Tractor Dealers Sign New Contract

George Hicks, W. M. Pool, Jr., and Lee R. Pool of Hicks Tractor Co., local Ford tractor dealer, have just signed a new sales agreement with The Stewart Company, Texas Ford Tractor Distributors of Dallas and San Antonio. Hicks Tractor Co., has been in the Ford tractor business for 3 1/2 years, serving the farmers in this area. "With the signing of this new agreement," says Mr. Hicks, "our company is looking forward to many years of service to the 300 Ford tractor owners in Muleshoe trade territory; and with the aid of Ford Motor Company research, engineering and production we hope to help our farmers with still better farm machinery to produce still better yields at lower cost."

Hicks Tractor's new sales farm equipment expansion program of the Ford Motor Company which was announced recently. The Ford Tractor Division of the Ford Motor Company will not handle all of Ford's farm equipment activities having to do with Ford Tractors, as well as Dearborn implements such as plows, cultivators, corn harvesters, cotton harvesters, combines, balers, etc.

"The FORD name has long meant a great deal to everyone in agriculture, even back in the days of World War I when Ford applied mass production techniques to the manufacture of the Fordson tractor," Mr. Hicks commented.

"The news announced by the Ford Motor Company marks a far reaching step towards providing farmers with modern, low cost farm machinery for complete and profitable mechanization."

On Monday, September 14, the Blackwater Soil Conservation District, and the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce will sponsor and conduct a "Soil Conservation Tour." This event will mark the first of its kind to be held in Bailey County and will set a precedent to be followed annually.

Muleshoe Motor Wins $1000 Prize

Muleshoe Motor Co., Ford automobile dealers for Muleshoe and territory, is the winner of a sales contest which was entered by 95 Ford dealers in this group.

The prize was $1,000. The money was distributed among employees of the local dealership.

The contest was based upon the greatest percentage of gain in parts and service sales for the second quarter over the first quarter of this year.

The contest officially ended June 30, but results were not announced until recently.

The employees and owners celebrated the winning of the contest with a big steak dinner at the Silver Grill, in Clovis, N. M.

New City Hall Is A Model For Convenience of Workers and Public

Muleshoe's new city hall is now in full use and are those city officials and employees proud. The new hall, located across from the old one, is a perfect little building, perfectly adapted to the use of the city government, as any taxpayer can see if he will only go in and inspect it.

There is a spacious lobby for the public in the front office, which has a long work desk with storage space underneath. The secretary's room is just behind that, and R. J. Klump and assistant, Mrs. Billie Bayless, are fully at home. A big vault and storage room, rest room, etc., adjoins that convenient office. A wide hall separates these rooms from those across the way, where a fine room has been fitted up for the use of the city councilmen.

To the rear of that is the domain of W. E. Young, the city water and street superintendent. Behind all these is a large shop, where a work bench will be fitted up and there will be room for storing parts, etc. A rest room with shower and men's dressing room completes this part of the new home of city government. Out at the back there is a big fenced in parking lot for city vehicles.

Jesse Osborn, president of the Muleshoe State Bank will furnish the beef, the Chamber of Commerce the trimmings and the Soil Conservation District the program. Working with these groups and concentrating their efforts to make this "tour" the best on the high plains are J. K. Adams, County Agent, Travis Winters, PMA Manager and Charles Thomas, Local Agricultural teacher at Muleshoe High School.

Principal speaker for this event will be Paul H. Walser, State Conservationist, Temple, Texas. Others participating in the program will be "Cotton John" Smith of Amarillo and Jack Croff of Lubbock, as the master of ceremonies.

Ray Carter, president of the Soil Conservation District, Earl Black, Secretary and Ben Chapman, of our Soil Conservation Office are planning the program which will begin with a tour at 9 a. m., and be climaxed with the barbecue and program in the afternoon at the farm of Venev Towns, approximately 8 mi. west of Muleshoe.

The old hall across the street will undergo quite a bit of modification. The volunteer fire department will have space for their club room and meeting room, and for their two trucks. Something new will be the fitting up of a room for the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce in the old building.

This will be a boom to the Chamber for it will have rent free quarters, helping out with the CoC budget a lot and giving them a central location for an office.

The new city hall cost in the neighborhood of $15,000. It is strictly modern, having a fire-proof vault, complete central heating and air conditioning excepting for the shop room.

