said Monday night.

The judge told commissioners the chipping machine will have to be put into use on brush and limbs to comply with state regulations. Disposing of the material whole had previously been okayed here, she said.

Chipping this waste will be a full day's work for two men every day said Eddie Moore, road department supervisor.

No glass, lumber or metal are to be allowed at the south dump according to the inspector's report. Concrete, rocks and dirt may be dumped there.

Most of the July 23 meeting was spent reviewing budget requests with department heads or representatives. At this point in the budget preparation process, requests for large items alone show an increase of $340,068.48 over the 1990 budget of $5,337,493.00.

A previously expected $25,000,000.00 tax base increase is amounting to $22,000,000.00 instead according to Sandy Stokes, county auditor. This increase in the tax base will generate $125,000.00 in new tax dollars. A three cent per $100.00 valuation increase in county taxes would result in $150,000.00 in additional tax revenue, bringing the county tax rate to 61 cents per $100.00 valuation, he said.

A reduction in school taxes is expected in 1991 as a result of a bond being paid off last year according to Stokes.

Commissioners voted to accept the low bid of $25,500.00 from Kenro Plumbing Company of San Angelo for work at Crockett County Care Center. Joe Johnson Company of San Angelo also bid on the project.

Appointed as election judges for the coming year were: Pct. 1 Stella Valadez, Pct. 2 Bobbie Fatout, Pct. 3 Donna Sanders, Pct. 4 Concha Zapata.

Ozona man charged with arson as home burns

Charges of arson were filed against Juan Regino Elizondo, 34, on July 18 during a fire at his residence.

The blaze was discovered by a Crockett County deputy answering a disturbance call to the home at 105 Ramos Street.

The residence, owned by Elias Elizondo, was occupied by Juan and Alma Elizondo and four children.

The frame home was heavily damaged by fire and smoke.

The offense continues under investigation by the Sheriff's Department and Fire Marshal Steve Kenley.

Athletic physicals Aug. 7, 9

All Ozona High School and Junior High students who expect to participate in any phase of the athletic program during the coming year should plan to take their physicals in August.

Boys' physicals will be given at Crockett County Hospital Aug. 7 between 5 and 7 p.m.

The girls' physicals are scheduled for Aug. 9 at the same time and location.

"Bring all the forms you have received signed and ready to turn in," said Coach Don Payne.

34th annual Youth Rodeo action slated for Aug. 3-4

Rodeo excitement is in the air as plans are finalized for the 34th annual Lions Club Youth Rodeo in Ozona. The 1990 performances are scheduled for Aug. 3 and 4 at 6:30 p.m. If necessary, slack will be held Saturday morning at 8 a.m.

A 5 p.m. parade Friday led by current Rodeo Queen Tamie Reagor begins the activities. Miss Reagor will be followed by 1990 queen candidates Jeanie Cooper, Tess Worthington, C'Jay McKinney and Mindy Coates.

Members of the 1990 Queen's Court also in the parade are: Kristal Cervantez, Leigh Chandler, Julie Childress, Katharine Durham, Robin Myers, Gloria Pena-Alfaro, Courtney Phillips, Stefny Sutton, JoLynn Vannoy and Whitney Vannoy. They will be joining the queen contestants in many of the week's activities, including the gala on Thursday night when the girls model at 8 p.m. at the fairgrounds pavilion.

Two new rodeo events this year are the stickhorse barrel race and goat riding for children age 6 and under. There is no entry fee for these events, and contestants enter by going into the arena when the class is called each night.

Buckles will be awarded for all-around and for first place in the various classes. Second and third place prizes are saddle blankets and breast collars.

Music for the Saturday night dance will be provided by former Ozonan

Don Petron of San Antonio and his band.

This year's contingent of queen hopefuls includes two contestants with prior experience.

Jeanie Cooper is the 14-year-old daughter of Gene and Vikki Cooper and will be a freshman at Ozona High School this fall.

In school, she's active in UIL and the Just Say No Club. An avid horsewoman since the age of two, Jeanie has been busy participating in 4-H horse judging and horse shows, as well as having competed in rodeos since the age of five. She's also participated in 4-H clothing, foods, the field and stream project, and has exhibited sheep and goats at livestock shows.

One of Jeanie's most prized possessions is the Jay Miller Memorial Buckle she won at Ozona's 1988 Youth Rodeo.

Tess Worthington is also a former winner (1989) of the Jay Miller buckle and an accomplished rider. At presstime, she was participating in the State 4-H Horse Show. She says her first love is riding and rodeos, and she participates actively in area junior rodeos and riding events.

She's also an active member of Crockett County 4-H, and stays busy with church activities at Ozona First Baptist Church. The 15-year-old daughter of Vance and Cookie Worthington will be a sophomore this fall at OHS, where she's active in basketball, track and band.

C'Jay McKinney is a newcomer to the pageant this year. The 15-year-old daughter of Drake and Shane McKinney has been an active 4-H member for eight years, participating in foods, clothing, sheep and home environment projects during her 4-H career. She recently attended the TU Electric-West Texas 4-H Leadership Lab on the Howard College campus as well as representing Crockett County as a member of the plant identification team at State 4-H Roundup.

