Airport planning meeting held

Ozona had a good turnout for the airport planning meeting held here June 12 according to County Judge Kathryn Mayfield. The meeting, conducted by the Texas Department of Aviation, focused on development of airports in Crockett, Reagan, Schleicher and Sutton counties.

"Ours (airport) was the only one considered a business airport," Judge Mayfield said.

Representatives from each community were participants at the meeting, expressing interest in gaining improved airport facilities for their respective communities.

Officials of the TDA and the Federal Aeronautics Administration made two recommendations for changes to Crockett County's master plan for airport improvement. The first suggestion was that 300' rather than 240' be placed between a proposed parallel taxiway and the main runway.

The second suggestion was that the runway be extended to 6,500'. Letters from oil companies who could use the airport if the runway was longer are being solicited to improve Ozona's chances of getting a grant for the proposed improvements.

Engineers of West Texas Consultants, the firm preparing Ozona's master plan for airport improvement, redrafted the plan this week for review by TDA.

"We might hear something by the end of summer on funding," Judge Mayfield said.

Phase I of Ozona's plan for improvements includes runway construction, runway lighting, six foot chain link security fence and miscellaneous smaller improvements. Total project. cost before adding 500 feet to the planned runway was figured at $1,164,600. Cost of a 6,000' runway was estimated at $685,000.

If the federal grant is approved for improvements in Ozona, Crockett County will be required to provide five percent of the total cost with another five percent to come from TDA. Possession of the property would cover the local obligation.

Should TDA be unable to fund its five percent, Crockett County would be expected to carry that amount, also.

Jimmie Thompson, land owner, has agreed to deed the property to Crockett County, including the added space for lengthening the runway.

Chamber sponsors July 4 events

Officers and directors of Ozona Chamber of Commerce have another big Fourth of July celebration planned for Crockett County.

The centennial year event begins at 9 a.m. with a pet parade and contest. Live pets and stuffed animals will be judged this year. Pets must be vaccinated and pre-registered at the chamber office by July 1.

Children's entries for the parade will be judged at 9:45. This will include bikes, tricycles, wagons and stick horses.

The parade will begin at 11:30, and float judging will take place before the parade begins.

All parade entries should be preregistered with the chamber of commerce by July 1.

An apple pie bakeoff will be judged at 10:30. For more information about the pie bakeoff, contact Tedra Ulmer at 392-2722.

Following the parade, the town square will come alive with booths for food, games, arts and crafts.

Fireworks are scheduled for dusk followed by a 10 o'clock street dance at the north end of the square.

There will be entertainment all day on the bandstand including music and competitions such as the bonnet contest, beard contest, husband calling contest and kid calling contest.

Dissatisfaction over redistricting may lead some Upton County residents to request annexation by Crockett County. County Judge Kathryn Mayfield said Monday that an error in the Crockett - Upton county line could put part of McCamey in Crockett County if a re-survey was done. She had been told last week that some Upton County residents would like just that.

'We're not going to pursue it," Judge Mayfield said.

Old timers in Crockett County have known for many years that the boundary was inaccurate according to the judge. She believes the statute of limitations has "surely run out by now," eliminating the possibility of a change.

Crockett County will also undergo the redistricting process this year.

Life's bumps and bruises were kissed And he wiped away each tear. Although there would be more to come He taught: "With God we should not fear."

He never did give up on me. Yet, he expected my very best. And often I wonder if he had lived Would I have passed his tests?

Yet, I know that no matter what I may have done or I will do With the values he instilled in my soul I have to them been true.

cancer sometime during her lifetime. Every year more than 37,000 women die as a result of breast cancer.

According to a spokesman from the regional breast care center at Women's and Children's Hospital in Odessa, "The death rate from breast cancer could be drastically reduced if women would have mammograms done before a problem exists." By using modern state of the art x-ray equipment, breast cancers can be found when they are about the size of a grain of rice and well before the cancer can be felt. According to the American Cancer early stage has a 90-97% survival Society, one out of every 10 women in rate. However, a woman who is not the United States will develop breast diagnosed until a lump can be felt has approximately a 50% survival rate in five years.