No bonds were issued. Instead the city is issuing warrants to be paid off from time to time to defray cost of the building.

The police have access to the front part of the new building during the night in case of fire alarm or other disturbance.

American Bar Observes 75th Anniversary

A commemorative stamp has been issued by the U. S. postal department in observance of the 75th anniversary of the American Bar Association, and these stamps may be purchased at the Muleshoe postoffice.

Pat R. Bobo, local attorney, who is president of the 64th Judicial District Bar Association, calls attention to this anniversary and to the commemorative stamp, which he invites people to call for when buying stamps at the Muleshoe postoffice.

The stamp bears the association's motto: Liberty Under Law, and the dates 1878 and 1953.

First to purchase some of these stamps is the famous Texan, Robert C. Storey, of Dallas, president of the American Bar Association, one of two Texas men ever to serve as head of the association. Judge Storey is dean of the Southern Methodist Law School, which has been developed under his administration into a position of leadership among law schools in Texas.

In commenting upon the association's 75th anniversary, Mr. Bobo points out that the association through the years has exerted a tremendous influence upon the ethics of the profession of law, and has been instrumental in developing methods and procedures to provide protection to the citizen in the courts under the law. He said that the association has been and continues to be a guardian of the rights of the people.

around Muleshoe. Moving north from here the caravan visited outstanding farms along the route and the men spent the night in Amarillo.

Bob King, of Western Fertilizer Co., Inc., Muleshoe, was in charge of local arrangements and accompanied the caravan throughout the trip.

Local men who attended the luncheon included King, Ben Chapman, of the Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District; J. K. Adams, county agent; Jesse Osborn and W. Q. Casey, of the Muleshoe State Bank; and J. M. Forbes, editor of The Journal. Joe Duke prepared the ranch style luncheon which featured barbecue and was assisted by Blondie Ray.

Short talks were made by King, Dr. Thorneon of Texas A. & M., Bill Burns, area manager of the International Mineral & Chemical Corp., Dr. A. W. Young, head of the department of agronomy, Texas Tech; Bill Scanlan, of the Phillips Chemical Co., and others.

Burns told of the organization of the Texas Plant Food Educational Society, which is composed of individuals, and whose purpose is to help the agricultural colleges, the experiment stations and the Extension Service to disseminate data and soil information and methods to the farmer. The society is to act as a liaison between the agricultural researchers and experimenters and the man who uses the soil.

Dr. Young told The Journal that it is hoped to make this event a regular thing in future years.

Mystery Farm Watkins Place

The Claude Watkins place was identified as last week's Mystery Farm. Winners in the contest are:

Ernest Nowell, city. Boone Allison, out of city. These two will be awarded two tickets each to Cox Drive-In Theatre and they may be picked up at the office of the sponsor, Muleshoe Motor Co., local Ford dealers.

Western Fertilizer is sponsoring the showing of the Mystery Farm this week.

As another school term opens, The Journal pledges a closer support than ever before to the superintendent and his staff, to the teachers in each school, and to the members of the board of trustees in every worthwhile endeavor or activity they may choose to initiate. We have always supported these activities, personally and through the columns of the paper; we expect to be in position to do a more thorough job than ever during this school term.

We pledge the utmost in cooperation to our new coaches and to the boys and girls they will lead; to the new band director, members of the band, and to the pep squad which we hope will be the better unified, better drilled, and will have more members than ever before.

And we pledge allegiance to the adult organizations—P. T. A. groups, band boosters, etc.

We can make this the greatest year in the history of our schools. We feel this can be brought about only if our school authorities and leaders have the complete support of the patrons and the general public. What say we try it, anyway — try to make this the most satisfactory year that the Muleshoe school system ever had. We can do it by taking a continuing interest in the athletic, literary, and social activities that will come along during the year. "A man never knows what he can do."

After reading Dave Aylesworth's advertisement in The Journal for some time about that "good Van Horn land", last week end I was privileged to visit the locale in company with the amazing Mr. Aylesworth and "El Doctor", Dr. M. F. Green, who along with Dave owns land in the valley. On the trip down they dilly dallied until when we came abreast of towering El Capitan the sun was not in a favorable position for viewing the eminence so we were not too impressed, but we now have seen the tallest peak in Texas.

Van Horn is located in a valley completely surrounded by towering mountains; the soil during the last millions of years must have washed down from the mountain slopes and filled a huge canyon. They have shallow water irrigation. They drill down past 100 feet before striking anything except pure soil.