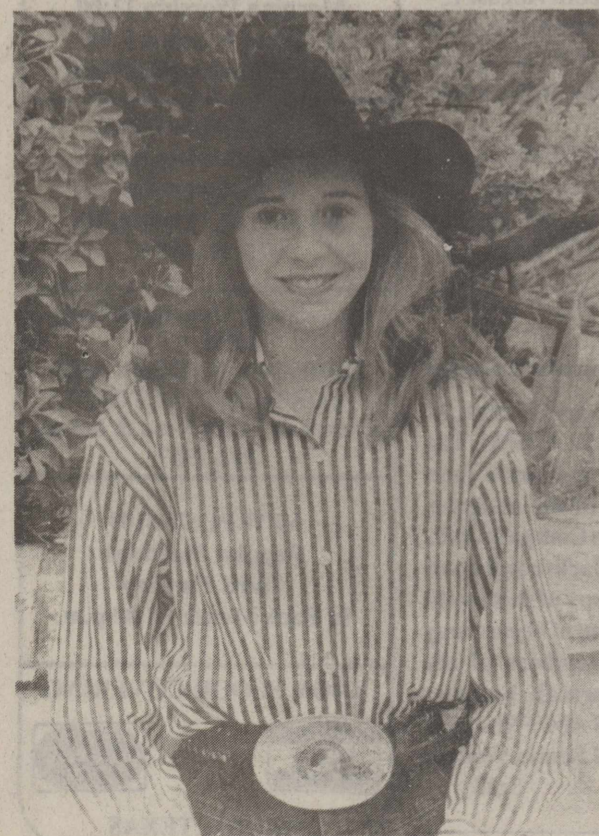

In school, C'Jay is a member of the varsity tennis team, plays in the Lion Band and is a member of the Annual Staff. The sophomore is also active in UIL competition.

Mindy Coates, the 14-year-old daughter of Fleet and Patti Coates, has been riding for six years. She will be a freshman at Wall High School this year, where she plans to play basketball and continue her involvement in UIL activities.

The past president of the Ozona Junior High School student council and a cheerleader, Mindy was also an officer in the Just Say No Club. She is also involved with dance activities, having recently performed with the San Angelo Civic Ballet.

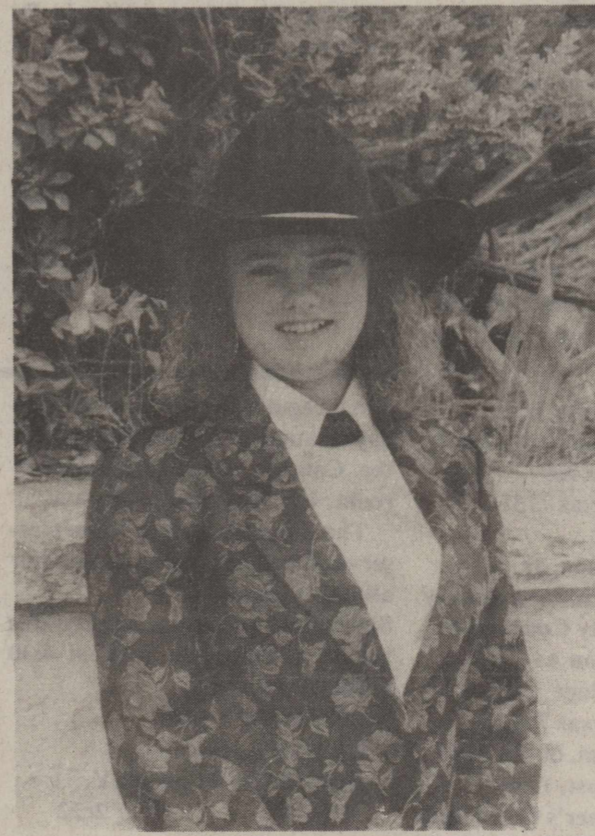

This year's queen contestants and court will model western fashions provided by local stores at the gala. Businesses participating include The Teacher Store, The Circle Bar Truck Stop Store, Martin's, Small Fashions and Davis' Western Wear.

Magazines! Magazines!

July 1990 is a great month for relaxing in the CCPL Reading Room to get out of the rain and enjoy an interesting article in one of the 35 magazines on file in the library.

Look out, France! Move over, California! Here come the Texas wines! In the July issue of Texas Highways, writer Jack Lowry's cover story about Texas wines and vineyards across the state. Texas wines made from Texas grapes are competing successfully with European and West Coast wines. Did you know a Texan saved the French wine industry with American grape rootstock? A devastating disease called phylloxera nearly wiped out the entire vineyards of Europe and it was only brought under control through the efforts of Thomas Volney Munson, a lifelong student of viticulture who conducted his research on the banks of the Red River. The French government bestowed on him the coveted Legion of Honor.