In an effort to find cancers at the earliest possible stage and prevent unnecessary deaths, a mobile breast cancer detection unit will be made available to local women on Monday, July 8.

The mobile unit will be parked at Crockett County Hospital, Ave H and First Streets. Appointments may be made by calling 392-2671.

Mammography services accredited by American College of Radiology

The Mobile Breast Cancer Detection Unit of Odessa, which services Ozona, has received certification of the American College of Radiology Mammography Accreditation Program.

Mammography is an x-ray examination of the breast, which the American Cancer Society and other medical experts see as the best means for the early detection of breast cancer.

The program is voluntary and is designed to ensure that women receive optimum quality mammographic examinations. The process is done through a peer review evaluation of the facility's staff qualifications, equipment, quality control and quality assurance programs, image quality and breast dose. The accreditation must be renewed every three years.

The accreditation program was instituted because of the concerns of radiologists, other national medical organizations, and the public that qualified personnel perform and interpret mammograms and that dedicated mammographic equipment be used. The American College of Radiology received an American Cancer Society Control Grant which was used to pilot test the accreditation program.

Breast cancer will strike one in 10 American women. The American Cancer Society predicts that about 41,000 women will die of breast cancer this year. As there is no way to prevent the disease, early detection and treatment offer the greatest hope for survival.

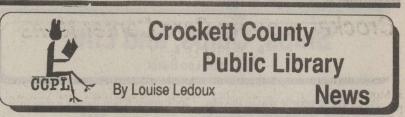

The American Cancer Society recommends that women do monthly breast self-exams and have regular physical breast exams by a doctor. It futher recommends mammography on the following schedule:

A baseline mammogram (for reference) between age 35 and 39.

A mammogram every one or two years between age 40 and 49. An annual mammogram from age tions are usually revered or hated. Sometimes, rarely, perhaps, but sometimes, they are both revered and hated. But, generally speaking, there is such a chasm between the secular and the the prayers, the sacraments (Oops, sacred that anything with a claim of holiness is despised.

I have two acquaintances, and both of them have churches. There is a mixture of awe and hate aimed at both of them. Both of them offer something, and both of them are trying to win my allegiance. It's somewhat difficult to decide because both have characteristics that are appealing, in different ways, of course.

ANTHROPOS has his own church. He claims that it is the only true church although there are several other churches nearby. He goes by the Bible, or so he says, and, on the surface, I suppose he does. The Bible is used to prove certain doctrines that Anthropos likes and to ridicule those that he detests.

Anthropos is very time oriented. The doors are open at the last moment and closed at the earliest moment. There are several rituals, and each started out, I guess, very meaningful, but Anthropos has down-played them to the level of routine. To participate at Anthropos' church, one feels like he Anthropos rides a merry-go-round with the same scenery, the same sound, the same ticket - year after year. When you get on, it's hard to get off. In fact, after a while, one gets so dizzy and nauseated that he just doesn't care anymore.

THEOS is a different character. His church could care less about time. He is more concerned about people than precut rules. He insists on truth and togetherness, but he allows and encourages variance in form and fellowship. He is loving and kind toward everybody. The Bible is used to point rather than push. Scripture is used for augmentation, not argumentation.

New attractions add sizzle to Texas tourism fare

Nostalgia buffs, outdoor adventurers, aircraft enthusiasts and funseekers of all kinds will find a variety of exciting, new diversions to suit their tastes in Texas.

Opened in January, one of the state's newest and most spectacular parks - Big Bend Ranch State Natural Area - is already enjoying immense popularity. Located in the corner of southwest Texas adjacent to Big Bend National Park, the new natural treasure boasts mountains, an extinct volcano, three waterfalls, more than 90 archaeological sites and rare flora and fauna. The sprawling, 215,000-acre acquisition, which is best explored by horseback or tour bus, doubles the state's park system acreage, offering primitive camping and other outdoor activities.

A new state park in the Texas Panhandle that opened last October offers detailed proof that prehistoric man inhabited the region as long as 11,000 years ago. Lubbock Lake Landmark State Historical Park presents an unbroken archaeological record of early human life through various displays of ancient artifacts and other informative exhibits. Learn how archaeological remains are carefully excavated from the stratified deposits stacked in layer-cake fashion and view some of the magnificent arrowheads, pottery shards, bison bones and other ancient treasures from throughout the ages.