Well, I took my little box camera and took shots of El Doctor and the amazing Mr. Aylesworth against a background of hedges that more than doubled their rather mediocre height.

The amount of land is limited by several factors. A rancher owns some, the T. P. railway owns some, which ain't for sale. Three years from now, they'll have a fine community in some parts of the great valley, they already have civilization. Paymaster has a gin 3 1/2 miles from the good doctor's place. Paved roads will come along soon and before too long Southwestern Public Service Co., will oblige with electricity for each farm.

They drill their wells past 300 set around 290 down to 360. Takes a pretty good motor to whirl the pump fast enough to fill an 8-inch pipe. One fellow had two Chrysler V-8 motors hooked up in tandem. Ask Dr. Green to explain that, he was enthralled.

Well, we amused ourselves down there and back by attempting to form sentences in the Spanish language from the few Spanish words we knew. The doctor came up with the question: "Tiene hambre?" Si, señor, we said, we're hungry as a whatnot. "Good. Try to remember this little sentence in Spanish."

"Hagame el favor de darme la cuenta." Me and Dave learned it, then inquired what it meant. The good doctor obliged with this translation: "Please give me the check for the food." We unlearned THAT phrase, muy pronto!

Dr. Green came up with an idea, after all. He said that if we would print in The Journal a few phrases each week so that employers of Mexican Nationals here could learn to say

Farmers Advised To Keep Wary Eye For Insects Bollworm Eggs Found

The large population of worms and beetles in the alfalfa during the hay baling demonstration on the Shoestring ranch was brought to the attention of the county agent and specimens were collected for the positive identification.

The beetle was from the family Chrysomelidae and is one of no importance to any crop but the worms that were present in large number in the alfalfa were bollworms that had a somewhat altered appearance resulting from living habits quite different from bollworms found in cotton.

Dr. Freeman Fuller, ass't. Extension Entomologist for the Extension Service A & M College was in Muleshoe on the day of the hay baling demonstration and spent the afternoon visiting farms of cotton and checking on insect infestations; he carried the above mentioned specimen back to college for positive identification.

Dr. Fuller was unable to find a bollworm hatch in the cotton but some fields proved to be fairly well infested with bollworm eggs. The presence of eggs and absence of live worms indicates that beneficial insects are doing a good job of control to date but this situation could change on very short notice. On August 19, the county agent discovered leafworms in cotton on the Patterson farm, one mile north of Muleshoe.

The leafworm should be fought when first discovered. Toxaphene or 2-1 mixture at the rate of one to two pounds per acre is adequate as a spray while 10 to 15 pounds of 20% Toxaphene, 40% Sulphur or 3-5-40 mix is recommended as a dust to control leafworm.

Cotton farmers should check the top six inches of their cotton plants every few days and when the eggs that are present hatch in large enough numbers to furnish four or five tiny bollworms per 100 terminals it is time to apply insecticides. If the worm is allowed to grow larger and bury itself into a cotton boll, control measures are usually disappointing.

Judge Bills Is Rotary Speaker

"The Importance of the Three L's in Our Western Civilization" was the subject of an address by District Judge E. A. Bills before the Rotary Club of Muleshoe at its meeting Tuesday noon in the dining room of the Postoffice Cafe.

His three L's stand for Liberty, Law, and Love. He traced the beginnings of human liberty from the city states of ancient Greece, where individuals first learned the meaning of freedom. The law, he said, comes down to us from the common law of England and today the courts stand as the bulwark of man against injustice.

He said the Christ himself proclaimed the third L, which stands for Love. He pointed out that Jesus in his beautiful talk called the Sermon on the Mount, advised his listeners to "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

Judge Bills said the three have built our western civilization of which we are all so proud. At the end he said that he had received most of his ideas for his address from "The Rotarian", monthly magazine of Rotary International.

The program was introduced by Melvin Bass, program chairman. Guests included Bob Rogers, court reporter; Alex Wilkins, Cub Pack leader and three Cub Scouts; Dixon Ray, Darrell Lan-

SAVING GRAIN THROUGH RAT CONTROL

There are some rats and mice on nearly every farm. A few rats may not do much apparent damage in a short period of time, but the pests multiply rapidly in favorable quarters and destroy millions of bushels of grain and feed in the U. S. annually.