There is also a wonderful article by Eva Jolene Boyd entitled "Ingram's Magnificent Murals". The murals depict the history of Kerr County on the walls of the T. J. Moore Lumber Yard. These murals were painted by Jack Feagan from Ingram. Feagan painted 17 of the 30 large murals at Sea World of Texas in San Antonio and was the perfect choice to do the Centennial murals in Ingram. The artist has been chosen by the Ozona Chamber of Commerce to do a mural on the Ozona Mercantile building for the Crockett County Centennial Celebration. Feagan does extensive research on each of his murals to make sure each detail is historically accurate and they are very beautiful.

In the July issue of Texas Parks & Wildlife, writer Barbara Dunn explores our state's growing waste disposal problem in "plastic: The Problem That Won't Go Away". We live in a world of plastic. Disposable diapers, fast-food packaging, computers, toys, car interiors, utensils, appliances ... an endless variety of products are designed to meet our demand for safety, light weight, economy and durability. Environmentalists and the plastics industry are now becoming very interested in "degradable" plastics. Some photodegradable products and "dissolving" medical sutures are able to break down under the right conditions. Bio-degradation occurs when fungi and bacteria consume the plastic in a moist, oxygen-rich environment. The only problem is maintaining the right conditions long enough for degradation to take place. Dunn suggests recycling might be a better alternative. In addition, incineration can decrease the volume of solid waste by 80 to 90 percent. Pound for pound, plastic produces more than twice the energy of Wyoming coal. Every alternative has its pros and cons, but consumers are clearly sending a message by recycling and purchasing degradable products that they can change their habits to improve the waste problem and protect the environment.

CCPL wants to thank Dorothy Montgomery for the acquisition of the July issue of the Texas DPSOA Magazine, published by the Texas Dept. of Public Safety Officers Association. The July issue is dedicated to the memory of Corporal Willie Dale Taylor. Corporal Taylor was killed in a two-car traffic accident on Interstate 10 on May 19, 1990. Almost the entire issue is made up of articles, letters, poems, pictures and memorials to the memory of Dale Taylor. The magazine will be on display in the library for all those interested in reading about the life and death of a very special DPS officer.

Easy to arrange direct deposit

People in this area who receive Social Security checks, who choose to do so, have an easy time of it to arrange to have them deposited directly into an account in a financial institution. The account can be in a commercial bank, savings and loan association, Federal or State credit union, or similar institution, Franklin H. Upp, Social Security manager in San Angelo, said recently.

All a person has to do to arrange for direct deposit is to call Social Security or contact any financial organization. A monthly benefit check and a blank personal check contain all the information needed.

Some advantages of direct deposit are:

—No worry about a check being lost or stolen.

—No need to be home when the check arrives. The money is available in an account even if the person is out of town.

—Time and transportation costs are saved and there is no standing in line to cash the check.

—It is safer to keep money in an account than carrying a lot of cash.

People who choose direct deposit must be sure to keep Social Security informed of their current address. This way, they will continue to receive important information about their check.

More information about direct deposit can be obtained from Social Security. The telephone number is 949-4608, or call 1-800-234-5772.

Story hour ends at public library

"The Summer Story Hour at the library was a big success," said children's program chairman Jeannine Henderson.

Certificates were presented Monday to children who read all summer long.

In the 6-12 year-old division, Seth Webster won first place, reading 19 books. Jordan Webster and Amanda Carson read 18 books each for second place, and Miriam Gomez won third place by reading 17 books.

In the 3-5 year-old division, Jared Bird won first place by reading 28 books. Daniel Whitehead won second place reading 27 books, and David Whitehead won third place reading 26 books.

Each winner received a mystery story book.

"I would like to thank the following volunteers for helping at the library. Without their help, we couldn't have had a successful story hour," said Mrs. Henderson.

Trout, crappie limits changed by commission

AUSTIN - The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission has adopted changes in regulations that will affect both fresh and saltwater anglers beginning Sept. 1.

The commission, meeting in a public hearing in Austin in late May, set a statewide 10-inch minimum length limit and 25 per day bag limit on crappie in all public waters of the state except Lakes Toledo Bend and Caddo pending adoption of the same regulations on the Louisiana side of the lakes.

The crappie limits will become effective Sept. 1, 1990. Commission action increasing the minimum length limit for saltwater spotted seatrout (speckled trout) from 14 to 15 inches is expected to take effect sometime in June, as soon as legal posting requirements are met. No change was made in the daily bag limit of 10 spotted seatrout, and possession limit of 20.

Dr. Gary Matlock, fisheries director for the TPWD, told the commission the longer minimum length limit will allow more trout to reach spawning age before being harvested.

The commission also prohibited the use of nets in Wright Patman Reservoir and the Sulphur River in Northeast Texas and in the fresh waters of Galveston and Chambers Counties, but moved the effective date of the regulations to Sept. 1, 1991. A reduction in the legal length of minnow seines in fresh water from 60 feet to 20 feet also will become effective Sept. 1, 1991.