Today's adventurers to Texas can immerse themselves in nostalgia and the state's natural beauty while relaxing aboard one of the restored, vintage railroad cars pulled by chugging "iron horses" from a by-gone era. The Texan dining train offers continental dining during a threehour round-trip from San Antonio to one feature of The Texas Limited excursion train that runs between Galveston and Houston.

And, beginning this summer, visitors to Fort Worth will be able to experience the city's colorful Western heritage in places like the Stockyards Historical District via the resurrected Tarantula Railroad. Passengers will ride turn-of-the-century railcars pulled by century-old steam engines.

Rail transportation from the Space Age carries passengers through Dallas' newest zoological attraction - the $30 million Wilds of Africa exhibit.. Visitors glide silently on a monorail system above the natural habitat of 90 species of African birds, mammals and reptiles.

Now that state lawmakers have let pari-mutuel betting out of the starting gate, horse and greyhound race tracks are opening across the state. Racing enthusiasts can catch the action at Valley Greyhound Park in Harlingen, Corpus Christi Greyhound Race Track, Manor Downs and Bandera , take center stage at the new Lone Star Downs in central Texas and the soonto-be-opened Trinity Meadows Raceway near Fort Worth.

Visitors to Texas also can try their luck aboard a handful of casino cruise ships now operating out of Texas ports. The latest is the luxurious, Greekregistered Stella Solaris, which will depart from Galveston's new $2 million Cruise Ship Terminal beginning April 27. Stella Solaris, Sun Line's five-star vessel, offers seven-day cruises to Jamaica, Mexico's east coast resorts, Grand Cayman Island, Central and South America.

Also operating out of the Port of Galveston is the Pride of Galveston, Hondo. "Dinner on the diner" is just featuring day and evening cruises offering Vegas-style variety shows, casino gambling, buffet dining, swimming, shipboard games and more. Other posh Texas casino cruise ships are Le Mistral (Port Isabel/ South Padre Island) and the Sea Palace (Freeport/Houston).

Near Houston, too, can be found a ship of a totally different nature, the recently-renovated Battleship Texas, moored at the San Jacinto Battleground State Historical Park. The floating museum sports a new coat of Camouflage Measure 21 blue, her color during World War II's Pacific campaign.

While at the historic site where the Texas Republic's army defeated Mexican forces, visit the new Jesse Jones Theatre in the base of the San Jacinto Monument to view a riveting, multimedia recreation of the famous 1836 battle, "Texas Forever," narrated by actor Charlton Heston.

On nearby Galveston Island, propeller-driven World War II aircraft Flight Museum. Featured are vintage aircraft such as the P-47 Thunderbolt, a B-17 Flying Fortress and other combat workhorses.

To get an earnings statement, call Social Security and ask for a form SSA-7004. Complete the form and mail it in. The statement will be sent in a few weeks.

The Social Security Administration recommends that all workers send for an review their earnings statements every three years. Errors can usually be corrected if they are identified early.

Black bear sightings rare in parks

Black bears have moved into the for the bears' safety." state's two national parks in West Texas, but they won't be out posing for pictures along roadsides like their cousins at Yosemite any time soon.

Only a handful of bears live in the Big Bend National Park on the Rio Grande and in the Guadalupe Mountains National Park on the New Mexico border, and spokesmen there say tourists coming to see the bears likely will go away disappointed.

Rick LaBello, executive director of the Big Bend Natural History Association at Big Bend National Park, said he's seen bears five times in the last two years in the park, and that's probably a record.

"We are having an increase of sightings," he said. "To date this year we've had 55. I estimate we have between four and seven bears in the park."

Most of the bear sightings are made from remote roads or hiking trails, LaBello said. If observers are not too close, the bears sometimes just stay put. Generally though, they quickly fade from sight.

"We've had no problems, no reports of bear scares, We have put up two bear crossing signs, which is a first for Texas, but these are mainly visitors in the park, now running about 275,000 per year, but by how much would be hard to measure. "It's a well established fact that people come to the park because of the increased chance of seeing large game," he said.