Just a few rats in your grain bins may be enough to prevent you from selling products for human consumption under federal Food and Drug regulations. In addition, these pests are the source of several diseases that are deadly to humans, pets, livestock and poultry. Rats and mice on your property means money out of your pocket.

Permanent control is a five-fold job. Here are the basic rules:

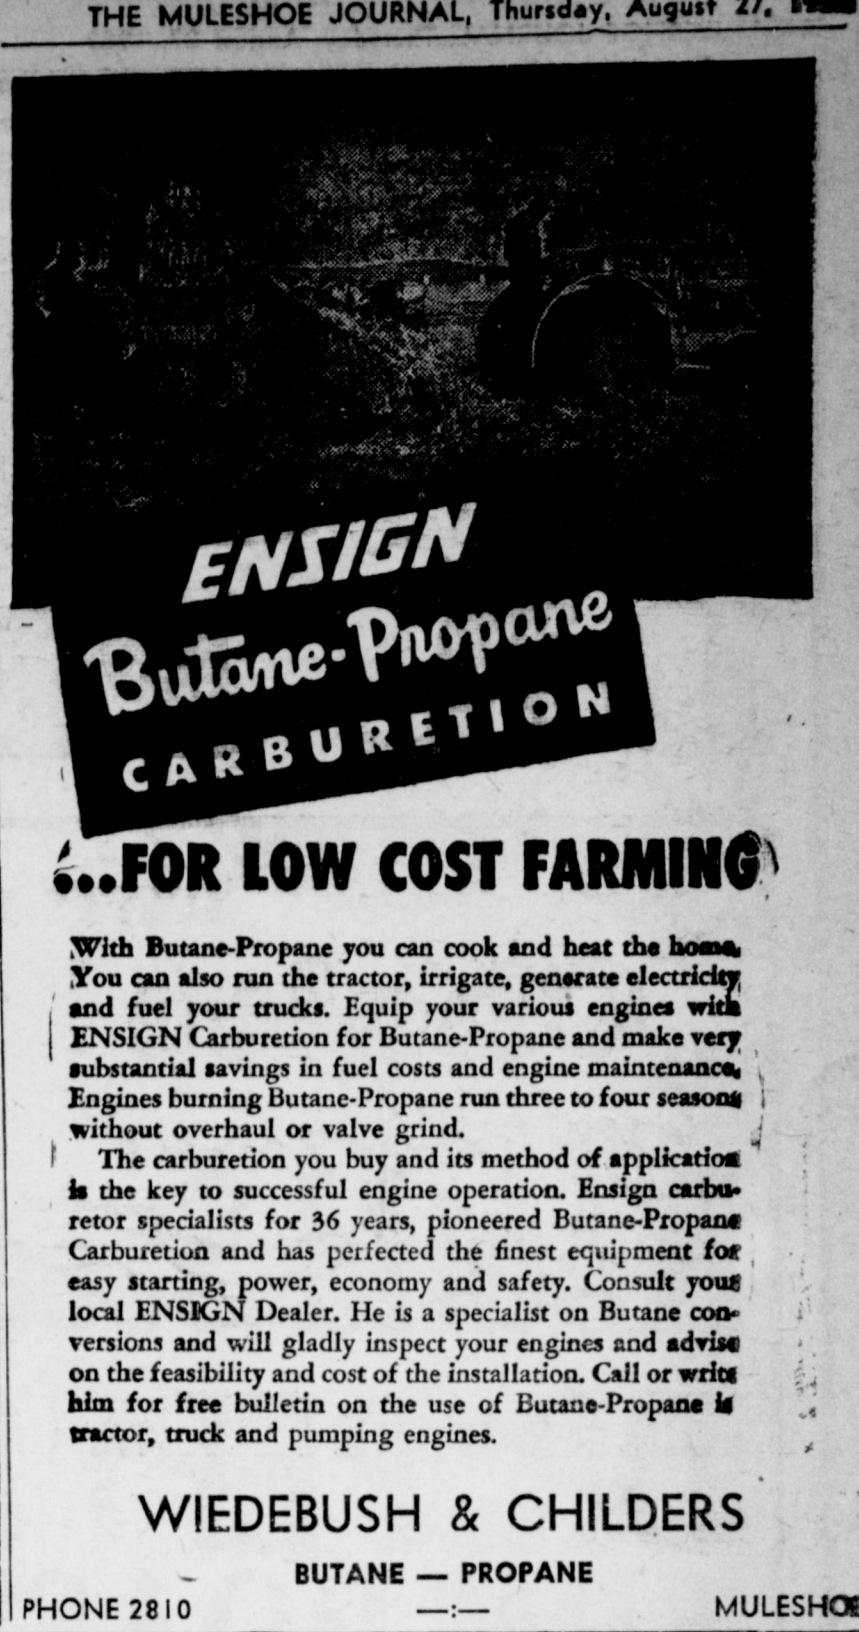

1. Don't give them shelter. Rodents are difficult to get rid of if they have places to hide. Piles of rubbish, stacks of old lumber or other material and wooden floors close to the ground are favorite hiding places. Many farms have several such "rat hotels" near granaries or other food and feed supplies. All such shelters should be cleaned up or removed.
  2. Don't feed them. A hungry rodent is easily poisoned or trapped. Food and feeds should be stored properly, and scraps and garbage kept in rat-proof containers. Granaries, corn cribs, feed rooms and storage cellars should also be rat-proof.
  3. Kill them! Rats and mice that are hungry and lack shelter are easily killed by poisoning, fumigating or trapping. All of these methods may be employed individually or in combination on most rodent control jobs. But a word of caution—poisons should be handled with great care, keeping them away from children, livestock and pets.
  4. Organize Community rat-control projects. Community action is the most effective way to fight rats. Controlling rats on one farm in a community is usually only temporary. More may come in from surroundings where controls is not practiced. Campaigns should include not only farms but dumps, feed mills and other rat food sources.
  5. Follow a year-round program. Rats never take vacations. They may raise four or more litters a year averaging from 6 to 10 in a litter. The presence of one pair of rats on a farm in the spring can mean 50 rats by fall.
- Rat control must be a continuous job. But it will pay long-range dividends to the farmer and the community.

Impressive Ceremony Unites Janice King And Gayle Bowen

MRS. GAYLE BOWEN

Miss Janice King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. King of Lamesa, and Mr. Gayle Bowen of Muleshoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Bowen of Brownwood, were united in marriage in an impressive candle light ceremony August 27, at 6:30 p. m. in the First Methodist Church in Lamesa.