Several changes were made in bag and length limits of freshwater fish, including a bag limit of three largemouth bass per day and an 18-inch minimum length limit for Ray Roberts, Bastrop, San Augustine City, O. H. Ivie and Calaveras Reservoirs, and a reduction in the bag limit of black basses at Lake Texoma from 10 per day to five.

The commission also set a daily bag limit of five flathead catfish, with a 24-inch minimum length limit, for Texoma and Bastrop. Also approved was a minimum length limit of 14 inches and a daily bag limit of five in the aggregate for channel and blue catfish in Lake Bastrop and all other lakes in state parks. Trophies will be provided in Lake Bastrop.

Also adopted was a 14-inch minimum length limit for gafftopsail catfish, for both sport and commercial fishermen, and a nine-inch sport and commercial minimum length limit for pompano. The bag limit for snook was set at three per day with a possession limit of six, and only snook between 20 and 28 inches in length may be retained.

Lyme disease makes appearance in Texas

Lyme disease, once thought to be a problem only in the northeastern United States, is present in Texas and anyone who might be exposed to ticks is urged to take precautions.

"The incidence of the disease is still low in Texas, as far as we know," says Dr. J. W. Stewart, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"It is causing concern because it's popping up randomly all over the state. We don't know what it's going to do," Stewart says.

Cases of Lyme disease have been reported in Bexar, Kendall, Comal, Uvalde, Victoria and Nueces counties in Southwest Texas. One of the hotspots for the disease is Northeast Texas.

Symptoms of the disease were first reported in Sweden in 1909. The disease remained a mystery and was first reported in the United States in Lyme, Conn. about 1975. Numerous cases of a strange, new disease manifested as rheumatoid arthritis near Lyme, Conn. prompted researchers to search for the organism responsible for the malady.

Intense investigations finally culminated when Dr. Willie Burgdorfer discovered very tiny spirochetes in a deer common to the N.E. states. Ixodes ticks infected with the spirochetes were found guilty of transmitting the disease organism, from field rodents to man through their bite.

Lyme disease is caused by certain bacteria called spirochetes that are carried by the deer tick. The deer tick is a small, eight-legged relative of spiders. During the stages when it is most likely to bite people, it is only about 1 mm. across, or about the size of a sesame seed.

If the tick attaches to a human for 24-48 hours, the bacteria may enter the human's bloodstream and cause infection.

"It is not possible to catch Lyme disease by contact with another person," Stewart said.

These ticks feed primarily on rodents, birds and certain lizards while immature. The adult tick feeds primarily on white-tailed deer. The species can occur in large numbers on deer that are sickly or malnourished, but also can attack healthy deer, he said.

Hosts for the tick also include man, dogs and cats, cattle and horses, he said.

THREE-STAGED SYMPTOMS

Disease symptoms generally occur in three stages. Symptoms in the first stage include lesions on the skin and joint pains. Flu-like symptoms of fever, nausea, headaches and aching muscles also may occur.

The second stage may include neurological symptoms such as meningitis and muscular pain, he said.

During the third stage, which may happen within several months to several years, chronic skin disorders and central nervous system disorders occur. Extreme arthritic inflammation may be present in knees and elbows.

Symptoms in stages 1 and 2 will respond to antibiotics, but once the disease progresses to stage 3, it may not be treatable, according to current medical reports.

WATCH BITE AREA

Anyone who is bitten by a tick should watch that spot for several weeks, the entomologist said.

All ticks should be removed with tweezers or small forceps only.

"Grasp the tick as close as possible to its mouth, or the part that's sticking into the skin. Pull the tick out in smooth, steady upward motion," he added.

After the tick is removed, the bite should be treated with rubbing alcohol or iodine. Ticks can be disposed of in alcohol or by flushing down the drain.

"If a rash appears, they should call their physician immediately," he said.

Other precautions include not handling sick deer or rodents and keeping family pets free of ticks.

Further information is available from an extension publication, entitled "Preventing Lyme Disease," publication number B-1660. It may be ordered for $1 from the Distribution and Supply Center, Texas A&M University, Riverside Campus, College Station, TX 77843. (Please send check or money order; no cash).

The return of the roast

"Ah, the smell of Grandma's pot roast." Can't you just picture the family gathered around the table in anticipation? Or picture the delighted smiles of Ward, Wally, and the Beaver as June brings a beautiful standing rib roast to her dining room table. Beef roasts have always conjured images of home, family and togetherness.

Although roasts continue to represent a "family meal," today's families have changed - and consequently, so has the roast. Households today are smaller, family members are busier, and they are more concerned about eating healthy, nutritious foods. In order to meet the needs of these modern consumers, roasts are leaner, more closely trimmed, and are available in smaller portions.

But exactly what is a roast? A roast is any cut which is a minimum of 1 and 1/2 inches thick. A roast can be cut from virtually any section of the carcass. Notice which primal section a roast is from because this is a key to its tenderness. The four primal sections are loin, rib, chuck, and round. Cuts from the loin and rib are the most tender and can be cooked by dry heat (broiling or roasting). Roasts from the less tender chuck or round should be cooked by moist heat (braising or cooking in liquid) for the greatest eating pleasure.