Jody Davila, a Guadalupe Mountains National Park ranger, echoes Labello's observations. The park's resident population of six or so bears is usually only seen by park personnel on patrol in remote areas.

"The majority of our visitors aren't even aware there are bears here," said Davila.

The Custom Calling Services affected by the Company's application are optional telephone service arrangements that provide the following features: Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three Way Calling, Speed Calling 8 and Speed Calling 30.

The Company's proposal would increase the monthly rate for the individual Call Waiting feature from $2.10 to $3.10 for residence customers. Also, the rates for certain combinations of Custom Calling Features (Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8) would increase or decrease depending upon the combination of features. In addition, the company proposes to obsolete the optional Custom Calling Service feature Speed Calling 30 for residence customers except for existing customers at their existing locations. Following are the feature combinations and their current and proposed rates.

The restructuring will result in an increase in the Custom Calling Services rates for approximately 2.5 million residence customers and rate decreases for approximately 15,000 residence customers. Also, the obsolesence of the optional feature Speed Calling 30 will affect approximately 156,000 residence customers.

Domestic violence is everybody's problem

Violence is passed from generation to generation. A boy who is raised in a violent home is likely to batter his female partner as an adult. A girl who witnessed her mother's abuse may learn that society accepts violence against women.

Violence in the home only perpetuates violence in the streets. A great majority of criminals who assault strangers were raised in violent homes.

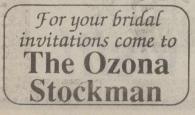

Domestic violence is a crime against society, as are similar acts of violence between strangers.

U. S. businesses lose $3 to $5 billion each year because of abuserelated absenteeism and another $100 million in medical bills.

America's communities must spend millions of dollars on domestic violence intervention each year, including law enforcement, court prceedings, health care and social services. The quality of community life suffers when the health and well-being of individuals and families are destroyed by domestic violence.

The ICD Family Shelter offers a 24-hour, toll-free hotline and free counseling for victims of domestic violence. For more information about the Shelter and its service, call 1-800-749-8631 the first of the year, here's some advice from Social Security. Don't wait until you retire to contact Social Security. It's a good idea to apply about three months before you stop work.

Contact Social Security before retiring

Applying ahead of time will give you time to resolve any problems that crop up. Such problems may range from a discrepancy in the available proofs of age to inability to establish the relationship of your spouse or children.

When you apply, you'll have to establish that you will be at least 62 years old when benefits are to start. If your spouse and children are also involved, you'll need a marriage certificate and birth certificates to establish the relationships. Other proofs

If you're planning to retire around may be needed if there have been 5772). You can speak to a representaprevious marriages, or if there are tive 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. weekdays. minor children outside the present marriage.

> The preferred proof of age is an official birth certificate issued before age 5. If this is not available, other evidence, such as a baptismal certificate issued early in life or a combination of other documents may be acceptable. The Social Security office will help you find any necessary proofs not immediately available.

You can apply for retirement benefits at any Social Security Office. You can also apply by phone or mail. Just call Social Security's toll-free telephone number to start the process or to make an appointment. The number is 1-800-2345-SSA (1-800-234-

The Texas unemployment rate has moved up to 6.9 percent, and the state's economy appears sluggish," Commissioner Mary Nabers said as the Texas Employment Commission announced the new jobless statistics of April.

In spite of the increase in the number of unemployed Texans, 594,200 in April of 1991 compared to 499,200 in 1990, there was also an increase in the number of working Texans as well. Men and women in the state's labor force actually increased by 47,000 over the month to an estimated 8,024,700.

Crockett County has 92 of its 1,804 civilian labor force unemployed for a 5.1 percent jobless rate in April.

Reagan County's 4.4 percent jobless rate results from 85 of the 1,939 labor force being unemployed.

In Schleicher County the unemployment rate is 5.2 percent. There are 77 unemployed out of the 1,495 labor force.

Sutton County has 2,093 in the labor force with 104 unemployed for a rate of 5 percent.

Terrell County remains low, two percent unemployment. The 868 labor force has 17 unemployed.