The double ring service was performed before an archway of greenery and white astors, and officiating clergyman was the Rev. Troy L. Dale.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely, in an original dress of brocaded organza over taffeta. The fitted bodice was designed with tiny buttons down the front and a high collar. The long sleeves extended to points over the hands, and fastened with tiny buttons. The full floorlength skirt was fashioned with ruffles in the front and overskirt in the back and on the sides. She carried a bouquet of a white Bible, and her fingertip veil was attached to a tierra of seed pearls.
Mrs. W. T. Bowen of Duncan, Okla., aunt of the bride was matron of honor. Her dress, patterned after the bride's, was of yellow organza, with a fitted bodice and low scalloped neckline. The skirt was floorlength and was fashioned with ruffles. She carried a bouquet of white astors with orchid streamers.
Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jerry L. Ballis of Ft. Worth, and Annie Mae Henley of Lamesa. They wore dresses of orchid organza, fashioned after that of the matron of honor. They carried white aster bouquets with yellow streamers.
Flower girl was Miss Mary Elaine King, sister of the bride. She wore a dress of yellow organza, identical to that of the matron of honor, and her coronation of white astors was worn in her hair.

Carroll Bowen of Post, cousin of the groom, was best man.
Candles were lighted by Juana Kown and Ruby Morton, both of Lamesa.
Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Church parlor. Assisting the couple receive guests were Mrs. Glen Jones, Mrs. Ernest Moody, Mrs. Lloyd Fincher, Peggy Vaughn, Jean Burckett, and Marie Sue Goodson, all of Lamesa, Mrs. M. A. Bowles and Mrs. Harold Mires, both of O'Donnell.
The young couple will be at home in Muleshoe after August 30, where Mr. Bowen will be director of educational music in the First Baptist Church, and Mrs. Bowen will teach the second grade in Muleshoe schools.
The bride is a graduate of Lamesa High School, and graduated from Hardin-Simmons University with the class of 1953. She was a member of the Alpha Chi, and Beta Mu Kappa sororities, and was listed in the Who's Who from Hardin-Simmons.
The groom attended Post High School and graduated from Hardin-Simmons University in 1952. He was treasurer of the Hardin-Simmons Student Council.