A little known fact is that roasts are a highly versatile food. With one roast you actually have three meals in one - the hot roast, next-day sandwiches, and for a fun version of leftovers, how about serving the roast in a salad with orange slices and vinaigrette? A quick chop of the knife can turn a roast into beef kabobs, stew meat, pepper steak, or ready to batter and use for chicken-fried steak. A new rage is ethnic cooking, and the extra roast can easily be seasoned for fajitas or cut into strips and add some soy sauce for stir-fry. The "Flavorful Beef Roast" recipe is excellent for creative leftovers.

"Look at how convenient roasts are," said Dr. Dan Hale, Extension Meats Specialist at Texas A&M University. "You put it in the oven and forget it for awhile. How much easier could it be?" A roast allows you to go on about your daily business of car-pools, visits to the dry cleaners, the office and still have a nice dinner without spending hours in the kitchen.

Today's consumers choose foods that not only taste good, but contribute to their health and well-being. Beef earns "gold stars" in both categories. It not only tastes great but can easily fit into a heart-healthy diet. A three-ounce cooked, trimmed serving of an eye of round roast contains 155 calories and 59 mg cholesterol (only 20 percent of the maximum daily recommendation by the American Heart Association.)

Skin cancer risk increases with exposure

About 400,000 new cases of skin cancer, the most common form of human cancer, will be diagnosed in the U.S. this year. According to health officials, most of them will result from repeated overexposure to the sun's rays.

If scientists are correct, because air pollution has begun to destroy the planet's ozone layer, skin cancer may be even more common in the future. Therefore, the Texas Department of Health (TDH) urges Texans to take special precautions.

Dr. Patti Patterson, TDH Acting Associate Commissioner for Personal Health Services, said, "Texans are used to the outdoors, and they sometimes accept sunburn as no more than temporary discomfort.

The American Cancer Society recommends a monthly skin self-examination for symptoms. Teens and adults should use a full-length mirror and hand mirror to study the whole skin carefully for overall condition and tiny changes, including the skin of the scalp and between the toes. Parents also should thoroughly examine their young children. Any noticeable change warrants a medical opinion.

To reduce the risk of overexposure to the sun, Texans are advised to:

- * Wear protective clothing, including hats, long sleeves, even gloves.

- * Choose — and use — sunscreens which are best suited to skin sensitivity. Apply a waterproof sunscreen (rated 15 or higher) at least an hour before going into the sun, and reapply after swimming or heavy perspiration.

When watching calories, select a roast with very little outside fat or seam fat (the fat between the muscles). Interior marbling accounts for below 10 percent of total fat content with most cuts being in the 5-6 percent range.

"I recommend small end rib roasts for their lean, tender meat," says Hale. "Small end rib roasts have more of the rib eye muscle like in a strip steak. This muscle is why people buy rib roasts. Most butchers will cut a specific piece of meat for you. You can request the number of ribs you would like on the roast, but remember, the more ribs, the closer it gets to the chuck," said Hale.

When cooking by dry heat, the best way to estimate cooking time is to use a meat thermometer. Insert the stem into the roast with the bulb placed in the center - avoid resting it on the bone or any fat pockets. Most cuts will be done at 140 degrees Fahrenheit for rare, 160 degrees medium, or 170 degrees well done, cooked in a 350 degree oven. Place roast, fat side up, on a rack in a low-sided pan. Season to taste or marinate to enhance juiciness. Remove the roast from the oven when the thermometer reads 5 degrees below desired doneness, loosely cover with foil, and let stand for 15 minutes. It will continue cooking and the standing time will help make meat easier to carve. Carve across the grain.

Julie Reagor, Arnold Vargas wed in afternoon ceremony

Miss Julie Grace Reagor became the bride of Arnold Jay Vargas Saturday, July 21, at four o'clock in the afternoon at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church in Ozona. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. William Du Buisson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Reagor. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Everado Vargas.

Mrs. John Hignight presented the pre-nuptial organ music and played the traditional wedding march. Amy Scoggins sang "All My Life", and the bride's mother sang "The Lord's Prayer".

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a candlelight hand-beaded gown of satin and organza. Rows of petal-like ruffles adorned the shoulder, detailed with pearl teardrops and bows that extended into long, fitted sleeves. The bodice was embellished with pearls, lace and iridescent sequins. An illusion keyhole at the back yoke was accented by a satin bow at the neck extending to a deep "V". The fitted sheath skirt was ornamented with lace motifs, sequins and pearls extending into an organza cathedral train cascading into ruffles.

Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a headpiece of organza ruffles that matched her gown. Tear-drops and crystal beads came to a point on her forehead. Clusters of silk flowers completed the headpiece.