Upton County had an unemployment rate of 1.5 percent. The only counts lower in the state were Martin with 1.2 and Glasscock with 1.4 percent unemployment rates. There are 1,884 in the Upton County labor force and 29 unemployed.

Texas shows net gain in jobs from 1989-90

Texas Employment Commission said. figures show that Texas gained 63,000 jobs during 1989-90, although the gains did not come in rural areas.

Dr. Gregory S. Taylor, Texas Agricultural Extension Service program leader for community development, said although this positive gain is good news, nevertheless, new net job creation appears to be slowing in the state.

The TEC figure is about half of the net gain shown from 1988 to 1989 of 114,000, and represents about one third of the 1987-1988 net gain of 182,000 jobs, Taylor emphasized.

"Rural areas across the state continue to lose jobs at a rate of about 6,000 per year, so this decrease is attributable primarily to a reduced rate of gain in metropolitan areas," he

Taylor said the number of metro counties showing net job loss doubled from 10 to 20 during this period. Nevertheless, the job loss counties are still overwhelmingly rural, he added.

'The rate of rural job loss likely did not increase greatly because oil and gas counties had offsetting employment gains after several years of job loss," he said.

Taylor can provide specific information about job availability in each Texas county at (409) 845-4445.

Survey shows cattle ranchers employ conservation practices

COLLEGE STATION - A survey tion, 27 percent planned to increase of the nation's cattle producers shows that ranchers have a commitment to conservation practices that protect and improve land, water and wildlife.

The survey, conducted by POPU-LUS, Inc. and commissioned by the National Cattlemen's Association (NCA), showed that a large proportion of U.S. beef cattle ranchers are increasing their use of conservation practices, are active in conservation programs, are reducing their use of pesticides in feed crop production and are providing water and habitat that benefit wildlife.

John Lacey, NCA president, said, "I think the results of this survey show that conservation and protection of land and water are part of the cattleman's way of life as well as a vital investment in his business and in his farmily's future.

"Farming and ranching tends to be a family business," Lacey said, citing survey findings that 42 percent of cattle operations have been in the same family for more than 50 years, and that 21 percent have been in the same family for more than 75 years.

"A cattleman depends on the land for his livelihood," said Lacey, "and, to assure a livelihood for future generations, he must protect and improve past 10 years, and 25 percent have the environment for which he is responsible." such conservation practices in the next five years. In the past decade, 42 percent of the ranchers said they have increased areas with newly planted trees, and 28 percent plan to plant more trees in the next five years.

Cattle producers also have been active in conservation programs. Since 1980, 45 percent those surveyed have put acreage into government conservation programs and 64 percent have put acres into private conservation and land management programs.

By using good management practices such as rotational grazing, 52 percent report that the condition of native pasture and grazing land has improved in the last 10 years.

Thirteen percent reported a decline in land conditions, with drought being the overwhelming reason.

Cattle producers also showed a sensitive need for special conservation practices on fragile lands such as wetlands and riparian areas (Land along streams and waterways).

Over the past decade, 29 percent of ranchers have maintained or restored wetlands on their operations, In addition, 62 percent reported that their riparian land has been maintained with no deterioration of condition over the en improvements since 1980.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Company), in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission), hereby gives notice of its intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas for Directory Assistance Services, effective August 1, 1991, unless otherwise determined by the Commission. The Company has filed an application with the Commission to restructure and change the rates for Directory Assistance Service.

To help recover its costs, the Company is proposing to increase the rates for Directory Assistance calls from $.30 to $.40 per call (after the three-call allowance). Southwestern Bell is proposing that there be no change in the number of free Directory Assistance calls allowed each month (currently three) and that customers who qualify for exemption of Directory Assistance charges because of visual or physical handicaps continue to be exempt from these charges. The company also proposes to begin charging $.25 per call for Directory Assistance from pay telephones.

If approved by the Commission, this proposed rate change for Directory Assistance will increase the Company's annual revenues by $15.4 million, which is an increase of approximately one half of 1 percent in the Company's adjusted revenue for the twelve-month period ending December 1990. This proposed rate change would affect approximately 900,000 residence customers, approximately 155,000 business customers, approximately 500 private pay telephone owners and all customers who make Directory Assistance calls from public pay telephones.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.