Court Decision Upsets "Non-Assessable" Policy Sales Scheme Of Mutual Companies
Judge J. Harris Gardner of district court in Austin on July 22 held that policyholders in the Texas Mutual Insurance Company of Beaumont, in receivership since February, can be assessed to help satisfy about $1,300,000.00 in claims against the mutual.
The policyholders had been issued so called "non-assessable" policies. It was on this point that the ordering of the assessment was fought by a battery of attorneys representing policyholders fortunate enough to have no unpaid claims; the Texas Association of Mutual Insurance Agents, an organization of agents selling mutual insurance; and the Mutual Alliance, the big nation-wide organization of mutual insurance companies. The attorneys immediately gave notice of appeal.
If Judge Gardner's ruling is upheld by the higher courts it will have the effect of making it possible for the more unfortunate policyholders who have unpaid losses to be paid through assessments levied against other policyholders even though this mutual issued a so called "non-assessable" policy.

BABSON CRITICIZES—

Businessmen For Treatment
Of Teen-Agers

Gloucester, Mass., August 27 — It's a shame that so many young people have been deprived this past summer of the privilege of vacation employment. About the only plentiful jobs this summer were in sales. Unfortunately, all young people do not have aptitudes for selling. Young people ask me how they can learn to swim if no one will even let them near the water. So what do they do after a while? They lie about the facts and present themselves as full-time job seekers. On that basis, they get jobs. Then there is hard feeling when they leave for school again after Labor Day.

There seem to have been several reasons why more students haven't worked this summer: (1) not many companies have hired young people for summer work; (2) the tax structure penalizes father for letting son work; (3) union pools of unemployed have been given preference over summer job seekers; (4) the unreasonable labor laws of some states.

Summer Jobs — Business Obligation
Many businessmen complain that young people don't know how to work. Often it is these same businessmen who give the cold shoulder to young summer job seekers eager to learn how to work. Reports from employment agencies, from college and high school placement offices indicate that there were fewer summer jobs this year than last. Incidentally, business also failed to respond in the spring to a project to give summer work experience to college professors. I have been told that guards had instructions to bar summer job hunters from many plants.

I know that in recent years, with higher costs, mounting taxes, and union contracts, many company work-schedules have been arranged to eliminate summer jobs. Perhaps the plant shuts down completely for the vacation period so that no fills are required. Or maybe the union contract compels management to fill vacancies from the pool of unemployed union workers before it can go outside to hire other workers. These are facts we have to face, but I feel that the company who doesn't hire a few carefully screened young people for summer work is both shirking a patriotic responsibility and short-changing itself. Any company intent upon fulfilling this obligation will find a way summer work-schedules and unions notwithstanding.

Chance To Hire Proven Workers
Actually the summer employment of young people can work very much to the advantage of small businesses that seem most hesitant about summer hiring. Summer employment can give management the chance to size up the young person, to see the kind of character stuff he has, how well he works, and how he gets on with fellow workers. In these days when it is so difficult to fire, it is good to know what kind of worker you're hiring.

If a worker has what it takes, then the boss has a direct line to a tried and tested full-time employee when he graduates from summer school or college. And if he does not pan out during the summer it costs much less than hiring him as a full-time worker later on. These are the findings of companies that are using summer employment as a trial work period.

Father, Summer Jobs, And Taxes
Another distressing problem of summer employment of minors is the tax situation which penalizes father for his children's job success. It happens more often than you'd suspect that father loses a tax exemption because son earns more than the allowed $600 during the year. For example, it would cost a father with a $10,000 net income, after exemptions, $174 in taxes if his son earns over the $600 exemption limit and the son would then become a taxpayer too.

It strikes me there is something morally and economically unsound about a system that discourages the industry of youth,

SAND HILLS PHILOSOPHER—
Explains Why Some Uneducated People
Make More Money Than Educated People

Editor's note: The Sand Hills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm is way over his head this week, he's a talking about education.

Dear editor:
I read the other day where a man said there was one thing about the school system he couldn't understand. Said the schools of this country are turning out a lot of graduates, but he's noticed there were a lot of so called uneducated people who never went to school much who were makin a lot better livin than the educated people. He wanted this explained.

I will explain it. The reason is there is no substitute for hard work and hard thinkin, and the school system ain't got any courses in them subjects in its curriculum. It's just hard to get teachers who can handle them two subjects.