The bride wore pearl earrings belonging to her paternal grandmother, a garter that her mother wore on her wedding day, and she carried a handkerchief belonging to the bridegroom's grandmother. In her shoe was a lucky penny given to her by her sister. Her bouquet was of bridal roses and gardenias with greenery of sprengeri fern.

The couple knelt on pillows made by the bridegroom's mother, and the ring bearer carried a pillow also made by Mrs. Vargas.

Vows were spoken before illuminated tapers in candleabras intertwined with ivy. Bouquets of pink and white carnations and baby's breath adorned each candleabra. Floor baskets of gladiolas and pink and white carnations and baby's breath with leather greenery were placed at each end of the candleabras.

Amy Beth Scoggins of Ozona was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Tamie Reagor of Ozona, sister of the bride; Terrye Vargas, Sandra Ramirez, both of Ozona, and Kim Williams of Coahoma. Their tea-length dresses were of fuchsia taffeta with dropped basque waistlines and full skirts. The puffed sleeves were detailed with bows, as was the waist of the dress in the back. Bridesmaids wore fuchsia hairpieces designed and made by the bride. They carried bouquets of alstroemerias and purple statice.

Emilo Garza served as best man. Roy Tambunga, Johnny Rodriguez, Adrian Vargas and Oscar Vargas, all of Ozona, were groomsmen. Ushers were Harvey Fierro and Israel Gonzales. They wore black tuxedos.

Shawna Ramirez was the flower girl. She wore a satin tea-length dress of pale pink. Ringbearer Corey Galindo wore a white linen suit.

The reception was held at the Ozona Civic Center. The bride's table was appointed with a crystal punch bowl and a silver candleabra with arrangements of white mini-carnations and pink tapers. The triple-tier wedding cake was decorated with pale pink handmade confectionery roses and topped with an arrangement of white roses, mini-carnations and baby's breath. Wedding mints and nuts completed the table.

The bridegroom's cake was a German chocolate sheath cake surrounded by leather greenery. Coffee was served from a silver coffee service. An antique handpainted china vase contained an arrangement of pink carnations, purple statice and baby's breath with sprengeri fern.

A buffet of finger sandwiches, cheeses, turkey, fruit and wedding cookies was served to guests.

Those in the houseparty were: Beth Boyd, Susie Black, Vickie Black, JoNel Stokes, Cindy Westlake, Tiffany Vargas, Emily Vargas, Wilma Vargas, Kay Vargas, Mylene Najar, Debbie Arrott, Tera Hanson, Elma Ybarra, Jill House, Esme Barrera, Nancy Hale, Tedra Ulmer, Sylvia Coy, Coleen Everett and Terry Adams.

April Vargas distributed seed flowers to guests. The seed flowers were made by the bride's aunts, Bobby Callaway and Cindy Westlake, and the bridegroom's mother.

After a honeymoon trip to San Antonio and South Padre, the couple will reside in Austin.

The bride graduated from Ozona High School. She attended Snyder Junior College and graduated from Aladin Beauty College in San Angelo. She is assistant manager of Supercut in Austin. The bridegroom is a graduate of Ozona High School and is a meat cutter employed by H. E. B. in Austin.

A rehearsal dinner honoring the couple was held Friday evening at the Circle Bar dining room hosted by the bridegroom's parents, sisters and brothers.

Visiting

Returning home July 25 were Ben and Vicki Sanchez. The Sanchezs are residents of Fort Bragg, N.C., where Ben is stationed with the Army. While in Ozona Ben and Vicki visited with parents Juan and Lisa Villarreal and Angelita Sanchez as well as many family members and friends.

The two enjoy North Carolina, but to them as the saying goes "there's no place like home."

Visiting in Ozona this week are the Lee Hughes from Woodsville, Ohio. Recent flood victims, the two decided it was time for vacation. Since their stay they have met two families from Chickasee, Ohio with the same plan in mind. The Hughes thought surely West Texas would be the driest place in the U.S. (this week sure proved that wrong).

Word was received this week that Susie Harrison is recuperating nicely after recent surgery. For those who would care to drop a note of cheer or card to former Ozona resident, the address is Susie Harrison, 1102 W. 8th St., Weslaco, Texas 78596. The Harrisons would enjoy hearing from you.

Visiting with Bobby and Debra Bangeman this weekend were P. O. and Leta Vines from Crane, and brother Edward and LaNita. Although visiting and eating were in the top line of entertainment, the girls were told to bring paint brushes and the guys nail aprons. MMM! Sounds like some work is behind all of this.

Anniversary wishes go to Rip and Ellen Sewell as they celebrated another year of togetherness on July 19. Best wishes, you two. Soledad Gutierrez was pleased to have the company of her grandchildren, Jesse and Ida Gutierrez of Baytown, near Houston. Though time was short the pleasure of their visit made up for the time.

T. J. Nowell turned a big 4, July 21. T. J. is the son of Billy and Tasha Nowell. Happy birthday, T. J.

Returning home this week were Robert, Gloria and Robert Ogle, Jr. and Mrs. Fidel Rios. The group spent a great 10 days in California. They were guests in the home of Mrs. Rios son Raymon. Entertainment included a trip to Disneyland and the Naval station at Camp Pendleton. Though glad to be home, a future return trip is planned.

Visiting with Herculano and Juanita Delgado this week were daughters Monica and Elsa Delgado. Monica is from Houston and Elsa is from Columbia, S.A. The visit was enjoyed by all even though the miles between are many.

Arriving in Ozona to visit and attend the Jones-Mayfield wedding were Rodney Beasley and friend Courtney Anderson. Rodney, a student at A&M, is the son of Charles and Martha Beasley. Missed by many friends, his impish grin is always welcome.

Belated wishes go to Mrs. Ray Dunlap who was 92 on July 16. Congratulations and best wishes to a special lady.

Lyme disease changed her life

Joyce Shed didn't realize how one tick bite five years ago would affect her life today.

That bite has thrust the grandmother of three into a cycle of pain and public appearances — the result of Lyme disease contracted five years ago but was only diagnosed this spring.

"I was raised in the country and been bitten by a tick at least once a week, but I didn't know there was such a thing as this," Mrs. Shed said only half-jokingly.

The Lee County resident told her story at one of a series of a Lyme disease programs sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension service recently at the Canyon Lake Action Center. At times the frustration of her many years of pain and suffering edged her voice. Humor hid most of it. At all times, her hope that others may avoid the disease showed.

After the tick bite in 1985, a circular rash broke out on her leg. She went to the doctor for the rash but neglected to tell him about the bite.

"I had been raised in the country and nothing like this had happened before," she said.

She told the doctor she thought she had "sand worms" (ringworm) but the doctor didn't think it was.

From there, the symptoms progressed from flu-like symptoms, a constant rash on her legs below the knees and a pain in her left knee for about eight months.

Her hands went numb. "I couldn't even feel the needle when I was sewing," she said.

An unflagging sore throat and low grade fever followed and she's never quite gotten rid of the sore throat. A "niggly little" earache came next. She had cramps in her feet and toes and sometimes in her legs, hands and fingers.

She had and still has insomnia, sometimes for two nights in a row. "But when I do miss, I make up for it. I sleep hard," she said.

There are times when she can't stand the feel of the sheets against her body at night. "I don't want anything to touch me," she added.

Pain in her elbows, blurred vision and some dizzy spells were her next symptoms. Then, in January 1989, she had a dizzy spell at work. Her doctor said she had heart trouble, but two weeks later she went to the diagnostic clinic in Temple and got a clean bill of health.

She then had severe headaches, a stiff neck and the side of her face went numb. A rash broke out around her eyes and her eyes became very sensitive to light.

During the winter 1989-1990, she became very confused and couldn't keep her mind on the simplest of tasks. "I'd get frustrated so easily," she said. Even more unbelievable to Mrs. Shed, her family, and her friends, she spent two and a half years becoming more and more irritable. "I got angry easily. The worst thing I did was bawl out the boss' wife," she said.

Fatigue is still a common factor in her life. "Sometimes I feel like I can hardly move," she said.

This winter, she lost her appetite and lost 14 pounds. Arthritic symptoms also have appeared in her legs, elbows and knuckles.

A television special on Lyme disease last fall changed her life. At the time, she didn't know that cases of Lyme disease had been reported in Texas and thought the disease was concentrated only in the northern United States. It crossed her mind, "If we had that (Lyme disease) down here (in Texas), I think I have it."

Her neighbor then lost a dog to Lyme disease in December. "That's when I decided I'd better get the test because the disease was here in Texas."

She again went to her doctor and although he questioned her reasons for wanting the test, "I consider myself fortunate that the doctor didn't say I didn't need the tests."

She had the test in February, but didn't receive the results for a couple of months due to conflicting vacation schedules in the physicians office and in the local office of the health department. It was spring before she received the treatment of amoxicillin.

The antibiotic did the trick. "I felt better, especially right after the treatment," she said. "after taking the medicine for three days, the spots (on her legs) faded."