However, I would like to say in a hurry that in regard to hard work and there not being any substitute for it, as far as I'm concerned I ain't lookin for a substitute for it. Most of the substitutes I've encountered are worse than the original, and as for me and hard work, I just don't want to be associated with the idea.

The schools are able to teach a man to read and spell and figure and trim his fingernails, all right, although I've seen some people who went clean through the school system and couldn't spell or read or write any better than some people who quit in the eighth grade. In fact, I've observed that college degrees frequently ain't no reflection at all of a man's education, some people can get an M. A. degree and still not know any more than whether it be a policy of taxation, summer employment procedure, or clauses in a union contract. Part-time jobs, and especially summer jobs, today are important influences in the molding of the leaders of tomorrow. Perhaps, too, if we had busier "teenagers", we might have fewer "teen-age" problems. Businessmen ought to begin now to make plans so that in future summers our young people will find valuable work experience available for them.

they did when they had just a B. A., and some people can get a Ph. D., degree and still not show any market improvement over what they knew when they was back in the B. A. class. In lots of cases, under this Gilmer-Alkin system, the only way on earth to tell how many degrees a teacher's got is to look it his pay check. It's the only place it shows. In fact, there are some people who claim degrees are only records of how many classes you attended and stayed awake in, not how much you absorbed, which is a matter out of my field, although I guess there are people who absorb more than others, although some of them don't know what to do with what they do pick up. Education some people is like givin certain young boys a high-powered automobile. They just ain't equipped to handle it.

As far as makin money goes, I'm not equipped to speak on the topic, but I'd like to say that stayin ignorant may not be a bar to makin money, but it ain't no help either, and a man who can get ahead without any education, there ain't no tellin where he could have gotten with a little. Might have been even a foreign diplomat.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

WE'RE WRITING A TRAGEDY
MANY OF US WILL NEVER READ

We American drivers had a busy year in 1952. We murdered 37,600 people — more men, women and children than there are in Albany, Ga.

We injured 2,090,000 — about as many people as there are in the whole state of Mississippi.

We brought about the worst traffic toll in history. Our speeding alone—the principal cause of accidents—resulted in 609,410 casualties.

We killed or injured 274,080 pedestrians.

What were the major causes? Not the cars; not the roads; not weather conditions.

Three out of four accidents involved passenger cars traveling in clear weather on dry roads.

Nine out of 10 vehicles in accidents that the available supply is not used.

The entire world is undergoing at present a crisis because the great supply of spiritual energy is not tapped. On many occasions Jesus showed what is possible to one who taps God's reserve of spiritual energy. We need but remember His raising Lazarus from the tomb, multiplying the loaves, establishing Mary Magdalene and Zacchaeus in the faith.

In every instance of our asking and receiving not, we have asked amiss. In every instance when we have our requests granted, we have asked in a spirit of unselfishness and desire to do God's will.

PRAYER
O God, thou art the fount of every blessing of all power. Enlighten us of our real needs, that we may do that which is for our own good and for the good of those around us. In the name of Jesus, we pray. Amen.

PUBLISHED EVERY week in Bureau of Farm Bureau Federation. Entered as second class in the Act of Congress, March 3, 1909. Small meetings of the community will be held to approve the resolutions.

President of the Farm Bureau, in his week's work, to think in the next week on what he would like the Farm Bureau do.

Little later on, the Bailey County Farm Bureau will meet and adopt resolutions. These resolutions will come from the thinking of individual members.

In turn, the resolutions will be submitted to the annual convention of the Texas Farm Bureau. There all the thinking of members of the Texas Bureau will be sifted, considered, and a set of resolutions will come out of that convention to be awarded to the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Certain of these resolutions presented from various portions of the U. S. will be approved and legislators and others who are responsible for the national agriculture policy will be apprized of the Farm Bureau's attitude.

Mr. Millen will notify the membership when the county meeting will be.

In the past, a summary would show, the Farm Bureau as:

These resolutions have disapproved of such varied practices as: the employment of dollar a year men by the government; the Fair Trades act; etc.

New Crossing Readied For Roundup

ONCE JOHN SANTA FE got ready, things moved fast to provide a new crossing in time for the annual Roundup in Muleshoe. The crossing long had been desired by local people. The county, through Commissioner Tom Morgan and his crew had graded the street on both sides of the railroad track, filling in with many tons of dirt and caliche. The Santa Fe came along and put in the capsules being unloaded here to drain away the water. Standing at right is Judge Cecil Tate on hand to show how the county took an interest in the project. The engraver missed Alex Wilkins of Texas Machinery and Carl Sundeen of The Journal, who were standing by the judge.