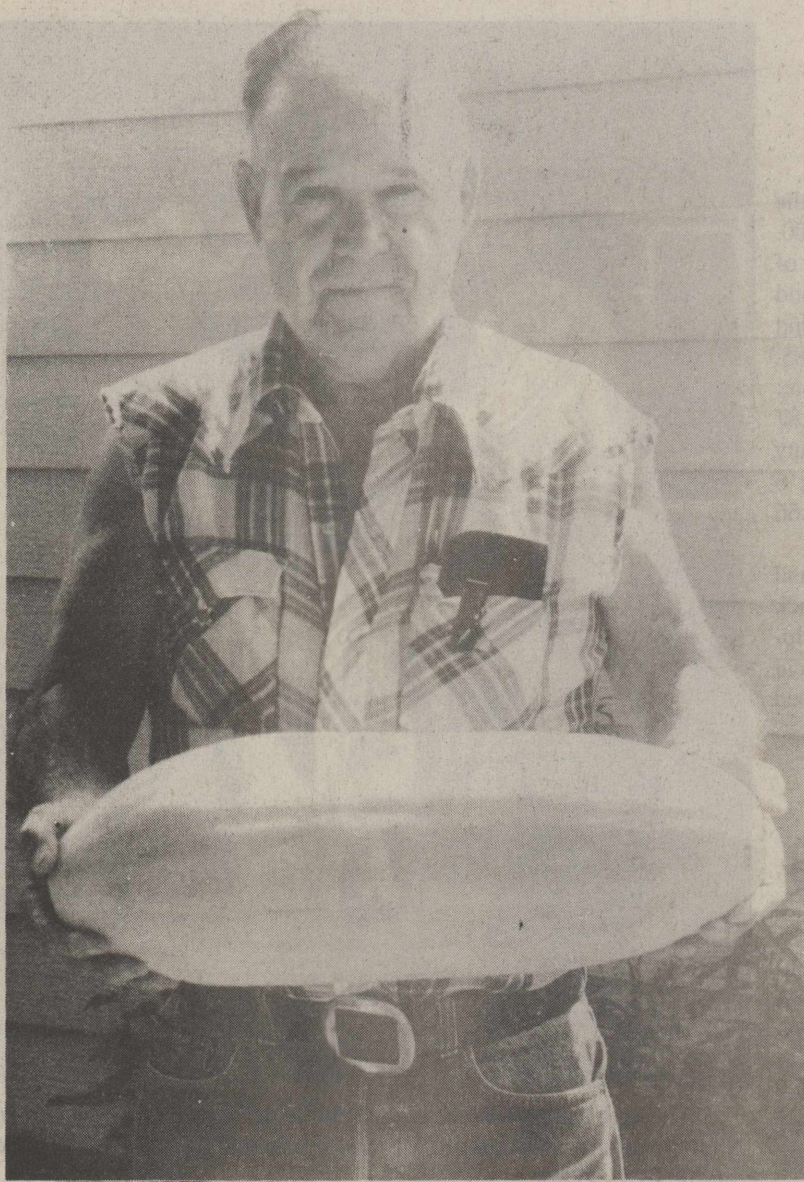

Although she suspects she'll have to have another round of antibiotics before she is thoroughly cured, she is grateful for the strides she had made.

"Up until I had the test, I thought I was going crazy," she said.

Most of her symptoms happened one at a time, except for the earache, fever, sore throat, the rash and sensitivity of the eyes. "The worst didn't last but about a week," she said.

She encourages everyone who might be exposed to ticks to take precautions to avoid bites, and if bitten and a rash appears, to seek treatment. She and her husband, Mabry, both avid hunters, check themselves thoroughly after being in a suspected tick area.

"These ticks, especially the seed ticks, they're so hard to see and you can scratch them off without knowing what you're doing," Mrs. Shed said.

George Hester grew this unusual cantelope in his garden this summer. It weighed 16 pounds and measured nineteen inches long and 6 1/2 inches across. He acquired seeds from various places from St. Louis to Ozona and is unsure of the specific variety. There were two other cantelopes of equitable size that grew from the seeds planted in April.

S.S. benefits available for developmentally disabled

People who are developmentally disabled may qualify for monthly benefits under the Social Security or the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program, sometimes both. The medical requirements for eligibility so far as disability is concerned are the same for both programs. However, other eligibility rules differ.

A mentally retarded person can get Social Security payments when a parent starts getting Social Security retirement or disability payments or when an insured parent dies, it doesn't matter how old the child is, but he or she must have become disabled before age 22. A retarded person who has worked long enough under Social Security can also get benefits on his or her own work record.

SSI payments are paid to disabled people of any age, as well as the blind, and people 65 and over. However, SSI payments are based on financial need and are made to people who have limited income and resources.

In deciding if a child under 18 and living at home can get SSI payments, part of the parents' income and resources are considered to be that of the child. After applying allowances for work and living expenses, and for other children living in the home, the remaining amount of the parents' income is used to decide if a child meets the income and resource limits.

Although people living in institutions are generally not eligible for SSI payments, an application may be submitted when it appears that a person will be able to leave an institution soon.

Carolyn and Bill Wilson, Chesta Stuart, Shelby, Emily and Chet were in Fort Stockton Saturday night to attend the Fort Stockton Water Carnival. The group particularly enjoyed the performance because Carolyn's daughter, Debra Clayton Ezell, was a co-director of the event. Debra's son, Chance, was one of several blue Smurfs in the production.

The carnival pageant, Encounters, featured production numbers showcasing countries around the world and ended with a visit from an alien spaceship. Elaborate settings and costumes provided delightful entertainment.

Cynthia Berry was introduced along with others as a former Miss Fort Stockton.

"I was very impressed with the unity of the community," said Carolyn. A large number of people worked harmoniously to stage the annual event, she said.

The Wilsons and their party enjoyed visiting with Opal and Myrtle Everett and Mr. and Mrs. Chick Womack at the carnival. The Womacks were there to see their grandson in the production.