The boll was found in the Oscar Allison field northeast of Muleshoe and was brought to The Journal office by John Ohler, the Dutch student who has been staying on the Allison farm this summer.

The boll had opened nicely. Finding this open boll is grounds for the forecast that it won't be long now before the hum of a score or so of gins around Muleshoe will be the order of the day.

SUMMER FLORAL

This pretty miss welcomes sunny weather in a charming sun frock by Carolyn Schurer. Designed in an appealing cotton print, the simple lines of the strapless dress add a frivolous, feminine note in the deep ruffled skirt section. Long lasting fertilization

Beneficial soil bacteria

Retain 3000 extra gallons of water per acre

Replace minor soil elements

Improve soil texture

Release "locked-up" soil elements

Greatly increase crop yields.

All of this for only $15. per acre

including the distribution on your land

You could never get a fertilization value like this from the regular kinds of fertilizers. The chemical analysis value alone is worth the total cost. Believe it or not... Composted Gin Waste and Burrs is worth all this, and even more. The values listed above show the minimums which are based on laboratory reports, filed tests, and previous results. Why burn such a valuable... and greatly needed... material? Instead of watching the smoke, why not return to the cotton land all that was taken out except for the seed and bloom? It can only be done by utilizing the gin waste and burrs in composted form.

Are We To Blame For The Drouth

According to the old saying—"Everyone Talks About The Weather, But No One Does Anything About It." Once a drouth is upon us, about all we can do is hope for rain. Community prayers are good for the soul, and faith is capable of solving many problems. However, under extreme drouth conditions, possibly we ought to think more, work harder, and complain less.

Nature, the greatest provider, seemed to anticipate all conditions, good and bad, retention and conservation of moisture were considered by the natural activities of animal, plant, and soil life in combination with the weather elements.

Plant life, with its forests, vegetative growth, weeds, and crop production constantly produced perpetuated top soil and protected it with a continuous covercrop and humus cycle. The decay of animal bodies and manures supplied an additional share of natural mineral deposits, marine life residues, and similar natural actions further enriched the soils. The weather elements provided sun, rain, heat, cold, and winds required for the production, dormancy, pollentization and other requirements for the life cycle of plants.

Virgin soils were greatly resistant to drouth conditions because of the ability to retain and fully utilize moisture when available. Runoff was minimized, as soils were not eroded. All conditions were favorable through the provisions for constant replenishment, full utilization, and bene-

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"I can of mine own self do nothing: as I hear, I judge; and my judgement is just; because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me" (John 5:30). These words of Christ Jesus, illustrating his humility are included in this Sunday's Christian Science Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus". It will be pointed out that Jesus was the ideal representative of true manhood, as well as the Wayshower to mankind.

Included in the Lesson-Sermon will be the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Jesus presented the ideal of God better than could any man whose origin was less spiritual. By his obedience to God, he demonstrated more official crop production. Today, through improper agricultural practices, complete lack of preventive maintenance, over-production without thought of soil replenishment, and indifference to soil conservation measures, we have drained the plentiful bank account provided by nature. Billions of acres of cleared land, buildings, pavement, and other products of civilization have reduced the absorption of rainfall. Eroded top soil, and the lack of soil cover have prevented retention of moisture, or protection from drying wind and sun. Rainfall, when available, is not properly retained and utilized. We have reached a point where only engineering marvels can control the runoff of rivers, impound water, and conserve rainfall for later use. And yet, nature has been a good teacher in the normal ways and proper methods of conservation; seemingly, we are poor students.

If only sufficient organic matter could be returned to the soil, and through its decomposition processes provide the humus which has been drained from the soil. Full utilization of organic wastes for the soil, plus the proper crop rotation and soil conservation practices — these are the best answers to the drouth. Processes have been developed for the commercial composting of industrial organic wastes. A bacterial inoculant to the cotton gins for the conversion of gin wastes into humus type fertilizer is being provided this year. End products such as this composted gin trash must be made available to the farmer at low cost. It not only can be done — it is being done.

True, only God can make a tree — it is our responsibility and our heritage to "make it grow."
